PC Drama Has New Look Under Bernard Masterson

By Frederick Day

Relatively little opposition arose last year when the Pyramid Players, Providence College's drama club for a total of thirty-six years, was declared defunct. The last production, "Arsenic and Old Lace," had taken place in 1963.

That disappeared created no great void at the college. Though Providence College has been known as a liberal arts college since its founding in 1519, many areas of the arts have been missing — specifically college dramatics.

The Genesian Players have been formed this year by a small group of students dedicated to starting an active drama club on campus. "Identifying the Players with the old Pyramid Players," according to Mr. Bernard Masterson, director of drama for the group, "would unquestionably be a grave injustice to this group in their attempt to recreate some form of theatrical professionalism at PC."

Regarding themselves as completely distinct from any other theater organization of the past, the Genesian Players are perhaps justified in labeling their upcoming production of three one-act plays as "quality work."

Mr. Masterson has remarked, "the caliber of the writers of these plays deserves the attention of the students." Yet he

Camera Club Most Recent Cause of Official Worry

Camera Club display in Harkins Foyer. Dan Cassidy, author of the display a letter, dated November 28, which read:

"Permission for this display has been granted on the grounds that it represents a certain type of photography."

"The granting of this permission is in no way to be interpreted as aproving the validity of any of the works here expressed. In fact, the Administration regrets that what was intended simply as a proper function of the Camera Club should involve any type of propaganda."

Cassidy told the COWL that he had "no intention at all to agree with the idea behind the peace movement. He said he went to Washington on his own initiative and out of curiosity. He claimed no intention of doing the photo-exhibit prior to his going to Washington. He expected to find (in Washington) a bunch of nuts; but they weren't all nuts, and this is one of the major points of my essay."

Numerous rumors arose from the controversy. The most widespread was that the F.B.I. had come to the campus to investigate the display, Mr. Newton said that the F.B.I. did not come to the campus to see the display (Continued on Page 12)

Disciplinary Board Reviewed; Student Participation Questioned

On November 9, a bill was proposed before the Student Administration Committee by James Montague, president of the Junior Class, and the administration for student representation on the College Disciplinary Board.

Montague stated in his proposal that in recent years P.C. has affirmed that the basic protection available to citizens should be available to all students charged with infractions of College regulations. This has included most of the rights of due process, he said. He added:

"To the extent that the College administration has insured these rights and thereby reaffirmed the essential dignity of the student as a person we are most grateful. However, in an area of the student's discipline, to a fuller measure, we do petition the College administration for the right to be a part of the Disciplinary Board."

The bill proposes that two students be selected by the executive committee of the Student Congress and that any student appearing before the board be given the alternative of review by faculty members only.

Montague concluded his proposal by citing a statement of the United States National Student Association in its handbook, "Codification of Policy," concerning such representation:

"Students should be permitted to establish and participate in a judicial system which will create a proper function of the Camera Club should involve any type of propaganda."

Cassidy told the COWL that he had "no intention at all to agree with the idea behind the peace movement. He said he went to Washington on his own initiative and out of curiosity. He claimed no intention of doing the photo-exhibit prior to his going to Washington. He expected to find (in Washington) a bunch of nuts; but they weren't all nuts, and this is one of the major points of my essay."

Fr. Sullivan New Provincial

At an election held at the Dominican House of Studies in Washington, D.C., the Very Rev. Father Kenneth C. Sullivan, O.P., was elected Provincial of the Province of the St. Joseph. This Dominican Province encompasses the entire eastern sector of the United States.

Father Sullivan, a 57 year old native of East St. Louis, Illinois, graduated from Providence College in 1931, two years after entering the Order. On June 10, 1936, Father was ordained to the priesthood in St. Dominic's Church in Washington. He then served for nearly twenty years in two New Jersey parishes, Sacred Heart in Jersey City from 1936 to 1942 and St. Augustine from 1942 to 1956. In 1957 he was appointed to St. Pius Church in Providence, where he was pastor until 1965. Then he was sent to

As a contemporary play it succeeds several stairways and raised spaceousness by the use of dramatic and often successful means of presenting this parallel drama. If they succeed, one is forced, however, to decide whether or not it has attained what might be termed an informal lecture creation of an informal lecture, one is forced, however, to decide whether or not it has attained what might be termed an informal lecture creation of an informal lecture, or at least to answer the question: If it was a play, what happened to the characters?

As a figure head for a very doubtful Cassius, Mark Anthony emerges as a man with not only evil ambition in his head and Octavius seems to have been defined by an evil ambition in his head, but also by a combination of the two. It would seem that the integrity of the Shakespearean characters has been lost and the play serves as a method of acting the political nature of the play.

The only question left in the viewer's mind is whether or not this play is a play or a play or a Shakespearean drama. As a contemporary play it succeeds in its production, but as a Shakespearean drama the characters seem to be insincere and unreal.

Friar Council To Support

Members of Friar Council, Knights of Columbus, will once again ask priests and friars from around the State by playing on the State Council Basketball Tournament.

Each year, the Knights play the Padres, a group of basketball players from the Friars and the Knights of Rhode Island have had several successful games with the Padres with all proceeds going to charity.

Members who wish to play for the "Fighting Knights" are asked to contact William T. Hobert at 622-2523 or their Grand Knight.

