Monogram Club's Annual "Varsity Hop" Will Be Held On Friday The Thirteenth

The Varsity Hop sponsored by the Monogram Club will be held Friday evening, May 13th, in Harkins Hall. The affair will be semi-formal, and music will be furnished by the Leonards, a band new to the college but well regarded! Tickets can be obtained from members of the club or at the Athletic Office. Bids are two dollars each.

The dance is an annual affair sponsored by the club and the proceeds are used to buy monogrammed sweaters for men who earn varsity letters on the College teams. This will be the last dance of the college year. Students are urged to attend.

The Varsity coaches and their wives will attend as honored guests.

Flying Club Drawing Set For May 20

The drawing for the Fada television set, which is being given as a prize by the Providence College Flying Club, will be held on May 20th.

Tickets are ten cents each or three for a quarter. They are being sold by members of the Club and are also available at the office of the Rev. Walter A. Murtaugh, O.P., on the third floor of Albertus Magnus Hall. Father Murtaugh is moderator of the Club.

Alumni Association To Hold Annual Ball On Friday, May 20

The annual ball of the Providence College Alumni Association will be held in the Sheraton-Biltmore Hotel ballroom, Friday evening, May 20, 1949, from nine o'clock to two. This ball, which is usually held in February, was postponed this year because of a conflict of dates with the college program.

There will be a buffet supper and tickets will cost six dollars a couple. It would help the committee on arrangements if all planning to attend would notify the Alumni Office in advance. Summer formal clothes or regular tuxedos may be worn.

According to an announcement from the Alumni Office, Eugene J. Sullivan, '37, is Chairman of this year's Alumni Ball.

Fr. Doyle Announces Infantry Convention

The annual convention of the National Timberwolf Association, composed of veterans of the 104th Infantry Division will be held this year over the Labor Day week end in New York City. Headquarters will be at the Hotel Commodore, where all convention sessions will be held. Major General Terry Allen (Retired) will be on hand to greet the men he led so brilliantly during World War II and is looking forward to a record attendance. The Rev. Edward P. Doyle, O.P., who was a Major in the Chaplain Corps in the 413th Regiment of the 104th Division and is now on the College faculty, requests that any former member of this Division at the College or in its vicinity see him for any further information regarding the convention.

Clean-Up Campaign

The Cowl urges students to be more aware of the fact that trash cans are provided about the school for the disposal of waste papers and other articles which are no longer considered useful. The front of Harkins' Hall is pleasing to the eye, but the rear of the building especially near the entrance to the cafeteria and the incline leading to Hendricks Field are usually littered with debris of all description. Care should be taken to keep the grounds as neat and as clean as possible.

Coughlin, Huffman Lead Hartford Club

At a meeting of the Hartford Club held last Wednesday night officers were elected for the forthcoming year.

James M. Coughlin was elected to the office of President, succeeding Leo Bisson who is graduating. A list of his other activities includes being Circulation Manager of the COWL, Secretary of the Friar's Club, member of the Student Congress and Associate Editor of next year's Veritas.

William J. Huffman, who is also Assistant Sports Editor of the 1950 Veritas, was elected Vice-President. He succeeds William J. Finn in that capacity.

Thomas J. Grady was elected for his third consecutive term as Secretary. He is well known in intra-mural

Joint Concert

The P.C. Glee Club brought its 1948-49 concert season to a very successful close Friday night at a joint concert with St. Joseph's College of Portland, Maine.

The members of the Glee Club must have been inspired by the warm reception they received from the fair damsels of St. Joseph's because they turned in their most creditable performance to date. As one of the basses so aptly put it, "We were hot tonight," and so they were. The audience greeted their every song with thunderous applause and was especially delighted by the rendition of the Negro spiritual "Dry Bones," featuring Louis Murphy.

The concert, held at the Eastland Hotel in Portland, was highlighted by the tenor solos of Everett Morrison '51 of the P.C. Glee Club. Everett was received with an ovation that demanded encore after encore.

Miss Theresa Riley, beautiful and talented soloist of the St. Joseph's Glee Club, was considered by all exceptionally good as she sang the difficult "Voci di Primavera" by Strauss with the ease and assurance of an experienced professional.

