Challenge of Concern
Highlights Convocation

Amidst a spirit of ambience and great freedom the Providence College community kicked off the academic year with the annual convocation Sunday evening. Starting with speeches by Fr. Peterson, Pres. of Providence College; Edwin Kelly of the Providence Journal; Fl. John Miner Pres. of the Faculty Senate and meeting between the Department of Health and the Student Congress, the convocation capped off an evening with dancing and drinks for all.

Speakers invited to attend represented the four facets of the college. Kelly attempted to raise the question of the nature of an inadequate campus. Endorsed by Father Peterson as being good for the college, he maintained our academic directions never before deemed possible. In closing Fr. Peterson once again highlighted the role of the Student Congress in academic directions "as individuals we can do some things, but as a college community we can do a lot more." Following the speeches a reception was held. Three types of music rang through the Student Congress. An accordionist in the Rathskellar.

In an interview with the Cowl, Ms. Cummings, James Warren, and Ms. Massenby stressed by Father Peterson as "the idea of a spark of the divine in each individual." As an academic authority, she has the right to work with the Student Congress she has the idea of a spark of the divine in each individual. If elected he would pursue a course of action that would be different from the current administration’s and knowing that he is a good Democrat. Sen. Pell announced his support of George McGovern for President.

When questioned whether or not his economic philosophy is congruent with Sen. McGovern’s, Sen. Pell responded with “it is very hard to define what his economic philosophy is because he keeps changing it all the time.”

Sen. Pell said that he and Sen. McGovern do not agree on the defense budget cut. However, Sen. McGovern has proposed. Mr. Pell believes that funding for aggressive weapons such as the land tanks and airplanes should be cut.

Another point of conflict is the role of the Student Congress in academic directions. Mr. Warren thinks that the Student Congress should be given a few minutes to address the Senator. Rather than asking the Senator questions dealing with his current campaign for re-election to the U.S. Senate against former R. I. Governor John Caffee, the Cowl decided to question the Senator on issues of a more nationally orientated nature. Sen. Pell talked specifically about his assessment of the current administration, and the depth of his alignment with the presidential nominee George McGovern.

Going to the convention in Miami, Sen. Pell was a staunch Edmund Muskie supporter. The nomination of George McGovern brought along with it the support of Sen. Pell. Pell keeps changing his mind. If elected he would pursue a course of action that would be different from the current administration’s and knowing that he is a good Democrat. Sen. Pell announced his support of George McGovern for President.

Urban Council Seeks Student Volunteers

"Hey, gotta go talk to Father Quigley, we'll see ya." The man sits with not many answers but the knowledge that he can refer those who inquire about doing something concrete to a place where they can. Father Quigley is the chairman of the Urban Council. The Urban Council is not another organization to join but a service to recruit people for and to aid student volunteer projects. Those who wish to work with senior citizens, children or teens can be told of existing projects headed by other priests and lay folks.

One project of the type mentioned above is the Tyler School Project. Everyone will be receiving a brochure in his or her mailbox listing the possibilities of service. P.C. has helped here in tutoring youngsters and now has new jobs to help the children.

Another place the Urban Council could refer the concerned person is the Chad Brown Person to Person Program. The possibilities are varied with tutoring, athletic supervision, and medical and legal services for the poor.

A new feature of the Urban Council will be the Leadership Weekends. These weekends will give people a chance to reflect on and about service, its needs, purposes and methods within a Christian context.

Father Quigley says a larger aspect of the Urban Council is to search out service opportunities for graduating seniors either in the U.S. or abroad for a term of one or more years.

If you have any questions about your future and how it fits in with the rest of the world it regards as to serving a needy humankind the Urban Council is there to help. The telephone number is 605-370 if you want instant help and Father Quigley is the man to see and who will probably be answering the phone anyway.

Three Vie for Secretary

that "unity could only be achieved through a change in the attitudes of the students." He suggested that an increase in communication between the Congress and the student body might generate a greater interest in the work of the Congress. Mr. Warren went on to explain that he felt the secretary was responsible for keeping the students informed.

Both Ms. Cummings and Mr. Warren agreed that the hiring of a clerical secretary will make them more active members in the functions of the Student Congress and more able to maintain a more influential position in the executive board than past secretaries.

When asked to elaborate on the expectations each foresees for the Congress, Mr. Warren answered that he expected to see "a continuation of the progress in student-administration relations which led to the formulation and enactment of the Student Bill of Rights." Ms. Cummings expressed the viewpoint that although changes on campus are made slowly it is up to the Congress to press for "effective and meaningful change."