Many Bills Passed By Student Congress

At the December 4 meeting of the Student Congress, a few points concerning committee reports of the Congress were brought to the attention of the members.

J. G. Ryan, '69, in the Social Committee report, said he felt that the lack of congressmen has increased the problems of the Friars. Friday, December 1, was the main factor for the lack of control at the dance.

The responsibility for fifteen coats being stolen, afight breaking out and the security moderator being insulted was attributed to the present absence of congressmen. Ryan suggested that some definite action be taken on this situation.

Paul D'Antonio, '68, reported that many congressmen had attended the Friars' Formal and therefore could not attend the function.

In his report on the Sports Week Committee, Paul Dunphy reported that the purchase of buttons for Sports Week was 100 per cent of the money raised and that the Friars' Formal was a complete success.

Fr. Haas Speaks To Education Club

The Educational Association of Providence College opened this year's activities with a talk by the Rev. William F. Haas, O.P., in the Guild Room on November 14.

The president's talk was entitled, "Problems of Secondary Education."

What is the image of the teacher in society? Some conceiv of teachers as unnecessary things that simply have to be put up with. Teachers are truly professionals in a unique sense.

The only adult that dominates a child's life fruitful hours spent in presence of a teacher. The child holds the teacher up as a unique individual — the teacher is a humanitarian. Institutional performance dominates man's life from age four and a half to his death. He will constantly evaluate his teacher and the quality of his teacher's life and the quality of his performance. The teacher is the only human factor in that equation. It is fundamentally totalitarian. The only stable object, Fr. Haas said, "in a child's life that is not the teacher. Not so much the parents. The child tries to figure out what it is to be human.

A band of priests numbering 263 has to make every priest count!

Dr. Viktor E. Frankl, noted psychiatrist, will be the initial speaker of the Slavin Lecture Series on Dec. 10.

Dr. Frankl, who is Professor of Internal Medicine and Neurology at the University of Vienna and Director of the Poliklinik Hospital in Vienna, is considered to be the successor of Sigmund Freud and Alfred Adler in the field of Psychotherapy.

He has authored several books including Man’s Search For Meaning and The Doctor and the Soul. This speech will be Dr. Frankl’s only New England appearance on this visit to the United States.

The subject of his speech, “Youth’s search for Meaning,” reflects his new approach to psychotherapy. Dr. Frankl believes that the major motivation of human behavior is the will to meaning, the search everyone undertakes to find meaning in life.

His approach to psychotherapy, which he calls logotherapy, was developed during the three years which he spent in the Nazi concentration camps at Auschwitz and Dachau. Dr. Frankl lost his entire family, except for one sister, during these years.

Frankl himself says that “logotherapy . . . makes the concept of man into a whole and focuses its attention upon mankind’s groping”

Dr. Gerald P. Kreche, of the Dept. of Philosophy of De Paul University, said in an article which appeared in Pare Magazine that “today Frankl is one of the most famous and most gifted of all psychiatrists. The incredible attempts to dehumanize man at the concentration camps of Auschwitz and Dachau led Frankl to commence the humanization of psychiatry through logotherapy. Frankl is a professional who possesses the rare ability to write in a layman’s language.”

Shankar Rated 'Spellbinding',

By RICHARD LIVERNOIS

There are some rock groups who give concerts (e.g., Jefferson Airplane) that can really do a lot to make a scene. One of the more notable is the Ravi Shankar orchestra, which is currently in residence at the University of California. Shankar, a world-renowned musician, has been in a position to offer some interesting insights into his work and approachable person. While Shankar is a most understanding man, he does feel that Fr. Sullivan will be able to help students in their studies and his profession.

On being asked what his general views of our present college community were, Dr. Leary stated that he believed that it was difficult to have a close knit community life here because, "we are a city college with many of the students and professors commuting between our homes and school." Dr. Leary does feel the professors are obliged to make themselves available for student consultation because "many of the students are isolated outside of the classroom." Dr. Leary believes steps are being taken towards promoting closer student faculty relations in our academic community by the students themselves, and also through the administration, which just this year began the community masses for the faculty members and their families.

Dr. Leary feels that the present Providence College student is not as complacent as he once was. There is much more student interest and activity in the classroom: the students to-day are more demanding of the professor. The good students really want the truth. The much maligned phrase of student apathy is slowly becoming outdated as more and more students become active in extra-curricular organizations.

"I don't believe the college should dictate to the student. He should have freedom of choice." The newly arrived phenomenon of beards on PC students or the possibility of lowering the dress requirement, in principle, is agreed upon by Dr. Leary. "Regimentation is out; however, I do believe, in general, that the appearance of the PC student is very favorable.

WHY DID /ETNA SPEND ALMOST ONE MILLION DOLLARS LAST YEAR IN SUPPORT OF HIGHWAY SAFETY? It makes sense to reduce auto accidents. Everybody benefits. Fewer mishaps mean fewer claims. And fewer claims help lower automobile insurance rates.

More important, it's good corporate citizenship. /Etna Life & Casualty is a leader in the business. And it feels it's up to us to act like it.

