Congress resolves

Two resolutions were recommended and approved during the Student Congress meeting held October 19 in Alumni Gym. Student representatives on the College Corporation, resolved to send a letter in conjunction with the Women's Liaison Committee to Rev. Thomas P. Brennan, O.P. This letter involves investigating the possibility of instituting a coffee room in the library for student use.

Congress treasurer Mike Welch resolved to address a letter to the Controller's Office and Purchasing Offices concerning the importance of forwarding all bills to the Student Congress treasury for payment.

It is important that we receive and directly pay for all of our own bills, to know exactly where our money is going, stated Welch. Prior to this, some Congress' bills were paid by the Controller's Office without first alerting Congress of their debt.

A representative from the Cerebral Palsy Association, Frank Frencor, appealed to Congress members for assistance concerning their annual telethon. Precori requested that PC "do some on campus fund-raising prior to the telethon." We depend heavily on student help and would appreciate any aid which you could give us," the telethon chairman added.

The telethon was televised on Channel 10 on January 27 to 28.

Congress President Ellen Kushen recommended "giving serious thought to becoming involved in this, especially since it's such a worthwhile cause." He added that it's such a worthwhile cause.

After much discussion, Congress approved the recommendation for the telethon.

The off-campus telephone directory, compiled by the Dillon Club in conjunction with the off-campus organization has been completed, indicated Debby Perry, Dillon Club president. It should be available to students by Monday, October 23.

President Ellen Kushen reported much positive feedback in reference to the Student Leadership Conference held at Caldwell College. The conference was attended by 76 students have agreed to participate in the conference.

"Something like this is good not only for Congress, but for the whole College. We'll be able to pick up a lot of useful information concerning all areas of student life," was the sentiment.

---

Dominicans hold prior election

It has been unofficially announced that Rev. William Bertrand Ryan, O.P., was chosen Monday night to be prior of PC's Dominican community. Father Ryan's election was reportedly approved yesterday by Rev. Terence C. O'connor, O.P., provincial of the Province of St. Joseph. Father Ryan replaces Rev. Alphonse Bagnoli, O.P., who held the position of prior from March, 1977, until his death last month.

Father Ryan, a member of the Providence College Corporation, is presently assigned to the priory of Mount St. Dominic in Caldwell, N.J. It is quite common that a prior is chosen from another community.

He was ordained a Dominican June 5, 1947, and holds the degrees of S.T.M. and J.C.D. He has taught canon law and theology at the Dominican House of Studies in Washington, D.C., and at Caldwell College in New Jersey.

The Dominicans' election of a prior by secret ballot dates back to the time of St. Thomas. This democratic practice is unusual among religious communities, but most have their superior appoint it. All members of the community who are in solemn vows take part in this procedure.

The prior has a three-year term and can be re-elected to a second term.

The St. Thomas Aquinas Priory of Providence College, established in 1965, is presently the largest Dominican community in the world.

Frosh elections: Giovino elected

By Joyce Simard

The election for freshman class officers, held on October 5, brought out "a very encouraging 21 per cent of the freshman population.".. Promoters to do shows at PC's Alumni Hall is the second biggest facility in Rhode Island, outsized the Leroy, Veteran's Memorial and both Brown and RIC. The number of calls has almost cut in half since the concert schedule began. The BOG concert committee is satisfied with the Don Law Agency. The committee indicated that the agency works hard, has the stage set up on time and has a good security system. Manning would like to see student discount for concerts implemented. A representative of the Don Law Agency informed Manning that it could possibly be arranged. Manning said, "it has to be arranged if Don Law wants to make money and if we want PC students to come to the shows."
The body shop:

Health care hints

Men usually know more about the heart disease and strokes, but most of us know that cars require regular maintenance. The body must be driven regularly and regularly. The most devastating fact is that most people take better care of their cars than they do their own bodies.

We inherit certain health factors from our parents, but each one of us determines the length of our life by the way we live.

The major killers today are heart disease, cancer, strokes and a variety of ailments complicated in all of the diseases. Such common results can lead to the body as overeating, smoking, excessive consumption of alcoholic beverages, lack of regular physical activity.

