John McLaughlin Concert Cancellation Explained

(The events leading up to the cancellation of the John McLaughlin concert were announced last week to the Cowl. The following is a recount of those events.)

On Friday morning, October 12, an offer was made over the telephone for a concert featuring John McLaughlin and the Mahavishnu Orchestra. While this offer normally cost upwards of $9 to $10 thousand, the price offered over the phone was $6,500. The promoter had to know that afternoon whether P.C. wanted the concert. The concert was offered in hopes that the promoter would sponsor another concert at a future date at P.C.

After consulting with various members of the Student Congress and the BOG, Sandy Esposito, President of the BOG, and Paul Baerzel, Major Events Chairman of the BOG, agreed to the concert. It was their understanding that the agreement made was verbal in nature, and so not binding. While a Board approval was needed for the staging of the concert, they felt a meeting on the following Sunday could, if the rest of the Board were in dissension, cancel the concert. Mr. Baerzel and Ms. Esposito were then asked to agree to the concert, conditional upon speaking to Mr. Heskin, Comptroller of P.C. as well as other advisers, and after a referendum was run to poll student opinion on the success of the concert.

The following Monday, Ms. Esposito decided to call the concert off. On Tuesday, the promoter was informed of this decision, but replied that the concert could not be cancelled, and that if it were to be cancelled, there would be a lawsuit against Providence College. After consulting with Miss Loretta Roni, Assistant Director of the Slavin Center, and after being informed by the promoter of the possibility of a lawsuit against P.C., Ms. Esposito called upon Fr. Duffy and Fr. McMahon. A meeting was set up for Wednesday morning, at which time, Fr. Duffy and Fr. McMahon, Mark Granato, Bill Mekrut, would join Ms. Esposito and Mr. Baerzel to decide on further action. At the meeting it was decided to consult with a lawyer, and to halt all promotion of the concert.

On Thursday, a lawyer representing P.C. was called into consultation, and it was decided that the agency for John McLaughlin would be called, and that no lawsuit would be pressed against P.C. The lawyer explained that legally, Providence College nor the BOG, but the individuals involved in the BOG were subject to legal action. However, no problems were foreseen. A meeting for all involved to talk with the promoter was then arranged for Thursday night. At that time, it was determined that the concert agency would not sue Providence College, but it would sue the promoter who, in turn, would sue P.C., the BOG and Mr. Baerzel.

The decision to go on with the concert was then made by Fr. Duffy and Mr. Granato. They saw that if the concert was not staged, the school would reap the benefits of very hard work. They further advised to try to have the concert postponed.

On Friday morning, an emergency meeting of the BOG was called to consider the alternatives of (1) cancelling the concert and suffering the repercussions, (2) postponing the concert, or (3) going ahead with the concert. In the opinion of the two alternatives failed. As of that meeting, the decision was to go ahead with full force on the concert over the weekend.

The following Tuesday, the promoter called announcing that the concert was cancelled because John McLaughlin had made other plans for the concert date. The promoter said that the cancellation of the concert at P.C. was cancelled, had advised John McLaughlin to look another engagement.

Corporation Includes Prominent Dominicans

by Stephen J. D'Oliveira

Rev. Robert A. Morris, O.P., is Vice President for Development, and had been Chaplin at the Catholic University of America in Washington, D.C., before his appointment in February of 1967. A native of Jersey City, New Jersey, Father Morris graduated from Providence College in 1946. He then entered the Dominican Order and was ordained as a priest in Washington, D.C. in 1969. From 1951 until 1962 Father Morris did graduate work in drama at Yale University, and upon receiving his degree, became production manager of the Blackfriars Theatre in New York, until 1957. In September of 1957 he was assigned to Providence College as a professor in English. He remained at Providence until 1961, during which time he was director of the Pyramid Players at the College.

As Vice President for Institutional Development, Father Morris is responsible for Providence College's long-range planning.