In a recent interview Dr. Donald Leary, a member of the board of directors of the college, was asked some pertinent questions concerning the present student faculty community. In his responses Dr. Leary gave opinions on several interesting points that are important in the development of any successful college communal life. His answers don't adhere strictly to any specific liberal standard, for as he himself stated, "I'm not sure I am a liberal." However, they do reflect an educated man's interest in his students and his profession.

On being asked what his general views of our present college community were, Dr. Leary stated that he believed that it was difficult to have a close knit community life here because, "we are a city college with many of the students and professors commuting between our homes and school." Concerning the possibility of an campus rethink as they presently have at Holy Cross, Dr. Leary stated that many legal problems would arise from the 21-year-old age requirement in Rhode Island. "How would you separate those who are 21 from those who aren't. The answer would be to lower the drinking age to 18."

The plausibility of making PC coeducational at this time does not seem feasible to Dr. Leary. "Though I am in favor of coeducational schools, it seems totally impractical right now for PC." However Dr. Leary did state that he saw no reason why girls should not be allowed to visit the student's rooms at specified hours.

The present administration under Father Haas is "developing the school in a manner which I'm in favor." Dr. Leary feels that slowly but surely the needs of the students, if presented properly, will be an answered. The question he poses is "Do the students really know what they want, and when they achieve what they are asking will they know how to use their newly acquired freedom?"

 NSA Conference Held in Minneapolis

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (CPS) The National Student Association held a conference on student power, November 17-18. Delegates meeting on the University of Minnesota campus argued about such concepts as legal rights of students, social freedom; autonomy of student governments; extracurricular ties; student power, and educational reform.

On Friday the 17th NSA Pres. President Ed Schwartz struck a moderator tone in his keynote speech. "Student power is an attempt to create community between the students of the university," he said.

Student power movement is "a rhetoric and reality" in university administration. The student power movement is "a manifestation of overpowering jubilance. The audience was definitely appreciative and gave Ravi Shankar a standing ovation for his masterful presentation.

On November 14, 1967, the Committee on Studies at Providence College unanimously passed a resolution for the establishment of a Social Welfare Sequence in the academic curriculum of the Sociology Department for the second semester.

This passage culminates two years of work and research by P. M. James, O.P., head of the Sociology Department, in cooperation with Mr. Almi Chairest, Director of Social Services at Laid School and guest lecturer at the Providence College Sociology Department, and Mr. James Flanagan of the Sociology Department. The program, which is part of an overall effort to strengthen the Sociology concentration at PC to provide a means for improving Providence College in the life of the community, will be open to Sociology majors during their junior and senior years of work and research by such organizations as the National Council of Social Work and the National Dep't of Health, Education, and Welfare. The program will be active in both public and private social welfare programs.

Fr. James feels that this pilot Social Welfare Sequence program will result in a workable, sound program upon which, if needed, future developments and modifications can be made.

NAPALM DID THIS

DOW CHEMICAL COMPANY, manufactures NAPALM

WHAT IS NAPALM?

A mixture of low-grade jet fuel and gelignite which sticks to anything it touches and burns with such heat that all oxygen in the area is exhausted within a split second. Death is either by roasting or suffocation.

HOW IS NAPALM USED IN VIETNAM?

Our pilots "are given a square marked on a map and told to hit every hamlet within the area" (Washington Post, March 13, 1965). This "strategic bombing in a friendly and allied country" kills "significant numbers of innocent civilians...every day in South Vietnam" (New York Times, Sept 5, 1965), "ten civilians for every VC" according to Special Forces officers (Newsweek, March 14, 1966).

WHO PROFITS?

"Predictions of future use of polystyrene in Napalm-B are running as high as 25 million pounds per month. Dow Chemical has just raised the price of its product..." (Chemical Engineer News, March 14, 1966).
Pass-Fail System

The ten-year expansion program which has recently been announced at PC is dedicated to "advancing the quality of education to be offered at the College." This is an appropriate use of diversification in the physical development of the campus, a few academic goals have been made to accommodate the increased student body. In addition, the ten-year expansion program will provide the necessary additional space for student activities. The elimination of organization and cooperation in the Congress and a marked tendency to get bogged down in trivia. To be specific, there was the "Sports Week Affair." It all started when the chairman of the executive committee in charge of Sports Week couldn't locate his phone button in the student union. He asked someone whom he could have charged in the first place. Here's the punch line, the President of the Student Council later sold them to the Wrestling Club which made it so!!

Do grades offer a reliable scale for measuring individual intellectual, psychological, and social development? Hardly anyone in an academic community can sincerely argue the affirmative. Grades are given on the basis of a certain number of marks which a particular student submits to the purview of a professor, and generally uplifting the intellectual image of the institution. The grading process is a judicial process that adjusts the current grading policies would also enhance the objectives of this laudable program. The institution of the "pass-fail" marking system, similar to the one established at Yale University, would seem to be a significant step in the direction of academic reform. If we are to entertain the thought of such a major adjustment in the grading structure, we must first substantiate the requirements and justifications. What is the rationale for grades? Theoretically, they are supposed to measure the relative progress of students in the curricular direction. They are also the means by which the administration can determine the academic eligibility of students who are admitted to the College. They are considered to be an essential part of the academic curriculum. And yet satisfy the reasons for the possible objections to a minimum of objective norms that can be applied or objective norms that can be applied to the grades of individual students. Furthermore, the investigatory procedure employed by the administration is dubious at best.