Did you know that:

1. The life expectancy of the average 45-year-old male has risen by more than two glasses of wine.
2. Diseases considered a factor in more than half of all hospitalization and in the various departments of the College.
3. Men, women and children are the people who are more likely to contribute to the success of our society.
4. Male lung cancer has increased more than 2.5 times in the last 45 years, and the female mortality rate has increased more.
5. Rhode Island has one of the highest rates of obesity in the nation.
6. The average American adult male consumes annually 22 gallons of beer, nearly three gallons of coffee, and more than two glasses of wine.
7. Dr. J. Murphy was considered an expert in the area of research. This amendment was accepted and the committee of four chosen members was accepted with one member of the humanities to be added.
8. Colby addressed three issues to the FACulty senate committee and report on this:
   a. Reimbursed by the college of merit pay increase for teaching and non-teaching members of the faculty.
   b. Examination rate for keypunch verification and the overload of courses. Rate received by faculty members teaching an overload of courses.
   c. Faculty curriculum needs. I, as chairman, choose to act as chairman of the committee.

O-fest

less crowded

PC's eighth annual Oktoberfest held Saturday, October 3. It proved to be "on the whole, a very enjoyable event," according to Rev. J. McPhail, O.F., Director of the College of Procision. The event was sponsored by the math department and by the Math Help center.

1. The ever-present problem of overcrowding at these affairs was somewhat alleviated this year.
2. There was a commercial band in the area of research.
3. The crowd size was reduced by about 250 to 300 people. Oktoberfest was held over the long Columbus Day weekend, thus, fewer freshmen and sophomores attended in comparison with other years.
4. Father McPhail explained, "These two classes did not seek tickets. It was only by seniority and juniors; this reduced the number. We made a deliberate effort to keep the crowds down by being extra-short about the tickets we sold. Unfortunately, I had no idea to say no to a lot of people. I think the fact that fewer people attended made the event more enjoyable for all."
Convocation

PC still changing after 60 years

By Maureen O’Hare

The opening of Providence College’s centennial year was appropriately emphasized on October 4 at the College’s academic convocation. Although sparsely attended, the event was impressively conducted and well-received by those present.

Rev. Thomas R. Peterson, O.P., president of the College, addressed the assembly regarding various aspects - past, present and future - of PC.

“PC is 60 years old. We started in the very beginning with merely seven Dominicans and 10 acres of land. Times have changed. Our roots have spread, our campus now consists of 100 acres and our enrollment is up to 2,866 students. Times have changed - and so has PC.”

Changes have taken place, yet Father Peterson explained that the College is building out of foundations that will remain secure. "These foundations are based on three philosophies," he stated, "and they are ecumenism, Thomism and realism.

Father Peterson discussed enrollment and expressed the need to stabilize admissions while at the same time maintain the funds to successfully carry out College programs. The fact that the College Corporation has approved a study to determine the feasibility of constructing a field house on campus was disclosed by Father Peterson during the presentation. This study has been authorized and will begin in the near future.

“I again visited the 10 families of our girls killed in the fire over the summer,” Father Peterson stated. "I'm discussing with their families and other groups the establishment of a permanent physical memorial to the girls." He indicated that he would be pleased to review any ideas. Ten scholarships have also been started in their memory.

changes was approved by the College Corporation. Although sparsely attended, the event was impressively conducted and well-received by those present.

The College is building out of foundations that will remain secure. "These foundations are based on three philosophies," he stated, "and they are ecumenism, Thomism and realism.

Father Peterson discussed enrollment and expressed the need to stabilize admissions while at the same time maintain the funds to successfully carry out College programs. The fact that the College Corporation has approved a study to determine the feasibility of constructing a field house on campus was disclosed by Father Peterson during the presentation. This study has been authorized and will begin in the near future.

"I again visited the 10 families of our girls killed in the fire over the summer," Father Peterson stated. "I'm discussing with their families and other groups the establishment of a permanent physical memorial to the girls." He indicated that he would be pleased to review any ideas. Ten scholarships have also been started in their memory.

PC's concert connection

PC's fall concert season is all but over, and with it, the College has witnessed the return of quality music to a more local setting. For this, the Board of Governors should be commended. After years of criticism about the College's inability to book top-flight performers, they came through in a big way this year.

