PC Hosts Peace Corps For Annual Recruiting

Peace Corps Week came to Providence College on Monday, February 19, to wit ness a recruiting drive for the Peace Corps. Miss Jeanne Calamari and Mr. Michael Jer ald, both former volunteers, presented information for the Peace Corps, delivered a lecture Tuesday on the Peace Corps in action, and answered questions. An information center was set up in the Alumni Lounge during the two week period. During the Peace Corps Week, Peace Corps volunteers, a thirty minute Modern Language Aptitude Test will be given on Wednesday in Harkins Hall and McDermott Hall.

The most enlightening event of Peace Corps Week was the film, "Give Me a Riddle," shown Monday in the Guild Room. The film concerned the return of a former volunteer to the area of his work, Nigeria. The film portrayed the actual work of a volunteer was converted to the student audience. The film revealed the frustrations, satisfactions, and problems of the volunteers and put their work into the life of a volunteer. "Give Me a Riddle" is an at

Barry Goldwater to Speak;
Second in PC Forum Series

Barry Goldwater, former Senator from Arizona and the Republican presidential candidate in 1964, will be the second speaker in the Providence College Forum lecture series. Mr. Gold water's speech will be presented on Feb. 23 in Alumni Hall at 8 p.m.

Born in Phoenix, Ariz., on Jan. 1, 1909, Goldwater attended public schools in Phoenix and Staunton Military Academy in Virginia. He attended the University of Arizona for one year. Goldwater began his political career in 1942 when he was elected to the City Council of Phoenix on a "reform ticket." In 1952, he launched a hard driving campaign to defeat the Democratic Senatorial incumbent, then majority leader of the U.S. Senate. In a startling upset, Goldwater won the seat. He easily won re-election in 1958.

In the United States Senate, Mr. Goldwater was the senior Republican on the Labor and Public Welfare Committee and its key Philadelphia subcommittee, which oversees our nation's defenses. He also served three terms as chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee.

Former Senator Goldwater is a World War II Air Force veteran. Now retired as an officer in the Air Force Reserve, he spent over fifteen hours of flying time in jet and conventional aircraft.

Besides being an experienced lawmaker and a much sought after guest speaker, Barry Goldwater is the author of three best selling books, the latest of which is Where I Stand.

Until recently, former Senator Goldwater was a nationally syndicated political column. The fact that he has given up this position to serve as a professor of journalism is a fact that will be appreciated by the students who are studying mass communications.

In a meeting with Mr. William Newton, a member of Annual Giving, last week the co-Chairmen of the Committee decided that a senior from each concentration will be selected to serve on the Committee.

Previous to their meeting with Mr. Newton, Mr. Robert Hambleton, co-Chair man of the Committee, met with Mr. Newton at the Cowl office. Mr. Newton was the moderator of the Class of 1964, the first class to initi ate the new voting system.

The purpose of the meeting was to learn more about a program of this type.

Senior Gift
To Be Divided

The Senior Class Gift Committee has decided that the program for the payment of the pledge will be divided by concentrations. In a meeting with Mr. William Newton, a member of Annual Giving, last week the co-Chairmen of the Committee decided that a senior from each concentration will be selected to serve on the Committee.

Previous to their meeting with Mr. Newton, Mr. Robert Hambleton, co-Chair man of the Committee, met with Mr. Newton at the Cowl office. Mr. Newton was the moderator of the Class of 1964, the first class to initi ate the new voting system.

The dates for nominations and elections were announced at the Student Congress meeting on Monday night.

Nominations for the executive officers, those of President, Vice-President, Secretary, and Treasurer, will be held from March 19-27 and the speeches of all the candidates will be given on March 27. The election of Student Congress officers has been scheduled for March 28 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in Alumni Hall.

Class officer and Student Con gress representative nominations will be open between March 25 and March 29. Elections will be held from April 2-4 for the classes of 1966, 1970, and 1971, respectively.

Congressman Kevin Newman '68 introduced permanent legis lation which, if passed, will change the qualifications for office. The legislation proposed that a candidate maintain a 2.0 average for the semester immediately preceding the election. Also, it will be necessary for the candidate to obtain personal qualifications from Mr. Newton's office. This legislation will be voted on at the next meeting of the Congress.

