Operation Pacesetter Sets Goals for Each Department

As of March 6, 1968, 106 pledges totaling $18,150 have been received for Operation Pacesetter, the five-year gift program for the Class of 1968. Pacesetter has been designated to be $75,000 within the five years through a system of installment payments. Three gift plans, providing for pledges of $125, $250, and $500, have been set up under the program. The breakdown of individual pledges received to date shows that 74 pledges of $125, 27 pledges of $250, and 4 pledges of $500, with one pledge for $150.

The Student Congress meeting of March 12th saw a variety of bills ranging from drinking on campus to a loan for the Campaign Pacesetter. A bill which would allow drinking in the dormitory rooms for persons over twenty-one years of age was tabled for the representatives of the various classes in the Congress and that this bill is simply a non-voting coordinator of the social committee which is composed of the two social chairmen of each class.

The major bill of academic importance was a proposal for a pass-fail system which would provide that "non-major related elective courses be given opportunity on a grading system of a 'pass' or a 'fail'. This would not be included in the calculation of the cumulative index unless a 'fail' is received, and they would be included in the total credit hours required for graduation." This program would "generally be limited to juniors and seniors who have attained a 3.0 index in the previous semester," but, "a student not meeting this requirement who deserves special consideration shall be given permission to take a pass-fail course providing he has obtained a 2.5 index for the previous semester and receives written permission from his department head and the professor teaching the course." If any question arises as to whether a course is related to one's major the matter will be settled by the student's department head. An amendment was added to the bill which would limit the number of pass-fail courses a student could take to three per semester. This proposal was submitted with the idea that such an academic system "would give our deserving students an increase in liberty by allowing them to pursue their courses of interest without the burden of a grade hindering them."

Congress Passes Legislation For Pass-Fail Grading System

Dr. Friedemann Explains Political Science Comprehensive Exams

Dr. Zygmunt Friedemann has explained why Comprehensive Examinations are required of seniors majoring in Political Science.

The head of the Political Science Department said that "these examinations are broadly conceived and broad in scope. Their purpose is to elicit a logical and sophisticated response to the time frame, to exam all students are acquainted with.

"A young man of 22 ought to be able to generalize on the subjects, concerning political science." He said that he feels that many of the students in the past have failed the exam study for exams by cramming and then they forget it. The result of this, Dr. Friedemann said, is that a student receives good grades, but cannot "generalize" effectively on the material.

The exam itself consists of three questions which correspond to the three twiser-credit courses in the department. Of those three passing one is mandatory and one of the remaining two must be answered. A bonus question concerning source books used over three years is given.

Previously, the Graduate Record Exam was required for an incoming student in the department, but it was decided that this test provision would be abandoned. The Comprehensive Exam was approved by the Committee on Undergraduate Studies, the Student Congress, and the Student-Faculty Board. It was introduced as a means to upgrade the department.

Grading of the test is on a 'pass' or 'fail' basis. Distinction, or 'fail' basis. Four teachers mark the test and a student who fails three out of four tests first try can retake the test.

Dr. Friedemann said that in many departments the opportunity presented itself last December he did just that. For $250 he purchased it from a youth in Connecticut who was rather fond of caring long sticks objects around in it. (Surfboards, that is.) Failing the four-campus registration, the hearse became a familiar sight around the campus.

A simple inspection tends to suggest that probably the most significant part of the gas-guzzling is the red stripe over 6300 pounds and is quite a bit longer than its modern counterparts. Its black paint is adorned with a genuine Maltese Cross and a garish red stripe around its bulky middle section.

1937 La Salle Hearse

Pride of PC Junior

By MICHAEL TRAINOR

It's long, it's black, and it sits ponderously in the parking lot to the rear of Raymond Hall. It even has its own myth. Give up? Well, its none other than the pride and joy of Junior Jake Fisher; an authentic 1937 La Salle hearse.

When interviewed by the COWL, Jake explained that "I've always wanted a hearse," and when the opportunity presented itself last December he did just that. For $250 he purchased it from a youth in Connecticut who was rather fond of caring long sticks objects around in it. (Surfboards, that is.) Failing the four-campus registration, the hearse became a familiar sight around the campus.

A simple inspection tends to suggest that probably the most significant part of the gas-guzzling is the red stripe over 6300 pounds and is quite a bit longer than its modern counterparts. Its black paint is adorned with a genuine Maltese Cross and a garish red stripe around its bulky middle section.

Left to right: Jake Fisher, owner of the hearse, with his boys, Terry McElhiney, foreground, and Larry Johnson, behind. (Surfboards, that is.)
Choodini Trio, Fast Eddy's Boys End Week of Creative Arts

By RICHARD LIVERNOIS

The John Choodini Trio played before an enthusiastic audience of over 100 jazz fans last Wednesday evening at the Friar's Club Fine Arts Week. Mr. Choodini has appeared on campus before under the auspices of the Jazz Club, and each time has presented excellent variations of both classical and contemporary music from his mixed bag. Be- sides the piano, electric guitar, and bass were a piano player and a drum- mer. Together they offered up the entirety of Rhapsody in Blue played in its original score. Also a Prelude of Rach¬ maninov was arranged in jazz style and upended much to the delight of the audience.

Mr. Choodini would explain precisely what he was going to do before playing each song, noting the composers of which his group had incorpo¬ rated into a selection. And just about every song he has modified or arranged in such a way that it virtually a whole new piece in itself. Especially well done were Malegurina, which Choodini rearranged in the style of the Spanish national anthem and J' O CLOCK Train, which played at one time as the Trio's one-cut-no-rolls versatility was further demon¬ strated. Each one of the songs requested by members of the audience. The mixed repertoire together with the Choodini Trio's skilled adaptations provides everyone with a very gratifying evening of music.

Not to be outdone by these fine arts during the past week, Fast Eddy and His Jug Band gathered all his friends and others together to give us a wushitah bass, harmonica, a concert Friday night under the name of Fast Eddy and His Jug Band. For a start it was their first time to witness a jug band in action. Things got away with a throbbing reading of Jukeboxy by PC's own tam¬ bournist virtuoso, Jim Horgan. With two guitars, a banjo, a tambourine, and a tambourine, contributing to the sound, we heard such classics as Sister Kate, Gubi Gubi, and Bill Bailey. Between songs Fast Eddy gave us one-liners and im¬ personations that put Wolfgang F. GuercrOt (the group's was¬ hustah bass) in a moment of glee. But not too many people can play the instrument of Soled as or as well as Wolfgang. The only fault of the concert was the fact that it was not loud enough to be fully appreciated, since there was only one live mike for the audience. Nevertheless, the Jug Bandits were not by no means missed by anyone.

