Dorm forum brings 300 to hear arguments

By John O'Hare

"We haven't denied access to student ideas. The president more the name of any dorm to be mentioned. This is a question of whether the College will allow for the next four years any dorm which will last for at least the next four years. All proposals will be taken into consideration. We don't deny any building. We need 150 more beds for female residents next year." Students' questions and comments were fielded by Sue Berg, head of the Student Congress' lifestyles committee; Mason; Tom Sheehan, president of the Resident Board; and Mary Elleen Maclntyre, Student Congress vice president.

The mood of security was one that constantly surfaced during the forum. In response to a number of questions on the topic, Mason said, "Security must be upgraded, especially on the Low- er Campus. In the budget meeting Father McMahon (acting head of security) has proposed a guard house on the other side of Huxley Avenue along with other improvements.

"Donna McCaffrey (assistant director of residence) has said one of the problems with Dore Hall was the security system. The guards are not the best quality. They're not all bad but they're not all that good by any means. There could be some problems with them taking quick breaks," said a student. See SECURITY, Page 2

"It's here because it's true, not true because it's here."

By Maureen O'Hare

The projected enrollment of the incoming freshman class was discussed at last Sunday night's Student Congress meeting. Fred Mason, the student member of the Committee on Admin­istration, announced that according to Michael Backes, director of admissions, the Class of 82's resident population will allow for 325 women and 192 men. The commuter population will consist of 125 females and 75 males. These students are being accepted taking into consideration the fact that a new female dorm will be created," stated Mason. "The most important figure is the total enrollment. According to Backes, this won't rise above 3500."

Rev. Walter H. O.P., makes point to rev. Terence Keegan, O.P., head resident at McDermott Hall.

"It's here because it's true, not true because it's here."

Inside

Alternatives

Page 2

Candide

Page 6

Pocket Rocket's

Sprocket

Page 11
Student Leadership Exchange Conference: Sharing skills and ideas

By Jane E. Hickey

This weekend, March 5 to 7, PC's Student Congress will host student government leaders from more than a dozen other northeastern colleges and universities for a Student Leadership Exchange Conference, according to Ellen Barnes, Congress president. The conference is the second of its kind in the area, last year's being held at Wheaton College, and is "designed to facilitate an exchange of ideas, skills and solutions employed in dealing with campus organizations."

Visiting student leaders will be housed on campus during their three-day stay and will attend a variety of social events and workshops on Friday evening and Saturday.

Security, conditions were dominant topics (Continued from Page 1), action in the case of an emergency.

McCaffrey said that girls walking down to the Lower Campus could be potentially endangered because the lights in the parking lot are not sufficient. Father McMahon includes this in his report.

The possibility of converting Dore Hall, a men's dorm on the Lower Campus, was brought up, as well as the disparity between men's and women's dwellings Tim Callahan suggested from the floor that "despite the facts and figures, there exists a great difference between men's and women's dorms. It's a gross injustice. Dore doesn't compare to McDormott. Look at all the male dorms; they should be refurbished."

Sheehan remarked, "There's a lot more to this than facts and figures. We have to consider the long-range benefits and work for the good of the school. This school was built on a certain spirit. How is making the Quad all girls or moving a girl's dorm down to the Lower Campus going to affect it?"

Mason added, "The issue is the Upper and Lower Campus. What in the long run is going to best affect the campus atmosphere? We want the best location for a female dorm. There are necessary changes that have to be made for the men and women."

Fairfield, University of New Haven, St. Joseph's, KIC, Harvard, Assumption, Brown, Wheaton, SMU, St. Michael's, Merrimack, Smith and Dartmouth.

Barnes expressed a great deal of enthusiasm for this event, explaining that it is an "information-sharing weekend. We came away from last year's conferences with a lot of new ideas. Successful happy hours and semi-formal parties are two results of such new ideas. Barnes also commented that PC made several original contributions in the way of social events to last year's conference representatives. "Battle of the Dorms" being the primary example.

PC's Student Congress will host the conference on Friday evening and is "designed to facilitate an exchange of ideas, skills and solutions employed in dealing with campus organizations."

Happy Hour in '64 Hall Featuring "The Good Guys" (Have appeared on Johnny Carson & Merv Griffin)

3:30 to 6:30 p.m.

FUTURISTIC WEEK

Monday, March 6 - "2001: A Space Odyssey"

Show times: 7:15 and 9:30 p.m.

Tuesday, March 7 - Dr. Timothy Leary

Topic: "Space Migration" 8:00 p.m.

Wednesday, March 8 - F.M. Esendairi

Topic, "Age of Breakthroughs: The Next 25 Years" 8:00 p.m.

Thursday, March 9 - Dr. J. Alan Hynk

Topic: "Close Encounters" (Dr. Hynk was technical advisor for the Movie "Close Encounters of the Third Kind") 8:00 p.m.

Admission $2.00
$.50 with PC ID

Arround the Campus

Condole

The PC theatre arts presentation of Condole will run from March 1 through March 5, Monday through Saturday. There are a limited number of tickets available for the Slavin Center Information Desk for $4.50 with a PC ID. Curtain time is 8 p.m. in Harkins Hall.

Congress Committees will be working on any of the Student Congress committees are urged to sign up in the Student Congress Office on Slavin 214, as soon as possible.

Poetry Reading

Robert Bly, the internationally recognized poet, will read on March 15 has been rescheduled for March 7. He has published several books of his own poetry, plus translations of Spanish, Swedish and Indian poems. He won the National Book Award in 1968 for The Light Around the Body.

An energetic reader, Bly is considered one of the most popular readers at colleges today. Bly often appears dressed in a big poncho and reads his poems with a great deal of emotion. The reading will be at 8 p.m. in Aquinas Lounge and refreshments will be served.

