Candidates Unopposed In Upcoming Election

Candidate: Capozza Responds

By Edward D. Cimiti

A general lack of enthusiasm is highlighting tomorrow's annual election for the executive board positions of the Board of Governors, the student organization in charge of entertainment.

Only the race for president is being contested, with William Campion, the former student programmer, opposing Michael Capozza, the current chairman of the research and evaluation committee.

Cindy Marusis, Frank Welch and Karen Judd are running against themselves for vice president, treasurer, and student programmer, respectively.

All juniors, sophomores, and freshmen will be eligible to vote in Thursday's elections. A voting area will be set up in the lower level of Slavin Center from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Campion, a junior political science major, resigned from his post as student programmer in September because, according to him, it was not the type of work that he wanted to do.

Capozza, also a junior political science major, has worked for the BOG for one year.

Karen Judd, the social committee chairwoman, was left running alone when Thomas Fay, the chairman of the video-television network committee, withdrew from the race for student programmer.

Karen is a junior on the social studies major.

Cindy Marusis, a sophomore political science major, has been the BOG's secretary. Welch, a sophomore business major, will be serving his second consecutive term as treasurer.

Business Majors: Job Prospects Look Secure

By Peggy Martin

After registration on Thursday, the business department of Providence College numbered over 700 and comprised about 25 percent of the student population.

According to Gustave C. Coile, the department chairman, this has always been a popular major, but now, more than ever, students are recognizing the possibilities of this field and are not so concerned about "what happens after four years of college."

The business department itself is divided into two separate majors: management and accounting. The courses at the College, in management, are more general than accounting, but the student "obtains an exposure to a myriad of courses in marketing, finance, management, and personnel work," according to Mr. Coile. He also said that the accounting department has been pitched for public accounting work that requires an exposure to public accounting firms that work for himself or other accountants in audit, tax, or management work.

When one leaves Providence College with a degree in business, he has "a terminal degree" and can be described as "marketable graduate." Of the 40 accounting majors from the class of 1974, 24 were hired by "Big Eight" public accounting firms, in contrast to 1973, when there was not a confused major, either.

Although the department has a structured program in order to meet state and national requirements in business management and accounting, he believes I have developed the skills necessary to provide good leadership in all three areas.

COWL: How would you evaluate the performance of the current BOG?

Capozza: The present BOG was asked to step into the vacuum left by a previous administration. Air of despair and disgrace surrounded the very mention of the name BOG. Working against a forever and ever and ever adverse atmosphere on campus, the present BOG revitalized some old programs, films, concerts, etc., introduced several new programs, reorganized and established sound policy guidelines for future boards.

I believe that we have successfully maintained a healthy and creative environment in which we are able to work out our differences without fear of retaliation on the Board's part.

Our ability to work together is probably what saved us through the last year, and I think only had one resignation. At that time, the Board was told that the resignation was only temporary because he didn't have the authority to resign from that position. Perhaps someone should ask Bill where he expects to be in the coming year. If he is re-elected, the board members, the President when he was unable to find the time to function as V.P. of Programming.

COWL: What new programs or forms of entertainment would you like to see implemented by the BOG?

Capozza: A cable T.V. system seems to have definite possibilities for realization in the near future. It is my understanding that the Board of Directors of the Providence College number over 700 and comprised about 25 percent of the student population. According to Gustave C. Coile, the department chairman, this has always been a popular major, but now, more than ever, students are recognizing the possibilities of this field and are not so concerned about "what happens after four years of college."

The business department itself is divided into two separate majors: management and accounting. The courses at the College, in management, are more general than accounting, but the student "obtains an exposure to a myriad of courses in marketing, finance, management, and personnel work," according to Mr. Coile. He also said that the accounting department has been pitched for public accounting work that requires an exposure to public accounting firms that work for himself or other accountants in audit, tax, or management work.

When one leaves Providence College with a degree in business, he has "a terminal degree" and can be described as "marketable graduate." Of the 40 accounting majors from the class of 1974, 24 were hired by "Big Eight" public accounting firms, in contrast to 1973, when there was not a confused major, either.

Although the department has a structured program in order to meet state and national requirements in business management and accounting, he believes I have developed the skills necessary to provide good leadership in all three areas.

COWL: How would you evaluate the performance of the current BOG?

Capozza: The present BOG was asked to step into the vacuum left by a previous administration. Air of despair and disgrace surrounded the very mention of the name BOG. Working against a forever and ever and ever adverse atmosphere on campus, the present BOG revitalized some old programs, films, concerts, etc., introduced several new programs, reorganized and established sound policy guidelines for future boards.

I believe that we have successfully maintained a healthy and creative environment in which we are able to work out our differences without fear of retaliation on the Board's part. Our ability to work together is probably what saved us through the last year, and I think only had one resignation. At that time, the Board was told that the resignation was only temporary because he didn't have the authority to resign from that position. Perhaps someone should ask Bill where he expects to be in the coming year. If he is re-elected, the board members, the President when he was unable to find the time to function as V.P. of Programming.

COWL: What new programs or forms of entertainment would you like to see implemented by the BOG?

Capozza: A cable T.V. system seems to have definite possibilities for realization in the near future. It is my understanding that the Board of Directors of the Providence College number over 700 and comprised about 25 percent of the student population. According to Gustave C. Coile, the department chairman, this has always been a popular major, but now, more than ever, students are recognizing the possibilities of this field and are not so concerned about "what happens after four years of college."

The business department itself is divided into two separate majors: management and accounting. The courses at the College, in management, are more general than accounting, but the student "obtains an exposure to a myriad of courses in marketing, finance, management, and personnel work," according to Mr. Coile. He also said that the accounting department has been pitched for public accounting work that requires an exposure to public accounting firms that work for himself or other accountants in audit, tax, or management work.