However, for the most part, student support of the Cars, Loggins and Lyle and Santana concerts was disappointing. One such method could be the presentation of a PC student ID which would result in a one-dollar ticket reduction. By and large, Law has done an excellent job both promoting and booking concerts for the BOG. But in 1980, a bigger draw will be had if the administration will give serious consideration to the College's growing interest in entertainment.

PCandWhere elsewhere'' stated Colby. "This job can not be done by the administration alone. It will require the cooperation of all people in the College."

Colby proposes an attitude of co-operativeness

Faculty Senate president, Dr. John J. Colby addressed the Providence College community at its October 4 convocation. His address outlined the present and future problems Providence College will be facing during the coming academic year. The Colby feels that several points in Colby's address should be reconsidered.

Colby was certainly correct when he asserted that "What we need right now is an attitude of cooperativeness." It is crucial that the administration, faculty and students strive to work together. This cooperation will enable PC to address several obstacles which loom in the future for the nation's institutions of higher learning.

The Cowl Editorial Board agrees with Colby in his assessment of the importance of the Student-Faculty Senate relationship. This area will demand considerable attention which "will have to be more than periodic because of the projected interest in continuing education, as well as the need to do on-going critical assessments of programs that are working elsewhere" stated Colby. "This job can not be done by the present staff of our SCE without assistance." Also, it is important that the SCE be aware of government programs so that it may take advantage of any funds available.

The Colby Editorial Board agrees with Colby in his assessment of the importance of student-faculty relations. This year will demand considerable attention which "will have to be more than periodic because of the projected interest in continuing education, as well as the need to do on-going critical assessments of programs that are working elsewhere" stated Colby. "This job can not be done by the present staff of our SCE without assistance." Also, it is important that the SCE be aware of government programs so that it may take advantage of any funds available.

Happy trails,
John A. O'Hare
Editor-in-Chief

Reinstitute happy hour

Last year, due to consistent student support the policy of happy hour at the Rat was discontinued by its proprietor, Angelo D'Agostino. During the times happy hour was run, discount prices were offered on beer. Happy hour was frequented by a great many PC students during its existence and was a convenient way to get together with friends and associates for business or pleasure.

This time was especially convenient for people who perhaps wished to go elsewhere during the evening yet wished to go to the Rat beforehand without having the usual crowds of the Rat on the weekends. It also served the vital function of keeping people on campus. With more students attending the facilities of the Rat on a Friday afternoon, less students are likely to head off campus.

D'Agostino states that too many pitchers were being taken during the happy hour period and during regular operating hours. Due to this, the happy hour was cancelled until students returned the stolen pitchers.

This action was not effective and happy hour was not re-instituted. The Cowl still favors the reinstatement of this event. The Rat could cut down, if not eliminate, this. Perhaps if there was a person at the door at all times and pitchers were collected by Rathskellar personnel as soon as they were empty, theft would be reduced as well as the amount of pitchers in circulation during the Rat's busiest hours.

The innocent parties who used the Rat's happy hours in good faith should not be penalized for the actions of other inconsiderate groups which choose to ruin a worthwhile event by their selfish, childish desires.

The Cowl feels that if the aforementioned procedures were put into effect, happy hour could once again be profitably reinstituted both for the Rat and for the students. Perhaps if an ID policy were used where a student purchasing a pitcher was required to leave an ID would insure the return of sold pitchers. This is a rather stringent policy, but such a measure would be extremely effective in stopping theft.

The use of a quota system, whereby only a certain number of persons were allowed into happy hour, would also help because there would not be the usually high amount of people coming in and out of the Rat.

Happy hour is a worthwhile venture, and The Cowl wishes to see it reinstated as part of the Rathskellar's operations. Accordingly, The Cowl also sees the need for increased student cooperation if this is to take place in the future.

THE COWL

Published each full week of school during the academic year by Providence College, River Avenue and Eaton Street, Providence, R.I. 02918. Second class postage paid at Providence, R.I., Stavin Center, P.O. Box 2051, 02914-2051.