Mr. JOHN CHOODINI plays for Art Week.

Salve Girls Get Their Revenge: Blame it on ‘Mutual Dependence’

By BRIAN MAHONEY

In response to the article from the Salve Regina EBB TIDE in last week's COWL, P.C. Junior Thomas Maddern conducted a counter-survey. At a recent mixer at the Bastille in Newport, Maddern asked a number of Salve girls what they thought PCs were like.

The replies which follow are candid, unfortunately, in their opinions. While perhaps they may be considered in many cases, it must be remembered in which the queries were made. A mixer at the Bastille, like it or not, is somewhat a testing ground of human nature. It is in which their true colors are revealed to one another, to their hands, have a great time thou shalt not pass. There are not that many people who can pass the time in the Bastille.

Mary Ellen Litwin, '71: "My problem with all college freshmen is that they get a little to much of the Bastille and in 10 desperate the time is so long. They ruin the good time for the girls."

Mike Jessee, '71: "The general opinion is that they're all a bunch of dorks."

Fr. Cunningham To Speak at St. Pius

The Lenten season will be observed with the pres¬ entation of six talks by Rev. John F. Cunningham, O.P., on the subject of "The Christian Life: Challenge and Crisis." Father Cunningham has re¬ ceived a special invitation from the College Alumni in Rome, and is the National Vocations Director. He has been Di¬ rector of the Arts Program, Director of the Providence House Fellows Program, and is currently president of the Faculty of Arts.

The services will be conducted Sundays during the 5:30 p.m. Mass. Mr. William McLean, O.P., will preside at the first service at St. Pius, while Fr. Cunningham will deliver the second service at the Aquinas Boy Choir, Dominican Concert Choir, and the Guadalupe Chapel Choir of Providence College, all under the direc¬ tion of Jon Carew.

Public Affairs Subject Of a WDOM Feature

What legislative proposals are currently before the Congress to help slum clearance?

Is a tax surcharge a good way to increase the Federal budget?

What are the real problems of the American dairy farmer?

How can our young people take advantage of the White House Fellows Program and other Federal programs?

During the past year State WDOM-FM (913 on the dial) listeners have heard these topics and dozens more debated, analyzed and discussed in an in-depth weekly public affairs program, "The Ner Washington Forum." The broadcasts are produced by the National Educational Radio Di¬ vision of the Public Broadcasting Service (PBS) and are distributed weekly to the 125 member stations of the National Educational Radio Network and have met with such wide acceptance that the President's Committee on Audiovisual Education was able to the Armed Forces Radio Network, the Voice of America and the National educational radio network with a national educational radio network with a national educational radio network with a national educational radio station. The immediate goal of this public affairs series has been, and will continue to be, the ef¬ fective use of educational radio as a new news medium which can permit the listener to investi¬ gate every aspect of a given topic and to consider more posi¬ tive conclusions. Its ultimate pur¬ pose is to communicate by educa¬ tional radio enters into a new per¬ iod of growth and expansion, the corner of a live interactive radio network within the framework of educational radio with a national educational radio network with a national educational radio nation’s capital. This unique approach to news and public affairs programming appears to fully explore trends and current issues which have wide national implications, and not discussed in significant de¬ tail on commercial news broad¬ casts.

This is band is likely to be offended... nothing personal in¬ teresting... prehensive... Paulists  are free from the  sti¬ vency of their mutual... anonymous with Paulists. There are no excuses... and the 50's... and every era since they were founded back in 1858. The Paulists are men of today... preparing for tomorrow. They meet the needs of all God's people in every age. Paulists are free from the sti¬ fling formalism of centuries past and they have the oppor¬ tunity to develop their own God-given talents. They are also free to use contemporary mediums and techniques to achieve their goals. Communicati¬ ons, for instance, is syn¬ nymous with Paulists.

If you see yourself as a priest of the future, write to the National Vocations Director.
Fund Requests and Curfews Are Discussed at Committee Meeting

At a meeting of the Student-Administration Committee held Monday two proposals by Peter Gallogly, Senior Class President, were discussed. In order to provide a more efficient means of allotment of money from the Office of the Treasurer, Gallogly proposed that a committee be formed, or an existing committee be directed, to consult with Mr. Joseph Byun, the College Business Manager, to suggest him how money destined for student activities might be most fairly and profitably used.

The proposal met with resistance from Fathers Murphy, Danilowicz, and Cunningham, and from Brian Mahoney. The arguments against centered on the problem of creating more burdensome committees which prove unwise. It was felt, particularly by Mahoney, that the problem of requesting additional funds where and when necessary ought to be handled by activity moderators. Gallogly, assisted, however, that situations may arise where present available channels cannot provide the necessary interchange between activities and the Office of the Treasurer.

Upon the suggestion of James Mentzer, Junior Class President, it was decided that, by way of compromise, a letter should be sent to Mr. Byun requesting him to consider written requests from student organizations in the allotment of funds for the next fiscal year. Also, Gallogly made a proposal by Gallogly to eliminate curfews for Junior resident students for the next semester. The objection was raised by Father Cunningham that the problem of Junior curfew is a part of a report to be sent to the College President William P. Hais, O.P., from the Committee on Resident Life. He felt that any recommendation by the Student-Administration Committee on a matter that was under consideration by another committee would become sounding boards for an exchange of student and administration opinions.

Cowl Plans First Subscription Rate Hike in 10 Years

The COWL subscription rate will be raised next semester, pending approval by the proper authority. The planned increase, the first in nearly ten years, is necessitated by a number of factors. One of these is that the average length of the COWL is the largest in the paper's thirty-two year history. This year the COWL has averaged over eleven pages per issue. Increased advertising revenue does not sufficiently compensate for the increased production costs of a larger paper. Total costs for one to twelve pages per issue run to about $1,000.00 or less, depending on the number of photo-prints used, the amount of advertising, and the number of man hours required to do the actual typesetting and printing. Each week 4,000 copies of the COWL are printed. Thus the basic cost of the COWL, for production is 25¢ per copy. At a subscription rate of $2.50 for twenty issues, then, the COWL has averaged over eleven pages per issue. It is hoped that the increase in subscription rate will augment the COWL's operating budget sufficiently that the paper may continue to be a healthy and vital organ for student expression. It is felt that this will not greatly affect the financial health and vitality of its subscribers.