When one leaves Providence College with a degree in business, he has "a terminal degree" and can be described as "marketable graduate." Of the 40 accounting majors from the class of 1974, 24 were hired by "Big Eight" public accounting firms, in contrast to 1973, when there was not a confused major, either.

Although the department has a structured program in order to meet state and national requirements in business management and accounting, he believes I have developed the skills necessary to provide good leadership in all three areas.

COWL: How would you evaluate the performance of the current BOG?

Capozza: The present BOG was asked to step into the vacuum left by a previous administration. Air of despair and disgrace surrounded the very mention of the name BOG. Working against a forever and ever and ever adverse atmosphere on campus, the present BOG revitalized some old programs, films, concerts, etc., introduced several new programs, reorganized and established sound policy guidelines for future boards.

I believe that we have successfully maintained a healthy and creative environment in which we are able to work out our differences without fear of retaliation on the Board's part. Our ability to work together is probably what saved us through the last year, and I think only had one resignation. At that time, the Board was told that the resignation was only temporary because he didn't have the authority to resign from that position. Perhaps someone should ask Bill where he expects to be in the coming year. If he is re-elected, the board members, the President when he was unable to find the time to function as V.P. of Programming.

COWL: What new programs or forms of entertainment would you like to see implemented by the BOG?

Capozza: A cable T.V. system seems to have definite possibilities for realization in the near future. It is my understanding that the Board of Directors of the Providence College number over 700 and comprised about 25 percent of the student population. According to Gustave C. Coile, the department chairman, this has always been a popular major, but now, more than ever, students are recognizing the possibilities of this field and are not so concerned about "what happens after four years of college."

The business department itself is divided into two separate majors: management and accounting. The courses at the College, in management, are more general than accounting, but the student "obtains an exposure to a myriad of courses in marketing, finance, management, and personnel work," according to Mr. Coile. He also said that the accounting department has been pitched for public accounting work that requires an exposure to public accounting firms that work for himself or other accountants in audit, tax, or management work.

When one leaves Providence College with a degree in business, he has "a terminal degree" and can be described as "marketable graduate." Of the 40 accounting majors from the class of 1974, 24 were hired by "Big Eight" public accounting firms, in contrast to 1973, when there was not a confused major, either.

Although the department has a structured program in order to meet state and national requirements in business management and accounting, he believes I have developed the skills necessary to provide good leadership in all three areas.

COWL: How would you evaluate the performance of the current BOG?

Capozza: The present BOG was asked to step into the vacuum left by a previous administration. Air of despair and disgrace surrounded the very mention of the name BOG. Working against a forever and ever and ever adverse atmosphere on campus, the present BOG revitalized some old programs, films, concerts, etc., introduced several new programs, reorganized and established sound policy guidelines for future boards.

I believe that we have successfully maintained a healthy and creative environment in which we are able to work out our differences without fear of retaliation on the Board's part. Our ability to work together is probably what saved us through the last year, and I think only had one resignation. At that time, the Board was told that the resignation was only temporary because he didn't have the authority to resign from that position. Perhaps someone should ask Bill where he expects to be in the coming year. If he is re-elected, the board members, the President when he was unable to find the time to function as V.P. of Programming.
Lack Of Quorum Halts Congress Progress

By George D. Lennon

Last week, when the Student Congress passed a bill which will prohibit students from seeking the office of Congress president, all candidates, both senior and junior, were asked to resign, for one full term on the Congress prior to the election.

However, since a quorum was not present, the bill will have to be re-scrutinized at the next meeting. Three resolutions must also be re-passed.

James Warren, ethics committee chairman, reported that Daniel Gleenon, candidate for the vice president committee for his 24 absences. According to the Congress by-laws, he will be suspended if he incurs any more absences.

Warren submitted his resignation as chairman of the ethics committee, saying, "I don't like the idea of giving suspensions and then having the Congress turn around and lift the suspension for no real reason. People are just getting away with the suspensions." Warren's bill which would allow recall of officers by petition of 20 per cent of the electorate was tabled.

Chairman of the Resident Board, Daniel Gleenon, presented the Board's by-laws to be approved by Congress. Gleenon stated that he needed to have the by-laws passed so that he could clear up a number of problems his committee is facing.

Kurt Foestert made a motion to have the by-laws submitted to the legislative committee so they could be reviewed before the Congress vote. Mr. Hartman also explained that a week's delay should not make that much difference to the Board.

Gleenon argued that the Board has been operating too long without a set of rules. However, Foestert's motion to have the by-laws sent to the legislative committee passed. The election manual, which was approved by the legislative committee last week, was brought before the Congress for approval. The document was not passed when it was found that it had not been brought to the by-laws committee.

The Congress unanimously accepted Candy Cummins as the new secretary.

The next meeting will be held on Monday, November 24 at 8:00 p.m. in the Slavin Center.

Law School Candidates Seeking Admission to Law Schools Are Requiring Admission

By George D. Lennon

The Friars Club is one of the oldest clubs on campus. The Club was founded in 1908 and as stated in its constitution, it was "to serve the College and its constituents, and all visitors to the College community. This organization also pledges itself to the promotion and furtherance of all Providence College endeavors."

The Club has many functions on campus. The biggest job the club has had is the conducting of tours to prospective students and guests. They have also worked at registration. Along with their annual jobs, they also acted as ushers for the ordination of Bishop Angiol.

Steven Rogers, president of the Friars Club, described one of its members as being, "a person with a sense of pride in the school which is communicated to others, congenial disposition, and a willingness to sacrifice personal time for any Club assignment."

