Sophomore Tests Evaluate Extent Of General Culture

The Seventeenth Annual National College Sophomore Testing Program conducted at the College last week serves to discover the extent of the student's background in three important areas of study as well as a basis for student self-appraisal, it was disclosed yesterday from the office of the Rev. Vincent C. Dore, O.P., Dean.

Many benefits are derived from participating in these national testing programs, Father Dore said.

"Aside from offering a student a standard for appraising his general development in broad areas of study and for comparing his achievements with those of his fellow classmates, it will also act as a guide for the student in the selection of a specialized area of study."

Since the College will award the Bachelor of Arts degree instead of the Bachelor of Philosophy starting in June of 1949, the results of these tests, the Dean said, "will aid the student in selecting the area of specialization for which he is well fitted."

The objective evidence which the tests yield serve as an aid to guiding the student in developing his educational plan in relation to his actual abilities and limitations.

The tests will reveal the extent of the student's background in general culture, understanding of contemporary affairs, and English expression and reading comprehension. They will also aid the College in evaluating its educational program and determine the extent to which individuals are achieving the objectives set forth by the institution.

The results of these tests will be filed along with the student's personal records. When the final tabulations are made later this month the student will be notified of his score.

Players Present Comedy, 'Rehearsal'

The Pyramid Players, College dramatic society, will present "Rehearsal" as their annual spring musical-comedy next May.

Direction will be by Jack Feeley, '49, who also did the honors for last year's "Sing, Mr. Citizen." The show, as the title suggests, will be built around a variety of acts in a rehearsal setting.

According to Henry J. Keenan, promoting manager, many fine acts are in rehearsal now but more musical talent is needed. Said Mr. Keenan: "The spring musical is the biggest undertaking of the year for the Pyramid Players. Any able and willing student is asked to help."

Other theatrical business includes tentative plans for the College's representation at a one-act play contest, to be held at Regis College, Boston, in April. Edward L. Gnys, president of the Players, announced that plays are being considered and rehearsals are about to get under way.

LENTEN SERVICES

The Very Rev. Robert J. Slavin, O.P., will deliver his sixth sermon of the current Lenten series over Station WMEX (1500 K.C.) tonight. The talk will be on the theme "Fighting for Christ." The broadcast time is 8 p.m. to 8:45 p.m.

Fr. Shea Delivers Final Lenten Talk

"The family that prays together stays together," was the theme of the lenten lecture of the Rev. Timothy E. Shea, O.P., when he delivered the final talk on the "Christian Family" in the Harkins Hall auditorium Sunday.

Father Shea advocates the Family Rosary as a solution to the problems of the day.

"Conferences for world peace—the United Nations Organization—meetings of the world's greatest diplomats and statesmen—all these efforts on the part of the world's greatest powers are very feeble and will prove to be ineffective. Before a lasting peace can be restored to the world, men must go back to God; the order between God and man must be restored. This order can be restored

MARSHALL PLAN

Over 1000 students of the College endorsed the principle of the Marshall Plan by signing the petitions posted last week calling for the quick passage of an adequate European Relief Program. The Dean said that the response here compared "most favorably" with those of the other R. I. colleges and civic organizations.

Max Jordan's Talk Scheduled Friday

Max Jordan, an expert on European affairs, will lecture on "The Stake in Europe," this Friday evening at 8:15 in the Harkins Hall auditorium. Admission is free and the general public, as well as the student body, are invited.

This talk is the College's contribution to the Rhode Island "world affairs" week, which began last Sunday. Recordings will be made of it for a broadcast over station WJAR in Providence.

Well-qualified to discuss his topic by reason of nearly thirty years of close observation of the European scene, Mr. Jordan is Central European Representative of both the National Broadcasting Company and the National Catholic Welfare Conference News Service.

His conclusion is that "the very stake of Western and Christian civilization is ours according to how we act in and towards Europe. And he implements his argument by bringing out significant sidelights in various continental countries. These will show that the 'Iron Curtain' has become America's first line of defense and that, for our own sake, we cannot shirk the responsibility we have assumed."