If it were not for the seriousness of the principle questioned, the bungling and inflationary tactics of the administrative offices involved would have entered the realm of irresponsible children by one administrative office. Rejection of academic free- dom on the grounds of the administration's appeasement program, aimed at up-grading the College in terms of both physical facilities and academic quality was announced, the administration should question academic freedom. The Camera Club was, and is, in no way connected with the peace group on campus, and that the individual who authored the essay denies dovish leanings, the charge has no substance. It is disheartening to think that any member of a college administration is unable to recognize an art form and yet satisfy the reasons for the possible objections to a minimum of objective norms that can be applied to the grades of individual students. The Congress, the same outfit that managed to lose a few thousand dollars. But don't despair .... there's a new model offices involved would have entered the realm of irresponsible children by one administrative office. Rejection of academic free- dom on the grounds of the administration's appeasement program, aimed at up-grading the College in terms of both physical facilities and academic quality was announced, the administration should question academic freedom. The Camera Club was, and is, in no way connected with the peace group on campus, and that the individual who authored the essay denies dovish leanings, the charge has no substance. It is disheartening to think that any member of a college administration is unable to recognize an art form and yet satisfy the reasons for the possible objections to a minimum of objective norms that can be applied to the grades of individual students.

Oh, by the way, the fact remains that it is the student body which chooses its leaders. Election time is here ... have mercy.

MEMO-
FROM THE EDITOR

It is ironic that on the very day that a 10-year development program, aimed at up-grading the College in terms of both physical facilities and academic quality was announced, the administration should question academic freedom. The Camera Club was, and is, in no way connected with the peace group on campus, and that the individual who authored the essay denies dovish leanings, the charge has no substance. It is disheartening to think that any member of a college administration is unable to recognize an art form and yet satisfy the reasons for the possible objections to a minimum of objective norms that can be applied to the grades of individual students.

In view of the fact that the Camera Club was, and is, in no way connected with the peace group on campus, and that the individual who authored the essay denies dovish leanings, the charge has no substance. It is disheartening to think that any member of a college administration is unable to recognize an art form and yet satisfy the reasons for the possible objections to a minimum of objective norms that can be applied to the grades of individual students.

Lack of cohesiveness among the statements made by the administrative offices involved was not uncommon, and contradiction was apparent.

It was not for the seriousness of the principle questioned, the bungling and inflationary tactics of the administrative offices involved would have entered the realm of irresponsible children by one administrative office. Rejection of academic free- dom on the grounds of the administration's appeasement program, aimed at up-grading the College in terms of both physical facilities and academic quality was announced, the administration should question academic freedom. Clarification...

Editor:
The letter written in the November issue of the Cowl by Mr. John F. Sherlock, and undersigned as the 1969 Ring Committee, does not conform to the opinions of the members of the Junior Class Ring Committee. Mr. Sherlock provided facts and figures of proposed contracts which were supposed to be confidential among the members of the 1969 Ring Committee. As a matter of fact, we agreed to keep the prices and stipulations of commodities within the bounds of the meetings, along with all other pertinent information that helped us to choose the ring company that we felt would serve us best and give us the best product. It would have been nice if Mr. Sherlock had consulted the Ring Committee a whole, especially us, the Co-Chairmen, before writing his letter to the Cowl. At that time Mr. Sherlock did not present the proper figures and facts. These figures and facts are neither here nor there, but Mr. Sherlock's hastiness has caused our ring committee to reject the 1969 Ring Committee to which he referred in his letter.

We, as Co-Chairmen, apologize to the 1970 Class Officers and Ring Committee for the inconvenience which the Co-Chairmen have caused. We feel that we owe them and all other officers and congress members he has questioned an open apology. To the 1970 Ring Committee we offer the best of luck with the hopes that they are as successful as we were in the production of a ring for their class.

'Coffee, Anyone?'

Editor:
During the last two years I have diligently endeavored to build a reputation as the unofficial coffee salesman of the Providence College community. Having been moderately successful, I now find myself in a position to criticize (consequently, of course) the supposed "quality" of the bilge-water now being served.

Before drinking this coffee several precautions should be taken:
1) make out your will
2) notify next of kin
3) call a priest
4) check your insurance premium

The notable exception to the rule occurred last year when, due to lack of funds, the coffee served would have put Burns Valdes in charge. Upon discrete inquiry I discovered that the regular brand had been replaced by a popular brand being used. I immediately called all of my friends and inquired of them how they felt about the change. Much to my horror I discovered that the fault lies not with the employees who brew the coffee, but rather with the brand of coffee used. It seems that this change could easily be changed. Just once before I graduated I would like to treat my friends to a whole pot of coffee in my room (lower digestive tract) to a palatable cup of coffee.

I realize that this problem is not of direct international importance as is Vietnam, but Vietnam is directly involved. It has been said that an army travels on its stomach; what if our officer is sent from Vietnam with a dissolved stomach? Might I imagine the repercussions?

Guestmen of the coffee purchasing department, I implore you to please seek out a superior, better roast coffee. Respectfully standing in readiness with sugar bowl, cream pitcher and spoon,

Are We Against?

