This Book is the property of

John E. Farrell
Graduate Manager
Providence College

Providence, R.I.

1927
PUBLICATION of the complete schedule of football games to be played by Rhode Island College this fall calls attention again to the fact that neither the Kingstonians nor Brown recognizes Providence College when arrangements are being made to line up a list of opponents. The Smith Hill Institution had a place on Rhode Island schedules some three years ago, but was dropped. Providence is given two baseball games each season by Brown, but is not considered when the football schedule is being made.

Graduate Manager Farrell of Providence College has been trying for two years to send Black and White elevens forth to battle against both the Bruins and the State collegians, but without success. From unofficial sources it has been learned that he receives most courteous treatment from Brown’s schedule builders and assurances that eventually football contests will be regular fixtures. Farrell has not been able to get very satisfactory replies from Rhode Island State officials when he starts negotiations for games, so the report goes.

FLYNN TO REMAIN AT P. C.

John Farrell, graduate manager of athletics at Providence College, announces today that Jack Flynn, veteran baseball coach, will handle the diamond destinies of the Dominicans through the 1928 season. Flynn signed a contract this morning.

Under the direction of the former major league player and professional baseball manager, Providence College has made a very fine showing in collegiate circles. Last year the Smith Hillers played 24 games, winning 14. Included in the list of victims were Yale, Tufts, Villanova, N. Y. C. C., Boston College and Temple University.

Flynn knows his baseball, and as he’ll have a fair sprinkling of holdover talent for the 1928 campaign, should develop another winner.
Initial Grid Practice Today for Veteran Dominican Squad

Providence College Gridmen to Start Work Under Coach Golembeski.

Football returns to Smith Hill this afternoon when the Providence College gridironers report for the initial drill in preparation for the opening game with Springfield College three weeks hence at Springfield, Mass. Some 40 players are expected to answer Coach Archie Golembeski's call, and before classes are under way in all schools of the college later in the month that number will probably reach the 60 mark.

Coach Golembeski has outlined the most ambitious pre-season program that the Dominicans have undertaken, and is confident that when the opening gun is fired the first of next month his charges will be prepared to better the 1926 campaign which was marred by but two defeats. Drills will be held twice daily for the next fortnight, the first at 10 o'clock in the morning and the second at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Equipment will be issued to all the candidates by Manager Dromgoole this morning and in the afternoon Coach Golembeski will welcome back his veterans and also look over the newcomers. Most of the veteran players, including the 15 eligible letter men, have notified Golembeski of their readiness, and as early as yesterday morning several of them arrived in the city. Captain Connors was due to reach here last night from Haverhill, where he has been conditioning himself for the arduous campaign ahead of him.

The veteran backfield men from whom Golembeski can pick a first-string quartet are Heck Allen of Troy, Ed Lewis of Springfield, Charles Murphy of Albany, Vin Cummings of Clinton, Leo Bourdeau of Fitchburg, John Dubienny of Fall River, "Nap" Fleurent, diminutive quarterback, from Ware, and his fellow townsman, Stanley Szydla, and Novakoski of Meriden. This group of seasoned material will be greatly augmented during the next few weeks by the addition of many local schoolboy stars who have already signified their intention of competing for "Varsity" assignments with the Dominican eleven.

Other experienced gridders who are expected to be on hand today are Joe Watterson of New London and Jim Zande of Torrington, centres; Charles Carroll and John Tomassi, both of this city, Charles Ritter and John Koreywo of Worcester and John Russo of Deerfield, Mass., all guards; Spencer Sullivan of Lowell, Stephen Fanning of Cumberland, Steve Nawrocki of Fall River, John Baeszler of Staten Island, Charles Carroll and John Tomassi, both of this city, Charles Ritter and John Koreywo of Worcester and John Russo of Deerfield, Mass., all guards; Spencer Sullivan of Lowell, Stephen Fanning of Cumberland, Steve Nawrocki of Fall River, John Baeszler of Staten Island,
Providence College Plans for Hard Campaign
Providence College will again turn its football reins over to Archie Golembeski, well-known Worcester athlete who has been grid mentor at the Catholic college for the past two years, according to an announcement by Graduate Manager John E. Farrell who has been busy the past few weeks preparing for the seventh gridiron campaign of the locals.

The opening date of the pre-season training period was also announced today as Sept. 8. On that date all the veteran material which turned in such a fine season last year, together with many promising newcomers, will start work on Hendricken Field under the watchful eye of Golembeski.

The first game of the schedule will be played away from home, being with the crack Springfield College aggregation on its home lot, on the first day of October, and with this view in mind it was decided to allow three weeks of pre-season work in order to whip the material into top form to start the intensive campaign. The first home game is slated for Hendricken Field for Oct. 8 when the Norwich University cadets came here. The latter eleven captured the Vermont State title last fall and will be remembered by local sports followers as the aggregation which gave the Brown “Iron Men” such a hard rub out on Aldrich Field, finally losing out, 28 to 14.

Coach Golembeski, who is returning to the Dominican fold for his third season, has high hopes of turning out another stellar outfit to equal the team which hung up such a natty record last fall. Only two games were lost at that time, and both contests were to major aggregations, the Quantico Marines winning out 32 to 0 and then Colgate annexing the other win by a 25 to 0 count.

Four tilts were won and two were tied. The Dominican mentor will have his hands full, however, to find a capable man to fill the post left vacant by John Murphy, 200-pound end, who received his degree last June after playing for four seasons in brilliant manner, being captain of the team during his senior campaign. Another inestimable loss is that of Junie Bride, the versatile Cranston athlete who played three years at half and one at quarter.

But with at least 15 letter men returning to serve under the popular Archie, the locals are certain to field a fast and aggressive outfit. Captain Vincent Connors, the lightweight centre from Leo Smith, Providence College End, is juggling ice cakes in Westerly, a la Red Grange.
GRID STARS SEEK HARD VACATION JOBS FOR SAKE OF MUSCLE

Do icemen make the best halfbacks? Do hod carriers excel as ends? And graduates of the pick and shovel gang as guards? Does bricklaying equip one to star in the role of quarterback on a college football team and does the vigorous vacation life in a lumber camp supply a mysterious power to make a fullback transcend to the immortality of the mythical All-American team?

More generally, do common laborers make the best "Ironmen"? Follow the fortunes of Brown University's gridiron devotees during the summer vacation months and you will be convinced in the affirmative. Watch the rigorous vacation activities of Providence College football aspirants—on ice carts, in mills, with wrecking crews and construction gangs—and doubt will fade from your mind as decisively as will baseball fade before its rival, football, with the first crisp whiffs of autumn in mid-September.

Within the next fortnight, thousands of trim, bronzed, muscular athletes will answer the call to arms as fall lets slip the dogs of war on hundreds of American football fields. Then will hordes of pigskin warriors be marshaled to their respective training camps. There will be few apathetic, anaemic softlings in their number; instead, will rally gridiron greyhounds, hard as adamant, straining for action, energized by months of assiduous toiling and molting. To the coach's query: "How did you spend the vacation?" will come this almost unanimous curt reply: "Labored."

At Brown and at Providence College, as in all collegiate centres, coaches are sounding the annual call for candidates. With the impending mobilization, ice companies will lose scores of hardy, hustling carriers, farmers will need to replace their harvest hands, steel mills will hang out cards: "Common Laborers Wanted," while road construction gangs in particular will feel keenly the migration from job to gridiron. For it is to the jobs of rigorous labor that football players migrate from college gates in June in quest of 10 or 15 pounds of bone and muscle, and it is from them that they surge back to the football battlefield in the fall—steel thewed and oaken limbed—straining for the blast of the battle trumpet.

There were no halcyon days of idling, bridge playing and moonlight strolling on the summer vacation symposium of the 1927 Ironmen of Brown, nor were there carefree, gala weeks of dancing, motoring and basking on the beaches for the Dominican football troops of Providence College. Devotees of the virulent American pigskin pastime have no time to loiter over tea tables, munching at dainty cookies. To get this jump over competitors for "Varsity positions is why so many candidates for the Providence College and Brown teams passed up a vacation of pleasure and turned down enticing office jobs, to seek out the foremen of section gangs, the managers of ice companies and the superintendents of lumber yards.

When the Dominicans from Smith Hill line up for their 1927 debut, there will be no less than three experienced icemen on its squad, as well as factory hands, mill workers and at least one seasoned demolisher of buildings. And it is quite probable that the Brown eleven which spreads out over Aldrich Field for the first kick-off will have a pick and shovel man and a roller of tennis courts as guards, a road builder and a telephone lineman as tackles, a farmer at one end and a bricklayer and a lackwoodsmen in the backfield.
It was "Red" Grange, the world famous Iceman of Waucoma, Ill., and halfback of Illinois University, who popularized the Ice cart as a vehicle to gridiron greatness.

Three Providence College huskies have followed the Ice cart trail of the Galloping Ghost and grasped Ice tongs during the past summer. Leo "Joe" Smith, a star end of three years ago and captain of the baseball team, spent the summer flipping 50 to 100-pound Ice chunks into the refrigerators of Westerly's citizenry.

Few of the housemaids, watching the stalwart youth deftly hoisting Ice blocks into place, but wondered why he had selected the modest and back-breaking role of Iceman for his life work. Little did they know that while the tongs were bringing tough callouses to his hands and his slippery burden building strength in his back, that Leo's mind was reflecting upon the forward passes, the quick leaps and the tigerish tackles of the weeks just ahead.

Smith handled many a ton of Ice this summer, and added 14 pounds of bone and muscle to his 170-pound frame. He has played in every game for Providence College during the past three years and aches for a perfect record in his Senior year.

Charlie Carroll, 200-pound guard, is captain and crew of another gallant Ice craft which plies its trade over the highways round about Riverside, while down in Meriden, Conn. Otto Novakowski, a halfback, is the third Dominican conditioning himself a la Ice cart.

"Nap" Pfeulent, likely quarterback candidate, and Stanley Szydla, halfback of Coach Archie Golembeski's Black and White grid brigade, have been toughening themselves as laborers in a Western Massachusetts mill. A nine-hour day of manual labor, topped off with amateur baseball, has given these two backfielders little chance to grow listless and flabby during the summer months.

Handling heavy piping in the plumbing trade is Chuck Murphy's method of procedure. He is doing his summer training in Albany. Capt. C. Vincent Connors, diminutive centre of the Dominican squad, whose remarkable work for three years as a 'Varsity pivot man has won him wide recognition in New England colleges, is hardening himself as a common toiler, tossing weights about in a Haverhill factory.

John "Tiny" Koreyko, who tips the scales at a scant 225 pounds, will report to Coach Archie Golembeski after three months of grappling with crates of fruit for a Worcester produce company. His running mate, Charlie Ritter, has also conditioned himself as a stevedore, lugging bananas, grapefruit and watermelons to and from the railway fruit cars. These two huskies played guard on the Dominican team last fall and they hope that the fruit of their fruit tossing will be 'Varsity berths again this fall.

Training to batter down opposing linemen, Stephen Nawrocki, tackle, got himself a job with a local destruction crew. He has spent his summer ramming holes in the roof of the old Technical high school building in Fall River and tearing down its walls.

Surely he could have chosen no better training to batter down the formidable forward wall of an opposing eleven than pitting his biceps against walls of brick and mortar. Part of the summer, he was assigned to the iron gang to wrestle with girders throughout the long day. This exercise, he writes to his mentor, has put him in the best condition of his career.

Leo Bourdeau, halfback, has spent a vigorous summer as playground instructor in his home city, Fitchburg, Mass., while Ed Lewis has served his nine-hour day of labor as a painter in Springfield.

[at left]
Stephen Nawrocki
Providence Tackle
Summering With A Wrecking Crew.
GUIDING THE DESTINIES OF PROVIDENCE COLLEGE GRIDDERS

GRADUATE MANAGER JOHN E. FAIRBELL

COACH ARCHIE GOLEMBESKI
Stars on Providence College Eleven, In Town Today

CAPT "CHUCK" CONNORS, Center

NAP FLEURENT, Quarterback
Dominicans in Scoreless Contest at Springfield

Providence College Players Hold Opponents on Two-Yard Stripe.

(Special to the Providence Journal.) Springfield, Mass., Oct. 1.—Pratt Field, home gridiron of the Springfield College eleven which rode roughshod over Cooper Union a week ago, was the scene of one of the closest contested early season tilts of the day in New England when Coach Jack Rothacher's outfit battled to a scoreless tie with the Providence College team here this afternoon. The invaders were making their 1927 debut and they certainly made it one long to be remembered locally.

A stalwart line of gridders performed the feat of stopping the fleet backs of the Red and White eleven on the two-yard stripe at the start of the second period. On that occasion the Gym Teachers had advanced the oval to the Providence five-yard line. Then Nordyke, heavy fullback, pounded against a stonewall of gridders for no gain. Steeves took his turn with a two-yard gain when the first period whistle blew. With three yards to go in two downs, Nordyke was again stopped and then Steeves hurled himself at the right tackle only to be crashed back to the ground for but a single yard advance. On the next play DaGata kicked out of danger for the Dominicans to their own 42-yard tape.

The intense heat of the afternoon played no little part in the final outcome of the tilt, as both elevens were greatly handicapped. Both teams took the field with as little extra equipment as possible, the locals discarding their stockings entirely. Helmets were soon hurled to the sidelines by both outfits as the struggle got under way.