Editor-in-Chief: John A. O'Hare '79
Managing Editor: Margaret A. Brodeur '79
Features Editor: Kathleen M. Hansen '80
News Editor: Stephen P. Latimer 79
Sports Editor: Daniel J. Lund '80
Photography Editor: Teresa Cahal '81
Advertising Manager: John A. McMahon, O.P.
Circulation Manager: Maureen J. O'Hare '80
College Advisor: John A. O'Hare '79

Copy Staff: Joyce Simard, Mark Donovan, Fred Lagomarsino, Steve Litchenfels, Sue Lind, Mark O'Brien, Don Singel and Dave Terricka.
Copy Staff: Joyce Simard.
Photography Staff: Kevin Barrett, Susan Byrnes, Bob Deroulent, Mark Doman, Fred Lagomarino, Steve Litchennick, Sue Lind, Steve Murphy, Bob Patone. Art and Graphics Staff: Tom McMammon.
Circulation Staff: Tom Noble, John Deady and Steve Riley.
Frosh chronicles:

Political do's and don'ts

By Lari Evangelis

Your raving Frosh chronicles reporter attended the original presentation of candidates' speeches. The intention was to even the playing field, so to speak, and hand- and also to cover the event in one of the most popular subject matters for the next edition. With pen in hand and notebook open, I was ready to cover the speech.

It got there before it was even supposed to be hours of rhetoric and redundancy — the kind of thing normally heard at college presentations themselves. The do's and don'ts are as follows:

1. Don't spit and spatter at your audience with a nose that prefers not to be on the receiving end of your laughter.
2. Don't disparage your competitors — you're not the only one in a negative mountain.
3. Don't use your competitive advantage and in a most negative manner. Remember: it's their potential you're incompetent. They just might be the next big thing.

It was more than likely that they will, and if some sympathetic soul decides to champion your cause, how will the misguided person know who to vote for?

3. Don't recite the ideal speech. Okay, so you've rehearsed and rehearsed until you were blue in the face, but the podium is not a substation for the stage (as many disillusioned people are apt to believe) and you are not an actor. Or, if you insist on it, then Don't present it in an unexpressive manner: give proper emphasis when it is needed.

4. Use gestures to enhance or play up your position or profile. For example, the band on the lip and the jacket drawn behind it produce the proper effect if one were awareness. Don't, however, extend your body over a podium in volcano-like stance. It will only produce a premise of over-selfness and hence give the audience anxiety. In effect, don't leap on the opportunity to present an unexpected entry.

The reader must remember that these recommendations are only given in earnest. The fact is that we learn from our mistakes. Fresher are just more prone to this method than others.

Would the elected officials keep their campaign promises? Only time will tell. I cannot seem to recall any particular promises made excepting the vegetarian representation. His promise was to examine the possibilities of an alternative food program, one consisting of, you guessed it, lots of vegetables and health foods.

If the candidates did not run on their promise, then what exactly did they run on? It's a classic case of, one which the public will have to my this very day abstain from answering. Why is this? As a matter of fact, democratic officials are selected on false premises. He further defines the determining factors for election as "a good head of hair" or "a nice smile." The lights were dimmed to a mirror. There were both exactly the same. One thing was quite evident.

They were both exactly the same. Their records didn't need a mirror. Frank Capizzo, were pleased with the evening's success. Boffins, the women's magazine, had been exhaled by the alumni or a fellow student standing on top of you. Within the bear all hopes of a comfortable evening were dashed.

I would hope that it was obvious to all who attended the Frosh chronicles that the event was a mile over-sold. Granted, it is the annual meeting of the entire College community. However, it was not the entire College community that was catered to.

Thoughts while shaving:

Oktoberfest objections

By Bradford Brown

As I walked up the front steps of the Slavin Center and entered the Oktoberfest, I knew immediately that it was going to be a long evening, for standing before me was a gentleman in a nice brown pinstriped suit. The suit itself had one defect: a large wet stain on the right side. He was in the process of asking his wife whether she or he might clean a could remove wine stains as I found the combination of football and basketball games played in New Orleans during December 28 and 29.

The trip runs from December 27 to January 3. The accommodations are at the Warwick Hotel, which is within walking distance of the Superdome, where the basketball games are to be played. The total price of the trip is $465 for double occupancy, $409 for triple occupancy, and $383 for a single. There are only 46 trips reserved.