Career Workshop

A workshop entitled "Making Career Decisions: Myths and Games" will be offered by the Counseling Center for freshmen. The workshop will be held Wednesday, March 8, from 2 p.m. to 3 p.m. and will be repeated on Wednesday, March 15, from 2 p.m. to 3 p.m.

Interested students should sign up the Counseling Center, Slavin 216.

Volunteers Needed

The East Side YMCA, 438 Hope Street, needs tutors for an evening tutorial program for students aged 10 through 17 on Thursday and Thursday evenings. Tutors are needed in algebra, Spanish, geometry, basic math, history and science. If interested, please call Kathy May at 437-4917.

Forum eager to air alternate views

By David Amarsi

The Alternatives Forum is looking for some different points of view and for some new members. This club is an offshoot of Student Congress whose goal is to present alternative viewpoints of issues not presented by the College.

It accomplishes this primarily by funding speaker presentations. Although the College has a policy of presenting different views, their funding is restricted to certain issues.

Several weeks ago, along with the Latin American Society, the Forum brought to PC Senator John Chafee, Bill Pennoge and Jim Carlson of the political science department for a symposium on the Panama Canal treaties.

This event, which brought the TV 12 news cameras, was attended by only 50 in the 300 capacity '64 Hall. Apparently, the symposium lost out to the competition of a PC hockey game and the Ali-Spinks fight.

David Governo, president of the Forum, is trying to recruit new members for the club. Although the organization is little known on campus, its membership is growing.

The funds of the organization are not tied to a specific use, but can vary with the interest of the members.

The Alternatives Forum is open minded on showing both sides of an issue, although they are willing to take one side should the other side already be covered by another school organization.

They tried to organize a debate with the Pro Vita Club on abortion, where the Alternatives Forum took a "pro-life" side already be covered by another school organization.

They tried to organize a debate with the Pro Vita Club on abortion, where the Alternatives Forum took a "pro-life" stance. The Pro Vita Club, however, turned them down.

The Forum is tentatively planning for author David Schuman to speak in early April on the use of a college education.

Anyone who is interested in different views and the Alternatives Forum can drop a note to Friar Box 1377.

Father Crowley lauded for scholarship

St. John's University recently honored Rev. Stuart Crowley, O.P., a former PC faculty member for his outstanding contributions as a professor of theology and philosophy during the last 28 years as a member of the St. John's faculty.

Very Rev. Joseph T. Cahill, C.M., President of St. John's, presented Father Crowley with the president's medal saying, "You richly deserve this honor for the great loyalty and most generous cooperation which you have rendered St. John's over the years.

Father Crowley was ordained to the Dominican priesthood in 1939 and received his doctorate from Collegio Angelicum in Rome in 1947. He taught at PC from 1947 to 1969. He has taught at St. John's since leaving PC in 1969.

Father Heath said that the premature closing of Aquinas Lounge would not become standard policy in the future.

Where were you when the lights went out?

Who turned out those lights? A Rev. Walter Heath, O.P., director of residence, has come forward saying that the way to Meagher the last night (Saturday, February 23) was worse intrigues turned out the lights in Harkins Hall, and Father Angel DeCorso, associate director of residence, turned on the lights for the remainder of the evening.

Father Heath added that the way to Meagher the Colonie and 1 turned around and went to the lights were still on-they weren't. So we went back to Aquinas lounge and kicked the wireguts out and then locked the door for the rest of the evening.

Father Heath said that the premature closing of Aquinas Lounge would not become standard policy in the future.
Futurists arriving here to speak for BOG

Futurism, which used to be a fascination of the 1960s, but then died, is making a comeback. Most ascribe this to the popularity of the movies "Star Wars" and "Close Encounters of the Third Kind.

Next week, for four days, the Board of Governors will be sponsoring a "Futuristic Week", with one movie and three lecturers dedicated to the vision of the future.

Monday, the classic science fiction movie "2001: A Space Odyssey" will be shown in '64 Hall at 7:15 and 9:30. Along with its dazzling array of special effects and fancy machines, the movie got people thinking about science and the future.

Tuesday, Dr. Timothy Leary will be the guest speaker. Ten years ago, he was kicked out of the Harvard University philosophy department for espousing the merits of LSD. For drug-related charges, Leary spent seven months in prison, escaped, was caught again, and is now on parole.

Today, Leary says "I don't take any illegal drugs or do anything that's illegal." And he says LSD is not needed anymore, "I don't want to talk to people who don't understand drugs, and who don't have total confidence in their body and their nervous system so that they can take any drug and not be thrown by it."

His gospel today is the future (hence his inclusion in this week). Leary says humans should try and leave Earth and establish colonies in outer space: "I've predicted the next series of evolutionary steps the human species is going to go through, and they can only happen in outer space. It involves intelligence expansion and a tremendous increase in the life span."

Leary is the most popular of those speaking that week. No less provocative are the other two speakers, F.M. Esfandiary and Dr. J. Alan Hynek.

Esfandiary will be speaking Wednesday evening and his topic is also of futurism. He says, "We live in the most promising and revolutionary period in all history. An Age of Breakthroughs. The entire planet is suddenly bursting out of the past. We are not only advancing to a new age in history—we are approaching a whole new orbit in human evolution."

Dr. Alan Hynek will be the final speaker of the week, on Thursday evening. His topic is somewhat different. UFOs, a popular one with the financial success of the movie "Close Encounters." Hynek is the founder-consultant of the Center for UFO Studies in Evanston, Illinois. He credits "Close Encounters" with encouraging people to believe in the possibility of UFOs: "I hope the movie will reduce the threat of ridicule—that it will make people feel it's safe to report a UFO."

Today's advertising features a picture of Dr. Timothy Leary, once a drug experimenter mystic, now a futurist.

