Providence College To Hold
Spring Football Practice

Three-Week Drill Period Opens
Monday.—26 Players Asked to Report.

With a twin objective of getting a head start for next season's football campaign and offering gridiron players not engaged in other sports an opportunity for informal athletic participation, Providence College athletic authorities announced last night that a three-week period of spring football practice would open next Monday afternoon. The Friars have not held spring gridiron drills during the past five years
but they were conducted on a minor scale previous to that time.

Gradual Progress

The move to have organized spring
drills under the regular coaching staff is indicative of the gradual progress being made in Friar football. Next year's eleven will face a hard schedule and preliminary practice this spring should be of much value to the players. The Dominicans again open their grid campaign against two strong opponents, Rutgers and Holy Cross, and an early start will considerably aid the team in these two games.

Head Coach Archie Golembeski and his two assistants, Joe McGee and
"Jim" Brie, will handle the gridders.
Most of the work, however, will be done by McGee and Brie as Golembeski will not be able to attend each day of practice.

It is expected that a large squad of griders will be on hand next Monday to participate in the drills. There are around 25 players who had some experience last fall available for the preliminary drills and undoubtedly there will be a number of newcomers who will join the veterans.

There are some likely looking pros-cpects for next year's team as only a small number of last season's regulars will be lost. The backfield was hard hit as Capt. Mickey Foster, halfback; Chick Billier and Jack Brady, quarterbacks; and Cy Galligan, halfback, will be among the missing next fall. But there are some likely prospects to fill the holes left open. Anthony Barbarito, Ted Le-Blanc, Charles O'Keefe and Joe Wright will be counted upon for backfield duty.
Then, there is big Charlie Rennick, who came along fast during the latter part of the past campaign. Both Rennick and O'Keefe may not take part in the spring grid drills, as they are seeking pitching berths on the baseball team.

There is an abundance of capable line material for next year's eleven.

Following are the players on last year's squad who were asked to report:

Linemen—McCann, McCarthy, Skipp,
Lee, Schott, Boyle, O'Hayne, Capt.
Calahan, Sollitto, Thompson, Mardosa,
Adamick, Kutniewski, Davis, Fiana,
Hebert Felt, Gilligan, Stanikowski, Katz-,
nelson and Leathy.

Backs—Lynch, LeBlanc, Barbarito,
Wright and Clancy.

"Chief" Marsella, star outfielder, returned to college yesterday after being in the hospital during the latter part of last week because of a knee injury.
Marsella still is walking with a limp, but he expects to rejoin the baseball squad
next week.

The Lowell Textile team, which will open the Friar baseball season here on Saturday, gave the Dominicans a real trouble last year before admitting defeat and with a number of veterans ready for this year's campaign, the same Saturday should be close and well-played.

With four or five lettermen available for this year's team, Providence College is expected to meet with better success in college tennis circles this season. A Freshman team will be fielded for the first time. Allyn Sullivan again will be captain and it is likely that he will retain his No. 1 position. Besides Sullivan other veterans are Bill Naughton,
Henry Alves, Rene Berette and Lou Fitzgerald.

Sixteen candidates reported at a meeting held yesterday, but it is likely that the squad will be almost doubled when practice opens next week. The meet-en opens their season April 27 against Clark at Worcester.
Friar Gridders Start Pre-Season Drills
At present there appears no outstanding candidate for the quarterback position. Jack Smith has been with the squad during the past three seasons but he has not seen much service. Last season he devoted only part of his time to the gridiron. Smith's chief handicap is lack of weight. He is fast and has football brains. Undoubtedly, he will be given much time in the pre-season drills by the coaches. There are other candidates for the job but they all need considerable seasoning.

For the centre position Jack Schott and Abe Felt will be the leading candidates. Both saw some service last season. Schott is the heavier of the two. Felt came to the fore rapidly near the end of the 1931 season and the coaches were watching him closely with an eye towards this season.

Candidates Plentiful

Candidates for the other positions are excellent and plentiful. The tackle, guard and end squads should present no worry. Capt. Owen Callahan heads the tackle squad which includes Charles Burdge, Dick Burns, George Boyle and Bill McCarthy. Every one of these boys scale around the 200 mark and over. They are five tackles welcome to any football team.

Cheerful to the Friars is the story about the guard candidates. The two regulars, Lou Mathews and Bill Kuniewski, will return. They did a fine job last season. Irving Katznelson, a regular in 1931, who was injured during the most part of last season, is another excellent guard. "Katz" should have an excellent season. Ed Mardosa, veteran of three seasons, is another capable player. Never before in the college football history has there been a better squad of ends available. There are at least nine winners, all capable, for the two positions. They are Ollie Roberge, Franly Dromgoole, Bert Skipp, Martin Thompson, Dexter Davis, Peter Gobis, Peter Gilligan, Charles McCann and Bob O'Hare.

Good Last Year

Charles O'Keefe is the leading candidate for fullback. His play last year was excellent. He backs up the line in fine style, is a good field runner and most important of all he can buck the line. Charles Rennick, a local product, is another promising fullback. He hit his true stride near the end of last season. He is a valuable man for a backs berth. Barbarto is slated for one of the halfback berths. Ted LeBlanc and Joe Wright will be the leading candidates for the half. Wright saw considerable service for Rutgers and gives promise of developing into a first-class star. With Barbarto and Wright at the halfbacks, the Friars will have two speedy backs, dangerous to the opposition once out in the open field.

With the development of two players for the quarterback and centre positions the Friars will be ready for another successful campaign. Last year was their most successful season in the college gridiron history. They won seven of the 10 games played, losing only to Rutgers, Holy Cross and Catholic University. They had a victory run of six straight games. They defeated Vermont, Clarkson, Norwich, Lowell Technical, Niagara and St. John's in succession and then, after losing to C.U., clinched the season with a victory over R.I. State.

Strong Opponents

This season the Friars face again the handicap of starting the season against two strong opponents. They open against Rutgers and then play Holy Cross. Both the Scarlet and the Purple will have good teams. A rejuvenation in the gridiron game took place at Rutgers last season and results were immediately shown.

It is unfortunate that the Dominicans have to oppose Rutgers and Holy Cross at the start. They would have a better chance around mid-season. More advantageous facilities for pre-season drills and, consequently, a good early start are more available to Rutgers and Holy Cross gridders than for the Friars.

Last year the Dominicans lost both these opening games, but put up excellent battles in both. Undoubtedly many are predicting defeat for the Friars in their two opening games this season. A victory over Rutgers is not a remote possibility. Against Holy Cross a victory appears remote, but one can never tell. The Friars gave the Crusaders a real scare last season.

The Friars will play their first six games on the road. Only C.C. N.Y. and Catholic University will be played at home in the final two games of the season.

The schedule:

Upper photo shows four of the leading line candidates taking part in a charging drill. Left to right, Dick Burns, tackle; Bill Kutniewski, guard; Capt. Owen Callahan, tackle, and Ed Mardosa, guard. Lower photo shows the Friar board of strategy. Shown left to right are Capt. Callahan, Head Coach Archie Golembeski and Backfield Coach "Junie" Bride.
It may be too early to predict success for a college football team but from the general view of the candidates, their doings and their enthusiasm yesterday at Hendrick Field when the Providence College gridiron candidates held their first practice of the season, the Friars appear headed for a good campaign.

First of all, 45 candidates reported, comprising one of the largest opening day turnouts in Providence College football history.

Secondly: Among the 45 were 14 lettermen, all of whom showed to advantage in last year’s successful campaign.

Thirdly: Included in the group of newcomers were some likely looking players, who gave one the impression that they are at home on a football field.

Fourthly: The eagerness and willingness of the players to plunge right into hard work offers a true sign of prospective teamwork, vitally necessary to winning football.

Practice Five Hours

On a whole the opening day drill was the most satisfactory ever held at Hendrick Field. Everybody immediately plunged to work as soon as they reached the field. Equipment was given the players in the morning at 10 o’clock and a light drill was held until noon. They returned to the field at 2:30 and the afternoon practice lasted until 5:30. All in all, the day marked five hours of practice for the Dominicans.

One slight injury occurred and that was suffered by Charlie O’Keefe, Fall River youth, who is the leading fullback candidate. He injured his foot and may not be able to practice for a day or two. Otherwise, the players came through the opening day with only the expected sore muscles.

Capt. Owen Callahan headed the list of lettermen in yesterday’s drill. Callahan reported in excellent condition after a summer of hard work. Callahan lost some weight and now hits the scales at 180. George Cusack, line candidate, is the leading weight reducer on the squad. At the end of last season he weighed 215 pounds. He is down to 195. Dick Burns, tackle, dropped more than 15 pounds since last spring. Burns, who used to weigh close to 200 pounds hit the scale at 185 yesterday.

Leading Linemen Report

All of the leading linemen with few exceptions were on hand. Ollie Roberge, Flanny Dromgoole, Pete Gilligan and Dexter Davis, all ends, took part in the drill. Martin Thompson, another star wingman, will not report until Monday.

Besides Capt. Callahan other veteran tackles who showed up were Joe Adamick, Charles Burge and Burns, Bill Kutniewski, Ed Maraldo, Wallace Planka and Irving Katnelson were the veteran guards to report.

All of the best backfield candidates reported. They include Anthony Barbabito, Joe Wright, Joe Monahan, halfbacks, Charles O’Keefe and Ted LeBlanc, fullback.

The coaches were reluctant about the two positions, quarterback and center, which were left wide open by graduation of last year’s men. It was reported that Bert Skipp, who played end last season, may be shifted to quarter. Skipp is the fastest man on the squad and proved himself a good grider in 1931. Backfield coach "Junie" Bride has not made a final decision on this move. The Friar coaches will wait a week or so to see how the new candidates show up before any experimenting is done.

Another talked of change was having either Barbabito or Wright call the plays. In this case the Friars will have four good running backs with O’Keefe and LeBlanc to round out the backfield. This move, however, is only theoretical as are all the others.

Joey Conley Reports

It may develop that no changes of positions will be necessary. If one of the new players comes to the fore, Joey Conley, former La Salle quarterback, has returned and will make a determined attempt to earn the position. Another candidate is Omer Landry, who played with St. Raphael last season. Bat Goodman, a newcomer, is another seeking the field general’s job.

It also was indicated yesterday that Katnelson, who alternated as fullback and guard in 1930, and who played guard last season, may be shifted to centre to fill the big gap there. Katnelson is an excellent player, one who has a natural aptitude for the game. There is no doubt that "Kate" would make an excellent defensive center. The question in his case would be offensiveness. If he could show to advantage with his offensive work, the centre problem would be over. He was snapping the ball back yesterday. The coaches, undoubtedly, will give him much time.

The heaviest candidate for centre is Jim Doyle, Worcester youth, who weighed the 200 mark. Doyle came out for the team two years ago, but was absent last season. Pat Morrison of Staten Island, N. Y., who captained the Augustinian Academy eleven last year, is an

"RED" GOULD TO BE FRIAR FRESHMAN

Outstanding Cranston Athlete Will Be Welcome Addition to Dominican Teams.

BY MICHAEL J. THOMAS

Carroll "Red" Gould, one of the best athletes in Rhode Island schoolboy history, will enter Providence College with the incoming Freshman class. His original plans were to go to Dartmouth, but he has changed them and finally decided to go to college near home.

He is a graduate of Cranston high school, where he was an outstanding star in football and hockey. He made the all-Rhode Island schoolboy football and hockey teams three years in succession, a feat noteworthy in itself. He attended Hebron Academy in Maine last year and further added to his exploits as an athlete.

As a quarterback he is a welcome addition to the Friar football squad, which he joined today for the first time. The field general berth is one of the two positions wide open on the Dominican eleven. With the quarterback squad augmented by Gould, the worries of the coaches over filling the position will be lessened.

"Red" Gould, a three-year varsity football and hockey performer at Cranston, will report for Providence College today and is expected to join the Friar football squad.

Should Be Valuable

Undoubtedly, the Friar mentors will have watchful eyes on Gould, as, with some experience in college competition, he should develop into a valuable player. While at Cranston, he was a dangerous triple threat. He could pass, punt and run the ball with equal proficiency. He was most dangerous, however, as a runner behind interference, and, once out in the open, he was a hard man to stop.

Much of Cranston's success on the gridiron and arena during his stay there was due to his individual efforts. He thrilled many Interscholastic League fans with his long dashes as a griddler and his brilliant sallies on the gridiron as a puckster.

Whether he will be able to step into college football directly from the schoolboy ranks as a question. There is quite a gap between the two classes, but he is a natural griddler and his prospects of winning that open berth on the Friar eleven are fairly good.

If he continues to improve as he has during the past three years, he should enjoy real success in college football. Much has been predicted for this Cranston youth and, barring unforeseen happenings, these predictions should come true.

He would fit perfectly into the Providence College team. He is fast and shiftly and with him to round out the backfield with Barbatito, Wright and O'Keefe, the Friars should do some big offensive things this season. An outstanding back like Gould, around whom to build an attack, would be another advantage to the Dominican grid team.

Will Have Hard Job

Of course, he will have a hard job before he finds himself a regular with the Friars. Although at present there is no outstanding candidate for the quarterback job, there are some promising players bidding for the position. There is Omer Landry, another former Rhode Island schoolboy ace, Ted LeBlanc, who may be shifted from halfback, Joey Connell, former La Salle star, and Bat Gorman.

SCARLET GRIDDERS MENTALLY AND PHYSICALLY ON EDGE FOR OPENER

Head Coach J. Wilder Tasker and Assistant Coaches Tom Kenneally and Art Matsu Have Brought Rutgers Gridders Along in Fine Fashion

An eleven-man team, with each and every member having a specified task to perform on each and every play, will represent Rutgers on the gridiron this afternoon when the Scarlet opens the 1932 season in combat with a reputedly powerful Providence College eleven at Neilson Field. Rutgers, through a coaching system that permits of few waste moments, is better fitted physically and mentally than it has been for an opening game in the past decade. Credit for the fine condition of the men, and the mental edge attained by them, belongs to Head Coach J. Wilder Tasker and assistant coaches, Art Matsu and Tom Kenneally, who have utilized every possible minute during the three weeks pre-season training period to whip the Scarlet horde into tip-top shape.

least three feet on his face, to intercept on the Providence 42-yard line a forward pass that Charley O’Keefe, star halfback of the Friars, intended for his right end. Chizmadia of Perth Amboy, star on the frosh eleven last year and before that a consistent point-getter at St. Mary's High in his hometown, ran around right end behind effective interference for 20 yards and a first down to place the leather on the Providence 23-yard line.

Chizmadia Again

Here the Providence line stiffened and took the ball on downs after running plays by Jack Liddy, Chizmadia and Hermerda had advanced the ball to the Providence 17-yard stripe.

The Scarlet linemen converged on Tony Barbarito as he tried to punt out of danger from deep in his own end zone, and the partially blocked kick was recovered by the alert Chizmadia on the Providence 4-yard line.

Once again a Rutgers score and victory seemed sure, but once again a desperately fighting Providence team rose to the test and stopped the Scarlet attack.

Chizmadia made a yard around right end, falling over Liddy as the later was spilled by an in-rushing secondary. Hermerda and Chizmadia each gained a few feet in successive running plays, and the game ended as Hermerda advanced the ball to the Providence 1-yard line in a drive at the center of the line.