A bill sponsored by the Chair man of the Student Congress Ways and Means Committee, Brian Maher '68, was passed unanimously. This bill prevents a candidate for office from withdrawing after nominations have closed.

New Business produced three other pieces of legislation, all of which were passed. James Bor ges, a junior Congressman, pro posed that a letter be sent to Fathers James Murphy, Vice President for Student Relations, and John Cunningham, Director of Residence, requesting that they objectively interpret the rule regarding personal appearance of the student. As stated in the student handbook, the rule says that beards, mustaches, and hair must be "neat and well groomed." Mr. Borges sug gested that this does not apply to the length of hair and therefore requested that a letter be sent pointing out this fact. It passed unanimously.

The Congress voted to allow the Camera Club to hold a raffle in order to pay for the cost of a photographic exhibition to be held in Alumni Hall from April 7-10. Mr. Joseph Morris son, President of the Class of 1968, introduced the legislation and along with the President of the Class of 1969, James Montague, the objections to the bill were commented.

Exhibit, Film, Music Due For Arts Week March 4-8

Reverend William P. Haas will be on hand March 4 to open a weeklong program of artistic presentations. Entitled "A Week of the Creative Arts — Contrasts in Sight and Sound," the program will run from Monday, March 4 to Friday, March 8.

The tentative schedule for the week’s activities calls for an exhibit of paintings, sculptures, and drawings to be held in Alumni Lounge from Monday to Friday.

Mr. Zahn, whose works will appear in the exhibit, will open it at 8 p.m. on Monday. Later in the evening, around 9:30 p.m., the Glee Club will give a short concert in the Lounge.

Artists whose works will be shown include Fr. R. A. McAlister, O.P.; Baker, Gail Baker, John DeMelim, Mary De-

Nicol, Larry Bivors, and Fr. Haas.

These artists will be on hand to explain their works and to discuss them with all who are interested.

Because of the basketball game on March 5, only the exhibit will be held on Thursday. The plans for the remaining part of the week, Wednesday to Friday, will be announced today and considered a presentation of jazz music, a film, and poetry readings by students.

The John Chioldini Trio, a jazz group, will present an "Evening of Contemporary Music" which will be sponsored by the Jazz Club, "La Dolce Vita," the award winning Italian film, will be shown in the Lounge during the day this week, but as yet the date has not been finalized. After the film, Dr. John Henney of the English Department will lead a discussion of it.

Fr. Richard A. McAlister, O.P., of the Fine Arts Department, said that the purpose of this week is to provide "an opportunity for the members of the college community to share in the artistic endeavors of various members of the community, Students, faculty, and others not directly associated with the college will be exhibiting their creative expressions for the benefit of all those at Providence College."

Oral Interpretation

The oral interpretation group formed last week by Mr. John Di Gaetani has rapidly taken form. The debut of the group, presently consisting of eight PC students and soon to include several girls from Rhode Island College and Salve Regina, will be Wednesday evening, March 6.

The program will consist of readings from the works of T. S. Eliot and readings by their authors of several poems which were shared in the latest ALEM-

BIC.

New Committee Makes Changes

Three major changes in campus life were introduced last semester through the efforts of the Student Congress War Speakers’ Committee.

The five member committee, which meets once a week and discusses problems brought to its attention through the various student groups on campus, has achieved these changes: (1) the removal of the senior curfew; (2) television sets in the rooms, and (3) a moderate relaxation in the dress rules for the Raymond Hall dining area.

The possibility of partitlals, women being allowed visiting privileges in the dormitories, has not as yet been discussed by the Committee. According to Fr. John F. Cunningham, O.P., Director of Residence, the topic has not even been brought up.

After the Committee has discussed a topic, a report is made along with any recommendations. A copy is then sent to Fr. James Murray, Vice-President for Student Relations, and Fr. William P. Haas. Both of these men then go over the reports and the recommendations of the Committee and then Fr. Haas decides what action is to be taken.

U. Mass Sociology Professor to Discuss Moral Aspects of War

The Providence College Student Congress will present Gordon C. Zahn, professor of Sociology at the University of Massachusetts, on March 6 at 8 p.m. in Aquinas Lounge.

