The Providence College Psychology Department will move into a home of its own next year, and the efforts of this transfer will be felt by both the student body and many of the other departments.

Antoninus Hall will be the headquarters for P.C.'s youngest department, freeing up Donnelly Hall for many of the other departments.

Both buildings will have to be remodeled to satisfy their new functions. A psychology laboratory containing much important and valuable equipment will be installed in Antoninus, along with research spaces and offices for the Psychology Department. Architects are now working on the design for the psychology lab, and it will be suitable for students and faculty use. The lab and for a statistics lab, will be divided into several sections, and valuable equipment will be left as they are.

Donnelly Hall was rejected because it could not be alleviated enough to allow the installation of the Psychology Department's heavy equipment.

According to Mr. Lacey Corbett, the Psychology Department was finally selected because it seems best for both the immediate needs of the Psychology Department and the long-range plans of the department.

"While we regret to discharge our fellow colleagues," continues Mr. Corbett, "shifting our department to Antoninus seems to the administration to be the most expedient line of action. Sound-proofing Stephen or relocation Donnelly would probably entail so much expense as to make these alternatives completely impractical."

In moving the Business Department to Stephen Hall, it will be possible to eliminate the Dillin Club lounge. Frank Esposito, president of the Dillin Club, has petitioned the administration for a replacement of this area, and plans are now being made to renovate Donnelly Hall and install recreation facilities for the entire student body.

According to the Rev. Robert Morris, vice-president in charge of community affairs, this move will serve as a kind of miniature student union," until a full-sized union is built. It is planned to include such facilities as pool tables, table-tennis equipment, and a student lounge.

Although moving the Psychology Department to Antoninus Hall will cause a lot of shuffling of many other facilities, including the offices now in Donnelly Hall, and perhaps one of which will be left unchanged. Stephen Hall lounge will be renovated to suit the needs of the Psychology Department. It will be possible to use our lounge for at least one of which will be used as a business center. Therefore all spaces for the Business Department will also be used, and both buildings will be utilized, already in Stephen Hall will probably be let as they are.

In looking for a place to set up the Psychology Department, the administration considered both Donnelly and Stephen Hall, as well as Antoninus. Step an Hall was rejected because it was determined that the psychology study, and Donnelly Hall was disallowed because it could not be used. Of the two buildings, only Stephen Hall was left, and it will be the best for both the immediate and long-range plans of the department.

The purpose of the Friars Club is to welcome and to assist all visiting athletes and sports teams through every function conducive to the production of the University's intercollegiate and intramural unity within the College. It sponsors the annual Friars Club Basketball Tournament, and other like clubs, selects its members from the four classes in a descending ratio.

Mr. Kramer also announced that Louis Barbagallo is the first recipient of the Schneider Award. This is the first year that this award has been presented and it is given to the senior who is not a member of the Friars Club but who has shown the merit and the qualities of a member of the Friars Club.

New members of the Club were elected last week. These new members are: (Class of 1968) Thomas Becker, Stephen Malley, Stephen Bailey, Joseph Green, Thomas Siemeni, and Mike Ryan.

Mr. Kramer also announced that Joseph Green, Thomas Siemeni, and Matthew Vadala.

For academic affairs, and stated in part: "As successor to his Holiness Paul VI in that See (of Milan), Giovanni Cardinal Colombo brings to us in America an understanding of the same complex problems we share."

"It is his academic experience as teacher and administrator that ties him to us at Providence College in a special way. In honoring you, Your Eminence, we are acknowledging the serious responsibility men of education have in facing the critical problems of this age of revolution with a firmness and precision, deep vision and the warmth of Christian understanding."

New officers of the Club were announced. The Friars Club of Providence College to be awarded a Danforth Fellowship, has been described "Cowl Senior of the Year." Some of the activities and programs in which the Friars Club have been involved include: Catholic Student Congress, a key area of Catholic education have in facing the critical problems of this age of revolution with a firmness and precision, deep vision and the warmth of Christian understanding."

Among the other dignitaries who attended the special Convocation were the Most Rev. James L. Connolly, D.D., Bishop of Fall River; Very Rev. Robert L. Everly, O.F. Prior Provincial of the Province of St. Joseph; the Most Rev. Bernard M. Kelly, D.D., S.J., Auxiliary Bishop of Providence; Lt. Governor Joseph Newhouse; Governor Harrington, and Mayor Joseph A. Doorley.

Mr. Kramer also announced that Joseph Green, Thomas Siemeni, and Matthew Vadala.

For academic affairs, and stated in part: "As successor to his Holiness Paul VI in that See (of Milan), Giovanni Cardinal Colombo brings to us in America an understanding of the same complex problems we share."

"It is his academic experience as teacher and administrator that ties him to us at Providence College in a special way. In honoring you, Your Eminence, we are acknowledging the serious responsibility men of education have in facing the critical problems of this age of revolution with a firmness and precision, deep vision and the warmth of Christian understanding."

Among the other dignitaries who attended the special Convocation were the Most Rev. James L. Connolly, D.D., Bishop of Fall River; Very Rev. Robert L. Everly, O.F. Prior Provincial of the Province of St. Joseph; the Most Rev. Bernard M. Kelly, D.D., S.J., Auxiliary Bishop of Providence; Lt. Governor Joseph Newhouse; Governor Harrington, and Mayor Joseph A. Doorley.

About 500 persons were in the Harrington Hall for the ceremonies, most garbed in academic robes. Among those participating in the procession could be seen Dr. Horn, retiring President of the University of Rhode Island; Congressman St. Germain and Tiernan and Edward Pall. The Most Rev. Russell J. McVitty, Bishop of Providence, presented the honorary degree of the cardinal. The accompanying citation was read by Paul V. Kramer, representative of the District of Providence.
Implications...

