Russell Raps on Race Tonight
Portable Circus Antics Mon.

Between rapping with Bill Russell and frolicking to the antics of the Portable Circus, social life and opportunity for a relaxing evening should noticeably improve.

Russell, primarily known for the success of the Celtics through the years, is now more concerned with delivering his message of concern for the health of the nation. To this end, he will deliver an address and respond to questions to a Multi-purpose room tonight at 8 p.m.

As a basketball player his record is unmatched. Russell is recognized for his leadership of the Boston Celtics and their string of world championships. He was the first player-coach in Boston history as well as the first black to manage full-time in a major sport.

In 1963, Sports Illustrated named him Sportsman of the Year and in 1975 the NBA named him Athlete of the Decade.

Since his retirement, Russell's interests have left the basketball court. Now his area of concern is in the challenge to the young, the college educated people and others who will make America what it will be tomorrow.

"This is the greatest college generation in this country's history," he says, "because it has become involved in people."

His opinions are clear. He would like to see an end to the war and a recognition of the country's involvement in the world. He has neither supported, nor decried the legalization of marijuana. Mr. Russell believes "people have a right to their own opinions, but the opinion of all who love this country cannot be doubted. He feels, "This is a great, great country — it can be even greater." For this country to be at its best, Russell writes on race, "if someone could find a way to make better relationships, it would be solved in four or five days, or a couple of weeks at the most."

Outspoken yet congenial, Bill Russell will indeed prove to be interesting and worthwhile to hear.

The Portable Circus is a group of four performers who through a series of lively comedy sketches examine the issues facing people in a universal medium, all has of us. They will perform on Monday, Oct. 15 in the Multi-purpose Room of College Hall at 6 p.m.

Their approach is one of light comedy with biting satire. They concentrate their message of concern on social and cultural issues. Portable Circus is a group of four in order to survive the coming years. Any student interested in the program is asked to please contact the Placement center. Increased student concern can result in expanding the Program, both in number of jobs and areas in which jobs are available. It is hoped to get more out of state jobs for those residents who will be returning home.

This Program receives no financial aid from the college. It has applied to the Board of Governors for no results as yet. The stamps, the money for gas to interview interested firms and other expenses came out of the pocket of the students.

MEMO FROM THE EDITOR

It's been a long weekend. A three day weekend to be precise. Not an official school vacation necessitating the closing of the school, but a three day weekend with a good number of people remaining on campus with very little to do.

Unfortunately, the Rathskellar was closed, not that there was much going on for it to be closed. People were asking why it was closed. The library was again on restricted hours, (no Friday nights for example), even though midterms are coming and some might have wanted to get in a few extra hours at the reference works. If one wanted to play pool it was possible, and it was possible to get a quick bite to eat at Mural lounge. The Film Society, however, was willing to neglect the vacation and continued to offer its weekend film offerings. But outside of that and one other attraction, the Wooden Nickel one night, if you wanted to find something to do, it was catch as can be.

Something is wrong. It can be claimed that there was nothing open because no one was around, but this gets in to what came first type of thing, the chicken or the egg. If there were more things on a weekend like this to do, would as many people go home? Are we such a regionalized college that on a three day weekend all can go home and are expected to go home? This to me says to those from outside the area, that there is no reason to come here. That's dumb!

The 1972 American presidential election presents the electorate with two candidates clearly characterized by contrasting ideologies. Underneath the apparent liberal-conservative dichotomy, there lies a deeper philosophical, almost theological, ethic that intrinsically affects the practical political behavior of the two candidates Ronald Reagan and George McGovern. The two distinctive strangers that intervene pervade the American culture.

The original ethic that dominated American thinking was the Puritan ethic of frugality and hard work with material success — a sign of salvation imbued itself in the American culture. The congregationalist nature of Puritanism emphasized the ethic of a religious sect as the chosen few. The religious zeal of Jonathan Edwards' Great Awakening was implemented by succeeding generations into the practical affairs of daily life. The liberal-conservative ethic wholly compatible to Puritan thinking, allowed for ruthless private initiative to monopolize power taken by the chosen of the nineteenth century.

A second strand of thought that characterized the American character emerged in the nineteenth century. The new western ideal centered on an egalitarian interpretation of man and nature. George McGovern typifies this ethic. His campaign spoke directly to the theme of equality for all men. Originating in the West, this egalitarian theme came to dominate the American ethic. This ethic originated its initial crude expression during the presidency of Andrew Jackson. During the closing of the school, just a three day weekend with a good vacation and continued to offer its weekend film offerings. The Film Society, to its credit, was willing to neglect the holiday. Richard Nixon is the apostle of the Puritan ethic in contemporary American politics. Nixon, the archetypal self-made man, defends the ideals of private initiative as he identifies with those few who have attained material success. He stresses the value of hard work and material success — a sign of salvation imbued itself in the American culture. The inherent deper­ sionalism, even cruelty, of capitalism — an aspect of the fair work — seems to be the specialty of the house. We have also been concerned with the form in which the staves have been served. It had been recom­ mended that rice and noodles be substituted for potatoes whenever possible.