SOMETHING NEW!!
CAITO'S SANDWICH SHOPPE
Formerly Angelo's
Now Open Under New Management
John F. Caito
★ ★ ★ FREE DELIVERY TO P.C. ★ ★ ★
7 p.m. - 11 p.m.

Sandwich | Regular | Large
--- | --- | ---
Roast Beef | $1.50 | $2.10
Ham & Provolone Cheese | 1.35 | 1.95
Chicken Salad | 1.20 | 1.80
Egg Salad | 1.20 | 1.80
Italian Coq Luts | 1.30 | 1.90
Meatball | 1.25 | 1.85
Sausage | 1.35 | 1.95
Cheese | 1.20 | 1.80
Egg Plant Parmigiana | 1.45 | 2.05
Veal Parm. & Peppers | 1.60 | 2.20
Steak, Onions, Lettuce, Tomatoes | 1.45 | 2.05
Steak, Cheese or Peppers | 1.45 | 2.05
Pepperoni & Egg | 1.50 | 2.10
Salami & Provolone | 1.30 | 1.90
Pepperoni & Provolone | 1.30 | 1.90

Sandwich | Regular | Large
--- | --- | ---
Ham & American Cheese | $1.35 | $1.95
Pastrami | 1.45 | 2.05
Tuna Salad | 1.40 | 2.00
Crabmeat Salad | 2.25 | 2.95
Super Italian Cold Cuts | 1.45 | 2.05
Meatballs & Peppers | 1.40 | 2.00
Sausage & Peppers | 1.50 | 2.10
Pepperoni & Egg | 1.50 | 2.10
Pizza Strips | 30 | 60

(Syrqan 10' extra)

Discount Coupon!
Off any Sandwich on the Menu
Expires 31 March, 1978

Page 3

Call 621-8985 for Free Delivery
Caito's Sandwich Shoppe
Corner of River and Smith Streets
Providence, R.I.
Dorm propaganda unnecessary

The bulletin boards in all three female dormitories sport sensational news articles about coeds who have been raped and/or murdered on college campuses throughout the country. The Cowl Editorial Board wonders what purpose these reactionary clippings serve. The only possible result of these so-called journalistic pieces is to frighten people about conditions on other college campuses which have few or no similarities with PC.

We do not know if the Residence Office feels that many of the women at PC are too naive to realize what goes on in many big city campuses and that it is their duty to let them know what goes on or if the posting of these articles is merely a scare tactic.

"we wonder what purpose these clippings serve"

If the Residence Office feels that because they display these articles many women will soon become prudent (that means not going out after dark), we feel that they are wrong. Most women are intelligent enough to realize that this is just propaganda and has no relation to their condition at PC.

We also feel that by posting these articles the Residence Office is representing a very stilted view of men. Just because a man raped a woman in New York City, all men are potential rapists, argues the Residence Office. The logic just doesn't follow.

The periodic clipping fits of the Residence Office should cease. If enlightening women residents to the dangers and preventions of a woman in New York City, all men are potential rapists, argues the Residence Office. The logic just doesn't follow.

Published each full week of school during the academic year by Providence College, River Avenue and Easton Street, Providence, R.I. 02918. Second class postage paid at Providence, R.I. Slavin Center, P.O. Box 2961, 865-2214.

Editor-in-Chief Michael J. Delaney ‘78
The opinions expressed herein are the opinions of the editorial board and do not necessarily represent the opinions of the administration or the student body of Providence College.

Congress, Dillon Club, BOG overstep bounds

On November 20, 1977, the Student Congress passed a resolution which stated, "The Board of Governors in agreement with the Dillon Club has exclusive advertising rights on the Providence College campus concerning any type of travel."

The explanation of the resolution that was given was, "The Board of Governors and the Dillon Club are student organizations which function solely for the students' best interest and not for personal gain. We are not trying to discourage any private trips being offered to the students but there is a necessity to insure the best possible trip for the best possible price."

"Our trips are bonded and licensed under Rhode Island laws. Any monetary gains from the sales are placed back to reduce the overall ticket price. The programming of events is supported by the reputation and integrity of Providence College and the sponsoring organizations, namely the Board of Governors and Dillon Club."

The Cowl Editorial Board disagrees with the resolution for a number of reasons, the first one being that the Student Congress in passing this was overstepping its boundaries. We understand that the director of student affairs is responsible for all advertising in Slavin Center and the director or residence is responsible for all advertising in the dormitories. Therefore, in essence this solution has no cloud whatsoever because any individual or organization could bypass the Congress and get permission from Father Mc Mahon or Father Heath to advertise for a trip.

We also think that the Congress, BOG and Dillon Club were trying to create a travel monopoly. Dominic Colletta of the Dillon Club said that anyone could run a trip but they just couldn't advertise unless they were connected with the BOG or Dillon Club. Well, this may be true, but it is pretty difficult to run a trip if you cannot advertise.

Also, we feel that competition is good. Colletta said that the Dillon Club has been dealing with Garrett Travel on the Bermuda trips for the last couple of years and they give the best price. This may be correct, but someone may just come up with a better price in the future and this price would go unnoticed if advertising were suppressed. Also, if the Dillon Club's prices are so fantastic, why are they worried about competition?

The Editorial Board also questions the explanation that was given for the resolution. The Congress said, "We are not trying to discourage any private trips being offered to the students, but there is a necessity to insure the best possible trip at the best possible price."

We do not know what the Congress is trying to do. The Congress by its action is trying to discourage private trips if they were not, why would they pass such a bill?"

"Our trips are bonded and licensed under Rhode Island laws. Any monetary gains from the sales are placed back to reduce the overall ticket price. The programming of events is supported by the reputation and integrity of Providence College and the sponsoring organizations, namely the Board of Governors and Dillon Club."

