Critics Walter F. Kerr To Speak At College

His speech will be the last in the current Providence Forum series. Playwright and director Joana Logan was to have been a Providence Forum speaker, but his appearance, scheduled for April 10, was cancelled recently because of his commitments with the film Camelot.

Mr. Kerr will speak at 8 p.m. in Alumni Hall on the 29th. Single tickets will be and directed "Theatre in Spite of Itself." Compact with the film Camelot.

Mr. Kerr was to have been the current Providence Forum season tickets will be on sale shortly after the presentation.

Mr. Logan was to have been to have been an exhibit of student art. The address took place on April 10, 1967, has been named Executive Editor of Providence College (Theology Program). The address takes place on the occasion of the death of Father Louis J. Mathis, O.P., who had served as the spiritual director of the Providence Boys' Club and the Business Club and the More Club, Dillon Club, Friars Club, and he also served as Treasurer of the Student Council. Following graduation he intends to attend law school.

New Staff Released By New Coach Editor

By Mathis

With Spring Weekend less than a month away, the plans for the weekend's activities were thrown into chaos by the sudden and unexpected cancellation of the Saturday night concert by Johnny Mathis.

Mathis is currently on a 16-week tour of the country which he has decided to cut to 15-weeks for the weekend's activities. He is signing his contract with PC for some time, though he did accept a cash deposit.

Now that the panic and wild speculation which ensued among the weekend planning commit-tees at Mathis' cancellation has died down, plans to find a replacement for his concert are almost completed.

Though no contracts have been signed as of yet, tentative plans to replace Mathis include having Johnny Mathis, "The Critic," and/or "The Left Bank."

Plans should have been finalized and bids should be on sale by the end of this week or by next week at the latest, through the respective classes.

Cancellation By Mathis

This week has introduced a new cultural experience to the Providence College community. The Providence College Fine Arts Festival, sponsored by the Class of '69, has made its debut as of Tuesday, April 13. The week will be an experiment which will attempt to introduce a wide spectrum of cultural events, satisfying to both the culturally in-experienced and sophisticated.

Mr. Robert Conant, a harpsichordist with an international reputation, began the series last night at 8:00 with a concert in Alumni Hall. Mr. Conant was described by the New York Times as a "master of composition and performance." He appeared under the auspices of the New York International Opera Company and is "basically, to assist the Editor in Chief by work and advice in his job, and to write editorials that are consistent with and reflect the paper's policy."

As member of the Civil Air Patrol, Rob has achieved the rank of Cadet Colonel and received the Brewer Award as Cadet of the Year in 1969.

Father Joseph L. Lennon, O.P., Dean of Providence College, addressed a group of students who will be participating in the Junior Year Abroad Program. The address took place in the Guild Room of Alumni Hall on April 6.

"I envy each one of you," Father Lennon said, "because if I had this opportunity when I was going to school I would think that it was the greatest thing that ever happened to me."
Apology

To the Administration lay faculty, and members of the Dominican Order at Providence College:

Great offense was caused by the recent Cowl editorial; and since I am its author, I feel that I am the only one who can try in any way possible to set things right.

I know now that the tone of the editorial was bad, and mistake because it injured good men.

For any unjust and over-generalized accusations, I sincerely apologize. And for those who are concerned, the blame for the College and the Order I am deeply sorry.

Sincerely,
Richard A. Methia,

Right Direction

This has been a year of great change for Providence College.

The abolishment of compulsory annual student retreats, the initiation of "smokers" for Friars in the President's office, the new centrally-located Student Congress office in the Alumni annex, the building of a language laboratory, an attractive and functional renovation of the complex of offices in Harkins Hall, a classroom addition, the inauguration of a yearly "Providence College Day" amidst other alterations here — both physical and intellectual — have helped Providence College make the journey to "the great campus society."

We are certain that the college's administration would not be anxious to claim one hundred percent of the credit for these and the many other changes that have been effected during this academic year. Of this we feel certainly that he himself has evidently been working to break the barriers that exist between campus factions, one of which is "the administration." It seems that he is working to replace the "armed camp" atmosphere by one of the "college community" — a change we would welcome.

But this harmony will be possible only if the "opposing" factors realize the honesty and candor with each other and demonstrate an interest in mutual self-improvement.