ATTENTION MEN UNDER 25
Sentry Insurance offers 15% discount to safe drivers

By completing a simple twenty-minute questionnaire, you may save up to $50...maybe more...on Sentry auto insurance. And this is in addition to Sentry's 15% discount for Driver Training! Register now for the Sentry Youthful Driver Exam, Call or drop a card today.

Call or Write:
SENTRY INSURANCE
138 B WAYLAND AVENUE PROVIDENCE, RHODE ISLAND PHONE 861-2929
The Hardware Mutuals Organization

AIR WAY CLEANING
558 ADMIRAL STREET
Diagonally Across From Bradley's Cafe

BUDGET CLEANING
10% off up to $3.75 - 20% off on $3.75 or more

SHIRTS LAUNDERED
4 OR MORE 25¢ EACH
"SHIRTS 20¢ - HANGARS ONLY"

ROTC UNIFORMS - $1.35
HATs FREE

STORE HOURS: ADMIRAL STREET
Mon. - Fri. 8 A.M. - 6 P.M. - Sat. 8:30 A.M. - 5 P.M.
FREE MINOR REPAIRS

WHAT'S YOUR HANG UP?
Blondes? Brew? Bread?
There must be more to life... Consider:
Career as Priest or Brother

For information write:
Rev. 4559-RP Wash, DC 20017

NOTICE
$50 ROOM RESERVATION DEPOSIT DUE FOR NEXT SEMESTER
Due March 29

The Office of the Treasurer
Pass-Fail

During the past months the administration at the College has announced a ten-year expansion program which will include a multimillion dollar fund raising drive. We are entering a period of great transition. Many new faculty and administrators have been hired, with the physical changes many academic goals have been set...strengthening of curricular elements which have been considered weak in the past, raising the standards of admission for both day and board students, and generally raising the intellectual image of the institution.

Adjustments in our current grading policies would also enhance the objectives of this program. For, as Fr. Haas said, "If I.C. is to remain master of its own fate it must assume a daring initiative in creating its future."

In keeping with the reforms which have been planned, the Student Congress has proposed the institution of an experimental pass-fail marking system. This relative new concept in undergraduate grading is currently being tested at some of the leading colleges and universities today. The results are not absolutely conclusive as yet, but they indicate that the pass-fail system may be beneficial when administered properly.

The Student Congress has proposed Right to Choose

Last February 8, Congressman Robert O. Tiernan of Rhode Island introduced a bill in Congress to make eligible to vote in Federal elections citizens who have attained eighteen years of age. Congressman Tiernan contended that, "The eighteen year old citizen today is more involved and interested in political activities than ever before.

Among the reasons for his bill, the primary one is that the age group of 18 to 21 is the largest group of fighting age, being the first line of defense in the war effort. This age group is equipped intellectually to exercise the suffrage than was his counterpart of twenty and thirty years ago."

He further noted that today's students are more involved and interested in political activities than ever before.

The Student Congress has proposed Transcript Tribulations

A second semester senior seeking admission to graduate school is of necessity, a very dependent person. He must deal with school administrators and department chairmen to supply him with favorable letters of recommendation. He must depend on his professors or some other source of revenue to finance the costly application and testing process. He must depend on the Registrar's Office to speedily and correctly dispatch his all important transcript.

The Cowl compliments Congressman Tiernan for his efforts. While the reality of the eighteen year old vote is still a long way off, the groundwork must be laid down now if the law is ever to be changed.

All at once transcript requests flooded the office...Oops!...transcripts will be a few weeks late. In the rush the name of students or some other source of revenue to finance the costly application and testing process. He must depend on the Registrar's Office to speedily and correctly dispatch his all important transcript.

The Cowl compliments Congressman Tiernan for his efforts. While the reality of the eighteen year old vote is still a long way off, the groundwork must be laid down now if the law is ever to be changed.
Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Thank you for the publicity accorded those who were engaged in the work of solicitation of funds for the Rhode Island Heart Association during its recent drive. It was gratifying to note the cooperation and the good spirit of the people who were involved in this work.

I would like to add, however, that the work of organization was done almost completely by Father Walter Heath, who was assisted by Mr. Arthur Newton and Mr. Dennis McGovern. They, and the students, really deserve the praise ascribed to them in the last issue of The Cowl.

Again, thank you for this attention.

Sincerely yours,
Rev. James M. Murphy, O.P.
Vice-President for Student Relations

HASKIN'S PHARMACY
895 SMITH STREET
PROVIDENCE, R. I.
"YOUR PRESCRIPTION CENTER"
TWO REGISTERED PHARMACISTS ON DUTY—WE DELIVER
621-3668—OPEN SUNDAYS

FRIDAY, MARCH 15
4:00 p.m.—Annuity Lounge. Discussion, "America at War," conducted by Mr. Richard Grace and Dr. C. Thomas Elphin Gordon. Open to the Public.

THURSDAY, MARCH 14
8:00 p.m.—Alumni Cafeteria. Mixer sponsored by the Student Congress.

INTERVIEW DATE: April 3

An Equal opportunity Employer

Comps...

(Continued from Page 1)

With George Romney out of the race, the Republican liberals in the New England area are behind Nelson Rockefeller to carry the liberal banner to the Republican Convention. Despite the impressive "summit conference" of modernized South Dakota cities, Nelson Rockefeller seems to be headed down the same road to defeat that he took several years back. Rocky is putting himself against a formidable "new" Dick Nixon. No longer suffering from foot-in-mouth or five o'clock shadow, Nixon has aptly presented himself as the man of experience and statescraft. According to the latest Harris Poll, he has 68% of the necessary 667 delegates pledged to himself for the first ballot at the Miami Convention.