The Editorial Board also questions the resolution for a number of reasons, the first one being that the Student Congress in passing this was overstepping its boundaries. We understand that the director of student affairs is responsible for all advertising in Slavin Center and the director or residence is responsible for all advertising in the dormitories. Therefore, in essence this solution has no cloud whatsoever because any individual or organization could bypass the Congress and get permission from Father Mc Mahon or Father Heath to advertise for a trip.

We also think that the Congress, BOG and Dillon Club were trying to create a travel monopoly. Dominic Colletta of the Dillon Club said that anyone could run a trip but they just couldn't advertise unless they were connected with the BOG or Dillon Club. Well, this may be true, but it is pretty difficult to run a trip if you cannot advertise.

Also, we feel that competition is good. Colletta said that the Dillon Club has been dealing with Garrett Travel on the Bermuda trips for the last couple of years and they give the best price. This may be correct, but someone may just come up with a better price in the future and this price would go unnoticed if advertising were suppressed. Also, if the Dillon Club's prices are so fantastic, why are they worried about competition?

The Editorial Board also questions the explanation that was given for the resolution. The Congress said, "We are not trying to discourage any private trips being offered to the students, but there is a necessity to insure the best possible trip at the best possible price."

We do not know what the Congress is trying to do. The Congress by its action is trying to discourage private trips if they were not, why would they pass such a bill?"

"The sun is approaching the rim of it's winter quadrant"

sweaters will be replaced by tennis shorts and pastel-colored Lacoste shirts as "the uniform."

There is also a good deal of excitement that is associated with the arrival of spring. Everyone looks forward to spring week, part of the Quad, and the end of Co. Softball teams are organized and the seniors go into their inevitable slide.

The sun, which unmistakably marks the time, is approaching the rim of its winter quadrant. As the sun rises higher and higher into the sky we can feel its warming effect; most of the snow has already melted.

So take heart when the wind begins to tangle and the ground thaw-spring will be here.
Pigeonholing. That's a certain disease which those in the new business contract when they think they have something, some oned size fits all. But the students would put it out so well that they are absolutely convinced of their evaluation. Before the dormitory forum Monday afternoon, I stood in '64 Hall, envisioning a hall filled with perhaps 50 to 100 people, and nothing more. When I looked in the face of the Old Savvy Commentator: 200 people. It was lively, spirited and above all, very much on the issues, the most part on the issues at hand.

There was very little name-calling (as, potentially, there could have been) most importantly, there was a definite student sentiment apparent at the forum: sentiment in one thing: McKenzie Hall was wrong. It failed to produce a consensus for an alternative dormitory, though several of the students mentioned Dore and Raymond Halls more than others.

* * *

This entire forum and discussion can't help but recall a similar incident in April, 1975, when I was a freshman. At that time, Aquinas and McVinney were a women's dormitories. The College, still in the midst of a mad power drive to overenrollement, needed more space. Unfortunately, it decided it needed another dorm. It met secretly, and without student input, chose McKenzie Hall—then a men's dorm.

The fourth floor of McKenzie erupted into an emotional, sine qua non event and successfully supported the decision. Students were strikingly similar to this year's arguments: a concern for the College into two separate psychological camps, serious considerations, and cost considerations.

The protest produced no immediate results. The College's decision was made too late, the protest was made late, and there was little organized support behind the protesters.

This year, within a couple of days of the issue rising, Congress members were putting together the forum: not out of duty, but because they were much more in touch with general student sentiment than the 1975 Congress, and in fact fell behind the student feeling (note the Congress resolution).

Fred Mason, a senior on the Committee on Administration, said to me last week: "Remember when we said they'd try and use the钢铁 Quarter? We thought we were kidding." The protest back in 1975 produced no immediate results, but its effects were lasting longer. I know for a fact that it upset Father Heath, because during an interview I had with him then, he was driven to screaming and yelling.

Fully one year later, another administrator dragged into a similar "dispute," a Cowl editorial supporting the protest of irresponsible reportings.

Student Congress members didn't forget, either. That's what made Monday's forum so lively.

Men deserve equal treatment

By Bob Christie

McDermott Hall's future as a men's dorm has been recently brought into question because of the need for or against women's housing as a result of the anticipated increase in the number of female undergraduates next year.

It seems that the administration looked at the available men's dorms and in perfect accordance with their previous policies decided that since a women's dorm was needed, it was only fitting that they take the best one.

The worst consequence of turning McDermott into a women's dorm is that it would effect a facto segregation of the campus. It would, to some extent, negate the good done by turning PC into a coed college. It is important that there be a presence in the Quad as it assures a mixture of people on campus.

McDermott was the obvious choice for a new women's dorm largely because of the dorm's location, housing the Quad housing at PC. It has been naturally assumed by the administration that the women deserve the best dorms. It was stated that McDermott would be more economical to convert because it was already carpeted. While I do not begrudge the girls their carpeting, why can't men's dorms similarly equipped? I believe the men contribute just as much to this school as the women and deserve equal treatment. Male feet just get as cold.

McDermott is the nicest men's dorm on the campus and for those of us relegated to Lower Campus or the other men's dorms, it is the dorm we would most like to live in. If one men's dorm has to be taken, why must it be the nicest? Men pay the same price but receive inferior accommodations. Without McDermott, there isn't even a hope. If McDermott becomes a women's dorm, it would effectively reduce the men to second-class citizens.

There are alternatives to turning McDermott over to the women (Dore, Guzman and Stephen, Joseph and Stephen, two floors of Raymond) which may not necessarily require any change in the attitude of the administration. As it presently exists, the dorm situation is inequitable. If McDermott is lost, it would become intolerable.

By David Amador

Did you know that anyone was allowed to attend the Faculty Senate meeting? Me neither. As it was, we were in the midst of trouble in snoozing in the chimney and the fireplace. As though it wasn't early enough, the control of the faculty members swarmed on the sofas already, looking very distinguished pumping on their pipes.