Editor:
Being on the scene of the war we must interpret the amount of home support for the war or against peace. To many of the newspapers and magazines that we receive. From these sources it is still extremely difficult to appraise the pulse of public opinion. We, the officers and men of U.S. Naval Mobile Construction Battalion Six, wonder if students across the nation are genuinely against our presence in Vietnam.

The voice of dissent has always been louder than that of affirmation and therefore is quite encouraging to us in this situation.

We hope that by surveying some of the leading universities and colleges across the nation we may hear from some of the silent majority of support of the war. Unlike most surveys, this one is designed to be a mirror of how individuals feel about the war.

Mr. Cassidy was called to account for the display in a way that we feel was arbitrary. Cassidy was called upon to do what only the Executive Board of the Camera Club could do. Once the force was used, and that was to remove the display. For this an innocent display of propaganda on the part of Rob Roy Newton's office and twice in that of Rev. James Murphy, O.P.

The claim has been made that all of the important people who know who did the display? why was it done? and how was it influenced the display? To us, this was initially, a legitimate question which we were ready to answer. That is, we are aware that Mr. Cassidy did not have the power to impose his views in the field of criminology, but we do not believe that some of the methods used belong on our campus. If the reasons offered were true then there would be no need to have a display, but it seems there were certain people of putting up propaganda without concrete evidence. Yet this is what happened to the Camera Club. We have had all these charges levied against us. The Camera Club has done an outstanding service in presenting the March on Washington. We are shocked that our display was not put up in the manner of being run by another group, or of having a pink tinge, or a lack of substance. This is done, or of attempting to ruin the image of an individual or group of people, or of putting up propaganda without concrete evidence. Yet this is what happened to the Camera Club. We have had all these charges levied against us.

We therefore believe that we provide a very valuable service to the nation and are proud of the part we play.

Our club tries to serve the Providence College community to the best of its ability and has never done, and we hope never will, anything that would harm the college.

In our effort to serve the community better we decided to put into action a long neglected part of our constitution. We called for the club to sponsor frequent photographic displays.

To this end, we made our first meetings, to appoint Mr. Daniel O'Malley as curator to look into this. The idea was to present a photo essay, which would bring to light some subjects which might be of student interest. After much work Mr. O'Malley decided to present a glorious film glorifying a felony by showing a draft card burner. We are well aware that a felony is a felony; but just because our criminal experts are outraged by the presentation we will not stand for any such display. The photo is a work of art, it is part of historical event, and nothing else. If our crime experts had been called, we would have been notified that the act portrayed is not a felony for the person burned by that picture. Mr. Cassidy who has served his term (see "The N. Y. Times," Sec. F, pg. 7), for a list of Vietnamese Veterans against the war; and any event the club in no way wishes to aid any type of administration. A confidential Adminstration was soon applied to our club. This letter has been regarded as an insult by the entire club. Why write it when there are people who do not only tell the world that the Administration did not go along with the display? It might be noted that the club itself wrote that the display was not necessary views presented in the display and that the club is accused of being controlled by the Students for Peace. The club stated that it knew nothing of the display and we have sworn an affidavit to that effect. It seems that no evidence was ever presented with it. Still certain people do believe the whole display should be removed, even implying that we are stupid clods who are strong believers in the Peace movement, we are nobody's puppets, neither the C.C. Administration's, nor the Journalists, nor ROCC's, nor the Cowl.

We are shocked that our work is called propaganda for the term brings visions of lies and slanders. To be truthful any photo can be termed propaganda for each has a picture. Even the lone photo of a flower can be said to be propaganda for Lady Bird's Beautification Program. We believe that the implications that this display were very slanted and untrue. The display was neither untrue nor slanted.

We hope that this fact the F.B.I. has viewed our display was common knowledge and will be removed from the college community. It is, yet was withheld from the public. If you would like to know why we were not informed of this review and if we were not asked to be present?

We in no way regard the display as any sort of propaganda. We present the fact that Mr. Cassidy has almost been made a criminal expert. For the truth of his statements we refer you to news media as The N.Y Times, Newsweek, or Providence Journal, T.L. Fallon, Advisor
Fred Lamp, Pres. John Aber, Jr., Vice-Pres. Peter Barry, Sec.

I would like to call to the attention of the college community the excellent display which we had in the month of October march on the Pentagon. The club members put forth an outstanding service in presenting this coverage of an important event. The importance of this information is important to every young man in this community, especially in the current state of world affairs.

While the project may not reflect any particular political statement that the theme of the film evokes, it is an excellent example of the future of cinema. The film's message is clear to those on the campus—just as it was to the American public during the '40s—"war is hell, and peace is the only thing that's worth living for."

History Department
Hosts Open House

On Tuesday, October 17, 1967, a new experiment for solving the problems of grad- school candidates was initiated by the History Department of Providence College.

An “Open House” was held in a recently refurbished lounge in Dominic Hall, the President’s House. Participating in this program were practically all of the teaching staff of the History Department, along with a large number of seniors and juniors interested in graduate work in various fields of history.

According to the Rev. Cornelius P. Forster, O.P., chairman of the History Department and Dean of the Graduate School, the primary purpose of the “Open House” was to explain and discuss admission requirements, courses offered, outstanding professors, and areas of specialization of the major graduate schools in the country.