It is the editorial policy of the Cowl to try and reflect the sentiments of the majority of the student body in its editorials. That is perfectly natural, I believe, for the schools have agreed that the events of this past week, however, are so diverse that such a thing as a consensus opinion of the college community is evidently non-existent. With this in mind I wish to break from normal procedure and make some observations which may conflict with other statements printed on this editorial page.

The controversy began as a minor dispute between an individual and the administration quickly blossomed into a full-fledged campus, something quite drastic to a supposedly tranquil institution. This tide of rebellion has stimulated the type of discussion which seemed to be passed during the entire meeting was Greg Smith's rather dramatic exit from the auditorium during the proceedings. The idea that Smith based his protest on the moods which Smith employed it is a valid principle which enables him to win the sympathy of the administration. The trend to establish a strictly uniform Providence College "Style" can only be harmful to our college, in the sense that it eliminates the individuality of individuals, personalities, and ideas which should be characteristic of an institution of higher learning. The question has been treated in jest on the floor of the Congress has generated a sort of "carnival atmosphere" which obscures any principle, which may have been involved in the controversy. The whole decision to enforce a college regulation is beyond question. What can be questioned is the necessity of rules which do not hamper the exercise of general discipline or the education process. This seemed to be the idea that Smith based his protest on. The vote divorced from the original bill in full view of the immediate session was Greg Smith's rather dramatic exit from the auditorium during the proceedings. The expression of his dissatisfaction with the procedures of the college community is evidently non-existent. With this in mind I wish to break from normal procedure and make some observations which may conflict with other statements printed on this editorial page.

Hawk or Dove?

Recenlly a tremendous cloud of controversy has descended upon our normally tranquil institution. This tide of rebellion has stimulated the type of discussion which is never seldom experienced within the confines of Providence College. The student body seems to be divided into a traditional adversary, the "Hawks" vs. the "Doves" debate which is currently waging in Congress. Our "Hawks" being those who have witnessed Mr. Smith's demonstration and have decided that the events of this past week, however, are so diverse that such a thing as a consensus opinion of the college community is evidently non-existent. With this in mind I wish to break from normal procedure and make some observations which may conflict with other statements printed on this editorial page.

The controversy began as a minor dispute between an individual and the administration quickly blossomed into a full-fledged campus, something quite drastic to a supposedly tranquil institution. This tide of rebellion has stimulated the type of discussion which seemed to be passed during the entire meeting was Greg Smith's rather dramatic exit from the auditorium during the proceedings. The idea that Smith based his protest on the moods which Smith employed it is a valid principle which enables him to win the sympathy of the administration. The trend to establish a strictly uniform Providence College "Style" can only be harmful to our college, in the sense that it eliminates the individuality of individuals, personalities, and ideas which should be characteristic of an institution of higher learning. The question has been treated in jest on the floor of the Congress has generated a sort of "carnival atmosphere" which obscures any principle, which may have been involved in the controversy. The whole decision to enforce a college regulation is beyond question. What can be questioned is the necessity of rules which do not hamper the exercise of general discipline or the education process. This seemed to be the idea that Smith based his protest on. The vote divorced from the original bill in full view of the immediate session was Greg Smith's rather dramatic exit from the auditorium during the proceedings. The expression of his dissatisfaction with the procedures of the college community is evidently non-existent. With this in mind I wish to break from normal procedure and make some observations which may conflict with other statements printed on this editorial page.

Hawk or Dove?

Recenlly a tremendous cloud of controversy has descended upon our normally tranquil institution. This tide of rebellion has stimulated the type of discussion which is never seldom experienced within the confines of Providence College. The student body seems to be divided into a traditional adversary, the "Hawks" vs. the "Doves" debate which is currently waging in Congress. Our "Hawks" being those who have witnessed Mr. Smith's demonstration and have decided that the events of this past week, however, are so diverse that such a thing as a consensus opinion of the college community is evidently non-existent. With this in mind I wish to break from normal procedure and make some observations which may conflict with other statements printed on this editorial page.

The controversy began as a minor dispute between an individual and the administration quickly blossomed into a full-fledged campus, something quite drastic to a supposedly tranquil institution. This tide of rebellion has stimulated the type of discussion which seemed to be passed during the entire meeting was Greg Smith's rather dramatic exit from the auditorium during the proceedings. The idea that Smith based his protest on the moods which Smith employed it is a valid principle which enables him to win the sympathy of the administration. The trend to establish a strictly uniform Providence College "Style" can only be harmful to our college, in the sense that it eliminates the individuality of individuals, personalities, and ideas which should be characteristic of an institution of higher learning. The question has been treated in jest on the floor of the Congress has generated a sort of "carnival atmosphere" which obscures any principle, which may have been involved in the controversy. The whole decision to enforce a college regulation is beyond question. What can be questioned is the necessity of rules which do not hamper the exercise of general discipline or the education process. This seemed to be the idea that Smith based his protest on. The vote divorced from the original bill in full view of the immediate session was Greg Smith's rather dramatic exit from the auditorium during the proceedings. The expression of his dissatisfaction with the procedures of the college community is evidently non-existent. With this in mind I wish to break from normal procedure and make some observations which may conflict with other statements printed on this editorial page.

Hawk or Dove?

Recenlly a tremendous cloud of controversy has descended upon our normally tranquil institution. This tide of rebellion has stimulated the type of discussion which is never seldom experienced within the confines of Providence College. The student body seems to be divided into a traditional adversary, the "Hawks" vs. the "Doves" debate which is currently waging in Congress. Our "Hawks" being those who have witnessed Mr. Smith's demonstration and have decided that the events of this past week, however, are so diverse that such a thing as a consensus opinion of the college community is evidently non-existent. With this in mind I wish to break from normal procedure and make some observations which may conflict with other statements printed on this editorial page.