The young ladies were directed by the Rev. Henry A. Boltz, well-known choral director of Portland and were accompanied by Mr. John E. Fay.

Rev. Leo S. Cannon, O.P., popular director of the P.C. Glee Club, was on hand to exhort his charges to do their utmost. The P.C. accompanist was Mr. Michael Healy.

THE HOLY NAME

"The fidelity of Holy Name men at the altar rail on Holy Name Sunday," says the Dominican Calendar for 1949, "besides bringing great spiritual strength to themselves, is a source of edification in many a parish."

According to the Calendar "the Holy Name Society has for its object the increasing of man's faith in the divinity of Christ and the drawing of man closer to the Master through a good Catholic life." Both results can be obtained by becoming a Holy Name man and following the rule of frequent Communion in a body.

The Calendar says that "Thousands upon thousands of our American people are utterly indifferent to all manifestations of honor and respect rendered to God. Unclean speech, immoral plays and motion pictures are a veritable scourge to a nation that should be clean of heart." Membership in the Holy Name Society will bring with it improvement in the moral stature of the person who will strive for self-betterment.

Not only will he find himself spiritually strengthened for being a Holy Name man but he will work an influence on others. "His example," says the Calendar, "can and will be a powerful sermon to all who surround him in daily life."

COWL ERROR?

The Cowl made an error last week, typographical, that is. The error wasn't just an ordinary one that the average newspaper would make. It wasn't buried in the middle of page five or six where it would lie unnoticed. Oh no, the error was put on page one where it received prominent display.

If the error were just one of the usual run of errors, it would be found in fine type even in a front page story. But not this error. This particular one was in bold, black print for the world to see, and in seeing, to marvel at.

Yes, marvel, because when the Cowl makes an error, it's not just any old ordinary error but one that stands up and stares at the reader, just asking for attention. The Cowl meant to do it in a big way.

SOME APPLAUSE

Who deserves a pat on the back? The President, for his judicious management of a complex institution? Of course. The faculty, for their continuous efforts at moulding the mind and character of those under their charge? Without a doubt.

The student body? Why not allow itself as discreet an amount of applause as possible? Just a smattering.

There have been difficulties to surmount this year at the College. Some students have spent long hours in classrooms or laboratories until late in the afternoon. Others have been on a six day week for a year or more. All have been handicapped by crowded conditions either in the classrooms or in the Aquinas Hall dining hall or the Harkin's Hall cafeteria.

Yet the majority seem to have taken such ob-

Ten Minute Break

By J. V. S.

Monsignor Hayes . . . The Commencement speaker is a native of Providence, according to the Hartford Transcript.

Monsignor Hayes was ordained to the priesthood in 1931. He received his Licentiate in Philosophy from St. Bernard's Seminary, Rochester, N. Y. He made further studies at the Catholic University of America, Washington, D. C., from 1933-34, after serving as assistant pastor of the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Waterbury, Conn. He was awarded the degree of Master of Arts by Catholic University in 1934.

The Transcript says that Monsignor Hayes has been Chancellor of the Hartford Diocese since 1945. It was in October of that year that His Holiness Pope Pius XII appointed him a domestic prelate.

Seniors . . . Most Seniors are happy that they have fewer days to wear their Caps and Gowns than last year's graduating class. Although the gowns are a mark of achievement and a distinct honor, the warm weather of May helps to make them uncomfortable after being worn for some time.

Twelve Days . . . A bit of research discloses that a mere twelve study days remain before the final examinations for Juniors, Sophomores and Freshmen. Moans and groans should become intensified as the days pass.

Congratulations . . . One of last year's Co-Editors of the Cowl recently went to a wedding, his own by the way. From the wedding pictures he appears to have done right well for himself. Congratulations are in order.

Unkempt Appearance . . . The back of Harkins Hall doesn't look as clean as the front. Not a blade of grass out of place in front but things are different in the rear of the building: cigarette butts, lunch wrappers, cups and miscellaneous papers litter the ground. It's all well and good to eat a lunch outside in the fresh air or loiter about in the sunshine between classes but the debris should not be allowed to gather about the grounds. "Pick up and clean up" should be the motto.