The interest of the administration and the faculty in the improvement of the "college community" here must be presupposed. Indeed, it would be ridiculous for anyone to even attempt to predict otherwise. But the students, although obviously also interested in improvements, have a more precarious position. For they often face charges of acting irresponsibly when they challenge the status quo.

The college is changing, and this is good. To this moving would be indicative of eventual decline. Just how important the present changes are to the college's history and future is probably not clearly discernable. But they are important enough to prompt at least one professor to comment in his class recently that Providence College will either be "made" or "broken" in the next decade; and that some of the college's foundations can be made (or should be) in the next five years or so.

Regardless of where and how fast the "class" is rolling. And the students have been told that if they act maturely and responsibly they will be insured a hand in the big push.

We hope that the students will avail themselves of every present opportunity to contribute to beneficial change — progress — within the "community.'

But we expect student campus leaders to investigate to discover new avenues; this is an obligation which accompanies election to office.

Let us all remember that the Cong. ress' 12 points are not the only issues relevant to student participation in the "community," keeping in mind, of course, that action concerning the ten unresolved points not yet completed.

Chaotic Election

The N.B.C. and C.B.S. computerized voter analysis systems may be able to predict the outcome of the national election but they have not yet been developed with the Student Congress Ways and Means Committee. Here is an isolated example of the originality, lack of accuracy in our campus elections.

The recent Junior Class elections were held in March prior to Easter vacation. They were originally scheduled for the second Tuesday in March but inclement weather forced their postponement until the following Wednesday. Behold, now we have double the confusion because the Sophomore elections were held on Wednesday. Meanwhile, the gun and games began when the ballots were distributed. Names were misspelled on the Junior ballot and one "dark horse" candidate, even a member of the Junior class. Our crack Ways and Means Committee overlooked this minor discrepancy; the election results were off to an ominous start. In the race for Student Congress Representatives six seats were contested and of the six candidates election the fifth and sixth place candidates with a margin of less than ten votes over candidate seven, who did not place. Candidate seven then recouunted. This recount was postponed for no apparent reason until after Spring recess. Meanwhile in other campaigns ceremonies were being held for the four unconditional winners of the races.

Upon return from vacation the intricate bureaucracy of the Ways and Means Committee geared itself to the dispatch of its duties. Here's the punch line... Candidates seven became a winner by (over twenty votes) beating out candidates five and six who were locked in a tie. These questionable results were arrived at by a distinctive mode of tabulation which guarantees that totals be non-repetitive. But wait!! ! ! Our Ways and Means Committee recommended the situation with typical professional finesse and scheduled a run-off election between candidates five and six for Thursday next. This run-off election is a new innovation in the PC political spectrum. The candidates were notified by campus runners rather than official word from the Committee. In protest of this sad state of affairs it seems that both candidates have chosen to withdraw from the "election." These strange happenings make the Ways and Means Committee the prime contender for this year's "Dubious Achievement Award." Congratulations Gentlemen! ! !

As interested observers we wish to offer the following suggestions for consideration:

1. Review the section of the Student Congress Constitution concerning the procedure for vote recounts.

2. Take measures to insure the correct selection of names on the ballots.

3. Investigate the feasibility of obtaining complete tabulation of election results.

4. (Perhaps this could be carried out with the aid of the computer club.)

5. Announce the schedule and details of any new elections necessary due to the results of the recounts.

MEMO— FROM THE EDITOR

In recent months a rage of controversy has spread across the country as a result of the activities of various college newspapers. Certainly the activities of many college newspapers are questionable, and some are deserving of blanket condemnation. It should not be surprising to anyone that a situation of this nature has arisen.

With the arrival in the past few years of the student crusader, avowed to the cause of academic freedom, has come an onslaught of attempts to undermine the foundations upon which most institutions of higher learning stand. The student crusader was quick to discover that the most effective food available to his cause was the student press. Student freedom was easily communicated, and recent in the ranks of journalistic aspirants was less than a task.

At present, the battle rages. It is consideration of these events that occasions this statement of intention.

The purpose of the Cowl is manifold. A newspaper, by definition has for its purpose the publication of news. It is the purpose of the Cowl to publish news of interest to students of the college in an objective manner, and to serve as an organ of information for students, faculty, administration, parents and alumni.