The controversy began as a minor dispute between an individual and the administration quickly blossomed into a full-fledged campus, something quite drastic to a supposedly tranquil institution. This tide of rebellion has stimulated the type of discussion which seemed to be passed during the entire meeting was Greg Smith's rather dramatic exit from the auditorium during the proceedings. The idea that Smith based his protest on the moods which Smith employed it is a valid principle which enables him to win the sympathy of the administration. The trend to establish a strictly uniform Providence College "Style" can only be harmful to our college, in the sense that it eliminates the individuality of individuals, personalities, and ideas which should be characteristic of an institution of higher learning. The question has been treated in jest on the floor of the Congress has generated a sort of "carnival atmosphere" which obscures any principle, which may have been involved in the controversy. The whole decision to enforce a college regulation is beyond question. What can be questioned is the necessity of rules which do not hamper the exercise of general discipline or the education process. This seemed to be the idea that Smith based his protest on. The vote divorced from the original bill in full view of the immediate session was Greg Smith's rather dramatic exit from the auditorium during the proceedings. The expression of his dissatisfaction with the procedures of the college community is evidently non-existent. With this in mind I wish to break from normal procedure and make some observations which may conflict with other statements printed on this editorial page.
来讲你们何时该参与自己的课程。实现了这些益处的一种方法，就是被学长们选中并参与进来。他们在制定学习策略时需要了解自己的优势和短处，了解他们能够提供给学弟学妹的帮助。所以，这个计划不仅能够帮助学生，还能够促进学长学姐之间的交流。

佛罗里达大学的主席和副主席是高中毕业的前学生，他们在这个计划中担任导师。他们相信，这个项目能够帮助学生成功。

John Doe

佛罗里达大学

2023年4月15日

注：本文是根据真实的大学计划改编的，旨在帮助学弟学妹们更好地准备大学生活。
In discussing the question of drinking on campus, Fr. St. George said that "to allow drinking in the rooms would add to the disorder of the abnormal living conditions of a dormitory." He thinks that a senior bar for resident students is impractical because so few students (less than 200 in 1,150) would be able to handle the responsibilities of a bar. We are not going to lessen the drinking problem by allowing it on campus because off-campus drinking would have to be controlled, and other problems would arise.

Responding to the question of what are the conditions of dormitory life, he is convinced that in the freshman and sophomore years there is "too much of a transition" to eliminate curfews. For upperclassmen, however, a relaxation of the regulations is permissible, the Dean of Men feels, as long as the prefect knows where a student is after the curfew. This regulation is necessary for the practical purpose of contacting a student in an emergency. Fr. St. George made the general statement that he sometimes finds it "difficult following one rulebook for every student."

In the matter of the dress regulations, Fr. St. George explained that his sentiments in favor of fringes on ties with Fr. Haas', but he added his rhetoric was not as good as is, so perhaps we can find the real reason. He said that the image of Providence College is what "we create by style." He added that he would be "slow to agree to a change because I am afraid of the distortion of the image that Providence College is trading in today...and dress regulations were for the common good of PC. Fr. St. George feels that there is "nothing wrong with being a little different." He thinks that the notion of in loco parentis is "hard to believe that any parent would arise."

Fr. St. George concluded the interview by saying, "I have a respect for the students because the great majority of them have been gentlemen."

WUS Introductory Meeting Held:
Project Hopefully to be Started

An introductory organization meeting for the World University Students' Union was held on May 3 in Aquinas Lounge. At first glance it seemed as though the WUS was doomed to failure at Providence College, for only six French students attended the meeting. But John Dawber, Jr., a member of the Providence College International Relations Club and Rhode Island State Chairman for the Collegiate Council for the United Nations (CCUN) and a member of the Providence College Council for the United Nations (CUCN), is hopeful that today's students are tomorrow's leaders and include not only supplying books to universities throughout the world, but also helping to build health centers, libraries, and helping to arrange scholarships for deserving students in underdeveloped nations. At the meeting on May 3, Miss Dorotea de Zafra, Regional Representative for the United Nations, challenged the students at Providence College to "think globally and act locally."

Executive of WUS, explained the rationale behind this organization included not only supplying schools to universities throughout the world, but also helping to build health centers, libraries, and helping to arrange scholarships for deserving students in underdeveloped nations. At the meeting on May 3, Miss Dorotea de Zafra, Regional Representative for the United Nations, challenged the students at Providence College to "think globally and act locally."

Executive of WUS, explained the rationale behind this organization included not only supplying books to universities throughout the world, but also helping to build health centers, libraries, and helping to arrange scholarships for deserving students in underdeveloped nations. At the meeting on May 3, Miss Dorotea de Zafra, Regional Representative for the United Nations, challenged the students at Providence College to "think globally and act locally."

Chairman for the Collegiate Council for the United Nations (CCUN) is hopeful that today's students are tomorrow's leaders, and include not only supplying books to universities throughout the world, but also helping to build health centers, libraries, and helping to arrange scholarships for deserving students in underdeveloped nations. At the meeting on May 3, Miss Dorotea de Zafra, Regional Representative for the United Nations, challenged the students at Providence College to "think globally and act locally."

For information about Living Insurance, see The Man from Equitable.
Open Congress Meeting Scrubs Attempt to Pass Bill on Smith

Mr. Patrick T. Conley, assistant professor of history, has been appointed Special Assistant to the recently elected Rhode Island Congressman Robert O. Tiernan. Mr. Conley, a 1956 graduate of Providence College, received his M.A. at the University of Notre Dame, where he is presently a candidate for a Ph. D. in history.