Electives . . . Undergraduates are wondering what electives they should be taking next year. Sometimes a "good" course has two meanings depending on whether extra-curricular work is extensive or whether the professor is a "good marker." One suggestion concerning electives comes from an about-to-be-married Sophomore. He was seen entering the office of the Dean of Studies. He was heard asking about a course in Astronomy. He no doubt wants to combine star-gazing and moon-light nights and study.

Veritas Binder . . . According to many, the new Veritas which is due for early distribution has the best cover of the past few years. This year's Veritas cover with its red gold College seal is doubtless most attractive.

Graduate Record Exams . . . The question is, how does this College compare with others in the scholarship attainments of its graduates? It would be interesting to compare the Graduate Record Exam marks at this College with those of other colleges. What is the I. Q. of this year's graduating class?

CAMPUS TOURS

By JAMES C. WILLIAMS, '50

Reading through the host of college papers sent to the COWL one learns many things. It affords an excellent opportunity to compare various other schools with our own.

While browsing through Brown's Daily Herald we learned that Woody Herman's orchestra, featuring vocalist Mary Ann McCall, will play at their all-college weekend. From Rhode Island State's Beacon we gathered the information that they were to hold their Junior Prom night at the Sheraton-Biltmore. Their method of electing a Prom Queen (framing two sides of the front page of the paper with pictures of the contestants) certainly improves the appearance of the Beacon. The Springfield Student has announced that Sam Donahue has been chosen for their Prom while Elliot Lawrence will provide the backdrop at Holy Cross's.

We found several of the April editions very interesting. The Brown Daily Herald published a fascinating one. After reading these issues from other schools one wonders why it is that the COWL does not observe April Fool's Day. Certainly P.C. does not lack sufficient material for such a celebration in print.

The most polished college publication which we read was Boston College's The Heights. One recent edition ran to a length of ten pages. The Heights contains several features which are novel and interesting. It has one column devoted to a list of all the college activities to take place in the near future. Several of the other papers have a similar column and we wonder if such a feature could be profitably incorporated into the Cowl.

The Boston University News recently complained in an editorial of what was described as the deplorable parking situation there. Brown also seems to have a similar parking problem. So you see, fellow sufferers, that we have plenty of the comradeship which misery loves.

Bishop McViney was a recent guest speaker at the Final Convocation of Rhode Island State College. The title of his address was "The Need of Philosophy in Education." The Bishop ended his speech with an exhortation and a promise. "As you progress in your knowledge of the profane sciences, never lose sight of your last end and your newly acquired knowledge will bring you true peace of soul and the complete fulfillment of your entire nature."

"The Anchor" of the Rhode Island College of Education published in last week's edition several editorials from other college papers. Its purpose in doing this was "For the consolation of those students who are inclined to criticize conditions they think exist at R. I. C. E." One editorial, taken from Rhode Island State's "Beacon," was titled "Who is Guilty?" and asked whether the student driven in desperation to cheating was really guilty. The editors wondered if inadequacy of teacher instruction and lack of interest on the part of the instructor were not at least partially culpable.

Another of the quoted editorials, this time from Brown's "Daily Herald," also complains of the lack of proper preparation of professors. It emphasized the wide gulf that exists between the intellectual and the educator.

Editorials in the papers from Brown and Rhode Island State complained at length of their own pressing parking problems. Thus P.C. men can find solace in the companionship which misery is said to love.

IN MEMORIAM

The first anniversary of the death of John Sullivan, former secretary of the Registrar, will be observed by the college on May 21.

stacles in stride with a minimum of grumbling and complaint.

The six day week has certainly not been accepted but is tolerated as what must be temporarily. The late laboratory hours have usually been considered as a distasteful but necessary part of the science and business courses. Even in the cafeterias at the height of the lunch priods, the conduct of the student body is creditable.

In general, whatever its faults, the student body has more reason for congratulating itself than not. There is room enough for a discreet amount of applause. Just a smattering.