Following the completion of his present lecture tour, his first in nearly three years, Max Jordan will return to his assignment in Europe.

Annual Retreat for Students Will Commence on Monday

George Johnson Selected to Play At Carolan Dance

George Johnson and his fourteen-piece orchestra will inaugurate the "Carolan Weekend" Saturday, April 13, in the lounge of Aquinas Hall at the annual resident dinner-dance conducted by the Carolan Club. A four-piece section of the orchestra will also play in the Penguin Room.

It was previously announced by the executive board of the Carolan Club that a cocktail party would be held on Saturday afternoon. Circumstances now call for a revision of plans in order that all efforts may be directed to provide the students and guests with a full-course chicken dinner on Saturday evening.

Sunday's activities will include breakfast in the cafeteria for students and their guests, a Blackfriar lecture Sunday afternoon by the Rev. Nicholas H. Serron, O.P., to be followed by a tea. An open house, at which time guests will be allowed to visit the rooms, will conclude the weekend activities.

School of Design Exhibits Furniture

Students are invited to attend the opening of an exhibition of "Furniture of Today," April 7, and continuing during April and May at the Rhode Island School of Design Museum in Providence. It will present a cross-section of modern furniture now available in stores. Manufacturers and importers from all over the country are lending some 100 pieces of furniture designed by 31 artists.

Concentrating primarily on the living room, the exhibition also includes furniture for the dining room and bedroom, as well as a number of different types of lamps and a group of carpets showing a wide range of color, style and texture which have been lent by 13 manufacturers.

All writing in the 1948 Veritas is being handled by a sixteen-man literary board.

Beginning Monday and continuing through Wednesday noon, the annual student retreat will be conducted by the Revs. Francis N. Reynolds, O.P., and J. V. Williams, O.P., both in the Harkins Hall and Aquinas Chapels. Freshmen, Sophomores and Seniors will attend the conferences in Harkins Hall and the Juniors in Aquinas Hall.

The retreat will be conducted in substantially the same manner as last year. Mass will be celebrated daily at nine o'clock and will be followed immediately by a sermon. The second conference, opening with the recitation of the Holy Rosary, will be held approximately a half hour after the first. After another half-hour interval, the third conference will be held, followed by Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

Confessions will be heard after all conferences and at any other time a student may request. A general Holy Communion will be observed at the nine o'clock Mass on Wednesday. The conferences will be over by twelve-thirty each day.

Attendance at every conference is compulsory for every Catholic student of the College. A definite seating plan is being arranged by the Chaplain. Non-Catholic students are invited to attend and seats will be reserved for them in the rear of the auditorium. The Easter recess begins

Camera Club Seeks Additional Members

Inviting all photography enthusiasts to attend, Anthony V. Orabone, president of the College Camera Club, announced last night that members will hold a meeting tomorrow at 11:30 A. M. in the Publications Office, Donnelly Hall.

Mr. Orabone, photography editor of the 1948 Veritas and a member of the COWL photography staff, stressed that not only was the club "seeking the new members," but also "willing to discuss any photographic problem which students may have."

At this meeting, the members will outline their program of events for the rest of the semester. Plans for a picture exhibit this spring will be

Bruce Marshall, Famed Scottish Author, Will Lecture on Catholic Novel, April 1st

Bruce Marshall, distinguished Scottish novelist, now on his first American lecture tour, will discuss several aspects of the Catholic novel, Thursday, April 1st, at 8:15 P. M., in the Harkins Hall auditorium.

This talk by the author of Vespers in Vienna, Yellow Tapers for Paris, Father Malachy's Miracle, and The World, the Flesh, and Father Smith, etc., is being sponsored by the Senior Veridames of Providence College.

The students of the College will be the invited guests of the Veridames, the Rev. Edward A. McDermott, O.P., Moderator and Chaplain, announced today in making known the appearance of this author whose latest work, Vespers in Vienna, was one of last year's Book-of-the-Month Club's selections.