The Food Committee was also concerned with the issue of prices. The menus may be found on the R.A.'s doors. The Food Committee saw to it that the salad dressings etc. were moved out from the kit­ chen in order to increase the movement of the line. It was in society. The determination of silverware racks be moved in order to facilitate the move. The menus may be found on the R.A.'s doors. Government Clarifies Student Loan Situation Emergency legislation, passed on August 19, 1972, and effective until March 1, 1973, makes it possible for lenders to make loans under the same regulations that governed the Guaranteed Student Loan Program prior to June 30, 1972. The program enables you to borrow money directly from the bank, credit union, savings and loan association or other participating lender. The loan is guaranteed by a State or private nonprofit guarantee agency insured by the Federal Government. You may borrow up to a maximum of $1,500 per academic year. In some states the maximum is $1,000 per academic year and lenders must adhere to state regulations.) You may borrow up to a total of $7,500. If your adjusted family income is less than $15,000 per year, the Federal Government will pay the interest on your loan. Repayment may be deferred for up to 3 years while you serve in the military, Peace Corps, VISTA, for any period that you return to full-time study. You may borrow under this program if you are enrolled or have been accepted for enrollment at least half-time.

Provided the Supplemental Application Form (OE Form 1260) was fully completed and the educational institution concerned needs a loan for educational costs. When the school recommended a loan the interest subsidy will be paid, regardless of family income, even though the loan may be disbursed after August 19, 1972. You are eligible to reapply for either a new loan or an additional amount if, after June 30 and prior to August 19, 1972, you have: no intent hanging

B - were denied the interest subsidy, although your family income was less than $3,000

C - waived the interest subsidy in order to get a loan

D - received an insufficient amount as a result of the school's analysis of your need

Counseling Center's Purpose

Function for Student Need

Providence College Counseling Center: does that conjure up images of some stiff-shouldered shrink pacing the floor as a devil? Joe College type confines his mania for ringing fire alarms? Or do you somehow associate it with the high school principal or any teacher with three credits in psychology and a couple of free periods was your counselor? Should this or something similar be the case, allow yourself to be informed about the counseling facilities and their use. The Counseling Center's purpose is student need. It's functions range anywhere from career placement, vocational counseling and part-time employment, to dealing with personal disturbances of almost any nature.

It is in the latter service that the center's possibilities should not be overlooked. To staff, consists of John Bennett, M.A., Ph.D., who is director, Peter Gallant, M.E., M.Ed., Cheryl Parmley, M.Ed., and Raymond Thibeault. M.Ed., who is primarily involved in counseling and placement, is equipped with a Mental Hygiene Clinic and always prepared to lend an informal objective and confidential ear to any problem. Mr. Bennett encourages those students with difficulties to stop in and see the staff.

A notice of importance for those seniors seeking placement assistance to report with the center. He emphasizes that the time is drawing near since the so called critical period for interviews only last until April.

After the rally, Mr. Delisone was questioned on his approach to the Providence College community. Being a realistic politician, he admitted that the free beer and music were intended to draw students within earshot, but made it clear that he was not attempting to "buy" anyone's vote. He stated that the purpose of his "rap and tap" was to provide a "relaxed atmosphere" for the students, in which political issues could be more discussed.

Providence Booters Win Again

by Joe Caruolo and Janie Penhla

With clocklike precision, the Providence College soccer forces, under the direction of Coach Bill Doyle, "came, saw, and conquered." This consilient reports the action the Friars were en-volved in as they notched a 4-2 victory over Sacred Heart.

First half action was fast, but resulted in only a testing of both clubs' offensive and defensive units. The P.C. booters controlled the contest in the early going. Good set ups, but few actual shots were taken as the Sacred Heart defense remained firm. Determined, the Friars opened an offensive drive that was not to be denied.

Beginning at midfield, left halfback Kevin Haverty initiated the attack. Driving up and through the Sacred Heart defense, Kevin neatly controlled the ball until he spotted charging Tim Gilbride.

With a quick pass from Haverty, Gilbride moved in to score but unsuccessfully relayed the game's first score to Captain Jim March. For Jim, the ice breaker was his sixth goal in four games. The game's flow reversed itself midway into the 45 minute half as the Friars let their guard down. Moving in to score, the Sacred Heart offense was thwarted as Mike Madden eliminated any threat to the Providence goal.

With fifteen minutes remaining, Mike Suffelto, on a semi break, started a P.C. drive that drove the game back into the Sacred Heart defensive zone. "Silf," leading Gilbride "The Passer" into the slot, watched as Tommy chipped a pass over, unheralded Sandy Farrell who almost broke the crossbar with his shot.