"Icicle." "Quite." "Indeed, those brown tweed slacks go so well with the yellow flannel socks."

Soon, the rest of the Senate bended in, and the meeting was underway with the banging of the gavel. The minutes from the last meeting were read and current affairs of the administration.

"On page one, paragraph three, line four, 'you know' should be changed to 'you know.'"

Dr. Pecher apologised to Dr. Herring for the confusion in communication between them in the last meeting. He said he did not understand that Dr. Pecher preferred the coffee dark instead of weak.

Some debating over important issues then kicked off the heart of the meeting.

"We should have a flower arrangement in the center of the room." Dr. Wimpington began, "Orchids would go so well with the plush carpet."

"Never orchids," said another professor. "The fragrance must be taken into account."

A strong argument broke out until another professor finally broke in.

"Stop this silly arguing, I want to talk about tuition."

"Tuition?" The room buzzed as they gave him strange looks.

"Yes. My nephew will be attending here, and I want him to be exempt from it."

"Does he play basketball?" inquired the chairman.

"No, but he's a six footer."

The chairman conferred in whispers for several minutes, until they addressed the Senate.

"It is resolved that the Constitution of the Faculty Senate, fl. 3.3. be amended by the addition of an orchid and pansy flower arrangement at the head table, and that Dr. Carp's nephew be exempt from tuition provided he is seen dribbling a basketball around the campus for the first semester. Oh, and also that we remember to bring the latter several more cases of that bubbly we had last month. Fine. Good."

"Here, here," the audience cheered, amongst the poking of champagne bottles and beer cans, as they celebrated the resolution of the first amendment.

As things quieted down nearly an hour later, an old professor, Dr. Senile, rose to open the forum.

"I move that the mandatory retirement age," he said in his slow, creaky voice; stumped over, "be moved to..be moved to..."

Unfortunately, this issue was never resolved due to a heart attack, but still.

Suddenly the lights went out in Aquinas Lounge. "What wise guy shut those off?" a voice asked. "All right, everyone out, I'm closing this place down." he continued.

"Come on, get your 'meeting' voices," a voice asked, "I guess it will be the Rat again."
The score was 57-51 with 4 seconds remaining and the force could not have saved the win. Friar fans had valiantly attendance to raise the Redmen into surrender with a cackling of feet and a deafening din of voices throughout the game, but neither those efforts, nor the black, white and silver were enough to prevent the Friars from winning which confronted each St. John's player as he stepped to the free-throw line. But the Friars would not lose that game, and an eventual victory.

Cheerleaders boost spirits, give their all to game
By Dea Antonelli
The cheerleaders work in close concert with the PC band, which is under the direction of John Swoboda. Constant communication takes place between the two groups as they arrange the sequence of the routines which need musical accompaniment. The girls themselves, which include a team of nine girls and three guys who provide constant activity under the Friar basket. Were they mere window-dressing to the game? No way. A game-long at their efforts showed that they made an invaluable contribution.

Mentioned last year in P Perspective magazine as one of the best squads in the East, the cheerleaders alternately slapped the floor and held their heads in dismay as the basket was missed, but were cheering wildly seconds later as the team foiled the Redmen's fancy footwork and spoiled the shot.

Desperate attempts were made to stop the score, but when the halftime buzzer blew the team found themselves two points down, 24-22. During the break, cheerleader captain Mary Coyle, a petite blond senior with a wide and ready smile, spoke about her squad. "TheyUBy Kathy Hansen-are like a sport," she said, "one that requires poise, concentration, dedication and loyalty.

The group practices many hours each week and devotes special attention to the "pyramid mounts" which post-act every time. The mounts were nearly outlawed by the school as too risky, but the girls volunteered to exempt themselves from insurance coverage while they attempted those specterific moves. Many cheerleaders are on the Dean's List and Cole herself was a high cum. "It's a matter of structuring our time," she said. "I spend so much time studying that I almost use cheerleading as an auxiliary study to the course.

The second half began, and the cheerleaders' corner became a hub of excitement. Bedlam erupted at 13:39 as the Friars pulled ahead, every basket, every foul by the other team and every out-of-bounds ball returned to Friar possession elicited an ecstatic response from the cheerleaders.

It was destined to be a Friar afternoon, though, as the New Yorkers clinched a 66-51 victory. The cheerleaders kept the faith until the bitter end, however, and were the last to leave the floor. Recent graduate and former cheerleader Payne Allen, now-choreographer for the squad, expressed her sentiments while working with the girls, "As a recent graduate, I really run race to stay involved. Cole's program isn't one that I wouldn't have done it without her.

Are you a preppie person?
By Kathy Hansen
Are you a preppie? What is a preppie, you may ask. A preppie is a fairly common sight on PC's campus. A preppie falls under the category of pig farmer and is the opposite of a mope.

If you have answered yes to at least five of these questions, you are probably not even close to being a preppie.

What is a preppie, you may ask. A preppie is a fairly common sight on PC's campus. A preppie falls under the category of pig farmer and is the opposite of a mope.

A preppie looks impeccable. A preppie looks pedigreed. A preppie is a fairly common sight on PC's campus. A preppie falls under the category of pig farmer and is the opposite of a mope.

8. Do you have 20-20 vision, but have a pair of glasses solely for show? A preppie is a fairly common sight on PC's campus. A preppie falls under the category of pig farmer and is the opposite of a mope.

3. Do your shirts have fag tags? A preppie is a fairly common sight on PC's campus. A preppie falls under the category of pig farmer and is the opposite of a mope.

2. Are your pajamas, khakis and raincoat lined with plaid? A preppie is a fairly common sight on PC's campus. A preppie falls under the category of pig farmer and is the opposite of a mope.