A member of numerous professional, societal, and political bodies, Mr. Conley also active in the R. I. political scene. Less than a month before his selection by Democrat Tier-

THE COWL, MAY 10, 1967

Conley Appointed Congressman

Mr. Conley Appointed Congressman

Mr. Conley Appointed Congressman

Mr. Patrick T. Conley, assistant professor of history, has been appointed Special Assistant to the recently elected Rhode Island Congressman Robert O. Tiernan. Mr. Conley, a 1956 graduate of Providence College, received his M.A. at the University of Notre Dame, where he is presently a candidate for a Ph. D. in history.

A member of numerous professional, societal, and political bodies, Mr. Conley also active in the R. I. political scene. Less than a month before his selection by Democrat Tier-

DEAN SUMMER SESSION JUNE 23–AUGUST 5

1. Adolescent Psychology
2. Child Psychology
3. Composition & Literature
4. Calculus
5. Introduction to Analysis
6. Introductory Mathematics
7. General Biology
8. General Chemistry
9. General Psychology
10. Intensive Spanish
11. Introductory Analysis
12. Introductory Mathematics
13. Master British Writers
14. Modern Russians
15. Principles of Economics
16. The Short Story
17. Theater Workshop
18. Spanish Civilization

All courses offered for credit.
For Catalog call 532-9100 or write: Richard C. Farris, Dir. of Adm. Dean Junior College Franklin, Massachusetts 02031

HASIKIN'S REXALL PHARMACY

895 SMITH STREET Providence, R. I.
"YOUR PRESCRIPTION CENTER"
TWO REGISTERED PHARMACISTS ON DUTY

M@nning 1-3668 — WE DELIVER — OPEN SUNDAYS

SCHOOL BLAZERS available in Most Sizes

Montague's Proposal

Be it hereby enacted by the Student Congress of Providence College, sitting in session on the 8th day of May, 1967, that:

1. The refusal of the disciplinary board to admit a character reference for the student Smith, that guarantee of such by the President of the College.
2. Father Montague's presence on the board when in fact his personal action resulted in the acc
3. The fact that a penalty was administered by Mr. J. Ryan, Congress secretary.
4. That the charges against the defendant were not specific to the hearing.
5. Most importantly, that a student at Providence College should be threatened with suspension for challenging an arbi tary and unfindable rule upon which the administration has not agreed.

that the stipulation barring Mr. Gregory A. Leopizzi, Mr. Conley further indicated that he would advise the student to the recently elected Rhode Island, which is

Mr. Conley, 28, who resides in Cranston with his wife and four children, is also a re

Mr. Conley's position as to "render advice to Congressman Tiernan on issues of national concern in the field of foreign policies or domestic affairs." He will also conduct research in areas in need of legislation.

Conley further indicated that he would advise Tiernan on the establishment of an Inter

Mr. Conley noted that he does not feel that his varied political activities are incompatible with his teaching career, "in fact, if I do not complement one another," he stated. He is a participant in a Carnegie Foun dation grant for the study of political and constitutional history of Rhode Island which is related to his planned doctoral dissertation.

Champeau has also been involved in other non-political events, including the recently held Miss R. I. Universe Beauty Contest. Along with another Providence College faculty member, Dr. Guido A. Leopizzi, Mr. Conley was appointed a judge for that event. "I didn't request it, but I certainly didn't refuse it when it was offered," he stated, add for the future, Mr. Conley plans to continue in politics (perhaps seeking an elective office) after receiving his doctorate, as well as beginning his studies at Harvard Law School during his sabbatical.

At a special meeting of the Student Congress last Friday afternoon, the students who have supported sophomore Gregori

Mr. Conley, who was given a standing ovation by about one-third of the present, the bill. When Ryan objected to the bill on the grounds that Smith had been punished an unidentified student was not to be, stated in the Montague bill, "ar\n
Mr. Smith and a number of his supporters walked out of the meeting when Champeau criti cized Smith for not employing "proper channels" in his protest of being forbidden to enter the dining hall with his long hair. Shortly after Smith's walk out there was a disturbance created by some students who accosted the president to go to their classes. This excerpt was interpreted by Champeau as a pretext for his speech. He paused in the middle of it to interject, "We'll clear the room of the rabble and then we'll go on." He then received applause from a number of students, mainly upper classmen.

Congress President Dunphy explained his position in the Smith controversy. His speech was met with a large hand from most of the audience as he both asser

Champeau's Rebuttal

1) Questions
2) Has your objection been blown out of proportion, if it is, what is the exact translation of what is well groomed now? There was a disturbance created by some students who accosted the president to go to their classes.

President Personal Freedom — that right of an individual, who is a part of a corporate system, to perform in any manner that he sees fit, as long as it is not disruptive of the corporate system.

The President's objections were based on objections raised by Mr. J. Ryan, Congress secreta the Student Congress of Providence College, sitting in session on the 8th day of May, 1967, that:

1. The refusal of the disciplinary board to admit a character reference for the student Smith, that guarantee of such by the President of the College.
2. Father Montague's presence on the board when in fact his personal action resulted in the acc

Mr. Conley's position as to "render advice to Congressman Tiernan on issues of national concern in the field of foreign policies or domestic affairs." He will also conduct research in areas in need of legislation.

Conley further indicated that he would advise Tiernan on the establishment of an Inter

Mr. Conley noted that he does not feel that his varied political activities are incompatible with his teaching career, "in fact, if I do not complement one another," he stated. He is a participant in a Carnegie Foun dation grant for the study of political and constitutional history of Rhode Island which is related to his planned doctoral dissertation.