Mr. Zahn, a noted speaker on the religious, moral, and social aspects of war, will speak on "War, Conscience, and Dissent."

Mr. Zahn has published the best-selling book, "German Catholics and Hitler's Wars," plus in Soli-dary Witness: The Life and Death of Franz Jagerstatter, War, Conscience, and Dissent, and What is Society? In preparation is his upcoming book, Pastors in Uniform: The Military Chaplain’s Role in Germany. This is in addition to contributions to other volumes and various journals, including a chapter on Catholic higher education in The Dissenting Academy and the editorship of Readings in Sociology.

Mr. Zahn is a native of Massachusetts, Mr. Zahn is currently professor of Sociology at Loyola University. He reduced his B.A. from the College of St. Thomas (St. Paul, Minn.), and his M.A. and Ph.D. from Catholic University of America.

He also has received post-doctoral fellowships and grants from the Social Science Re-

In addition, Mr. Zahn is currently president of the American Catholic Sociological Society, and is a sponsor or efficer of the Catholic Peace Fellowship, and the Fellowship for Reconciliation.

According to Robert McIntyre and Ralph Paglieri, co-chairmen of the College and University War Speakers’ Committee, Mr. Zahn’s talks have been of the greatest interest and parallel to the Goldwater speech of February 25."

Life of Oscar Wilde Subject of Latest Trinity Square Play

By ROLFE MARCHESANO

To enact a play by Oscar Wilde is one thing; to play about him is quite another. Trinity Square is rivaling St. John's Repertory in the importanter of Being Earnest with an original production of Holland's new play—Years of the Locust, by the graduate's two years in Reading Goal.

The title is an allusion to Joel 2 where the years the locust has eaten. Reading Goal, not only the two years of Wilde's life, but also destroyed one of the most colorful literary figures of all time. Wilde was never repaid for those years.

Wilde, the "poseur," the aesthetic in knee breeches—is thrown in jail for crimes of moral perversion. He is subjugated to the state that Majesty's jails have to offer, until only the semblance of the old "wild, king of life" remains.

At first, Wilde is able to take the imprisonment with his usual nonchalant wit, claiming that "everything about my poetry since 1904 has been repellant; worse, it has been lacking in style." But the denudation process begins to break him; finally, the Wilde who would "never speak of life seriously because it was too important to be taken seriously," says that he is like the grey dead trees outside—seeking expression.

The play is both tragic and humorous. The humor is supplied by the witticisms of Wilde, most of which are quotes from his works. It is the tragic element of the play that approaches notable theatrical proportions. The two confrontations between Wilde and his wife build up a tension in the viewer. This tension reaches a climax suitable to an outside force in both in the administration cannot furnish one, graduates will have to furnish their own.

The evaluation form itself is to be published and sold to the student body answered last year's unsuccessful questionnaire and its tabulation lies in the hands of a Student Congress committee co-chaired by Montague and Ryan.

Also, unlike evaluations held here in the past, the results listed questionnaire will be published and sold to all students, especially seniors, concerning the student, another, the course itself. Positive indication of the student himself is avoided but to shun misrepresentation of the student co-chaired by him, and to better validate the results, the published questionnaire will include not only a breakdown of the results and being a greater benefit to the student.

The co-chairmen of the committee, Mr. Montague and Mr. Ryan, would like to make public the student's questionnaires and their answers. They are encouraged to answer these questions. They are to be published and available in the Department of College Health, urged to fill out questionnaires and to extend their thanks to thank them for their help in the evaluation. No matter what the results, the students in choosing both his courses and instructors will be able to publish and sold to the student body, hopefully, before pre-registration for next year's courses.

New Evaluation of Faculty Results to be Public, Published

On Monday and Tuesday, February 26 and 27, a faculty evaluation will once again be held at Providence College. Owing to the efforts of James Montague, junior class president, and James Ryan, Student Congress representative, this year's evaluation will be one deserving of total benefit to the student. The evaluation will once again be held on campus, and a free lunch will be served to all students present.