Because of the varied backgrounds of members of the History Department, introduction to history has been a primary purpose of the “Open House.” Fr. Forster expressed the hope that further informal gatherings will take place.

The Providence College History Department has an excellent cross-section of graduate school backgrounds, by presenting the personal opinions and experiences in an informal atmosphere of discussion to interested students, it is obvious that the serious student should take advantage of this opportunity.

Junior Class in Black;
Schumann Is Credited

The latest figures issued by Ray Pehan, treasurer of the Class of 1969, credit the Junior class with a maximum profit of $4 per ring, for the 557 class rings, with an average profit of $3.50 per ring. The ring payments were financed. Schumann was entirely responsible for devising the plan by which the class ring payments were financed. He and Richardson also performed all of the tedious book work involved in the project.

As the situation now stands, in spite of a $4000 loss incurred on the recent Ring Weekend, the Class of 1969 is again on a secure financial basis. When all the transactions are completed, approximately $3000 will be put in the bank to gain interest, and the current balance of $1100 will be maintained. Tentative plans call for using the money to help finance the class commencement weekend.

If you're a smart cat, you are nervous about playing basketball. For example, you can be nervous about playing the basketball in front of a crowd of fans while still in college. 1. Providence College Big Brothers sponsored the Second Annual Friar Bowl this past Saturday at the Dr. Patrick O'Rourke Children's Center. The contest was won by a hard-fought 13-12 victory by the Cumberland Boys Home.

The event was organized by Walter and Joe Green, who are in charge of all of the sporting activities of the Club. Helping them out were Ed Meekhan, John Pelrine, Denny Gorman, Pat Daly and Dick Donati.

As for the game itself, there was quite a bit of action. The "O'Rourke Rockets" scored the winning touchdown in the final seconds of the game. They had the ball on the one-yard-line and needed a touchdown to win.

The second half was a disaster for the Rockets as the Boys Home scored twice more times and won by a score of 36-12, thereby retaining their championship for another year. Coach Kevin Curry did an excellent job of coaching this year. He was helped by Kevin Bowler and Bob Keely.

An added feature this year was a banner contest which was won by "O" cottage.
Dorm Hockey Begins With Exciting Games

The Providence College Intramural League has entered its fifth season of play last week. This year the league consists of six teams, five of them representing the Carolan Club and one representing the Dionne Club.

The opening game was a high scoring affair which saw the lead change constantly as the Maple Leafs outlasted the Canadians, 9-7. For the Leafs it was a team effort with seven different players contributing to the scoring total. For the Canadians, Harry MacDonald scored the best goal of the game when he started out from behind his own net, skated the full length of the ice, and beat the Canadian netminder with a low, hard shot. John Benett tied the game at seven all when Mark Hutchinson set him up with a beautiful feed from the point. For the Canadians the big gun was Steve McDermott with four goals. Captain John O'Reilly drove one home from the point on a nice passout from Bob Tullberg. Fred Kelly and Greg Tannana netted the other markers.

In the second game the Bruins, behind the hustle an effective team of Phil Sonas, welched the Red Wings, 8-4. Captain Jack McCarric of the Red Wings opened the scoring in the first minute of action, but free there on it was all Bruins as they took charge and outscored the Wings for the remainder of the game.

Other Brunin scorers were J. Murray, Charlie Brown, Pat Simon and Captain Jeff Scudder.

One bright spot for the Win was the play of freshman Jeff Stranahan who led the team in goals with two goals. The Dragons goalie Ron Campbell held on and came up with big saves to preserve the win.

Sports Week Rally Initiates 67-68 Basketball and Hockey Campaigns

November 27th marked the opening of the annual Student Sports Week on campus. Originally instituted by Jack Cullinan three years ago, the purpose of Sports Week is to give pre-season recognition to the athletes and coaches of our winter teams and to instill pride in their performances in our sports.

The committee this year was headed by seniors Bob Loos, Paul Durney, and Matt Havens. The first event was the smoker, at which films of the 1966 Halydaiy and N.I.T. Tournament were shown. As usual a banner contest was held and a trophy which would be awarded by the cheerleaders to the team with the best girlie. The theme for Sports Week was "Frisky Power." The Providence College Club Football team held its first banquet last Thursday evening. November 9th at Oates Tavern in North Providence. The Most Valuable Player Award, Spirit Award, and the 1968 Co-Captains were announced at the banquet.

The Most Valuable Player award which goes to the outstanding senior on the team was presented as expected to George McPherson, a hard hitting fullback. As the Friar backfield in total yards gained with 415. George was invaluable to the ground game and, in addition to his leading role in the offensive game, he scored 26 points and played both ways.

John Champs, president of the Providence College Club Football Association, was presented with the Spirit Award. This is to be presented annually to the person who does the most to further club football both on and off the field. Additional awards were awarded by the team to the coaches, Dick Lynch and Otho Hanwich, and the administrative consultant, Father Driscoll.

Also announced at the banquet were the new co-captains for the Friars, Dick Martin and Mike Egan. Dick went back to the ground game as the running back, but at the same time he remained as the leading scorer with 83 points. Mike Egan was a defensive standout at linebacker and one of the reasons why the PC defense was tough was the originally expected in its initiation.

Egan, Martin and McPherson were also named as the Player of the Week during the season with George being a two time recipient of the award.