Rev. Magr. Daniel P. Reilly, Assistant Chancellor and Secretary to Bishop Chancellor, Diocese of Providence, was ordained to the priesthood in 1953.

He is a graduate of Our Lady of Providence College, Providence, Rhode Island, and from 1948 to 1953 attended Grand Seminary, in St. Breuex, France. In 1950 he studied Business Administration, for a period of one year at Boston College's Graduate School.

Mr. Reilly attended the Second Vatican Council, and is a recipient of Providence College's Honorary Degree. He is active in the United Fund, the Citizens Committee for Action on R. L. Courts, and the Knights of Columbus.

Rev. James M. Murphy, O.P., is the religious superior of the Dominican community at Providence College, and is a 1942 graduate. Ordained in Washington, D.C. in 1949, he holds the licentiate and licentiate in Sacred Theology from the Sacred Heart Seminary in Washington, D.C., and the S.T.L. from Notre Dame Seminary in Chicago, Illinois, and his Ph.D from the Angelicum, Rome.
The Corporation of Providence College Corporation

The Corporation of Providence College Corporation is the highest decision-making body in this institution's system of government. From this body emerge decisions which determine both the direction and the priorities which our college is to pursue. Recent changes such as co-education and the new curriculum reform may not have originated with the Corporation. However, they require the Corporation's approval before they can be realized. The Cowl staff firmly believes that the Corporation, which affect the entire college community can not be made wisely by a body which has not been thoroughly examined. The most vital element in any college community - The Student Body.

The first step is that of impounding official or prospective candidates for corporation. It seems that no formal committee has been established which a nominee for the Corporation should consist of any college community members. The BOG had begun to form a committee for the Corporation.

The BOG has recommended the following guidelines for action. The Cowl hopes that this body will be representative of the constituent elements of the college community.

The proposal was made officially in a special issue of The Cowl (May 1, 1973). An official proposal for Corporate restructuring was made to the Corporation at a meeting in the latter part of May. There is a sub-committee within the Corporation which has been studying this question since the '69 proposal and a plea for restructure by Fr. Haas has made this issue of utmost importance to the college community. The Corporation is due to report to the next Corporation meeting which tentatively scheduled to be held sometime before Christmas. To issue a proposal for Corporate restructuring with as much speed and effectiveness as possible. The Cowl makes the following proposals:

1) That both the Student Congress and the Faculty Senate quickly act on the proposal of Corporate Reform. 2) That Fr. Haas make a presentation of the question.

The sub-committee of the Corporation weigh the opinions of the Student Congress and Faculty Senate in their final report and make a recommendation before DEC 1 to act on the problem of Corporate restructuring. Since the Class of 1969 made its proposal and the student body has taken up the "Corporate restructuring" as its battle cry, the Corporation has been its leading champion. We are convinced that a more progressive academic institution would ensure a more progressive academic institution.

Lastly, a sub-committee of the Providence College Corporation, was formed to study possible plans for revision of the present structures of the Corporation. The students, benefactors of the college, or members from the civic committee on student representation, and a sub-committee on student representation, and a sub-committee on student representation were members of the Corporation. With this in mind, the student body would also elect a representative to the Corporation. With this in mind, the student body would also elect a representative to the Corporation for a four year term.

Mark Granato’s Speech Dispels Recent Rumors

By Suzanne Newton

The Economics department, in conjunction with the Professional, Socio-economic, and Business Societies of the Providence College Student Congress, held a seminar on Monday, November 8, at 7:30 p.m., in 64 Huxley Avenue. The function was open to all Providence College students and faculty. The objective of the seminar was to dispel the various recent rumors circulating in the past few weeks. Those who attended the seminar were those who were interested.

The Economics Forum to Be Held

by Suzanne Newton

(The Economics department, in conjunction with the Professional, Socio-economic, and Business Societies of the Providence College Student Congress, will sponsor a forum entitled “What Does Economics Hold For You?” on Thursday, November 8, at 7:30 p.m., in 64 Hall, Slavin Center. The forum will be oriented toward the Freshman and Sophomore classes: particularly those students who are unsure of their future or who are in the process of choosing a concentration in the field of economics.