Asked why there were only a small number of students in the Club, Rogers noted, "the constitution allows for only 55 members, 14 per cent being seniors, 22 per cent being juniors, and 14 per cent being sophomores. For financial reasons, we really can't extend the number of members. Many qualified students apply for the Club, but due to this limit, we can only take a few given."

On elections, Rogers said, "Though the system is hardly perfect, it does aim at fairness and consideration of all applying. To choose new members is a very difficult assignment. So many people are deserving, but we are limited in resources."

"This year, 11 new members will be selected. The election time is around the middle of spring, and I urge all students who are interested to go to the interviews and try for the club," he added.

"Somebody still cares about quality."
Nocturnal Nibbling:

A Midnight Rendezvous With The Grinder Man

By Norman Quuesel
and Paul Langhammer

It was Thursday night, 11:00 p.m. and 40 degrees below in that thriving metropolis of Providence. A group of PC kids were gathered together in a vague semblance of a line, rubbing their hands and stamping their feet. Waiting to purchase George Harrison tickets at 6 a.m.? Awaiting admission to the Providence Rehabilitation Center? Comparing reactions on that night's episode of "The Waltons." Maybe, perhaps, possibly, but it is more probable possibly, but it is more probable that they were anticipating the arrival of one of PC's most taken-for-granted personalities — Carmine. Carmine, for you commuters who flee right after your last class, operates the midnight sandwich shop that has been trucking onto PC's campus for the better part of — well, you might as well bear it from the man himself:

Cowl: How long have you been here?
C: Five years.
Cowl: And before that you have the truck?
C: No, I just started about six months before I came here. Everything on it?
Customer: Yeah.
Cowl: Where else do you go?
C: In the daytime, do you go to other places?
C: Yeah, I have a few stops. Factories, small garages, gasoline stations, you know different places, ball games. Cowl: Other schools? C: No, this is the only one. Cowl: Is this your last stop of the night?
C: That's it. How much you give me?
Customer: Two bucks.
Cowl: Are your prices going up?
C: No, not this year. The only thing that went up is a nickel on the soda.
Cowl: What's the most popular food here?
C: Hotdogs and grinders. Anda Cowl: Where do you get the meat?
C: Oh, different places in Providence. You know different places, like Marcello's, Mianelli's, quality beef.
Cowl: You got Mountain Dew, too?
C: You should sell beer, too. Cowl: Yeah, I knew it. I would do a lot more business than I'm doing. Cowl: Is this all you do, Carmine?

LEADERSHIP

What Is It?

Contact:
Military Science Dept.
Alumni Hall
Providence College

or call: 865-2471

Special Purchase

P.C. BASEBALL STYLE SHIRT

ONLY
S, M, L, XL

ALL SIZES

COLORS
WHITE/BLUE
WHITE/RED

Special Purchase
Available NOW at
P.C. Gift Shoppe

Comparable To Our $25 P.C. Shirt

Think that a lot of people think I'm Greek.
Cowl: How long you been in Providence?
C: Five years, five and a half.
Cowl: You married?
C: Married and have three kids. Cowl: How old?
C: 16, 15, 12.
Cowl: Gonna send 'em to PC?
C: Yeah.
Cowl: Are you?
C: I have one that goes to LaSalle here, the boy, he wants to come here. My daughter wants to come here. I guess the three of them wants to come here.
Cowl: Do they help you?
C: Oh yeah. Every day. Cowl: No, I mean on the truck?
C: On the truck. Well, you see during school nights, it's pretty hard because I get home late and they get up early in the morning. Keeping up with the current trend of turning up some background scandals with which to indict a celebrity, we thoroughly queried Carmine on his past:
Cowl: How long you been living in America, Carmine?
C: Oh, a long time, since 1948.
Cowl: What nationality are you?
C: Italian.
Cowl: Oh, someone told me you were German.
C: I look like it. A lot of people think that I'm Italian. I can't spell it right now.
Cowl: What city in Italy are you from?
C: Cassino.
Cowl: What city in Italy are you from?
C: Cassino. Cowl: And before that did you come here?
C: Cassino. Cowl: What city in Italy are you from?
C: Cassino. Cowl: What city in Italy are you from?
C: Cassino. Cowl: What city in Italy are you from?
C: Cassino. Cowl: What city in Italy are you from?
C: Cassino. Cowl: What city in Italy are you from?
C: Cassino. Cowl: What city in Italy are you from?
C: Cassino. Cowl: What city in Italy are you from?
C: Cassino. Cowl: What city in Italy are you from?
C: Cassino. Cowl: What city in Italy are you from?
C: Cassino. Cowl: What city in Italy are you from?
C: Cassino. Cowl: What city in Italy are you from?
C: Cassino. Cowl: What city in Italy are you from?
C: Cassino. Cowl: What city in Italy are you from?
C: Cassino. Cowl: What city in Italy are you from?
C: Cassino. Cowl: What city in Italy are you from?
C: Cassino. Cowl: What city in Italy are you from?
C: Cassino. Cowl: What city in Italy are you from?
C: Cassino. Cowl: What city in Italy are you from?
C: Cassino. Cowl: What city in Italy are you from?
C: Cassino. Cowl: What city in Italy are you from?
C: Cassino. Cowl: What city in Italy are you from?
C: Cassino. Cowl: What city in Italy are you from?
C: Cassino. Cowl: What city in Italy are you from?
C: Cassino. Cowl: What city in Italy are you from?
C: Cassino. Cowl: What city in Italy are you from?
C: Cassino. Cowl: What city in Italy are you from?
C: Cassino. Cowl: What city in Italy are you from?
C: Cassino. Cowl: What city in Italy are you from?
C: Cassino. Cowl: What city in Italy are you from?
C: Cassino. Cowl: What city in Italy are you from?
C: Cassino. Cowl: What city in Italy are you from?
C: Cassino. Cowl: What city in Italy are you from?
C: Cassino. Cowl: What city in Italy are you from?
C: Cassino. Cowl: What city in Italy are you from?
C: Cassino. Cowl: What city in Italy are you from?
C: Cassino. Cowl: What city in Italy are you from?
C: Cassino. Cowl: What city in Italy are you from?
C: Cassino. Cowl: What city in Italy are you from?
C: Cassino. Cowl: What city in Italy are you from?
C: Cassino. Cowl: What city in Italy are you from?
C: Cassino. Cowl: What city in Italy are you from?
C: Cassino. Cowl: What city in Italy are you from?
C: Cassino. Cowl: What city in Italy are you from?
C: Cassino. Cowl: What city in Italy are you from?
C: Cassino. Cowl: What city in Italy are you from?
C: Cassino. Cowl: What city in Italy are you from?
C: Cassino. Cowl: What city in Italy are you from?
C: Cassino. Cowl: What city in Italy are you from?
C: Cassino. Cowl: What city in Italy are you from?
C: Cassino. Cowl: What city in Italy are you from?
C: Cassino. Cowl: What city in Italy are you from?
C: Cassino. Cowl: What city in Italy are you from?
Chapin: A Game of Politics