Scarlet Last Minute Drives One Yard Short

Friars on Defence
Slow to start, the Friars were on the defence for the greater part of the first period, and only after 12 minutes of action did they begin to flash any form of offence. In the second stanza, they marched down the field to collect their score, with Ray Croteau, halfback from Fall River, crossing the line. Rutgers retaliated in the same period when Hemrda circled left end for four yards and a score after Chismadia had run off a 22-yard sweep to bring the ball within the shadow of the Dominicans' goal.

Red Gould, Cranston quarterback started the game at the signal calling play and in the first period brought the fans to their feet when he rolled off a 20-yard run back of a Rutgers punt to place the ball on the Scarlet's 33-yard stripe. A few minutes later he was forced out of the game when his injured knee gave way as he was tackled hard when attempting to toss a forward pass.

Omer Landry, former St. Raphael performer, and Ray Croteau. Fall River southpaw halfback, were easily the outstanding offensive threats of the Friars. Landry gave a brilliant exhibition in his collegiate debut, calling plays like a veteran, and featuring with his clever receiving of passes which Croteau hurled with deadly accuracy. Both players harassed the Rutgers ends no little as they demonstrated their speed in circling the flanks.

The Providence line proved penetrable in the first half, but in the final 30 minutes of play rose to its full strength to halt advances of the Tasker-coached backs. In the final five minutes, after breaks had given the locals the ball in scoring positions, the husky Friars stood their ground, twice holding for downs within their own 10-yard stripe.

Purple Works For Contest With Friars

McEwan Refuses to Take Game with Providence Lightly

Worcester, Sept. 30.—A dummy scrimmage session against Providence College plays featured yesterday's Holy Cross football squad workout, apt. John J. McEwan, coach, isn't taking anything for granted this year and rates Archie Golembeski's Friars strong enough this year to warrant the team's being scouted. It is the first time the Crusaders have scouted Providence.

While McEwan gave his squad a look at Providence players, using practically every member at one time or other, he also drilled his kickers on tries for points from placememis and field.

The Crusaders will present several new faces in their starting line-up this week-end. Mike Favalli, whose center position has thus far has earned him the favor of starter, is in the college infirmary suffering from tonsillitis and may not be able to start. McEwan plans on starting Tony Morendas, Breakin lad who has displaced Gerald Griffin as second string center. Morandos, lighter than Griffin, is a better passer and has shown a bit better on defensive play.

John Flannagan, Portland, Me., red head, will start at right tackle, replacing Capt. Jim Ryan, who still is confined to St. Vincent Hospital, while Bart Hanus will work at fullback. Don Kelly, starting fullback, will not be allowed to play Saturday. Walter Clifford, second string quarterback who looked pretty good to McEwan against New River last week is still out. Consequently, the Crusader coach started schooling Tim Murray, who plays left halfback, and the Springfield lad may pilot some.

The Crusaders completed their practice for the Providence game with yesterday afternoon's work. McEwan plans a long blackboard drill for today.
FRIARS' PLAYS BOTHER H.C. IN LAST WORKOUT

Crusaders Are Ready to Face Friars' Tricky Attack Tomorrow

REISS WILL START

Favulli, Out With Cold, Expected to Be Ready For Dominicans

Passing and kicking practice, general limbering up and a lesson in Providence College plays constituted the final workout of the Holy Cross Crusaders yesterday as they primed themselves for tomorrow's clash with a strong Providence College eleven at Fitton field.

Captain McEwan is still undecided about his starting lineup, but expects to use very nearly the same outfit that opened the season last week against New River. Charley Reiss, injured in the battle with the West Virginians will be back at his left end position, with Britt on the opposite wing. Buzz Harvey and Red Flanagan will be the starting tackles, Flanagan taking the place of his injured leader, Captain Jim Ryan.

Center Berth a Problem

Zyntel and Moran are slated for guard berths but center is something of a problem. Iron Mike Favulli was not among those present yesterday being out with a cold, but will be ready for service on the morrow. Captain McEwan is undecided whether to start Griffin, Morando or Bruno, but probably will select Bruno as he has made great progress in practice this week.

Rovinski, Murray, Hanus and Jarvis will constitute the starting backfield, but Captain McEwan plans to use several ball carriers during the afternoon. Don Kelly and Clifford, however, are still absent from the squad because of illness and injury.

The Crusaders diagnosed Providence plays fairly well yesterday, but hope to do so more effectively tomorrow in stopping them when put on by the Friars themselves. Providence is expected to favor sweeping runs, passes and trick stuff in an effort to bowl over the Purple, and with Holy Cross preparing a similar attack, plenty of fireworks should be witnessed.

Throughout the week Holy Cross has been drilled in offensive tactics, given new plays and schooled in faster and harder charging. Several plays which were used only occasionally last season were rehearsed until the Crusaders had them down pat. Holy Cross plans to open up a bit more this weekend than against New River and also expects to need more careful defense for the Friars fully intend to shoot the works.

Friars Out to Win

Yesterday's drill was not especially tedious and the Crusaders will rest up today, conserving their physical and nervous energies for what is expected to be a very exciting game tomorrow. The 1932 Golembeskie team is regarded as one of the best in Providence history, and there is bound to be plenty of action running around in Golembeskie's head— he wants to lick Holy Cross. That's an ambition most grid stars have when they graduate and bring a team back to face their alma mater's gridders.

Holy Cross doesn't expect to have a very easy time with the Friars and word comes from Little Rhody promising the Purple that this year's Friar aggregation will give them plenty of trouble Saturday.

Croteau Out of Friars' Lineup

Special to the Telegram
PROVIDENCE, R. I. Sept. 29.—The Providence College football team will enter its game with Holy Cross on Saturday minus the service of "Lefty" Croteau, star halfback, who scored the touchdown which gave the team a 6-6 tie with Rutgers last week.

Croteau, who is the best passer on the squad, injured his shoulder in the opening game. At first it was not expected that the injury would keep the star passer out of the Crusader contest, but it became known last night that he would be unable to play.

This has caused the Friar coaches to change their offensive plans. With Croteau in the lineup, the Crusaders undoubtedly would have faced a concerted aerial attack, but the Dominicans will stage more of a running attack than planned.

Drills on Offense

Much time has been devoted by the mentors to the offensive this week. Against Rutgers, the Friars were woefully weak on the attack and it was only the excellent defensive stands of the players that deprived the Scarlet of victory.

The team held a light drill today and another will be held tomorrow. The first three days of the week were devoted to scrimmage and naturally from now on, only tapering off work will be in order.

Omer Landry will be the starting quarterback. Landry teamed up well with Croteau last week and his work in the opening game was highly satisfactory. Carroll "Red" Gould, who started at quarter against Rutgers, is unlikely to see any action against the Crusaders. He injured his knee at New Brunswick and has been unable to practice.

With the exception of Croteau and Gould, the Friars are in good condition and ready for the battle with the strong Holy Cross eleven.
Friars Face Crusaders Today
Boasting Powerful Team

Providence College Has Seven of Players Who Invaded Worcester Last Year.

Friars Powerful

With seven of the players who started last year's game in its lineup, the Providence College football team will make its eighth annual visit to Fitton Field at Worcester today for a clash with the Holy Cross eleven, to which Capt. John J. McEwan, its coach, has alternately referred as the "bloom of the rose" and a "football rhapsody in purple."

While Capt. McEwan and other Worcester folk may have their own pet names for the Crusaders, the sturdy Dominican eleven, determined to triumph, will enter today's contest with one simple thought regarding Holy Cross—at the sight of another football team. This phrase has been drilled into the minds of the Friars, and it will be carried with them into battle.

Friars Powerful

With what appears as the most powerful team in its history, Providence College is expected to give the Crusaders a real hard battle. Indications point to this game being one of the most keenly contested on the Eastern gridiron front.

Naturally, Holy Cross is favored to win. The odds against a Providence triumph are heavy but there are those who have closely watched the Friars since they began practice taking these odds. They base their hopes on the excellent material, the untimely woe of the players to win and that intuitive feeling that the time has finally come for a Providence victory.

For seven years the Friars have trekked to Worcester with hopes high but only to return to Smith Hill with those hopes crushed. Such consistent failure where victory is dearly wanted has its effects on football players—not all-together pleasant ones—and the Friar troops will invade Fitton Field today determined to fight as hard as they know how to down the Crusaders.

Besides this there is a certain athletic rivalry between Dominican and Jesuit students. The Dominicans have never triumphed in football over the Jesuits, and as Providence College is the only Dominican college in the United States, their only hopes of realizing one of their objectives lies in today's game.

The seven Friar players who started the 1931 contest and who will start today's game are: Oille Roberge and Dromgoole, ends; Capt. Owen Callahan, tackle; Bill Kutniewski, guard; Lou Mathews, centre; Joe Wright and Charlie O'Keefe, halfbacks.

O'Keefe Shifted

O'Keefe played fullback last year but has been shifted to halfback this season to make room for Del Vecchio and strengthen the backfield. The latter is expected to be a valuable defense player. He is exceptionally adept at diagnosing plays of the opposition. It was his excellent blocking of the line that saved the Friars from going down to defeat at the hands of Rutgers last week.

Both teams will enter the game with only one star player on the injured list. The Friars will be without the services of "Lefty" Croteau, best passer on the squad, and the Crusaders will be minus the leadership of Capt. Jim Ryan. Both were hurt in their respective opening games last Saturday. Don Kelly and Charles Clifford are other injured Crusaders but who are expected to see action today.

While Omar Landry is slated to start at quarterback for the Friars, Carroll "Red" Gould, who has recovered from his knee injury, is sure to play today.

Both Landry and Gould ready for fortified in this department. Both are today, Holy Cross will be in for trouble.

Dromgoole and Roberge will be on end for the Friars. Both are rangy and fast. Capt. Callahan and Charlie Bugbee will be at the tackles. Their play against Rutgers was highly pleasing to the coaches. At guard positions will be two firey, aggressive players—Irving Kutanowski and Kutniewski. Dependable Lou Mathews will be at centre. The Friars have a number of capable reserves for duty.

O'Keefe will do the punting for the Friars. He is a veteran in this line of work. He can boot the ball with either foot. O'Keefe, undoubtedly, will give considerable attention to his punts today as in last year's game, the Friars lost their early lead when one of O'Keefe's kicks was blocked and converted into a touchdown.

Starting Backfield

Rovinski, Murray, Hanus and Jarvis will be the starting Holy Cross backfield. Coach McEwan, however, plans to use several ball carriers during the game. The Friars also will do the same as besides Gould, other reserve backs who will get into the game are Ted LeBlanc, Anthony Barbarito and Charlie Kenrick. The latter is a 160 pound linecrushing fullback who is eager to hit the Holy Cross line.

Relais and Britt will be on the ends for Holy Cross. Harvey and Flannagan at the tackles and Zytel and Monan at the guard positions. "Iron Mike" Fawcitt, centre, has been kept from practice with a cold but he is expected to be ready for the Dominicans.

Both teams held light drills yesterday.

Providence College students gave their team some whole hearted backing at a pep-meeting held last night at Hawkins Hall. The entire squad will be taken to Worcester in two busses which will leave the college at 10 o'clock this morning.
HOLY CROSS LEADS FRIARS 26 TO 6

Rovinski Gets Two Touchdowns and Murray Scores on 35-Yard Run.

Fitch Field, Worcester, Oct. 1.—After holding the Crusaders for downs twice in the early part of today’s battle, the Friars weakened in later periods and allowed Holy Cross to pile up a 26-0 lead, climaxing an 85-yard march, Rovinski scoring first for the Purple, and followed by a rapid succession with another tally. Murray took advantage of a fumble by Staniewski, on a pass from Gould, to race 35 yards for the third touchdown.

First Period

Jarvis kicked off for Holy Cross to O’Keefe, who caught the ball on his own three-yard line, and after one rush put back to the Crusaders, who kicked back on the next play, giving the Friars the ball on their own 36-yard line. Jarvis kicked out of bounds on the Friar 30-yard line.

Reiss broke through and threw Barbasito for a 10-yard loss, forcing O’Keefe to kick. He got away a good punt and Holy Cross took the ball on its own 33-yard line. Rovinski fumbled on his own 33-yard line, and Kutniecki recovered for the Friars. O’Keefe threw a pass, but Morandos intercepted to Holy Cross and ran to the Providence 48-yard line. CRUSADERS WHIP FRIARS, 26-6

Crusaders Crush Friars
Eleven in 26-6 Victory

A second period offensive drive made more successful by full capitalization of mistakes by the opposition paved the way for the 26 to 6 victory scored by the Holy Cross football team over the Providence College eleven here today. The Crusaders made three touchdowns in this quarter and this proved to be their margin of triumph.

This defeat marked, the eighth straight time that the Dominicans have fallen at Worcester and the score duplicated that of the 1931 contest. It was the second consecutive triumph of the season for the Crusaders and the first defeat for the Dominicans.

With the exception of the second period, the Friars managed to hold their own with Holy Cross, matching the score made by the latter in the third period with one of their own and holding it scoreless in the first and fourth periods.

It was alert playing by Capt. John McEwan's team that brought it decisive victory. One of its touchdowns in the second period was in the form of a distinct gift by the Dominicans with the Crusaders right in time for the presentation.

Purple Scores on Pass

Standing on his own 20-yard line, Carroll "Red" Gould threw a perfect pass to Eddie Staniewski, Friar end, which the latter caught only to let the ball bounce from his hands into the waiting arms of Martin Murray, Holy Cross halfback, who ran 35 yards for a touchdown. This break enabled the Purple to take a 14-0 lead, and although the Dominicans fought hard throughout the battle, this unexpected score by the Crusaders had a decided effect on the Friar players.

Soon after this, Holy Cross scored its third touchdown of the second period. The Dominicans were still so disorganized by Murray's touchdown that it was easy for Tom O'Connor to throw a pass to Robert Donovan, which was good for 52 yards and a touchdown.

The Crusaders certainly had to work hard for their first touchdown. It came after a sustained march of 85 yards with Anthony Rovinski going over for the score from the two-yard line. Jarvis started the scoring drive by running back O'Keefe's punt from the Holy Cross one-yard line up the 18-yard mark. Rovinski and Bar-Hanus came through with some excellent line plunging to bring about the score.

A short pass, O'Connor to Donovan, followed by a brilliant 31-yard run brought the Crusaders to their fourth and final score in the third period.

A march carried over from the third period gave the Dominicans their only touchdown of the game early in the fourth period. The drive started on Holy Cross' 29-yard line and aided by three short passes, plus a 15-yard penalty inflicted upon the Crusaders for illegal use of hands, the Friars carried the ball to their opponents' one-yard line as the period ended.

O'Keefe Plunges Over

It took four rushes for the Friars to score from the yard line. O'Keefe made the touchdown on a plunge through tackle. Continuing an effective aerial attack in the fourth period, with Gould playing a leading role, the Dominicans again reached Holy Cross' one-yard line, but this time they were unable to push over a score.

Passing an opinion on the entire game, neither team showed much offensive power. At various times, however, both unleashed flashes of strength, but these were not sustained. With only few exceptions there were outstanding plays, that is, from the standpoint of the spectator.

Bearing the costly second period, the Friars played excellent defensive football. They stopped Holy Cross backs before they started on numerous occasions. At times the fast charging Dominican forwards made the Crusader offensive look futile, but as they were caught napping in the second period, all their excellent efforts in the three other periods went for naught.