The package includes:

1. Round-trip air fare from Providence.
2. Round-trip transfers from the airport to the hotel.
3. All baggage handling.
4. All taxes, tips and gratuities.

A champagne reception and raffle proceeded the fashion show. One freshman mother received an especially warm and memorable welcome to the Veridames, Silvia Hayle, mother of Glen Hale, was the winner of a fashion outfit by Raoul. Father McDermott, moderator of the Veridames, and his co-

discos fashions

By Kathleen O'Neill

The lights were dimmed to a twinkle. An aura of excitement filled the hall. Beyond the brick of this Oktoberfest would be a nice idea. It is a PC tradition, however, in that it is going to be an event for the entire College campus community, then let's cater to the entire community. If that means varying musical alternatives, or selling less tickets to prevent the human bumper car we all have been playing, then let's do it.

New Orleans trip package

By Carol Persi

The Dillon Club and the Board of Governors will be sponsoring a trip to the Sugar Bowl Classic, a combination of football and basketball games played in New Orleans during Christmas vacation specifically on December 28 and 29.

The trip runs from December 27 to January 3. The accommodations are at the Warwick Hotel, which is within walking distance of the Superdome, where the basketball games are to be played. The total price of the trip is $465 for double occupancy, $409 for triple occupancy, and $383 for a single. There are only 46 trips reserved.

The package includes:

1. Round-trip air fare from Providence.
2. Round-trip transfers from the airport to the hotel.
3. All baggage handling.
4. All taxes, tips and gratuities.
varied and ranged from "it's too bad" to "it's fun to work back here. I really like it." To no one's surprise, I found that the first reply was basically the attitude of the guys, while many of the girls tended toward an attitude of "it's not too bad."

However, while speaking to two of the new male workers, Joe Carreiro and Tim West, I received a totally different response. "It's great," said Tim, as he enthusiastically yelled after a "customer." Be sure to tell ALL your friends about window 2." Joe responded with lightning-quick action, clearing the counter in 20 seconds flat. He talked about the "relaxed atmosphere" and said that he enjoyed the job "most of the time." Apparently, their only complaints are the times when 40 or 50 people decide to leave at once, leaving in their wake a formidable mountain of dirty dishes.

A casual glance over to window 2 put me face-to-face with two of the new male workers, Joe Carreiro and Tim West, I commented on the façade. They said that he enjoyed the job "most of the time." Apparently, their only complaints are the times when 40 or 50 people decide to leave at once, leaving in their wake a formidable mountain of dirty dishes.

Both felt that the job "wasn't all that bad," and although it did get "dirty at times," they tended to make light of that and look at the brighter side of things. Claire said that it "often gets rowdy back here" and added that "it's so funny to listen to the guys' comments as their friends go by." Both agreed that girls should have been offered the option of working there before this year, saying that "we do most of the work that the guys do, and do it just as well." The time allotted me had come to an end. I was forced to leave that paradise and take my place among those at the tables who have never had the thrill of removing soaked napkins from glasses full of chocolate milk. I thought about it for a while and decided that maybe I shouldn't be passing up this golden opportunity.

Yet as I went back to see if I could "sign up," someone yelled to me, "There's a list a mile long to get in back there." Shocked and disappointed, I returned to my table, realizing in my heart that my hopes and dreams had been shattered. Maybe I'll try again next year, but I'm not sure that paradise and take my place among those at the tables who have never had the thrill of removing soaked napkins from glasses full of chocolate milk. I thought about it for a while and decided that maybe I shouldn't be passing up this golden opportunity.

As he was ready to "go off" on each song, Carlos gave a quick look of the fingers on his left hand. A second later, the spotlight was on him. "Black Magic Woman" was the first of the classics - the crowd sang along with the smooth lead vocal of Greg Walker. The group did another crowd pleaser which showed emphatically their Latin rock style, with "Dance, Sister, Dance".

Santana live
Carlos, after praying over and thanking the crowd, came out for the first encore with another old crowd pleaser, "She's Not There." At the end of the third encore the lights went on, and Santana closed with their first big hit, the ever tough, ever classic "Evil Ways." The crowd ate it up.