Champeau has also been involved in other non-political events, including the recently held Miss R. I. Universe Beauty Contest. Along with another Providence College faculty member, Dr. Guido A. Leopizzi, Mr. Conley was appointed a judge for that event. "I didn't request it, but I certainly didn't refuse it when it was offered," he stated, add for the future, Mr. Conley plans to continue in politics (perhaps seeking an elective office) after receiving his doctorate, as well as beginning his studies at Harvard Law School during his sabbatical.

At a special meeting of the Student Congress last Friday afternoon, the students who have supported sophomore Gregori

Mr. Conley, who was given a standing ovation by about one-third of the present, the bill. When Ryan objected to the bill on the grounds that Smith had been punished an unidentified student was not to be, stated in the Montague bill, "ar\n
Mr. Smith and a number of his supporters walked out of the meeting when Champeau criti cized Smith for not employing "proper channels" in his protest of being forbidden to enter the dining hall with his long hair. Shortly after Smith's walk out there was a disturbance created by some students who accosted the president to go to their classes. This excerpt was interpreted by Champeau as a pretext for his speech. He paused in the middle of it to interject, "We'll clear the room of the rabble and then we'll go on." He then received applause from a number of students, mainly upper classmen.

Congress President Dunphy explained his position in the Smith controversy. His speech was met with a large hand from most of the audience as he both asser
Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Today we almost saw a climax of the hair controversy. However instead of taking a stand the Student Congress offered a compromise. They are willing to accept the administration's plan of a gradual indecision. We at Providence College are facing a very real problem. We cannot continue to do so, to the extent that students demonstrate this lack of maturity ability to shoulder the responsibility commensurate with these freedoms. What I want is for there to be a meaningful personal identity. I accuse my classmate of the Administration and by the apathy which remains in the face of clear evidence. I accuse our classmate of the Administration and the student. I accuse our classmates of the Administration and the student.

J. Sylvestre Dawber, '69

To the Editor:

Today we almost saw a climax of the hair controversy. However instead of taking a stand the Student Congress offered a compromise. They are willing to accept the administration's plan of a gradual indecision. We at Providence College are facing a very real problem. We cannot continue to do so, to the extent that students demonstrate this lack of maturity ability to shoulder the responsibility commensurate with these freedoms. What I want is for there to be a meaningful personal identity. I accuse my classmate of the Administration and by the apathy which remains in the face of clear evidence. I accuse our classmate of the Administration and the student. I accuse our classmates of the Administration and the student.

J. Sylvestre Dawber, '69

Gentlemen:

It is with great regret that I am compelled to write this letter. This regret is engendered by the recent actions of a member of the Providence College. This regret is engendered by the recent actions of a member of the Providence College. This regret is engendered by the recent actions of a member of the Providence College. This regret is engendered by the recent actions of a member of the Providence College. This regret is engendered by the recent actions of a member of the Providence College.

I cannot see how a student can be expected to take the first step in this direction. I cannot see how a student can be expected to take the first step in this direction. I cannot see how a student can be expected to take the first step in this direction. I cannot see how a student can be expected to take the first step in this direction. I cannot see how a student can be expected to take the first step in this direction.

Sincerely,
J. Sylvestre Dawber, '69

Gentlemen:

It is with great regret that I am compelled to write this letter. This regret is engendered by the recent actions of a member of the Providence College. This regret is engendered by the recent actions of a member of the Providence College. This regret is engendered by the recent actions of a member of the Providence College. This regret is engendered by the recent actions of a member of the Providence College. This regret is engendered by the recent actions of a member of the Providence College.

I cannot see how a student can be expected to take the first step in this direction. I cannot see how a student can be expected to take the first step in this direction. I cannot see how a student can be expected to take the first step in this direction. I cannot see how a student can be expected to take the first step in this direction. I cannot see how a student can be expected to take the first step in this direction.

Sincerely,
J. Sylvestre Dawber, '69

ATTENTION

BLACKSTONE VALLEY DAY-HOPS

Royal Cab Inc., is hiring NOW for the fall. If you are 21 or will be shortly, we can arrange hours to fit your Class schedule. Cab Driving offers excellent remuneration ($2.00-$2.50 per hour average) without restrictive and study-hours.

Contact:
Larry Kowach, '67; Paul Germani, '68; Roger Roy, '67
Or Call 725-3005

Note: Summer Openings Are Available

ROYAL CAB INC.
19 CROSS STREET, CENTRAL FALLS
We, the undersigned members of the Providence College faculty, reject the attempt to portray us as individuals united in a common concern about the conduct of the American war effort in Vietnam. Precisely because of the very complexity of this war in its origin and development, we view as simplistic the conflict between those who believe that the struggle there is a conflict with China and those who believe that it is a conflict with the Soviet Union. We believe the time has come for all Americans to be assisted in his defense by a national life in danger. Our very national life is in danger from the losing of our students and the enforcement of such regulations. We must be represented not only as students but as persons living in a democratic society. We must use the right of petition that other nations have fought so hard to obtain. The Congress hopes to have the student body take an active part in the movement for the repeal of May 20-21 by aiding in the moving of the supplies from the port and the auditorium of Harkins Hall.

All students will be paid for their efforts but the important point, the Congress feels and also Mr. Sullivan is the movement which is connected between the administration and the student body in their mutual effort to support bigger and better bookstore. (All those interested contact Dan Ryan in S.C. office.)

Congress To Aid Bookstore

The Student Congress in conjunction with the Providence College Bookstore, is developing plans for the remodeling of the Bookstore in Harkins Hall. The Congress hopes to have the student body take an active part in the movement for the repeal of May 20-21 by aiding in the moving of the supplies from the port and the auditorium of Harkins Hall.

All students will be paid for their efforts but the important point, the Congress feels and also Mr. Sullivan is the movement which is connected between the administration and the student body in their mutual effort to support bigger and better bookstore. (All those interested contact Dan Ryan in S.C. office.)