The evaluation form itself is to be published and sold to the student body answered last year's unsuccessful questionnaire and its tabulation lies in the hands of a Student Congress committee co-chaired by Montague and Ryan.

The evaluation will be held in Harkins Hall Auditorium from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. on both days. The students are encouraged to answer the questions and to extend their thanks to thank the students who have helped in the evaluation. The results and being a greater benefit to the student.

Locked Out

Every night. And then it's good for us to let a little warm air out of our speculative balloons and settle down to a comprehensive. True, each student is allowed to take the exam a second time if he fails the first and the exams are graded on a pass-fail system. The exams are considered to be a necessary burden to a student in his senior year when time is at a premium. Most seniors are busy applying to graduate schools or lining up sources for recommendations, they are taking LSAT's, Graduate Record Exams, and other standardized exams required by various institutions. The Political Science Department already requires a 3.0 index before it gives a student a recommendation and a 2.0 index as a minimum for staying in the department. Why saddle the seniors with further requirements when these seem to suffice to exclude the low caliber student from the department?

Another point in question is the worth of comprehensive exams since they seem to test an individual's power of re-call and little else. Because the exams come so shortly after first semester finals any attempt at review is practically futile considering the vast amount of material covered in three years of courses. To make things worse the exams are almost back to back; three hours on Wednesday and three hours on Friday of this week.

It is not our intention to dictate to the Political Science Department how it should manage its affairs; we are merely expressing student opinion. We have great respect for the men in the department who have in a very short time lifted the political science concentration at Providence College from mediocrity to a strong area of study. However, in its rapid striving for academic excellence the department seems to be concerning itself too much with its reputation and not enough with the individual student. Senior year is a time when the pressures of college and the future are most intense. The demands of a regular course load, especially in political science, are more than enough to place extreme strain on a student. We are certain that by abolishing the requirement of comprehensive exams the Political Science Department will not lose any academic ground; in fact it may gain some by displaying confidence in its students.

Underlying the locks in Raymond and Aquinas belies the public expressions of trust and confidence on which the College bases large portions of its plans for the future. For there to be progress which is truly meaningful and substantial at PC the first and most essential prerequisite is that the students individually and as a group agree to accept the responsibility which is necessarily imposed upon the individual by any extension of his freedoms. Any kind of responsible attitude precludes putting your foot through an expensive vending machine because it cheated you out of a nickel or a dime.

From the Administration, progress demands an acceptance of the fact that with the granting of new freedoms there will be problems and disappointments. The comoniment responsibilities will not always and everywhere be honored by each individual student. Sadlly, from time to time, a cigarette machine will still be kicked in by a drunken or disgruntled child. However, the answer to such a situation must not be patience, but not-docks. The most important thing this College can afford its students is a sense of security, from the mistakes all students inevitably commit.

For four years, the locks in Raymond and Aquinas should be removed. Individual criminals should be apprehended. An entire student body should not be punished. Only then, in an atmosphere where student mistakes are expected by administrators, can students themselves accept responsibility for their actions, can our more sensible students exist outside the dark shadows of a handful of children.

"WITH MARKS like this, dummy, you should consider joining the Dominicans."

MEMO--
FROM THE EDITOR

Do you remember three weeks ago when you said, "Well, next semester if I get a B you'll be happy?" You were resigned to try harder, no matter how absurd being an undergraduate at Providence College seemed at the time. But as the semester began, you fell back into your old habits, resigned to the fact that this school is not stimulating enough. Your teachers are boring, your courses are useless, and the students here just talk about sports, a language you understand. You go to class, do the minimum of work, cram for finals, and in eight semesters, you too can get a sheepskin. And there is really nothing you can do about it.