Marshall, who is well known for his penetrating analysis of the Catholic novel, will discuss the influence of the R. H. Benson school, Puritanism and the novel, Mauriac and Bernanos, what Catholics may write about, Koestler's view of the novel, and "the pleasant shock of absolute truth."

Marshall's earliest recollection of his school years is of Edinburgh Academy, where his form mistress laughed at him for not being able to tie his own shoelaces. From Trinity College, Glanadmond, he ran away at the age of eleven and bought a shilling book, "The Prodigal Father" to read on the train. A fellow-traveler, divining his intentions, remarked, "The Prodigal Father, eh? And are you the prodigal son?"

Marshall went to St. Andrew's University, when he was seventeen, where he wooed simultaneously the Church of Rome and the daughter of the schoolmaster of Leuchers, excit-

New Haven Club Schedules Dance

"The Meadowbrook" in Hamden, Connecticut, will be the scene of the New Haven Club informal dance Monday night, March 24," according to information received yesterday from Kenneth Lyke, '48, chairman of the affair.

Mr. Lyke stated, "that a buffet meal will be included in the evening's activities, with dancing beginning at eight and continuing until midnight."

"The surplus in the club treasury will be used to defray the costs of the dance," continued Mr. Lyke, "with only the members of the college chapter in attendance."

Assisting the chairman with the arrangements are the members of the club entertainment committee; Pat Onofrio, Harry Radston, Frank Conlon, Frank Diluglio, and James Dunleavy.

CHAPLAIN'S LETTER

The annual retreat for students will begin on Monday, March the twenty-second. This is an occasion of spiritual stocktaking, of personal introspection. The Fathers conducting the retreat are thoroughly accustomed to men. Both have had many years of experience as Dominican missionaries, an experience which has taken them throughout the entire nation. One of them was a chaplain in the army during the recent war.

The conferences will be thought-provoking and eminently practical. It is expected that every Catholic student will utilize these days of the retreat for communing with God and as a time of meditation on the value of the human soul in God's sight and the purpose of life itself. It is expected, too, that during these days everyone will approach the tribunal of penance and that all will receive Holy Communion in a body on Wednesday morning.

There is no better way of observing Holy Week, there is no better preparation for Easter than making a good, sincere retreat.

CHARLES H. McKENNA, O.P.
Chaplain.

CUSTODIAN OF THE PAST

Small European nations are generally receiving a good deal of attention these days although there are certain differences in the degree and nature of the interest taken. Of all these nations, Eire probably enjoys the happiest situation today. This statement is made with the knowledge that it is likely to bring retorts about the so-called "selfish isolation" of Ireland during the last war. The only answer to that opinion is to refer to the very cogent arguments produced both during and after the war justifying Eire's remaining outside the actual fighting. One of those arguments holds very convincingly that the survival of England was due in no small part to both the neutrality and the aid received from her Irish neighbors.

A more important aspect of this thriving, tiny nation concerns her part in the future of Europe, indeed of Western Civilization. An analysis of the condition of nations of the continent of Europe reveals a terrible state of cultural life. In the atmosphere of instability which overhangs most of the continent, University life, literary efforts, creative art struggle to survive in utterly impossible surroundings.

In addition, all these facets of cultural life are seriously disaffected from the very founts of western culture; and even where progress is being realized, it is characterized by a hesitancy and terrible urgency indicative of the spiritually arid.

In Eire, however, there exists the modest beginnings of a revival in interest centering upon the very well-springs of Christian civilization. The universities and monasteries of Ireland bring to this study of the past

QUESTION

Are You Proud to be An Irishman?

ANSWERS

Dennis Patrick O'Feldberg: Was hockt mir a tscheineck? (English translation: natch!)

Gael A. Seatuorchio: Begorrah! Sure, and why should ye be asking me such a question?

John Francis McArzooonian: Of course! But the best Irishmen come from South Providence (Willard Ave).

Neil Thomas O'Kanovitz: Faith, yes! How else would I get into the Cabana? (hic).

Patrick Dennis Izzo: Madooga deeze? (or, What are you saying?) And who wouldn't be proud to be a'wearing the shamrock on this day?