P. C. NINE SEEKS WIN OVER BROWN TODAY

♦ ♦ ♦ SPORTS PANORAMA ♦ ♦ ♦

By Dave Connors, Jr.

STATE CHAMPIONSHIP . . .

It's been a long time since Providence College has come out on the top in competition with state rivals Rhode Island State and Brown in any sport over a season's play. However, Hal Martin's baseball nine can accomplish that feat during the current baseball season. Today's game with Brown is the key one in this battle for the state crown.

Should the Friars win today's contest, played at Brown, it will give them a victory over each of their rivals on the other's home diamond, Rhode Island State already having been taken into camp at Kingston a few weeks ago.

If Tom Keenan, a last minute nominee to pitch, can turn back the Bruins across city, the Friars will definitely be in the driver's seat. They will have the advantage of playing both State and Brown the next time on Hendricks Field.

The Friars have enjoyed anything but a successful season to date, but salvaging the state championship will be one accomplishment that a few weeks ago seemed to be an impossibility, the way the team was playing ball.

SCOUTS GALORE . . .

Sunday afternoon last, there were more big league baseball scouts in attendance at the Boston College and Providence College game than one could actually keep count of. Collecting tickets at the gate during that contest it seemed to me that every fifteen minutes or so a gentleman would come to the entrance and flash out a National Professional Baseball Leagues pass. Of course the big attraction last Sunday was the Boston College team with their many outstanding ball players. Most of them are playing their last year of collegiate ball and some will be embarking on professional ball careers.

Although the B.C. players for the most part drew the scouts there, I doubt if most of them won't be back for another look at a couple of the Friar players, after the way they rode that ball for distance in a few instances during Sunday's contest.

LETTER WINNERS:

Three seniors, Frank Diluglio and Jack Powell, co-captains, and Jim Cahill, manager, will have the honor of receiving the first track letters awarded in the history of Providence College; and no three men are more deserving of the awards. All three have been a tremendous help to Coach Harry Coates in his efforts to give P.C. a first class track team.

TWILIGHT BALL . . .

For those who like to take in a ball game in the evening, the softball games played on the field behind Donnelly Hall have really proved very popular. The League consists of teams formed by the dorm students.

For sheer enthusiasm and rivalry these games cannot be improved upon. Every night, there is a big crowd in attendance and don't think that the quality of the ball isn't good. There are many excellent players. It looks like an easy game, but it is just the opposite. In fact, I have seen many softball players who make good baseball players, but not too many baseball players make good softball players.

AND PLEASE BE PATIENT . . .

Cause come September and Joe McCarthy will have the Red Sox at the head of the class.

P. C. Varsity Track Team in Title Bid

By BOB FLANAGAN

Next Saturday afternoon, Harry Coates and his track team will make a bid for the New England Intercollegiate Track and Field Championship. They are scheduled to travel to Springfield, Mass. to compete in the 22-team extravaganza. Coates plans to enter a full squad in this Eastern Intercollegiate Track and Field Meet.

The athletic department took advantage of the recent admission to the Eastern Intercollegiate Athletic Association to enter the team. Other small colleges from the New England area are to be represented. The track mentor announced that, although these colleges are small in enrollment, they are strong athletically, especially in track. Such schools as Springfield, Colby, Bates, and Amherst will be the P.C. rivals.

The team that Coates has entered seems to be shaping up nicely. Pourier will run the sprints and his specialty, the 220-yard dash; and Senior Frank Di Luglio the 440. Sherry will enter the 880, along with Dave Lamont, who is a miler, also. The other entries in the mile are Hanaway and Morrison. Coach Coates explained that especially in the 220 and 880 are the Friars powerful and capable of garnering points.

In the field events the Coatesmen have an even better outlook. Tony (Continued on Page 5)

Frosh Baseball Nine Defeats Nichols 7-1

Breaking out in a rash of base hits, the Friar Frosh baseball team walloped the Nichols Junior College nine, 7-1, on Saturday. Lefty Bill McKeon held the Nichols batters well in check, while his mates were scoring seven runs on fourteen hits.