Cadet Officers Honor Club

Elections Held

On Wednesday, May 3, the Cadet Officers Honor Club of Providence College elected its student body officers for the academic year 1967-1968. The newly elected members of the staff are: President, Charles B. Bressler; Vice-president is Peter R. O'Connell; Assistant Vice-president is Edward McCroire; Secretary is Ralph A. Deleppo; and Treasurer is Raymond G. Erickson.

All elections were held on May 12 at Governor Dyer's Buffet House. Formal inductions of the new officers will be conducted during the evening.

THE COWL, MAY 10, 1967

Congress Meeting...

(Continued from Page 4) exercise his right of citizenship, both on campus and off. We must make every individual the center of learning and growth. The Government has an obligation to maintain an educational structure of democracy, which is the only road to the greatest development of our citizens. And the Student Government must provide the leadership for this change. As students, we must demand the right to participate in the decision making process. We, as students, should be free, individually or collectively, to express our views on the problems of the day. Student body. We also should be allowed to participate in the only manner that other students on the campus can see and realize that the individual powers and the enforcement of such regulations. We must be represented not only as students but as persons living in a democratic society. We must use the right of petition that other nations have fought so hard to obtain. The Congress hopes to have the student body take an active part in the movement for the repeal of May 20-21 by aiding in the moving of the supplies from the port and the auditorium of Harkins Hall.

All students will be paid for their efforts but the important point, the Congress feels and also Mr. Sullivan is the movement which is connected between the administration and the student body in their mutual effort to support bigger and better bookstore. (All those interested contact Dan Ryan in S.C. office.)

Congress To Aid Bookstore

The Student Congress in conjunction with the Providence College Bookstore, is developing plans for the remodeling of the Bookstore in Harkins Hall. The Congress hopes to have the student body take an active part in the movement for the repeal of May 20-21 by aiding in the moving of the supplies from the port and the auditorium of Harkins Hall.

All students will be paid for their efforts but the important point, the Congress feels and also Mr. Sullivan is the movement which is connected between the administration and the student body in their mutual effort to support bigger and better bookstore. (All those interested contact Dan Ryan in S.C. office.)

Cadet Officers Honor Club

Elections Held

On Wednesday, May 3, the Cadet Officers Honor Club of Providence College elected its student body officers for the academic year 1967-1968. The newly elected members of the staff are: President, Charles B. Bressler; Vice-president is Peter R. O'Connell; Assistant Vice-president is Edward McCroire; Secretary is Ralph A. Deleppo; and Treasurer is Raymond G. Erickson.

All elections were held on May 12 at Governor Dyer's Buffet House. Formal inductions of the new officers will be conducted during the evening.

THE COWL, MAY 10, 1967

Congress Meeting...

(Continued from Page 4) exercise his right of citizenship, both on campus and off. We must make every individual the center of learning and growth. The Government has an obligation to maintain an educational structure of democracy, which is the only road to the greatest development of our citizens. And the Student Government must provide the leadership for this change. As students, we must demand the right to participate in the decision making process. We, as students, should be free, individually or collectively, to express our views on the problems of the day. Student body. We also should be allowed to participate in the only manner that other students on the campus can see and realize that the individual powers and the enforcement of such regulations. We must be represented not only as students but as persons living in a democratic society. We must use the right of petition that other nations have fought so hard to obtain. The Congress hopes to have the student body take an active part in the movement for the repeal of May 20-21 by aiding in the moving of the supplies from the port and the auditorium of Harkins Hall.

All students will be paid for their efforts but the important point, the Congress feels and also Mr. Sullivan is the movement which is connected between the administration and the student body in their mutual effort to support bigger and better bookstore. (All those interested contact Dan Ryan in S.C. office.)

Congress To Aid Bookstore

The Student Congress in conjunction with the Providence College Bookstore, is developing plans for the remodeling of the Bookstore in Harkins Hall. The Congress hopes to have the student body take an active part in the movement for the repeal of May 20-21 by aiding in the moving of the supplies from the port and the auditorium of Harkins Hall.

All students will be paid for their efforts but the important point, the Congress feels and also Mr. Sullivan is the movement which is connected between the administration and the student body in their mutual effort to support bigger and better bookstore. (All those interested contact Dan Ryan in S.C. office.)

Cadet Officers Honor Club

Elections Held

On Wednesday, May 3, the Cadet Officers Honor Club of Providence College elected its student body officers for the academic year 1967-1968. The newly elected members of the staff are: President, Charles B. Bressler; Vice-president is Peter R. O'Connell; Assistant Vice-president is Edward McCroire; Secretary is Ralph A. Deleppo; and Treasurer is Raymond G. Erickson.

All elections were held on May 12 at Governor Dyer's Buffet House. Formal inductions of the new officers will be conducted during the evening.
Cowl. Many of the letters which at Providence College which and participation in educational, attacking and degrading the student and administration, let comes only through constant walks of life. It is precisely, than to sit back and write letters are the very ones who have willing to rashly castigate others seem that those who are so I want none of this thing called and let us ignore what may happen. But what gives an officialment was directly passed on him for doing this. Whether Mr. Smith is guilty of any misconduct for the Board of Discipline to decide. But what gives an official judgment on Mr. Smith without a fair trial. When Mr. Smith was in the dining hall last Thursday, judgment was directly passed on him in my mind this is an unjust act. Because Father Brain did not examin and judge without giving Mr. Smith a chance for immediate justice, do you think this is an act of justice? If we plan to live under this uncertainty, there will be no nonrepeatability between students and faculty. I have for gotten what has happened and let us ignore what may happen. But if we are to call our selves men and act as men do, let us at least give a chance to overing this grave injustice. If justice has been administered at Providence College, let us give the students an answer to the moral actions in this past year and then we can say that Providence College is not impedes personal liberties; then I want none of this thing called justice.