The Springfield team opened with a quartet of speedy backs and at times seemed on the verge of unleashing a savage attack, but, like their opponents, they were unable to consistently advance. Off tackle plays, interspersed with sweeping end runs, featured the two attacks, with little pass work entering into the program until the fourth canto.
Aside from Allen one other backfield performer stood out prominently on the sun-baked gridiron in Williamson, clever quarterback whose dropkicking nearly sent the Providence team back home with a setback. Williamson tried twice to use his educated toe to advantage, the first try being the finest of the day. This attempt came late in the second period when he stood on the visitors’ 35-yard tape and hoisted a dropkick which missed the bar by two feet. His other bid for a score came at the end of the third period, when he missed from the 25-yard marker.

The two newcomers to the Black and White ‘Varsity ranks, DaGata and Larry Wheeler, Newport product of basketball repute, showed plenty of ability. DaGata shared the punting assignment with Lewis in the first half and with Allen in the latter part of the fracas. Wheeler, though green at the wing work, worked hard and was fast down under punts. With but a week’s drill in end play, the tall Sophomore did nobly in holding up his end of the line.

Captain Chuck Connors, diminutive centre, suffered a renewal of his knee injury in the first period and as a result had to give way to his understudy Joe Watterson. The latter played a fine game and was instrumental in breaking up three Springfield attempts to gain via the wing route. Carroll, right guard, was also removed from play in the opening quarter when he was cut while stemming a line attack by Nordyke, powerful local fullback.

The first period was a punting duel between Nordyke of the Rothacher coached aggregation, and Lewis of the Dominican outfit. The former had the edge in this work and as a result saved his team a gain of many yards before line attacks were inaugurated. With the ball on the visitors’ 34-yard stripe, Steeves pounded through for a first down in two tries, but then the Rhode Islanders stiffened and stopped three line thrusts and broke up an aerial to take the leather.

With the ball on their own 20-yard line DaGata dropped a beautiful punt far down the field, but the holding of a Dominican forward resulted in a 15-yard penalty, the only one of the tilt, and the pigskin was put in play on the invaders’ five-yard tape. DaGata again kicked out of danger. Then the play settled between the 40-yard markers until Williamson tried his first dropkick.

With Allen in the lineup in the second half the Dominican attack perked up a bit and a first down was added, but DaGata was soon forced to kick. A few minutes later came one of the nearest scores of the fray. With the ball on the Providence 40-yard line DaGata took too much time on his kick and Wherele, rugged guard, burst through the line to smother the punt, snatching up the ball and starting for the goal line, only to be hauled down by DaGata before he could get beyond the 30-yard stripe.

Then Williamson attempted to dropkick from and missed the posts by a wide margin.

Allen started the fourth period with a brilliant 15-yard jaunt through tackle. On this advance the Clay Flash nearly eluded the defensive halfback, and had shook him off to head into open field when he was tripped and stopped.

DaGata was injured on the next play, and replaced by Zande. Davis intercepted a Providence pass and the Gym Teachers then ripped off a first down, their fifth of the fray. Then Williamson and Allen engaged in a short punting duel which netted little advantage. In the final minute of play Zande intercepted a local forward on his own 30-yard line and advanced it 10 before being stopped. The final whistle sounded to end the scoreless battle.

Next Saturday the Dominicans are slated to open their home campaign, tackling Norwich University, Vermont State champions last fall.

The summary:

PROVIDENCE C. (0) SPRINGFIELD C. (0)
Wheeler ........... r. e .............. Barde
Sullivan ........... l. t .............. Clogston
Koreyko ........... t e .............. Limbaugh
Connors (Capt.) ...... t e .............. Clark
Carroll ........... r. g .............. Wherele
Newcomb .......... t. l .............. Jenkins
Smith ........... r. e .............. Yates
Flurent ........... q. b .............. Wherle Szydla .......... 1. h. .............. Davis st ................ r. r .............. Steeves
DaGata .......... Nordyke

Upper—it is the start of second period. (The ball is on the Providence three-yard line.) Smith of the Black and White is soon halting Davis behind the line of scrimmage. Nap, next on the Providence team, is seen standing on the secondary defender.

On the next play, Sleeves fumbles and Providence recovered. Lower—Eddie Williamson of Holyoke is shown cutting off tackle to break way on his brilliant run in the third period. Williamson's 23-yard jaunt was the most spectacular running play of the afternoon.
AERIAL ATTACKS PRODUCE TOUCHDOWNS IN LOCAL GAME

For the second successive week the Providence College football aggregation finished in a deadlock, when it battled the heavy Norwich University outfit from Northfield, Vt., to a 7 to 7 score in a thrilling clash on Hendricken Field yesterday afternoon in the initial home contest of the Smith Hillers. Just a week ago the locals played a scoreless tie with Springfield. In both tilts the Dominicans were outweighed but not outplayed.

Norwich sent its marker across the Dominican goal in the second period. After a short punting duel between Allen and Coane of the visitors, the Norwich eleven garnered possession of the leather in midfield. On the first play, the Dominicans were trapped when Waining sent a short aerial over left end which Whalen gathered in on the run 10 yards away, and then set sail for the goal. Bleiler, signal Barker of the locals, nearly pulled the Cadet to the ground with a flying tackle, but the fleet Horsemen shook himself free and raced 40 yards to score, with Gibbons in hot pursuit.

With the afternoon fast slipping away, and with the score 7 to 0 against them, the Dominicans opened up with all their strength and a dazzling aerial attack sent the tying scores across the Norwich goal. The way was paved for this marker when the local forwards hurried Coane with a punt, which went short, going off side on the Norwich 32-yard stripe. Then, with the stand clamoring for a touchdown, Archie Golienbeak's performers proceeded to show their wares.

Game played: October 8, 1927
Allen tossed a pass to Lewis off left end who carried the ball 12 yards before being brought to earth. On the next play Lewis lost two yards on a line buck and then a fumble was followed by an incomplete pass. Although it was fourth down, Allen calmly held his place in the backfield with the ball poised until he found the man he wanted, and then a flat, accurate aerial went sailing to Bleiler who had raced across the invaders' goal. The latter griddler, whose work yesterday featured in the flashy work of the ball carrier, Allen, Lewis, Da Gata and Bleiler, all contributed to the Providence cause.

Aerials were tossed about the Smith field in fine style yesterday with lateral and backward passes being interspersed with long tosses down the gridiron. The invaders presented a strong air attack and contributed the best play of the day by this route, sending their score over the last Dominion timeline in the second period by a tricky pass play.

The newcomers to the Dominican lineup were the outstanding performers on the field, and their showing augurs well for the Smith Hillers in the coming tilts. Bleiler handled the eleven linemen flawlessly and also contributed several fine runbacks in addition to collecting the only score of the tilt. Gibbons also showed up well as a ball carrier while Dublenny will probably retain the post of end in the games to come.

Although this was the only score the Dominicans were credited with, they really earned another. In the first period Capt. Connors proved to be alert enough to fall on a fumble by Ambrose on the Norwich 10-yard stripe, after that player had dropped Allen's punt. Then two line bucks were followed by a pass from Bleiler to Allen, which brought the ball to the visitors' one-yard tape. With fourth down and three feet to go, DaGata, rugged fullback, took the leather over the line, but the Providence quarterback really earned another.

The game on the local gridiron yesterday afternoon found both clubs evenly matched and well drilled. The Dominicans had a slight edge over their opponents from the Green Mountains, and although benefiting by several "breaks," showed enough class to warrant being rated superior.

To name any one star for the Golombeski-coached aggregation would be a difficult task, as all his stalwarts stood out prominently throughout the clash. As Smith, with his sensational wing work, the stonewall defence of the Zande brothers who were without peer on the field, the fine work of Caggt, Connors who entered with a knee injury to handicap his play, and the flashy work of the ball carrier, Allen, Lewis, Da Gata and Bleiler, all contributed to the Providence cause.

The summary:

PROVIDENCE C. (7) NORWICH U. (7)

Touchdowns: Providence—Bleiler; Norwich—Da Gata.

St. John's Tumbles Before Revamped Dominicans, 12-6

Margolis of Visitors Contributes Brilliant 83-Yard Run for Touchdown.

Flashing an offence that was consistent, and presenting a sturdy defence, the Providence College eleven scored its first victory of the season yesterday afternoon by vanquishing St. John's College, its keenest rival, in a thrilling contest on Hendricken Field, by a 12 to 6 count. The first two games of the Smith Hillers' program ended in deadlocks, while Vermont sent them to defeat a week ago.

Spectacular plays abounded during the fray. Margolis, sensational quarterback of the invaders, made the longest run of the day when he raced 83 yards from scrimmage early in the first period to give the St. John's eleven its only score. This same speed merchant, who prepped at Dean Academy a year ago and who was expected to win honors with Chick Meehan's New York University team, proved to be the best performer for the Brooklynites. His sweeping end runs, his clever passing, and his fine defensive work won him the palm for the Individual honors of the afternoon.

But where the Dominicans failed to put on any outstanding performance, they showed a well trained aggregation which worked with clock-like precision at times, and what is most important, worked as a unit. The revamped line crashed through repeatedly to stop the scarlet-clad warriors and an alert backfield frustrated any attempt to gain via the air route.

The line that wore the Black and White colors yesterday seems to be the best assembled as yet at the Smith Hill institution. Capt. Connors, who has been suffering from a knee injury, played practically the entire game at centre and proved to be one of the big stumbling blocks in the path of the invaders. So good was his work that the St. John's pilot, Jack Gallagher, rugged centre, proclaimed Connors the best pivot man he has faced four years of competition.
VERMONT vs. PROVIDENCE

Score by periods:

Vermont: 0 0 0 0 0 14 14 14-14

Touchdowns: Vermont—Soutakes 4.
Conway, Macomber. Points after touchdown: Vermont—Conway 4. Substitutions:
Dominican Offence Wheels Into Action Against St. John's
Bottom—Heck Allen is shown spinning and whirling through a crevice in the St. John’s forward wall for the Dominicans’ second touchdown in the first period.
Western Eleven Rallies in Second Half to Grind Out Victory.

(By a Staff Correspondent of the Providence Journal)

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 29.—Providence College, the first Eastern eleven to invade this city for a football contest this season, gave the high scoring St. Xavier aggregation a hard tussle here this afternoon for three periods only to weaken in the final stages of the tilt and go down under a 27 to 6 count.

It was a fine game to watch in spite of the intense heat and both teams showed plenty of power and flashy formations which were enough to satisfy the most rabid fan. The New Englanders' method of play was quite an innovation to the locals and for two periods they were unable to fathom the pass formations which netted the Dominicans the honor of being the first eleven to really earn a touchdown against Joe Meyer's team which has been undefeated in its past six tilts and is leading all 39 of the Ohio colleges in the matter of point scoring.

The Providence team won the admiration of the crowd by its aggressive and determined manner of play even after the count had swung heavily against it. Outweighed 10 pounds to a man in the brickfield, and a good five pounds in the line, the Easterners fought the locals to a standstill for the first half and appeared prepared to take the measure of the undefeated St. Xavier eleven.

The Providence score, which is only the third to be tallied against the Musketeers this year, came in the first period after the Ohioans had taken a 6 to 0 lead. The honor of carrying the oval over the seldom-crossed St. Xavier line fell to the lot of Larry Wheeler, who was down by his wing tactics won the applause of the 7000 fans when he was withdrawn from the tilt late in the first half.

The St. Xavier eleven received the advantage of a fine "break" to pave the way for its first score. Burns, halfback, booted a long spiral down the field which Elicer allowed to roll, expecting it to go over the final line. McHone, fleet end of the locals, was down like a hawk to stop the ball on the Providence one-yard line. Then Dagata lost a kick of the sidelines, the ball going offside on the Dominicans' 15-yard tape.

A St. Xavier penalty put the oval on the Rhode Islanders' 30-yard stripe and after two line plunges, which netted a first down, Burns shot a pass off left end to Bob King, who took the ball on a dead run and tumbled over the goal line. Capt. Wenzel missed his try for the extra point.

Then the Dominicans trotted out their aerials to bewilder the Musketeers. Nawrocki stopped the kickoff and ran it to his own 35-yard line. On the second play following, Heck Allen shot a long pass to Wheeler, who was downed on the St. Xavier 44-yard line. Another pass from Allen to Smith netted eight yards, and then came the scoring aerial. Allen flipped a short heave over the line of scrimmage to Wheeler, who side-stepped the secondary, raced to the sideline and with faultless interference which cleaned out every opponent, raced across the final line after a 30-yard jaunt. Allen missed his try for the point via dropkick.

The second period saw both teams battling on even terms with the Rhode Islanders having a slight edge as the result of their fine work on the defence as well as offence. A hot sun added to the Warriors' troubles as they took the field for the second stanza. The tilt and the wealth of material on hand with the locals proved too strong for the invaders, who failed to maintain their strong pace of the first two periods.

Three first downs in succession put the ball on the Providence 23-yard line in the third period when Matt Allgier, clever backfield ace of the Musketeers, dashed through tackle and sidestepped the secondary to run to the three-yard tape before being dropped. On the next play Burns fumbled and Connors recovered for Providence. Dagata's kick was blocked by Tegan.

Unbeaten St. Xavier Team Defeats Dominicans, 27-6

The game played was October 29, 1927.
Scheibert recovered beyond the end zone for a safety.

In the same period, a 20-yard pass by the locals carried the ball to the Dominicans' 15-yard stripe, from where Burns broke loose to dash over with the second score of the tilt.