The panel for “What Does Economics Hold for You?” will be composed of students, alumni, and faculty members. This is a discussion seminar to familiarize students with the field of economics, to show what it has to offer and to enable those students who have just entered Providence College to gain a better insight into their own possibilities and career opportunities.

The panelists will be: John B. Weidman, Economics Master’s Graduate and Assistant Professor; Mark Granato, Economics Ph.D. Graduate; and Edward S. Hargrave, Economics Ph.D. Graduate.

MEMO FROM THE EDITOR

Over the last eight days, The Cowl staff has provided Providence College with the most extensive newspaper coverage of the student election this year. Publishing four issues in eight days was a truly herculean effort, and the staff should be proud of not only the quantity of the work, but also of the quality. Among the many topics covered were the various student organizations, the Board of Governors, the Athletic Council, and the Resident Board. Each organization or club is allowed two voting representatives, however, membership is not coercive. Meetings are held every other Monday at 3:00 p.m. in the President's Office. The opinions expressed herein are the opinions of the Editorial Board, and do not necessarily represent the opinions of any students, corporations, or the College Administration. We the Editorial Board, feel that at long last an organization is being formed. The present members of the B.O.G. seem to have two recourses upon which they can act. They can either resign now, or they can stay on to facilitate the evaluation of their actions as well as the rules by which they operate. The editorial staff feel that re-evaluation is necessary for the B.O.G. We sincerely hope that the present members of the board do not desert. Who better can interpret and adjudicate past deficiencies?

The present situation may exist. In the future, registrations will be definitely in order to receive a sticker. This hopefully will weed out those students who are actually using a car, and those who are buying a sticker. The commuter student who does not own a car, and thus retain his parking privilege, can do so on either Nov. 13 or 14, from 9:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m., in the bottom level of Slavin Center. Members of the College staff will process the registration and issue to those validated an identifiable parking sticker to be placed on the present sticker. For the Student resident, members of the College staff will take place in Raymond Cafeteria, on November 13 and 14 at lunch and dinner. I have to apologize for this situation. However, re-registration is necessary in order to give an equal opportunity to those who desire parking facilities. I must stress the seriousness of this procedure; those people who do not validate their parking stickers are liable to lose, beginning Monday, Nov. 19. Sincerely, Denis Kelly

Student Congress Statement

Recently, the student leaders of the college community have come together in a joint effort to solve some of the campus problems. Known as the Campus Council, it is comprised of members from the Student Congress, the Board of Governors, The Cowl, the Dillon Club, the Friars Club, and the M Club. The aim of this Council will be to inter-organizational cooperation, that is, working together to cope with the projects or problems that one student organization cannot handle alone. Each organization or club is allowed two voting representatives, however, membership is not coercive. Meetings are held every other Monday at 3:00 p.m.

We, the editorial staff, feel that at long last an organization is being formed. The present members of the B.O.G. seem to have two recourses upon which they can act. They can either resign now, or they can stay on to facilitate the evaluation of their actions as well as the rules by which they operate. The editorial staff feel that re-evaluation is necessary for the B.O.G. We sincerely hope that the present members of the board do not desert. Who better can interpret and adjudicate past deficiencies?

The editorial staff of The Cowl approves the actions of the past week. A definitive action was definitely needed to avert further mistakes. We do encourage re-evaluation as being in the best interests of the student body.

Because of complaints received in regards to the issuing of parking stickers this week, the changes are in order. Charges have been made that some students have been allotted stickers even though they do not have a car. To correct this, we are planning on using a car next semester but do not as of yet actually have a car. Because we did not demand car registration in order to receive a sticker, this situation may exist. In the future, registrations will be definitely in order to give an equal opportunity to those who validate their parking stickers are actually using a car, and those who are buying a sticker.