Rovinski, Holy Cross quarterback, and O'Keefe, Providence College fullback, shared individual honors. Rovinski's line-plunging and passing made him the passing approach that Holy Cross has to Phil O'Connell for the season. Rovinski made yardage consistently throughout the game.

O'Keefe Plays Hard

O'Keefe played his heart out for the Friar cause. He gave his best for victory, but this was denied him. He scored his team's only touchdown, made considerable yardage by rushing the ball and his excellent punting saved his team on many occasions. Every one of O'Keefe's punts was good, and he had a slight advantage over Jarvis, Holy Cross punter. This young man Jarvis, himself, is also an excellent kicker.

Another Friar who stood out was Philip Del Vecchio, like O'Keefe, gave his best. He hit the Holy Cross line for gains a number of times and was a tower of strength on the defensive. He was forced to leave the battle early in the fourth period due to an injury. During the short time he was in the game, Gould also showed to advantage. It was his accurate passing that brought the Providence team its only touchdowns of the game.

The Friars played great defensive football in the first period. Despite the fact that no scoring was done in this session, it produced the most interesting football. It was replete with clean, hard-tackling and good offensive work.

First Opportunity

Three times in the first period the Crusaders were within scoring distance and three times they were repelled by the determined Friars. The Purple presented with its first scoring opportunity after five minutes of play when Morandos, Holy Cross centre, intercepted one of O'Keefe's aerials at midfield. The Crusaders marched to the 13-yard line of the Friars but there the latter put up a stonewall defense.

A few minutes later the Crusaders began another drive from their own 45-yard line to Providence's 41-yard line and again the Friars repelled the threat. Stiff pressing away in enemy territory, Holy Cross advanced to the 17-yard line of the Dominicans near the end of the period but for the third time the latter staged a great defensive stand.
The Providence College grid squad heads northward today to encounter the University of Vermont eleven in one of the most important New England small college tilts of the weekend. Providence has proven its worth on the gridiron this season, coming close to staging an upset when it tied Rutgers 6 to 6 in the season's opening engagement, and last Saturday forcing Captain McEwan's powerful Holy Cross outfit to travel at a fast clip before annexing the decision. As it was, faulty handling of the ball by the Friars, coupled with quick thinking on the part of the Crusaders turned the tide of victory to the Worcester eleven 26 to 6.

Tomorrow, Head Coach Archie Gjemenbecki will start practically the same team that lined up at the previous encounters. No serious injuries resulted from the Crusader clash and the Dominicans will present their full strength against Vermont. The only likely change in the forward wall is at the right flang, where Pete Olligan may replace Franny Dromgoole, basketball star. Both are waging a great battle for the end position, pairing with Ollie Roberts, brilliant all-around athlete who caught for the Friars' championship baseball team last spring.

Assistant Coach Bride may possibly rearrange the backfield before the game tomorrow. O'Keefe, who started at fullback against Holy Cross and who scored a touchdown and three placement goals against Vermont a year ago, is being groomed for a halfback berth, thus allowing Phil DelVecchio, 190 pound veteran ball carrier, to fit into the fullback role. If this move is executed Barbarito, New Haven speedster, who holds the Yale interscholastic 220 yard dash mark, will be on the bench as a relief man.

Joe Wright will be posted at his usual right halfback berth.

The quarterback position is a toss-up between Red Gould and Omer Landry as both of them are experienced in signal calling and have demonstrated their strategic ability on the gridiron. Landry started the Holy Cross game but gave way to Gould for part of the second and third periods. The same arrangement may be worked out this Saturday.

The line should be very strong, and it will require some deceptive work on the part of the Vermont ball carriers to elude the powerful Dominican forward wall. On the other hand, Vermont also boasts a very strong line and will undoubtedly stop the Providence backs. Captain Owen Callahan, tackle, heads the inner defense which includes such stalwarts as Charlie Burdge, the six foot four inch, 215 pound giant, Dick Burns of Warwick, George Boyle of Passaic and Ivar Owren of Auburn, all of who scale 190 pounds. Katznelson and Kutniewski, running guards who have attained some reputation at leading intercolleges, and Jack Schaal, 185 pound center, round out the Providence first string line.
It was a wild afternoon in Vermont.
Vermont won the toss and elected to receive. O'Keefe got away a fine kick and Saba, Vermont star signal caller, carried back to his own 28-yard line. Unable to penetrate the Friar line, Beckley punted to Landry, who was downed on the Providence 45-yard tape. After three thrusts at the Green Mountaineers forward wall, the visitors returned the kick, with O'Keefe sending Saba well into his own territory to retrieve the punt.

A pass over the Friar line was good for 10 yards, but on the next play, Bedell fumbled in the backfield, and Dex Davis picked up the ball, on the Vermont 33-yard line. The Friar offense immediately got under way and wasted no time in reaching the Vermont goal.

22-Yard Gain

Landry swept through right tackle behind a quartet of stout interferers, raced into the clear and was on his way to a score when he was hauled down by Saba on the Vermont 11-yard tape after a 22-yard gain. Wright picked up two yards at left tackle, and then O'Keefe, with the Providence line opening a wide hole in the right side of the line for him, raced through to score standing. O'Keefe tried a place kick for the point, but his boot was wide of the mark.

Vermont called for the kick off again and Saba made a fine run back from the goal line to his own 26-yard stripe. On the first play, Saba shot a pass down the right side of the line and the ball was intercepted by Jones and returned 110 yards for a touchdown. Once again Landry went away behind a cloud of interferers, racing to top speed off right tackle and outrunning the secondary only to be driven out of bounds on the 11-yard line by Saba.

Vermont, over anxious to halt the Friar runners, was offside on the next play, and the ball was moved to the local's six-yard line. On a spin, O'Keefe sent his right guard and plunged the goal line for his second score of the game. His placement this time for the extra point was true, and Providence went into a 13-0 lead.

With the start of the second period Coach Golombeski gave some of his reserve backfielders a chance to draw action, sending Landry at quarter and took over Landry's unit and replaced him back to back, 20-yard marker by Beckley's punt.

Healey opened the second half by making a brilliant 30-yard runback of the kickoff, carrying to his own 40-yard line before being downed. A Vermont offside, a seven-yard plunge to Belvecchio and an eight-yard off tackle contributed by Healey carried the ball well into Vermont territory. However,

A penalty for clipping on Vermont on O'Keefe's punt in the final minute of play gave Providence a first down on the locals' 29-yard line. Then in an effort to collect another score O'Keefe shot a long pass to Barbarito who took the ball on the run and carried to the Vermont 10-yard line before being forced out of bounds. The attack ended here when the final whistle called an end to the activities.

An Act of Providence Ruined B. U.’s Hopes for Success

Paterno, Boston University fullback, is getting Charley Rennick of the Providence College eleven from behind after Rennick had crashed through the Terrier inner works in the first period of yesterday’s contest at Nickerson Field, Riverside, which the Friars won, 25-6.
Providence Hands B. U. First Defeat
Dashes by O’Keefe, Barbarito and Landry Upset Terriers—Friars Display Adamant Line

Weston, Mass., Oct. 15.—A strong Providence College football team was a favorite over Boston University this afternoon at Nickerson Field, Riverside. The Dominican nine went a victory over Vermont, a tie with Rutgers, and a hard-fought loss to Holy Cross. B. U. has beaten New Hampshire and Rhode Island State.

Providence had its team at full strength but started two substitutes, while Boston University had one regular from the line-up, George Guyette, a halfback, who twisted his knee last week in the Rhode Island game. To replace Guyette, B. U. ’s new coaches, Myles Lane, John McGann and “Tony” Colucci, shifted U. of A. regular full back to half back, and John Paterno, a star of the University of Alabama Freshmen, two years ago, was inserted at fullback.

Providence started Burns for Capt. Owen Callahan while Landry at quarterback was replaced by Gould. B. U. ’s varsity team has been drilling against the forward pass all week and the chargers were instructed today to watch Croteau, star left-handed passer of the visitors.

FIRST PERIOD

Providence opened strongly, playing in Boston University’s territory the major portion of the first quarter. A fine punt by Call, B. U. tackle, brought the home team out of danger. Laguerne allowed O’Keefe’s kick to roll his own 12-yard line. Call’s kick was caught by Gould at his own 47-yard mark, and from this point, the visitors started a threatening march. A forward pass, Gould to Davis, gave Providence a first down on Boston University’s 22-yard line. Rennick added four to the 28. On a fine spinner play, O’Keefe reached the local’s 15-yard line, but at this spot, the locals held well, and the ball was won by B. U. on the home team’s 13-yard line.

Another march by Providence followed a few minutes later as the Friars started from mid-field. Wright and Rennick between them picked up a first down on the B. U. 37-yard line and it seemed the Golenbeks’ aggregation was off. At the home team’s 23-yard line, however, B. U. held well and captured the ball on down. The threat was the final of the period for Providence.

Score at end of first period:
Providence College 6
Boston University 0.

SECOND PERIOD

Boston University opened a brilliant attack to start the second period. Laguerne ran back Gould’s punt from his own 30 to Providence’s 37-yard line and for the first time in the game the Friars were at a disadvantage. A forward pass, Clem to Ulman, advanced the ball to the visitors’ 22-yard line, but there the Dominicans held strongly and B. U. was compelled to punt.

Providence obtained an advantage later in the period when a 15-yard penalty was placed on B. U. for unnecessary roughness. The ball was now on Providence’s 43-yard line with a first down in their favor.

Landry and DelVECCHIO were sent in the Providence backfield. On the first play, Delvecchio fumbled and recovered and then Landry gained five yards. Landry hit B. U.’s left side of the line and made a first down on the Boston team’s 42-yard line.

Landry carried the ball on each of three tries and gained eight yards. With a fourth down and two yards to go on Boston’s 35-yard line, O’Keefe tried to make the distance, but was set back and the home team took the ball on downs.

A beautiful left-foot punt by O’Keefe saved his side from a loss when a poor pass went rolling into Providence territory. A few minutes later, when Call returned the punt, Landry, Providence quarterback caught the kick on his own 32-yard line, and, aided by fine interference, ran through the entire Boston University eleven for a touchdown.

The run: the B. U. eleven mapping as the former Strapel star athletes dashed in and around the Terrier players for the score. O’Keefe failed to score the extra point, the kick falling short of the bare.

Score:
Providence College 6
Boston University 0.

A few minutes later, Providence made another touchdown when a Boston University forward pass, thrown by Laguerne was intercepted by Kerr, and Owen, substitute Providence tackle, caught the ball and ran 37 yards for a score. O’Keefe failed to score the extra point. No B. U. layer was near Owren as he made his tally.
PROV. C-B. U.

Score at end of second period:
Providence College 12
Boston University 6

THIRD PERIOD
Gould, Healey, Delvecchio and O'Keefe comprised the Providence College backfield which started the second half.

O'Keefe ran back Call's fine punt 23 yards from his own 32-yard line to B. U.'s 45-yard line.

A forward pass, Gould to Healey, gave the Friars a first down on B. U.'s 35-yard line, and again it seemed the visitors were off for a score. After two tries, a forward pass thrown by Gould was intercepted by Nemzoff, and the threat was stopped.

Charlie O'Keefe, Providence halfback, got loose half way in the third quarter and traveling from his own 44-yard line to the B. U. 15-yard mark penetrated the center of the B. U. line behind fine interference and then brought his side in a position to run other tally after an offside penalty. Gould forward passed to Roberge for a first down to the B. U. five-yard line. After three tries to pierce the B. U. line, Gould rallied the third Dominican touchdown. O'Keefe kicked the extra point.

Score:
Providence College 19
Boston University 6

B. U. started a strong march and reached Providence's 21-yard line. One forward pass was given to B. U., although incompeleted. The referee ruled interference, and when another was good for 40 yards, the ball was on Providence's 35-yard line. A 15-yard penalty for unnecessary roughness took the ball to the 21-yard line as the third quarter ended.

Score at end of third period:
Providence College 19
Boston University 6

FOURTH QUARTER
Providence College inserted an almost regular eleven to stave a possible Boston score. A forward pass LeGuern to Clem, brought the ball to the Providence nine-yard line and another aerial, Ulman to Harrington, brought the score. Harrington, a guard, played end of the play.

Score: Providence College 19, Boston University 6.

GALLOPS 70 YARDS FOR SCORE

Omer Landry, Providence College back, who put team in lead over Boston University in second period by spectacular runback of punt. Landry fumbled on his 30-yard line, then recovered and sprinted all the way to the Terriers' goal.
Nickerson Field, Weston, Mass., Oct. 15.—A superb 70-yard run for a touchdown by Quarterback Omer Landry and a 37-yard scoring run by Owren, right tackle, gave Providence College a 12-0 lead over Boston University as the half ended. Seven more points, making the tally 19-0, were added in the third period when O'Keefe plunged over the line for the third touchdown and place kicked the point.

Landry's score was made after he had muffed a punt from Call and scooped up the ball on his own 30-yard line and eluded a swarm of would-be tacklers as he got under way down the field.

The second touchdown came when Kutniewski, Friar left guard, broke through to block a pass by Leguern and Owren caught the ball and got clear for the score.

FIRST PERIOD
Capt. Clem of Boston University kicked off to Rennick, who caught the ball on his own 15-yard line and ran it back 10 yards. On the first play, O'Keefe punted to B. U.'s 20-yard line.

The Terriers lost five yards for offside and were forced to kick. Gould was stopped on B. U.'s 40-yard line. After losing five yards on a penalty, Gould threw a pass to Davis, who was down on Boston's 30-yard line.

O'Keefe, on a spinner, made first down on B. U.'s 20-yard line. Wright and Rennick failed to gain on two plunges through the line. Gould attempted a pass, but it failed. Gould shot a pass to O'Keefe, but this was not good enough for a first down, and B. U. took the ball on its 15-yard line.

The Terriers were unable to gain in three plunges on the line, and Call punted to Gould, who advanced to Boston's 48-yard line. Gould tried another pass and then was forced to kick. It went over the goal line to give Boston first down on its 20-yard line.

Capt. Clem made 11 yards around his own right end. Two other line plunges failed to gain, and Call punted to Gould, who ran it from his own 35-yard line to midfield. Wright circled left end for a yard. Rennick made first down on B. U.'s 40-yard line. Rennick made six yards through center, but here the Terriers held. Gould punted outside on Boston's five-yard line.

Call punted to Gould, who was down in his tracks on Boston's 31-yard line. Gould made a yard through guard. A Friar pass failed. O'Keefe threw a pass to Wright, but it was not enough for a first down, and the Terriers took the ball on their own 25-yard mark.

Call made a long punt to send the Friars back to their own 31-yard line. The period ended with Providence in possession of the ball on its 33-yard line.

SECOND PERIOD
O'Keefe punted to Leguern, who caught the ball on his 30-yard line and made a brilliant run to Providence's 43-yard line. He was heading for a touchdown until Gould knocked him outside on the 43-yard line. Ulman made first down on Providence's 32-yard line. Boston was unable to gain and Call punted and Lucey down the ball on Providence's one-yard line.

O'Keefe punted to Leguern, who knocked the ball outside on Boston's 48-yard line. Boston punted to Landry, who ran outside to Providence's 23-yard line. Landry made six yards. Boston was penalized 15 yards, bringing Providence to its own 45-yard line.

Paterno, Boston's star fullback, was injured when Landry made a yard around end.

