JOURNAL OF THE CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION

Providence, Rhode Island

September 26, 1966

The Convention was called to order by Mr. Dennis J. Roberts, Chairman, at 1:46 P.M., pursuant to the following written notice:

"September 20, 1966

"To the Delegates to the Constitutional Convention:

"Pursuant to the action of the Convention at its last session, as Chairman, I am calling the next session of the Convention for Monday, September 26, 1966, at 1:30 P.M. in the Chamber of the House of Representatives.

"Enclosed is a list of the proposals which are in order for Second Reading. As you are well aware, because of an insufficient number of votes at the last session, it was impossible to proceed with the Article on the Legislative Power.

"In order for the Convention to proceed in an orderly manner and to reach a conclusion to its work, it is absolutely necessary that there be greater attendance at the sessions and a participation in the deliberations by all the delegates.

"A great deal of time and effort has been expended by a majority of the Delegates to this Convention in an effort to produce a new and revised Constitution for our state. Therefore, for the work of nearly two years to be nullified by the absence of a small number who thus make it impossible for a consideration to get the required fifty-one votes for final passage, appears to me to be unwarranted.

"The Chairman of the Committee on which you serve will call you and urge you to be present on Monday and at all future sessions of the Convention. If we can secure this increased attendance throughout sessions, in a relatively few meetings we can wind up the work of the Convention and present the document to the people.

"I know that you will cooperate in this matter.

"Sincerely yours,
(signed)
Dennis J. Roberts, Chairman"