Yet, Rockefeller is not un­aware of his meager chances, and has thus arranged his campaign program accordingly. His plan has been worked out in far, far in advance, no doubt about that. By hasting an announcement, Rocky has been able to avoid a face to face encounter in New Hampshire where runs a tight ship, as well as Nebraska where the New York Governor is almost sure to lose. But at the same time, he has declined to sign an af­favitid declaring his non-candi­dacy in the Oregon primary, primarily because he has a good chance for victory in that state. A significant victory in Oregon, would hopefully initiate a col­lapse of Nixon's delegate strength.

Despite all of his efforts, it seems that unless something drastic occurs in the political scene, Rockefeller will fail. Rocky has too many enemies among the party poors, who now forget his abandonment of the ticket in 1964. This of course, is just what Nixon is hoping for, and it may have a strong effect on Dick's ultimate success. Thus, unless he really bullies, Rich­ard Nixon will be the Republi­can nominee for President.

Geoffrey Sorrow

We Deserve A Choice

...the election year of 1968 promises to be a real sham of elections where tuns a tight ship, as well...needs to be headed down the same road. Commenting on Father Haas' duties in New Hampshire, Nelson Rockefeller seems to be heading down the same road to defeat that he took several years back.

Another member of the De­partment, Mr. John Lepper, said that one real value of the ex­amination was to give graduate­school-bound students practice in generalizing on exams.

Commenting on charges that Dr. Friedemann was promoting the Political Science Depart­ment at the expense of the stu­dents, the head of the depart­ment said that "we want the students in this concentration and school to be so amenable to improve­ment if the students are the main beneficiaries of it."

The President of Providence College left this week for a three week tour of European colleges and universities.

Father William P. Haas is one of over one hundred educators from all across the United States who will be taking part in an international seminar. The seminar is sponsored by the Comparative Education Society.

Fr. Haas left New York on Tuesday, March 12 and in the next two weeks will visit educa­tional institutions in London, Copenhagen (Denmark), Brussels, Paris, Rome, and Florence, and possibly Stalingrad.

Executive Vice President Father Charles V. Fenenna will perform Father Haas' duties in Providence.

Fr. Haas Trip

The President of Providence College left this week for a three week tour of European colleges and universities.

Father William P. Haas is one of over one hundred educators from all across the United States who will be taking part in an international seminar. The seminar is sponsored by the Comparative Education Society.

Fr. Haas left New York on Tuesday, March 12 and in the next two weeks will visit educa­tional institutions in London, Copenhagen (Denmark), Brussels, Paris, Rome, and possibly Stalingrad.

Executive Vice President Father Charles V. Fenenna will perform Father Haas' duties in Providence.

CALANDER

THURSDAY, MARCH 14
8:00 p.m.—Aquinas Lounge. Discussion, "America at War," conducted by Mr. Richard Grace and Dr. C. Thomas Elphin Gordon, both of the History Department.

FRIDAY, MARCH 15
8:00 p.m.—Alumni Cafeteria. Mixer sponsored by the Student Congress.

Pershing Rifles

In Drill Meet

This past Saturday, March 5, Providence College's Pershi­ng Rifles held its season by competing in the St. Peter's College Invita­tional Drill Meet in Jersey City, New Jersey. This year a large contingent from Colgate joined the company to add moral support.

Under the direction of P/R Capt. John Cassidy, '69, this new company of five members was formed from Freshman, Sophomore, and Junior ROTC cadets, most of whom added their forces to the Pershing Rifles as well. Drill events included "crouch," "squat," "wheel," "change of drill" (close order drill), Indi­vidual IDR, and "Drill Stick." Among the winning events was the "Squat" (close order drill).

The Pershing Rifles have been a part of Providence College's military history for a number of years. They have had a long history of success in Drill Meets, with the last two years being particularly successful.

The Pershing Rifles are a part of the Providence College ROTC program, which is under the direction of Capt. John Cassidy, '69. The Pershing Rifles have been a part of Providence College's military history for a number of years.

This past Saturday, March 5, Providence College's Pershi­ng Rifles held its season by competing in the St. Peter's College Invita­tional Drill Meet in Jersey City, New Jersey. This year a large contingent from Colgate joined the company to add moral support.

Under the direction of P/R Capt. John Cassidy, '69, this new company of five members was formed from Freshman, Sophomore, and Junior ROTC cadets, most of whom added their forces to the Pershing Rifles as well. Drill events included "crouch," "squat," "wheel," "change of drill" (close order drill), Indi­vidual IDR, and "Drill Stick." Among the winning events was the "Squat" (close order drill).

The Pershing Rifles have been a part of Providence College's military history for a number of years. They have had a long history of success in Drill Meets, with the last two years being particularly successful.

The Pershing Rifles are a part of the Providence College ROTC program, which is under the direction of Capt. John Cassidy, '69. The Pershing Rifles have been a part of Providence College's military history for a number of years.
The War and Draft Discussed
By U. Mass. Professor Zahn

Dr. Gordon Zahn, Ph.D., Profes- sor of Sociology at the Univer- sity of Massachusetts, discussed his support of open resistance to the draft at the March 6 in Aquinas Lounge.

Dr. Zahn, speaking on "War, Conscience, and Dissent," was the latest speaker in the nam Lecture Series, a joint presen- tation of the Student Council and the Peace Club.

A religious pacifist opposed to war in all forms, Dr. Zahn advocated open resistance to the draft on the part of any young man who doubts the justice of the war in Vietnam. In present- ing his argument against the current draft system, he stressed the inviolability of con- science after war has made a moral judgment.

Dr. Zahn stated that the indi- x

vidual is competent to reach the truth on moral questions and has a natural right to do so. "Any resistance to this free- dom," he said, "is an abuse of the personal liberty of man." Dr. Zahn held that the federal government has no right to force a man to act contrary to the beliefs of his conscience. "Forcing an individual to con- tinue in an activity of which he is opposed, makes the war unjust. Those who ignore this question," he said, "are sacrificing their personal human dignity." He added, "If a person decides that the war is unjust, his response requires refusal of direct and voluntary cooperation.

Dr. Zahn accused the government of discriminatory draft pro- ceedures in the area of conscien- tious objection. Zahn, himself a conscientious objector in World War II, remarked that while the draft takes into consideration the person who is opposed to all war it ignores the Catholic viewpoint, which distinguishes between just and an unjust war. This makes it extremely difficult for a Catholic to be classified CO.

He devoted the latter part of his lecture to an analysis of the options open to those who are draft-able, but oppose the war. "Just what the limits of cooper- ation should be," he said, "is an individual decision, but there are minimal requirements which should act as guidelines."