Landry made a first down on his own 43-yard line after a 12-yard run. Landry made six more yards. On the next play Providence lost the ball on its own 25-yard line. Ulman made 4 yards through the line. Call punted to DelVecchio, who ran outside on Providence's 45-yard line. O'Keefe punted to Boston's 29-yard line.

Omer Landry took Call's punt on his own 45-yard line and ran 70 yards for a touchdown. It was a remarkable effort by Landry, who muffed the punt, then by Owren, who got it up and got away from a swarm picked it up and got away from a swarm of would-be Boston tacklers: O'Keefe of the Terriers had six yards through center, but here the Terriers held. Gould punted outside on Boston's five-yard line.

Run Feature of First Half.—Both Teams Battle Desperately for Advantage.

Game played: October 15, 1932
O'Keefe kicked to Tulis, who was downed on his own 20-yard line. Leguern punted to Landry, who made a 10-yard run to Boston's 41-yard mark. Storer intercepted a Providence pass on Boston's 18-yard line. A run by Leguern and a 16-yard penalty brought the Terriers to their own 35-yard line. A pass, Tulis to Harris, advanced Boston to Providence's 43-yard line.

Leguern attempted a pass, but Kutniewski, Providence guard, broke through to block the hurl, and Owren caught the ball and ran 37 yards for a touchdown. O'Keefe again failed to place the kick and the half ended with the score.

Providence 12, Boston 0.

THIRD PERIOD

Clem kicked off to Roberge, who carried to his own 40-yard line. Gould made four yards through tackle. Gould kicked to Leguern, who was stopped by Gilligan on Providence's 22-yard line.

Call kicked to Gould, who advanced to mid-field, a pass Gould to Healey, made 10 yards. Healey replaced Barbarito at halfback for Providence. Nemzoff intercepted one of Gould's passes on Providence's 25-yard line. Clem made seven yards through the line, but Nemzoff was unable to gain, and Call punted to Gould, who ran 15 yards to his own 45-yard line.

O'Keefe punted over Boston's goal line and the Terriers started from their 20-yard mark. Call kicked to DeVecchio, who was downed in his tracks on the Friar 42-yard line. O'Keefe made a 43-yard run through his own left tackle to Boston's 15-yard mark. Providence was penalized five yards for off side.

Healey lost 3 yards on an attempted thrust through tackle. O'Keefe threw an 18-yard pass to Roberge, giving the Friars first down on Boston's five yard line. DeVecchio made four yards through the line. DeVecchio failed on his second rush. Harrington made the tackle. Healey lost two yards, but O'Keefe made four yards for Providence's third touchdown on a "spinme" play. O'Keefe place kicked the point, and the score was: Providence 19, Boston 0.
RIARS CRUSH TERRIERS 25-6

Long Runs by O'Keefe, Barbarito and Landry Enable Providence to Smash B. U. Slate

Fighting with their backs to the wall almost throughout the contest, Coach Myles Lane's plucky little squad of Boston University football men went down to defeat before a heavier, stronger and larger Providence College outfit, yesterday afternoon, at Nickerson Field, Riverside, by a 25 to 6 score. The Terriers, in dropping their first battle of the season, were more glorious in defeat than they were in victory in the past two games, and the Friars won only by virtue of two long runs of 63 and 70 yards and a blocked pass converted into a touchdown from the Scarlet and White 40-yard marker.

TERRIERS OUTWEIGHTED

In spite of the fact that Lane's men were outweighed nearly 10 pounds to the man, the gallant Terriers made eight first downs to their opponents' nine, and uncorked a passing attack in the final canto which ended in a touchdown with the second team backfield in action.

This ball game was no disgrace to B. U. Providence came up with a couple of fine punters in Charley O'Keefe and Red Gould, and one of the greatest blocking lines ever seen at Nickerson Field. Coach Archie Golembeski's men gave an exhibition in the gentle art of clearing away which would have done credit to Notre Dame, and three of their four touchdowns came as a result of this line projection given the ball.

These Friars had two speed merchants in Omer Landry and Anthony Barbarito, whose fleetness of foot was largely responsible for their team's first victory over a B. U. club since the rivals began to meet 10 years ago. Barbarito ripped through for gains of 50 and 20 yards consistently, and he made yardage purely because of his great speed.

Three of the Providence scores came by virtue of long, sensational gallops down the field, and the Friars registered at the times they needed it most. They scored only one touchdown with the help of straight, orthodox football, while the others came when they were least expected.

After keeping the ball in Terrier territory during the entire first quarter, the Friars suddenly found themselves in danger early in the second session when Gus LeGuern, whose running back of kicks and general all-round efficiency kept B. U. in the ball game, ran back an O'Keefe punt 21 yards from his own 20-yard line. The Terriers could not gain through the busy Friar line, and after three plays LeGuern punted and Larry Lucey downed the pellet squarely on the Providence goal line. An exchange of kicks and some great line-plunging by Landry pushed the Terriers back to their own side of the field, and late in the period Horrie Call punted from his own 20-yard line to Landry, standing on the Providence 30-yard stripe.

First Break of Game

Here came the first break of the contest. The Friars' secondary forces and men of the line started its little blocking act, and Mr. Landry lumbered and scampered his way the entire 70 yards for the first score of the game. O'Keefe missed the try for the point and Providence led, 6-0.

An attempt on the part of the Terriers to uncork an aerial attack unwittingly cost them another touchdown in the dying minutes of the second interval. Johnny Tulis and LeGuern started heaving the pellet, and just as the boys began to get places, they got the short end of another unexpected break. The Scarlet and White quarterback failed to pass from his own 30-yard line, and Bill Kuthewalsh, the Friars' right guard, batted the pigskin high in the air. It fell into the arms of Ear Queary, the other guard, who ran 60 yards unmolested for a touchdown, with O'Keefe again missing the try for the odd point.

Providence counted its only really earned touchdown half way through the third period. Starting on its own 41-yard line, the team engineered a steady march down the field which culminated in the third Friar score of the day. In the first Friar score of the day, there was little line-breaking. The Terriers took to the Air for most of the visitors took to the Air for most of the Late in the session the Terriers finally got going. A John Ulman to Carl Cleen pass landed the ball on the Scarlet and White 25-yard marker when a Providence back interfered with the receiver. Ulman faked back once more and heaved a flat one to Ferri Semino, who scammed 23 yards to the Providence 25 before he was downed. The Friars then took a 15-yard penalty for tripping and Lane's men were in scoring position.

Friar Line Adamant

Line plays did no good, for the Terriers hammered at the Friar line five times in the next few minutes without success. After the first three, Leitham threw a short pass to Clem for a first down on the 10-yard mark, after which the Terriers hit the line twice more without picking up an inch. Finally, Ulman tossed to Johnny Murphy for five yards, following this with a short throw to Dan Harrington, Terrier guard, made an eligible receiver by taking his place on the right end, who stepped over for the touchdown.

Two plays later, Barbarito electrified the crowd with the most brilliant dash of the day. Starting from his own 35-yard line, this flashy gentleman galloped all the way through a score with nearly a H. U. yard touching 1pm. He had great protection from his mates, and after he got into the clear he had little trouble outdistancing the Terrier secondary forces for the final touchdown of the day.

Providence's Mr. Landry Shows B. U. a Few Practice Steps Prior to His 70-Yard Run

A Cutback Off Right Tackle Gains 10 Yards to B. U.'s 43-Yard Line in the Second Period at Nickerson Field as the Terriers Lost Their First Game of the Season

Providence's shifty and elusive backs continually harassed the B. U. secondary Saturday. The assistance they received from their teammates often shook them loose, and once past the line of scrimmage they were hard to stop.

Here Omer Landry, who had just replaced Carroll Gould at quarterback for the Dominicans, is giving the Terriers a taste of what they were to receive later. Landry went off his right tackle and cut back beautifully and is almost out in the clear. The entire B. U. backfield and Herbert Semino (18), B. U., right end, are striving to catch the fleet-footed Dominican back, but only Captain Carl Clem (1) had a chance. The B. U. captain pulled him down on the B. U. 43-yard line after a 10-yard gain.

On the play just prior to this, the Terriers lost the services of John Paterno, whose backing of the line had helped to hold the Dominicans in check. Nine plays later this same Mr. Landry caught Horace Call's punt, fumbled, recovered and then covered 70 yards to score Providence's first touchdown of the game.

Rickerson Field, Weston, Mass.—Inspired by Omer Landry, diminutive quarterback, who supplied the necessary punch to its attack, the Providence College football team defeated the Boston University eleven 25 to 6 here today in a well-played game. This was the first defeat of the season for the Terriers and the first that the Friars have scored over them in their four-game series.

Ulman found three yards through the center of the line. His attempted forward on the next play was grounded. LeGuern went back to throw the next pass. As he faded back he found four Providence stalwarts bearing down on him. Off to his right, near the line of scrimmage, was Capt. Carl Clem. Gus flipped the ball in that direction as he was borne to the ground. Clem took the short heave and twisted his way to a first down on the Friar seven-yard stripe.

Ulman was sent through the line again, but met a stone wall. Johnny then flipped a pass to Johnny Murphy for a four-yard gain. Two more bucks at the line failed. With four down and goal to go—three yards away—Harrington changed positions with Herb Semino. Ulman faded back, this time with just the proper amount of interference. He spotted Harrington and threw. Dan, with one knee on the ground, behind the goal line, took the low toss and B. U. had scored.

The first Providence touchdown, late in the second quarter, came after a bad pass in the Friar backfield had put them in danger. The play was to have been a lateral from Landry to O'Keefe, but Landry slipped as he made the toss and the ball bobbed back 10 yards from midfield with O'Keefe taking it in on the bounce just in time. Hemmed in by Terriers, he booted the ball with his left foot. The kick cleared the crowd and travelled to the Boston 30-yard marker.

Boston kicked on first down and Call's deep punt was good for 30. While it was taken on the run by Landry, who weaved and pivoted his way through 70 yards of broken field to the last white line.

The Barbarito 63-yard sprint for the final score came on the first play after Boston had kicked off to Providence, following the Terrier touchdown early in the last period. Barbarito found a hole in the left side of the Boston line, inside the end, and simply outran the B. U. secondary by cutting diagonally across the field and hot-footed it the rest of the distance, about five yards in from the side line. Dan Harrington, right guard, playing nearly the whole game without substitution, made tackle after tackle, outraced his ends under punts to stop other long runs by the Friars and finally sneaked out on right end, stepped over the Providence goal line and took Johnny Ulman's flat pass for the only Boston score. Before he was forced out with a broken knee cartilage, John Paterno backed up the line manfully.

Friars Score 14-0 Triumph Over St. Lawrence Eleven

O'Keefe Outstanding Performer for Dominicans.—Scarlets Lack Offensive.

(Special to the Providence Journal.)
Canton, N. Y., Oct. 22.—A stronger and more alert Providence College eleven upset the aggressive St. Lawrence University team in a hard fought tussle on Week's Field here this afternoon, the Friars from Rhode Island flashing a fine running attack to score once in the second period and a passing attack to tally in the fourth to assure a 14 to 0 victory.

Early in the second period O'Keefe started the Friars on their way to a score when he intercepted a pass near midfield and then headed a sustained march, which was only ended when Landry crossed the goal line. In the fourth period Bill Kutniewski, alert Friar guard, retrieved a St. Lawrence fumble on the 10-yard line, and a pass from Gould to Barbarito accounted for the second touchdown. O'Keefe place kicked the point after each score.

Charlie O'Keefe, Providence halfback, was the outstanding performer on the field. The big Fall River ball carrier raised havoc with the Larrabees all afternoon, doing most of the punting for the Friars, turning in some splendid long jaunts off the tackles, and backing up the line in sparkling manner. In the line, Kutniewski and Katznelson, rugged guards, who played the entire game were the Dominicans' best defensive backs.

Friars Are Superior

Providence was superior to the locals in every department, but in gaining their third straight win the Friars failed to flash the offensive power that they uncovered in the Boston University tilt a week ago. Time and again the visitors had opportunities to fling their backs through for possible scores, but seemed unable to develop the power needed to perform the work.

The St. Lawrence line, playing its best game of the year, halted many a thrust and twice held for downs deep in their own territory. Both teams resorted mostly to running plays, with the locals opening up their aerial offence late in the game in an effort to overcome the Friars’ long lead.

Providence was on the defence for the greater part of the first period. Forced to kick against a strong wind which swept over the open field and shortened all kicking attempts, the Friars had to confine their play to running attacks throughout the 15 minutes. Landry took the opening kick off back to his own 20-yard line and after two line plays O'Keefe started his punting duel with Brown, fine all around performer of the locals.

Landry brought the crowd to its feet midway through the period when he swept off right tackle for 14 yards, being hauled down by Brown, Larrabees' safety man, just as the little Friar signal man, put as the little Friar signal man, put as the Friars were gaining yardage and O'Keefe punted out of bounds on the Scarlet's 20-yard line. Brown upset the Providence secondary by getting away a long rolling punt on the first down, and when Landry finally gathered in the ball it was on his own 15-yard line where he was downed in his tracks.

An exchange of kicks gave the locals possession at midfield, and on the next play Degiramino went off left tackle on a reverse for a 15-yard gain. Two successive offside penalties brought the ball to the Providence 25-yard tape. Here the Dominican forward wall took a determined stand, holding for downs with O'Keefe stopping Degiramino at the line of scrimmage on the fourth attempt.

Shortly after the second period got under way, O'Keefe picked up the picture when he snapped down a flat forward from Brown and intended for Captain Grayson of the locals, and carried the ball to the St. Lawrence 45-yard line. Then with O'Keefe at the spear line, the Friars showed their best offence of the afternoon, marching the intervening 45 yards for a score.

Game played: October 22, 1932
March to Score

In this attack Delvecchio slid through left guard, eluded Becker, locals' fullback, and charged ahead 15 yards before being stopped on the Larries' 21-yard line. O'Keefe hit the line twice for a total of but three yards, and then went off right tackle behind strong interference and carried 11 yards for another first down. O'Keefe picked a yard at centre, and Landry eased his way through left tackle four yards to plant the ball on the St. Lawrence nine-yard line.

With the crowd in an uproar, Landry went through left tackle behind a four-man interference, cut to open territory at his left and outran Hemmings, St. Lawrence right halfback, who made a desperate effort to halt the fleet Friar signal caller. Landry crossed the goal line standing to register the first score of the game. O'Keefe's place kick found its mark and the Friars were away to a 7 to 0 lead.

At the start of the second half, Backfield Coach June Bride made three changes in his ball carrying corps, sending Rennick, Barbarito and Gould into action. Even these fleet backs found the going rough and were unable to do any great damage to the fighting Larries' line. O'Keefe got away for 22 yards before being hailed to ground by the local's safety man and Barbarito picked nine yards on the next play on a dash off right end, but here the attack faltered, and St. Lawrence frustrated three smashes at the line to take possession on their own 21-yard tape.

Friars Penalized

Taking the ball on their own 39-yard line soon after the start of the final period, the Friars launched a strong advance which was apparently headed for a touchdown until a holding penalty intervened. In this attack Delvecchio and Barbarito made a first down at midfield on three line smashes, and then Gould tossed a pass to Roberge which was good for 15 yards. Here the holding penalty was imposed on the Dominicans, and Gould punted out of bounds on the Larries' 10-yard tape.

Hemming returned the kick immediately and Gould ran back 10 yards to the Scarlet's 40-yard line. Unable to gain through the line, Gould again punted out of bounds, this time at the locals' 12-yard stripe.