But simply to report news would be to reduce the Cowl to little more than a bulletin board. It is for this reason that editorials are an indispensable constituent of a true newspaper.

It is the purpose of the Cowl editorial to serve as significant voice for students, faculty and administration and to deal with real campus problems. Editorial viewpoint are based on research and follow modern journalistic principles according to the dictates of good taste.

It is with this statement of intention that the 1967-1968 Cowl staff introduces itself.

WHO’S GOT THE BUTTON?

I'm sure it has not escaped your notice that underling the adorable whimsy which has made this column such a popular favorite among my wife and my little dog Spot, there is a serious attempt to stay abreast of the problems that beset the American college student.

Many a trip has I made to any campus—talking to undergraduates, listening to their troubles, hearing their grievances, reading their buttons. (Incidentally, the second and third most popular buttons I saw on my last trip were: "WALLACE BEERY LIVES" and "FLUORIDE MURCATEL.") The first most popular button was, as we all know, "SCRAP THE SCRAPES" which is worn, as we all know, by Personna Super Stainless Steel Blade users, who, as we all know, are proud to proclaim to the world that they have found a blade which gives them luxury shave after luxury shave, which comes both in double-edge style and Injector style, which does indeed scrap the scrape, negate the nick, peel the pull, and cost the ouch, which shaves as close and quickly and to truly and beautifully that my heart leaps to tell of it. (If perhaps you think me too effusive about Personna, I ask you to remember that to me Personna is more than just a razor blade; it is also an employer.)

But I digress. I leave these topics, as I say, to learn what is currently vexing the American undergraduate. Last week, for example, while visiting a prominent Eastern university (Idaho State) I talked to a number of engineering seniors who posed a serious question. Like all of us, they had come to college burning to fill their last two years. They didn't really have time either to take the liberal arts courses their young souls longed after. "Are we doomed," they asked pitifully, "to go through life unenlightened?"

I answered with a resounding "No!" I told them the college world had changed. In college, they would pick up after graduation. I explained that today's enlightened corporations are setting up on-the-job liberal arts programs for the newly employed engineering graduates—courses designed to fill his culture gap—for the truly enlightened employee is the truly valuable employee. To illustrate, I cited the well-known case of Champert—rational thought and written word, in which Shakespeare makes the context and framework in which he supplements his pension by parsing sentences. Mr. William Fennelly represent "the sharing of knowledge and the capacity for learning."

The design of the ring was a combination of the talents of the Ring Committee and the class of '69. The prices of the different rings, the small re Standard Collegiate and the larger One Size is determined by the pinky weight. One may choose from three different metals for his ring. The kind offered are yellow gold, green gold, and white gold. Besides this the stones to choose from are the black onyx, black sapphire, and a synthetic black Star Sapphire. A $10 deposit is required to place an order, however, it is refundable on the day of measurement.

The prices of the different rings of rings with the optional features range from $48.95 to $70.95. Mr. Fennelly said, "We hope that the Sophomores of the class of 1969 will give their wholehearted support in this traditional project. We feel that the class of '69 is especially involved in the dynamic growth of Providence College since it was the first class to wear the class of '69's symbols."

THE NATIONAL PLAYERS will present Shakespeare's "The Merchant of Venice" on Friday, April 28, and Saturday at 8 p.m. in Fellini Hall on the RIC campus.

The play is a romantic comedy in which the author makes credible a far-fetched situation with brilliant characterization and lyricism.

The National Players is a professional acting company and the longest running national classic repertory company in the U. S. The company is now in its third consecutive season, it is on the road from October to May.

Performing here twice previously, the Players appeared in "Twelfth Night" in 1965 and in "Romeo and Juliet" last year. Besides those of Shakespeare, the company's repertory includes works of Sophocles, Shaw, Aeschylus, Aristophanes and Moliere.

Personnel of the company have numbered over 300 actors, directors, designers, and staff members, including drama critics of the New York Times Walter Kerr (who incidentally will speak here a week from tomorrow), playwright-novelist Leo Brady and Broadway producer-director Alan Schneider.