Nichols scored one run in the first to take a 1-0 lead, and, for the first three innings, that marker looked mighty big. But, in their half of the fourth, the Friars unloaded their long range guns to blast the Nichols pitcher for five tallies. Georgie Carroll led off the inning with a double, which Bill McKeon promptly followed with a single, sending Carroll to third.

Charlie Lynch then banged out a long triple, scoring both runners. Then, Dick Duignan also slammed out a three bagger, sending the third run of the inning across the plate. Bob Barry then reached on an error, stole second, and scored, along with Duignan, when Don MacDonald singled.

After the run which the Nichols team scored in the first, McKeon kept them well in check, scattering four bingles over the route. He registered 14 strikeouts, and allowed only two walks. Incidentally, the run which was

Brown Frosh Team Nips P.C. Tracksters In Tight Dual Meet

By DICK BOULET

Led by double winners Dan Walsh, Bill Keenan, and John McMullen, the P.C. freshman track squad gave the Brown yearling team a stiff battle before succumbing, 67-59, in a dual meet held at Brown Stadium on Saturday. The Friars almost won despite the fact that they had only twelve men to compete in fourteen events. Our Frosh dominated the running events, while the Bruin squad was superior in the weights. We led until the final event of the day, the discus, but Brown swept the first three spots in this event, to win the meet.

Getting off to very fast starts, Dan Walsh registered wins in both the 100 and 220. Teammate Jim Penler finished second in each. Walsh copped the hundred by about three yards, but his margin in the 220 over the fast-finishing Penler was not more than one inch, making it by far the closest race of the meet.

Surprise of the afternoon was the splendid performance turned in by Johnnie McMullen. First, he won the hammer throw with a toss of 136' 6", and then came over and cleared the high jump bar at 5' 6" to gain a tie for first in this event.

Bill Keenan, P.C.'s third double winner in the afternoon, displayed great versatility in coping widely different events. He started the day off right for the Friars by winning the pole vault—clearing the cross bar while it was at 10 feet. Then, he came back later to win the half mile by approximately six yards in the excellent time of 2:04.3.

Provider of two of the best finishes of the meet was little Jack Cassidy, who won the 440 and finished second to Keenan in the 880. In the quarter, Cassidy put on a terrific burst of speed in the last eighty yards to pass teammate Bob Aldrich and a fellow from Brown, and win in the good time of 52.1 seconds. Again in the 880, Cassidy put on a closing spurt in the last few yards which just eked him into second place ahead of the Brown competitor.

Bob Aldrich and Larry Marra each garnered two seconds for the frosh. Aldrich got one of his seconds in the 440, and registered the other in the broad jump, by getting off a leap of 19' 10". Marra scored his six points by finishing second in both hurdles. Tommy Gleeson was the Frosh's other second place finisher, as he took the place position in the javelin on the basis of a 137 foot toss. John Conley, running the mile for the first time did creditably, gaining a third.

In the next meet on the schedule, the Friars will run against the Boston University frosh team on this coming Friday.

scored against him in the first was registered with the aid of two errors.

Although that five run blast in the fourth would have been enough to win, the Friars added a couple more markers in the seventh for good measure. Glenn Russell walked, George Carroll singled, his third bingle of the game, and Eddie Bibeau also singled sending Russell across. Pitcher McKeon sacrificed both runners along, and, after Charlie Lynch went out, Dick Duignan rapped out a one-bagger, his third hit of the afternoon, scoring Carroll. The rally was cut short when Bibeau, also trying to score on Duignan's single, was thrown out at the plate.

Heavy stickers for the game were Georgie Carroll with two doubles and a single, and Dick Duignan who banged out a triple and two one-bag-

LAST ROAD GAME FOR FRIARS SATURDAY, SUNDAY GAMES HERE

This afternoon the Providence College Friars baseball nine will play their last game this season on a foreign field when they clash with Brown University at Aldrich Field. The Friars will return to their own field for the remainder of their schedule.