All in all, the 2000 people (90 per cent non-PC) were treated to two hours of dynamite Latin rock n' roll. The group seemed to be having the time of their lives, and responded to O'Keefe's desires. The only downfall was that the earlier show had been cancelled, and the 10 p.m. performance had not sold out.

ELMHURST HAIR SALON
Complete Hair Care for Men and Women

for appointment call
621-8054

523 Eaton St.
Corner of Eaton and Smith St.

How would Freud relate to O'Keefe?

Cold. Yet warming.
Heartily full-bodied flavor. Yet smooth and easy going down.
And O'Keefe develops a head on contact.

Conflict. Confusion.

"We think he would have said, 'It's too good to gulp.' And you will too.

In the final analysis.

ATTENTION SENIORS

You may now sign up in the Counseling Center for interviews with the following companies and graduate schools:

Marion Labs
Connecticut Mutual Insurance
Travelers Insurance
University of Bridgeport Law School
Franklin Pierce Law School
Syracuse University
Case Western School of Law
McGeorge School of Law

SANTANA LIVES

By Tim Ahearn

With many artists these days seemingly "doing you a big favor" by performing, the case with Carlos Santana, was an entirely different one. In Alumni Hall on October 14, Santana certainly seemed to be having as good a time as the audience. Backed by seven multi-talented musicians, Santana opened the show with "Well All Right!" from the newly released album lesser secrets. Carlos was off and "cookin'."

As he was ready to "go off" on each song, Carlos gave a quick look of the fingers on his left hand. A second later, the spotlight was on him. "Black Magic Woman" was the first of the classics - the crowd sang along with the smooth lead vocal of Greg Walker. The group did another crowd pleaser which showed emphatically their Latin rock style, with "Dance, Sister, Dance."
OPENING TONIGHT!

Join Us As We Begin Our Tenth Season!

presents

Just when you thought it was safe to go out in the rain...

TWO BY TWO

Music by Richard Rodgers
Book by
Peter Stone
Lyrics by
Martin Charnin

HARKINS HALL AUDITORIUM     OCTOBER 18 — 22
CURTAIN — 8:00 PM
PC STUDENT TICKETS — $1.50
The pontiff with a purpose

By David Amal

This week marks much political activity at PC as many of our classmates are visiting the campus to make their political pitches. In other words, time to dig out the old '06 boots and show them.

Political groups, both on campus and off, sponsor these events and do their best to turn out the body. One of the groups represents the Providence Mayor Vincent "Pope Buddy" Cianci. "The Catholics for Cianci" committee is plugged to get the mayor elected Pope at the next conclave.

This committee is run by one of our students, Eimer "Fuddy" Cabin, a junior political science major. He said that he has high hopes for the future of our mayor. In fact, the entire "Catholics for Cianci" committee is plugging to get the mayor elected Pope at the next conclave.

During an interview, Mr. Duddy was quoted as saying, "What does the mayor know about running a Catholic community?"

"He runs Providence, doesn't he?"

"But wouldn’t it be hard for the mayor to run the Vatican as well?" asked Cabin.

"I am the mayor of the entire USA, and that’s all that seems to matter."

Duddy then explained his campaign to get a mayor into the papal office. Fig. 'em campaign posters will be put up at the ceiling of the Sistine Chapel with the following picture and slogan, "Pick a Pontiff with a Purpose."

After that, it’s off to make some speeches and some promises. Duddy said he expects the mayor to be running on a platform of religious tolerance, deepened spirituality, and a promised one percent income tax.

If elected, it is believed that the mayor will take the name "Pope Buddy I." Indeed, there was a Pope Buddy II, although not in the record books, he was one of the earliest Christian leaders.

His reign as pontiff was marred by several incidents; a storm that hit Rome and failed to be cleared in less than a week and upheaval in the legion police force. It was not long after his reign that the Roman Empire heaved its final collapse.

Duddy said that he again involved Mayor PC at the end of October and the students at the annual Halloween party. It is too early to recognize the mayor, Duddy said, he will be the one dressed as a Dominican, beer, wine, and liquor_provided. Admission, one vote.

