Cheese
Russell Edson
The rattrap had been sprung. It had caught a hand, which was chewed off at the wrist.

Whosever hand it belonged to must have been in a hurry. I wonder if he'll come back for it?

Perhaps just for the cheese, which he still holds in his hand...