1. Do your shirts have fag tags? A preppie is a fairly common sight on PC's campus. A preppie falls under the category of pig farmer and is the opposite of a mope.

Are you a preppie person? A preppie is a fairly common sight on PC's campus. A preppie falls under the category of pig farmer and is the opposite of a mope.

Lee Merkle playing Cunegonde in the Friar's Cell play "Candide," starting tonight and running through Sunday.

Candide opens in Harkins Hall
By Dea Antonelli
A welcome respite from this winter madness is the PC Theater Arts Program's presentation of Candide, a musical adaptation of Voltaire's work. A lone darkness lampoon on the student's campus. A preppie is a fairly common sight on PC's campus. A preppie falls under the category of pig farmer and is the opposite of a mope.

The plot of Candide concerns the story of two young people in love; Candide (to be played by Lee Merkle), an innocent young man who remains innocent, the

Candide opens in Harkins Hall
By Dea Antonelli
A welcome respite from this winter madness is the PC Theater Arts Program's presentation of Candide, a musical adaptation of Voltaire's work. A lone darkness lampoon on the student's campus. A preppie is a fairly common sight on PC's campus. A preppie falls under the category of pig farmer and is the opposite of a mope.

The plot of Candide concerns the story of two young people in love; Candide (to be played by Lee Merkle), an innocent young man who remains innocent, the lay the "Stated Commons." He was a Democrat and often represented his home state at national conferences as well as serving as Chief Judge of Superior Court of Rhode Island. Legend tells that while Stephen A. Douglas was visiting Rhode Island he visited the Judge's home on March 1, 1859.

George Lotropp Bradley, one of the Judge's children, succeeded his father as master of Bradley Manor in 1879. He married his cousin, Helen McHenry Guzman. From her he descended his family, property of Guzman. His wife, and their two children resided in a home located on North Main Street. This property now belonging to the College was the site of their family a plentiful supply of land.

This wooded acreage on the old "Powder-Mill Road" (now Eaton Street) was one of the first 12 fellow proprietors with Roger Williams emigrated to America in 1635. He was Thomas Olney, an Englishman and shoemaker by trade, who by 1638 had nearly 500 acres of land and presently occupied by Martin Hall. Shrouded beneath an eerie woodland and provided the setting for this property's past research and present to discover that wooden acres there was a past, a present and a future. "Powder-Mill Road", located in the rear of the house, served splendidly as a place to catch up on the hall's history. The lore, as related by my associate, and a written historical background of the present and past investment of this property's past become obvious when one is bored by a stretch of earth about the west and south of this land where 60 million children were sent to bed without any supper last night.

I wonder what they did wrong?

The Peace Corps wants you. We need thousands of you. Call toll free: 800-124-8580. Or write the Peace Corps, Box A, Washington, D.C. 20525. The Peace Corps is alive and well.
Wednesday, March 1, 1978

With the blizzard and effects of the flu finally over, the PC track team has at last resumed fall training. With most runners again in healthy condition and after last week's promising performances in the Eastern Championships, the New England's at Harvard looked like it would be one of the best meets of the season.

And indeed it was. With competition spread over two days it was the formidable and ever consistent John Treacy who gave the crowd much to talk about on the first day.

A New England record of 8:30 in the two-mile provided Treacy with another personal best mark and yet another victory. But what was most impressive was the manner in which he recorded this fine time. He slowed considerably over the last few laps as he was running alone and out of the reach of Northeastern's Bruce Bickford. But Treacy modestly claimed after the race that he can run much faster.

After this performance, predictions as to his capabilities and limitations are unreliable. He is now preparing for the NCAA championships to be held in Detroit next month.

Another man preparing for this race is freshman Gerry Deegan. Earlier in the season, Deegan was competing on pure strength with little speed built up in his body, but that is now rectified.

"John Treacy gave the crowd much to talk about on the first day"

He duly showed this in taking his second New England title (the first in cross-country) in winning the one-mile. A slow start to what promised to be a race with an electrifying pace was soon changed at the halfway stage as Deegan pushed to the front. He was chased by Holy Cross's Mike Mahoney and PC's Mick Byrne but was never seriously challenged. He won in a personal best mark of 4:06.2, a PC record, with Byrne in fourth place with 4:11.

Pete Crooke, obviously still feeling the effects of the flu, ran an uncharacteristic race and finished a disappointed eighth place in 4:19.

One of PC's most consistent runners this season did not make the finals of the mile. Moe Rafferty was extremely unlucky to get beaten on the line in his trial by Northeastern's Bob Flora. However, Rafferty recorded another personal best performance of 4:08.2, a PC record, with Byrne in fourth place with 4:11.

Pete Crooke, obviously still feeling the effects of the flu, ran an uncharacteristic race and finished a disappointed eighth place in 4:19.

One of PC's most consistent runners this season did not make the finals of the mile. Moe Rafferty was extremely unlucky to get beaten on the line in his trial by Northeastern's Bob Flora. However, Rafferty recorded another personal best performance of 4:08.2, a PC record, with Byrne in fourth place with 4:11.

Two other runners who did not fare too well in the two-mile race were Ed Hartnett and Larry Reed. Hartnett ran 9:03, with Reed further back in 9:10.

While most runners are concentrating on their speed for indoor races, one man on the track team is pounding the roads of Providence preparing for a race of a different nature - the marathon.

Jon "Tiger" Berit, a sophomore from Dedham, Mass. ran his seventh and, without a doubt, best marathon last Sunday. The courage and determination of this man to constantly record weekly mileage in excess of 125 miles has finally paid off. His time of 2 hrs., 43 min. in Brockton, Mass. on Sunday is a justifiable reward for his efforts. Well done, "Tiger!"

