The COWL is without a motto.

Devious of the famous slogan of the more famous New York Times, "All the News That's Fit to Print," the COWL desires to suggest a motto that will succinctly and accurately suggest the character of its pages, the purpose of its being, and the aims of its ambition.

For this reason, it is inviting the students of the College to submit their ideas. The student whose motto is submitted will be accepted as the best and will win a prize of five dollars.

The following are simple rules to guide the students:

1. The contest opens today, February 7, and closes Friday, February 28.

2. The contest is open to all current undergraduate students of Providence College.

3. Each student may submit as many slogans as he desires.

4. The slogans must not be less than five nor more than ten words.

5. The slogans are to be written neatly on a piece of paper, with the student's name and year, and deposited in the COWL mail box.

6. It must be original.

The judges of the contest are the Faculty Committee, the President, Joseph P. Dyer, Brendan McMullen, E. Riley Hughes, George Scocecroft and John Mahoney of the COWL staff.

It may be recalled that the SNAPPER, the one-time publication of the Freshmen and Freshman Classes had a motto, "All the News the Campus Knows," which was very well. But, for the COWL, we do want something very distinctive, snappy, dignified, impressive. Of course we may be wanting a lot for our dollars, but after all, five dollars in a student's hand is worth more than a hundred dollars in a publisher's pocket.

FROSH TO HOLD DANCE ON LENTEN EVE

The Freshman Class, a group that has experienced the first period of probation at the college, now step out into the world, for the first time, for their own party. They have been the guests at their first collegiate dance February 5th. It will be a "coming out" party for all the Frosh and the admission is to be customarily competitive. A committee is now working on plans for publicity, entertainment, and decoration.

Frosh versus Senior Bowl

The Providence College freshmen eleven will play six games this fall. The complete schedule follows:

September 26, Colby College at Springfield; October 4, Holy Cross at Worcester; October 11, St. Anselm's College at Worcester; October 18, Springfield College at Holy Cross; October 25, Worcester State College at Holy Cross.

The Providence College freshmen will be playing six games this fall. The complete schedule follows:

October 3, Holy Cross College at Worcester; October 10, Western Maryland; October 17, St. Anselm's College at Worcester; October 24, Boston College at Holy Cross; October 31, Holy Cross at Worcester; November 6, Maranacook College; November 12, R. I. State Freshmen.

WESTERN MARYLAND ONLY

Newcomer on '36 Slate

Western Maryland is the only newcomer on the '36 grid slate. Five home games will be played.

The faculty and student body of Providence College are extending an invitation to the Rev. Dr. Gregory Herold, O. P., their sincere sympathy upon the death of his mother, in Olean, N. Y., on Wednesday last.

The College library was the recipient of hundreds of books donated by the Dominican Order studied here prior to their entering the Province of the House of Studies. His widow has long been prominent as a leader in St. Pius parish affairs. The COWL, in behalf of the student body and members of the faculty, offers sympathy to her and his sons.

POOR SPIRIT SHOWN

Dr. Carroll's Funeral

Saturday at 9 A.M.

Attend Dr. Carroll's Funeral Saturday at 9 A.M.

St. Peter's Church

Dr. Charles Carroll

37 Prom Group hard at Work

Tentative Arrangements Made for This Season's Social Highlight

Elections for the Junior Prom Committee have been held early in December, the officers of the class and those five juniors who received the nomination of their classmates have been working on the plans under the chairmanship of Charlie Gallagher and the moderation of Father Reese.

Tentative arrangements to conduct the annual social highlight in the Bilmore Hotel have been made and the usual form of a dinner dance is presumably to be adopted. The orchestra has not yet been chosen but various of the so-called "name" bands have been seriously considered.

In addition to Gallagher who is chairman, the committee comprises the officers of the class, Francis Fitzpatrick, Mike Donahue, Jack Fairbrother, Jim Baboras, Ed Gall and Ray O'Mara.