As the third period started, Cain carried the third score across the Providence line after his mates had lost the oval on their own 11-yard line following a 25-yard penalty for clipping. Wenzel collected the only extra point of the title after this score.

The final St. Xavier tally, and the most thrilling, came in the last canto after the locals had received a punt on their own 20-yard stripe. On a reverse play, Allgeir cut through a wide gap in the line, dodged the visiting halfback and streaked down the field unhindered for an 80-yard run for a touchdown. This score was made while the Providence substitute eleven was in action.

The outstanding players on the Dominican eleven were Smith, Wheeler, Nawrocki, Capt. Connors, Allen, Lewis and Dagata.

The summary:

ST. XAVIER (27) PROVIDENCE (6)

27 6 6 0

27 6 6 0

Time of period—15 minutes.
Toss 20 Good
but Lose. 33 to 6

Substitutes Fail as Home Team
Makes Three Touchdowns in First Half.

(Special to the Providence Journal)

Boston, Nov. 5.—Starting with seven substitutes in the lineup, the Providence College eleven received a crushing setback at the hands of the Boston University team on Tufts Oval gridiron this afternoon by a 33 to 6 count. The Dominicans were beaten in the first half when three touchdowns were carried over the Providence final line by Ed Robinson’s ball carriers.

The defeat was the second successive one of the season for the Dominicans, and for the most part was a repetition of their disastrous invasion of Vermont some two weeks ago. This afternoon saw the Rhode Islanders unable to stop the driving assaults of the Terriers, and ere the first half had ended Coach Golembeski had to send in all his first string men to stave off a higher score.

Out of the debris the Providence team discovered a ball carrier who promises to rival the work of Heck Alden as a wearer of the Black and White molekins. This lad was Marty Gibbons, diminutive youngster from Clinton, Mass., who ripped through the Terrier forward wall time and again to snatch passes out of the air, finally snaring one to carry it over for a score. Then when he was closely covered, he proved his versatility by tossing a few passes to his running mates for substantial gains.

The Dominicans were brilliant in their forward passing attack, completing no less than 20 out of a possible 26 heaves, but in spite of their proficiency at the aerial game they were unable to collect more than one tally. Time and again they started drives towards the Terrier stronghold, only to have them go awry by interception of a toss at a critical moment by an alert Boston back.

Game played: November 5, 1927
The “breaks” of the tilt were of a decidedly Boston color, and the Providence team almost halted the fray in the fourth period when Nelson, Terrier halfback, was credited with a touchdown on an 80-yard runback of a punt which he apparently went offside on his own 30-yard stripe. On this play two of the Dominican defense halted when they saw the ball carrier go out of bounds, and apparently the misstep was noticed by the umpire, who blew his horn, but the play was registered otherwise and the winner’s point total was thereby increased six points. Only intervention by players of both teams prevented a cessation of activities on the part of the Rhode Islanders at this play.

Midway in the first period, after two successive first downs by line plunging, the locals advanced the oval to the Providence 10-yard stripe. On a cleverly executed lateral pass play, Herbert heaving to Halliday, the latter runner circled the Dominican left end and crossed the goal line standing up for the first score. Walke succeeded in obtaining the extra point via placement on his only good kick of the afternoon.

A few minutes later came the second score on exactly the same formation after the leather had been carried deep into Providence territory. Congdon started the damage by blocking a Lewis kick which Buckwalter recovered on the invaders’ 30-yard line. Two successive first downs by plunging and passing brought the oval to the 10-yard tape, with Halliday took a toss from Herbert to cross the final limeline for the second time. Walke missed his placement for the point.

Three plays later came the third Boston score on a Providence fumble. Lewis ran the kick-off back to the 28-yard line, and then a pass from Lewis to Smith netted eight yards. With the visitors on edge, Dagata fumbled and Carney, fleet Boston end, raced in, scooped up the oval and outran all opponents to the goal line 35 yards away.

At this juncture Coach Golembeski rushed in some of his regulars, including the rugged Zande brothers, and the Boston advance was slowed for the remainder of the game.

On the following kickoff the Terriers landed another “break” which paved the way for their fourth score. Lewis fumbled when he slipped on the wet turf, and the ball bounded all over the gridiron before Miliey pounced on it on the Dominican 10-yard tape. After two unsuccessful plunges, the Wiener brothers staged their act, Sam tossing an aerial over left end to Irving, who carried the ball across the line unopposed.

The Dominicans outplayed the locals in the third period and collected their score on clever formations which carried the ball from their own 26-yard line across the Terrier goal. Allen started the advance with a 10-yard heave which Smith snared and carried down the field on a beautiful run for 40 yards to the Boston 30-yard line, where he was downed from the rear by O’Brien. After two passes had netted eight yards, Allen sent an aerial over right end to Gibbons who took the ball on the run and dashed over for the score.

The Terriers made their count 33 late in the fourth period when Connors made a bad pass over Lewis’s head, the latter gridder retrieving the ball behind his own goal line where he was downed by Carnie, flashy wingman with the locals.

The summary:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th>Boston Univ. (33)</th>
<th>Providence (6)</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Substitutions</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Commentary</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Time on field</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The summary:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th>Boston Univ. (33)</th>
<th>Providence (6)</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Substitutions</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Commentary</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Time on field</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
PROVIDENCE COLLEGE IN THRILLING TILT WITH FORDHAM. "El" Lewis, Dominican halfback, making a good gain around end. Fordham won 26 to 19.

—Journal Photo, Goward
Maroon Stages Courageous Fight to Take 26-19 Verdict

Allen, Gripp, O'Connor, Share Spotlight with Electrifying Runs. Fumbles Prove Costly.

For the second time in five years a Providence College eleven suffered defeat on its home gridiron, Hendricken Field, when Capt. "Chuck" Connors's 1927 aggregation bowed before Major Frank Cavannah's husky Fordham University outfit yesterday afternoon by a 26 to 19 count in a game replete with thrills. The last setback registered against the local cause on the Smith Hill field was, strange to relate, on Armistice Day, five years ago, when Gordon Cochrane, star Athletics' backstop, led a classy Boston University team to a 7 to 0 triumph here.

The game yesterday afternoon was as fine a contest as the fans of this city have witnessed in some time, and from start to finish it kept the spectators on edge. Sensational runs were coupled with daring forward pass plays, smashing line crashes were interspersed with flashy end runs and to mar the routine for the Domincans at least, several fumbles were added to the program.

Fred DaGata, husky Fall River fullback, who entered the game with a dislocated finger, was guilty of two such errors, the first being converted into a score by Jack Smith, former La Salle Academy lineman, who is now one of the mainstays of the Maroon forward wall, and the second resulting in a score after Kloppenburg, giant end, had retrieved the oval on the Dominican 18-yard line. Although these fumbles were costly and robbed the locals of no little of their brilliant offence of the first half of the game, they never gave up the battle until the final whistle ended the fray.

Game played, November 11, 1927
Heck Allen, sensational ball carrier who was ending his collegiate gridiron career, turned in the feature run of the tilt, although he saw action but for little over half of the game. Heck was suffering from a ruptured blood vessel in his left foot, a fact that also concealed lest it might stimulate the Fordham offence.

Heck gave the Providence supporters something to get excited about in the fading moments of the fracas when he took a 23-yard pass from Lewis to tally against the crack New Yorkers. The turning point of the fray came in the first period to start the scoring. The attempt for the extra point was spoiled when Scully passed wildly into the backfield. The remainder of the period was hotly contested, with the Dominicans having a decided edge.

About this time Fordham suddenly came to life, and from then until the close of the battle staged a dogged uphill fight that would route the 1928 outfit. Following the next kick-off of the Bronx eleven opened an attack that netted four first downs, swept the opposition aside and brought the ball to the Dominican five-yard tape.

It required three plays before Gripp swept right end to cart the initial Maroon tally across the line. The attempt for the extra point was spoiled when Scully passed wildly into the backfield. The remainder of the period was hotly contested, with the Dominicans having a decided edge.

The turning point of the fray came at the opening of the third period. Wheeler took the opening kick-off and ran it to his own 45-yard stripe. Lewis hit the line for no gain, and then, as DeGata was attempting to circle right end, the ball bounded out of his arm and, before he could recover it, Jack Smith, local product with the visitors, snatched it up and cut loose for a 35-yard run and a score. Gripp added the marker by the dropkick route. Late in the third period DeGata intercepted a pass on his own 20-yard line. Allen was dropped for a five-yard loss, and then Lewis kicked outside on his own 32-yard tape. Gripp plied through centre for three yards, and O'Connor, track captain at the New York college, circled left end, cut back through the secondary defence and raced 13 yards for the third Fordham tally. The total was increased to 20 when Gripp droppedkicked the goal for point.

Soon after the start of the final stanza the Maroon chalked up their fourth tally. On a lateral pass formation, DeGata fumbled and Kloppenberg, 200-pound end, recovered on the locals' 18-yard stripe. Three thrusts at the line carried the ball to the Providence three-yard line, from where Baut plunged through for the touchdown. Gripp's kick went wide of the crossbar.

On the following kick-off the Dominicans, with Heck Allen playing the leading role, flashed their brightest scoring tidbit. Smith ran the kick-off to his own 25-yard tape. The next play was the Lewis-to-Allen feature pass which Heck picked out of the air while in the midst of the Fordham secondary and cut loose for a jaunt short pass from Allen to Lewis netted the extra point.

The Dominicans opened with a strong offensive in the first half and completely smothered the Maroon attempts to move up the field. After a series of line thrusts, a Lewis kick was downed by Smith on the Fordham 10-yard line. A Fordham penalty for holding, put the oval on their 13-yard stripe and Gripp's punt from behind his own line went outside on the Maroon 27-yard tape.

Lewis slid off tackle for 10 yards and a first down. Gibbons was tossed for a four-yard loss on an attempted end run and then Lewis dropped back and shot a long pass across the field which Smith took on the dead run 23 yards further on as he dashed across the Fordham line for the first score of the day. Bleller's attempt to dropkick the point failed.
Providence Ace in Action

For the remainder of the tilt the Cavanaugh-coached gridders contented themselves with bucking the Providence line, taking no chances of losing the owl again. The game ended with the leather resting on the Providence 30-yard line with Fordham in possession.

The summary:

FORDHAM (26) PROV. COLLEGE (19)
Score by periods ......... 1 2 3 4
Fordham Univ. ............. 0 6 14 6-26
Providence ............. 12 14 0 7-19

DOMINICANS CANCEL MIDDLEBURY GAME

The cancellation of the Providence College-Middlebury College grid game, which was to be played on Hendrickson Field next Saturday, was announced last night by John E. Farrell, graduate manager of athletics, at the Dominican college.

Due to the fact that transportation facilities in Vermont are very uncertain owing to the recent floods, making it very difficult for the Panther eleven to come here to play the return game with the local outfit. Graduate Manager Farrell offered to cancel the tilt if the Vermonters wished to forgo the journey here.

A telegram was received late yesterday afternoon by the local athletic authority from A. M. Brown, director of athletics at Middlebury, accepting the Dominicans' generous offer to annul the contest. Last fall the locals visited Vermont and battled the Klevenov-coached eleven to a 13 to 13 score, and as a result the game that was scheduled for here for next week would have been a hard-fought affair.

Owing to the fact that Middlebury already has completed its grid list for next fall, the Providence team will have to wait until 1929 before entertaining them in this city.
New Dominican Captain

Steve Nawrocki of Fall River, Varsity Tackle for Three Years, Picked to Lead 1928 Providence College Eleven.
NAWROCKI, VETERAN TACKLE, LEAD DOMINICANS

Fall River Product Chosen Captain of 1928 Grid Team

Stephen Nawrocki, veteran tackle for the past three seasons with the Providence College eleven was elected to pilot the 1928 Dominican 'Varsity outfit at a meeting of the lettermen held late yesterday afternoon. Nawrocki has served at the right tackle berth since his Freshman year when he first won 'Varsity recognition by his sterling work as a lineman.

Prior to the election, the lettermen for the past campaign were confirmed by the Athletic Association, with 17 gridders winning the coveted award. This number is five less than that of last year, due to the fact that practically the same aggregation withstood the fire of all the battles during the past two months of competition.

Of this group of gridders only 11 will return to assist Capt. Nawrocki with his 1928 campaign, as six of the Dominican mainstays ended their gridiron careers with the Fordham tilt here Armistice Day. This latter group is composed of Capt. Connors, centre for four years; Lee Smith, the best wingman ever developed at the Dominican college; Heck Allen, sensational ball carrier; Ed Lewis, triple-threat back, and Steve Fanning and Spencer Sullivan stalwart linemen.

Captain-elect Nawrocki first learned the grid game while at Chicopee high, where he played for two seasons as a tackle. Then followed two campaigns at Durfee high in Fall River when his family moved to that city. He was chosen all-Bristol county tackle in his Senior year at school and in addition won honors as leader of the basketball team.

Entering Providence College in the fall of 1923, he fought his way into the starting lineup for the opening game with the Naval Station, and since that time has become one of the mainstays of the eleven. In the course of his three years of gridiron action for the Black and White cause he has taken part in 23 games, starting in 19 of them. Injuries kept him out of only two tilts while with the Smith Hill aggregation.

Weighing close to 188, he showed his greatest power last week against Fordham when he thrilled the crowd by his fine defensive work. He made tackles all over the field and broke up many a Fordham bid for a score. In addition he recovered a Fordham fumble which he scooped up and carried across the goal line for a score.
CATHOLIC COLLEGES
RESUME RELATIONS

Report Says Providence and Holy Cross Will Meet on Grid Again Next Year.