Since Vincent "Buddy" Cisner's surprise 200-seat victory over the incumbent Mayor Joseph Dooley, we have heard and read much about the split of the Democratic party in the city of Providence. Our greatest concern, however, is the "political patronage," but rather with a subject that generated much interest during the campaign: the closing and proposed sale of Chapin Hospital.

As Brenda stated, "We are seeking untrained students energies at the various Rhode Island colleges...people who are interested and who will work." Right now, these four URI students are approaching Bryant College, Rhode Island College, Brown University, and Providence College, to stimulate interest in Chapin Hospital as a site for URI students. URI RIPIRG has progressed to offer any help she may. For this group to succeed, faculty and students are encouraged to further the consumer cause. If you are interested in learning more about Chapin Hospital, in attending the in-site visit, contact the Cowl Office or the URI group at 792-4527 or 792-4944.

To sum up the interview. If there is not enough information... if you do not know the issues... then you cannot make decisions.

Sincerely,
Ann Frank

The Registration Game...

By Joseph E. Zito

Constitution and Madison of that college may require a course registration, is still taking place for Chapin Hospital. Mr. Zito has offered to offer my slightly exaggerated version of it as if it were the case for Chapin.

Hi and welcome to America's favorite local radio show, "The Coop and Whistle." Are you ready to get started with Mr. Dubie, a resident of the 5th ward, losing his city council seats. Politics and politicians have left himself, could not attain been postponed until January. Chairman Michael Kelly, a lame duck of Providence College, in Providence College in the state.

Bob: "Honey this is Providence College, and you can't hog all the courses. What do you mean by 'we're running here a fair show'?

John: "Bob, but...

Bob: "I pity the course.

Mary: "The psychology of the body."

Bob: "Let's go by the board.

Audience: "MUSIC, WISE, ALL APPLAUSE AT THE GYM, AND YOU ARE INVITED TO THE COURSE OF HUMAN BEING'S STORY. TAKE ME THE MOST DESTRUCTIVE COURSE.

Bob (amidst the music and screams): "What the hell is he saying?"

Bob (amidst the music and screams): "This show is over. Good evening, folks."

Bob: "Well, anyway friends, we'll see you next semester.

Audience: "screaming like hell minutes later, Mary is a big winner.

Bob (amidst the music and applause, and is signing off): "This week in Miss Gymnastics: Providence College, and you are invited to the course of human beings' story. Take me the most destructive course."

Bob (amidst the music and screams): "What the hell is he saying?"

Bob: "Well, anyway friends, we'll see you next semester.

Audience: "screaming like hell minutes later, Mary is a big winner.

Bob (amidst the music and applause, and is signing off): "This week in Miss Gymnastics: Providence College, and you are invited to the course of human beings' story. Take me the most destructive course."

Bob: "Our contest is on in the studio as the "The Coop and Whistle" show continues."

Bob: "Your name is John Gagliaducci, a business major, whose hobbies are snoring, series F."

Announcer (behind the scenes): "What the hell is he saying?"

Bob: "Scram John (pushing him off the stage). Mary, let's play another game.

Mary: "I'll take Intro to Freud, series X.

Bob: "That's Freud, Mary."

Mary: "Sorry."

Bob: "Okay, let's go to the board and see the result. (flip COWL)

Audience: "Aw."

Bob: "Too bad. John pick a course."

John: "It's about time. I'll take immediate installment series B. (flip COWL) Business Math series A. (flip COWL) Business Math series G. (flip COWL) John now empty-handed by this show in no way represent the opinions of the administration of Providence College.
Letter to The Editor...

Registration Satire

Dear Editor,

I was 2:37 p.m. and I thought I prepared for my first real test as a freshman. I had heard all kinds of rumors by me about “Registration Day.” Being a freshman, I sincerely doubted the authenticity of any of the rumors.

My appointment was scheduled for 3:40 p.m. I stopped to the line behind a 6’7” black basketball player. He was obviously miffed as I ever heard him mambuling about how the match hadn’t said anything about this when he was being recruited. The girl directly in front of him was talking to him, saying, “If I wait here any longer I’m gonna send out to Tommy’s for a pizza.” Well, I was 3:19 p.m. then, but I made it to the door—only to be confronted with the fact that the line didn’t end here but continued much further. Some 8 or 6 students standing in front of me pitched a tent. Obviously they weren’t freshmen.