In the next play Hemming fumbled in plunging through centre and Kutiewsk recovered for Providence on the 12-yard tape. Barbarito ran the ends twice, but gained only four yards. A stalling penalty pushed the Friars back five yards. Then, Gould faded back and raced at top speed toward the sideline on his right. Barbarito crossed through the back field and running parallel with Gould was in position to make a pretty running catch of a flat pass behind the goal line for the second Providence touchdown. O'Keefe collected the extra point by place kicking.

St. Lawrence filled the air with aerials in the final minutes of play, but an alert Providence secondary prevented any sizable gains as the result of such an attack. With but two minutes to play O'Keefe recovered a fumble in midfield, and Healy made 11 yards in two tries and Gould galloped off left end for 12 yards, carrying the ball to the St. Lawrence 22-yard stripe as the final whistle sounded.

FRIAR JAYVEES LOSE TO DEAN ACADEMY

Franklin, Mass., Oct. 22.—The Dean Academy football team defeated the Providence College Junior 'Varsity eleven 60 to 0 here Bobbie Mudge, former Westerly high all-round athlete, was a main factor in Dean's triumph.

The Dean eleven scored in the first, second and fourth periods. The Friar Jayvees failed to show any offensive strength and play was mostly in their territory.

Dean scored shortly after the opening kickoff when Gates took the ball on his 10-yard line and ran 25 yards to Providence's five-yard mark. Within three plays, Gates scored the first touchdown.

The Friars were deep in their own territory midway in the second period and Shanahan was forced to punt from his goal line to the 25-yard line. Mudge made a first down on the 18-yard mark and the march continued until Spath went over on a short line plunge.

An aerial, Spath to Horn, after Mudge made a brilliant runback of a punt, brought Dean its third score in the fourth period. The pass was good for 30 yards, Horn catching the ball on Providence's 20-yard line and running the remaining distance for a score.

Noon and Sloane were the outstanding players for the Friar.
Raymond "Lefty" Croteau, Providence College halfback, who returned to the lineup in the Springfield game last Saturday, after being on the injured list since the opening game with Rutgers. Croteau turned in an excellent performance against the Maroons. He excels at carrying the ball, passing and punting. The Friars play C. C. N. Y. here Saturday at Hendrickson Field.
Three Western Mass. Boys
Playing with Providence

Capt. Callahan of Pittsfield, Bill Lawler of This City and Eddie Stanisiewski of Amherst Here with Friars Saturday.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 25—Boasting a tie game with Rutgers and defeated only by Holy Cross in five starts this season, the Providence College Friars today began preparation for their game with Springfield College at Springfield Saturday.

Three Western Mass Boys.

When the Friars invade the City of Homes they will bring with them three boys from Western Massachusetts, Bill Lawler of Springfield, Eddie Stanisiewski of Amherst and Capt. Owen Callahan of Pittsfield.

Providence deadlocked Rutgers, 6 to 6, in its opening game of the season, bowed to Holy Cross, 26 to 6 and then in succession defeated Vermont, 13 to 0; Boston University 25 to 6, and St. Lawrence 14 to 0. Coach Archie Goldenski, former Holy Cross grid star and a wrestler of note, realizes that Springfield is stronger than any of the last three foes and is bending every effort to build together a formidable club.

Bill Lawler, tackle, weighs 190 pounds. He formerly starred for Technical High School in his home city and has a host of admirers who have been following his playing this season.

Stanisiewski is well known to Western Massachusetts interscholastic sports followers. He led Western Massachusetts schoolboy basketball performers in scoring during practically all of the 1930 and 1931 seasons while with St. Michael's High School in Northampton. He is a brother of Leon Stanisiewski, former Massachusetts State College basketball captain. Stanisiewski weights 175 pounds and is particularly adept at snaring forward passes.

Callahan has been a Providence mainstay for three years. He is a tackle and weighs 191 pounds. Previous to enrolling at Providence, Callahan starred with St. Joseph's High School of Pittsfield and was declared one of the outstanding linemen in Berkshire County.

Oliver (Ollie) Roherge, a big 190-pound end from Bristol, Conn., is one of the most versatile athletes in New England, if not the East. He serves as regular left end on the eleven, sub-center and guard in Basketball, and is catcher for the varsity baseball team which won the Eastern college title for Providence last spring. He is a natural athlete, big, fast and smart.

Anthony Barbarito, junior classman from New Haven, probably holds the distinction of being one of the fastest runners in New England college football ranks. Barbarito is still holder of the Yale Interscholastic 220-yard sprint record, a mark he set up four years ago. He came into the limelight with his brilliant broken field running last fall, and is being used as a member of the "spring" backfield this campaign, the quartet of ball carriers who are rushed into action when a fast offense is needed.

Francis Dromgoole, big right end, who was injured slightly in the Cross game, is a pass receiver of better than ordinary ability. The reason is due in no small measure to the fact that he is a varsity veteran of Providence's crack basketball team which has been a standout in the New England ranks the last two years.

Charles Burdge, right tackle for Providence, is one of those rare cases of a football player being made "overnight." Burdge never played football until he entered college. In his sophomore year he competed for the team, went into the Holy Cross game as a sub and in the heat of battle found himself and proceeded therewith to rip the Crusaders backfield to shreds. He stands six feet four inches and weighs 215. He has started every game since his memorable debut against Holy Cross.

FRIARS IN O-O TIE WITH SPRINGFIELD

Dominicans Fail to Tally in Final After Reaching Maroon One-Yard Line.

Pratt Field, Springfield, Mass., Oct. 29—A brilliant defensive stand on its one-yard line in the final period which repelled a determined scoring bid of the opposition enabled the Springfield College football team to hold the Providence College eleven to a scoreless tie in a game replete with thrills here today.

After failing to utilize four scoring opportunities during the first half, the Friars staged a powerful offensive drive early in the fourth period which carried them from their own 25-yard line to within a yard of the Springfield goal, but the attack petered out before the wild charges of an inspired Maroon line.

As it was, the Dominicans needed only six inches of ground to make a first down on Springfield’s one-half-yard line, but “Red” Gould failed to make the necessary distance by the narrowest of margins and this brought an end to their 74-yard march. This was the last scoring opportunity for the Friars who had their adversaries on the defensive through three-quarters of the battle.

Maroons Reach Peak

A stonewall defense by the Dominicans stopped every offensive thrust during the first and second periods, but in the third quarter, the Maroons reached the peak of their attack, bewildering Providence players with a series of deceptive reverse plays which almost won them the battle. They marched 78 yards from their own 16-yard line to six yards from the Providence goal, but here their drive faded as suddenly as it had started. The Friars threw back four thrusts at their line while under the shadow of their goal posts. It was Capt. Bobby Brown of Springfield who led his team’s drive. He made two scintillating runs in succession. The first for 17 yards and the second for 22 yards, to carry the Maroons from deep in their own territory to within striking distance of the Providence goal.

Springfield had another scoring chance in the third period. Reaching Providence’s 30-yard line, the bid for a touchdown was halted when Del Vieche intercepted one of Brown’s aerials on the Friars’ 20-yard mark.

These were the only two chances Springfield had to score. Otherwise the play was all Providence. During the first half, the Maroons were unable to get by midfield and in the fourth period they advanced to Providence’s 40-yard line but this latter drive was not sustained.

Lack Final Punch

Absence of a final punch cost the Friars victory. Fumbles at critical times proved costly. An extended march from the first period into the second found Providence going from Springfield’s 48-yard line to the latter’s seven-yard mark, but this point Anthony Barbaric spoiled a probable Dominican score when he fumbled. Gould also made a costly fumble in the fourth period.

After making its excellent defensive stand on its yard line, Springfield punted from behind its goal line. Brown’s kick went to Gould, who caught the ball on Springfield’s 40-yard line, but just as he started to run he fumbled the ball and Wells, alert Springfield end, recovered. The fumble enabled Springfield to take the ball and keep the play in Providence territory during the remainder of the game.

Chances for Touchdowns

In the first period Providence had two chances for touchdowns. The first came when Bill Kutniewski, excellent Friar guard, recovered a Springfield fumble on the latter’s 27-yard line. Hughes, Maroon quarterback, dropped the ball on one of O’Keefe’s punts when he was a victim of ferocious tackle by Capt. Callahan of the Friars, who came speeding down under the punt to stop Hughes in his tracks. Callahan tackled Hughes so hard that the latter dropped the ball and reliable Kutniewski recovered, but the Providence attack was not equal to the occasion and its initial attempt to score failed before the Maroon forwards, who did not allow an inch of ground. Soon after, the Dominicans started a drive from their 15-yard line to Springfield’s 33, but again a final punch was lacking. The Friars were aided by a 15-yard penalty in this 52-yard march. Joe Wright contributed a 25-yard run around his own left end, but this was all wasted when their offence came to a standstill on the Maroon 33-yard line.

Play Hard and Clean

In the second period the Friars marched 26 yards from their own 42-yard mark to Springfield’s 24-yard line, but again when it came to do big things, something went wrong. All in all, Providence had five scoring chances and Springfield two. With the exception of lack of final scoring punch to supplement the spasmodic offensive drives of each team, the game provided every element necessary to a well-played contest. There were fairly long runs by individual players. Thrilling defensive stands, excellent punting and the play was hard and clean.

Game played: October 29, 1932

Charlie O'Keefe, halfback for Providence, gave a great exhibition of punting, he got off at least three kicks that were good for 60 yards. However, O'Keefe's brilliant kicks were nullified throughout the game by the slowness of Providence ends. The Springfield safety man had plenty of time to make his catch and get a good start before the Friar wings were around him.

During the time that he was in the game, Capt. Callahan of the Friars played a great defensive game. He played only a little more than half the game and he proved an inspirational leader. His tackle of Hughes in the first period was one of the hardest and cleanest made by a Friar player this season.

Omer Landry, Providence's star running back, played only the first period. This diminutive, fast-stepping back played his usual high class game while in the battle, making a timely 24-yard run around end that started his team on one of its long drives. He was a threat every time he carried the ball and it was only by narrow margins that Springfield managed to stop him from running to scores on several occasions.

Friars Switch Tactics

The Friars switched from a running attack to serial tactics in the second half. Ray Croteau, playing in his first game since the opener with Rutgers, and Gould were sent into the game to start a passing attack, in the second half. Due to the offensive rush of Springfield in the third period, they had no chance to show their wares in this quarter, but in the final session, their efforts met with partial success.

In that long march of the Friars early in the fourth period, Croteau threw a pass to O'Keefe which was good for 14 yards, and Gould completed one in this period for 19 yards.

Sweeping the ends with devastating effect behind strong interference, the Providence College backs ran wild on Hendricken Field yesterday as the College of the City of New York football team was humbled rather rudely, 46 to 0.

Dominican football records were nearly toppled as the team scored its most impressive victory of the season. Yesterday’s score was the second largest ever compiled by a Friar eleven, and Anthony Barbarito’s 62-yard scoring run came near to being the longest ever made by a Friar back.

Staging their strongest and most consistent offensive of the current campaign, the Dominicans made seven touchdowns in their wild dash to triumph. Two of these came in each of the first three periods and the other was made in the fourth.

Not only were the Friars at their best while on the attack, but they maintained their powerful defensive ability to check every scoring bid of the Lavender. The New Yorkers made only two first downs, and one of these was the result of a 15-yard penalty inflicted on the Friars in the final period. Providence made 12 first downs.

Croteau is Hero

While Barbarito provided the high-light with his remarkable 82-yard touchdown run, it was Ray Croteau, starting his first Varsity game, who was the hero. This fast, intelligent running back scored three times on runs of 58, 52 and nine yards.

Each one of Croteau’s scoring dashes were thrillers. Each time he waited for his interference to do its work before he let go a great burst of speed. His peculiar running stride had the Lavender players making frantic and fruitless efforts to stop him.

Others who contributed points towards the Providence cause were Charlie Renneck and Philip Del Vecchio, who made one touchdown each. Del Vecchio also scored two after touchdown points, as did Charlie O’Keefe.

Starting from single wing back formations, the Dominican backs ran the Lavender players ragged, circling the ends with ease and getting by the C. C. N. Y. secondary without any trouble. The Providence forwards continued their excellent defensive play, outgaining and outcharging the New York players by a wide margin.

The C. C. N. Y. players gave their best, but they lacked the all-round ability and finesse of their opponents. Their chief weakness was lack of co-ordination. They took considerable punishment from the hard-charging Providence backs and linemen. When the latter were not pecking away at the ends, they were hammering at the heart of the line, and with that battering-ram, Del Vecchio, making thrust after thrust at the New York players, they weakened to the extent that the Friars had an easy time in running up a large score.

Use Plays Effectively

The Friars used two plays effectively, and both were from single wing back formations. One had the ball-carrier knifing through tackle and end, and the other had him making wide sweeps around the wings. These plays were tried repeatedly by the Friars, especially at the right side of the line, and despite the fact that they continually faced these same tactics, the Lavender players were unable to stop the Dominican advances.

The C. C. N. Y. offense was woefully weak. It did not once get by midfield. The longest run made by a New York back was one of 15 yards by Diamond in the fourth period. The Lavender plays were stopped repeatedly. The backs ran headlong into a stonewall when they headed for the Dominican line and when they tried sweeping plays, the fast Providence secondaries charged forward suddenly to halt their runs.

It was only after five minutes of playing time that the Friars scored. Schnee of C. C. N. Y. returned one of O’Keefe’s kicks to Landry, who received on his 30-yard line and ran the ball back 12 yards to the 42-yard line. On the following play, Croteau took the ball, stayed behind his interference until he got around the end and then he reversed his field to race over the New York goal line for the first score of the game.

The run was for 68 yards. This started the Providence machine rolling.

Wright Goes Over

Shortly after this, a poor punt by Schnee of C. C. N. Y. gave the Friars the ball on the opposition’s 30-yard line. From this point, Providence made its second touchdown by virtue of short, consistent gains. Joe Wright finally went over from the eight-yard line around left end. This was the first score this hard-working back has made this season and his second in two years of Varsity competition.

The Lavender managed to check the ambitious Dominican backs during the last three periods of the first period, but it was not long after the second period got under way that Barbarito made his thrilling 82-yard run. Barbarito exhibited excellent blocking and field running on his wild dash to the C. C. N. Y. goal.

When he reached the Lavender secondary, he was swarmed by would-be tacklers, but he quickly reversed his field and left the New York players stranded and helpless. This was the most strategic run of the game.

Game played: November 5, 1932
It was not long before the Friars were on their way to another score. Schneer punted out of danger to Gould, who received on his 40-yard line and ran back 12 yards to C. C. N. Y.'s 48. Here the nomesters staged another sustained march towards the enemy's goal. The drive was featured by Del Vecchio's line plunges. It took 10 plays to make the touchdown and on six of these it was Del Vecchio who carried the ball. He gained from two to 10 yards every time he hurled himself at the New York line. The march terminated with the rugged fullback scoring from the four-yard mark. This ended the scoring for the first half.

Croteau, who was replaced by Barbarito in the second period, re-entered the game and gave the Lavender players a chance to realize his presence in short time. C. C. N. Y. punted on first down after receiving the kick-off, the ball going to Gould, who ran it back five yards to his 42-yard line. On the ensuing play, Croteau started for end, similar to the manner of his first long dash, and he ran 62 yards for a score. Again this clever back waited for the opportune moment to cut in and employ his natural ability.