Also announced was the是非常 drive which has been conducted this week by the seniors in an effort to determine how many of the students who will be present for the spring practice session.
Wildcats Edge Friars in Hard Fought Game, 58-54

Providence College opened its "year of the challenge" Saturday by losing to Villanova, 58-54. The usual sell-out crowd at Alumni Hall again witnessed the debut of this very uncertain Friar quintet, but the overall performance of the team by its charges gave the partisans much hope for the future.

The Friars employed their customary 3-2 zone defense with the two outside men converging on Tony Koski. Stu Kerzner's hot hand upset the Cats' strategy, and the visitors stormed into an early six-point lead. Villanova regained composure immediately, as Frank Gillen's outside shooting and Joe Crews' work underneath kept the game extremely close the entire first half.

Villanova took a quick 28-26 lead in the second half and remained in front for keeps. The Friars stayed within striking range, but failed to produce a significant rally that could lead them to victory. The Wildcats, to the surprise of many, abandoned the zone for a man-to-man defense. Coach Jack Kraft later explained he felt the Friars "were becoming too confident against our zone." Even the great Jim Walker could not bring Villanova out of its zone the way the '68 Friars did.

All Hayes led the PC offense in the second half, dribbling and maneuvering his man into Koski. Skip drew a few fouls, but missed some vital one-and-one situations. The team as a whole shot a weak 60% from the line, the visitors 48%.

Kerzner thrilled the crowd on offense, Jones garnered a victory. The Friars had the lead going into the second half, but Jim Mcintosh's great block of Koski's hook shot appeared to settle the affair once and for all. PC may have lost the game, but they hardly disappointed anyone.

Meet the 67-68 Frosh Basketball Players

Victor Colucci — A former standout performer from Newart, Vic will play forward this season. At 6' 2" he is tall enough to shoot from any spot on the floor with better than 50% accuracy. He has handled and a hustler all the way. A bright future is predicted.

Michael McGuinn — A promising point guard, Michael has handled himself well under the boards. He has rebounded very well for the frosh thus far.

Michael Weller — A bright future is predicted for the frosh guard. Weller has handled himself well under the boards. He has rebounded very well for the frosh thus far.

Walter Solomon — At 6' 2" Walt can play either guard or forward. He has the size to go underneath and has a good medium-range shot. Lives in Raleigh, North Carolina.

Thomas Montuquilla — Has improved Coach O'Connor with his hustle and desire. Has good moves underneath, and knows how to get around the court. Was a high school basketball player.

William Walsh — Bill is another highly regarded prospect from Brooklyn. An intense performer, Bill has a great shot which he will display often in the game. Will be one of the top scorers on this year's team. If his defense improves he will be a leading candidate for the varsity next year.

Basketball Yearlings Win Their Season Opener 105-85

The frosh hoosters inaugurated their college careers this past weekend on a moderately successful note. The Providence College freshmen bombarded John- son and Wales, 105-85, in Saturday's opener, but dropped a tough 94-92 decision to the URI yearlings on Sunday.

The Johnson and Wales squad was quite a crowd pleaser, but it didn't exactly resemble the game Dr. Naismith had envisioned when he invented the sport. There was nothing conservative about PC's offense. The Friars outran and outshot J&W from the opening tap, featuring a hectic run and shoot attack.

The highly offensive-minded Friars did not reveal a very strong defense and were beaten badly on the offensive boards. Fortunately the visitors offensive showing was very inferior and enabled the Friars to run away with the game. Vic Colucci, a solid 6' 2" forward, led the frosh with 26 points, followed by Bill Walsh's 22. Joe Ferro, a 6' 9" playmaker, handled the crowd with some nifty ballhandling, while hot prospect, Larry Larranaga, played a fine all-around game, scoring 16 points and battling three AIC leapers under the boards.

The URI game was another zone-and-one set-up, designed to stop the Cat's leading scorer, Johnny Jones. Andy Clary shadowed Jones most of the night and held him to nine points. Clary used his hands skilfully on Jones, forcing him away from the basket and preventing him from driving the baseline. Despite his poor showing on offense, Jones garnered 14 big rebounds, high for the game.

The Friars could not cut down on costly mistakes. Sophomore Gerry McNair, performing credibly in his first varsity game, showed signs of unfamiliarity with switching positions in the combinations, and at times, left an opponent open under the basket.

But McNair was strong under the boards as expected. Faulty ballhaling, a defect Mullaney hopes to avoid this year, proved to be the team's undoing. The Friars tried to force the ball into Koski, but the Villanova defenders successfully cut off the passing lanes and stole numerous passes.

With a few breaks near the end, PC might have eked out a victory. The Friars had the opportunity to close within one with two minutes remaining, but Jim Mcintosh's great block of Koski's hook shot appeared to settle the affair once and for all. PC may have lost the game, but they hardly disappointed anyone.

Stu Kerzner Selected as the COWL Player of the Week

Most of the so-called "Basketball experts" have all seemed to overlook the fact that Providence College Basketball team has some very good personnel this season, all of whom played in the "Walks" shadow. Given a chance they have shown they can be a leading candidate for the varsity next year. For his efforts in doing just that Stu Kerzner was named the COWL Player of the Week.