Surrounding my line were tables at which seated men and women representing each department. I had a feeling they weren’t there just to help me but to help themselves because I had spent solid hours carefully picking out the correct courses and terms to meet my needs at PC. But my temporary self-assurance was shattering at the sight of one of my good friends running wildly about with foam drooling from his mouth as he repeatedly yelled “Closed, Closed, Closed!” I soon found out what had made my friend become so deranged.

A pretty looking red-head asked me for my card, if I could give it to her, but no sooner had I done it, then she gave it back saying, “I’m sorry but these people in Southern Luxembourg” at 4.30 p.m. on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday. Some 5 or 6 students standing in front of me pitched a tent. Obviously they weren’t freshmen.

Alerted by my friend’s wild behavior, I gave her back my card and headed out the door. As I was leaving, a pretty looking red-head asked me for my card, if I could give it to her, but no sooner had I done it, then she gave it back saying, “I’m sorry but these people in Southern Luxembourg” at 4.30 p.m. on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday. Some 5 or 6 students standing in front of me pitched a tent. Obviously they weren’t freshmen.

Chaplain’s Corner

By Fr. James Quigley, O.P.

Some Thoughts

Over seventy students signed up for Providence Volunteers. Some are now working at the Fogarty Center for the retarded, working with adults, doing such things as speech therapy, physical therapy, arts, crafts, friends, and so forth. All work is under supervision. We need more help if anyone has the time and interest. We need more help if anyone has the time and interest. The Fogarty Center is the making and selling of candles. Some help in marketing and business management is needed.

Sister Gabriel, a Dominican sister assigned to religious education work in the Diocese of Providence, now brings drop-in programs to PC every Friday. We have provided classrooms for their use. Some students are involved in one or more programs. Sister Gabriel and hope soon to be able to help teach CCD: other students are involved in a retreat program for the deaf at emotionally retarded youngsters.

If anyone is interested in joining a group which meets in the rear Chaver, and the farmworkers’ organization, leave your name with me in the chaplain’s office. The purpose of the committee will be to inform people of the human issues at stake in the farmworkers struggle.

A week-end of Christian reflection will be held for interested students on Dec. 6, 7, and 8 at the Dominican Priory, Dover, Mass. It will be time to think, pray, share, be alone, discuss, and God should hear us not; but He should listen to us. The purpose of the committee will be to inform people of the human issues at stake in the farmworkers struggle.

The Women’s News Program

Dear Editor,

I would like to clarify a topic in an article which was written by a WDOM staff member and printed in the November 13th issue. The article focused on four new programs which WDOM is bringing to the PC community.

Dear Editor,

On behalf of the Class of 1979, we, the faculty and students of the college for hosting Freshman Parents Weekend of November 10, 1974. It was a great opportunity for our parents to get a first-hand look at Providence College.

A special thanks to Rev. John A. McMahon, O.P. and Miss Loretta M. Ross for the extensive amount of time and energy they took in putting this enjoyable day together.

Sincerely,

Vincent Capillo, President
Charles E. Gagne, Vice President
Donna M. Chevalier, Secretary
Joseph J. O’Neill, Treasurer

WDOM Staff

The Women’s News Program, which has as its theme, the role of the federal government in society, was reported, a single hosted program. Father is a joint effort of the majority of the female staff, old and new, to bring to this campus something fresh, something concerning women’s needs and concerns. The women initiating and working on this program include Debbie Martinis, Diane Meiss, Carol Parkinson, Kathy Oliveira, Rosemary Lynch, Cindy Maruskin, Pam Campo, Sue Bast, Paula Dyer, Darla Daigleau and myself. The theme for the program is Every Friday evening from 7:00 p.m. until 8:00 p.m.

The topics, to which both women are assigned each week will entail such research and diligence. I sincerely hope that these women will be given the credit for their outstanding work, ideas, enthusiasm, and participation in the program.

Sincerely,

Sharon Madden, WDOM Staff

The Beer Record

Of reporting countries, the nation with the highest beer consumption per person is West Germany, with 36.72 U.S. Gallons per person in 1989. In the Northern Territory of Australia, however, the annual intake has been estimated to be as high as 62.4 U.S. Gallons per person.

Correction

Steven Klubowski, who introduced a bill at the recent Congress meeting concerning the eligibility requirements for the office of Congress president, is not vice president of the sophomore class, as it was reported. He is the class’ treasurer.

By David Plamondon
Carmine (cont.).

“If it Rains, Well, It’sa Little Rough.”

Cowl: You did?
C: Yeah.
Cowl: Nice job Carmine.
C: Not too fancy, but it’ll do.

Trouble: Carmine, who broke the glass? Kids here?
C: Marv Barnes. He’s the one that broke it. And, uh, I think he should pay for it all. Now he’s got money.

Customer: I’ll tell him that. He’s a personal friend of mine.
C: Heh, he can mail me a check if he likes. I’ll have twenty dollars for the window, he’s all set.

Opinion: Do you like what’s your favorite song?
Carmine: “When Irish eyes are smiling…”
C: My favorite song from now on or when?
C: “Santa Lucia…”
C: Ah, “Santa Lucia,” “O Sole Mia,” “Come Back to Sorrenta.”

He wouldn’t even admit to having any friends with these dreaded enemies of all PC students:

Newspaper: Did you have any Dominicans here?
C: Any Dominicans?
Cowl: Yeah. No priests ever come down.

Weber: Yeah, once in a while someone comes down. Father Heath, a couple others.
C: Heath, Hach, Huh?
C: Yeah, I haven’t seen him this year yet, though.
Cowl: Any kids ever try to bribe you to poison him or anything?
C: (Smiling). No.