The commuter student who does not own a car, and thus retain his parking privilege, can do so on either Nov. 13 or 14, from 9:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m., in the bottom level of Slavin Center. Members of the College staff will process the registration and issue to those validated an identifiable parking sticker to be placed on the present sticker. For the Student resident, members of the College staff will take place in Raymond Cafeteria, on November 13 and 14 at lunch and dinner.

We have spent many hours in the Cowl office over the past two weeks; we will spend many more. Perhaps we should look at the perspective of the papers that were printed. We began last week by publishing sixteen pages of what we considered, totally relevant news, features, opinions, sports and editorials. Covered in the sixteen pages were stories concerning college governance, the College's financial miscalculations, although the Board of Governors' administrative capacity has been dispensed with, the College still acknowledges the body's value as a contributing influence. The B.O.G. will continue to operate. Its purpose will be to re-evaluate itself. A re-evaluation committee is being formed. The committee will be comprised of the remaining members of the Board of Governors with the addition of two members of the Student Congress. The committee will be chaired by Fr. McMahon OP. These concerns should be that the concept of the Board of Governors is essentially good, however, problems seem to evolve around the by-laws to its constitution.

The present members of the B.O.G. seem to have two recourses upon which they can act. They can either resign now, or they can stay on to facilitate the evaluation of their actions as well as the rules by which they operate. The editorial staff feel that re-evaluation is necessary for the B.O.G. We sincerely hope that the present members of the board do not desert. Who better can interpret and adjudicate past deficiencies?
Dear Editor,

I'm under one of those "one letter-a-year" writers to the Cowl that I'm still going through the course of the school year. Traditionally, however, I do not write a letter this early in the school year, but I think it's... the time.

My letter concerns the Friars Club on campus. As president of this social organization to P.C., I naturally take great pride in the work the Friars Club does for P.C. Perhaps, though, I take greater pride in associating myself with the fifty-four other members, or Friars, in the club. My purpose in writing this letter is not to laud the members of the club on an individual basis, or praise myself or being president of this organization, rather, I will try to explain the functions of the Friars Club and hopefully, clear the air of any misconceptions or ill feelings that students of P.C. have towards an individual club member or against the Friars Club in general.

It was stated in the original constitution of the Friars Club, in 1934, that the Club was dedicated to "...the advancement of the students of Providence College during the course of their college course and to always retain and seeks fulfillment of this pledge of service to the college. As a result, the Club has worked numerous assignments over the past years. Every time we have either assisted or will be assisting the college in one way or another. Furthermore, President's Day, Class Registration for Evening and Day Students, and any other tour given by the Friars Club are of paramount importance to the club. As the president of this club, I am capable of understanding the responsibilities of the Friars Club.

It is probably true that a Friar gets so much out of the club because he has put so much in to the club. The Friars Club has been privileged to serve P.C. in the past years and hopefully will increase in the future. As a strong fraternal unit, the Friars Club is proud to work on its thirty-sixth year of service to P.C.

Thank you for your time and I remain,

Sincerely,
Jerome Walls
President, Friars Club

Correction

Dear Editor,

Due to an unfortunate typographical error, a phrase was deleted from the last paragraph on my review of Siddhartha in the November 15th, 1973 issue of the Cowl. As the sentence appeared:

"The novel is a story of an inward journey in the midst of the outside world. It cannot allow us to get inside Siddhartha's head; so, I think, the essential thrust of the novel is dissipated in pictures."

The sentence should have read:

"The novel is a story of an inward journey in the midst of the outside world. It cannot allow us to get inside Siddhartha's head; so, I think, the essential thrust of the novel is dissipated in pictures."