Makes Third Score

Only an exchange of punts followed before Croteau made his third score and sixth for the team. This time he scored from the nine-yard mark after the Friars had started their march from their own 42-yard line. Jack Sloane, former Cranston high star, playing his first 'Varsity game, took over an important role in this scoring bid of the Friars. He contributed two runs, one for 15 yards and another for eight.

A 42-yard march early in the fourth period, with Charlie Rennick going over from the one-inch line, brought the Dominicans their seventh and final score. With Friar subs holding the fort during most of the final period, the Lavender managed to check any further approaches toward its goal.

Providence College led by Roy Croteau, speedy sophomore halfback, opened its home season on Hendricken field defeating City College of New York, 46 to 0. Providence was in complete command at all times and scored practically at will during the first three periods.

Coach Golembeski used practically every man wearing a P. C. uniform.

The City College attack, centered around Jack Diamond, failed miserably when the fast-charging Friar ends and tackles bottled up the fleetfooted back. On the defense, the visitors were badly disorganized, being unable to pierce the Back and White forward wall. Most of the City College tackles were made by the secondary, which took a severe battering from the fine running intrepreted of the P. C. forces.

Runs of 60 yards by Roy Croteau and 22 yards by Tony Barbarito preceded two of the Providence touchdowns.

City College was unable to penetrate the Providence line and failed to reach midfield at any time during the first half.

Providence won the toss and chose to kick from the west goal, the wind at their backs. Jole Wright was acting as captain in the absence of Capt. Calahan. Gilligan took the kickoff on the Providence 30 and advanced eight yards before being stopped. Three line plays netted a first down on the City College 43-yard line, but two unsuccessful forwards drew a five-yard penalty and O'Keefe kicked outside on the City College 30-yard line.

Two City College line plays netted two yards and Schnee kicked to Landry on the Friar 30. Landry was chased outside on the 39, Croteau leaked off tackle on the second try, and eluding the City College secondary, raced 62 yards down the side lines to a touchdown. O'Keefe kicked the extra point. Score: Providence, 7; City College, 0.

The Lavender kicked off after the score. Burns taking the short kick on the Providence 40. Wright and Landry punched out a first down with successive runs for 10 yards each, but losses by O'Keefe and Croteau soon forced O'Keefe to kick. The punt, carried by a cross wind went outside on the Lavender 20-yard line. City College again found the Providence line hard to crack and Schneer kicked off side on his own 30-yard line. Successive line plays by Croteau, O'Keefe and Wright produced a Providence first down on the City College 26. Wright carried to the nine-yard line of the first down and O'Keefe made it first down, touchdown to go on the City College eight-yard line. Wright plunged through the line for the touchdown. O'Keefe failed in his try for the point. Score: Providence College 13.

City College 0.

Providence kicked off after the score. Schneer carrying the ball to his own 33-yard line as the period ended. Score at end of first period: Providence College 13.

City College 0.

Both teams exchanged punts after the start of the second period but Providence added another score to its total when Barbarito had substituted for Croteau in the Friar backfield. He raced 82 yards through the City College tea mfor the third touchdown. O'Keefe kicked the point.

Score: Providence College 20.

City College 0.

City College was unable to gain yardage and Providence took possession in the visitors' 35-yard line after a poor kick by Schnee. Providence failed to gain yardage and Gould, who had substituted for Landry, kicked off side on the City College 20 yard line. Two line plays were stopped dead and Schnee kicked. Gould took the kick on the Providence 25 and ran 5 yards before fumbling. Healey recovered for Providence. Successive line plays produced a Friar first down on the City College 35 and Barbarito, after two plays, added another on the City College 20. Delvecchio, who substituted for Wright, bucked centre for 11 yards and two plays later went over for a touchdown. Delvecchio also dropped a kick for the extra point.

Score: Providence College 27.

City College 0.

Practically the entire Providence team was substituted after the score. Landry returning to quarter back. The Friar signal caller ran to midfield before going out of bounds. Noon picked up the Friar pass near midfield, but Landry failed to gain as the period ended. Score, end of half: Providence College 27. City College of New York 0.
THIRD QUARTER

The entire Providence starting line-up returned to the game. Providence kicked off to start the third period, Monschein returning the kick 19 yards to the City College 32-yard line. Providence amothered a line play and City College kicked, Gould taking the punt and running eight yards to the Providence 49-yard line. On the first play, Croteau raced off tackle and taking the course of his first run, ran 51 yards for a score. The try for the extra point was blocked. The score:

Providence 33
City College 0

City College received after the touchdown but was soon forced to kick. Gould took the punt at midfield. Sloan, who had substituted in the Friar backfield picked up first down on the City College 28 after an 18 yard run, and picked up another on City College 11 after a 17-yard hike. Croteau went over for the score on a wide end sweep. O'Keefe's try for the point again was blocked, but he was allowed another try when both teams were offside. O'Keefe capitalized the point on the second try. Score Providence 40, City College 0.

Mondschein took the kick after the touchdown but fell on his own 20-yard line without being tackled. A City College kick went off side and Providence took possession on the visitors' 33-yard line. Leblanc, substitute halfback, picked up a first down on the Lavender 17-yard line after a dash through tackle. City College called time out and nine substitutions in the line and back field were rushed on. Landry failed to gain and the drive stopped when a Landry pass was intercepted on the City College 15-yard marker.

Providence gained possession immediately, however, when Pete Cobis, substitute end, pounced on a fumble. Score at the end of the third period: Providence 46, City College 0.

Providence began substituting freely at the outset of the fourth period but still City College could find no defense against the attack. Charley Hennick who had gone into the Friar backfield improved the scoring stand established before the close of the third chukker carrying to the one-yard line on a line buck through center. Rennick was detected crawling on the play, however, and the Friars were penalized five-yards. Three plays were needed to recover the distance and Rennick finally went over from the one-yard line. A rush for the point by Landry failed.

Final score:
Providence 46
City College 0.
Landry to Pilot Friars in Catholic U. Contest

R. I. Schoolboy Football Players Invited to Cycledrome Game Saturday.

Among those who will be in the spotlight at the Cycledrome next Saturday when the Providence College and Catholic University football teams meet will be Omer Landry of the Friars who was chosen as the model athlete of Rhode Island last season. Ready to applaud and watch this youth selected for the Journal Honor Roll in 1931 will be the entire group of this State's high school football players, all of whom have been invited by the Dominican athletic authorities to attend the game.

Landry, who was an outstanding all-round athlete while at St. Raphael Academy, is the regular quarterback on the Friar eleven, having made good in his first year of varsity competition. He specializes in open field running.

He is the player the Dominicans are relying upon to partly offset the doings of C. U.'s great star, Tommy Whelan. While Landry is not the polished player that Whelan is, he possesses the ability to give the Cardinals' candidate for All-American honors some healthy competition.

Schoolboys to Attend

The schoolboys readily accepted the invitation from the Providence College Athletic Association and undoubtedly all of them will be on hand to watch the game.

Meanwhile the Friar players were given another long drill yesterday in preparation for the game. Although handicapped by rain during the past two days the coaches are making careful preparations for the visit of C. U. The Friars are anxious to down the Cardinals as victory will greatly add to their prestige.

C. U. will field a strong and exceptionally well-balanced team. Until it played Holy Cross two weeks ago, it had won 12 straight games. They gave the Crusaders a hard battle before losing 8 to 0 and Coach McEwan of the Purple said after the game that C. U. had the best team to play at Pilot Field this season.

Cardinals, Favored

Confidence prevails in the Cardinals' camp, and while they will enter the contest favorites to win, they will find that all will not be roses in their path to victory. They will pit their strength against the strongest Dominican team they have ever faced.

Both will be able to field full strength, each having come through their battles on Saturday minus serious injuries.

This will be the only college game for football fans in this city on Saturday as the Brown team journeys to New York for the Columbia contest. A large crowd is expected to be on hand when the two teams clash in what should be one of the best games to be played this season in Rhode Island.

Notre Dame Coach

The last meeting between the teams at Providence a few years back was a thriller, treating a big gathering with some keen competition. Clashes between these two teams invariably have been keenly fought and close with last year's verdict going to the Cards 13 to 7. They termed the game in Washington, C. U.'s closest call.

Coaching the Cardinals is Arthur J. Bergman, who teaches his boys the Notre Dame system. He competed in both football and track while at Notre Dame, starring at both branches of athletics. He was famed as a running-mate of the immortal George Gipp prior to his graduation at South Bend in 1919. Bergman, who is also athletic director at C. U., has been highly successful with the Cardinals, who have won 12 of their last 13 games.
Carroll "Red" Gould, who was rated as one of the best all-round athletes in Rhode Island Schoolboy history when he was campaigning for Cranston high, will play for the Providence College football team today at the Cycledrome against the Catholic University eleven. A large number of Cranston fans will watch their star athlete perform.
After receiving recent information about the strength of the Providence College football team and giving its record closer scrutiny, strategists of the Catholic University eleven have lost some of their optimism regarding Saturday's game at the Cycledrome. While they anticipated a hard battle, they were not worrying over the outcome but now aspects in Washington concerning the battle have changed.

The Friars have gone along quietly playing high class football, holding their own with every opponent in their class. Like their prospective opponents they are confident of victory, but at the same time they have no illusions regarding the strength of the Cardinals. Conditions at the two camps are surprisingly similar. Each school is represented by its strongest team in history and each has lost but one game and that to the same opponent Holy Cross. Each has a heavy and speedy line and fast and shifty backs. Each is endeavoring to gain recognition in the football world, and as a result when they meet, these parallelisms very likely will be the making of a real football battle.

Hard Practice on Tap

Coach Dutch Bergman of the Cards has been driving his players at a fast clip this week in preparation for the game. He will have his strongest available lineup ready for the contest.

Coach Archie Golembeski of the Friars is doing the same, and his charges are working hard and with much zest and enthusiasm to prepare themselves for Capt. Tom Whelan and his mates. The Dominicans are working on a defense with which they hope to stop the elusive Whelan, but at the same time they are not underrating the other C. U. backs.

In Bus Sheary the Cards have another hard running ball-toter who teams with Whelan in fine style. Quarterback Charlie McVean and Halfback "Babe" Gearty are others who have starred in ball-carrying for the Washington outfit.

Drill Against C. U. Players

Against Wake Forrest, a truly strong team, C. U. played exceptionally good football in winning 14 to 6. The team showed a strong offensive against their powerful opponents in piling up 16 first downs to six. The Cards also showed a strong passing attack, completing five of six attempted passes.

Yesterday at Hendricken Field
The Friar coaches sent their charges through a defensive drill against C. U. plays. Charlie Jorn, 'Varsity end last season, has scouted C. U. for the Friars, and yesterday he outlined the offensive style of Bergman's team to the scrubs. Practically the entire time of the drill was devoted to work against C. U. formations.

Regulars to Start
The Friar mentors stated after the practice that they would field their regular lineup against C. U. All of the players are in the best of condition.

The Cardinals will arrive in Providence at nine o'clock tomorrow evening. After the game the squad will be guests of the Rhode Island alumni of Catholic University at a dinner to be held at the Biltmore Hotel. It is expected that C. U. alumni from all sections of New England will attend the game and also be present at the dinner. Rev. Maurice B. Sweeney, assistant to the rector at C. U., will attend both affairs. Joseph E. Coogan is in charge of details for the after game get-together of C. U. alumni and their guests.
Lester Sheary, captain and fullback of the Catholic University eleven which meets Providence College at the Cycledrome tomorrow.
DOMINICANS END SEASON AGAINST
C. U. TOMORROW

Opponents at Cycledrome Have Lost Only to Holy Cross;
Friars at Peak.

By JOE NUTTER

The greatest football team that Providence College ever had will close its season tomorrow against Catholic University when the two clash in the Providence Cycledrome. The kickoff is scheduled for 2 o'clock.

A burly Catholic University gridiron squad that until two weeks ago rated this as something of an opportunity to top off a creditable season, is due to meet a Dominican aggregation that is anxious to complete its most successful year, and the two will enter the game on almost equal terms. If edge exists, it must go to the invincible combination of Providence which it held, 8 to 0, and its possession of a halfback named Tommy Whelan, triple threat ace. Many critics who have watched Catholic University claim that Mr. Whelan is all that he is rated, so the worth of the Dominican defence men in this game may narrow down to their ability to stop Whelan as he runs and passes.

The Dominicans are out to even up an old score that Catholic University opened a year ago, when they took a hard-fought game from the home team, 13 to 7, reeling off 33 and 55 yard runs to turn the trick, while an O'Keefe to Barbarito pass turned in the lone Providence score.

Providence is at top strength again, so far as the first combination goes, the only ailing players being Dexter Davis, who is being held back with an injured ankle.

Coach Archie Golenbeski plans a starting team of Roberge and Gilligan, ends; Capt. Callahan and Burdick, tackles; Katznelson and Kutniewski, guards; Scott, centre; Landry or Gould, quarterback; Croteau and Wright, halfbacks, and O'Keefe, fullback.

With Tony Barbarito in a reserve role, Providence will present a team that local supporters figure will put Catholic University on the defensive in the early moments of play, for this is the first time in weeks that the local eleven has had all of its siege guns available for full-time roles at one time.

Raymond Croteau, the 164-pound Freshman from Fall River was hurt in the Rutgers game after he had scored the tying touchdown there, but he came back with a rush against Springfield, then clicked off three of the tackles against C. C. N. Y., two of his touchdown runs being for more than 50 yards.

Catholic University is in the midst of its greatest season, for it has already toppled C. C. N. Y., 47 to 6; Chattanooga, 19 to 6; Manhattan 12 to 7; and Wake Forest, 14 to 6, losing only to Holy Cross, 8 to 0.

Providence College has a lone defeat at the hands of Holy Cross to mar its season, its record being Rutgers, 6 to 6; Holy Cross, 6 to 26; Vermont, 14 to 6; Springfield, 0 to 0; Boston University, 28 to 6; and C. C. N. Y., 46 to 0.

Some of the City College players who had been in contests with both of the teams, figured the two combinations on a par.

Whelan comes from the Bronx and is Dame Rumor has it that he may mark years of Varsity football. Jankowski is years of invader, and Capt. the kicker of the invaders, and Capt. Lester Sheary of Worcester, is the block- Lester Sheary of Worcester, is the block-
Here is the Catholic University football team which will play the Providence College football team at the Cycledrome tomorrow. Left to Right: "Red" Fleming, right end; Harvey Duscha, right tackle; Max Billinger, right guard; Jim Christianson, centre; Bill Conter, left guard; Lloyd Stafford, left tackle; Vincent Fraatz, left end; Pat Montague, quarterback; John Jankowski, right halfback; Lester Sheary, fullback, and Tom Whelan, left halfback.
The thuds of the best team which has ever represented Providence College on the gridiron will be heard today for the last time this season when it stacks up against the strong Catholic University eleven at the Cycledrome in one of the headliners of the New England football card.

With hopes high for victory, the Friars enter today's contest with a record of four victories, two ties and, one defeat in seven games, six of which were played on the road. Today it meets an ambitious eleven, which has lost only to Holy Cross this season, and which has been victorious in 12 out of 13 games during the past two campaigns.