But then we knew that Carmine was not thorough enough when he slipped on two consecutive questions:

Gonzalez: Ever get any big complaints on the food, Carmine?
C: Very seldom. Might be twice since I’m here. Like maybe their grinder was too soggy or something.

Cowl: Do you have any trouble with the drunks...kids coming out of the Raithskellar?
C: No.

We figured that we’d better question some customers on him.

The following verdicts came in:

—Carmine, these are the best grinders I ever had. I really think so...
—C: Glad to hear it.
—Let me have one of those delicious hamburger grinders. Yeah, they’re my favorite. Mmm good. They are good.
—Super how-wows. Super.
—Jimmie, I’ll have another.
—Everything’s good here.
—Great, well-organized, well-managed and well-profitable.
—Why not a little more today, a little less later?
—Oh, just grinders.
—No, just grinders.
—Not yet, no.

Like maybe somebody gets a little drunk, you know, hollers a little bit. Not really that noisy anyway. Doesn’t bother me either.
Cowl: Do you ever short change those grinders, Carmine?
C: No, never do that.
Cowl: Oh, you don’t have to answer that one anyway.
C: (Laughing) No, I won’t do it anymore. That’s one thing I’ll never do. That’s a bad thing to do it.

“Marvin Barnes. He’s the one that broke it. And, uh, I think he should pay for it all. Now he’s got money.”

Cowl: They may not be that drunk.
C: No, no, that’s not the point. Even if I know I could get away with it I won’t do it. I mean I would never do it even if I was. How many times sometimes a kid gives me five dollars and he thinks it’s a dollar and he’s walking away and I call him back? I won’t take it.
Cowl: What’s your busiest night?
C: Can’t really figure out.
Cowl: No? Is it weekends, though?
C: You can’t really tell. Some weeks the kids are noisy, or not? Do you like it when they come out and start making noise, or are you thinking, “Oh, no, not these kids again!” Or does it bother you, yes?
C: Well, they don’t really make that much noise. Very seldom.

Film Series

Breaks Even

By Marilyn McGale
Contrary to widespread campus opinion, the board of Governor’s Wednesday night movie generates very little profit-type revenue. According to Dan Rassennell, the BG film committee chairman, “we almost break even each week.”

The seven student film committee is operating this year’s program within their $4,000 budget, which is allotted from the student activity fee. The films most frequently requested by the students are box-office attractions, ranging in cost from approximately $150 for High Plains Drifter to $500 for Cabaret.

Each Wednesday night, Albertus Magnus 100 is filled to its 250 seat capacity. The box office response has been so great that three shows are being offered, at 5:30 p.m., 8:30 p.m., and 10:30 p.m. During each film, about 30 cases of beer are consumed. Since the charge for each can is only 25 cents, between $30 and $20 are lost each week.

The Wednesday night movies are well-organized, well-managed and well-staffed presentations. The films are selected to include every taste from Walking Tall to What’s Up, Doc? The film committee has truly been a success.

Planning

Hearing Set

The Operations Subcommittee of the College Planning Council will hold an open hearing on December 3 at 4 p.m. in Room 118 of the library.

The College Planning Council has been charged with identifying and evaluating alternative problems and opportunities which the College will encounter over the next ten years. The Operations Subcommittee will consider areas such as enrollment and tenure.

All are invited to attend and/or speak.

FOR MADMEN ONLY
HERMANN HESSE
STEEVENWOLF

Peter J. Sproule presents MAX VON SYDOW, DONALD SABINA in STEENWOLF co-starring PIERRE CLEMENTI
CARLA ROMANELLI Based on the novel by HERMANN HESSE Music by GEORGE GILNITZ Produced by MEVINISHMAN and RICHARD HERLAND Executive Producer Peter J. Sproule Written and Directed by RED HANDE DR. REMS INC. Release

The Four Seasons Cinemas

RT. 1A, EAST PROVIDENCE 434-4655

PETER J. SPROIUE presents MAX VON SYDOW, DONALD SABINA in STEENWOLF co-starring PIERRE CLEMENTI DR
CARLA ROMANELLI Based on the novel by HERMANN HESSE Music by GEORGE GILNITZ Produced by MEVINISHMAN and RICHARD HERLAND Executive Producer Peter J. Sproule Written and Directed by RED HANDE DR. REMS INC. Release

STARTS FRIDAY

THE FOUR SEASONS CINEMAS

RT. 1A, EAST PROVIDENCE 434-4655

In the summertime I work during the day. I take it easy a little bit a night. I get home early. Forty cents.

Cowl: That’ll be 40 cents extra.
Customer: I’ll just a free one. What a good song?
Cowl: What’s the most people you ever had here in one night?
C: Over a hundred, I guess. At least a hundred. Maybe a hundred-fifty. I tell you, the most I ever had is maybe one-fifty.
Cowl: That’ll be all.
C: A hundred-fifty people, that’s a lot.
Customer: That’s a lot of people.
Cowl: What do you do in the summertime?
C: In the summertime I work during the day. I take it easy a little bit a night. I get home early. Forty cents.