Benjamin Henn Slack plays the part of Shylock in "The Merchant of Venice." Having played leads in other professional productions such as "Skin of Our Teeth," "Billy Budd," "Oedipus Rex," he comes to this part experienced and flexible.

Alan Share plays Antonio. Born in England, he did not become interested in the theatre until he was serving with the Air Force in Japan. Although this is only his second season with the National Players, Mr. Share has had parts as Net Muller in "Ah, Wilderness!," Willie Loman in "Death of a Salesman," and Dr. Faustus in "The Tragedy of Dr. Faustus," as well as a number of other roles in over 20 plays.

The company has been well received in previous years and throughout this season. Their performance is bound to be polished and expert.

All seats are reserved at $2.50 and $3. Tickets are available at the P.C. Athletic Office.

R. H. Slack, Terry Callahan and Hugh Kelly in "The Merchant of Venice."
Dear Father Gardner,

I have not written this letter in a spirit of discord, but I have felt a profound concern about the direction in which Providence College is going. The administration has failed to understand the significance of the 'Cowl' and its influence in the shaping of the students who are out to be leaders of the community. In the past, Mr. O. F. G. H. has written to the 'Cowl' and asked for responses to particular regulations. Some of the responses are very frank and the administration simply did not respond. This lack of response indicates that the administration is not prepared to discuss the issue openly and honestly.

I hope you will consider the points I have raised and that you will take the necessary steps to ensure that the 'Cowl' can continue to function as a voice of the students.

Yours sincerely,

The moral authority of the school has some characteristics of a vacuum in the home and in society; to claim that this authority is real is to ignore the reality of the situation. The need for local moral authority is greater than the other. The moral authority of the school is only a part of the whole. If the moral authority of the school is not strong, the whole process of education is affected.

The school has a voice in making these rules. It is a question of whether the school has the moral authority to demand the cooperation of the students. The moral authority of the school is not the right to question, the right to demand that he be allowed to be just the same. The moral authority of the school is the right to question. The moral authority of the school is not the right to question, the right to demand that he be allowed to be just the same. The moral authority of the school is the right to question.

When PC was founded, the college had a voice in making these rules. The college has the right to question. The college has the right to question. The college has the right to question. The college has the right to question. The college has the right to question.

Dear Editor:
The family of the late Rev. Joseph S. McCormack, O.P., wishes to express their sincere appreciation to Father Haas, Father Walsh, the Friars, Brothers and Faculty of Providence College, as well as the Providence College Club, the Friars Club and the student body for the kindness extended to them in their recent bereavement.

Michael McCormack

Dear Sir:
As a loyal Friar alumnus (Class of 1931) and a regular reader of The Cowl, I have been disheartened over the past several years about the lack of adequate seating in Alumni Hall.

I was also distressed to read in a recent issue of The Cowl of the decline of hockey at PC. I would like to propose a suggestion which you could present to the powers-that-be as a possible solution to the hockey and basketball situation.

The suggestion (in two parts) is as follows: 1) Convert the basketball court in Alumni Hall to a hockey rink—the seating would be more than adequate and the team would no longer have to travel to R.I. Auditorium in the middle of the night to practice, as is now the case. 2) Build a field house (Quinnest but other frame type construction, nothing elaborate) strictly for basketball with seating capacity of 1044 (using the Cole Gymnasium at University of Maryland (seating capacity 13,000) as a model). This could be erected on the old Hurst grounds which I'm sure the chaplain and his assistants would be happy to see the college finally acquired.

I really don't think the suggestion is as wild as it may seem. Presently in the proper way I think support for it would not be difficult to find. I hope you will follow it up.

Yours very truly,
Anthony P. Merlino, M.D.

Sirs:
The reaction to Father Dufy's recent statement concerning drinking on the state's campuses may be one of immediate acceptance on the part of the student body; this proposal should, however, be critically examined lest we find that in supporting it we contradict ourselves.

There are two effects which Dr. Dufy's suggestion, if accepted upon, could have. First, through the efforts of college administrators there could be a gradual gathering of support for changing the archaic law which sets the minimum age of twenty-one for that dignity.