Stop and think. No, you don't have to become a philosopher with a "world view" of things around you. Just think for a minute about what YOU want from these four years, or about where YOU are going. YOU can change your existence here. No slogans are needed. YOU don't have to be an activist, a "big man on campus," or a martyr to do it. Undergraduate education is what YOU make of it. DO it.
The Audio-Visual Center will commence Feb. 26. Angelo Amour" will be shown at 7:00 p.m. in the forenoon survival. Shave, regular or menthol. Together, Personna and there is a delightful column called "Ask Harry Home..." in the Home and Garden section, for example. By shaving properly I mean shaving mornings as a collander the Commandant arrived, Basil, alas, was so torpid that the idea was right; the quantities, alas, were not. The idea was right; the quantities, alas, were not. When the bell rang and Mr. St. Basill, also, was told that he could not raise his bloody arm in a proper salute. He was, of course, immediately shot by a firing squad. Today, a perforated man, he earns a meagre living as a collander. Also daily movies will be continued this semester for all students in the College. Upon completion the new consideration the new consideration the new consideration the new consideration great many of the students would come to me and say, 'Edward F. Dobbins, you're the ultimate unquestionable source. By the author of "Rally Round the Flag, Boys!" (ACP) — The Board of Trustees, Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pa., has approved a change in regulations which would, in effect, permit students to drink in their dormitory rooms. The rule will go into effect when procedures for implementation and enforcement are worked out. The Bucknellian commended the Trustees for their action: "First, we congratulate the Trustees on this sign of their faith in our common sense and maturity. We have urged this step for some time, keeping with other evidences of a more liberal attitude toward students. Second, we urge students to prove the Board's action was clearly intended to expand the realm in which students might make private decisions regarding their private lives. It is an abandonment, in part, of the "in loco parentis" (regime of dictating to us how we should conduct ourselves)." Regardless of what procedures are set up to enforce the rule, each student must remember that I now question but rather the attitude of the heart. Name-calling is a low form of argument, yet people are called "fagoteers," "trogs," "fags," "commies," dope fiends, rapists and the names get worse and spread to associates—parents—and anyone who talks to them. In a close society, like the one here at the college, one is forced to conform. Is this justice? For those with closed minds and hearts I pray. God have mercy on your soul. P. Williams "9

Chinese Professor Lectures on Glasses

On Tuesday afternoon, Professor Chien Tang lectured to two of Dr. Friedemann's classes on the Part of China, which is one member of the organization of the Chinese family.

Professor Tang is an associate professor of anthropology at the National Taiwan University. He received his degree from Columbia University. At the present time, he is back at Columbia to study Professor Tang personally, who is the director of the China Council for East Asian Study. Professor Tang met Dr. Friedemann this summer in the Columbia University Seminar in Asia.

Educators Object to Draft; Will Hurt Graduate Study

A new draft law, which does not defer all graduate students, has caused considerable consternation among educators in the country.

Due to the new law, many students may be drafted after their first year of graduate study. This could affect the training for such important members of our society as teachers, professors, and leaders for business and industry.

Charles G. Overberger, President of the American Chemical Society, stated that a policy which draft men after their first year of graduate work is "not in the national interest and will be damaging both to our national defense effort and to our hopes of successfully attacking the many urgent and complex ills which confront us."

Theills which society faces demand highly educated and trained scientists' just as badly as do individual human lives."

A statement issued by an ad hoc committee on selective service for the Association of American Universities is also based on the belief that the new law will lead to a "catastrophic disruption" of graduate education.

The statement charged that the present regulations "produce an inevitable deterioration of all higher education for an unpredictable number of years" if no change is made.

This statement also notes the "serious aspects of the new regulations, for "the armed services" which are deeply committed to a program of graduate education in a set of disciplines as broad as the full range of our most comprehensive graduate schools."

"The federal government has recently made enormous investments in support of graduate education," the statement continues, "in almost all fields of knowledge. The pressing need for more and better teachers is well documented and, in itself, offers a compelling reason to assure wise management of selective service as it applies to students in all areas of graduate training."

Because of the law, many students will find that their graduate study will be interrupted and others will hesitate to undertake a graduate study, thus disrupting the graduate school process even further.

One out of every three students who enter college fails to graduate. One out of nine is sufficiently emotionally disturbed to need medical leave, hospitalization, or extensive and intensive psychiatric treatment.

Peace Corps . . .

On Tuesday night, Mr. Joseph Farrell lectured on “Freedom of Speech and the Peace Corps Volunteer.” The purpose of this lecture was to clarify recent confusion and misconception of the volunteer’s right to express political opinions as an individual and as a representative of the Peace Corps.