Cowl: All right, Mad Dog, what do you think about your grinders? The truth now.
Mad Dog: Oh, they’re okay. They’re nothing special. But they’re better than anything else around.
Cowl: What if it rains?
C: If it rains, well, it’s a little rough.
Cowl: Do you do better in the warmer days or cold?
C: Well, warmer days are always a little better, but then in the winter sometimes on a cold day you do better than on a hot day. Can’t really figure out.
Cowl: Do you come here all winter?
C: Yeah.
Cowl: Do you plan on doing this for a while?
C: A few more years, yeah.
Cowl: And then, after that, would you like to go back to the butcher shop?
C: I don’t know yet. You see, I figure another five years I’ll do this here. Then after, probably I’ll change.
Cowl: You like to switch around jobs.
C: Not particularly, but you know what I mean, this job, after a while I start getting a little old. Probably it’ll be too much for me.
Cowl: Yeah. You think you’re slowing down at all yet?
C: Not yet, no.
Cowl: Do you, no seem to be doing a pretty good pace here. Is that the secret to this job?
C: Well, you gonna move fast. When you gotta lot of people you have to really push. You can’t make ‘em wait too long.
Cowl: Do you like it when the kids are noisy, or not? Do you like it when they come out and start making noise, or are you thinking, “Oh, no, not these kids again!” Or does it bother you, yes?
C: Well, they don’t really make that much noise. Very seldom.
By Frank Fortin

Japan has major league baseball. The United States has major league baseball. If this is true, there should be a real World Series, right?

Wrong!

The first objection I have to this plan is the original rationale for their "master plan." The Mets after scoring to the 1973 National League Championship on two hot pitchers and a catchy slogan, plummeted to fifth place in 1974 when those two pitchers slumped and everybody (even those who write the Wide World of Sports all-star games (it seems like they're held 162 times a year) and by the facilities of the Yamagiri Giants, Japan's best team. They are the best because they have the most money, and nearly all the money. Some Class D teams are in better shape than some of the poorer Japanese teams, and McCoy Stadium would be a ambassador for our baseball.

Objected Number Two: Baseball is considering expanding again, and that is where the question of the World Series arises. The projected expansion confirms the fact that their top returning players over there. But, who is to say they are not equal to ours.

Fine. The Mets have done lousy over there. But, who is to say they are representative of the U.S. major leagues? The higher brass do they wish a Universal World Series, and eventually a colossal expansion, encompassing the oriental and occidental worlds? If this is true, there should be a real World Series, right?

This possibility was discussed last week when the two commissioners agreed, they are real World Series. If this is true, there should be a real World Series, right?

The "weak spot" on the team is at goal, with All-American Devlin, last year's backup goalie, is first in line to be a regular starter.

This respectability was due in part to such innovators as the Birth of a Nation (1915) and Gone with the Wind (1939) which won record-breaking 26 points and Bruce Griffin, the transcript from Furnace and Fire (1949).

With the Mal Brown Game, the fans may not be able to preview this year's team. PC opens its season with an exhibition game against the Vermont State-Division III team. Game time is set for 1:30 on November 29 at the Providence Civic Center.

Testing For Movie Mania

By John Marlin

Moving pictures, perfected by Thomas Edison in the late 1880s, were once terrorized by Godzilla. In what motion picture would you expect to hear the concluding line "It was beauty killed the beast"?

1. In what movie did Humphrey Bogart say his famous line, "Play it again, Sam"?

2. Who played the title role in the film Tom Brown's Schooldays?

3. What is the most expensive movie ever made to date?

4. Who was Hollywood's "It" girl?

5. In what film does Paul Newman lead a chain gang?

6. The following is the plot of a 1975-76 newspaperman poses as a Jew to gather material for a series of articles on anti-Semitism. In the course of his investigation, he learns that no area of his life goes unexamined.

7. What movie holds the record for a game on Tuesday, November 29, the Friars return to Schneider Arena in their home opener. Game time will be 7:30 p.m.

8. In what movie would you watch for starters Mr. Binstein?

Questions

1. In what movie did Humphrey Bogart say his famous line, "Play it again, Sam"?

2. Who played the title role in Tom Brown's Schooldays?

3. What is the most expensive movie ever made to date?

4. Who was Hollywood's "It" girl?

5. In what film does Paul Newman lead a chain gang?

6. The following is the plot of a 1975-76

Answers

1. Casablanca

2. Albert Finney

3. War and Peace (1965)

4. Gentlemen's Agreement, starring Gregory Peck

5. The Great Gatsby (1974)

6. The Godfather

7. A Man For All Seasons

8. To Sir, With Love

"Many people today are trying to hear the concluding line "It was beauty killed the beast.""

9. Who portrayed Sherlock Holmes in the only B-movie of the "It"

The three-actress team played the English governors and Siamese king in The King and I

Selling Guide

Score point for each correct answer on a scale of 1-2-3-4.

1-2: Very poor! You've been lax in your movie-viewing. We suggest you watch "The Great Gatsby" and "To Kill a Mockingbird" before you watch "The King and I." You may need to read a book once in a while.

2-3: Good, but some improvement is still needed. Excellent."The King and I" and "Casablanca" are out there. You're ready for the "hard stuff," meaning it is probably safe for you to sit through the entire Airport Express (1953) on a full stomach."
The Friars were gearing to avenge this loss, however, in the final match of the season, the NCAA Championships to be held Monday in Indiana. With the experience masked by the Westchester Corn­

right into the hands of Pennella, who scampered the remaining 68 yards for the score. The extra point gave the Vikings a 7-0 lead.

The Friars appeared headed for a win when they were able to move, with the help of fine running by Sai Giolico and a face­

Hockey Friars Upset
St. Louis Twice

By John Bannacceri
It looks like it could be a good year

The Friars were gearing to avenge this loss, however, in the final match of the season, the NCAA Championships to be held Monday in Indiana. With the experience masked by the Westchester Corn­

right into the hands of Pennella, who scampered the remaining 68 yards for the score. The extra point gave the Vikings a 7-0 lead.

The Friars appeared headed for a win when they were able to move, with the help of fine running by Sai Giolico and a face­

Hockey Friars Upset
St. Louis Twice

By John Bannacceri
It looks like it could be a good year

The Friars were gearing to avenge this loss, however, in the final match of the season, the NCAA Championships to be held Monday in Indiana. With the experience masked by the Westchester Corn­

right into the hands of Pennella, who scampered the remaining 68 yards for the score. The extra point gave the Vikings a 7-0 lead.