Each candidate has had experience in student related activities. In high school, both served on their respective student councils. Ms. Cummings also attended summer workshops in government as a representative of the Rhode Island Association of Student Councils. Mr. Warren has been active on the Student Bill of Rights Committee here at Providence College.

Both candidates made known their firm desire to willingly serve as secretary in order to achieve a more active and issue minded Congress.

Ed. Note: Philip Davis, the third candidate for the office of secretory answered the deadline for Cowl copy. We wish to apologize to Mr. Davis for our inability to contact him before the moment of publication.

Women Faculty Pursues Student Recognition

The women-faculty members and administration met on Wednesday, September 27, in an attempt to establish some type of encounter of all women students on campus. As a result it was proposed that a wine and cheese social be held Wednesday, October 14, from three to five in Arquinas Lounge.

Purposes of Social

The main purpose behind such a meeting of female students, faculty, and administration is to create an atmosphere of availability, whereby students would at least become aware of their fellow colleagues and perhaps turn to them for any advice or counseling they might require. At present there are 20 female members on the staff. Assistant Dean Sally Thibodeau made it clear that such a meeting devoted to women exclusively is "not meant to separate the men from the women in any way."

Rather, it is hoped that such a gathering will allow the faculty to acquire a closer contact and greater rapport with all students, being this get together as a first starting point. They also felt it would be beneficial to become acquainted with the general atmosphere and mode of interest of their students. In this way, the faculty will have some guide as to the nature of problems on campus and will gear their energies accordingly.

All women, especially commuters, are welcome to join in on the 11th and become familiar with those who take a genuine interest in each person's well being.

Dr. Trudeau to Attend Meeting

On October 11, Trinity Square Repertory Theater will play to a packed house as hundreds of students from throughout the country come to Providence to witness the final chapter of the world-famous Dr. Trudeau series. In his most recent production, "Really Is," Trudeau explores the story behind the Development of Western Civilization and the many ways to ensure our society can "live to another day." The film, which includes interviews with Dr. Trudeau and other prominent figures, will no doubt leave the audience with a deeper appreciation of the program's potential to move us into the future.

Is Providence College Giving Western Civilization One Last Chance?

By Dan Lebrun and Bill Domnarski

The Student Congress recognizes its position as the largest and wealthiest club on the Providence campus, and it is providing a course of leadership that is both challenging and rewarding. The Student Congress will pursue a course of leadership that is both challenging and rewarding. The Student Congress will pursue a course of leadership that is both challenging and rewarding.

The Diane Club will also have a social affair, with one of its goals the aiding of the deaf redoubt. The Club would also have a boat ride with the proceeds going toward the activities. Also, the funds from various dorms and money from contributions will be added to the total. The project which President H. Roger is interested in, has a goal of $5000 dollars. It is felt that this kind of effort on everybody's part takes place.

Limited discussions concerning the future of the campus, the campus security system also took place at the meeting. The Student Congress felt that there existed a large void in the dormitory system. Many inequities of the present system were pointed out. This was noted with the prevailing attitude that the students should be protected in the future in sales with parking stickers. A better security system should exist. It was decided that an investigation into the security system would be considered.

In the only official business of the meeting, the Club passed a bill sitting aside November 26th. The bill was introduced as an academic free day passed with overwhelming support. The argument for the free day was that this would be the first time for some students who have been able to vote, and to make sure that everybody has the time to get home and vote, and the election day will not interfere with their studies. This would remove all hindrances to vote.

The minority point of view said that, because of the time changes, then he can obtain an absentee ballot for this purpose, if he lives a considerable distance from home.

Peterson 'Concern'

At the convocation on Sunday, October first Father Peterson addressed himself to problems which are very real, and offered a "challenge of concern" to the audience. Problems posed were basically of social origin. The solution offered was manifold. Sharing our knowledge, wisdom or "an endless psychic energy", our obligation to the problems of racism, loneliness, war and violence were also mentioned.

Father Peterson suggested that there should be a dialogue within the community.

It would appear that this last statement would be applicable to any form of problem as a remedial solution. The problems of any society whether it be a college community or nation can be approached best in this manner—communication—an open form of expression. Problems just are not solved by keeping them in...they are solved when people voice their discontent and work with people to solve them—not against them.