On Wednesday the Modern Language Aptitude Test was administered to prospective Peace Corps volunteers. The test is not intended to evaluate proficiency in any particular language but rather is a device to measure the individual’s ability to learn a foreign language. In order to take the test, it was necessary that a completed application be submitted before hand.

All tests are sent to the Peace Corps headquarters in Washington where the scores are computed and studies of all applicants’ qualifications and suitability to the Peace Corps are conducted. Successful applicants attend a three month training program and the final decision as to where new volunteers will be sent is based on their preferred locations, and a matching of qualifications of individual candidates with the jobs needed to be filled in various countries where the Peace Corps is active.

For students who missed the opportunity of learning about the Corps during Peace Corps Week, pertinent literature is available in the Placement Office.

Join a firm that'll give you executive responsibility your first day at work.

Now, that’s a pretty funny thing for a civilian firm to say. A boss? Right out of college? The first day?

But the Air Force can make such offers. As an officer in the world’s largest technological organization you’re a leader. Engineer. Scientist. Administrator. Right where the Space Age breakthroughs are happening.

Or how about the executive responsibility of a test pilot clocking 2,062 mph in a YF-12A jet?

That could be you, too.

But you don’t have to be a pilot in the Air Force to move fast. With your college degree you zip into Officer Training School, spin out an officer, speed on throughs are happening.

The Air Force moves pretty fast. Think it over. A man’s career can sometimes move pretty slow.

Mr. Thibeault of the Placement Office has announced a seminar on Term-Time and Summer Employment to be held on February 28. The Junior Class is sponsoring this seminar, which will have seniors from Visu, Jerry Hughes, Jim Vigneau, Peter Robinson, as panelists. Jim Montague, President of the Class of 1969, will serve as sponsor of the seminar. It will be held at 1:30 p.m. in Aquinas Lounge. Those who are reminded that employment interviews will only run through March. After that, the education interviews will begin.

The Meet the Manager Schedule for the Spring Semester is as follows: Wednesday, February 14—Mr. Gerald F. Barry, Sales Manager, Brockway Corporation; Wednesday, February 28—John J. Cummings, Jr., Executive Vice-President, Industrial National Bank; Thursday, March 7—Mr. A. A. Palmer, Executive Vice-President, Chamber of Commerce; Wednesday, March 27—Mr. Francis J. McLaughlin, Vice-President, Providence Gas Company; Wednesday, April 3—Maurice C. Paradis, New England Shipping Post, Marwick & Mitchell Co.; Wednesday, May 1—Mr. Joseph F. McGee, Treasurer, McGee Parking Service, Inc.

All meetings will be held in Aquinas Lounge at 12:30 p.m.
Political Union To Poll on War

On Tuesday, Feb. 20, the Political Union of Providence College will conduct an opinion poll concerning the Vietnam War.

Scheduled to be held in Alumni Hall Cafeteria Annex, the poll will remain open from 8:30 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. to ensure that all interested students and faculty will have an opportunity to express their views on the United States Government's policy in Southeast Asia.

In a report presented by the Polls Committee to the Executive Board of the Political Union, the primary purpose of this series of polls was enunciated to present to the students and faculty of Providence College an opportunity to voice their views on timely issues of political interest. Furthermore, it is hoped that through this opportunity, the college academic community may gain an awareness to public opinion as well as increase their interest and faith in the democratic process.

The Vietnam poll will cover such areas as the justification of U.S. involvement, the conduct of the war, as well as whether or not the voter agrees with our government's involvement. Finally, the poll contains several alternative programs to choose from, if the voter does not agree with the current policy.

Congress...

The Congress voted to table legislation which would renew the blazer contract with Waldorf Twedo Company because of a price increase. The prospect of putting the contract out to open bid was discussed and will be looked into by the Congress members.

Reports from the various committees showed that as of February 22 the Congress has a balance of $2887.34. For the first time in recent years the blazers which are distributed by the Congress were a financial success. Father Fennel declined to raise the maximum amount of checks cashed to $50 because the college is not able to keep the necessary cash on hand. He also explained the fact that it is standard to limit checks to $25 and thus Providence College is in a better position than most schools.