The second possibility, however, is that drinking on the state's campuses would be sanctioned through reinterpretation of the existing laws. It is, I could be argued, that since the school is acting in the place of our parents, drinking on campus would be permitted in the same manner that drinking in the home of one's parents is. If the recent student requests for personal freedom regarding court, curfew, standards of dress, and social habits are any indication, the far-reaching goal, that goal should be the eventual recognition that a student conduct his own personal life, insofar as it does not infringe upon the dignity among men's living.

LETTERS

On March 22, the last Mass, compulsory retreat at Providence College came to an end. Fr. Wade even remarked after the retreat that by no longer demanding the compulsory ritual "we stand to gain more than we are going to lose." The chaplain and his assistants intended that this final retreat be something different. Movies were scheduled during the day and in the evenings. Arrangements were made for two married couples to speak on courtship and sex. The mass body of previous years was divided into two small, but evidently still too large, sections.

Fr. Joseph Tracey, O.P., head of the Catholic Center at Eastern Tennessee State University, lectured and led discussion at the morning and afternoon sessions in St. Pius Church. Frs. Wade and Vanderhaar assisted Fr. Tracey by directing the conversations after the movies in Hartkins auditorium. The movies shown during the day were on moral and legal topics. Discussion after the morning movie was compulsory; after the afternoon movie, only voluntary. In the late evenings full length motion pictures were shown in Albertus 100. On Monday, March 20, the retreat presented Frederico Fellini's "La Strada," a symbolic picture representing Christ as a circus ac­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­&
New Library Construction: Set to Begin in Early May

Construction of the new library at Providence College, originally set for March, will begin in the first week of May, Father Ernest A. Hogan, O.P., has announced. When completed, the library of Providence College, stated the delay was due to the govern- ment's plans for the library and the general area. The library will be built at the corner of Fredrick C. Hickey. O.P.

"Father Hickey," said Father Hogan, "was the president of the college. He was very concerned about the library and the general area, and the delay was due to the government's plans for the library and the general area."

The new library will cost over three and a quarter million dol- lars and will be paid for by a government grant of one mil- lion dollars, a government loan of one million dollars, and one million dollars, which will all be supplied by private dona- tors.

Donnelly Drive, over which the library will extend, will be cleared and the construction will begin. According to Father Hogan, the library will be located on the site of what is now the library. The new library will come across Donnelly Drive and a new building will be built in the present location.

The library will be 10 stories high and 200 feet wide, and will be designed in the style of a modern library. The library will contain over 500,000 books and have a seating capacity of 1,000 people.

The library will be open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. daily, and will be open on weekends. The library will contain a reference library, a reading room, a reference room, and a children's room.

The library will be located on the corner of Donnelly Drive and Providence College Way, and will be accessible from both sides of the street.

The library will be a major addition to the Providence College campus, and will provide a much-needed resource for students, faculty, and the community.

St. Thomas More Club Sponsors Debate

On Tuesday evening, April 18th, the Providence College St. Thomas More Club will sponsor a debate between the U.S. Attorney for the District of Rhode Island, Edward Gallogly and Mr. Charles C. Murphy, Attorney for the U.S. Attorney for the District of Rhode Island. The debate will be held at Alumni Hall in the Guild Room at 8:00 p.m. on Tuesday, April 18th and anyone interested is invited to attend. It will be announced that the Club will sponsor a semi-formal buffet dinner on Friday, April 21st at the Club in Smithfield, R.I. The newly-elected officers of the Club will be inducted into the Officers of the Club at this affair. President David Murphy announced that there would be no charge for member tickets and that there would be a limited number of most tickets available upon request. Any member wishing to attend "must" make arrangements through one of the officers of the Club as soon as possible. The fee for guests will be $2.25 per couple.

The election of officers will be held on Thursday, April 19th and Friday, April 14th at the main entrance to the Cafeteria in Alumni Hall. The voting will be from 10:00 to 12:30 each day. All eligible voters are urged to vote in the election.

Pre-Registration Instructions

Members of the Classes of 68, 69, 70 and 71 who intend to return to Providence College in September must pre-register. Pamphlets with pre-registration instructions and September course offerings will be available at the Office of Alumni Affairs from April 17th to April 24th.

Students who have not had their programs filed, as advisor will not be allowed to pre-register.