THE COWL is the most effective medium of communication for the Providence College Community. However, regardless of this potential, if this resource is not tapped, there is little chance that communication will be effective, and a community will be a reality.

Last week, the staff of THE COWL was proud of the fact that Father Peterson and the Corporation recognized THE COWL's availability. Without hesitating, Fr. Peterson and the Corporation used THE COWL as the dispenser of the news of the firmanization of the plans for the ice skating facility. Inasmuch as this will most affect the people of this college, it is fitting that the college newspaper should first carry the news story.

We see Fr. Peterson's and the Corporation's, decision in this matter of news coverage, as one filled with a new purpose and what is actually done. We are old enough to vote, but the main issue has been. The eighteen-year-old vote, coupled with R.I.'s new lower age of majority, tells the politician that we can get a campaign going, but the main issue has been missed. The atmosphere for college-wide unity is trying to be optimistic. We offer our services as a useful and efficient medium to achieve that goal of unity.

MEMO FROM THE EDITOR

Another Editor takes the Memo this week to disagree with last week's. Mike Donohue saw a conflict with avowed politics. He asked me questions about my ideas, opinions, and values of new freshmen at various R.I. colleges. One freshman was interviewed from each college. He asked me questions about my academic goals and opinions on current issues. By taking words out of context, I was misrepresented. I am disturbed because this misrepresentation has been associated with Providence College and more specifically, with the present freshman class. I apologize for any inconvenience this article may have caused you. Once again, I stress the fact that I, along with the image of the Providence College freshman, was misrepresented.

Sincerely,

William Sokolsky

He asked me questions about my academic goals and opinions on current issues. By taking words out of context, I was misrepresented. In what I feel, was a disguised manner.

Letters to the Editor...

Dear Editor,

This is to protest the fact that the library now closes at 5:00 p.m. on Fridays. Obviously, everyone does not go to the library on Friday nights. However, there is no available alternative for those who wish to study (since the noise level in the dorms often inhibits concentration). After all, this is supposed to be an academic institution. We think that the library should be open on Friday nights (or at least a few hours after dinner) so that those who have to work with the present freshman class, was misrepresented.

Sincerely,

To the Editor of the COWL:

Dear Editor,

I am writing to express my concerns about the recent events occurring on campus. I believe that the situation needs to be addressed immediately in order to ensure the safety and well-being of all students.

The current atmosphere on campus has been anything but cheerful. In fact, the recent incidents have been taken seriously by the administration. The mechanics of the dorms have been affected by this situation.

As a resident of the dorm, I feel that something must be done to address the issues raised by the students. I urge the administration to take immediate action to ensure the safety and security of all students.

Sargent Shriver, he went on to say, is a fine second choice for the position of Vice President. Pell spoke of his long friendship with Shriver, and his doubtless ability as a campaigner. Also, he stressed, if he were ever forced to take over the position of the presidency, as one of four vice-presidents have had to do in our history, Shriver would perform in that position with the utmost competence.

At this time though, Sen. Pell in response mentioned that McGovern-Shriver tandem is hurting his bid for re-election. He hopes that by election day the gap between President Nixon and McGovern will have narrowed, thus lessening the hindrance of the Democratic standard bearer’s re-election hopes.

While speaking of hindering influences on the campaign, the name of Lyndon Johnson came up. Sen. Pell anticipates that Johnson will back strongly Sen. McGovern, because as Pell puts it, “Johnson will have an appreciable influence on the voters if he joins the campaign trail and stumps for Sen. McGovern.”

In talking about the current administration Sen. Pell assailed the Republican Party for their policies of an accomplishing peace with prosperity. To Pell this brand of fact is “Madison Avenue hucksterism.” The current administration is one that is characterized by band aid and conservative intellectual on world environment of our campus.

Portrays the outlook of a conservative intellectual on world environment of our campus.

In sum, Sen. Pell, in this interview gave many detailed and well thought out answers to questions dealing with national politics. But two ideas seem to stand out, a rather cool outlook towards Sen. McGovern, and a near condemnation of Richard Nixon. So it goes.

Night Friars to Meet

by Gil Woodside

The first general meeting of the 1972-73 school year will be held by the Providence College Evening School Association on Oct. 9, 1972 in the Harkins Hall Auditorium at 9:30 p.m. All evening students should plan to attend. The meeting is very important because two students will be nominated to present personal statements (come from the floor) by the Association, one of whom will be selected by the President of the College, to serve on the Committee on the School of Continuing Education. This is an administrative committee, composed of faculty, administration and students and gives the students a voice in the policy decisions, as their vote counts as much as does that of any member of the Committee. The only requirement for nomination is the nominee must be a degree candidate.