Providence College and Holy Cross, who broke off athletic relations two years ago after a controversy because of the refusal of the Purple athletic authorities to meet the Dominicans on the gridiron in this city, will resume competition in football next fall, according to unofficial reports heard here last night. Whether the game will be played in this city or in Worcester could not be learned, although it is believed that the Dominicans will not be fortunate enough to bring the Crusaders to this city.

While no confirmation of the report was forthcoming from Graduate Manager John E. Farrell of Providence College, it has been known for a long time that Mr. Farrell has been trying to patch up differences with Cleo O'Donnell, director of athletics at Worcester. Mr. Farrell, who was not in charge of the athletic board at the Dominican Institution at the time of the break, has worked untiringly since he took office to put the Dominicans back on the Crusaders' athletic schedulues.

Holy Cross was the first major college to offer the Dominicans a place on its schedules, and while the Purple football teams never have displayed their wares in this city, the famous Worcester baseball teams have performed at Hendricken Field. When the Dominicans first went into the field of sport in the fall of 1921 under the coaching of Fred Huggins, the Crusaders' first team substitutes to this city to play the Dominicans at Hope Field. The Purple warriors won that contest by a score of 19-7. In the years following until 1924, the Dominicans played at Pitton Field, but then the break came and competition in both baseball and football ceased.

With Brown also opposing Holy Cross on the gridiron in 1928, the Crusaders will get plenty of competition from this city. It was said last night that both teams also will meet the Purple in baseball.

Dominican Gridders
Brown Guests Today

The Providence College team, which ended its schedule last week with the Fordham game, owing to the fact that Middlebury College, slated to play here today, cancelled the tilt because of the Vermont floods, will be the guests of the Brown management this afternoon at the New Hampshire tilt at the Stadium. The Dominicans were hosts to Tuea McLaughray and his gridders at the Providence-Fordham clash on Hendricken Field last Friday.

COLLEGE AMENITIES

It is pleasant to see, in the midst of so much sharp intercollegiate athletic rivalry, a pleasant interchange of courtesies like that between Brown University and Providence College at two recent football games.

The Brown team, having been invited to attend the Providence-Fordham game at Hendricken Field a week ago Friday, returned the compliment with an invitation to the Providence players to be present at the Brown-New Hampshire match on Saturday. This is of course a small matter, but human relationships are to a very great extent made up of just such trivial incidents. It has always seemed as if too little were made by the colleges of their opportunities to be gracious to one another.
A 16-game basketball list which is featured by a contest with the Brown quintet in the new Brunonlan gymnasium on Elmgrove avenue, and which has 10 new aggregations scheduled to oppose Capt. Charles Murphy's outfit, was announced last night by John E. Farrell, graduate manager of Providence College.

The list opens with a tilt at Worcester with the Clark University team on Dec. 7, and ends with the Brown clash three months later, on March 3. Only six of the opponents of last winter, which was the first season in the court game for the Dominicans, will be played this year, while the newcomers include Upsala, Trinity, Connecticut State, New Hampshire, M. I. T., Union and Brown.

Aside from the Brunonlan tilt, which marks the third sport to be played between the two city colleges, as baseball and hockey contests have been staged in the past, the Black and White hoosiers will engage in one other home game, playing Springfield College in this city on Jan. 13.

Due to the fact that the Smith Hillers have no gymnasium of their own, and have to use the La Salle Academy court for the basketball work, the schedule necessarily calls for an away from home arrangement as far as games are concerned. Following the Dartmouth tilt at Hanover will come the longest journey of the quintet when it makes a five day trip to New York city during the Christmas recess to engage in four games. Upsala will be played in Newark on Friday, Dec. 16, Seton Hall at South Orange the following night, and then after a day of rest the Columbia University College of Pharmacy and St. John's College will be opposed.

Capt. Charles Murphy, senior from Albany, probably will handle one of the forward berths while Heck Allen, captain of the 1926 quintet will undoubtedly get the other forward post. Larry Wheeler, of Newport, who is now candidate for an end post on the football team, should be able to withstand any attacks on the jumping post. Stanley Szydla and Pete Rzezni, both of Ware, the former a forward and the latter a guard, round out the quintet of veterans.

The schedule follows:

December

- Dec. 7, Clark University at Worcester, Mass.: 16, Dartmouth College at Hanover, N. H.; 18, Upsala College at East Orange, N. J.; 19, Seton Hall College at South Orange, N. J.; 19, Columbia College of Pharmacy at New York; 20, St. John's College at Brooklyn, N. Y.

January

- Jan. 7, Trinity College at Hartford, Conn.; 13, Springfield College at Providence; 15, Connecticut State College at Storrs, Conn.

February

March

- March 3, Brown University at Providence.
BLACK AND WHITE
HOOP TEAM LOSES
'VARSITY MENTOR

Prospects of a successful start in basketball at Providence College have been severely jolted when it was revealed last night by the Dominican authorities that Archie Golembeski, popular football mentor and coach of the hoopsters last season, would be unable to take over the basketball reins this winter owing to personal reasons.

This setback, which was not wholly expected, has left the Black and White basketeers without the services of a mentor, with their initial game but a week away. A large squad has been working out for the past week under the direction of Capt. Charles Murphy who has confined the work to drill in passing and basket shooting.

Graduate Manager Parrell stated last night that Louis A. B. Pier, Central Falls high athletic director, who lives but two blocks from La Salle, where the Smith Hillers hold their practice sessions, had consented to assist him in his difficulty by taking over the coaching work today and tomorrow in order that the team may make some headway for the initial encounter with Clark University at Worcester next week. In the meantime the local authorities will endeavor to locate a mentor to handle the work for the season.

When approached last night on the matter of coaching the Dominicans for the season Pier stated that he would do nothing definite in the case until he had heard from the Central Falls school authorities, although he admitted that it was doubtful whether the work would interfere with his high school activity in any way, so the Dominicans would drill at night and play but one game a week.

The squad, which numbers close to 25, received an additional setback yesterday when Leo Bourdew, rugged guard who won national basketball honors while playing with the Fitchburg High team in the Chicago interscholastic tournament several years ago, suffered a recurrence of the knee trouble which kept him out of football this past fall. He has been travelling at a fast clip in all the drills and was thought to have overcome the handicap which disabled him last September.

Captain Murphy, who served in a forward capacity last winter, aspires for work in the rear court this winter and to lead the tussle for such work for the starting assignment against Clark.

Other promising guards are Pete Rozek, letterman from last year's team, Saydila, another veteran, who served as a forward in 1926, Gerry Dillon, substitute last winter, Johnny Dubbins, Fall River athlete, Jawondl of Worcester and Gibbons of Clinton.

Larry Wheeler, crack Newport pivot man, who was a mainstay of the quintet last year, is receiving serious opposition from Steve Nawrocki, 1923 football captain, who has not disdained the basketball regalia since he served with the Freshman quintet two winters ago.

McGovern, the six-foot youngster from Michigan, Gordon White, nifty Ware product, and DuPreese, who wore the colors of Mt. St. Charles last year.
The appointment of Albert McClellan, former coach of the St. John’s preparatory school basketball team of Danvers, Mass., as coach of the Providence College ‘Varsity team for the coming winter was announced last night by Graduate Manager John E. Farrell of the Dominican college. The locals have been without the services of a mentor for the past week due to the fact that Archie Golembeski, who handled the work last year, was unable to take over the reins again this season. Lou Peller, popular Central Falls high athletic director, directed the team for the past two days.

McClellan is one of the finest basketball authorities in New England and it is expected that he will place the Smith Hillers in the front rank among the New England colleges in the indoor sport. He has enjoyed uninterrupted success as a high and preparatory school coach and has previously refused several offers to handle college quintets.

A graduate of St. John’s Prep, where he was the star centre on the basketball team for three years, McClellan won further court honors at Mt. St. Joseph’s College in Baltimore when he was chosen all-Southern centre over Sam Freemen, rated the finest pivot man ever to represent Annapolis.

He continued his basketball career later as a member of the Nanticoke, Pa., professional basketball team in the Pennsylvania State Pro League, serving for two years as centre on the same team with Johnny Beckman, considered the world’s greatest forward. He also served with the Pittston quintet in the same circuit for a season.

A resident of Swampscott, Mass., he accepted the opportunity to coach basketball in New England when he took over the work at Salem high, where he compiled a remarkable record in four years. His teams won the Essex county championship for four successive winters, at one time registering 49 straight victories, being undefeated for 2½ years.

In 1926 he returned to St. John’s Prep to handle the basketball work there. That season his quintet won 21 of the 23 games on its schedule, and last winter continued its fine work by going through a 19-game list with but one setback. During the latter campaign wins were registered over Harvard Freshmen, Brown Freshmen, and Andover Academy, among others. His teams at St. John’s averaged over 40 points a game to their opponents 15.

A pitcher of exceptional ability, he joined Jack Dunn’s Orioles following his college career, but with the coming of the World War forsook his athletic activities for service with the Aviation Corps, being stationed for a time at Pensacola, Fla., and later at Charleston, S. C. In 1918 he won first prize in the high jump in the Army-Navy national track championships.

Following the war the new Dominican mentor rejoined the Orioles and was later sold to Waterbury in the Eastern League, which was at that time under the management of Jack Flynn, the locals’ present baseball mentor. After a season with Hartford and Worcester, McClellan went up to the majors, reporting to the Detroit Americans. The following year he was sent to Buffalo in the International circuit.

Coach McClellan will take over his new duties tomorrow, when he meets the Black and White hoopsters for the first time at the practice drill to be held at the La Salle court in preparation for the Clark University tilt Wednesday. In view of the fact that he will have but a few days to size up his squad, the mentor will have his hands full to open the campaign with a victory, but he is optimistic and believes that the Dominicans will make a good showing.
The Providence College Varsity basketball aggregation will make the first of its many invasions of the winter when it travels to Worcester today for the opening game of the season with the Clark University quintet tonight. The latter outfit is under the direction of Clarence Amiott, also Fitchburg high mentor, who has turned out championship teams there.

Coach McClellan of the Dominicans cut his squad to 12 yesterday to facilitate the work of the drill in preparation for the opening tilt, but all the candidates will report tomorrow as he continues his search for talent. This same squad of 12 men will be taken to Worcester today in an effort to start the season successfully, and from present indications all the men will see service sometime during the evening.

The players who will visit Clark are: Allen, McCue, Kriger, Forrest and Fleurent, forwards; Wheeler and McGovern, centers; Capt. Charles Murphy, Szydla, Dillon, Rzezniki and Nawrocki, guards. This array of talent includes the best that the Smith Hillers can muster, and though a winning combination may not be rounded out for the first few tilts, the mentor believes that a speedy quintet will be seen in action by the time the club visits New York over the Christmas vacation trip.

The probable lineup of the Black and White five will have Capt. Murphy and Fleurent at the guards, although the latter is also versed in the forward work; Wheeler at center, and Allen and Kriger at the forwards. This combination should work well, as it has shown to advantage in all the drills to date.

The Clark team boasts four veterans, and as the squad has been drilling for a month they will have a decided edge over the locals. In Shannahan they have a clever forward who will equal the best that the Dominicans can produce, being clever at dribbling and an accurate basket tosser. The tilt will be refereed by James Parker, well-known Everett official.

---

DOMINICAN QUINTET READY FOR OPENER

The Providence Journal
Black and White Starts Hoop Season Tonight with Clark Team at Worcester.

DOMINICAN BASKETBALL CLUB NAMES MURPHY AS PILOT

At a meeting of the players awarded Varsity basketball insignia at Providence College yesterday afternoon, Charles A. Murphy of Albany, N.Y., was elected to lead the 1928 quintet. Murphy was a forward on the team during the past season and is a Junior. Murphy and Heck Allen, captain of this year's outfit, tied for the honor on the first ballot, and then the popular Troy lad withdrew from the race in favor of his New York State chum.

"Chuck" Murphy is a graduate of Cathedral high, Albany, where he starred in football, basketball and baseball. He played end in the gridiron sport, won interscholastic honors in basketball, and served as catcher for the high school nine. He later entered Holy Cross College, transferring to Providence a year ago. He broke into the Varsity lineup with the Dominicans as a forward, alternating with Szydla as a running mate for Allen.

The men awarded Varsity basketball insignia were: Capt. Heck Allen of Troy, N.Y.; Captain-elect Charles Murphy of Albany, N.Y.; John F. Murphy of Torrington, Conn.; Stanley Szydla and Peter Rzezniki of Ware, Mass.; Laurence Wheeler of Newport, and Manager Thomas H. Bride, Jr., of Cranston.

Of the above mentioned players only John Murphy, whose football work for the Dominicans the past four years has been of such high order, will be graduated so that Capt. Chuck Murphy should have a fine nucleus with which to start the second Varsity court season of the locals.

The receipt of a letter in basketball by Heck Allen and Junie Bride makes DOMINICANS FALL BEFORE INDIANS

Dartmouth Registers Third Straight Victory, 52-30.
Krieger Stars.

(Special to the Providence Journal)
Hanover, Dec. 10.—Dartmouth registered its third straight basketball victory of the season here tonight by taking the measure of an aggressive Providence College quintet by a 52 to 30 count. The locals boast previous high score wins over Northeastern and C. C. N. Y.