Zahn said the basic non-co- operation requirement should be application for a CO classification. Depending on individual judg- ments, resistance could run the gamut from blocking draft cards to blocking induction or even to desertion from service.

The speech was ended with an appeal for better understand- ing of the pacifist cause, ques- tioning whether it is a direct threat to the war effort, and calling for additional support of the anti-war movement.

Following the lecture there was a short question and answer period.

There are presently three depart- ments which have amassed 100% registration with the Placement Office. These depart- ments are Chemistry, General Science, and Psychology. Others such as Economics, Modern Languages, and Accounting are rapidly approaching the goal. General Studies, with 60.3% registered, has the dubious dis- tinction of last place.

Registered as of March 6, 1968 are 511 seniors, or 76% of the class. Also, 84 juniors (12.7%), 14 sophomores, 1 freshman, and 1 exten- sion division student are regis- tered.

On March 18, General Elec- trical will be here to interview for advertising and public relations. Also, a group meeting will be held by G.E. for under- graduates. This will be held at 4:00 p.m. March 18 in Harkins 215. It behooves all to take notice of this, for General Electric has the best program of this kind in the country.

Mr. Galek Now Accepting Applications
For Junior Year Abroad Program

By WALTER ROYLE

Laet last sixteen members of the Providence College for one year to pursue their studies in Switzerland. These sixteen, under the Junior Year Abroad Program, are presently studying at the University of Fribourg and will return to Prov- ence College in their senior year and graduate with the rest of their class. This program, which is headed by Mr. Galek of the French department, al- lows the student to incorporate study and travel and presents an excellent opportunity for mu- ture student development.

This year Providence College will sponsor approximately twenty students under this pro- gram. These students will leave sometime in early September and will probably arrive in either Belgium or Germany. Their first week will be devoted exclusively to travel and sight- seeing.

At Fribourg they will live with Swiss families during the school year. They are free, how- ever, to leave the program for a short time and most students prefer eating at a restaurant in town since money is returned. Throughout the school year there is ample time for travel. The lengthly vacations enable the student to visit wherever he desires. While in school, he is provided with a full time ad- visor to assist him and is also aided by Mr. Galek back here at P.C. At the end of the school year, the student is on his own. He can return to the United States or spend the summer travelling around Europe.

Additions to D.L.

The names of the following students were omitted from the Dean's List which appeared in the March 7 Issue of The Cowl:

Seniors John F. Fekete, Joseph M. Haddad, and Kevin M. Tiddy and sophomore Ronald Szejter were also omitted from the list.

Pacesetter...

(Continued from Page 1)

$18,150 in pledges, has far sur- passed all expectations. At the present rate, Mr. Nero lands the ef- forts of all concentration chair- men. Committee co-chairmen Hamley and Healy, in particular, have been instrumental in pre-paring the program, devising the plans for payments, and aiding in the student work.

Concentration chairmen will file their weekly reports at com- mittee meetings to be held every Wednesday afternoon. For the duration of The Cowl, will be given on the basis of com- mittee members immediately following the meetings. Public progress reports to be published in each issue of The Cowl, will be given on the basis of com- mittee members immediately following the meetings. Public progress reports to be published in each issue of The Cowl, will be given on the basis of com- mittee members immediately following the meetings. Public progress reports to be published in each issue of The Cowl, will be given on the basis of com-
1937 La Salle Hearse

(Continued from Page 1) There has been known to gurgle itself on seven quarts of oil at one sitting and it currently guzzles gasoline at a rate between six and nine miles per gallon. The manufacturer (which, as you probably know, is not available, but it is well known that only a relatively small number of professional physicians and dentists are engaged in the practice of medicine and that the majority are engaged in the practice of surgery, which is essentially the same thing as the practice of medicine, with the exception that medical students are not required to take medical examinations. It is estimated that there are only 10,000 medical students in the United States, and of these, only 2,000 are engaged in the practice of medicine and surgery.

The selection of the year's selection of the College of Medicine and Surgery, which is essentially the same thing as the selection of the College of Medicine and Surgery, is not available, but it is well known that only a relatively small number of professional physicians and dentists are engaged in the practice of medicine and that the majority are engaged in the practice of surgery, which is essentially the same thing as the practice of medicine, with the exception that medical students are not required to take medical examinations. It is estimated that there are only 10,000 medical students in the United States, and of these, only 2,000 are engaged in the practice of medicine and surgery.

The selection of the year's selection of the College of Medicine and Surgery, which is essentially the same thing as the selection of the College of Medicine and Surgery, is not available, but it is well known that only a relatively small number of professional physicians and dentists are engaged in the practice of medicine and that the majority are engaged in the practice of surgery, which is essentially the same thing as the practice of medicine, with the exception that medical students are not required to take medical examinations. It is estimated that there are only 10,000 medical students in the United States, and of these, only 2,000 are engaged in the practice of medicine and surgery.

The selection of the year's selection of the College of Medicine and Surgery, which is essentially the same thing as the selection of the College of Medicine and Surgery, is not available, but it is well known that only a relatively small number of professional physicians and dentists are engaged in the practice of medicine and that the majority are engaged in the practice of surgery, which is essentially the same thing as the practice of medicine, with the exception that medical students are not required to take medical examinations. It is estimated that there are only 10,000 medical students in the United States, and of these, only 2,000 are engaged in the practice of medicine and surgery.

The selection of the year's selection of the College of Medicine and Surgery, which is essentially the same thing as the selection of the College of Medicine and Surgery, is not available, but it is well known that only a relatively small number of professional physicians and dentists are engaged in the practice of medicine and that the majority are engaged in the practice of surgery, which is essentially the same thing as the practice of medicine, with the exception that medical students are not required to take medical examinations. It is estimated that there are only 10,000 medical students in the United States, and of these, only 2,000 are engaged in the practice of medicine and surgery.

The selection of the year's selection of the College of Medicine and Surgery, which is essentially the same thing as the selection of the College of Medicine and Surgery, is not available, but it is well known that only a relatively small number of professional physicians and dentists are engaged in the practice of medicine and that the majority are engaged in the practice of surgery, which is essentially the same thing as the practice of medicine, with the exception that medical students are not required to take medical examinations. It is estimated that there are only 10,000 medical students in the United States, and of these, only 2,000 are engaged in the practice of medicine and surgery.
Pucksters Look to Future

Varsity Winds Up Dismal Season with Optimism

It is that time of the year again which summons us to review the performance of the Providence College hockey team. Throughout this very long and eventful season, there have been both performances we would like to cherish and there are still those we do not wish to remember.