Eamon Gromyko: Sure, 'tis foine to be Irish (but red is very pretty, also).

Sean O'Resnick: Being Irish, I have a good explanation why my (pardon the expression) left eye is green. My right eye is (pardon the expression) red; so I wear a green patch over it.

Kevin O'Goldshine: Ye may think I'm full of blarney; but I long for old Killarney.

Shauny O'Hoffman: Sure, and three cheers for the Irish: Hip hip, o'ray! Hip hip o'ray: Hip hip, o'ray!

Terry McBoffi: Erin go bragh! And Toura Loura to ye, too.

Linus McManus Greenstein: Why do ye ask? Is there another nationality???

John Patrick Driscoll: 'Tis only half proud I am, because I'm only half Irish. (Editors Note: Why be half safe??)

Shamus Mendozzi—Shades of St. Patrick! Being Irish is the best thing that ever happened to me!

Gerald Elwood: Some of the finest people I know are Irish. (Also all my ancestors).

Rinty Pomerantz: I don't have green hair because I eat Vigoro. I'm an Irishman of non-Irish extraction.

Bernard Kass(idy): I only shorten me name because 'tis easier to spell. But nevertheless, let no man say that I be not proud of me Irish background.

Thomas Patrick O'Broadman: Sure, I be! And if I weren't, I'd be discharged from the COWL.

HELP ON THE WAY ...

Coach Larry Drew and his boys have rung down the curtain on another basketball campaign, a campaign that from this corner was nothing but a success. A success not in the number of games won and lost because the final record showed only a .500 percentage. A success, however, from the standpoint of accomplishment. If any coach and quintet in this country did any better with what they had such an outfit should be awarded the national championship.

That does not mean to say that Providence College did not have capable basketball players. They did. The likes of Walt Lozowski, Ferd Sowa, Capt.-elect Charlie Bresnahan, and "Cy" Killian are not to be found everywhere. The coaching was excellent. That was proved in practically every game. Nine times out of ten the Friar squad was the better coached, the better drilled ball club. The question then arises—Why didn't they win on a percentage of nine times out of ten? The answer is so simple, but the solution so complex. The Friar team lacked nothing more than a couple of inches here and a couple of reserves there.

In this day and age of basketball, the teams with the big and the many are the teams that usually carry away the laurels. Providence College and Larry Drew had neither. When an-

MONOGRAM CLUB TO HOLD DANCE

At a meeting held last Friday, the Monogram Club, composed of athletes who have won letters in athletic competition at the College, drew up plans for the annual "Varsity Hop." It was decided to hold the dance on Friday April 16. The dance will be a semi-formal affair with corsages optional.

All profit from the dance will go into a fund from which money will be drawn to buy lettered sweaters for athletes who have participated in varsity sports.

It was also decided at the meeting to limit the number of couples at the dance to 250. The price of tickets are $2.50 a couple, and they are now on sale. The following committees were elected:

Tickets—Walter Modlezewski, William Littlefield, Thomas O'Halloran.
Refreshments—Walter Lozowski.

Decorations—Rae Edwards, Ferd Sowa, Cy Killian.

Publicity—John Arzooonian, Leo Labossiere, Charles Bresnahan.

Sowa's 212 Points Places Him on Top

During the just completed basketball campaign, a campaign in which they won ten games and lost ten games, the Providence College Friars scored an aggregate total of 1104 points for an average of slightly under 56 points a game while opponents chalked up 1155 points against the Drewmen for an average of 57 points a game.

The Rhode Island State Rams, in running up 108 points against the Friars at Kingston, gained the honor of scoring the most points in any one game against the Friars, but it was also in this contest that the boys of Larry Drew chalked up their individual game high for the season when they netted 84 markers.

In the individual scoring department Capt. Ferd Sowa, peerless center on the Friar Five and the only senior on the squad, took individual honors with a sum total of 212 points. Walt Lozowski, the great sophomore guard, took runnerup honors with 188 points garnered on 65 field goals and 58 free throws. Lozowski led all others in conversions from the free throw stripe with his 58 while Sowa's 81 field goals were enough to give him top honors in that department.