Dr. Carroll's Death Mourned

Noted Educator Received Honorary Degree Here

1921

SERVED AS TRUSTEE

Two Sons, Now Dominicans, Prepared for Seminary Studies Here

Providence College and the entire State of Rhode Island, today, are paying tribute to the memory of Dr. Charles Carroll, noted educator and a trustee of Providence College, who passed away Tuesday afternoon at St. Joseph's hospital after a lingering illness. At the time of his death Dr. Carroll was serving as chief of the Division of Public Motion and Supervision of Public Education, and was a professor of law and government of the Rhode Island College of Education.

For years Dr. Carroll has been interested in all the activities of Providence College and served as a member of the College Corporation since the founding of the institution in 1917 by His Excellency, the late Bishop Harkins. In 1931 Providence College conferred upon him the honorary degree of doctor of laws for distinguished services in this state and in the nation. He was especially interested in his neighborhood, counselor, and friend to the students of this institution and the College.

The complete schedule follows:

October 2, St. John's Prep at Providence College; October 3, Holy Cross College at Kingston; October 5, Sacred Heart at Providence College, who passed away Tuesday afternoon at St. Joseph's hospital after a lingering illness. At the time of his death Dr. Carroll was serving as chief of the Division of Public Motion and Supervision of Public Education, and was a professor of law and government of the Rhode Island College of Education.

For years Dr. Carroll has been interested in all the activities of Providence College and served as a member of the College Corporation since the founding of the institution in 1917 by His Excellency, the late Bishop Harkins. In 1931 Providence College conferred upon him the honorary degree of doctor of laws for distinguished services in this state and in the nation. He was especially interested in his neighborhood, counselor, and friend to the students of this institution and the College.

The College library was the recipient of hundreds of books donated by the Dominican Order studied here prior to their entering the Province of the House of Studies. His widow has long been prominent as a leader in St. Pius parish affairs. The COWL, in behalf of the student body and members of the faculty, offers sympathy to her and his sons.

Quintet Faces State Tomorrow; Frosh Game Starts at 6:15 P. M.

The Friars and the Rams will take up where they left off two weeks ago in the Rhode Island State Gym on the Kingston campus tomorrow night. The Ram variety will be out for its second win over the Kenneymans and the Friars will attempt to avenge their previous defeat at the hands of the R. I. Yorkers in a preliminary contest that gets under way at 6:15 o'clock.

Coach McClenan is desirous of topsing the Rhode Island quintet for the second time as this win will virtually secure the Friars the mythical state title as Brown, the third member of the Rhody Big Three, has already been defeated by the Kingston Collegians.

Boys' preparations to handle the biggest crowd that has ever attended a basketball game on their home court and as the seating capacity is much smaller than the Providence Collec-

Dr. Carroll's Death Mourned

Noted Educator Received Honorary Degree Here

1921

Ford Motor Co. in Rhode Island, today, are paying tribute to the memory of Dr. Charles Carroll, noted educator and a trustee of Providence College, who passed away Tuesday afternoon at St. Joseph's hospital after a lingering illness. At the time of his death Dr. Carroll was serving as chief of the Division of Public Motion and Supervision of Public Education, and was a professor of law and government of the Rhode Island College of Education.

For years Dr. Carroll has been interested in all the activities of Providence College and served as a member of the College Corporation since the founding of the institution in 1917 by His Excellency, the late Bishop Harkins. In 1931 Providence College conferred upon him the honorary degree of doctor of laws for distinguished services in this state and in the nation. He was especially interested in his neighborhood, counselor, and friend to the students of this institution and the College.

The College library was the recipient of hundreds of books donated by the Dominican Order studied here prior to their entering the Province of the House of Studies. His widow has long been prominent as a leader in St. Pius parish affairs. The COWL, in behalf of the student body and members of the faculty, offers sympathy to her and his sons.
The COWL is published every fall school week by the students of Providence College.

Offices: Rooms 1 and 15, Harkins Hall — Telephone: Dixie 4048.
Subscription: 1 cen copy, $2.00 a year. 6 or more, 1 year, 85 cents a year.

