INTRODUCTION

In July of 1973 Bernard Geary of Scituate, Rhode Island, donated the papers of his grandfather, Allen F. Cameron, to the Providence College Archives.

Mr. Cameron, born in 1836, in Quebec, Canada, was one of four brothers who served in the Union Army. He enrolled as a sergeant in the Rhode Island Colored Artillery (Heavy) Fifth Regiment in October of 1861. Among the engagements he participated in was the Burnside Expedition. By the time of his mustering out in October, 1865, Mr. Cameron had attained the rank of first lieutenant of the Rhode Island United States Colored Artillery (Heavy) Eleventh Regiment (originally, the Fourteenth Regiment), and had acted as aide-de-camp at post headquarters.

Upon retiring from the army, Mr. Cameron returned to his previous employment as a weave room overseer in Rockland (Scituate), Rhode Island, for approximately one year. He then became a weapons inspector and worked for companies in Springfield, Massachusetts, and New Haven, Connecticut.

This gift of approximately five hundred (500) pieces includes Mr. Cameron's personal and official correspondence, the latter consisting of material such as regimental reports, orders, rosters and courts-martial records detailing the progress of the Civil War, life in the Union Army and treatment of black troops by white officers.

The Collection has been divided into the following nine (9) record groups:
CIRCULARS—"Circulars," usually from the Adjutant General's Office, distribute official correspondence (except combat orders) on personnel and other administrative records.

CLIPPINGS—Included here are two newspaper clippings of personal interest to Mr. Cameron.

CORRESPONDENCE—This record group contains much Cameron family correspondence. It is of particular historical value for the War period from the "off-the-record," human interest viewpoint.

EQUIPAGE—This broad grouping relates to the files on pay, rations, ordnance and other miscellaneous supplies.

GENERAL COURTS-MARTIAL—This section consists of the charges, specifications and verdicts of several trials of military personnel.

GENERAL ORDERS—"General Orders," permanent instructions to all members of a command, concern policy as well as administrative matters.

MISCELLANEOUS—This folder is a catch-all for various notes and business cards.

SOLDIERS—Lists of and forms regarding deceased, deserted and discharged soldiers are enclosed in this file.

SPECIAL ORDERS—"Special Orders," as compared to "General Orders," affect primarily individuals or small groups.