Charlie Bresnahan, sharpshooting forward, "Cy" Killian, Ray St. George and Art Weinstock, all sophomores with the exception of Bresnahan who is a junior also passed the century mark in points scored. They had 164, 149, 131, and 104 points respectively.

Conquerors Beat Aces

Playing without three of their varsity players, the Purple Aces, Division "B" champions, were eliminated from the Round Robin Tournament by the Conquerors, "Dorm" Division champions. The Conquerors now have a 1-1 record having all ready dropped a 25-17 decision to the high-flying Harps who lead the Tournament play with two wins against no setbacks. The Harps and the Conquerors will have to clash again to decide the College Championship.

P.C. Baseball Slate Features Holy Cross, Yale and St. John's

The Reverend Aloysius B. Begley, O.P., Athletic Director of Providence College, announced today that the Providence College Friars will play a sixteen game baseball schedule, during the coming season.

The Friars will open their schedule on the 25th of April against Assumption, at Worcester, and will wind up on the road also, playing Springfield at Springfield on June 2nd. They will play eight games at home, on Hendricken Field and will also be on the road for eight games.

Brown and Rhode Island State, vaunted state rivals of the Friars, will be met in home and home games, as will Boston College, Springfield and Holy Cross, other rivals of long standing on Friar baseball schedules.

Newcomers this year are St. John's of Brooklyn, N.Y., M.I.T., Upsala, Assumption, and Yale. The game with the Eli's will be played at New Haven, only one being scheduled with the Blue. The first game for the Friars at home will be against American Inter-

Charles Bresnahan To Lead Courtmen

The Providence College Friars basketball team at a meeting held at the College yesterday elected Charles Bresnahan, sharpshooting forward of the Friar quintet, as the captain for the 1948-49 basketball season. Bresnahan is a local boy residing at 90 Sinclair Ave., this city.

Bresnahan attended La Salle Academy before entering Providence College. He succeeds Ferd Sowa as captain of the Friar quintet.

Bresnahan will be leading a veteran squad next year when he assumes his leadership of the Friar forces; only one man, Sowa, will have been graduated this year. The blond 5'9" forward is one of the most popular men on the basketball team, as well as the campus.

Bresnahan finished third in the scoring department for the Friars in the just completed campaign, a campaign that saw the Friars win ten games and lose a like amount. He flipped 66 field goals through the hoop and 32 foul shots for a total of 164 points. During the middle stages of the campaign the wiry forward missed a few games because of illness.

The captain-elect is 21 years old, a veteran of the Army and will be graduated from Providence College with the class of 1949.

Irish Heavys Evenly Matched Football Pictures on Program

When the bell clangs at 8 o'clock this evening in Harkins Hall, it will bring forth the 5' 7" 135 lb. Pete Razza and 5' 7" 140 lb. Al Palumbo for the first bout on the Card of the eagerly awaited Sophomore Smoker. Razza will be capably handled by Dick Boning and Ed "Ace" Colby. Al Scorpio and John Polumbo will be in the corner of the very fast and tricky Al Palumbo.

Jack Schooley, 155 lb. Pre-Ecclesiastical Sophomore from Dayton, Ohio, will tangle with James Brady, 155 lb. Freshman from Providence, in the second fight on the program. Schooley will be seconded by John Donahue, Dick Fleck, and Marty Garrity. Sal Amanti will handle Brady.

In another middleweight contest, Al Fachada, 156 lb. Sophomore from Providence, and 157 lb. Pete Reilly, Sophomore from South Providence, will clash. Fred Stetz and Dick Boning will handle Fachada, while Reilly will be in the hands of Al Scorpio and John Polumbo.

A bout that should be packed with action will bring together 160 lb. Ray Forgays, a Junior from New York, and Elmer Smith, 155 lb. Senior from Concord, New Hampshire. Forgays, who has looked very impressive in training, fought continually at Great Lakes while in the service. After his discharge, he entered the C.Y.O. tournament in which he made a good showing. Smith made a good reputation for himself as a boxer at P.C. in 1942. Sal Sica and Ted Mezejewski will handle Smith, while Bill Bagley and Jim Connors will second Forgays.