The STAFF

Editor-in-Chief
Joseph P. Dyer, ’37
Managing Editor
Srendan J. McMullen, ’38
Advertising Manager
Con Sensus
Circulation Manager
John Pessing, ’37

ASSISTANT EDITORS

Art &VAS
Harley Hughes, ’37
Eugene Sullivan, ’37
Robert H. Wilcox, ’37
Robert Healy, ’37
Evelyn Evers, ’37

FEATURES

J. S. Spieripen, ’38
Leo Ploksi, ’38
Joe McAlvy, ’38
Walter A. Hughes, ’39
Robert L. Farrell, ’37
John Graham, ’37
Daniel S. Kneip, ’39
Joseph O'Byrne, ’37
Edward Giff, ’37
Raymond Litchman, ’37

February 7, 1936

44 Fall Riverites
Registered at P.C.

In a recent survey conducted by the Fall River Herald News of sixty-five institutional organizations in the State of Rhode Island, Providence College registered more Fall River students than any other college considered in the survey. Providence College had a total local-enrollment with a total of forty-four with Brown and Boston University tied in second place with twenty-six each. Others considered in the survey and reporting students from Fall River are: State Teachers College thirty-one, Wesleyan twenty, Roger Williams University eighteen, Emmanuel fifteen, Rhode Island College twelve, St. John’s ten, and Bryant College ten. Providence College students were sure to give us all the details—With plenty of innuendoes—of his time that Queen Victoria held him on her lap, and continued to speculate. The American nation had a good cry. We gushed with smaller nations. She has our interest at heart only insofar as it makes it. She is snobbish towards us, and importantly, she has government, tradition, culture and society? Our forefathers were very determined to break all ties. Has the situation so radically the sentiment that after all we are a part of the English tradition? Of Denmark. Aye, he, too, is a worthy ruler, a noble man, but Perhaps Christian X does not possess that indefinable something made in this country upon the death of Christian X, present king of Denmark. Aye, he, too, is a worthy ruler, a noble man, but learned. Since the athletic, the dramatic and the literary activities are so well governed by the best of directors, the students have more stress on music and produce a competent musical direction. If you recognize the potential wealth of musical talent. Providence College started the football game in 1891 as a fill-in between the football and baseball seasons for the boys at the college. He formulated 18 rules which were eventually elaborated upon and subsequently spread to every campus in the country. This year competition in this sport will be held for the first time in the Olympic Games and will be staged in Berlin in August. It is estimated that the game is played by almost every country and will be watched by ten million people. The present Olympic games will be carried out in full day time efficiency. We are wrong, or this is inconsistent.

ROGER WILLIAMSpardoned

On the occasion of the Tercentenary of the founding of Rhode Island by Roger Williams, the neighboring State of Massachusetts has seen fit to pardon him of the offense he committed against the intolerant majesty of the Massachusetts Bay Colony three centuries ago.

The pardon, we feel, is even a worse offense than the original condemnation. It is a mere public relations stunt, and Williams himself, a freethinker, is by the legal permission his spirit to roam free. We do not regard the pardon as a vindication without let or hindrance, deprives Williams of any further right to free speech.

We have no way of knowing if Roger's ghost accepts the pardon or not. If it is, it is tinfoil at the bottom of the pot—whether it is worn by Williams or his Hobo King masquerading as Lafayet. We are more interested in Williams' pardon than in the legalities of the case, for we feel that Williams was a very able and worthy man, but we think that we Americans were boroughs enough to pardon him for the offense which he committed three hundred long years ago.

The exile made Williams famous; his pardon from the State of Rhode Island has seen fit to pardon him of the offense he committed against the intolerant majesty of the Massachusetts Bay Colony three centuries ago.

The exiled bachelor was a prominent figure in the history of the town of Providence, R. I., and his name has become synonymous with the name of the town. He is remembered as a generous and hospitable man, who entertained many of the early settlers of the town. He was a finely built man, with dark brown hair and blue eyes, and was noted for his wit and humor.

The pardon of Roger Williams was a significant event in the history of Rhode Island, and it was seen as a symbol of the state's commitment to freedom of speech and expression. It was also seen as a way to honor Williams' contributions to the state and its history.