Although Coach Wachster of the locals used all of his substitute material before the final bell rang, he did not produce a finer hoosier than Johnny Krieger of the Dominican five. Playing his second college game, Krieger, who collected 16 points in the Clark game, took the high-scoring honors of the night with seven field goals and two foul shots. His accurate tosses from the corner of the court as well as his uncanny backhand shots featured the Dominican five.

The small size of the Providence quintet had no little bearing on the final outcome of the fray, as the visitors were unable to match their ability with that of the six-foot aggregation representing the Big Green first quintet. Larry Wheeler, rangy centre, was the only Providence forward able to gather the oval off the blackboards to frustrate the Dartmouth offence.

In the very first minute of play Dartmouth took the lead when Swarthout scored on a pass from out of bounds under the basket. Ellis duplicated the performance a moment later and started an avalanche of baskets that completely broke up the Providence defence. At the half time the locals were on the long end of a 31 to 11 score.

In the latter half of the fray with Dartmouth offering a substitute lineup, the Dominicans stiffened and were able to make some headway in their assaults on the local hoop. With Krieger leading the attack they managed to keep pace with the flying courtsters of the local college.

Bill McCue, rangy Patterson forward who paired with Krieger in high school, replaced Allen late in the fray and dashed a fine game, collecting two foul goals as his contribution to the score.

PROVIDENCE (50) DARTMOUTH (82)

Krieger, 1. f. Murphy (Capt.), 1. g. Murphy (Capt.)
Spaeth, r. f. Swarthout
Fleurent, r. g. Ellis

Field goals—Providence: Krieger 7, Wheeler 1, Murphy 3, Dartmouth: Swarthout 2, Spaeth 4, Langdell 4, Ellis 5, Allen 2, Fleurent 2, Fleurent 2, Spaeth 2, Smith 4, Cheeney 2, Free Tries—Providence: Krieger 2, Wheeler 3, Murphy 1, Fleurent, McCue 2, Dartmouth: Heep, Cheeney.

Game played: December 10, 1927
DOMINICANS HOLD BANQUET TONIGHT

300 Expected to Attend Annual Dinner to 'Varsity Letter Winners.

The annual banquet to the football men at Providence College will be enlarged to encompass all students who have won 'Varsity insignia in any sport during the past year, when some 300 students and guests assemble at the Knights of Columbus Club at 7:30 this evening for what promises to be the liveliest affair of its kind to be held by the Dominican collegians.

The new arrangement will place the lettermen in basketball, hockey and baseball on the same footing with the gridders, and will provide the main feature of the banquet, which has become a yearly event since its inauguration three years ago. The number of lettermen who will occupy places of honor numbers 33.

Rt. Rev. William A. Hickey, bishop of Providence, will be the guest of honor and will deliver the main address of the night. Other speakers will probably include Rev. Lorenzo McCarthy, O. P., President of the college; Rev. D. M. Gallagher, O. P., dean of studies, and Rev. Jordan F. Baezler, O. P., director of athletics, representing the faculty.

The work of the teams in the past year will be extolled by Coach Archie Golembekle of the grid outfit, Jack Flynn of the baseball aggregation that enjoyed such a fine season last spring, and Al McClellan of the basketball squad, who will be making his initial appearance before the student assembly. The sports captains, Leo Smith of the ball team, Charles Murphy of the hoopsters, G. Vincent Connors of the 1927 football team, and Captain-elect Stephen Nawrocki of the 1928 outfit, will also address the gathering.

The football list for next year will probably be announced during the evening by Graduate Manager John E. Farrell, providing one of the features of the event. The announcement of the Army and Holy Cross grid lists have revealed games with the Dominicans, and as a result much interest has been aroused as to the other opponents of the Dominicans for next fall.

Thomas A. Monohan of the Senior class, which is sponsoring the affair, is chairman of the business committee which is arranging several special features for the entertainment of the gathering. Mr. Monohan announced last night that Bruce Caldwell, Yale 'ace, had written him expressing his regret at being unable to attend the banquet, as he is to leave for the coast tomorrow for the East-West football game. Caldwell is a high school mate of Stephen A. Panning, President of the Senior class at the local college, who will serve as toastmaster tonight.
DOMINICAN ELEVEN TO MEET TEMPLE

Manager Farrell Comes to
Terms with Philadelphia College for Oct. 27.

(Special to the Providence Journal.)

New York, Dec. 17.—Providence College will meet the crack Temple University eleven, which lost but one game last fall, on Oct. 27, 1928, according to arrangements completed here today by Graduate Manager John E. Farrell of the Dominican college, after a telephone conversation with Earl T. Yemans, athletic director of the Philadelphia institution.

The Dominicans will probably have the honor of dedicating the new $100,000 stadium which is to be built for the Temple eleven, and, as a result, will play before a crowd of close to 25,000.

The contest completes a nine-game schedule for the Providence team, with Williams, Army and Holy Cross providing the other major assignments.

Temple lost but one game last fall, the encounter with Dartmouth at Hanover, and with a wealth of veteran material on hand is looking forward to a fine season in 1928, when some of the finest teams in the East will be met. Brown was defeated by the Philadelphians at Providence by a 7 to 0 score last October.

The tilt replaces the St. Xavier College game on the Dominicans' list. According to Graduate Manager Farrell, a conflict in dates prevented a second invasion of the West to meet St. Xavier. While the Temple grid feature will mark the first appearance of a Providence College team in Philadelphia, it will not be the first athletic contest between these two schools, as the Dominicans were victorious in the 10-inning baseball game at Providence last May.
The announcement of one of the most pretentious football schedules ever attempted in the history of Providence College and the declaration by the recently appointed president, Rev. Dr. Lorenzo P. McCarthy, of his whole-hearted approval of athletics as part of collegiate life featured the annual banquet tendered to the members of the various athletic teams under the auspices of the Senior class of the institution at the Columbus Club on Greene street last night.

The football schedule for 1928 was, undoubtedly, the feature topic of the evening, for never before has a Dominican team, not even in the fall of 1921 when the college, in Its infancy, arranged a schedule that seemed an immense task at the time, looked forward to a list of battles which offers so many opportunities to gain widespread recognition in the sports world. There were no thoughts of victory in the minds of the Dominican supporters as Graduate Manager John E. Farrell read the names of some of the opponents but the spirit that a great deal may be accomplished and that fame may be acquired without the glory of triumph was prevalent and it was an almost unanimous belief that much will be accomplished next season irrespective of scores.

Topping the list of opponents were Holy Cross, Army and Williams. The Crusaders and Williams are not newcomers on Dominican lists, but the Cadets will be meeting a White and Black team for the first time when the local gridders wheel into action at West Point on Oct. 13. Graduate Manager Farrell stressed the fact that Providence College felt honored to be invited on the Soldiers' schedule, particularly because neither he nor the athletic board had solicited a game with the West Pointers.
The schedule in its entirety, as announced by Graduate Manager Farrell, is as follows: Sept. 29, Williams at Williamstown; Oct. 6, Norwich; Oct. 13, Army at West Point; Oct. 20, Manhattan; Nov. 3, St. John's College at Brooklyn; Nov. 10, Coast Guard College; Nov. 17, Springfield at Springfield; Nov. 24, Holy Cross at Worcester.

More than 300 members of the student body attended the banquet and an enthusiastic spirit gripped the gathering. In addition to Rev. Dr. McCarthy and Graduate Manager Farrell, the speakers were Mayor James E. Dunne, Rev. F. Jordan Baessler, faculty director of football; Archie Golembeski, coach of football, and Al McClelan, coach of basketball. Rt. Rev. William A. Hickey, bishop of the Providence diocese, was unable to be present. Stephen A. Fanning, President of the Senior class, was toastmaster.

In his address Rev. Dr. McCarthy declared that athletics, as part of college life, were important cogs in the foundation of citizen life. He stressed the fact, however, that he was for athletics only as long as they were guided by three important factors—intelligent cooperation, wholehearted obedience and fair play. These three qualities, he stated, are necessary, not only in athletics but in a healthy democracy and neither can flourish without them.

Mayor Dunne brought a word of congratulation from the city for the rapid progress made by Providence College in the athletic world during the past six years. His own interest in the Dominican teams was very deep also, he said, as the college is situated in the ward he represented in the Common Council for 12 years and he regarded their success as adding much to the civic life of the community.

Coach Golembeski paid tribute to the members of the football team, especially to the Zande brothers, Manley and Jim, whom he termed "the most tireless workers he has ever encountered since he took up his post as instructor." He also had words of praise for Capt. "Chuck" Connors, Steve Fanning, Heck Allen and various other gridders who wound up their careers during the past campaign.

In addition to announcing the football schedule, Graduate Manager Farrell revealed the names of some teams which will meet the Dominicans in this city in baseball. Among these are Fordham, Springfield, Bowdoin, Villanova, Dartmouth, Boston College and Georgetown. The acquisition of Georgetown is a big accomplishment for Farrell, as the Hilltoppers have not paid a visit to this city since 1923, when the demand for them in the East was not as great as it is at the present time.

Reviewing the record of Dominican football and baseball teams since the inauguration of sports at the Smith Hill college, Graduate Manager Farrell declared that the White and Black have long lists of which to be proud. In the past six years, the Dominicans have engaged in 55 football contests, have won 22, tied 8 and lost 27. On the baseball diamond, of a total of 156 games, 74 have been won, two have been tied and 59 have been lost, for an average well above the .500 mark.

"But it is not alone the remarkable record of triumphs that gives us reason to be proud of those who have represented us in athletics," he added, "but rather, our greatest boast is that our teams have been welcomed to practically every college sports list in the East because of the high ideals of gentlemanly conduct and sportsmanship they have always shown when in competition. That is our proudest athletic tradition, and the one above all that we offer to every team to represent us, now and hereafter."

During the dinner, music was furnished by the Providence College orchestra and the male quartet of the college glee club. Awarding of certificates to letter men of the football team marked the conclusion of festivities.
DOMINICANS MAKE READY FOR HARD BASKETBALL TRIP

With a hard week-end ahead of them, the Providence College basketball candidates will spend some strenuous hours during the next few days in polishing their teamwork for the four-game Christmas trip, which starts with the tussle at East Orange next Friday against Upsala College, and ends the following Tuesday with the St. John quintet furnishering the opposition.

Undaunted by the overwhelming setback at the hands of a superior Dartmouth team, the Black and White hoopers feel they have profited by stacking up against such fast company and as a result will be on edge to make their coming trip successful.

Upsala provided a surprise for Yale last week by holding the Elis scoreless for 19 minutes of play, but, unable to continue the pace in the latter part of the game, went down to a 19 to 13 defeat. The Orange collegians have long been noted for their classy basketball aggregations, and this year's five appears to be one of its best.

Seton Hall, the second opponent of the locals, tacked a one-point margin defeat on the Dominicans at South Orange last winter, squeezing out a 25 to 24 victory. This week-end the Smith Hillers will invade the same court determined to reverse the verdict by a wider margin.

A week from today the Columbia College of Pharmacy will entertain the Providence quintet in the Columbia gym and a close game should result. Then, to climax the arduous trip, St. John's, rivals of the Dominicans in football, will be prepared to avenge the 38 to 33 setback that they received on their own floor from the locals just a year ago.

Providence College Holds Unique Place

The Army football game with Providence College, scheduled for the second Saturday in October, will inaugurate athletic relations between the famous Military Academy and the local Dominican institution which is one of the youngest in the country. The game will be third on the local's list, as they will face Williams and Norwich in away from home tilts before providing the opposition for the Cadets. Incidentally the Smith Hill eleven will enjoy the distinction of being the first small college outfit in New England to oppose Biff Jone's gridders.
UPSETS UPSALA
Opens Road Trip with 34-27
Victory After Rousing Basketball Battle.

(Special to the Providence Journal.)

East Orange, Dec. 16.—The Providence College basketball team opened its road trip here this afternoon by defeating Upsala College 34 to 27. Coach McClelland's Dominicans had a hard tussle, however, and the second half was a rousing affair, as the two fires battled for the lead. Upsala was outdistanced in the first half, but came back strong in the waning moments to make a garrison finish which forced the invaders to show their strongest attack.

Bill McCue jumped into the spotlight. The rangy Paterson forward took Allen's place in the lineup in the first period and played a consistent game, tossing three field goals from difficult angles to add to the locals' troubles.

Under the tutelage of Walter Potter of Pawtucket and former Middlebury athlete, Upsala assembled a fast quintet and the feat of the Dominicans in taking them into camp was unexpected. Providence started the attack in the very first minute of play. Krleger tossing in a Long Tom, which was followed by a successful foul score by Krleger. Krleger landed his first field goal on a long heave from mid-floor to give the visitors five before Law of Upsala quintet dented the board with two markers.

At the half time the Rhode Island collegians had a 16 to 9 margin to work on. With two minutes to play the Dominicans retained possession of the ball until Fleurent was able to dash down the floor for an easy score. On the following tap from centre McCue broke loose and dribbled his way through the Upsala defence to rim the basket for the final score of the day, to give his team 34 to 27.

Tomorrow Providence goes to South Orange to play Seton Hall.

The summary:

PROVIDENCE (34) vs UPSALA (27)

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Providence</th>
<th>Upsala</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Krleger, f.</td>
<td>Forsberg, f.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Murphy, (Capt.)</td>
<td>Murphy, L.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Wheeler, G.</td>
<td>Person, C.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Allen, P.</td>
<td>Laws, P.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fleurent, L.</td>
<td>Spence, R.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
| 1. Field goals—Providence: Allen 2, Krleger 1
| 2. Wheeler 3, Murphy, Person 1, McCue 1
| Upsala—Law 3, Forsberg 4, Jess, Person 1.