Varsity Nine Wins 1 Game, Loses 2

By JACK SHEA

The elation from last Wednesday's 4-2 victory over M.I.T. was short lived, as the Friar nine dropped two more games over the weekend. On Saturday the Friars received a 7-4 pasting at Springfield and in their home debut on Sunday received a 6-5 setback by Boston College.

Saturday's game with Springfield was one of the poorest exhibitions P.C. has given this season. Frank Higgins started on the mound for the Friars, going eight innings before being removed for a pinch-hitter. Jim Sullivan hurled the last frame. Providence committed five errors which the Gymnasts combined with eight hits for their seven runs.

Springfield started Swenson on the mound and replaced him in the fifth with Neverdauski. P.C. scored three times in the fourth and once in the ninth. The Friars collected ten hits highlighted by a triple by hard hitting Larry De Palma and a double by Art Weinstock.

Providence inaugurated their home season with a thrilling game against Boston College. Although exciting throughout, the game could hardly be classified as well-played. The Friars again committed five errors in aiding the Eagles considerably. Tom Keenan went the route for Providence, giving up 12 hits and fanning eight. The Martimnen gathered 10 hits from two B.C. hurlers, Quirk and Shellenback. The latter gained credit for his second win of the year over the Friars.

DePalma and Weinstock again were the hitting standouts for P.C. The former garnered three hits including his second home run of the year. Weinstock smashed a long triple to center-field to continue his heavy sticking.

Micarelli, Flaherty, Coogan, Crowley Elected To Congress

With less than fifty per cent of the members of the student body who were eligible to cast ballots voting, Edmund C. Micarelli, '50, Providence, was elected to the presidency of the Student Congress, last week. Final tabulations, completed on Thursday, gave Micarelli 197 ballots as against Edward R. Coogan, '50, Fall River, who polled 143. Coogan, present Junior Class president, garnered the vice-presidential office of the organization which fosters and regulates all student activities. Closest contender for the vice-presidency was George E. Fournier, Jr., '50, West Warwick, with 99 casting their votes for him.

Secretary's post went to Robert Flaherty, Worcester, who won with 145 ballots over Gerard McKenna, Providence, with 112. The two other Sophomore contenders were Joseph Carbon and Benjamin Hague, both of Providence.

Thomas Crowley with 173 votes was elected to be treasurer of the Congress. Second for the position was Guy Geoffrey, Fiskeville, 138, followed by Walter Faulkner, Hamden, Conn., and Herbert Underhill, Lakewood, All are Freshmen.

Thomas Newman, Senior Class and present Congress president, conducted the balloting with the assistance of members of the Senior Class.

WDOM Begins Regular Broadcast

Last Thursday, May 5, marked WDOM's second night on the air. The station now going on the air every Tuesday and Thursday evening at 5:45 p. m. is fast becoming a major cog in the life of our school. Although the school year is almost over, the boys on the staff are making plans for next year in order that they might start in the school year without delay.

On last Thursday's broadcast, personal interviews highlighted the program. Bob Hope and his cast consisting of Doris Day, Irene Regan, and Les Brown were among the many interviews on the broadcast. Bob's Service Camp broadcasts recorded during the war years, were also on the program.

The principal interviews, however, were those of the Junior Prom Students.

Cowl in Fight for Survival As WDOM Expands Area

Reporter Seeks Opinions Newsmen Ask For Support

By Leonard Levin, '52

The news that station WDOM is at last in operation on the campus of Providence College causes a mild degree of trepidation in the minds of many of the staff members of the Cowl. For, it is argued, the advent of a radio station with its daily broadcasts may eventually bring about the abolition of the Cowl, with its weekly news summaries.

The board of strategy of the Cowl, in an overnight session, spent many weary hours trying to solve the problem of how to cope with this new threat to its existence. At this meeting, which was marked by several collapses from sheer exhaustion, no solution could be reached, until it was decided to send a reporter out to quiz the student body on what they actually preferred, a weekly newspaper or a daily radio station, and then to report its findings to the executive board of the College. Since the students in Aquinas, Guzman, and Donnelly Halls would most likely be in favor of a radio station, it was decided to limit the survey to the lounge in Harkins Hall.