BENDING THE EDITORIAL EAR

Dear Editor:
We have in this college a potential wealth of musical talent. You have displayed a genuine appreciation of music, but rather to improve our campus. True, and the fertilizer. But tell us, don't it carry exam notices. I know you were willing to serve all departments, why not put a little more stress on music and produce a competent musical direction. If you recognize the potential wealth of musical talent. Providence College has seen fit to pardon him of the offense he committed against the intolerant majesty of the Massachusetts Bay Colony three centuries ago.

We have no way of knowing if Roger's ghost accepts the pardon or not. If it is, it is tinfoil at the bottom of the pot—whether it is worn by Williams or his Hobo King masquerading as Lafayet. We are more interested in Williams' pardon than in the legalities of the case, for we feel that Williams was a very able and worthy man, but we think that we Americans were boroughs enough to pardon him for the offense which he committed three hundred long years ago.

The exile made Williams famous; his pardon from the State of Rhode Island has seen fit to pardon him of the offense he committed against the intolerant majesty of the Massachusetts Bay Colony three centuries ago.

The exiled bachelor was a prominent figure in the history of the town of Providence, R. I., and his name has become synonymous with the name of the town. He is remembered as a generous and hospitable man, who entertained many of the early settlers of the town. He was a finely built man, with dark brown hair and blue eyes, and was noted for his wit and humor.

The pardon of Roger Williams was a significant event in the history of Rhode Island, and it was seen as a symbol of the state's commitment to freedom of speech and expression. It was also seen as a way to honor Williams' contributions to the state and its history.

BENDING THE EDITORIAL EAR

Dear Editor:
We have in this college a potential wealth of musical talent. You have displayed a genuine appreciation of music, but rather to improve our campus. True, and the fertilizer. But tell us, don't it carry exam notices. I know you were willing to serve all departments, why not put a little more stress on music and produce a competent musical direction. If you recognize the potential wealth of musical talent. Providence College has seen fit to pardon him of the offense he committed against the intolerant majesty of the Massachusetts Bay Colony three centuries ago.

We have no way of knowing if Roger's ghost accepts the pardon or not. If it is, it is tinfoil at the bottom of the pot—whether it is worn by Williams or his Hobo King masquerading as Lafayet. We are more interested in Williams' pardon than in the legalities of the case, for we feel that Williams was a very able and worthy man, but we think that we Americans were boroughs enough to pardon him for the offense which he committed three hundred long years ago.

The exile made Williams famous; his pardon from the State of Rhode Island has seen fit to pardon him of the offense he committed against the intolerant majesty of the Massachusetts Bay Colony three centuries ago.

The exiled bachelor was a prominent figure in the history of the town of Providence, R. I., and his name has become synonymous with the name of the town. He is remembered as a generous and hospitable man, who entertained many of the early settlers of the town. He was a finely built man, with dark brown hair and blue eyes, and was noted for his wit and humor.

The pardon of Roger Williams was a significant event in the history of Rhode Island, and it was seen as a symbol of the state's commitment to freedom of speech and expression. It was also seen as a way to honor Williams' contributions to the state and its history.

BENDING THE EDITORIAL EAR

Dear Editor:
We have in this college a potential wealth of musical talent. You have displayed a genuine appreciation of music, but rather to improve our campus. True, and the fertilizer. But tell us, don't it carry exam notices. I know you were willing to serve all departments, why not put a little more stress on music and produce a competent musical direction. If you recognize the potential wealth of musical talent. Providence College has seen fit to pardon him of the offense he committed against the intolerant majesty of the Massachusetts Bay Colony three centuries ago.

We have no way of knowing if Roger's ghost accepts the pardon or not. If it is, it is tinfoil at the bottom of the pot—whether it is worn by Williams or his Hobo King masquerading as Lafayet. We are more interested in Williams' pardon than in the legalities of the case, for we feel that Williams was a very able and worthy man, but we think that we Americans were boroughs enough to pardon him for the offense which he committed three hundred long years ago.