Referee—Kennedy

Game played:

December 16, 1927
Singleton Hoops 13 Points for Winners.—Wheeler Out on Personals.

(Special to the Providence Journal.)
South Orange, N. J., Dec. 17.—Seton Hall College remained in the undefeated class among the colleges of this vicinity in basketball as the result of its one-sided victory here tonight over the Providence College quintet in a roughly played game that ended with the locals on the long end of a 38 to 19 score.

The score does not give a true insight to the calibre of basketball staged by the Rhode Islanders, who were greatly handicapped by the small playing area of the dimly lighted hall.
Wheeler, rangy centre man, was forced to the sidelines early in the first period when four personal fouls were called upon him. Capt. Murphy also suffered the penalty of removal in the same manner late in teh second period.

With Wheeler out of the game the Providence attack was nil, as Henabys,
6 feet 4 inches in height, had matters much his own way on the toss-up as well as on close shots under the basket.
Playing a hard game, the Dominicans battled to get in the running in the latter half and, although their defence stiffened, their offence failed to penetrate the five-man defence of the locals.

Bill McCue broke into the lineup as a regular, pairing with his fellow townsmen, Johnny Krieger, at the forward spot.

McCue played a consistent game and collected two field goals from difficult angles. He shifted over to centre with the removal of Wheeler from that assignment, and managed to hold his own in that post.

At half-time, Seton Hall was far ahead, leading by a 26 to 11 score, but after the intermission was slow to add to the lead being held to a single basket in the first 10 minutes of play.

Singleton, best forward, of the local aggregation, was the high scorer of the night, collecting six field goals and a foul shot.

Monday the Dominicans tackle the Columbia College of Pharmacy five in the Columbia University gym.

SETON HALL (58) PROVIDENCE (19)
Singleton, f. t. Krieger
Mickiewich, f. t. Murphy
Henabys, f. t. Wheeler
Nelligan, f. t. McCue
Pruniskys, r. f. Pleurant
Field goals: Providence—Krieger 2, McCue
2, Murphy, Pleurant, Seton Hall—Krieger 2,
Singleton & Henabys, Pruniskys 3, Mickiewich 2.

Free throws: Providence—McCue 2, Krieger 2,
Pleurant, Allen, Dillon, Seton Hall—Singleton,
Henabys, Pruniskys 2, Mickiewich, Mahr.

Substitutions: Providence—Syracuse for Mahr
McCue, Mahr for Wheeler, Allen for Mahr.
Parsell for Krieger, Seton Hall—Gallagher for Mickiewich, Mahr for Pruniskys.

Referee—Neuchechter. Time of game—
20-minute halves.

Game played: December 17, 1927
EVIDENCE FIVE
TRIUMPHS, 35-20

(Special to the Providence Journal.)

COLUMBIA 38, St. JOHN'S WHIPS 26

Game played: December 20, 1927

COLUMBIA (38)

PROVIDENCE (35)

Substitutions: Providence—McCue 4, Garber 4, Godfrey 3, Krieger 3, Godfrey 2, Wheeler 2, Field 2, McCue 1, Wester 1, Krieger 1, Murphy 1, McCue 1, Gaudin 1. St. John's—Godfrey 4, Shuman 4, Peaslee 3, Garber 1, Anonymous 1, Anonymous 1, Anonymous 1, Anonymous 1, Anonymous 1, Anonymous 1, Anonymous 1.

Foul Penalties: Providence 2, St. John's 2.

Game started: December 19, 1927

The Providence Journal was a New York-based newspaper. The article announces the result of a basketball game played on December 20, 1927, between Providence and St. John's, with the final score being Providence 38, St. John's 26. The article highlights individual performances and provides details about the game's events.

For example, the article states that Providence's Krieger was second in the scoring with six field goals, and the local team was unable to penetrate McCue's five-man defense. Providence won with a 14 to 9 lead, but in the second half, they outscored the visitors 10 to 1 to close the game. The summary concludes that Providence outscored St. John's in both halves.

The Providence Journal also covers the game's summary, providing information about individual players' performances and the game's development.
Arrangements Clinched for Commencement Day Attraction at Hendricken Field.

(Special to the Providence Journal)
New York, Dec. 16—For the first time in its history a Notre Dame University baseball team will invade New England when the ball throwers from the famed mid-Western college visit Providence on June 14 next year to play the Providence College baseball team.
Arrangements for the contest have been pending for the past week, but it was not until today that Graduate Manager John E. Parcell of the Dominican college, visiting in this city, received definite word from the South Bend authorities that their nine would be able to meet Jack Flynn's Black and White aggregation on Hendricken Field.
The contest will be the Commencement Day attraction for the Rhode Islanders, being played Thursday, June 14. Last June the Dominicans ended their season with the crack Vanderbilt University team from Nashville, Tenn., furnishing the opposition.
The invasion of the Notre Dame nine to New England next spring will mark the third time that a sports outfit from that school has gone to that vicinity as their fleet relay team, as well as their hockey sextet, visited Boston last winter.
The game rounds out a fine card of contests being arranged by the Dominican athletic head, as Georgetown, Southern champions, will head a host of other crack college aggregations to the Rhode Island capital to meet the Providence College nine.

DOMINICANS GO DOWN, 44 TO 23

Lead Springfield at End of First Half, 19-13, Then Visitors Go to Work

After a valiant first half stand, the Providence College basketball team went down to a crushing defeat at the hands of the classy Springfield College outfit at the La Salle Academy court yesterday afternoon finishing on the long end of a 44 to 23 count. It was the initial home game of the year for the Dominicans and a crowd of about 400 witnessed the tilt.

Possessing an attack that was flawless, and with the stamina of marathon runners, the Bay State athletes hid their time in the first half, allowing the locals to take the lead, but in the final 20 minutes they opened with every known pass in the indoor game and completely smothered the White and Black defence.

Although the contest was one sided at the finish, it produced some fine basketball as both clubs were on edge for a win. The first half was nip and tuck at all the way, and was the closest score that the New England champions have had this season. Then the fine work of the latter aggregation in the latter part of the fracas gave the fans of this vicinity an idea of how fast the court game can really be.

The Dominicans grabbed the first basket of the day when Krieger dropped a pretty goal from outside the 15 foot line and from a corner angle. Murphy followed with a successful foul heave before the Gym Teachers broke the ice making the score on a rebound off the back board.

With Wheeler, Fleurent and Krieger leading their attack the Providence five surged to the front and at the halftime had a six point margin, being up on the long end of a 19 to 13 score. The Bay State were completely at a loss during this rally and could not stop the assaults on their hoop.

When Coach Hickok's lads took the floor after the rest period they took the offensive with a rush and with the cleaner Wagner, centre man, leading the parade, repeatedly shot the oval through the hoop. In 10 minutes of the fastest action seen here they collected 21 points without the locals garnering a single marker. Fleurent finally broke his team's slump with a beautiful heave from mid-floor.

The Dominicans are slated to invade Storrs, Conn., next week to tackle the fast Connecticut State quintet as their next game, while the Springfield team, after a night of rest here, invades Kingston to-day to take on Frank Reaney's State College five.

---

DOMINICANS LOSE TO TRINITY, 30-27

Connecticut Five Squeezes Out Victory After Trail in First Half.

(Special to the Providence Journal.)

Hartford, Jan. 7—The Trinity College basketball team opened its season here tonight in impressive style byFashion a 30 to 27 defeat on the Providence College quintet in a tilt that was closely contested throughout. Both teams played hard, fast basketball and the outcome was in doubt until the final whistle.

Hock Allen replaced Bill McCue in the starting lineup for the Dominicans, but gave way to the latter as the tilt progressed. For the first half the offensive of the Black and White enabled them to retain a slight lead as a result of the pegging of Larry Wheeler, who collected six field goals during the fray. At the half-time the Dominicans were holding a 16 to 13 lead.

In the latter half, however, the Trinity defence stiffened and held the invaders scoreless for the first 10 minutes of play, while its own attack functioned perfectly to roll the total above that of McClellan's outfit. In this attack the tossing of Bill Taute featured, the local forward collecting five field goals from difficult angles.

With the score deadlocked at 23 all, and five minutes to play, both clubs drove at top speed to take the lead, the Trinity aggregation finally going ahead on a foul shot by Mastronarde. Providence went in front again when Wheeler rimmed a long throw, but this toss was offset a moment later by Taute's heaves, which boosted his club's count to 30. Krieger collected a clear corner shot just before the final whistle.

The summary:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>PROVIDENCE</th>
<th>TRINITY</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Krieger, f.</td>
<td>f.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Murphy, r.</td>
<td>r.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Wheeler, c.</td>
<td>c.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mastronarde</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Allen, t.</td>
<td>t.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fleurent, r.</td>
<td>r.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Field goals: Providence—Wheeler 6, Murphy, Fleurent 2, McCue 2, Krieger; Trinity—Taute 6, Mastronarde, Burr, Whitney 2.

Free tries: Providence—McCue 2, Fleurent; Trinity—Taute, Burr, Mastronarde 3, Whitney 2, Hallstrom 1.

Substitutions: Providence—McCue for Allen, Boyd for Krieger, Rosenfeld for Mur­

---

Game played: January 7, 1928
SPRINGFIELD FIVE
WHIPS PROVIDENCE

Springfield College scored its sixth basketball victory of the season yesterday afternoon by taking the measure of the Providence College, by 44 to 23 count, at the La Salle Academy gymnasium. The game was closely contested for the first half, but in the latter part of the tilt, the Gym Teachers uncorked an attack that gave them a commanding lead.

The Dominicans more than held their own for the first 20 minutes of play, and when the intermission whistle sounded were on the long end of a 19 to 13 count. Then came a shower of field goals from the Bay State hooper, which completely upset any superstitions that the locals might have entertained regarding Friday the 13th.

The fastest passing that has been witnessed on a local court in some time was put on by the invaders when they came out for the final half, and they ran wild through the Smith Hillers' defense. Nordyke, star fullback on the football team last fall, and Wagner, rated as the best pivot man in New England college ranks, were leading the assault.

Johnny Krieger was the only Dominican to survive the entire fray, and in so doing, he added to his season point total with three field goals and a foul shot with gives him 77 markers for the eight tilts played. Fleurent, midget guard, who managed to hold his opponent to two baskets while he himself collected three, was the other individual star of the local quintet. Larry Wheeler fell short of his usual fine game.

Providence started the scoring after three minutes of fast passing when Krieger swished the ropes with a long tom from the side court. After Murphy collected a foul goal, the visitors entered the race with a clean field goal by James, their stellar forward. From that time until the end of the period the tussle was even, with the Black and White aggregation holding their slight advantage.

Following the rest the Red and White tossers uncovered a dazzling passing attack. Duncan, Wagner and Nordyke crashed through repeatedly for scores, collecting 21 points in less than 10 minutes while the McClellan coached lads were being held scoreless. Fleurent's long tom from mid floor, and McCue's shot from under the basket were the only tallies made by the Providence quintet during this half of the fray.

The Springfield team plays R. I. State quintet at Kingston tonight.

SPRINGFIELD (44) PROVIDENCE (23)

Duncan, 1 f 1 f, Krieger
Linderman, 1 f 1 f, Murphy
Wagner, c 1 g, Wheeler
James, r f 1 f, Allen
Nordyke, r g 1 g, Fleurent

Game played: January 13, 1928
WILL COACH DOMINICANS AGAIN

JACK FLYNN
Jack Flynn will again head the baseball forces at Providence College according to an announcement made this morning by John E. Farrell, graduate manager of athletics at the Dominican College, who stated that the former big leaguer has consented to handle the work during the coming season which promises to be one of the hardest experienced by the Dominicans.

The action of retaining Flynn as mentor of the White and Black nines will prove a popular one, not only with the undergraduates and alumni of the Smith Hill college, but with the local fandom in general. The coming season will mark Flynn's fourth with the college outfit which he has placed among the foremost baseball aggregations in the East.

Last spring his nine which captured 14 of its scheduled games, was rated second only to Pennsylvania in the East by New York papers, while two of his pupils were awarded all intercollegiate honors when Ray Doyle, captain of the team, whom he converted into a second sacker after long experience as a catcher, was given first choice among the keystone guardians in college ranks, while "Nap" Fleurent, second sacker in high school, was developed into a right fielder second only to Larry Noble of Yale fame.

Discovered Charley Reynolds
In his first year with the Dominicans Flynn discovered Charley Reynolds and made him the most talked of twirler in New England college circles. Other products of his training were Johnnie Halloran, considered one of the best backstops ever to show his wares in this State, John Sullivan, rangy New Bedford youth who never played any baseball of note until he was converted into a fair first baseman in his senior year in college, Ed Whitley, diminutive outer gardener who starred for two campaigns, Art Considine, rangy southpaw who made good as an outfielder, and "Bradley, pitching find of the season last spring, Bernie Horton, who won the shortstop berth in his senior year, Joe Harraghy, Taunton backstop, and Frank Lally, East Providence youngster who promises to develop into a fine outfielder.

With such a record as a developer of ball throwers it is little wonder that the return of Flynn to the Hendricken diamond is looked forward to with great anticipation. All but four members of the 1927 squad will be on hand to greet him when he starts active work next March. The men graduated last June were Ray Doyle, second baseman; Bernie Norton, Valley Falls short sacker; Tom Graham, utility fielder and first baseman two years ago, and Frankie O'Brien, midget flychaser from Fall River.