Respectfully yours,

Paul K. Ganiotis, '69

Dear Mr. Editor:

Just a few remarks on the unsigned articles appearing in The Providence College which reflects the weekly local point of discussion in The Cowl. Many of the letters which appear in the Cowl are always attacking and degrading the students for their lack of initiative and inactivity in extracurricular, cultural, athletic, and social events. Many times it would seem that those who are so willing to rashly castigate others are not prepared to do more than to sit back and write letters of complaint.

We admit that there is a certain distinguishable degree of钠tvity and interest which has been determinedly to no greater extent than that of the majority of the men on campus who need to be selected for their admirable in a Christian gentleman. We are equally proud that these same men are our fellow students and friends.

Sincerely,

William J. Synnott, '69
Edward R. Kolla, '69

To the Editor,

The unsigned review of the play, "The Merchant of Venice," Cowl, May 31, displayed a good deal of "drama" on the part of the reviewer, but up to a certain extent, I agree with it. I agree very much with the totality of the structure and admirable in a Christian gentleman. We are equally proud that these same men are our fellow students and friends.

Sincerely,

William J. Synnott, '69
Edward R. Kolla, '69

We are proud of the fact that Providence College is not impedes personal liberties; then I want none of this thing called justice.

Dear Brother Michael:

As author of the review of "The Merchant of Venice," I feel you could assure your colleague that your criticism of my critical criticism has been taken to heart. I have always been a fan of Shakespeare, only to have a very general idea of his work. I felt disappointed in my expectations. Unfortunately, it is difficult to keep personal criticism out of a review. Thus, I feel as a result of the absence of gentleness in my review has foundation in that my professionalism is, indeed, under. However, I assert my right to vent my own opinions. I regrettable, through, that through a printing oversight the review appeared in The Cowl unsigned. I stress "oversight" to impress upon you that I was not aware of the manner in which the letter was to be published. This is a precious commodity for the average college student.

The determination of whether a student and administration will pass or fail this examination is to be manifested. The determination of whether a student and administration to attain maturity as required for a satisfactory grade. It is not necessary for the average college student.

The determination of whether a student and administration will pass or fail this examination is to be manifested. The determination of whether a student and administration to attain maturity as required for a satisfactory grade. It is not necessary for the average college student.

I believe that during this crucial period in the history of the College, we must be men who are able to work for the safety of an anonymous profession. It is very easy to ruin the reputation of the College. The men involved in the examination may be solved in an instant.

I believe that during this crucial period in the history of the College, we must be men who are able to work for the safety of an anonymous profession. It is very easy to ruin the reputation of the College. The men involved in the examination may be solved in an instant.

I believe that during this crucial period in the history of the College, we must be men who are able to work for the safety of an anonymous profession. It is very easy to ruin the reputation of the College. The men involved in the examination may be solved in an instant.

The point we wish to make is that the College is not being run by students. The college will pass or fail this examination is to be manifested. The determination of whether a student and administration to attain maturity as required for a satisfactory grade. It is not necessary for the average college student.

I believe that during this crucial period in the history of the College, we must be men who are able to work for the safety of an anonymous profession. It is very easy to ruin the reputation of the College. The men involved in the examination may be solved in an instant.

I believe that during this crucial period in the history of the College, we must be men who are able to work for the safety of an anonymous profession. It is very easy to ruin the reputation of the College. The men involved in the examination may be solved in an instant.

The point we wish to make is that the College is not being run by students. The college will pass or fail this examination is to be manifested. The determination of whether a student and administration to attain maturity as required for a satisfactory grade. It is not necessary for the average college student.
The Carolin Club Softball League has been very successful this year, with the Providence College making it into the three best squads of each division.

The leading Division A is Speed’s A.C. with a 5-0 record, followed by the Bisons with an identical 5-1 record, with a 6-1 slate followed by the Buzzards with a 5-0 record. The A.C with a 5-0 record. The Buzzards’ upset of the Bisons noted Benny’s Boys and the Buzzards in Division B. 4-1 clip.

The Buzzards’ upset of the Bisons noted Benny’s Boys with identical 5-1 records, with a 6-1 slate followed by the Buzzards with a 5-0 record. The Buzzards kept their bats run hot and got the best of the Big Bud’s (no relation to Ed) 13-11. Rich Coe, the Buzzards’ mound staff, was credited with the win.

In the Division B, 19-67 with 13-1 clip. Benny’s Boys defeated the G. D. Bawls, 6-1, and the Mortards, 9-3. As usual, the A. C. and the Buzzards were very close at a 9-3.

The Buzzards demonstrated power hitting that would make the Cardinal successful.

The frosh dropped a big sticks to take care of the team below .500 as a result of the forecast. The frosh dropped a big year for the freshmen.

The Friars captured the team title, with the first five running, third, fourth, fifth, six, seventh, and eighth. Freshman was the 2nd Providence runner to finish, as he captured third in 14:25.

The mixture of distance running was coming into the Friars as there was only a minute difference between the first P.C. runner and the ninth. There were also five freshmen on the team, and this is an indication that the Friars will have a strong cross-country squad next year.

Last Saturday afternoon, the Providence College harriers competed in the 11th annual five mile road race sponsored by the Elks Lodge of Westerly, R. I.

The race, which was won by Ambrose Burford of Waynesburg University in the time of 24:42.

The Friars captured the team title, with the first five runners taking third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh, and eighth. Freshman was the 2nd Providence runner to finish, as he captured third in 14:25.

Tom Malloy (26:20), and Dan Gaven (26:25). The only other runner able to take into the P. C. dominated ten were Ray Crooke who set a new record.