The exile made Williams famous; his pardon from the State of Rhode Island has seen fit to pardon him of the offense he committed against the intolerant majesty of the Massachusetts Bay Colony three centuries ago.

The exiled bachelor was a prominent figure in the history of the town of Providence, R. I., and his name has become synonymous with the name of the town. He is remembered as a generous and hospitable man, who entertained many of the early settlers of the town. He was a finely built man, with dark brown hair and blue eyes, and was noted for his wit and humor.

The pardon of Roger Williams was a significant event in the history of Rhode Island, and it was seen as a symbol of the state's commitment to freedom of speech and expression. It was also seen as a way to honor Williams' contributions to the state and its history.
Ars Poetica

Our Trouble

When we write Edgar Allen Poe, So many others do the same. It's almost sure to happen so— When we write Edgar Allen Poe. Our work is now no use you know, But tell us pray who is to blame;

River Po.

Joe Cook Lauds College Career

(Continued from Page 1) I never went to College, but did attend High Shoe, which is just above Oxford. I fully realize what college means to you students, for I too had to work my way out of school. Now I am a professional alumnus. I lost my amateur standing when the Dean paid my fare home in my third sophomore year. However, in my class was a young fellow who later was known as Thomas Edison. He used to watch me eating Bermudian dinners. It was then that the thought came to him that if a bulb could light up my face why not light up the bulb. So I'm really the father of electricity. Music too owes a debt to me. While at school I did not write the 'Music goes round and round,' and I could have. My best known opera opus is that well known college song, 'The Sweetheart of Sigmund Romberg.' I contributed to art also. It was a painting of mine, a picture of the 'Big Red.' I called it "Big Red Life," that was my diploma. At least that was the thing the Dean threw at me. So you can see that College life is not a mystery to you, though it still might be a mystery to you.

The Cost of Good Merchandise is Never so Great as the Cost of Experimenting with the Chaper

Up-to-date Equipment for Every Sport

Wright & Ditson

Established 1871

344 Washington Street, Boston

Providence Cambridge
The professors had a tough time of it pouring over that mess of blue books. There must be nothing diller and physically harder than the task of correcting countless examination papers with a view of finding out exactly what the student knows (or does not know), so that he can be given a just academic appraisal.

The work, however, not only has its compensation in the consciousness of a duty done, but it invariably has its "moments" of glee, like a silver lining in a dark cloud, as the song has it. The professor often comes across expressions which cause him to chuckle with delight; others fill him with awe and to garble the king's English.

Exams Reveal Some New Boners.—Mrs. Dionne, Roger Williams, Einstein, Receive 'Honorable Mention'

The craziest statements are
The result is highly amusing. And to misconstrue doctrine markable and traditional ingenuity to their mystery. In answering praise.

Exams Reveal Some New Boners.—Mrs. Dionne, Roger Williams, Einstein, Receive 'Honorable Mention'

The craziest statements are
The result is highly amusing. And to misconstrue doctrine markable and traditional ingenuity to their mystery. In answering

praise.

Exams Reveal Some New Boners.—Mrs. Dionne, Roger Williams, Einstein, Receive 'Honorable Mention'

The craziest statements are
The result is highly amusing. And to misconstrue doctrine markable and traditional ingenuity to their mystery. In answering

praise.

Exams Reveal Some New Boners.—Mrs. Dionne, Roger Williams, Einstein, Receive 'Honorable Mention'

The craziest statements are
The result is highly amusing. And to misconstrue doctrine markable and traditional ingenuity to their mystery. In answering

praise.

Exams Reveal Some New Boners.—Mrs. Dionne, Roger Williams, Einstein, Receive 'Honorable Mention'

The craziest statements are
The result is highly amusing. And to misconstrue doctrine markable and traditional ingenuity to their mystery. In answering

praise.

Exams Reveal Some New Boners.—Mrs. Dionne, Roger Williams, Einstein, Receive 'Honorable Mention'

The craziest statements are
The result is highly amusing. And to misconstrue doctrine markable and traditional ingenuity to their mystery. In answering praise.