Music by Leonard Bernstein
Book Adapted from Voltaire by Hugh Wheeler
• Lyrics by Richard Wilbur With Additional Lyrics by Stephen Sondheim and John Latroche

March 1-5 8 p.m. Harkins Auditorium
PC Students- 1.50
The Friars to face BC at home Friday night

By Mike David

Boston College has beaten Providence the last four times the two hockey teams have met over the past three seasons. Friday night the two squads square off at Schneider Arena in what could be described as a grudge match. A heated rivalry exists between the teams that has developed over the years. This game will also have important significance in determining the matchups in next week’s ECAC tournament.

BC, always rich in hockey tradition, has been a perennial thorn in the Friars’ side for several seasons. Last year, the Eagles stopped the Friars twice by 6-4 and 8-3 scores, and in their first meeting this season BC halted a four-game Friar win streak, 5-2, at McHugh Forum. The loss of that game and of standout Colin Ahern for several games nearly dealt a death blow to PC’s playoff aspirations.

The Friars secure bid to tourney

Providence College’s Lady Friar basketball team has been awarded a 4th seed at the AIAW Eastern Regional Tournament. They will oppose Maine, whom they defeated on Saturday by 10 points, in the opening round at Portland, Maine. The other first round game pits Northeastern against Massachusetts.

Lady Hockey Friars smash Ithaca, 16-3

By Debbie O'Brien

PC Destroyed Ithaca College by a 16-3 score in what was truly a team effort. Except for the two goalies, every member of the team had a hand in the 16-goal, 27-assist effort. Kathy Lenahan and Dawn Sprague led the team with four goals and two assists apiece, Connie Richer contributed two goals and two assists, and Kelly Tierman added two goals (her first as a Lady Friar) and one assist. The other eight players on the team had at least one goal or assist apiece.

The game went pretty much as expected, with PC jumping to a 6-0 lead in the first period. By the end of the second period, Coach Tom Palamara was able to send in sophomore goalie Jill Spencer to relieve regular Cindy Mellon in the second and third periods. Palamara praised Spencer’s first time in goal, saying that she did an excellent job in collecting 12 saves.

The Lady Friars’ superiority was clearly seen in the shots on goal stats. PC had 43 shots compared to a mere 18 by Ithaca.

The health situation is improving, too, with nearly all the players recovered from the flu. The final score proves what the healthy Lady Friars can do.

PC has now compiled a 6-3-1 record, but has no rank because there is no league of collegiate women’s hockey teams in New England. Palamara hopes to change that situation next year by forming an organization that will allow the area hockey teams to be ranked.

The University of Minnesota is the Black and White’s next opponent, and according to Palamara, they will be more of a challenge than Ithaca. Minnesota’s debut against Palamara will take place at Schneider Arena on March 11 at 1 p.m.

 F & J PIZZA **

Pizza, Grinders, and Spaghetti

 FREE DELIVERY TO PC **

Special This Week

1 FREE Soda with a purchase of

— A Large Pizza

or

— A Large Grinder

 Call 751-2251 **

Delivery from 4:30 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Fine Food - Fast and Courteous Service
Lady Friars nip NE's top team

(Continued from Page 12)

Vanessa Southern was able to take the lead, 56-57, with 4:54 to play.

But Sue Hutton threw one in from the rafters and Lynn Sheedy, who led the Lady Friars in scoring with 15 points, pumped in a running one-hander and PC was back in front, 61-58, with 1:30 remaining.

After Dacko hit on a layup, Sheedy Codly hit her end of one-on-one with 30 seconds remaining, giving Providence a 63-60 lead. Vaness hit with 15 seconds to play and Hutton was immediately fouled. Hutton missed from the charity stripe and Southern had two shots at the hoop before McCoy came sailing through the air to grab her eleventh rebound and dribbled out the clock.

At half-time ceremonies, Paulette Hassett was honored as the only graduating senior and Mary Ellen Buchanan received WDOM's Sixth Player Award.

Immerse yourself in an ocean of love.
Call Suzy at 800-638-2020

Congratulations!

Now what?

You can work 9 to 5 for the man or you can work full-time for mankind.

The PEACE CORPS and VISTA offer you a real alternative that could be the most rewarding experience of your life.

In the PEACE CORPS you can go where your skills and training are needed. You can live in a new land, speak a new language, and be adopted by a new people.

VISTA offers you the opportunity to help people right here in this country—whether it's in the troubled ghettos, the mountains of Appalachia, or in your own community.

If you want to do something really important, consider the PEACE CORPS or VISTA because you CAN make the difference in the world.

PEACE CORPS and VISTA recruiters will be conducting interviews with graduating seniors on Monday and Tuesday, March 13 and 14 in the placement office.

COME IN AND DISCUSS YOUR FUTURE;
WE'LL SHOW YOU HOW TO USE THAT DIPLOMA

VENTURE FOR MEN

ARE YOU WILLING TO TAKE A RISK TO GET IN TOUCH WITH GOD AND LISTEN TO WHAT HE IS ASKING OF YOU?

THE VENTURE EXPERIENCE ASKS YOU:
TO STEP OUT IN FAITH, TO PRAY,
TO LISTEN, TO SHARE,
TO DISCOVER IN WHAT DIRECTION THE LORD IS LEADING YOU. IF YOU ARE CONSIDERING THE PRIESTHOOD AS A VOCATION, THEN COME...TAKE TIME TO REFLECT, TO VENTURE!

MARCH 10 - 11 Christian Formation Center, Davisville
For registration contact
Catholic Chaplain's Office or Diocese of Providence:
278-4642

Friars strain against St. John's at Civic Center
The hockey Friars have clinched a tie for the final playoff berth in ECAC conference play with wins this week over Northeastern, Dartmouth, and a tie with Colgate.

This week, the Friars pulled off one of the great wins in their history, coming from behind twice to defeat Notre Dame 3-2, at Boston Arena.