"Rubber" Battle

The Friars have been successful against those of the late takeout. Unlike the teams in the early stages of the season, the Catholic University team today must be considered as a considerable threat to the Catholic team. The contest has been described as a classic battle between two of the best teams in the New England area and has been anticipated with much interest by the football enthusiasts of the region.

Besides battling for the lead in the series, there are other incentives for both which will combine to make today's game similar to the hard-fought and thrilling contests they have played previously. The Friars seek victory to add further laurels to a season already rated successful. With the passing of each season, the Dominicans have made gradual progress to a higher position in the football world and they are determined to prevent anything which would hinder that progress.

Like the Friars, the Cardinals have eyes towards the gridiron spotlight and they have taken long and hurried steps towards their goal.

Cardinals Favored

Due to their slightly better record and the presence of a player of All-American timber in their lineup, the Cardinals will enter today's game as favorites to win. The margin between the teams is slight and it is likely that the breaks will decide the issue. With a player of the caliber of Tommy Whelan in its lineup, the C. U. team is much more of a constant threat as this fast-stopping halfback has been running wild against opponents during the past three seasons.

Whelan is a big clog in the C. U. machine and he provides the spark that makes the offense go. It is on Tommy's ability as ball carrier that makes C. U. a constant threat. He is so closely guarded and his execution of the option that even backs.

The Providence line will average 184 pounds, two pounds less than the Cardinal forward line which will average 186 pounds. The Catholic backfield will be composed of Dowd, who is considered one of the finest players of his position, and the skilled O'Keefe at fullback. Lou Mathews, who has seen little service this season because of an injury, will replace Jack Schott at centre. Gilligan will team with Ollie Roberge at the ends. Dick Burns replaces Callahan at tackle. Charlie Burdick will be at the other tackle with Bill Kutufiewski and Irbing Katsnelson at the guards.

Friars to Meet Cardinals
in Final Game of Season

Catholic U. Eleven to Play Here
Saturday; Whelan, Star Back, to Face Providence.

Two teams, which have received their one defeat of the season from the same opponent, will meet here Saturday in a game which is expected to produce some healthy competition. They are the Providence College and Catholic University elevens whose combined records contain only two blemishes put there by the Holy Cross team. This will be the final game of the season for the Friars. These two teams are the closest of rivals and each year they have staged highly interesting games. As was the case last season, both elevens are strong, having shown some exceptionally good football in getting by all opposition without defeat save the Crusaders. Their last meeting was held at Washington and the Crusaders triumphed, 13 to 7, in a thrilling battle.

This year the game has been brought to Providence by the Dominican athletic authorities and as this will be the only college game to be played in this city on Saturday a large gathering is expected to watch the contest.

The Friars have played seven games, winning four, tying two and losing one. They have defeated Boston University, C. C. N. Y., St. Lawrence and Vermont. The draw games were played with Rutgers and Springfield. Catholic University was undefeated last season, winning eight straight games. This campaign found them travelling along the same unbeaten path until they hit Worcester where they lost by a narrow margin.

Record of Cardinals

The Cardinals started by defeating C. C. N. Y., 47 to 0. They followed this triumph by denying Chattanooga, 19 to 7, and Washington, 12 to 7. Then came the downfall from their Jesuit rivals at Worcester. Yesterday they subdued a strong Lake Forest team, 18 to 7.

Providence played a 6 to 6 tie with Rutgers and a scoreless tie with Springfield. St. Lawrence was humbled, 14 to 0; Boston University was swamped, 25 to 6, and Vermont was subdued, 14 to 0. Yesterday the C. C. N. Y. eleven was added to its list of victims, 48 to 0.

Holy Cross defeated the Cardinals 8 to 0, scoring all of its points in the final period. Through three-quarters of the game, the Cardinals held the Crusaders on even terms, but in the final session the Purple staged a strong offensive drive to win. The Friars were downed, 26 to 6, by the Crusaders, but the score was not indicative of their respective strengths.

On the basis of the comparative scores of the two teams in their games with Holy Cross, the Cardinals should defeat the Friars in their coming battle. Both played C. C. N. Y. The Cardinals won, 47 to 0, and the Friars, 46 to 0. This leaves no room for comparison, but in the opinion of the C. C. N. Y. coach the Catholic U. team is slightly stronger than Providence.

Catholic U Has Edge

Here is what the Lavender mentor said when asked by the writer after yesterday's game at Hendrickson Field to name a winner of Saturday's battle: "Both Catholic U and Providence have strong teams. Both lines are heavy and strong."

Then he hesitated and added: "I think Catholic U has a slight edge."

Asked his opinion of Tom Whelan, Catholic U's great halfback, he said: "There's a football player for you. If he was with a major college team, he surely would make all-American."

That is the opinion of an observer who has seen both teams down his eleven by decisive margins. The Cardinals appear to have little more strength than the Dominicans, but the difference between the two teams is small. Victory can go either way. It is likely that the breaks will decide the game, which will find two heavy and fast lines opposing each other plus hard-running backs vying for honors.

Tommie Whelan is no stranger to the Friars. They know of his ability. Last season he defeated them single handed. His two touchdowns after runs of 53 and 37 yards brought the Cardinals victory. He has starred for Catholic U during the past three seasons and each campaign found him among the leading scorers. He is among the best college backs in the country.

The Friars have star backs to pit against Whelan. In Ray Croteau, Omer Landry, Charlie O'Keefe and Anthony Barbarito they have backs who are constant threats to the opposition. Croteau is the new Dominican sensation. This is his first year of "Varsity" competition, but he has the poise of a veteran. He is a brainless player and should give the Cardinals considerable trouble next Saturday as he gave the C. C. N. Y. team yesterday.

FRIARS MEET POWERFUL OPPONENTS IN CATHOLIC U.

Fumbles cost Providence College a 6-0 defeat in the third period. The Friars capitalized on Croteau's fumble, but missed the extra point. O'Keefe fumbled in the fourth on C. U.'s 18-yard line.

Providence had a decided edge over the Visitors in offensive play throughout the first half, having three scoring chances. In the first period, the Friars reached C. U.'s four-yard line, but missed the opportunity. The Friars' chance was just enough to prove to the Visitors that the Friars were strong in the second period, as the period ended 29-0.

With the exception of blocking a Providence kick in the second period on their 46-yard line, the Cardinals had no other scoring opportunity. Defensively, however, the Washington players were at their best. The Friars made four first downs to none by C. U.

FIRST PERIOD

Catholic University kicked off to Ro-

Berge, who received for the Friars on the 30 and ran it back to the 41, after two runs at the line, O'Keefe dropped to kick but he was hurried and his effort poor, giving the Cardinals first down on Providence's 44. This was the least effective punt that O'Keefe has made this season, and put C. U. within striking distance of the Friar goal.

Lyons, C. U. guard, was injured on the first play and he was replaced by Cook.

Tommy Whelan, C. U. candidate for All American honors, made two yards on a plunge at the line. An aerial failure and Captain Sherry kicked for the Cards who received on their 20-yard line. O'Keefe returned the punt on the first play, giving the Cards first down at midfield.

Kickoff Duel

The kickoff duel continued and Cards returned the ball to the Friars who received on their 21-yard line. Each team was playing cautiously and waiting for a break.

O'Keefe on a delayed sprint made a 29-yard run to advance the Friars to midfield. This was a brilliant run by O'Keefe who almost got away to a score.

Unable to gain, the Friars punted to Auguster, who fumbled on his 15-yard line when he was tackled violently
by Burns. Providence tackle Kutniewski recovered for the Friars on the C. U. 15-yard line. O'Keefe advanced the ball to the seven-yard line making eight yards on a round end run.

Burns ran down fast under O'Keefe's punts and he tackled Auguster before the latter was able to get started. Kut-iewski, running down with Burns, was ready to fall on the loose ball when the C. U. field general dropped the pigskin.

Placement Kick Falls

O'Keefe made first down on the C. U.
20-yard line. Croteau was unable to advance through the hard charging C. U. line. O'Keefe squeezed his way through tackle to the 4-yard line Croteau was penalized for taking too much time before landing on the 15-yard line but his effort
went wide of the goal posts.

The strong C. U. line showed its true ability in this line stand, throwing back everything attempted by the Friars to the Providence line. O'Keefe
Croteau was able to gain through the hard charging C. U.

O'Keefe made first down on the C. U.
45-yard line. O'Keefe advanced to the 40-yard line on a plunge through the line. Providence was penalized five yards for taking too much time before
landing on the 15-yard line but his effort
went wide of the goal posts.

The Providence offensive hit a snag
when the Friars gained four yards.
O'Keefe was tackled by

Croteau and Croteau lost
the ball.

The Friars added a second yardage of the Friars to the 49-yard line. O'Keefe advanced to the 40-yard line on a plunge through
the line. Providence was penalized five
yards for taking too much time before
landing on the 15-yard line but his effort
went wide of the goal posts.

The Friars stopped the attempted end scramble and the Cardinals were forced to kick. Landry received on his 40 and ran back six yards.

Barbaro and Gould were sent into the Providence backfield, replacing Crote-au and Landry, respectively.

Barbaro advanced the Friars to mid-field. Gould sent the Cardinals back to field. Croteau kicked the Cardinals back to midfield. O'Keefe kicked the Cardinals back to midfield. O'Keefe kicked the Cardinals back to midfield. O'Keefe kicked the Cardinals back to midfield. O'Keefe kicked the Cardinals back to midfield. O'Keefe kicked the Cardinals back to midfield.

SECOND PERIOD

C. U. kicked from its eight-yard line and Providence received on its 33-yard line. Gould attempted a pass to Barbarito but the latter was slow in getting down. A pass, Gould to Wright, gave the Friars first down on the 19-yard line. This was a short aerial and caught the C. U. defence fast asleep. O'Keefe made two yards on a "spinning".

The Friars lost another scoring opportunity when on fourth down and three yards to go on C. U.'s 14-yard line, Barbarito was unable to make the necessary yardage.

C. U. was unable to make much headway and kicked to the Providence 44-yard line, where Gould was downed. Barbarito swept between end and tackle behind good interference to C. U.'s 47-yard line. O'Keefe made a first down on the 44-yard. The Friars offensive, which had lost effectiveness when near its opponent's goal line after staging sustained drives, suddenly came to life and was tearing the C. U. line for consistently short gains.

DelVecchio in Game

DelVecchio entered the game for the Friars and he made a first down on C. U.'s 37-yard line. Here C. U. put up a strong defence. Gould attempted to kick, but the Cardinal forwards came in fast and blocked the kick on their own 47-yard line and three C. U. players fell on the loose ball.

Whelan made a first down on Providence's 42-yard line. This was the first down made by the Catholic University team thus far in the game, Whelan attempted a pass but Barbarito intercepted for the Friars on his 20-yard line. O'Keefe punted for the Friars to C. U.'s 33-yard line. Unable to make any yardage on end runs, C. U. was forced to kick. Gould received and was downed on his 36-yard line. O'Keefe returned Gould's kick and C. U. received on the 33-yard line. The Cardinals tried a pass but Gould intercepted on Providence's 45-yard line and ran it back to C. U.'s 36-yard line to put the Friars again within scoring distance. Auguster tumbled O'Keefe's punt accepted a Providence aerial just as the half ended.

No score at end of half.

THIRD PERIOD

C. U. kicked off to Providence which received on its 31-yard line. Croteau attempted a run around end but before he could get started, Ball, C. U. end came through and fell on the ball on Providence's 16-yard line when Croteau fumbled when swamped by a group of C. U. players. Whelan made a first down on the five-yard line. After three attempts at the line had failed, Captain Sheary scored from the two-yard line for the first touchdown of the game. Sheary missed the extra point. Score C. U. 8, Providence 0.

C. U. kicked off to the Friars, who received on their 11. A series of Providence plays brought the ball to the 31-yard line. Here the drive was halted and when O'Keefe attempted to punt a group of C. U. players broke through to block the ball, but Wright recovered for Providence on his 26-yard line.

The Friars kicked to Auguster, who was downed on the 35-yard line.

C. U. was given first down when the Friars were offside when Sheary of C. U. attempted to kick from his 42-yard line.

昌. U. received another break when Landry of the Friars fumbled Capt. Sheary's kick on the eight-yard line, giving the Cardinals first down when two C. U. players fell on the ball eight yards away from the Dominican goal.

Matthews Goes Out

Lou Matthews, dependable Friar centre, was injured on this play and he was relieved by Jack Scott.

Two plunges by Sheeny and Whelan brought the Cardinals to the four-yard line. Sheary brought the ball to the two-yard line but Jankowski's bid for a touchdown was stopped by Joe Wright. Friar halfback, who stopped the attempted end run of the C. U. back on two-yard line.

O'Keefe made a beautiful kick from behind his goal line for 60 yards. Auguster, C. U. quarterback, fumbled when he was tackled by Roherge, Friar end, and the other Friar wing, Dromgoole, recovered for the Friars on C. U.'s 46-yard line.

Landry made five yards between left end and tackle to put the ball on C. U.'s 33-yard line.

The Friars threw away another scoring opportunity when Scott made a bad pass from center and Ball, C. U. end, recovered on his 39-yard line. The third period ended with C. U. in possession of ball on its 49-yard line.

Score C. U. 8, Providence 0.

FOURTH PERIOD

Sheary kicked to the Friars who received on their 21-yard line. Providence returned the kick and the Cardinals received 40-yard line. They were unable to gain and the Friars got the ball on the 36-yard line through Sheary's kick.

Slocane made a first down on Providence's 47-yard line. Gould was thrown for two-yard loss. Drive was halted here and the Friars were forced to kick. Auguster tumbled Gould's kick and Dromgoole recovered for the Friars on C. U.'s 28-yard line. C. U. was penalized five yards for offside, bringing the Dominicans to the 19-yard line. Slocane lost four yards, but DelVecchio brought it to the 15-yard line by a mighty burst at the centre of the line. DelVecchio carried the ball again and he advanced within two inches of a first down on the 14-yard line. He made first down on the next plunge at centre on C. U.'s 11-yard line.

Captain Sheary of the Cardinals called time out with the Friars at the shadow of his goal line, O'Keefe, who was taken out of the Friar lineup at the end of the third period, was sent back into the game, replacing Slocane. O'Keefe made two yards through centre bringing the Friars to C. U.'s nine-yard line.

Again Lose Chance

Again the Friars spoiled a scoring opportunity when O'Keefe fumbled on the C. U. 13-yard line.

Unable to gain, the Cardinals punted to the Friars who received on their 39-yard line. Gould drew a 14-yard pass to Wright giving the Friars a first down on CU's 49-yard line.

Fumbling again halted the advance of the Friars and Gould punted to CU's 14-yard mark where the ball went offside. DelVecchio threw Jankowski for a four-yard loss. The Cardinals punted to Gould who recovered his own fumble and ran the ball back to CU's 40-yard line. Sheary intercepted Gould's pass on CU's 40-yard line as the game ended.

DOMINICAN ELEVEN
ENJOYS GOOD YEAR

Providence College Wins Four Games, Loses Two, and Ties Two.

The 1932 football season found Providence College represented by the best team in its short history. The Dominicans won four games, lost two and tied two in eight played. This is the least number of games that the Friars have lost in any one season.

Victories were scored over Vermont, St. Lawrence, Boston University and C. C. N. Y. Deadlocks were played with Rutgers and Springfield, while defeats were received from Holy Cross and Catholic University.