The first person we approached, a freshman, gave this opinion: "I think we should have a more powerful radio station, one that could be picked up all over the city, but it should only be on the air during the autumn and spring." When asked why he preferred

WDOM during the autumn and spring and the Cowl during the winter the freshman replied, "I need something to wrap my books in when it snows."

We then asked a member of the Sophomore class. His comment was: "By all means I prefer the Cowl." Then, as an afterthought, he added, "I think the Cowl would gain more adherents if it published a weekly section on how to win at Hi-lo-Jack."

Making a note of this, we then questioned a member of the Junior class, whose only comment was, "Until WDOM installs television, I'm sticking to the Cowl." Having been given this encouraging vote of confidence, we hastened to the offices of the Cowl, where we could put this news in print. In our speed we did not notice a dark object approaching us. As we picked ourselves up off the ground, we recognized the mass as a cap-and-gown bedecked senior. After withstanding his efforts to sell us some assorted used textbooks, we decided to ask him whether he preferred the Cowl to the radio station. He was most uncooperative, however, his only comment being, "Just two more weeks and I'll be out of this rig."

The Cowl has been so heartened by the support given it that we have decided to incorporate several new features next year, among them the following: a section of Hoyle every week, including treatises on strategy in Pinochle, Hi-lo, and Bridge; a list of the current features on the television screen at Bradley's theater; and maybe the selections at Lincoln Downs and Narragansett, so that certain students will be able to buy more than coffee and doughnuts for lunch.

Seniors And Juniors Dance, Make Merry

Seniors in caps and gowns and Juniors as their guests contributed to the success of last Friday evening's well-attended Cap and Gown Dance and Junior Reception in the auditorium of Harkins' Hall. They danced to the easy rhythm of Tom McMann and his twelve-piece orchestra. During the intermission, the Very Rev. Robert J. Slavin, O.P., president of the college, extended greetings to the dancers.

After Father Slavin's address, John Rock read the Class Will, a series of humorous legacies to next year's Senior Class. Closing the program was a hilarious skit in which three Class wits caricatured well-known professors at the College. Leo J. Bisson from Hartford, Conn. portrayed the class room antics of a prominent Philosophy professor; Joseph W. Malley from Providence gave his version of how an apparently impractical Sociology professor conducts his class and George W. Hindle, also from Providence made a distinguished appearance as a certain Theology professor, outstandingly garbed with Army cap, outside shoulder eagles and a huge Service discharge button.

Between dances, two kinds of punch were served in the lounge of Harkins' Hall. Members of the faculty who were present during the evening included: The Rev. William R. Clark, O.P., moderator of the Senior Class, the Rev. Charles V. Reichart, O.P., and the Rev. Edward A. McDermott, O.P.

Assemblies

"The Present Position of Catholics in England", however brilliant, however humorous, is "probably the most superficial book that Newman ever wrote", the Very Rev. Paul Sobry, Canon of Bruges, Belgium, an exchange professor of the Catholic University of America, told the Sophomore and Junior Assemblies yesterday morning in the auditorium of Harkins' Hall. According to Father Sobry, there are other volumes in the list of fourteen that Cardinal Newman wrote which are more indicative.

J. Paul Sheedy* Switched to Wildroot Cream-Oil Because He Flunked The Finger-Nail Test

NO cock-of-the-walk was poor, sad, seedy Sheedy when he found loose dandruff on his comb. Now that he's a Wildrooter, he has something to crow about and so will you. Wildroot Cream-Oil gives you neat, well-groomed hair all day long without a trace of oil or grease. Makes it easy to keep that favorite chick in your coupe forever! It relieves annoying dryness and removes so much loose, ugly dandruff that you really have to scratch to find it! Peck on down to your favorite drug counter and bring back a hen full of non-alcoholic Wildroot Cream-Oil containing Lanolin. Always ask your barber for a professional application! And set on this thought—Wildroot Cream-Oil is again and again the choice of men who put good grooming first.

