

Providence College

DigitalCommons@Providence

Playbill and Promotion

An Evening of One Act Plays (1996)

Fall 1996

An Evening of One Act Plays Press Release

John Garrity

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcommons.providence.edu/one_act_plays_pubs

Part of the Acting Commons

The Blackfriars Theatre

Dear Friend of Blackfriars Theatre:

Enclosed you will find the tickets you ordered for the first production of the Friar's Cell, An Evening of One Act Plays. The evening includes An Actor's Nightmare by Christopher Durang, Suppressed Desires by Susan Glaspell, and For Whom the Southern Bell Tolls by Christopher Durang. As with all Friar's Cell productions, Theatre Arts students are responsible for all aspects of the show, from script to cast selection to scenery and lighting.

The house opens one half hour prior to the performance. Seating is general admission, so please arrive early for the best seats. If you have any questions concerning your tickets or need information or directions, please call the box office at 865-2218.

The Blackfriars Season will continue with the Friar's Cell next production of the powerful drama The Children's Hour. This play by Lillian Hellman is one of the greatest successes of this distinguished writer. The drama concerns two women who run a school for girls. Their lives are shattered when one of their students spreads a scandalous rumor about them. Although the gossip is later discovered to be false, the tragic repercussions cannot be undone. The Children's Hour will be presented February 27, 28 March 1,2. Information concerning advance ticket purchasing for The Children's Hour will be sent to you in January.

Thank you for supporting the performing arts at Providence College.

John Garrity
Managing Director
Blackfriars Theatre