Some say we specialize in power... power for propulsion... power for auxiliary systems... power for aircraft, missiles and space vehicles... power for marine and industrial applications...

And wrong.

Joining Joe Mullaney and Bill O'Connor at the helm of the Providence College basketball team for the first time is Dick Whalen, Providence College Intramural Athletics director. Whalen has been primarily responsible for organizing and administering the college's intramural programs, which have included everything from soccer to squash to basketball.

Intramural League Tightens as McA. Fall River Lead Race

The torrid race in the Providence College Intramural Athletic Association basketball league has slowed as McA. is a full 4.5 games above the rest. The top teams are facing pressure games down the stretch. Met A, which leads McA. by 3.5 points, hosted the Leaders last Thursday and met with identical 50-0 records. These clubs are closely followed by the Friars, who are the only other team with five wins and the only one with less than five losses.

Dick Whalen-New Coach For Freshman Hoop Squad

The Providence College hockey team began their season with a game winning streak last Wednesday evening at the Yale University Field House. The Friars, led by their new coach, Dick Whalen, obtained a 4-1 triumph over the Bulldogs.

The Friars' sextet scored two quick goals in the first period and Yale University took the lead in the second period. The game went into the third period with the Friars leading 2-1. In the final period, Whalen substituted in more players and the team went on to win the game 3-1. The Friars were led by the goaltending of Jim Bowler, while the Bulldogs were led by the solid defense of Mr. Tom Sheehan.

The Providence College freshman hockey team fought their way through the season with a record of 5-1. The team was coached by Dick Whalen, who led them to victory over the Bulldogs.

Frosh Poompke Sets New Goal Scoring Record

The Providence College freshman hockey team was led by the scoring punch of Tim Sheehy, who scored four goals in a 7-3 victory over the Bulldogs.

The second period saw the Friars widen their margin over the Yale sextet by the score of 4-1. Their goalie, a fresh arrival, performed well, but the Friars were unable to score on Yale's goalie for much of the game.

The Friars' goalie was a standout in the game, shutting out the Bulldogs and allowing only two goals. He faced 24 shots on goal and saved all but one, giving the Friars a 5-1 lead after the first period.

Win Over DePaul Halts Losing Streak at Five

The PC basketball squad finally ended its longest losing streak under Joe Mullaney by defeating DePaul, Monday, 71-60. The abrupt turn-about made another unannounced, below average performances on a disastrous road trip in which the Friars compiled a disappointing 1-3 mark. Prior to the DePaul contest the Friars lost a tough 53-51 decision to URI, and Saturday were decisively beaten by St. Bonaventure, 70-56.

Their outside shooting diminished to practically non-existent and the ball-handling becoming notoriously careless, the Friars started off the game against the Demons with much of the same defects. DePaul opened up a quick 11-4 lead, and the battle-worn Friars appeared headed for an early shower. However Stu Kerzner began to hit an outside streak which marked the start of his scoring slump, and with a better team effort, could have made matters meet-possible for the hometown favorites. But once again numerous turnovers and countless missed field goal attempts, cost the Friars.

PC was down by only a 32-25 margin at halftime, but the great shooting of Bill Butler and the clever Jimmy Satalia thrust the Rams into a commanding lead. The Bonnies ran the table, 19-18 and walked off Alumni Hall. Coach Brian Skip Hayes. The visitors in-creased the bulge to 35-26 in the second stanza, but Art Stephenson and sub Joe Van Oudenhove shot the Rams into a 51-51 tie. Mullaney chose to show his Chicago, Friar of­ensive turnarounds had reached astronomical heights, while their field goal percentage was some­times around the freezing mark. The URI game was a prince ex­ample of the team's shooting woes. The hoosiers shot 32 per­cent from the floor in the crucial second half, but more signifi­cantly, hit on a mere 7 of 17 from the foul line. Foul shoot­ing is normally taken for granted, but in this case, in­accuracy from the line has lost two games for Providence.