Fratunono, outstanding weight man, is counted on heavily to score in the discus, shotput, and javelin. Jerry Alexander is entered in his specialty, the javelin throw, and is expected to be right up there in the scoring. He is also entered in the high jump and broad jump. In the pole vault, John Shanley stands a good chance to place as he has been approaching the 13-foot mark in practice. Art Kavanaugh and Ed Pourier round out the field team. Kavanaugh is a high jumper and broad jumper while Pourier is entered only in the broad jump.

The same day, the Frosh track team travels to Boston to compete against Boston University, Tufts, Boston College, and Huntington. Walsh and Penler are in the dashes, and Cassidy and Aldrich will compete in the quarter mile. Bill Keenan runs the 880 and pole vaults. Conley will participate in the mile run. In the weight events, McMullen is the Friars' only chance in the discus and javelin. He also high jumps.

Last Wednesday afternoon, the Friars won a dual meet with Fairfield University, 76-51. It is Fairfield's first year in track competition, and the "veteran" P.C. squad had little trouble to win by a 25 point advantage.

High School Staffs At RIIPA Meeting Learn News Styles

Over one hundred advisers and staff members of sixteen public and private Rhode Island high school publications attended the second annual convention of the Rhode Island Interscholastic Press Association which was held in Harkins Hall Saturday afternoon. The guests and the college delegates heard Mr. Robert Keyserlink, editor of the Canadian national Catholic weekly, THE ENSIGN, one of the featured speakers at the convention, speak of how the reporting of news has changed from the mere reporting of facts to the reporting of the reasons of the facts. "News today," Mr. Keyserlink stated, "is not so much how but why."

Drawing from a wealth of personal experiences and acquaintance with prominent leaders in world affairs, the former United Press bureau chief told also of the technical advances in news gathering and favorable consequences because of them. He further commented on the press as a propaganda agent saying that its effect is accomplished not by "a distortion of truth, but a choice of facts."

Following an address by the Rev. Robert J. Slavin, O.P., president of the college, who delivered greetings to the members of the convention, the delegates attended nine panel forums on the newspaper profession.

At the close of the general meeting, the college delegates held elections for the offices of the R.I.P.A. for 1949-50. Orris Rogers, '50, Bryant College, Providence, was elected president; Patricia Byrne, '51, Salve Regina College, Newport, vice president; William Plummer, '51, Providence College, secretary; and Patricia McCarthy, '50, Rhode Island College of Education, treasurer.

Arthur Rogers, '50, Providence College, was general convention chairman assisted by Miss Byrne, M. Patricia DiSarro, R.I.C.E., and Frank Pritchard, Rhode Island State, who were members of the Speakers committee. Betty Hamilton Pryce, R.I.C.E. was in charge of the programs.

The National Federation, founded twelve years ago, "brings students together for unified action. It effects better faculty-student relationships and gives voice to the individual Catholic College students." Against all anti-Christian forces, N.F.C.C.S. "works for certainty and integration in Christian thought and ideals in an uncertain and disintegrated world."

The Most Rev. Richard J. Cushing, D.D., Archbishop of Boston, greeted the delegates from the nineteen member colleges of the New England chapter at the Hotel Bradford on Friday evening, and was celebrant and preacher of the Solemn Pontifical Mass which was offered in Holy Cross Cathedral on Sunday. Among the distinguished guests present at the convention was Sean McBride, Minister of External Affairs for the Irish Free State.

Prominent personalities of the three-day program were Mr. James Guilmond of St. Michael's College, Winoski, Vermont, who spoke on "Unity in Action", and Rev. James Rille, S. J., teacher at Boston College High School, who delivered an address on the Communistic upheaval in Hungary. Father Rille, who served as a delegate from Budapest, was a personal friend of Josef Cardinal Mindszenty before the prelate's imprisonment by the Communists.

The entire assembly was conducted on a workshop basis, with frequent question and answer periods, covering the Catholic college student's part in Liturgy, Catholic Action, Student Government, International Relations, Publicity and Radio.

The five delegates from the College returned with excellent ideas for constructive planning as a result of the Congress. Coogan said further Present plans are being revamped, he concluded, so that a well-co-ordinated student activity program will be aroused and that the student body will become acquainted with the functioning of the Student Congress.
