

THE PROSE POEM: AN INTERNATIONAL JOURNAL

Volume 4 | 1995

Balls
Russell Edson

© Providence College

The author(s) permits users to copy, distribute, display, and perform this work under the following conditions: (1) the original author(s) must be given proper attribution; (2) this work may not be used for commercial purposes; (3) the users may not alter, transform, or build upon this work; (4) users must make the license terms of this work clearly known for any reuse or distribution of this work. Upon request, as holder of this work's copyright, the author(s) may waive any or all of these conditions.

The Prose Poem: An International Journal is produced by The Berkeley Electronic Press (bepress)
for the Providence College Digital Commons.
<http://digitalcommons.providence.edu/prosepoems/>

Russell Edson

BALLS

Two roly-poly men are pretending to be bowling balls.
Get off my property, says someone on whose property the roly-poly men are pretending to be bowling balls.
We're too big to be golf balls.
Get off my property, you goof balls.
We were thinking about cannon balls, but bowling balls are more social.
Social?
Oh yes, we're social types.
But you're too roly-poly for social lives.
That's why we thought to debut the social world as bowling balls. We're really rather good. We even have the holes...