As the period was coming to a close, the Friars were nursing a 1-0 lead. Halftime, Emilio Mazzola, had an opportunity to net the ball on a free direct kick, but his shot rocketed over the bar. The action closed out with Providence controlling the game and missing a sure goal as Farrell tried to set up Gilbride, but "Gordie" was just a stripe off the pace, all alone in front of the crossbar.

The Providence guns came out blazing in the second half. At 1:20 of the period, Sandy Farrell convicted a tremendous pass from Captain Jim March for his first of two for the afternoon. Good faking committed the "Heart" goalie to make the first move. Sandy completed the play by side-stepping the hapless goalie and put P.C. ahead 2-0.

Tremendous passing and all around team effort enabled the Friars to keep the pressure on. Mike Suffelto, leading the offensive drive, picked up rebounding ball and was left facig the goalie in front of the open net. The one produced a score for Providence, putting the Friars on top 3-0. Sacred Heart, a determined ball club, came back at 15:15 with a score. Vic Sola, clearing the ball from midfield into the P.C. zone, chipped a shot straight for the Providence goal. Teammate, Charlie Ferritta kicked the ball in midair passed goalie Mike Madden for a 3-1, but incorrectly decided goal.

Play continued with P.C. regaining control. In typical fashion, Friar Emilio Mazzola, darted the field with his skills. With 24 minutes elapsed, the Friar, on a sliding save a midfield, sent Sandy Farrell down the sidelines with an unexpected pass. Charging down the wing, Farrell moved in all alone and blasted Providence's fourth goal past the Sacred Heart goalie. Providence led at this point both in scoring and in play, with extremely sharp passing and overall drive.

En route to their fourth consecutive victory of the season, the Friars held the "Heart" offense to a standstill. The Friar defense, goalie Mike Madden, Bob Bedard, Mike Cohn, and Peter Shield deserves equal credit. Combining, their talents, the Friar unit held Sacred Heart's offensive standout Charlie Ferritta to one goal. Ferritta came to Sacred Heart by way of a route one - season interscholastic experience with the U.S. Pan American and Olympic teams.

For the second time this season, the P.C. booters have witnessed a last second goal by the opposition. Freshman goalie, Wally Feigl, playing in the second half, was the target for a Sacred Heart penalty kick from 12 yds. out. Forward Vic Sola outfoxed the opportunity to good use as he misled Feigl and kicked to the outside of the net for Providence's fifth goal of the afternoon.

Providence goalie, Mike Madden in first half action against K.L.C.

To any observer regardless of their knowledge of the game, conditioning and organisation are obvious answers. Bill Doyle has these two factors written into this 1972 unit. Under close inspection though, two persons deserve a great deal of credit. Freshman Mike Madden has been a great surprise. The talented freshman netminder from Schenectady, Mass. allowed only three goals in the first four games and is fashioning a 0.75 goals against average. Mike will be around for three more years to add further happiness to an already delightful team.

But what about captain Jim March? In four games the senior captain from Bethlehem, Conn. had posted six goals including the game winner in the Friar's 4-0 victory over Rhode Island College. Hopefully at this writing, Coach Doyle's forces are still undefeated by Joe Caruolo and Janie Penhla. Under the direction of Coach Bill Doyle, "came, saw, and conquered." This amazing Sooner team can be seen in action almost every afternoon on Hendriksen field in practice. Also, for those of you who would like to get into the "soccer craze", the next home game of the booters is on Saturday, October 14 at 1:30 (Hendriksen Field).

Carolan Club Open

If word travels fast about a good thing, then the Carolan Club should be swamped with entries for the next Carolan Club Open. The golf tournament has been held on Tuesday afternoon, September 26, at the Hidden Hollow golf course in Rehoboth, Massachusetts. It was an eighteen hole contest with the scores done on the handicap and the best ball score between two partners.

The event was open to all Providence College students and the only cost incurred was $2.50 for the greens fee.

Novice teams of partners competed for the highly coveted honor of first place. When the results were tabulated and the whimp- pering ended, the team of Bill Virgilak and John Gerey headed the list with a three over-par 73. Second and third place claimants went to the teams of Tom Kane and Tim Harriman, respectively. Their score was 74. The atmosphere surrounding the tournament was one of comraderie and loose competition. The stores circulating in the clubhouse afterwards were instances of near fliers being played into bogies, and of shots that "would have been great" if they just hadn't hit those darn trees. At the days end the participants gathered together for pizza and some more good talk. The night concluded with a visit to the Raiselbaker where Rocky Nelson presented the winners with a handshake.

Upon leaving the premises, one competitor was explaining how his score could have been much better if only "that one had dropped." And that one, and that one, and that one...
