ALMOST, MAINE

by John Cariani

Bowab Studio Theatre, Smith Center for the Arts

In the middle of winter under a starry-night sky, the residents of the mythical town of Almost, Maine find themselves falling in and out of love in very unexpected ways. Hearts are broken, new love blossoms, and magical realism persists throughout this romantic, and unsentimental play. Similar to the Danish concept of "hygge," the nine vignettes in Almost, Maine each explore life's ordinary and extraordinary moments that can be cozy, charming, and something special. Be it the Northern Lights or falling snow, wonder and enchantment are abounds in this midwinter's night dream, and all hearts--almost--mend.

The Providence College Department of Theatre, Dance & Film continues its 2017-2018 season with Almost, Maine by John Cariani, which The New York Times described as, "a beautifully structured play, with nifty surprise endings..." Almost, Maine will be directed by Providence College student Sabrina Guilbeault, class of 2018, who will also be scenic designer. Costume design will be by Elaine Headrick, also a member of the senior class. Student-directed productions sponsored by the department are selected, cast, directed, and designed by students, offering an opportunity for involvement in all aspects of theatre production.

For this production, all tickets are $5 and seating is general admission.