Students who do not follow the pre-registration procedures at this time will be considered voluntary withdrawals, and if they later decide to continue at P.C. in the fall, they will be obliged to return on a designated date in the summer to pre-register. Late pre-registrants will have no opportunity to choose courses under the direction of their advisor. Students who wish to change classes should consult with Fr. Quinn and must be on record as such to be considered for enrollment.

Advisors are assigned from within your department of concentration. Education majors will have advisors assigned by the department of their specialization, e.g., An Ed History Professor, or an Art History Professor, or a History Professor, etc. All other majors should consult with Fr. Quinn. General Studies majors should see Fr. Bond or Mr. Hartley.

Alex Nahigian Enters Ninth Season As Coach Of Friars

"An outstanding asset to our coaching staff and an excellent teacher of young men," was a statement made by the Reverend A. B. Begley, O.P., Director of Athletics at Providence College, describing basketball coach Alex Nahigian some nine years ago. It is still true today as the 1967 edition of a college basketball team is once again set to roll into action.

Alexander Nahigian has been leading the Friars since 1959 when he left Tolman High School in Pawtucket to accept the challenge of building the baseball fortunes of Providence College back into national prominence. In his high school days he played a key role on the December 1941 St. John's Prep win over Mass. State, and his high school days have prepared him very well for the Intramural finale, which is this evening. This sets the stage for Monday night's Basketball semi-finals at P.C.

The Jersey Club broke fast and furious, matching the speed and ball-hawking of Albertus against the rebounding muscle of the Met Club.

In the opening semi-final match, Met A rebounded from an early 8-2 deficit, ran off 18 straight points, and came out on top in the Intramural game's high scorer with 17 points. Murphy has led the Met Club to all-state baseball honors for the past two seasons.

Coach Alexander Nahigian studies 1967 Varsity baseball roster.

The Kelly's Killers squad ran off 18 points and Buddy Thomas, with 8 points, finished second to Albertus. The Kelly's Killers have applied at once to Room 414, Aquinas Hall. Ask for Jim Murphy.

Met A, Albertus B Triumph; Advance To Intramural Finals

Met and Albertus B came out on top in the Intramural Basketball semi-finals Monday evening. This sets the stage for the Intramural finale, which will put the court on a long winter of Intramural basketball at P.C.

This game promises to be fast and furious, matching the speed and ball-hawking of Albertus against the rebounding muscle of the Met Club.

In the opening semi-final match, Met A rebounded from an early 8-2 deficit, ran off 18 consecutive points and from there they breezed to an easy 47-20 conquest of New Jersey A. The Jersey Club broke fast at the game's outset, employing a full-court press that worked effectively for the first five minutes of play. Salt Mentesas pumped a ten foot jumper for the Jersey Club to open the game. From there the Jersey Club increased its lead to 6 points and just as suddenly, Met A struck back. Bob Katulka, the game's high scorer with 17 points, hit for a bucket, stole an errant Jersey pass and followed it up with a bucket. The Met Club broke the Jersey press with some fancy dribbling.

WANTED:

Twenty volunteers to surrender approximately one hour of one or two Saturdays to separate tickets for the football club. Great opportunity to help the college sell raffle tickets for the football club. Great opportunity to be successful for the long-awaited Fall sport. Interested people should apply at once to Room 414, Aquinas Hall. Ask for Jim Murphy.

Friar "9" Set To Face BC in Season Opener

The Friar battery combination as well as two outfield spots are up for grabs. The pitching staff is "adequate." Basketball ace Don Henderson, Pettingill and Steve Nelson are the key hurlers who will throw to either Matt Giarrina or Chuck Moriarty. Captain Otto Giannotti is a sure starter in the outfield, but four candidates are contesting for the other two positions.

If there is a quality lacking it would have to be the team hitting. The returnees from last year's team were unimpressive at the plate, but Nahigian has hopes for improvement. "If others step up this year, we will have a chance for a great season. The team does not have much power, so we have placed an emphasis on running and bunting." Nahigian would not forecast the probable results of the season. "I don't think that if the hitting can complement the brilliant defense, the Friars should pull a few surprises. They will need it against such top-flight opponents as Boston College, Holy Cross and University of Massachusetts.

Here is a rundown of the '67 Friars.

James Petteruti (Sr., 1B) Captain, the team, will be counted on to supply a much needed batting punch. Defensively, he has great range and a fine glove.