In the back of the 'Pits'

By Bill Sullivan

I went back THERE - to THAT place not so long ago - and volunteered to wash dishes as many of my friends had expected, but I went, to watch, to observe what goes on behind the scenes in our PC's Ray mond Hall Cafeteria, the "Cal Raymond", as some would call it.

I stood there for a short time, listening to the familiar phrases "next window, please" or "what kind of side do you want," and decided that in many ways the "Pits" is like another name for a mind I pictured concoctions of food that would turn any job into a nightmare and make anyone's stomach turn. I finally came to realize why THEES places above any other is supposedly the last chore of our time, and if we were desperate student in search for work.

Yet the reactions of those who actually had to do the work were

See PITS, Page 6

Friar's Cell: not a theatrical prison

By Tricia Bruno

The Friar's Cell has prevailed as one of the most interesting and enterprising forces at Providence College in the last 10 years. During this time it has led its members into brilliant past drama clubs (Pyramid Players) to great occasions such as the one which operated in the '06-

The Cell is the longest of thought and is one of the most useful productions in the basement of Stephen Hall where plays are occasionally performed in the circle as late as eight o'clock each morning until 11 o'clock each night in the famed business of the theater-taking courses, acting, or working backstage.

John Garrity, newly-appointed director of the theater arts program, is not entirely satisfied with its reputation in the College's academic mainstream. He feels that students are more apt to register for electives in other arts departments due to a lack of their own experience in the theater.

The theater arts program offers a diverse selection of electives for all students. It is not just the majoring-in music,构造-directing course without total involvement in the theater program. Acting instructor, Sandy Fox, offers a foundation course, Oral Interpretation, to help inexperienced students prepare for further acting classes.

Other electives include Theatre Appreciation, History of Theater, Lighting, Stage Construct, Modern Theater, Acting 1 and 2, Stage Lighting, and Body Movement Dance.

"A lot of what the student picks up," said Garrity, "is not in the class alone; it’s also in the practical work they do on the productions. They get both ends of the business. Afternoons are set aside for work on the physical and business sides of the production. Rehearsals are held each evening."

The Friar's Cell in the back of the audience section, has a valuable space for the actors. They feel that by being involved, they can develop directing skills through experimentation with designated scenes. Final presentations of these scenes are usually performed in the Friar's Cell every other Friday at 5 p.m.

"By senior year," added Garrity, "students are getting more responsible on crews. Second semester is bitters because they’re involved with directing scenes, and it takes more time than the three hours they’re scheduled to meet."

Through an arrangement with the Trinity Square Repertory Company made available by the PC's Board of Governors, the theater arts program is provided with student-rate tickets for Trinity productions. On-campus lectures by Trinity cast members, and an internship with the company.

The internship is available to anyone who expresses serious interest in the theater. It is a serious time commitment, involving at least two full days a week in addition to the responsibilities of campus productions. Student David Barbour is the only participant in the program this semester, but there are three hopeful candidates for the spring.

This year, all productions will be presented in Harkins Hall, which can accommodate a crowd of 360. It may not afford the inti-macy offered by the Friar's Cell, but it allows the program to reach out to the community at large as well as publicize the productions as on-campus events.

Two By Two. Written by Peter Stone with music by Richard Rodgers and lyrics by Martin Charnin, will be presented Oc-tober 18 to 22. Argentinescripts' Les Miserables will be presented from December 6 to 10, coinciding with the play's discussion in Western Civ class.

William Gibson's 'The Miracle Worker' (February 25 to 27) and John Millington Synge's Playboy of the Western World (April 6 to 11) will highlight the Spring and Fall semesters. Auditions for productions are open to anyone at PC; large casts include faculty and alumni.

Indulge in one of the many electives offered by the theater arts program so that you, too, can step out from behind the wings, step up onto center stage, and revel in the applause.
Baseball blues

By Thomas Bowen

On Monday, October 2 at 5:40 p.m., a couple of Yankees fans stormed out of their dorms toward the post-game bar, the greatest dinner line in the history of the cafeteria. This tremendous convergence upon the bar forced many students to wait in line as long as 20 minutes. However, nobody cared, for just minutes earlier in Boston, with two on and two out in the last of the ninth, Yaz had popped out.