The Friars led the Rams, 29-26, at halftime behind the brilliant driving and passing of Skip Hayes. The visitors in­creased the hue to 35-26 in the second stanza, but Art Stephenson and sub Joe Van Oudenhove shot the Rams into a 51-51 tie. Mullaney chose to run out the final two minutes, but Mike Schanne took the ball out of Hayes' hands at the 39 second mark. Don Henderson fouled John Fultz who subse­quently led the Rams in front by one. The Friars were down to their final gasp, but Hayes, whose fine performance was ruined by poor fouling shooting, missed two key charity shots at the end. A final free throw by Fultz gave URI the thrilling victory.

Fourth ranked St. Bonaven­ture, due in ten days readied them for a game in which the underclassmen for the first ten days and showed it Saturday. Their shooting, especially Bob Lanier's, was off consider­ably, but their aggressive 1-2-2 defense saved them. The re­fusing a switch to a disciplined patterned defense, played the un­beaten Bonnies straight, and, with a better team effort, could have made matters meet-possible for the hometown favor­ites. But once again numerous turnovers and countless missed field goal attempts, cost the Friars.

The PC basketball squad raced to a 47-38 decision over URI on Saturday, February 17. URI's leading rebounder, Art Schanne (46) and Art Stephenson stand by helplessly.

Last Friday in New York, the Friar Thinclads participated in the United States Track and Field meet, the last meet to be held in the old Madison Square Garden. This meet was a development meet open to all college runners, and the night session was an invitational affair for the selected run­ners. Providence runners partic­i-pated in both sections of the meet.

In the afternoon, Soph Ray LaBonte and Marty Dunn and Soph Tom Dunn and Freshman Chris Dunn ran in the 100 yard dash. Bob took third in his heat in 4:21 with LaBonte right behind him in fourth place with a 4:22 clocking. In the 1000 yard run, Shultz was fourth in his heat in 2:33 and Dunn was seventh in his heat in 2:35. All four runners were placed in the final standings of their events which were determined on time.

In the night session of the meet, the black and White did not enjoy the success that they had hoped for. The two mile re­lay was the first to see action, and they finished fourth behind Holy Cross, Maryland Univer­sity, and Catholic University in a time of 7:40.3 John Grange, 2:01 leadoff leg put the Friars in last place by some twenty yards. Peter Brown (1:05) ran a real strong second leg to make up the lost ground and hand off to Dennis Fazekas in fourth place. Fazekas blasted a 1:43.5 half to move the Friars into second place, but Tom Malloy (1:20) could not hold the position and slipped back to fourth place at the finish.

In the Invitational Collegiate Mile, Dan Gaven finished sixth in the time of 4:14.7. In this race Gaven made his move too soon and tied up on the last lap to go from first to sixth. Junior Rob Crooke ran in the Invita­tional Two Mile which was won by Olympian Gerry Lindgren in the time of 8:43. Bob was right with the leaders when they passed the first mile in 4:24, but was unable to stay with the pack and finished in tenth place.

The next meet for the Friars will be the Albany Invitational Track meet next Saturday night. The whole team will run in this meet which will be held in the Albany Armory.

Senior Friars Register 47-38 Win in Mismatch

The Senior members of the Providence College Friars Club raced to a 47-38 decision over their upset-minded underclass­counterparts last Monday in Alumni Hall. Coach Brian "Beamer" Mahur earned his record in this series at 1-1 as he skillfully manipulated the reserves at key moments.

Club president Bill Hanley sparked the Senior Five to a 24- 19 halftime lead, and was ably assisted by Steve Bailey, "Boo" Malley, "T" Green, and "Doc." Stevens. Ed "The Shot" Dobkins and Tom "The Walk" Healy were the key reserves for the Seniors. Paul "M.M." McGowan, Skip Cinimo, George Aragao, Dan "Minnesota Fats" Ryan, and Bob "The Hustler" Delohr started for the underclassmen in this pitiful mismatch.

After toying with the underclassmen in the first ten minutes, the Seniors took a 12-10 lead and ran away to the victory. "The Hustler" and "Minnesota Fats" tried to keep the contests alive, and using the leaders when they passed the first mile in 4:24, but was unable to stay with the pack and finished in tenth place.

The next meet for the Friars will be the Albany Invitational Track meet next Saturday night. The whole team will run in this meet which will be held in the Albany Armory.