Richard Giannotti (Sr., OF) Co-Captain with Petteruti, Otto is a first rate ballhawk in the outfield. He has good speed and knows how to handle any situation that may evolve.

Greg Walsh (Sr., LF) Greg will be the short hitter. A player who limits his mistakes can be a minimum, Greg is a hitter with a keen desire for victory.

Kevin Condolly (Sr., P) Kevo has the physical size to throw pitches past the hitters all year. However, Nahigian has him split for pitching and catching.

Tom Nelson (Sr., P) Versatile, Ben will double up on the two spots. Caesar has a fine glove.

Mike Haughian (Sr., CF) Pat has second base all to himself. He has brilliant hands and an exceptionally wide range in the field. In the words of Coach Nahigian, "he is probably our best hitter."

Bill Harrington (Sr., OF) Greg Walsh out did him in the hitting but Harrington is a sure starter in the outfield. "My greatest thrill is the same as Jim's. It was quite a sight to see "Billy" toe home after getting a grand-slammer!"

When asked what his responsibilitiy as a co-captain entailed, the soft spoken senior answered, "It's up to the captain to keep his club pulling together. The year's club should have to cohesively stick. It is difficult to get along with each other when you can't co-operate and you have a responsibility to see that spirit doesn't wane."

An Accounting major, Otto is also a member of the St. An- nohans and New Haven Clubs. After a hitch in the service, Otto plans to go into the business field.

Co-Captain Jim Petteruti needs no introduction to New London baseball fans. The six foot, 180 pounder from nearby Old Lyme is a key to the Friar pitching pen.

A close call...typically of action to be seen at Hendrickson field this season.

PC Co-Captains See Key to Coming Season as Defense

Editors Note: Last Spring Jim Petteruti and Richard Giannotti were elected co-captains of the 1967 Providence College baseball team. Following is a report earlier this week about their responsibilities and duties over the short season and here is how they see it: developed at Providence College. His weakness has been his hitting. "I've had trouble hitting the curve ball in the past, but I hope to correct that this year."

Indeed, Otto has shown remarkable improvement in batting and has already had his开口 against Fairfield University postponed. Despite the inclement weather Coach Alex Nahigian of Friars head coach to Otto has high hopes for the team. He is all for the new emphasis on hitting and there is strength in both the outfield and infield. But hitting is also improved over last year, but I think the key is defense. We have improved in some of the defensive gaps of last year. If we can stand up to the three teams, the Friars will be our strong point," said Nahigian. "Steve Saradnik nicknamed "Otto," is a 5' 11", 170 pounder from North Haven, Connecticut. He earned All-State laurels while attending North Haven High school and is considered to be one of the finest defensive outfielders ever.

The Friars are a young team with just four seniors on the roster, but they are far from being green. Juniors and seniors will fill the key spots this year, and the new crop of sophomores will bolster the overall talent of the team. The key to victory lies in the defense. "The infield will be our strong point," said Nahigian. "Steve Saradnik will probably be our shortstop."

It was the third victory in 29 games for the Good Guys of WICE, while the Faculty finished their season with a record of 6-15.

The "questionable" behavior of some of the faculty.

After the game, Fr. Joe Perz displayed the MVP trophy, edging out Dick Grace and Fr. St. George. In winning the "V.C. or Edge PC Faculty"

Last Thursday night a crowd of 800 people saw the WICE Double-headers upset the PC Faculty 64-58 in overtime. It was the third victory in 29 games for the Good Guys of WICE, while the Faculty finished their season with a record of 6-15.

The high many high lights and all in attendance are still shaking their heads over some of the "spectacular" plays. Coach Pearson, after unloading two 30 foot bombs, had enough courage to try a hook shot from deep in the corner. To the surprise of many, especially the King, the ball swished through the net. Not to be outdone, the Faculty had Fr. Joe Perz put in a double pump (7) from 20 feet.

The game was close until the third quarter when the combination of Mullane-to-George, George-to-O'Connor started to jell and the Faculty built up a 10 point lead. Then the "hatchet" squad entered for P.C. and if nothing else, the Faculty members turn out, regardless of their ability. King Arthur Knight leaned the response and Cooling the "questionable" behavior of some of the faculty.