In the last game of the season against C. U., the Dominicans outplayed their rivals, but loose handling of the ball deprived them of their victory. In the Springfield game, the Friars also had the better of the play but failure to capitalize on scoring opportunities brought them a scoreless tie.

The success met during the 1931 campaign is indicative of the upward climb the Friars hope to make in their division of the football world.

Friars Tie Rutgers

The Friars opened the season playing a 6 to 6 tie with Rutgers at New Brunswick. Next came the annual game with Holy Cross at Worcester and, after holding the Crusaders to even terms during the first period, the locals made a number of mistakes during the second period which the alert Holy Cross players were ever ready to capitalize on, with the result that Providence was defeated 26 to 6.

Following this setback, the Dominicans gathered their forces to win three games in a row. Vermont was defeated 13 to 6. Boston University was next opposed and the Friars spoiled its undefeated record by trouncing the Terriers 25 to 6. In this game the Providence players gave their best all-round performance of the season. St. Lawrence was the third victim, 14 to 6.

Next came the tie with Springfield and following this game, the Friars played their first home game of the season, swamping C. C. N. Y. 46 to 0. Catholic University defeated the locals here 6 to 0 in the final game of the campaign for the Dominicans.

Only four players will be lost by graduation. They are Peter Gilligan and "Franny" Dromgoole, ends; Edward Mardosa, guard, and Capt. Owen Callahan, tackle.

Callahan Injured

Callahan did not see much service this season because of an injury. Gilligan and Dromgoole alternated with Dexter Davis, a junior, at end, while Mardosa was a substitute.

Dick Burns and George Boyle will be available to replace Capt. Callahan at tackle, and Davis will be ready for an end berth.

The backfield will return next fall intact, and with the experience garnered during the recent campaign, the Friar ball-toters should go places in 1933. The line was the strongest defensively in the history of Friar football, and it should have another good season next fall.

Joseph Wright, halfback, will captain next year's team and Donald Mattassa will be the Varsity manager.

The record for the season follows:

| Providence | 6 | Rutgers | 6 |
| Providence | 6 | Holy Cross | 26 |
| Providence | 23 | Boston University | 6 |
| Providence | 14 | St. Lawrence | 0 |
| Providence | 46 | C. C. N. Y. | 0 |
| Providence | 0 | Catholic U. | 0 |

Dominic Mattassa, left, and Joseph Wright, right, were named manager and captain, respectively, of the 1933 Providence College football team yesterday. Wright was a unanimous choice for the captaincy. Both live in Staten Island, N. Y.
JOE WRIGHT, HALFBACK STAR, NAMED FRIAR FOOTBALL CAPTAIN

Veteran Player Well Liked by College Student Body

26 Awarded Letters; Dominican Five Leaves Today for New York Trip.

Joseph M. Wright of Staten Island, N. Y., was elected captain of the 1933 Providence College football team at a meeting of the lettermen yesterday. Wright is a halfback and he has been a regular on the Friar eleven during the past two years. Dominic J. Mattassa, who also lives in Staten Island, was named manager of next year's Varsity team.

Wright's elevation to the captaincy of the football team will meet with wide approval from the student body as he is one of the most popular athletes in the history of the college.

Modest and unassuming, Wright plays a role on the gridiron which runs parallel with his altruistic tendencies. He is a blocking back and this assignment has kept him from the spotlight enjoyed by some of his mates. However, his true value as a leader and a player has been realized by his teammates who unanimously elected him to the captaincy.

Good Ball Carrier

Besides being an effective blocking back, Wright has evidenced his ability as a ball carrier on many occasions. He made a number of long runs during the recent campaign. An indication of the honor he received yesterday was seen many times during the football season as he was chosen to serve as acting captain when Callahan was out of the lineup because of injuries.

Although he weighs but 158 pounds, Wright has been one of the sturdiest members of the Friar eleven during the past two seasons, having started in all but one game during this space of time.

He has played on the Dominican junior varsity basketball and baseball teams during the past two years. Despite his many outside activities, Capt.-elect Wright has maintained a high scholastic standing. He was president of his class during his second year and is a member of the Providence College Metropolitan Club.

Prep School Captain

He came to Providence by the way of Augustinian Academy in Staten Island, where he starred in football, basketball and baseball. He captained the football team in his senior year.

Mattassa, who was named manager, is a graduate of Port Richmond high school, where he participated in football, basketball and track. He refrained from participating in athletics upon matriculating at Providence College.

Twenty-six players and Manager George Boulard were awarded letters by the athletic association. Only four of the lettermen will be lost by graduation. They are Peter Gilligan and "Franny" Dromgoole, ends; Capt. Owen J. Callahan, tackle, and Edward Mardosa, guard.

Gridmen Choose
All-Star Teams
From Opponents

This is the time of year when sports writers, making their last good-bye gesture to old man Football of 1932, include in their copy their selections of mythical "all" teams. This year the selection of an all-opponent team has been made for the News by three outstanding players on the Scarlet and White varsity eleven. The trio, consisting of Capt. Carl "Whitney" Clem, Dan Harrington and Gus LeGuern, were asked to submit three teams of their own selection.

By mere coincidence the teams submitted by Clem and Harrington are identical in every respect. However, the selection of Gus LeGuern, star 1932 quarterback, carries six different opponents.

Four Providence men found places on LeGuern's eleven, whereas the same number of Boston College players lead the team of Harrington and Clem. Geneva comes next with two men on each team.

In picking the toughest opponent of the year, Harrington and LeGuern get together in the selection of Providence College against the Geneva choice of Clem. All men agreed that the Tufts and New Hampshire contests were the best played games of the year from a B. U. point of view.

The all-opponent line-up selections of the three Terrier regulars are as follows:

IDEAL SCHOOLBOY ATHLETE IS SECOND
FROM THAT SCHOOL

The Observer Selects Pawtucket Youth from 15 Outstanding Leaders.

BY THE OBSERVER

From a list of 15 outstanding Rhode Island schoolboy athlete-students who are being graduated this month from 13 of the State's high schools, the Providence Journal today announces the selection of Omer Landry of St. Raphael Academy, Pawtucket, as the sixth member of its annual Honor Roll. Landry, an inspirational leader both in the classroom and on the athletic field, has been accorded this distinction over the 14 other candidates for the post because, in the Journal's opinion, he measures up most closely to the ideal schoolboy athlete. His selection marks the second time in six years that a boy has brought similar honor to the little Pawtucket school. Dona Maynard, now an outstanding athlete and student at Holy Cross College, was picked as he was graduated from St. Raphael in 1929.

In June, 1927, the Journal announced its first Honor Roll selection. He is Frederick W. Mulvey who that year was graduated from East Providence high school.
Add Incentive

The Journal instituted the Honor Roll because it believed that it would, in a small way, furnish an added incentive to the schoolboys of Rhode Island to attain a degree of excellence in their schoolwork which would compare favorably with their effort along athletic lines. From the time a boy first enters the field of scholastic athletics, he comes under the scrutiny of Journal representatives. Throughout his high school course, his conduct as an athlete and his attitude both on and off the field is observed carefully. In order to qualify for consideration as an Honor Roll nominee, he must be a good sportsman, a charitable winner and a courageous loser. In his associations with boys of opposing teams, those of his own teams, with his coaches and with the officials who arbitrate his play upon the field he must always conduct himself fittingly. Having established these qualities, his athletic ability is given consideration.

Based on Excellence

It always is the hope of those who keep the watch on him for the Journal that he may be nominated for the Honor Roll. The nomination must come from his principal. Each spring, every high school headmaster in the State is invited to name the boy or boys in his graduating classes who has participated in athletics and who has maintained high marks throughout his course. The principal’s recommendation is based solely on the boy’s excellence as a pupil and on his knowledge of the conduct of the boy both in and out of athletics. The Journal merely reserves the right to pick the outstanding boy from among those who are named.

In selecting Landry as its 1932 Honor Roll boy, the Journal feels convinced that it has picked a youth who measures up to the standards of his predecessors. Since 1922, when Maynard became St. Raphael alumnus, the name of Landry has been featured continually in the achievements of St. Raphael teams in all seasons. He has been an ideal leader of the teams which he has captained and his principal, his teachers, his coaches and schoolmates are justly proud of him. He is a member of the student council and, particularly during the past year, he has been an outstanding member of the four ‘Varsity’ teams which have represented the academy. He starred as a backfield player on the football team. He was in the back court for the basketball team. He was one of the fastest sprinters in Rhode Island schoolboy circles as a member of the track team. And, this spring, he has been a consistently fine performer in center field for the baseball team which he captured.

BEATEN BY DEAN

Bobbie Mudge Stars in 19-0 Victory Scored by Academy Eleven.

(Special to the Providence Journal)

Franklin, Mass., Oct. 21—The Dean Academy football team defeated the Providence College Junior Varsity eleven 19 to 0 here today. Bobbie Mudge, former Westerly high all-round athlete, was a main factor in Dean's triumph.

The Dean eleven scored in the first, second and fourth periods. The Friar Jayvees failed to show any offensive strength and play was mostly in their territory.

Dean scored shortly after the opening kick-off when Gates took the ball on his 10-yard line and ran 35 yards to Providence's five-yard mark. Within three plays, Gates scored the first touchdown.

The Friars were deep in their own territory midway in the second period and Shanahan was forced to punt from his goal line to the 28-yard line. Mudge made a first down on the 10-yard mark and the march continued until Spath went over on a short line plunge.

An aerial, Spath to Horn, after Mudge made a brilliant runback of a punt, brought Dean its third score in the fourth period. The pass was good for 30 yards. Horn catching the ball on Providence's 20-yard line and running the remaining distance for a score.

Noon and Sloane were the outstanding players for the Friars.

Prep School Team Wins at Danvers on Safety in Third Period.

(Especial to the Providence Journal)

Danvers, Mass., Oct. 27—St. Johns Prep defeated Providence College Junior Varsity 2 to 0 in a battle here today on a slippery field. The soggy going prevented either team from making consistent gains by rushing. St. Johns had the offensive margin by registering 11 first downs to four by the Friar Freshmen.

St. Johns won the game in the third period. McGettrick blocked a kick by Noon, the Providence quarterback which Providence recovered on the one yard line. On the next play Providence went into kick formation with Noon back of his goal line. The combination of the wet ball and a poor pass caused Noon to drop the pigskin. When Noon picked up the ball he was tackled hard by McGettrick and Randall and thrown in his tracks for a safety.

The punt of Warren Mulffrey featured the St. Johns back, averaging 35 to 40 yards per kick. Capt. McDermott and McGettrick shone for the home team and Terney and Noon for the visitors.

FRIARS FUMBLE 6-0
VICTORY TO CARDS

John "Foot" Ball Gets Loose Pigskin on 16-Yard Line and Later Scores Goal.

BY MICHAEL J. THOMAS

A ball hawk by the name of John Ball of the Catholic University football team brought his mates a 6 to 0 victory over the Providence College eleven at the Cylindrop: yesterday when he recovered almost every fumble that came his way, whether it was made by an opposing player or by a teammate.

Friar backs gave the alert Cardinal end many opportunities to retrieve balls they lost as they fumbled with almost consistent regularity. When near the opposing goal, but the most important recovery made by Ball came when one of his mates fumbled.

John "Foot" Ball paved the way for the C. U. touchdown early in the third period when he pounced upon a loose ball fumbled by Ray Croteau, Friar halfback, on the Providence 18-yard line. The Cardinals banged away at the Dominican line until they had obtained a first down two yards away from the opposing goal.

Ball Gets Score.

Three thrusts were made at the Providence forwards but they failed to retreat. Capt. "Ripper" Sheary took the ball on fourth down and started savagely for the center of the Providence line and when he made little headway upon hitting into a mass of players, the ball bounced from his hands into the Providence end zone where Mr. Ball, the ball hawk, pounced upon the pigskin for a touchdown.

The Cardinals tried hard to repay the Friars for the many gifts they received but Providence players refused to consider any charity. C. U. backs fumbled at what would have been crucial times had the Friars capitalized the breaks but they just wouldn't do that. And this inability to make good scoring opportunities can be traced to the Friar defeat.
(For them it was their last game) of the season, and under the circumstances, it was a hard contest to lose. They can gain some consolation in that they had the better of the play, outrushing the opposition throughout and making nine first downs to four. Thus, the 1932 Providence College team goes down into history with a record for four victories, two ties and two defeats in eight games played.

Friars Check Attack

C. U.'s reported powerful offensive was checked at every turn by the hard-charging, Dominican forwards who turned in another excellent performance. Tommy Whelan, the Cardinals' aspirant for All-American honors, was held at bay. All in all, it was an off day for the C. U. offense but its one virtue was that it made good the one scoring opportunity it had.

Providence had five good scoring chances, one in the first period, two in the second and one in both the third and fourth quarters.

In the first period the Friars started a drive from midfield to C. U.'s four-yard line where no further advance could be made through the heavy opposing forwards. On fourth down, O'Keefe dropped back to the 14-yard for a placement kick but his attempt was wide of the uprights. O'Keefe started the Friars on this drive when he made a brilliant 35-yard run around his right end to C. U.'s 15-yard line. O'Keefe almost got away to a score but he was downed with only Augustinier and Jankowski in his path.

Cards Halt Friars

Croteau followed O'Keefe with a nine-yard gain also around right end to the six-yard line. Two plunges by O'Keefe brought the Friars to the four-yard line but here the march was stopped.

Play in the first period was almost wholly in C. U. territory as the Cardinals only once got past midfield and that was near the end of the quarter when they advanced to Providence's 41-yard mark.

Shortly after the second period started the Friars again were in scoring position, when a poor C. U. punt gave them first down on their adversaries' 30-yard mark. A pass, Gould to Wright, brought the homesters a first down on C. U.'s 20-yard line and plunges by O'Keefe advanced them to within 12 yards of the Cardinals' goal but here the latter put up another stonewall defense.

After receiving C. U.'s punt the Friars started another march towards the enemy's goal but after progressing 25 yards by virtue of a strong offensive to the Cardinals' 35-yard mark, the visiting defense again showed its ability in a pinch. Play during the remainder of the second period was mostly around midfield with the Cardinals falling to make any scoring threats.
Shortly after receiving the kick-off in the third period Croteau made his costly fumble and Ball recovered on Providence's 15-yard mark. Short plunges by the entire members of the C. U. backfield brought the visitors to the two-yard line. Then Capt. Sheary made his fumble and Ball made his all-important recovery.

Landry Fumbles

C. U. kept the play mostly in Providence ground during the third period and near the end of this session the Cardinals were presented with another scoring opportunity when Landry fumbled Sheary's punt on Providence's nine-yard line, where Ball recovered for the visitors. The Cardinals advanced to the Friar one-yard line, but that was the extent of their advance as Dromgoole twice broke through to stop C. U. backs in their tracks.

O'Keefe, kicking from behind his goal line, sent out a beautiful 60-yard punt to Augusteffer who fumbled when he was tackled by Roberge. Dromgoole recovered for the Friars on C. U.'s 49-yard line to give his team another chance to score, but Schott made a bad pass from centre and the ever reliable Ball fell on the free ball for C. U. as the period ended.

Providence made a great bid for victory shortly after the final quarter got under way, staging a march from their 53-yard line to C. U.'s eight-yard line, but after all the good work, O'Keefe fumbled on the eight-yard line to spoil the Friars' chances of at least a tie.

Fumbles by the Cardinals gave the Friars two other chances to score in the final period, but the Dominicans were right on the job to return the fumbles.