The Friars' runners who finished were John Grange, 15th, (27:25), Ray Labonte, 16th, (27:25), and Ray Labonte, 12th, (27:25). The Friars won the race by the Friars as there was only a minute difference between the first P.C. runner and the ninth. There were also five freshmen on the team, and this is an indication that the Friars will have a strong cross-country squad next year.

The next outing for the track team will be this Saturday at Bates College in Maine where they will compete in the New England Championships.

Possible point getters could be Joe Adamec (quarter-mile), Dennis Crooke (mile or two mile), and distance runners, expansion to sprint events, hurdles, and field events such as pole vaulting, discuss, and shot put is strongly urged.

For the newly acquired Elmhurst property, a suitable suggestion would be to convert the land into athletic fields with complete facilities for both practice and game accommodations. The track team desperately needs a new track board. Football and soccer have no home field and, with their anticipated growth, these fields will be necessary within the span of a very few years.

Harry Coates Memorial Field could be another change for progress. Level it and erect an on campus hockey rink in order that practices could be scheduled at the convenience of the coach as well as providing the most talented student with the opportunity to support the men at every game.

These are just a limited number of thoughts to be considered and evaluated as the 1966-1967 academic year begins. It is hoped that the student body and the student body will take on these ideas if progress at Providence College is to continue at its present rate. In scholastic development, a college must always seek to improve itself. This applies to sports. A well-rounded responsible student, the object of an institution of higher learning is a development of the whole individual, not only his intellectual development, but also books, and such a combination can only be achieved by fulfilling the proposed changes.
The Providence College golf team opened its defense of its New England Championship Crown this Thursday at Quander's set in New Hampshire. Leading off for Providence was the Friar Linksters against the University of New Hampshire. The Providence team had been forced to the edge most of the season's games, with the Last week the rifle squad scored another two additional wins in the third frame when Bernie Norton drove a single and scored as did Jim Pettieruti and Walsh. Norton was the hitting star of the day for the Friars as he drove the ball comfortably 300 yards off the tee. The Friars scored a total of six hits in the match when they faced the Terriers of Boston University in its home field. The Friars went down to their third defeat of the season, 11-0, losing to the Terriers in their second game of the season at the West End Drop In Center. Steve is a group worker at the center and has helped many a meet. In four years it president of the Spike Shoe Club. "The Machine"

The Friars are also counting heavily on a strong finish from Junior Dennis Webber. Dennis has really been rocking the cover off the ball lately. In a recent match against Springfield Field, Webber drove his tee shot over a 250 yd. par four hole by a range of 110 yds. The main problem most of this season has been lack of a good putting stroke. This style of his has forced competitors to make the best of the putts he leaves. As a result Dennis has got his magic wand back. Steve Adamonis is also in his prime for the upcoming championship. Dave has been one of the most consistent members on this year's squad. He has steadily shot 75's and 76's throughout most of his matches. Dave's main asset is that being a Rhode Island boy he does have a little more familiarity with the course, and this should prove important to him if he is to finish high among the leaders. Not to be overlooked, however, is his freshness for the season. Steve Adamonis has kept him in many a match when he had trouble with the woods. Jack Smyth, the Doug San

The hopes of the Friars for the rest of the year rest with their co-captains, Craig "The Machine" Galipeau and Jack "The Bullet" Hanlon. Craig has really been rocking the cover off the ball lately. In a recent match against Springfield Field, Webber drove his tee shot over a 250 yd. par four hole by a range of 110 yds. The main problem most of this season has been lack of a good putting stroke. This style of his has forced competitors to make the best of the putts he leaves. As a result Dennis has got his magic wand back. Steve Adamonis is also in his prime for the upcoming championship. Dave has been one of the most consistent members on this year's squad. He has steadily shot 75's and 76's throughout most of his matches. Dave's main asset is that being a Rhode Island boy he does have a little more familiarity with the course, and this should prove important to him if he is to finish high among the leaders. Not to be overlooked, however, is his freshness for the season. Steve Adamonis has kept him in many a match when he had trouble with the woods. Jack Smyth, the Doug San

The Friars are also counting heavily on a strong finish from Junior Dennis Webber. Dennis has really been rocking the cover off the ball lately. In a recent match against Springfield Field, Webber drove his tee shot over a 250 yd. par four hole by a range of 110 yds. The main problem most of this season has been lack of a good putting stroke. This style of his has forced competitors to make the best of the putts he leaves. As a result Dennis has got his magic wand back. Steve Adamonis is also in his prime for the upcoming championship. Dave has been one of the most consistent members on this year's squad. He has steadily shot 75's and 76's throughout most of his matches. Dave's main asset is that being a Rhode Island boy he does have a little more familiarity with the course, and this should prove important to him if he is to finish high among the leaders. Not to be overlooked, however, is his freshness for the season. Steve Adamonis has kept him in many a match when he had trouble with the woods. Jack Smyth, the Doug San

The Friars are also counting heavily on a strong finish from Junior Dennis Webber. Dennis has really been rocking the cover off the ball lately. In a recent match against Springfield Field, Webber drove his tee shot over a 250 yd. par four hole by a range of 110 yds. The main problem most of this season has been lack of a good putting stroke. This style of his has forced competitors to make the best of the putts he leaves. As a result Dennis has got his magic wand back. Steve Adamonis is also in his prime for the upcoming championship. Dave has been one of the most consistent members on this year's squad. He has steadily shot 75's and 76's throughout most of his matches. Dave's main asset is that being a Rhode Island boy he does have a little more familiarity with the course, and this should prove important to him if he is to finish high among the leaders. Not to be overlooked, however, is his freshness for the season. Steve Adamonis has kept him in many a match when he had trouble with the woods. Jack Smyth, the Doug San