In a light heavyweight encounter, Kevin McMahan, 175 lb. Sophomore from New Hampshire, will meet Edward Strack, 175 lb. Sophomore from Pawtucket. John Carr and Fran Coughlin will handle McMahan, while Strack will be handled by Hugh Harrod.

The final bout of the evening will be a heavyweight encounter, in which big 210 lb. Dennis Finn, Junior from Hartford, Conn., will be matched with Jim Keating, 210 lb. Pre-Ecclesiastical student from New York, N. Y. John Donahue, Dick Fleck, and Marty Garrity will be in Keating's corner, while Finn will be handled by Steve Marcucci and Frank DiIuglio.

The judges for the evening will be Providence College's two athletic coaches, Mr. Lawrence J. Drew and Mr. Harold L. Martin. The referee will

P.C. FROSH FIVE END GREAT YEAR

By BOB FLANAGAN

Winding up their season in typical style, the Providence Freshmen topped the fledglings of Clark University, 51-41. The boys from Worcester provided the Frosh with their 16th win in 19 starts. The Friars definitely didn't exhibit their best brand of ball but played well enough to make their finale a successful one. Typically also, Captain Sam Nissell paced the Drewmen in their final effort of the 1947-48 season by accounting for 14 points.

The highlights of the season were numerous and frequent. A 16-3 record is a respected one in any league of any sport. Claiming victories over all opponents except the vaunted Cubs of Brown, the yearlings were a very much feared quintet in New England Jayvee basketball. Explaining and not excusing it should be remembered that the Frosh were not at top strength in either outing with Brown. Injuries kept key men on the sidelines in both meetings of the teams.

These conquerors of such freshmen teams as R. I. State, Boston College, and Springfield will appear, perhaps, on the basketball scene next season wearing a varsity uniform with the aim of defeating the varsity clubs of their freshmen victims.

be Pete Luthies; counting at the knock-downs will be Walt Lozowski, and the timekeeper will be Joe Shanley. The announcers for the occasion will be Jim Cahill and Jack Shea.

The football highlights of 1947 will be shown after the bouts. These pictures will cover all the big games of last season's schedule.

The consensus of Senior opinion is that Theology and Ethics are the most difficult subjects in the last year.

The white tassel on a Senior's cap indicates that he is an arts student; the blue, philosophy, and the yellow, science.

ing the following comment in the University magazine:

"I lost the eight eleven
Wooing a dark-eyed maid,
If I lost the way to heaven
As I lost the eight eleven
Surely I'd be forgiven
And nothing would be said.
For B. M.: Quo Vadis? Rome
or Leuchers?"

Bruce Marshall went to Rome two days before he joined the army and the daughter of the schoolmaster went to Canada, where she married an airman.

Concurrently with interest in the ology went an interest in literature. In the front lines as a subaltern during World War I, Marshall produced his first novel, "A Priest of Mars," of which he sent four pages daily home to a friend in England. Captured and wounded in 1918, Marshall's chief anxiety was how to finish the novel in a German hospital; he completed work on it six months later in England after losing his leg. The publishers did not accept it but one critic angered the author by telling him that "he required to grow up." Inflated by port, lemonade, and wrath, the aspiring young author determined to persevere in both writing and "growing up." That he succeeded in both aims is unquestioned.

Marshall served during World War II, first as a subaltern in the Royal Army Pay Corps, later as a Captain in Intelligence and finally as a Lieutenant Colonel in the Displaced Persons Division of the Civil Commission of Austria. From the latter experience emerged the new novel, "The Red Danube," with Vienna as its locale.

Bruce Marshall, with a ready smile, large, lively eyes, radiates vitality. He has an engaging Scotch burr that falls pleasantly on American ears. His real human feeling, his winning simplicity, the warmth and sincerity of his voice and the note of conviction in whatever he says, promises to make him a lecture audience favorite through America.

P.C. VS. N.Y.U.

The College debaters will be seeking win number one when they meet the New York University team next Tuesday night at 7:45 p.m. in the lounge of Aquinas Hall.