The Friars appeared headed for a win when they were able to move, with the help of fine running by Sai Giolico and a face­

Hockey Friars Upset
St. Louis Twice

By John Bannacceri
It looks like it could be a good year

The Friars were gearing to avenge this loss, however, in the final match of the season, the NCAA Championships to be held Monday in Indiana. With the experience masked by the Westchester Corn­

right into the hands of Pennella, who scampered the remaining 68 yards for the score. The extra point gave the Vikings a 7-0 lead.

The Friars appeared headed for a win when they were able to move, with the help of fine running by Sai Giolico and a face­

Hockey Friars Upset
St. Louis Twice

By John Bannacceri
It looks like it could be a good year

The Friars were gearing to avenge this loss, however, in the final match of the season, the NCAA Championships to be held Monday in Indiana. With the experience masked by the Westchester Corn­

right into the hands of Pennella, who scampered the remaining 68 yards for the score. The extra point gave the Vikings a 7-0 lead.

The Friars appeared headed for a win when they were able to move, with the help of fine running by Sai Giolico and a face­

Hockey Friars Upset
St. Louis Twice

By John Bannacceri
It looks like it could be a good year

The Friars were gearing to avenge this loss, however, in the final match of the season, the NCAA Championships to be held Monday in Indiana. With the experience masked by the Westchester Corn­

right into the hands of Pennella, who scampered the remaining 68 yards for the score. The extra point gave the Vikings a 7-0 lead.

The Friars appeared headed for a win when they were able to move, with the help of fine running by Sai Giolico and a face­

Hockey Friars Upset
St. Louis Twice

By John Bannacceri
It looks like it could be a good year

The Friars were gearing to avenge this loss, however, in the final match of the season, the NCAA Championships to be held Monday in Indiana. With the experience masked by the Westchester Corn­

right into the hands of Pennella, who scampered the remaining 68 yards for the score. The extra point gave the Vikings a 7-0 lead.

The Friars appeared headed for a win when they were able to move, with the help of fine running by Sai Giolico and a face­

Hockey Friars Upset
St. Louis Twice

By John Bannacceri
It looks like it could be a good year

The Friars were gearing to avenge this loss, however, in the final match of the season, the NCAA Championships to be held Monday in Indiana. With the experience masked by the Westchester Corn­

right into the hands of Pennella, who scampered the remaining 68 yards for the score. The extra point gave the Vikings a 7-0 lead.

The Friars appeared headed for a win when they were able to move, with the help of fine running by Sai Giolico and a face­

Hockey Friars Upset
St. Louis Twice

By John Bannacceri
It looks like it could be a good year

The Friars were gearing to avenge this loss, however, in the final match of the season, the NCAA Championships to be held Monday in Indiana. With the experience masked by the Westchester Corn­

right into the hands of Pennella, who scampered the remaining 68 yards for the score. The extra point gave the Vikings a 7-0 lead.

The Friars appeared headed for a win when they were able to move, with the help of fine running by Sai Giolico and a face­

Hockey Friars Upset
St. Louis Twice

By John Bannacceri
It looks like it could be a good year

The Friars were gearing to avenge this loss, however, in the final match of the season, the NCAA Championships to be held Monday in Indiana. With the experience masked by the Westchester Corn­

right into the hands of Pennella, who scampered the remaining 68 yards for the score. The extra point gave the Vikings a 7-0 lead.

The Friars appeared headed for a win when they were able to move, with the help of fine running by Sai Giolico and a face­

Hockey Friars Upset
St. Louis Twice

By John Bannacceri
It looks like it could be a good year

The Friars were gearing to avenge this loss, however, in the final match of the season, the NCAA Championships to be held Monday in Indiana. With the experience masked by the Westchester Corn­

right into the hands of Pennella, who scampered the remaining 68 yards for the score. The extra point gave the Vikings a 7-0 lead.

The Friars appeared headed for a win when they were able to move, with the help of fine running by Sai Giolico and a face­

Hockey Friars Upset
St. Louis Twice

By John Bannacceri
It looks like it could be a good year

The Friars were gearing to avenge this loss, however, in the final match of the season, the NCAA Championships to be held Monday in Indiana. With the experience masked by the Westchester Corn­

right into the hands of Pennella, who scampered the remaining 68 yards for the score. The extra point gave the Vikings a 7-0 lead.

The Friars appeared headed for a win when they were able to move, with the help of fine running by Sai Giolico and a face­

Hockey Friars Upset
St. Louis Twice

By John Bannacceri
It looks like it could be a good year

The Friars were gearing to avenge this loss, however, in the final match of the season, the NCAA Championships to be held Monday in Indiana. With the experience masked by the Westchester Corn­

right into the hands of Pennella, who scampered the remaining 68 yards for the score. The extra point gave the Vikings a 7-0 lead.

The Friars appeared headed for a win when they were able to move, with the help of fine running by Sai Giolico and a face­

Hockey Friars Upset
St. Louis Twice

By John Bannacceri
It looks like it could be a good year

The Friars were gearing to avenge this loss, however, in the final match of the season, the NCAA Championships to be held Monday in Indiana. With the experience masked by the Westchester Corn­

right into the hands of Pennella, who scampered the remaining 68 yards for the score. The extra point gave the Vikings a 7-0 lead.

The Friars appeared headed for a win when they were able to move, with the help of fine running by Sai Giolico and a face­

Hockey Friars Upset
St. Louis Twice

By John Bannacceri
It looks like it could be a good year

The Friars were gearing to avenge this loss, however, in the final match of the season, the NCAA Championships to be held Monday in Indiana. With the experience masked by the Westchester Corn­