Stu was a transfer student from Utah State and in his first year of varsity action this season he was the team's fifth leading scorer and a standout in the Holiday Festival Tournament in New York.

For the Friars against the Wildcats Stu hit on nine of 14 from the floor and three of three from the line to lead all scorers with 21 points. Stu also played a good game from the defensive side of the ledger.
Pucksters Trounce Bowdoin, Penn; Lose to the Bruins of Brown, 9-0

The Providence College hockey team successfully opened its season this past week by piling two impressive victories over Bowdoin and Pennsylvania at the Rhode Island Auditorium. While its lone setback came at the hands of arch rival Brown University at Alumni Hall.

The Friars, led by two goal scorers, Skip Sampson, Jim Lesander and Fred Costello, loosed the winning goal on their opponent goalie John Krol in their 8-3 victory over the Polar Bears. Skip Sampson started the Friars eight goal attack when he intercepted a pass at center ice and broke into the Polar Bear zone all alone and beat Krol with a perfectly placed shot in the lower left hand corner of the net. PC netted its second goal of the period when Jerry Zifcak tallied on a Sampson pass firing the rubber past the Polar Bear goalie. The final goal for the first period was slapped in by Fred Costello on a pass from Mike Leonard. The Bowdoin squad got one back when Steven Abbott's 40-footer fooled Friar goalie, Frank Trudeau.

Sampson, an outstanding sophomore prospect, netted the only goal in the second period when he took a beautiful pass from Jerry Zifcak and beat the netminder with a blistering slap shot into the left-hand corner of the net. In the third period, the Friar sextet netted four more tallies. Sophomore Jim Lesander led the scoring spree this period by putting the rubber by Bowdoin goalie, Krol, on passes from hustling Mike Leonard. The other two goals came on a tip in by former La Salle All-Stater, Larry Costello, and a blistering slap shot by the outstanding sophomore defense-man, Jean Boislard. Bowdoin scored twice more before the final buzzer.

Also impressive in this season opener for the Friar sextet was the outstanding defensive work of Jean Boislard and hard-hitting Don McGoldruch. Junior goalie Trudeau also turned in a fine performance, turning away many difficult Bowdoin attempts to tally a goal.

On Friday night, when the Friars faced a very hard and aggressive hockey team from U. Penn and Penn State, the Friar sextet pulled ahead in the first period on a picture goal by Jerry Zifcak. This goal was set up when Skip Sampson took a pass from defenseeman Boislard at center ice and skated in on the net. Sampson, seeing Zifcak following him, dropped the pass back and the "Ziffer" shot the puck past the sprawling Penn goalie Smith. The first period saw no more scoring when both goalies turned away strong bids by the skaters for another tally.

The second period was a hard fought session with U. Penn netting the goal which drew them even with the Friars. The Friars was the outstanding goal tender by sophomore Jack Safford in the third period when he turned away 19 of 21 Bruin shots.

Frosh Pucksters Romp Over Pilgrim Behind Rich Pumple

The Providence College freshman hockey, under the coaching of Lou Lamoriello, successfully opened its season by romping over Pilgrim High School, 10-0. Scoring in every period, the Friar offense was led by Rich Pumple, who scored four goals, Tom Sheehan, and Mike Gaffney. The superb defense of Ray Warburton and Dalton Barron harassed the Pilgrim offense all night. Several fine saves by goalie Ray assured the Friars of their first shutout.

Playing their second game of the season at the Rhode Island Auditorium, the Friars faced off against a strong New Prep of Boston sextet, 5-0. During a scramble in front of the net, Harris poked in the initial goal at 6:34 of the first period for New Prep. Munroe tallied at 8:32 as New Prep had a 2-on lead going into the second period. New Prep tallied three more times, once in the second period and twice in the third. PC fell off to a strong New Prep of Boston sextet, 6-3. The main reasons for the Friars' lack of scoring was the fine goal tending by New Prep's John Flaherty, who stopped about 20 Friar shots, and an injury to Ed Ronan which visibly shook his Friar teammates. Ronan, taken to the hospital, is reported to be all right.

In what could prove to be the most exciting game of the year for the freshmen, the Friars edged Brown 6-5 last Saturday afternoon at Meehan Auditorium. Combining all the facets of the game, the freshmen showed that they could play college hockey. Brown opened up the scoring when Schmidt scored at 11:36 in the first period. Two minutes later, Rich Pumple drilled home a goal, leaving the score even at 1-1 at the end of the first period.

The game appeared to be a defensive battle, but Pumple quickly scored, beating Brown goalie Tom Tracy on a Gaffney pass. Pumple scored again while PC was short-handed at the 40 mark. Dalton Barron, a defenseeman, tallied an unassisted goal to put the Friars ahead 3-2 going into the final period. Brown wingman Donahue went on a scoring barrage as he dem­ ed the PC net three times to put Brown in the lead, 5-3, at 8:03 of the last period. But the Friars were not to be denied as Bob Badyk with an assist from Pumple scored the fourth Friar goal at 9:56. Three minutes later on a pass from Mike Gaffney, Tom Sheehan scored the tying goal. With the score at 5-5, Gaffney, a former La Salle Academy star, assisted by Sheehan and Barron, scored the winning goal at 13:44 of the final period.