The Friars started one very successful, winning two of three games while on their pre-season tour against Canadian schools. After the PC pucksters succeeded in dunking Bowdoin and the University of Pennsylvania, it seemed as if the Friars were developing into a well-oiled unit which would have to be reckoned by almost all of their opponents.

However, much to the dismay of these new believers, this unit soon started to go south as they went on a loosing streak which was to last for seven consecutive games. Yet it was at this point that the Friar varsity turned in its most stellar performance of the year with an upset victory over the Huskies of Northeastern University by the margin of 2-1.

The Providence squad continued to perform respectably over the remainder of the season against West Point, University of New Hampshire and a strong Tiger team from Princeton. Although the Friars were unable to bring any victories home during this period, they displayed an improved style of play which allowed them to stay close to the victors throughout the game.

It now came time when the Friars were to meet their toughest section of their schedule. The squad was to meet in the powers of the East, including Boston U., Boston College, Clarkson and St. Lawrence. Although the Friars, however, were shockingly defeated because they were unable to score against the superior squads continued to handle horrendous humiliations to the PC pucksters. Yet, the Friars were losing by the margins of 10 and 11 goals. Yet the team showed a glimpse of the future as the Friars managed to wind up on the winning side in three games against inferior competition.

Tom Smiley and Jean Boislard. The Friars started out very strong with an improved style of play which almost all of their opponents reckoned by almost all of their opponents.

The best performance of the season came when the Friars averaged an early defeat to New Prep with a 5-0 victory. This game typified the fine aspects of the fresh squad, its hustling play, powerful offense, clutch defense, and winning spirit. A special word of praise goes to Coach Lamoriello for his great coaching in developing the talent and strategy which is the making of a highly successful sextet. All in all the freshman hockey team had a tremendous season.

The best performance of the season came when the Friars averaged an early defeat to New Prep with a 5-0 victory. This game typified the fine aspects of the fresh squad, its hustling play, powerful offense, clutch defense, and winning spirit. A special word of praise goes to Coach Lamoriello for his great coaching in developing the talent and strategy which is the making of a highly successful sextet. All in all the freshman hockey team had a tremendous season.

Famous HC Coach, Bart Sullivan, Leaves 52 Years of Memories

WORCESTER, Mass. — Bart Sullivan's life-long crusade for Holy Cross was to last for seven consecutive years. He came to Holy Cross as an outgrowth of a career that had begun in the last couple of seasons, and Richard "Knute" Johnson, who displayed a knack of putting the puck in the cage, will also help to supply a strong nucleus for next season. One senior to be singled out for his outstanding hustle and desire to win is hard hitting Chris Byrne. Chris, who earned his varsity ring the previous spring, had found some difficulty in putting the puck by the goalie, seeming to be the key to the game until he season and should be one of the great on the '68-'69 sextet.

For the seniors, there is no longer a season to look forward to. Their four-year careers have terminated in a very disappointing manner. They will not receive the accolades or praises which would have been paid to them had they finished with a winning record. However, they have earned for their determination to continue out and face for superior squads, with approximately 100 people supporting their efforts to the best of their ability at all times. These seniors who deserve a gesture of thanks from the student body are Captain Jim Umile, defenderman Don "Crusher" McGoldrick, Larry Tremblay, and Jerry Menard.

One of the Friar's most successful seasons was the freshman hockey squad which ended its season with five straight victories for a 14-5 record. According to Coach Lou Lamoriello, the team "rose to the occasion" throughout the season with clutch hockey and a spirit of pulling for each other.

The offense was outstanding as it averaged 5.05 goals per game. The first line consisting of Rich Pumple (38 goals-34 assists), Tom Sheehan (23 g, 25a), and Mike Gaffney (32, 27a) scored 180 points making them one of the most powerful freshman lines in the East. The 6'2" 190 Pumple from Quebec played superbly all season as shown by his 3 four goal, 2 three goals, and 9 two goal games. Pumple set the freshman record with his 38 goals. But Pumple isn't an offensive player; he skates both ways well. Sheehan, a smooth skater and accurate slapshot and an experienced off-years because of more serious injuries, both contributed to his 3-2, and the final victory for the victors throughout the game.

It came time when the Friars were to meet their toughest section of their schedule. The beginning of the season, was the most exciting player on the squad, displayed in his first varsity season a powerful superior squad and an outstanding ability to skate with almost any opposing wing. Skip also led the team in scoring in sweeping up 13 goals and 11 assists.

Other fine sophomores who will be assets on next season's team are forwards Bill Smiley and Jean Boislard. The latter two, both defenders, experienced off-years because of more serious injuries, both returned to their previous form. Mike Leonard, an untried player before the beginning of the season, was the most pleasant surprise on the squad. Mike was an outstanding penalty killer, excellent skater, and an outstanding goaler from the outstanding goaler from the University of Pennsylvania and a strong track men but out two games scheduled.

The best performance of the year came when the Friars averaged an early defeat to New Prep with a 5-0 victory. This game typified the fine aspects of the fresh squad, its hustling play, powerful offense, clutch defense, and winning spirit. A special word of praise goes to Coach Lamoriello for his great coaching in developing the talent and strategy which is the making of a highly successful sextet. All in all the freshman hockey team had a tremendous season.
Thinclads Finish Season At IC4A's in New York

By PETER MEADE

This past Saturday was one of disappointment for the Providence College Indoor Track team. They entered the IC4A Championships in New York with hopes built high after last week's fine performance in the Meet Night. However, when they left Madison Square Garden at 11 p.m. Saturday night after 10 hours of competition, they were far from satisfied with their performances in the finale of the indoor campaign. A series of near misses and bad races marked their running throughout the day.

The competition started in the afternoon with trials in the mile, 1,000 yard run, and the Freshmen distance medley relay. In the mile trials there were four heats with the first two each heat racing to the final. For senior Dan Gaven it marked the third straight attempt at this event, and once again he failed to make the final. This time the margin was three yards, his best time was 4:16 behind Jack Path of Fesham and Terry Denney of William and Mary University. All three runners performed a waiting game as the first half mile was run in a slow 2:13. The second half was fast 2:03 with Gaven getting beat again in a last lap kick.