Providence College will again uphold the negative side of the national topic, resolved: "That a federal world government should be established."

Wales Henry, '50, and Carmine Lombardi, '51, who represented the College against B.C. two weeks ago have been selected to debate against the New York team.

immediately after the retreat and will continue until Thursday, April 1.

Father Reynolds has just recently returned from the West coast where he has been conducting missions in the Los Angeles and San Francisco areas. In his college days he was quite a football player at Seton Hall. He stands six foot six inches and weighs in the neighborhood of two-hundred and fifty pounds. He was an Army Chaplain for three years and has spent most of his time in the Order on the mission band.

Father Williams is a member of the Class of '28 and this is the second time he has returned to preach a retreat to the students. He was here in 1940 and has the distinction of being the only alumnus ever to preach a retreat at the College. After his ordination in 1933 he spent one year at St. Rose's Priory at Springfield, Kentucky, and the Sacred Heart Church at Jersey City. For the past two years he has been conducting missions on the West coast along with Father Reynolds.

other hardwood campaign rolls around they may have both.

Impressive Trio

The Providence College Freshmen outfit this past campaign may have been the best to ever represent the college. The members of that squad were big and they were plentiful. Three men in particular could provide Larry Drew next year with the two things that he lacked this year, namely height and reserves. The three, Ray Garcia, Sam Nissel and Frank Pellagrini are all big, all good, and all young enough to grow even more. Garcia the smallest is about six feet tall now and Nissel the tallest about 6'3". Should all three put on say two inches between now and next December, and it is very likely that they will, then watch the Friars move.

Also from the Freshmen squad, such standouts as Larry DePalma, Ed Mooney and Arky Power will figure prominently in the battle for positions on next year's five. Two others who may be dark horses in the scramble next year are Alex Becker and John Murphy. Murphy the biggest man on the Freshmen squad, going up into the stratosphere 6'4", is a story in himself.

Reporting for basketball at the beginning of the past campaign, it was obvious that the big boy had played little basketball. But he was big, perhaps the biggest basketball player Larry Drew has had the pleasure to work with so he was kept on the squad.

The big fellow worked hard and absorbed all the basketball lore that he could and slowly but surely returned Drew's faith in him by showing steady improvement. I saw him make a couple of shots in the waning weeks of the season that I doubt if he had even seen before, let alone thought of making. He has a long way to go but if the boy from Brooklyn shows as much improvement in the next couple of seasons as he did during the just completed season he will be wearing a Friar varsity uniform.

only by a sincere recognition and observance of religion. The world and nations of the world can never hope for a true peace unless the individuals who make up and populate these nations first recognize and then fulfill their obligations towards God.

"If the Family is threatened by the onrush of totalitarian forces then the family has an obligation to stem the tide of this aggression. Hate must be replaced by love—pride by humility—disrespect for authority must be supplanted by obedience and conformity to the will of God. Therefore, a return to God through Family Prayer seems to be the order of the day.

"We recommend the Family Rosary because we find in this devotion those virtues portrayed which are essential to a happy Family life.

"The Family that prays together stays together. The family that loves the Rosary—the family that daily meditates upon the message of the Rosary is bound to be a free family because this family will share in the freedom which rests upon the truth that it possesses a humanity that is shared by the Godman—Jesus Christ."

a faith that is strong combined with an intellectual capacity known both for its perspicacity and its depth.

Moreover, the stability of life in Ireland provides a happy setting for re-examining the very roots that gave strength to a culture now crumbling because it has forgotten and forsaken those roots.

Such a re-examination as this is desperately needed, for it is only too evident how unconscious we have been of the basis for our belief in the dignity of man.

Whether the studies going on in Ireland will provide the mainspring for the revitalization of the western world before catastrophe breaks it down is something we cannot know. It may be that once more the saints and scholars of Ireland will be called upon to convert Europe to Christianity from the new barbarism threatening to engulf it.

The 1948 Veritas will contain 252 pages of pictures and writings, covering both academic and social functions of the College.