Sincerely,
Brian Hyland

Wednesday, November 7, 1973

Dear Sir,

A new course will be introduced in the English Department. English 404, American Poetry and Fiction--will be offered for the first time this spring. It is a survey of American literature. The prose will be studied in order to chart the intellectual backgrounds of the American and the poetry which would include Jonathan Swift, Edgar Allan Poe, Mark Twain, Nathaniel Hawthorne, Jefferson, Cooper, Emerson, Thoreau, and Henry Adams. It should be noted that this is a non-fiction prose. English 405 will take up American fiction before 1900. The poetry will be studied in the same double prospect as offering opportunities for interpretation and evaluation. Those desiring to take the course will include Edward Taylor, Freneau, Emerson, Poe, Whitman, Longfellow, Emerson, Longfellow. English 404 is scheduled for series I. I hope to run as much as is possible not as a lecture course but as a seminar, to insure maximum student participation. Further particulars can be had from me in my library study, 338, any afternoon.

Yours faithfully,
Loyd Czarnik
Assistant Professor

“Gantry Nite”

is Successful

by Heidi Kenny

The Providence College Dillon Club sponsored “Gantry Nite”, on Friday, November 2, 1973. Approximately 300 attended the event which was held in the multipurpose room. Many felt it to be a success due to the fact that it was not the ordinary college mixer with a rock group, dancing and beer. Music and entertainment was provided by “Mother’s Moustache”, who played all of the old time favorites. There was no dancing, but there was plenty of beer and an unlimited supply of free peanuts. The shells of the peanuts were thrown on the floor to create atmosphere. During the group’s intermissions Marx Broth- ers, W.C. Fields, and Three Stooges flicks were shown. To keep the beer lines to a minimum waitresses walked around to the tables and sold beer. All of this added up to an atmosphere similar to that of Gantry’s and the Ground Round.

The Dillon Club Board helped to make “Gantry Nite” the suc- cess it was. Hours of time, ef- fort and money were spent to make “Gantry Nite” an enjoyable and unique form of entertainment for the college. We hope that those who attended this affair had a good time. We hope to see you all at our future events.

Brother to Dragons

by Elisabeth Van Houten

Last Saturday night I spent two very interesting, sometimes convincing, mind-bending hours at the new Trinity Square theater. The Majestic Theater with the inside rearranged into two theaters, is the new cite for the Trinity Square Repertory Company. The stage of the lower level theater is the same as the old Trinity Square and this is where I witnessed the revival of Robert Lewis Warren’s Brother to Dragons.

The story is of a family that moved with its slaves, from Virginia to the dark woods of Kentucky where their nightmarish world was offset by the brutal murder of one of their slaves by the two sons. The mother of this Lewis family was the sister of Thomas Jefferson, who couldn’t quite face reminding the audience that they are an audience. The scenes in particular were very moving but imagination is definitely needed. In one unusually effective scene actors actually become a riverboat sliding rhythmically across the black Ohio River, barely visible by the light of a torch. In another scene, several bent actors with their cupped hands fluttering over their heads become a moth, the moth that has just landed on Liburn Lewis’ hand as he sits by a candle. This delicate action is described by a chorus in the background.

Brother to Dragons is a spectacle and an experience that seems to end with the slightest touch of hope—look for it.

Granato (Con’t.)

Thursday or Friday, it will be announced by Wednesday, one hundred more stickers will be issued to the student body: on a fifty-fifty basis, commuters and residents. Because the sophomores were not afforded an equal chance with the freshmen, the new issuance will start with the sophomores, and then go back to the senior and junior classes. We don’t have the time, nor do I feel we should make time, to worry about those people who didn’t feel like getting out of bed; in other words, those people who didn’t take it seriously will have to do the best they can with the problem they themselves made. That may sound harsh, but it’s the only way to keep some order to the whole thing.

I have my own feelings about the Twong System, in some ways I think it is quite unnecessary and the fine is to severe. However, a system to discipline the parking problem is in need and this is the only one available at the moment. Most likely, within the next few weeks, anyone who has followed the procedures correctly will be allotted space to park; those who didn’t, well that’s their problem.