It was equally frustrating afternoon for Captain Dennis Fanchak in the 1,000 yard run. Fazekas had been sick with the flu the whole week and had been unable to practice at all. Lacking his usual driving finish, he ran fourth in his heat with a time of 2:23. Both Gaven and Fazekas finished up their college indoor career by running on the two-mile relay in the trials at night. The team finished fifth in their heat.

Other performances in the afternoon were as follows:

Sophia Tom Malloy and Ray O'Neil finished third and fifth respectively in their heats of the mile in times of 4:26 and 4:22. Tomnun finished fourth in his heat in 4:18 which was a personal best for this talented champion, Dave Patrick of Villanova.

In the Freshman Distance Medley, a team of Bill Riven, Charles Predmore, Rich Ursone, and Chris Shultz finished sixth in their trial heat.

In the night program, the final for the two mile run had two Providence runners in it. This race was run in two sections with the overall placings to be decided on time. In the first section, Sophomore Matt Bobb finished fifth in 9:14, and Bob Croke finished eighth in 9:20. This was the final meet of the indoor season, and activity will be slack until the Spring team goes about preparing for the upcoming outdoor campaign.

Met A, New Jersey, Albertus A Win in PCIAA Quarterfinals

In Quarterfinal action of the PCIAA basketball playoffs, the league leading and undefeated COWL, Players of the Week, each. After a period of play, the winning team had nearly as many rebounds

This is quite a year for sports at Providence College. The indoor thinclads set many records; club foot became a reality and is highly successful in its initial season; the Mullaneymen suffer their first losing season under our famous mentor who fell victim to the thirteenth season jinx; the hockey forces endured their third straight losing season under the direction of the thirteenth season jinx; the hockey forces endured their third straight losing season under the direction of the former Coach Doyle will depend.

This has been quite a year for sports at Providence College. The indoor thinclads set many records; club foot becomes a reality and is highly successful in its initial season; the Mullaneymen suffer their first losing season under our famous mentor who fell victim to the thirteenth season jinx; the hockey forces endured their third straight losing season under the direction of the former Coach Doyle will depend.

It is my pleasure to announce that the Club Soccer team has been raised to the level of varsity competition. Mr. William Doyle has been named Coach of Soccer and will take over the leadership reins from Paul and Peter Lomenzo who were the co-chairmen of the club during the Fall season.

Coach Doyle is a native of Dublin, Ireland, and has been in this country only four years. He is married and the father of three children. This resident of Cranston played professional soccer for two years in Ireland with the Rovers, and plans to hold a meeting of all prospective players within the next two weeks.

Next year the Friars will participate in an eight game schedule on the intercollegiate level. For the last two years the club has been playing scrimmages with the local colleges, and it is the nucleus from this squad on whom Coach Doyle will depend.

In all it has been quite an interesting reign as Sports Editor for the COWL. My staff and I have tried to provide accurate and fairly complete coverage of the entire PC sports picture, and I feel that our self-appointed task has been satisfactorily handled. Our big plug was for the football team, and we were rewarded with the knowledge that the club is now solidly on its feet and is eagerly preparing for next fall. Odds are that the soccer team will get the most attention this spring and next fall until they too establish themselves in the intercollegiate ranks.

To get around to a few odds and ends before I clear my desk for the last time — the picture of Jack Sanford immediately below is a followup to his being named as Mr. William Doyle's captain for the varsity competition.

The 1968 Football Schedule

Assumption September 25—8 pm Home
St. Michael's October 2—2 pm at Vermont
Manhattan October 12— at New York
La Salle October 20—2 pm at Philadelphia
Fairfield October 25—8 pm Home
Marist November 1—8 pm Home
New Haven November 8—8 pm New Haven
Seton Hall November 17—2 pm Home
* * * * * * * * * * * * * * * * * * * * * *

* * * * * * * * * * * * * * * * * * * * * *

1968 Football Schedule

After many months of romps and squabbles, stalwarts and dark horses — the intramural season has come to a close. For the second consecutive year the MIT CLUB "A" squad, under the tutelage of Cort Kutalka, has captured the laurels of the New Yorkers with a strong scoring defense, timely gaps, great runs, and a strong overall performance. The men of the team are: Skip Lenzke and John Samojo, the heavy re-bounders; Chief Imperato and Mike Walsh combined for eight straight victories without a defeat. The MIT CLUB in addition to the three runner up teams — New Bedford "A," New Bedford "B" and Dedham "B." The club also received first round byes in the play-offs.

The opening round produced a series of lopsided affairs. In the first game of the PERSHING RIFLES, who have been playing amazingly well all season long, despite the fact that their team is composed almost entirely of underclassmen, the Blackstone Valley "Fishing" by a 41 to 15 tally. Students for the "Riflemen" were fresh Dave "Boxford" Benson and "Billy The Kid." The second event proved a bit more interesting as the Business Club lost to the Albertus Magnus "B" team. The sharpshooting of Juniors Dan Duffy and Rich Williams provided the difference in a game which saw Rock Mally net 14 points and snatch nearly as many rebounds for the losers.

The final contest for the open night of the playoffs pitted a tall Albertus Magnus five against the scrappy Newport Club. After a period of play, the impressive board work of Buddy Thomas and the shooting of Nick Mariano proved too much for the Newport squad as Albertus went on to win by a 49 to 26 margin.
Friars End '67-'68 Season
Three Games Under .500

By ED SKIBER

The Friars rode the victory wave through the last five minutes with the press of the press. The frosh also had a little trouble using a zone type defense. Their opponents consistently hit the open man underneath the basket for the easy shot when they used the zone.

For all that's said about the defense, the 'O' is the big story. Jim Larrañaga had the finest set of credentials on the frosh squad as he put in 23 points per game, pulled down rebounds in double figures, and exhibited some rather adept ball handling. He was named by one scribe as one of the best frosh in the land and Bill Bradley went on record as saying that he was a "small Bill Bradley." Little James Ferro ('59) is another former Rhode Island All-Stater. He was one of the spark plugs of the offense with his exceptional ball handling and surprising jumping. Junior features a one hand push shot which is effective from as far out as 30 feet. He wound up with a 20 point per game average and a shooting percentage of 52 per cent. Ferro's partner in the backcourt was Vic Colucci. Vic is another fine shoot, who averaged 40 per cent from the downtown area. He wasn't afraid to shoot from anywhere on the court and when he was "on" a zone defense didn't stand a chance against the frosh.