Ambitious Schedule
Players who will form the nucleus for the 1928 nine which tackle the most ambitious schedule ever arranged for a Dominican ball club, according to advance reports, include such twirlers as Capt. Leo Smith, Westerly southpaw, Hal Bradley, Frankie Moran, Joe Whelan, Henry Danis, Art Quirk, and Ed Durham, all of last year's squad, while Onuck Murphy, Joe Harraghy, and Jim Zands will handle the backstop work. Joe Duffy, clever sophomore first baseman, aspires to retain that post, while Heck Allen aims to hold off all opposition for the third base assignment. The loss of Doyle and Norton leaves the short and second base posts vacant, but Harry Main, clever Pawtucket infielder is counted upon to fill one of these gaps.

Veteran outer gardeners include "Nap" Fleurent, Red McLaughlin, who has also had two seasons' experience at the shortstop work, Vin Cummings of Cranston, and Frank Lally of East Providence. In addition to this roster there are many promising performers at the college who expect to furnish the vets with plenty of competition when the campaign is started two months hence.
CONNECSTICUT FIVE BEATS DOMINICANS

Nutmeg Aggies Score 29-21 Victory at Storrs.—Watson Leads Winners.

(Special to the Providence Journal.)

Storrs, Conn., Jan. 21.—The Connecticut State College quintet registered its second win of the season here tonight by taking the Providence College five into camp by a 29 to 21 count in a fast game. Both clubs presented strong defences and, although the locals took a long lead in the first 20 minutes of play, the Dominicans came back strong after the intermission to threaten the advantage.

Watson, rugged forward with the Aggies, was the high scorer of the night, collecting seven field goals, several of them difficult. His teammate, Ryan, was a close second with four successful heaves. Providence had difficulty penetrating the Aggies' five-man defence in the first half of the tilt, and as a result had but five points when the intermission whistle blew.

In the final canto the Rhode Islanders opened up with some pretty 'long toms' which swept them close to the Connecticut score and sent the large crowd in an uproar as the fray tightened. In this latter rally Krieger caged three goals from beyond the 15-foot line, and Capt. Murphy featured with a 'long tom' from mid-floor, which was the best shot of the contest. But one substitution was made by the visitors, Szydlak taking the place of Pleurent in the latter half, and collecting two field goals.

The summary:

PROVIDENCE (21) CONNECTICUT (29)

Krieger, i. 1, t. 1, Watson
Murphy, t. 1, Wheeler, c. 1, Elovich
McKeen, t. 1, Ryan
Field goals: Providence—McKeen, Murphy, Wheeler, Krieger, Ryan; Connecticut—Watson, Ryan 4, Elovich.
Free tries: Providence—Krieger, 3; Connecticut—Wheeler.

Substitutions: Providence—Szydlak for Pleurent; Connecticut—Eddy for Schildgen, Ryan 3.

Time of game—20-minute halves.
Providence College Hoopsters

Nosed Out in Last Minute at New London

DOMINICANS GO DOWN, 38 TO 36

Coast Guard Stages a Rally With Only a Minute to Play

(Special to The Sunday Tribune)

New London, Conn., Feb. 4—Continuing its string of victories, the Coast Guard Academy quintet of this city added the Providence College outfit to its list of victims in a thrilling game here this afternoon, winning out by a last period rally which brought them to the fore for a 38 to 36 win.

The game was the closest seen here all winter and avenged the 35 to 27 setback suffered last winter by the Dominicans. The latter outfit was the superior organization in passing and following out assignments here this afternoon, but was unable to stand the strain of the close battle in the closing minutes and as a result was smothered by a belated rally of the Cadets.

The Guardsmen scored first, Capt. Morine dropping in a free throw, but the visitors soon started work and after five minutes of play took the lead and boosted it by fine teamwork. At the end of the first half the count was 24 to 9 in favor of the Dominicans, and at that time the locals did not appear to have a chance to clinch the decision.

The second half started with the Cadet first string aggregation back in the lineup after giving way to the subs at the end of the opening canto, and the rest proved the needed tonic for them. Led by Wendland, clever center, who battled against Wheeler in fine style, the Guardsmen shattered the Providence five-man defense and rimmed the hoop from all angles.

With but a little more than a minute to play, and the count 35 to 24 in favor of the Providence team, Krieger fouled Harding, who dropped the tying counter through the meshes as a result. On the following play, Wendland heaved from beyond the free throw tape, the ball bounding off the backboard and through the net for the winning point. A moment later the same athlete caged a foul goal to boost the total to 38, while McCue, tall forward with the Dominicans, gave his mates a 36 score when he dropped in a foul goal as the final whistle was blown.

The game was very rough at times and no less than 26 personal fouls were committed, with the Cadets being responsible for 15 of them. Providence used but one substitute, Fleurent replacing Krieger when that hooper was forced to leave the tilt.

Summary:

COAST GUARD. PROV. COLLEGE
Miller, 1, f..........................1, f. Krieger
Roland, l, g..........................l, g. Murphy
Wendland, c..........................c. Wheeler
Morine, r, f..........................r, f. McCue
Morine, f, g..........................f, g. Szydla
Field goals: Providence—Krieger 2, McCue 2, Wheeler 7, Murphy; Coast Guard—Maloney 3, Wendland 8, Harding 2, Fahey 2, Free tries: Providence—Krieger 6, McCue 2, Murphy, Szydla 3; Coast Guard—Wendland 3, Morine 3; Harding, Donahue, Fahey. Substitutions: Providence—Fleurent for Krieger; Coast Guard—Harding for Miller, Linton for Maloney, Donahue for Morine, Fahey for Roland. Referee—Whaples. Umpire—Brewer. Time of game—20-minute halves.

Game played: February 4, 1928
DOMINICANS DOWN WILDCATS, 36-23

Hoopsters Break Losing Streak with Easy Victory Over New Hampshire.

Durham, N. H., Feb. 7.—Showing a complete reversal of form here tonight, the Providence College basketball team swung back into the win column by taking the measure of the fast University of New Hampshire quintet by a 36 to 23 score. The Dominicans had the edge throughout and flashed a fast passing attack that had the locals baffled.

Johnny Krieger, sorell-topped Peterson forward, took the high scoring lienor’s of the fray with 14 points, the result of some very accurate foul shooting, as well as four field goals from corner angles. Wheeler was a close second with four baskets and an equal number of successful free throws.

The Rhode Islanders Jumped into the lead at the very start on scores by Krieger and Wheeler and by fine team work started to roll up a commanding advantage. At the half-time they had the benefit of a 16 to 7 score.

Starting the second half Coach Cowell of the Wildcats sent an entire new team into action in an effort to stop the Providence assaults on the local hoop, but though it showed to better advantage than the quintet which first took the floor, it was unable to stem the Dominican rallies.

The victory is the first in six starts for the Rhode Islanders, who are slated to provide the feature opposition for the crack Boston University five in Boston this Friday.

The summary:

PROVIDENCE COLLEGE (36)

Krieger, 1. f ......................... 0 0
McDoug, r. f ....................... 0 0
Allen ................................ 0 0
Wheeler, c ......................... 0 0
Murphy, 1. g ................................ 1 0
Szydla, r. g ......................... 3 0
Totals .......................... 10 0

NEW HAMPSHIRE (23)

Clement, 1. f ......................... 0 0
Smart .............................. 0 0
Clark, 1. f ......................... 0 0
Patch ................................ 0 0
Schuman, c. ...................... 0 0
Burke ................................ 0 0
Gaunt, 1. g ......................... 0 0
Bridge, r. g ......................... 0 0
Sidovinsky ......................... 0 0
Totals .......................... 10 0

NIGAN FIVE SLECKS BOSTON U

Providence Basketeers Roll Up 42-24 Victory Over Hub Quintet.

(Special to the Providence Journal)

Boston, Mass., Feb. 10.—The Boston University basketball aggregation, conqueror of Brown, Harvard and Tufts, and defeated but twice since the start of their season, suffered a crushing 42 to 24 setback here tonight at the hands of the fast passing Providence College quintet. The victory was the second of the week for the Dominicans, as they defeated New Hampshire last Tuesday at Durham.

The Black and White court men handled the ball exceptionally well and as the result of the fine floor work of Wheeler, and the accurate shooting of Krieger, took an early lead which was never threatened. Wheeler took very few shots at the Boston hoop, confining his activity to feeding the oval to Krieger and Szydla. The latter showed unusual speed in flashing through the Terrier defence cage five scores from under the basket.

Krieger, whose work has made him the highest scoring hooper in New England ranks, continued his record with 16 points, six from the free throw line and five field goals from corner angles. His average per game for the season is well over 10 points as a result of his performance here tonight.

The summary:

PROVIDENCE COLLEGE (43)

Krieger, 1. f ......................... 0 0
McDoug, r. f ....................... 0 0
Allen ................................ 0 0
Wheeler, c ......................... 0 0
Murphy, 1. g ................................ 1 0
Szydla, r. g ......................... 3 0
Rzeznikl ......................... 0 0
TOTALS (39) ..................... 18 0

BOSTON UNIVERSITY (24)

Zandan, 1. f .......................... 0 0
Fleurent ............................ 0 0
McDoug, r. f ....................... 0 0
Cohen, 1. f .......................... 0 0
Wheeler, c ......................... 0 0
McGovern ......................... 0 0
Murphy, 1. g ....................... 0 0
Forrest ................................ 0 0
Szydla, r. g ......................... 0 0
Reesnick ......................... 0 0
TOTALS (24) ..................... 18 0

Referee—George Hoyt. Time—20-minute halves.

Game played: February 7, 1928
DOMINICANS TOP
TERRIERS, 42-24

Krieger Collects 16 Points and
Szydla 10 Against Boston University

Boston, Feb. 11.—The Providence College basketball team registered its second victory of the week by handing the crack Boston University quintet a 42 to 24 lacing in the St. Botolph street gymnasium last night before a large crowd. The Invaders easily defeated New Hampshire State earlier in the week.

The setback was the worst the Terrier outfit has suffered in two years and was but the third setback of the year. Previous to the tilt last night they have taken such fast fives as Brown, Northeastern, Harvard and Tufts into camp and as a result entered the fray with the Domenicans having a decided edge.

The Rhode Island visitors flashed the finest passing attack seen here in some time, and coupled with it a defence that was impenetrable. The Terrier forwards were stopped in their tracks and had to confine their assault to long heaves from midfloor as all attempts to break through to get under the Providence basket were frustrated. Wheeler, rangy center, proved the main cog in the visitors machine, being a bulwark on the defence, and a fine passer on the offence. Although he took but few chances to score, he counted eight points to add to his team’s total.

Krieger, blond haired forward with the Providence team, took the high scoring honors of the night with 16 markers: while his running mate, McCue, counted eight more to the margin of victory. Szydla, aggressive guard, broke through five times to take lighting passes from Wheeler for successful goals.

Soutler, right guard of the Boston University quintet, led his team with three field goals and a successful four for a total of seven points, while Capt. Cohen was held in check throughout the fray by Murphy, pilot of the visitors.

Although the Providence College team has not been setting the intercollegiate basketball world on fire in the journey through its schedule this winter, the quintet has been attracting considerable attention and much favorable comment as the result of the presence in the ranks of Johnny Krieger, one of the high scoring aces in the eastern field.

Thus far in his quest for baskets, the Paterson, N. J., forward has waded through plenty of stout opposition with rare success, his point total having reached 169. Entering the fray against the New Hampshire team on Tuesday evening under the handicap of an infection to his right foot Krieger drew frequent plaudits from the crowd by his ability to shoot goals from all angles. He increased his total by 14 points in that contest, making his average 10 per game.

According to Graduate Manager Farrell, the Dominicans have one great objective and that is a decisive triumph over Brown in their final battle of the season on March 3 in the camp of the Bears. A victory over Coach McLaughrey’s charges will take out a little of the sting of those two baseball defeats at the hands of Haskell Billings in the last series.

The locals tallied out eight points in the first 20 minutes of action, while the Providence five was rolling up a score of 24. In the second half the invaders continued their assaults on the local net and had the long end of a 37 to 13 score when reserves were sent into the tilt. Against the latter outfit the Terriers rallied and collected 11 points before the final whistle blew.

Next week the Dominicans are slated to oppose the rangy M. I. T. quintet at Cambridge. Summary:

PROVIDENCE COLLEGE

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>G</th>
<th>P</th>
<th>Pts</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Krieger, I. f.</td>
<td>5</td>
<td>6</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fleurent</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>McCue, r. f.</td>
<td>3</td>
<td>2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Allen</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MeGovern</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Wheeler, c.</td>
<td>1</td>
<td>2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Murphy, r. g.</td>
<td>1</td>
<td>2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Forrest, l. g.</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Szydla, r. g.</td>
<td>5</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rzeznik</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Totals</td>
<td>15</td>
<td>78</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

BOSTON UNIVERSITY

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>G</th>
<th>P</th>
<th>Pts</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Zandan, I. f.</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Hubbard</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cohen, r. f.</td>
<td>1</td>
<td>2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Smith</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>O'Brien</td>
<td>2</td>
<td>1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bartlet, l. g.</td>
<td>2</td>
<td>1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Nims</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Soutler, r. g.</td>
<td>3</td>
<td>1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Totals</td>
<td>8</td>
<td>3</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Referee—George Hort. Time—20-minute halves.
WHEELER TO LEAD DOMINICAN FIVE

Laurence P. Wheeler, centre on the Providence College Varsity basketball team for the past two winters and a graduate of Rogers High of Newport, was elected captain of the Dominican quintet for next year at a meeting of the letter men at the college yesterday. The election of Wheeler will be a popular one with the student body, and gives him the unique honor of leading his college five in his Junior year at college.