Presently there is nowhere near enough space on campus for parking areas. Until such time that space is available, we will have to enforce a system of this type. Considerations are being given to acquire facilities; there are several options being researched.

Athletic Department Holds Press Day

by Bob Phillips

On Thursday, November 1, the Providence College Athletic Department held its annual Press Day. As coach Dave Gavit insists on "that's press day," this is the only opportunity for the local press to witness a little of what is done in the practice. Press Day started at 4:00 p.m. when the photographers and writers arrived to get a feel for the upcoming season. This is the time when they are given the opportunity to take pictures of anyone they desire. The result was shots for the next hour with the players hamming it up and the writers getting the gist of it up. The players posed in full uniform while Mike O'Shea, P.C.'s sports information director, acted as co-ordinator for the photographers. Concentration and missing fun from the prestigious event was that legend has it was Chris Clark. As expected, all-American candidates Kevin Stacom and Andrew Gagnon. In the heat of the action. Also major points of interest for the press were Friars newcomers Bob Cooper and Joey Hassett. As usual, the Friars loomed large in the eyes of the photographers. The Friars look sharp in all phases of the game and it was obvious to all that Stacom and Barnes are to be counted on for team leadership. It has been the intention of the Friar sports staff to keep you informed as to the pre-season developments on the basketball grid. Obviously, due to the "closed door" policy we have been unable to do so. In order to keep in touch with the big goings-on, we must refer you to either the Providence Journal or Channel ten, where you have somehow gleaned the secret of the Providence Friars.

Unfortunately, it will be another year before the school newspaper will be invited to witness first hand the secrets behind those closed doors.

O'Shea Places First As Friars Clinch Eastern Title

Anyone who has ever seen harrier Mick O'Shea in action has been totally impressed. Mick possesses that true natural strike and smoothness which makes him a delight to watch. He seems to flow with ease and deer-strike and smoothness which somehow have gained the secret of the Providence Friars.

For over a quarter of a century until 1967, P.C. was without a football team in a much needed fall vacancy. Since 1967, the Friars Gridders has been forced to fight not only their opponents, but also the Administration, poor playing conditions, poor student support and a general feeling of apathy. This year however, with the passage of the football referendum, most of their hardships were removed, but still the specific support remains. Surely the hard work and desire exhibited by the gridders is not reflected in the lack of community support. The schedule consisted of the top teams in the conference which meant a program of outstanding. Their latest one-sided victory over Assumption 26-0 shows just how powerful the Friars are.

Westchester Community College invaded Hendrick Field. Saturday at one o'clock to close out the Friars season. A tremendous crowd turned out could be the difference between a losing and winning season. Your football team appears your attendance would like to congratulate Richie Kless and John Tavanele on their four years of service both on and off the football turf. Their hard work and long hours have helped to elevate the gridders to their present respectable position among the C.I.C. gridders.

Congratulations and good luck to the other Friar seniors: John Brady, John Geary, Steve Woods, Sal Gulino, Fred Tressler, Aury Morgan and Peter Sheil that make up the Senior Class of Students of the College. Good luck to all the Fall sports as their seasons close this week.

Presenting: Dear Uncle Jack,.....

Bill: My objections are based on a举行 monopoly enterprise known as the Educational Testing Service located at Princeton, New Jersey. Do you realize that to become a professional person in this country you must deal with this organization and one alone for years. That if the testing service has the power to investigate this type of practice on the Lucy Amendments, do we regard to the Educational Testing Institute. This so called Institute has such control over our lives as anybody in this society short of the Federal government and the Roman Catholic Church.

Dear Uncle Jack: What about the PCU? Lincoln Continents founded around the campus, I’d figure you’d have a comment on it.

Joe: Beside the vow of poverty and obedience, I have nothing to say.

Dear Uncle Jack: Do you remember the PCU? Lincoln Continents founded around the campus, I’d figure you’d have a comment on it.