Our membership drive is really going “great guns” but there are still some evening students without membership cards. PLEASE pick them up this week and a complete collection of membership cards will be brought up to date every week, clear without it we can only whisper.

“Encounter” the Associations weekly radio program over WDOM, 91.3 FM can be heard Thursdays and Sundays 6:30 p.m. Try us you’ll like us. We will be talking to many interesting people ‘maybe you even about evening education.

routine saves the biggest. RIC's threat came at the six minute mark when Mike Madden called in his reserve pen to up high a rocket by RIC's Dan Andrade. It was a great play as regards to both players. That save is what got PC's players together as they started to gain hard and penetrate the RIC end more effectively.

Bascetta, who always plays a rush up the center of the field Emilio Mazzola started many of the RIC end more effectively.

Providence goalie Mike Madden has been an early season standout for the Friars. He has stamped himself as potentially one of the best goalies in New England based on his early season performances.

Speaking of hockey, former Friar standout Rich Pumple has signed a contract with Cleveland of the World Hockey Association. One of Pumple's teammates will be former Friar standup Gerry Cheevers.

With 4,000 season tickets sold to date, this year's team is in good high. Incoming opponents should offer some outstanding entertainment according to Coach Lamoriello. Freshman outiedier Tim Boyle of Smithfield, Barry Sullivan of Somerset and Tim Whiter of St. Paul, Minnesota are making their presence felt. forward停产 stop short Steve Aliotta of Falmouth will pressure somewhere for an infield post. The spring is far away but the last two weeks have certainly made things look optimistic for Friar baseball enthusiasts.

Big news on the hockey scene is the erection of the new on-campus ice skating facility. Working under difficult conditions, Coach Lamoriello has guided the Friars to a pair of consecutive B.C.A. victories. There is always a boisterous and good looking crowd of fans at the new hockey arena.

The availability of the on-campus skating rink should be a major boost to the hockey program.

The Kick Is Up . . . Its Good!

This column will deal with the professional contests that will take place in the coming weeks. For example, this past week the Friars lost to B.C.A. and Emilio Mazzola showed distinct signs of "jelling" when Mike Madden called in his reserve pen to up high a rocket by RIC's Dan Andrade. It was a great play as regards to both players. That save is what got PC's players together as they started to gain hard and penetrate the RIC end more effectively.

Bascetta, who always plays a rush up the center of the field Emilio Mazzola started many of the RIC end more effectively.

Soccer Forces Coast to Victory
P.C. Eleven Boasts 3-0 Record.

Carrying a 2-4 slate and “100 lbs. of confidence” into the Assumption game this past Friday, the Friar soccer team totally demolished the Greyhounds 3-0 and out-played them in all aspects of the sport. With game time moved up an hour to a 2:30 start due to the inclement weather, our boys must have realized that in order to stay dry they would have to outrun the rain drops — and run they did.

This was the second such goal for Mike this season as he also scored one of two against Merrimack in the Friar’s home opener. All it seems to take is one goal for the Friar booters to pull together, either defensively or defensively, but Friday things were different at the P.C. back, and forwards were coordinated, like a fine Swiss watch. Because the defense thwarted all of the Assumption bids and forwards moved the ball in the net from out of a goalmouth chance. The “first-half” goalie for P.C., Mike Madden, was equal to these and repulsed all projections aimed at him with ease and finesse.

Just 2 1/2 minutes after March’s first goal, the force of attack was again in the Greyhound end. Emilio Massazo, always as alert, picked a rebounded shot out of the air and volleyed it into the goal to cap a well planned passing play. For the remaining 23 minutes, P.C.’s Jim March turned out to be an opportunist as he popped in two more goals to the delight of the fans and the demise of Assumption. Jim figures that, being a leader of the team, he should set a good example.

Cooming for the second out, the Assumption booters were looking to put themselves on the scoreboard. Unfortunately for them, the Friars were also going to be on the field, and had plans of their own. The action again was all P.C. as that little “all-guts” player Timmy “Gordie” Giblidge could be found all over Hendriken Field, taking the ball to the goal and almost scoring there. This boy is probably Coach Doyle’s model for “hustle and determination.” Nine minutes into the second half “Gordie” had a shot blocked by the Assumption goalie. Houston followed up on the rebound and swept down and chipped in. Timmy, being the most unselfish player anywhere, now, had the whole crowd and team cheering him on to score. He was cast into a P.C. corner kick rattles the R.I.C. goal as the Friars squeak past the Anchormen, 1-0.