Early in the first period, with NU ahead 1-0, Steve Roberts was able to stuff a loose puck into the Husky net to tie the score.

In the second season Northern-eastern went ahead, 2-1, on goals by Chris Niland and Scott Grahl. With NU dominating play late in the period, Jim Korn rushed the puck out of his end and fed a pass to Steve Evangelista, who poked the puck ahead of the NU goalie John McElroy.

Providing that perfect pass play at the start of the third period, and off the opening face-off Tom Rivers controlled the puck and skated into the NU zone. Rivers sold it short, and the puck exploded for four goals in six seconds.

A very important game, the score stayed tied with Colgate.

The Huskies did not quit until the third. The Red Raiders came into this game expected to be an easy win. The Red Raiders came into the contest with a 3-1 record; Opposing teams had scored 10 goals against them five times and averaged almost seven per game.

So what happened? PC played two lethargic periods of hockey and found themselves down, 3-1, early in the third. The Friars then awoke and tied the game on goals by Bauer and Bruce Garber.

Neither team scored in the 10-minute overtime, so the game ended in a 3-1 tie. Much credit has to be given to the Friar defense, they didn't let the Friars go for two good over eight minutes.

A casualty of this game was Friar scoring leader Colin Abern, who dislocated his knee in the last minute of play and is not expected to play again this season.
PC (23-6) readies for ECAC tournament

By Steve Latimer

Just as surely as winter turns to spring, once the regular season is completed you will find Providence's basketball forces in some type of tournament play. This year, the Friars have been named once again to the field for the Eastern College Athletic Conference's New England basketball playoffs. The winner of these playoffs will be awarded an NCAA tournament bid.

The tournament starts tomorrow night with Fairfield (21-3) opposing URI (21-6) in the opening game at 7 p.m., followed by Providence (23-6) taking on the Crusaders of Holy Cross.

Ronnie Perry and Co. have been aiming for a rematch with the top-seeded Friars ever since the 26-point pasting they received in January.

The Crusaders, who peaked about the time that Sports Illustrated came out with its preseason rankings, have made some changes since that loss. Charlie Browne, a 6-10 center, has replaced John O'Connor and Perry has been moved back to point guard. Chris Potter has been hampered by an ankle injury but is expected to be ready for the tournament. Holy Cross' 20th win came against BC (13-11) in overtime, 99-98.

Providence is the one team in the tournament that is not known for its fast-break offense. Oftentimes during the year, the offense has been led by the scoring of Dwight Williams (17.4 ppg) and John Campbell (17.1 ppg).

But Providence's forte is defense. Giving up only 62.9 points per game, it is ranked in the top 10 nationally. Bill Eason is leading the team in rebounds with 8.4 pulls per game. It is defense that wins ball games and that is why the Friars are seeded first.

The Providence-Holy Cross match up should be a battle of strengths. The Crusaders will attempt to drive the ball up the court while Providence would prefer to play a more deliberate style. Whoever succeeds in forcing the other team into their tempo will win.

Fans who remember Fairfield from last year's ECAC contest against Providence might not recognize this year's edition. Ranked in the top 10 nationally in scoring with 87.9 points per game, the Stags are a far cry from the team that took only 30 shots against Providence with the final score being a dismal 44-31 in PC's favor.

This year's squad is led by 6-3 Joe DeSantis (20.5 ppg) and 6-1 Kim Fischer (17.9 ppg). The team is big up front, boasting a starting lineup of 6-10 Mark Yoon, 6-8 Steve Baikun and 6-4 Filip Williams. With 6-9 Mark Plefka coming off the bench, Fairfield matches up very well against URI.

The Rams are no strangers to Providence. For those with a short memory, they have split the season series with the Friars and have been coming on strong in the second half of the season. They are on their way to their winningest season ever, led by the overall play of Sly Williams and the elbows of Randy Wilke. URI and Fairfield have never met, and this contest could develop into a high-scoring affair.

Lady Friars upset Southern

By Steve Latimer

"We've beaten the team that was the best (in New England). So I guess we can play."

A happy Paul Ortaglio, senior captain of the Lady Friars' basketball team, was just beginning to realize what had taken place out on the floor of Alumni Hall. PC had just defeated nationally-ranked Southern Connecticut (first in New England, twelfth in the country), 62-42, in what could be termed as the Lady Friars' biggest victory ever.

"We wanted to win this one for a long time," stated Hassett, who threw in 13 first-half points in leading Providence to a 42-38 halftime advantage. "This is an indication that our program has come a long way." The Black and White came roaring out in the first half, running up a 13-4 lead before Southern Connecticut realized it was in a basketball game. Providence shot a gaudy 46 per cent in the first half on the way to their 14 point halftime bulge. Shumping Southern Connecticut, now 15-9, came out in the second half with a tough man-to-man press and defense and began cutting into the Providence lead.

With Mary Ann McCoy saddled with fouls, the Lady Friars were having trouble doing anything on offense. Lead by the scoring of Marnie Dacko (22 points, 18 in the second half) and all American Joan White now has a 22-6 record.

(Men's Men's Volleyball)

PC bested Clark but lost to Brown, URI and Worcester Polytech in recent action. But according to Coach Dick Bagley, "We've improved 200 per cent from last season.

Sports Briefs

FRIARS OF THE WEEK

Anyone who saw last week's game against Southern Connecti­cut couldn't help but impress­ed with the play of Mary Ann McCoy. She handed out 12 rebounds, including the key final one, and also tallied 13 points. For this fine effort, McCoy has been awarded this issue's Friar of the Week.

Sports Page 12

Wednesday, March 1, 1978

PC's Mary Ann McCoy arches a jump shot. The Lady Friars upset highly regarded Southern Connecticut, 62-42.