Prior to the election the following players were awarded Varsity insignia for their work during the past season: Capt. Charles A. Murphy of Albany, N. Y.; Captain-elect Laurence P. Wheeler of Newport, R. I.; Hector J. Allen of Troy, N. Y.; Stanley A. Snyder of Adelard D. Fleurent of Troy, N. Y.; John Kriege and William McEne of Paterson, N. J., and Student Manager Joseph A. Nole of Fitchburg, Mass.

Wheeler has been a mainstay of the basketball team during the two winters, alternating at centre with John Murphy, football leader two years ago, and handling the post alone during the past campaign.

Wheeler was second only to Johnny Kriege in scoring during the 16 games finished early this month with a point total of 100. The value of the Newport centre to the Black and White quintet was amply demonstrated when an ankle injury kept him out of the New York State and Union College games, both of which were lost by close scores.

While at Rogers high, Wheeler starred in all sports, playing as halfback on the eleven which won the State championship, and incidentally winning the title game with Tech by making the only touchdown of the day, playing as centre on the basketball team, and first base on the nine. His basketball prowess won for him the captaincy of the team in his Senior year, and also gave him the honor of being the only athlete ever to be twice picked at the Tufts College tournaments as the best schoolboy centre in New England.

Last fall Archie Oelambek, coach of the football team, persuaded Wheeler to take up the gridiron sport again with the result that the new captain of the hoopsters won a regular berth as an end on the Varsity eleven.

At present Wheeler is competing for the first base post on the baseball team, and has already won favorable comment from Coach Jack Flynn for his fine work in the drills of the past week.
Vincent "Chuck" Connors of Haverhill, Mass., captain of the 1927 football team at Providence College and Varsity letter-man for four years, died early this morning at the Massachusetts General Hospital, where he was taken on July 6, suffering from tubercular meningitis.

Connors was graduated from the Dominican Institution last month and was given the degree of Bachelor of Philosophy at the Commencement exercises. He received his secondary education at St. James High School, Haverhill, and was captain of the football team there in his senior year.

For four years Connors held down centre on the Black and White eleven and played in practically every contest on the Providence schedule. Weighing a little more than 140 pounds, he faced some of the best centers in collegiate ranks and, by his speed, gameness and endurance saved many a game for the Smith Hill Institution.

"Chuck" in addition to his athletic prowess, was one of the most popular students in the 1927 class. He was successful in his studies and his classmates recognized his ability in social lines by electing him to several offices.

On the football field he was a miniature dynamo, taking part in every play and urging his teammates to great efforts by the force of his example. Local fans will remember his crashing tackles and the almost miraculous way in which he emerged unhurt from every scrimmage.

He will be buried Wednesday morning at Haverhill.
“CHUCK” CONNORS
DIES OF ILLNESS IN BOSTON HOSPITAL

Providence College Football
Captain of 1927 is Believed to Be Victim of Tubercular
Meningitis.—Played Centre 4
Years for Dominicans.

Vincent M. "Chuck" Connors, centre on the Providence College football team for the past four years and captain of the eleven in 1927, died at the Massachusetts General Hospital last night at 6:30 o'clock after an illness of several weeks. Death was said to have been due to tubercular meningitis. He was 23 years old.

Connors, a native of Haverhill, Mass., entered Providence College in the fall of 1924 after having made a record, both in the classroom and on the athletic field, at St. James high school in his home city.

Small in stature and only a lightweight—he never weighed over 145 pounds—Connors answered the football call in his Freshman year and won the centre post from men of greater bulk. There he stayed for his entire four years and it was not until the middle of last season when he sustained a severe knee injury that he gave up his pivot post. Even then, he did not stay on the sidelines entirely for, in the role of captain, he replaced Ed Watters son of New London, sub-centre, on several occasions by convincing Coach Archie Golombeski that his knee was in shape. Connors not only was known in Providence for his brilliant football play but also on every gridiron field where he displayed his wares. For at least two years of his career, he was picked as one of the best centres in the smaller New England colleges.

Although not a member of any other team at Providence College, Connors also was a fair basketball and baseball player. He played with an amateur basketball team here for two seasons and with a club in the Catholic Twilight Baseball League for one season.

Connors received the degree of Bachelor of Philosophy from Providence College with the class of 1928. At that time he is said to have been complaining of severe headaches. Finally, he went to a physician, who advised him to go to the Boston hospital for observation.
EX-DOMINICAN GRID STAR DEAD

Vincent M. "Chuck" Connors, captain of Providence football team last season and regular centre for four years, who died last night at Boston hospital.
Dean of Providence College Assists in Mass at Haverhill as Former Football Captain is Buried.—Brother Athletes Attend Services.

(Harvard, Mass., July 25—Final tribute to Vincent M. "Chuck" Connors, former captain of the Providence College football team, who died Sunday night, was paid by classmates, brother athletes and friends from this city and Providence at the funeral of the youth at St. James Church here this morning.

The solemn high mass was celebrated by Rev. Thomas O'Toole, pastor. The deacon was Rev. Daniel M. Gallaher, O. P., dean of Providence College, and the sub-deacon, Rev. Gerald Dolan. Master of ceremonies was Rev. J. P. Graham. Seated in the sanctuary was Rev. Frank Cavanaugh, a cousin of the dead youth. Members of the faculty of Providence College, under whom Connors had studied for four years, sent their regrets, the sessions of summer school preventing any but Fr. Gallaher from making the trip.

The honorary pall bearers were Archie Golemschki, football coach at Providence College; Edward B. Carroll, athletic director of St. James high school, this city; John E. Farrel, graduate manager of athletics at Providence College; Frederick T. McFarland, Thomas H. Dalton and J. R. Owen, classmates of Connors at the Dominican institution.

The bearers were Thomas Cullin, former Providence College football and basketball star; John Donovan, grid star at Villanova; Maurice Connors, John Grady, Edward Fitzgerald and William Moynihan.

More than 100 Providence College and St. James high school alumni acted as guard of honor for the funeral cortege as it wound its way from the church to St. James Cemetery, where the burial took place.
THE PROVIDENCE SUNDAY JOURNAL, SEPTEMBER 16, 1928

NEW $300,000 FOUR STORY ADDITION TO HARKINS HALL, PROVIDENCE COLLEGE, IS NEARLY COMPLETED

It is expected that a part of the New Wing will be ready to take care of the large enrollment early next month. An auditorium and chemical laboratory are on the third floor and accommodation for members of the faculty take up the fourth floor. It is expected that the entire wing will be ready by Dec. 1.
COLLEGE EXPECTS BIG ENROLLMENT

Dominican Institution Rushes New $300,000 Addition to Care for Students.

BUILDING NEAR COMPLETION

Registration Opens Tomorrow for Freshman Class; Seniors Return Sept. 27.

With the opening of the academic year for the Sophomore and Freshman classes at Providence College listed for next Thursday, work is being rushed to complete the new $300,000 addition to the rear of Harkins Hall, to care for the largest enrollment in the short history of the Dominican Institution.

Work was started on the building last winter and it was expected that it would be completed and ready for use by the classes returning this fall, but according to present plans only the second and third floors, housing classrooms, a large chemistry laboratory, and a library will be available.

The addition fills a need of the college and when completed will be adequate to care for a student body of a thousand. The basement and first floor of the new structure will be given over to a large auditorium, which will seat approximately 1100. In the rear of this assembly hall will be a modern cafeteria.

The second floor, work on which is being especially stressed, is divided by a corridor running the length of the building. Four classrooms, with a total seating capacity of 200, and two large halls, one a newly equipped biology laboratory, will complete the layout of this floor.

The spacious library and a large chemistry laboratory are included in the third floor plans, while the fourth and top story is given over to dormitory accommodations for members of the faculty.

Tomorrow will be registration day for members of the incoming class, which numbers 275 at present, while Wednesday has been designated for examinations for the removal of conditions. The two under-classes will resume studies on Thursday, and the Junior class will reassemble a week from Tuesday. The Seniors do not begin their courses until Sept. 27.
Then the two Zande brothers, Jim, starting his first game this fall at a guard, and Manley, the younger brother, returning to the line-up for the first time since his shoulder injury received in the Norwich tilt, presented a stone-wall defence against the Brooklyn line thrusts.

Another youngster who stood out prominently in the Providence triumph was Steve Fanning, rugged tackle who has served as a substitute for the past two seasons. Fast and aggressive, Fanning crashed through time and again to drop the visiting ball carriers in their tracks, while his offensive work was of high quality. Fanning is a former teammate of Bruce Caldwell, Yale luminary, both being members of the Cumberland high eleven in their prep school days.

A fast running attack coupled with clever forward pass formations proved the undoing of the St. Jonnies, who boast a scoreless game with Lehigh and a 7 to 0 decision with Holy Cross as their best performances this fall. The locals, with Heck Allen leading the advance, were far superior for the greater part of the fray, yielding to the visitors only momentarily in the fourth canto, when a series of first downs gave the latter eleven an opportunity to start a drive on the Smith Hill stronghold.

Providence was the first to carry the leather over the final line and the manner in which they did it left no doubt as to their ability to handle passes. In the very first period, when all the scoring was done, Da Gata opened the fray with a pretty kickoff which Gold ran back to his own 30-yard tape. On the very next play, a short forward pass formation, Da Gata, playing roving fullback, intercepted a pass and was downed in his tracks.

The Dominicans took advantage of the "break" and proceeded to send their enthusiasts into high glee by a fast march to the goal line. Allen ripped off five yards through right tackle, and then a short pass over left end from Allen was nailed by Fleurent for a six-yard gain, and a first down on the St. John 20-yard marker.

After an unsuccessful line buck, Allen dropped back and shot a 20-yard pass to Fleurent, who caught the oval white on the run and sidestepping Gold, invaders' halfback, dashed over the line for the initial score. Allen's attempt for the extra point went astray, failing to reach the posts.

Undaunted by the sudden score of the locals, the St. John's eleven here, produced Margolis, unheralded but nevertheless the outstanding performer of the team. After a line thrust following the acceptance of the second kickoff, Margolis dashed around his left end, sidestepped the Dominican halfbacks in clever fashion and set sail down the gridiron at top speed. Fleurent cut cross-field to stop the flying New Yorker, but his best was a flying leap which failed to even slow up the latter, who continued his 80-yard marathon to the distant Providence posts for the most sensational run ever made on Hendrickson Field. He failed to collect the extra point by dropkick and the score was deadlocked at six-all.

The fever to score seemed in the air after this long jaunt and it was but two minutes later that another tally was chalked up, this time for the Dominican cause. To start the march Da Gata ran back the kickoff to the Providence 47-yard tape, from where Allen booted it to St. John's 15-yard line. Kicking against the wind, Margolis' punt went low and Allen caught it on the invaders' 20-yard marker.

Allen ripped off four yards, Szydla six and Da Gata five to bring the oval to the five-yard linemen. On the following play Szydla stumbled and was stopped on the one-yard line, but Allen continued the good work a moment later when he crashed through an array of enemy aims to hurl himself over the line for the final score of the afternoon. His try for the extra point went for naught when the oval crashed into an upright and bounded back onto the field.

After Providence had advanced the oval to the visitors' 30-yard line in the second period they lost it on downs when a penalty for stalling halted their advance and gave the ball to the Lynch coach aggregation.

The battling was even most of the way in the latter part of the second period, and the rest between the halves gave the St. John's mentor time to form defences for the Dominican offence, so that the third canto saw both teams tussling hard for the advantage with the locals showing the greater power.

In the fourth period Heck Allen, backbone of the Black and White team, suffered severe bruises of the body and had to leave the gridiron. The team physician stated after the tilt that the Troy speedster would be able to play next week, however, when the Dominicans tackle the St. Xavier College outfit, highest scoring combination in the West.

Allen's place in the lineup was taken by Ted Lewis, and the work of the Springfield ball carrier in the few minutes he was in the game gave food for speculation as to what he would have done had he been in the starting line-up. He collected 35 yards by straight line plunging in six attempts at smashing the Brooklyn forward wall and was leading a strong attack towards another Providence score when the final whistle stopped him on the visitor's 24 yard line.

Leo Smith, veteran wingman, was kept on the sidelines yesterday in order that he might not reopen the head cut he received two weeks ago. His place was handled in fine style by Joe Russo, while Larry Wheeler showed a decided improvement at the left wing assignment.
The summary:
Providence College (12) St. John's (6)

Wheler, l. e. ............ l. e. Mullen
Fanning, l. t. ............ l. t. Helmer
J. Zande, l. g. ............ l. g. Nova
Capt. Cunnors, c. ........ c. Capt. Gallagher
M. Zande, r. e. ............ r. e. Sicil
Naurocki, r. t. ............ r. t. Faluszy
Joe Russo, r. g. ............ r. g. Mazze
Pleurent, q. b. ............ q. b. Mazz
Allen, l. h. ............ l. h. Gold
Szydla, r. h. ............ r. h. Cooper
De Gata, f. b. ............ f. b. Klein

Score by periods:
Providence College 12 0 0 6
St. John's College 6 0 0 6