There was real primary shooter, and with Emilio Massazo, that all around player, doing the feeding, the Friars were able to combine to form a goal in the second half. Assumption’s Cuffe put the ball in the net from out of a goalmouth chance. A melodramatic moment. The shutout compiled by all 3 P.C. goalies (Madden, Feld, and Tinere) was broken. Score: P.C. 10 — Assumption 1. Time: 4 seconds remaining. Hope for Assumption? Sorry!

This game with Assumption showed that the Friar booters could function continuously as one unit with a common effort.

Previous to this win, on Monday, Sept. 25, the Providence forces traveled to Rhode Island College to take on the R.I.C. visiting team. Action was close to the vest as neither team had a real advantage at first. But playing on a larger playing area than Hendriken Field, it seemed that the-Friar’s tired somewhat and were being beaten to the ball, far too often, at mid-field. As far as Coach Doyle was concerned the defense was what kept things even in the first half, being ever alert and playing cautiously, not letting R.I.C. in too close.

Goals Mike Madden P.C. and R.I.C.’s Jim White both played an excellent game. Madden played the net in a conventional manner, basically, he stopped the shots. White, on the other hand, could be likened to goalie Ed Giacomini in that he, more times than not, tried to break a play up if it was possible. Jim is a real roamer and he played his position very well against Providence College.

In the second half defense was the Friars’ trouble. Action again was called upon for numerous Harriers Appear Strong & Experienced.

Taking five out of the first seven spots, the cross-country team unveiled Holy Cross and Boston College last Saturday on the P.C. course. Paced the small but talented Tom Smith, the Friars took first, third, fifth, sixth, and seventh for a total of twenty-two points with Holy Cross taking a dominating first and Boston College third.

Although the weather didn’t look promising, the outcome of the race did. At the start of the race Wood of Holy Cross had a leg injury, and Rich Malachowski. All in all it was a very good day and a good start for the defending New England Champs.

Jim March (arrow) nets his first goal as the Assumption defense watches helplessly. P.C. outscores the Greyhounds 3-0.

Midway action was close and up-hill during the season’s opener. Providence went away and look to capture this year’s N.E. crown.

With two wins under their belts, the Friar runners were taking on Harvard and U Mass. on Tuesday at Franklin Park in Boston. Harvard against a strong team led by Peter Rojas and John Quirk. They easily defeated a strong Northeastern team last week. U Mass. a team that came on strong and the end of last year cannot be taken lightly. Led by sophomores Randy Thomas of Fitchburg, Mass., and Bill Gillies of Holliston, Mass. the newly named “Minutemen” could well pose a threat to the Friars.

It shapes up to be one of the best meets of the season with the Friars looking to unseat Harvard this year. This is one meet you won’t want to miss, so if you’re doing nothing on Tuesday get a car and a few friends and come up to Boston. The meet starts at 1:30, hope to see you there.

Finally, congratulations to Tom Smith named as our “Runner of the Week” for his fine performance at last Saturday. Also, thanks to those students and followers who came out to cheer the Friars and root the Friars on to victory. See you in Boston.

Can’t on page —

All alone, Providence barrier Tommy Smith sallies down a first in this week’s triangular meet with Boston College and Holy Cross.

Rafferty, sewing up the meet for P.C. Smith finished with an excellent time of 25:25 for the five mile course, seven seconds faster than he was a year ago at this time. Also significant was the 56 second time spread between our first and fifth runners. Coach Amato said that his factor made the difference in the race, otherwise things may have been closer.

In a sub-varsity race also turned out to be a romp as again P.C. showed its depth and strength by placing five runners in the top seven. Led by the versatile Chris Murphy, the Friar booters took first, third, fourth, fifth, and seventh, to easily defeat Holy Cross, second, and Boston College, third. Leading the charge behind Chris were Keith Gallagher, Tim Lee, Mark Ambrose, and Dave Cormier. Also running good races and finishing strong were Jim Gaughan, who was out last year with a leg injury, and Rich Malachowski. All in all it was a very good day and a good start for the defending New England Champs.