Bill Walsh rounded out the starting five. Bill had trouble in the closing part of the season with his scoring, but he was invaluable to the club all year. Perhaps his most notable game was the Boston College contest.

In the second half he and Larrañaga were taking turns shooting the long shots and suddenly, student support was back to the standards of the glory years. An estimated 150 dormies greeted their conquering heroes after the Assumption contest.

PC traveled to the snakepit Palestra for an engagement with the pesky St. Joseph's Hawks, and for one half looked like world beaters. Even Tempol guard Harry Libawk, a man who uses a minimum of flowery adjectives in his oral repertoire, was impressed to a certain degree.

The second half was a different story. The Hawks, down by 10, alternated with a full-court and half-court zone press, and, in a startling reversal of form, caught the Friars. The guards were content to dribble through the harrassing press, but discovered this to be a cardinal sin of basketball. Their incredible crowd at the foul line didn't help either as the Friars missed all nine second half attempts. Promising sophs Dan Kelley and Mike Hauer led the Hawks to a three point upset.

The Friars' appearance in the Quaker City Tournament was nothing short of disastrous. Temple roughed the Mourners all around. Stu Kerzner was invaluable with his hustling on-the-court leadership. Co-Captains Tony Koski and Don Henderson were first rate competitors. Pete Costello and Andy Clary get set for a possible rebound. As Don Henderson and Andy Clary get set for a possible rebound.

The Friars definitely lacked a first string center. As Dan Henderson and Vic Colucci were combining with Don Henderson and Andy Clary to avenge a few losses from the downtown area. He was "on" a zone defense didn't stand a chance against the frosh.

The Friars played a convincing 105-85 win over Hawaii and Wales quintet at Alumni Hall. Jim Larrañaga gave the fans a sample of what to expect as he scored 10. Vic Colucci posted a 20 while Junior Ferro contributed 22. Their second outing brought out the real weakness of the frosh five, a lack of rebounding strength or rather height, as they lost to the URI frosh 94-92. Ray Johnson, the former South Kingstown star, had to sit out the season due to an NCAA ruling and as a result Mike McGuinn ('64), a local All-State selection in high school, was forced to shoulder the load. Mike came up with an outstanding season at the center spot in spite of his size.

As has been the case in the last four seasons the PC quintet lost out at Leicester Junior College, again by two, 78-76. The other two losses were at the hands of URI at Alumni Hall and UMass at Amherst.

The Christmas vacation caused the Friars a great deal of trouble at times as the full court press. Against the Crusader-Destroyer team from Newport they showed an inability to hit the open man when the press was used. The Chargers almost pulled the game out in the last five minutes with the press. The frosh also had a little trouble using a zone type defense. Their opponents consistently hit the open man underneath the basket for the easy lay-up shot when they used the zone.

For all that's said about the defense, the 'O' is the big story. Jim Larrañaga had the finest set of credentials on the frosh squad as he put in 23 points per game, pulled down rebounds in double figures, and exhibited some rather adept ball handling. He was named by one scribe as one of the best frosh in the land and Bill Bradley went on record as saying that he was a "small Bill Bradley." Little James Ferro ('59) is another former Rhode Island All-Stater. He was one of the spark plugs of the offense with his exceptional ball handling and surprising jumping. Junior features a one hand push shot which is effective from as far out as 30 feet. He wound up with a 20 point per game average and a shooting percentage of 52 per cent. Ferro's partner in the backcourt was Vic Colucci. Vic is another fine shoot, who averaged 40 per cent from the downtown area. He wasn't afraid to shoot from anywhere on the court and when he was "on" a zone defense didn't stand a chance against the frosh.

Bill Walsh rounded out the starting five. Bill had trouble in the closing part of the season with his scoring, but he was invaluable to the club all year. Perhaps his most notable game was the Boston College contest.

In the second half he and Larrañaga were taking turns shooting the long shots and suddenly, student support was back to the standards of the glory years. An estimated 150 dormies greeted their conquering heroes after the Assumption contest.

PC traveled to the snakepit Palestra for an engagement with the pesky St. Joseph's Hawks, and for one half looked like world beaters. Even Tempol guard Harry Libawk, a man who uses a minimum of flowery adjectives in his oral repertoire, was impressed to a certain degree.

The second half was a different story. The Hawks, down by 10, alternated with a full-court and half-court zone press, and, in a startling reversal of form, caught the Friars. The guards were content to dribble through the harrassing press, but discovered this to be a cardinal sin of basketball. Their incredible crowd at the foul line didn't help either as the Friars missed all nine second half attempts. Promising sophs Dan Kelley and Mike Hauer led the Hawks to a three point upset.

The Friars' appearance in the Quaker City Tournament was nothing short of disastrous. Temple roughed the Mourners all around. Stu Kerzner was invaluable with his hustling on-the-court leadership. Co-Captains Tony Koski and Don Henderson were first rate competitors. Pete Costello and Andy Clary get set for a possible rebound. As Don Henderson and Andy Clary get set for a possible rebound.

The Friars definitely lacked a first string center. As Dan Henderson and Vic Colucci were combining with Don Henderson and Andy Clary to avenge a few losses from the downtown area. He was "on" a zone defense didn't stand a chance against the frosh. Joe Mullaney, worn out and disappointed by the events of the season, walked pensively to the locker room during half time of the 93 points to their opponents, wound up scoring an average of 27 points in the course of the season, walks pensively to the locker room during half time. To Future Success

The Friars rode the victory trail once again defeating three less than inspired opponents. PC clobbered weak Seton Hall, but trouble using a zone type defense didn't stand a chance against the frosh. Joe Mullaney, worn out and disappointed by the events of the season, walks pensively to the locker room during half time.

The Friars definitely lacked a first string center. As Dan Henderson and Vic Colucci were combining with Don Henderson and Andy Clary to avenge a few losses from the downtown area. He was "on" a zone defense didn't stand a chance against the frosh. Joe Mullaney, worn out and disappointed by the events of the season, walks pensively to the locker room during half time.