It was a glorious day for Yankees fans. Their team had won the pennant, and they were celebrating as if it were V-J Day. Shouts of "We're number one" and "Reggie, Reggie, Reggie" were exclaimed across the campus. Not every student greeted the Yankees victory with such enthusiasm, however. When some Yankee fans streamed down to the rat to enjoy the sweet taste of victory, it was also quite probable that at the same time Boston fans headed off to the library lamenting their team's loss. "Nineteen-seventy-nine,

Meanwhile, Yankee fans have been accustomed to the best: pennant and World Series trophies. In bunches, Joe D., Mel Allen, Mickey, Whitey, Yogi, and Reggie bars. The tradition continues, and once again Yankee fans can savour another pennant. This they did the evening following the game when many Yankee fans streamed down to the rat to enjoy the sweet taste of victory. It is also quite probable that at the same time Boston fans headed off to the library lamenting their team's loss. "Nineteen-seventy-nine, dammit, 1979."

Continuing its efforts to better acquaint interested students with the professional world of theater, the PC theater arts program recently sponsored a demonstration by professional make-up artist Bob Kelly. Kelly has been involved with many of the entertainment world's biggest events, including the Broadway productions of the hit musicals Evita and La Mascha (which is currently enjoying a smash revival in Boston). Two By Two, and 17/18. He has also been associated with television, both in commercials and in series, such as The Addams Chronicles. Currently, he is involved in the creation of an elephant costume to be used in an upcoming motion picture.

Paula Callahan:
An Irish colleen

By Kathrynn DelSignore

A lot of PC students are back to school this semester having spent some prestigious, exciting experiences this summer. Paula Callahan, junior special ed. major, is one of them. Paula won an Irish Colleen contest held in Hartford, Connecticut this past January and one of the prizes was a three-week trip to Ireland over the summer.

The contest, held at the end of January, is sponsored by the Irish Home Society and anyone 18 and over from the Hartford County area was eligible to enter. Paula was a hostess at the contest one year and when she was old enough, she was asked to join. Paula said that she is not a beauty contest, "There are no talent competitions, no swimsuit or evening gown competitions." She said contestants are judged basically on poise and personality.

The day of the contest, the contestants met for lunch in order to get to know each other. Five judges (a couple of whom included the director of the Hartford Civic Center and a supreme court judge) went from table to table, Paula said, talking to the girls about school, their interests, and their hobbies.

No controversial questions were asked, said Paula, because the idea behind the ball session was that you get to know the girls. A plus, said Paula, was to be "as relaxed as possible when talking to the judges because it made everyone uncomfortable when someone wasn't." The girls then went up on stage and talked with the emcees one by one.

A Colleen's reign is from January to January and some of her duties are: attending a coronation ball (which is a big event for those in the Irish Society) and appearing with her court in the St. Patrick's Day parade. Also, Paula was on a radio show and appeared on the Connecticut Lottery show.

All the duties were fun and interesting, said Paula, but what she liked best was the trip to Ireland. Every year the Society charters a flight to Ireland and every Colleen wins two round-trip tickets. Paula visited various corners of Ireland, such as Waterford, Cliford, and Tipperary in addition to spending five days in England.

What impressed Paula most about Ireland was the countryside which, she said, is "very green and the people, who were very friendly. Her duties as Colleen were fun, she said, but the trip was definitely the highlight of winning the Irish Colleen Contest.

Bob Kelly, makeup artist

Continuing its efforts to better acquaint interested students with the professional world of theater, the PC theater arts program recently sponsored a demonstration by professional make-up artist Bob Kelly. Kelly has been involved with many of the entertainment world's biggest events, including the Broadway productions of the hit musicals Evita and La Mascha (which is currently enjoying a smash revival in Boston), Two By Two, and 17/18. He has also been associated with television, both in commercials and in series, such as The Addams Chronicles. Currently, he is involved in the creation of an elephant costume to be used in an upcoming motion picture.

Paula Callahan: An Irish colleen

By Kathrynn DelSignore

A lot of PC students are back to school this semester having spent some prestigious, exciting experiences this summer. Paula Callahan, junior special ed. major, is one of them. Paula won an Irish Colleen contest held in Hartford, Connecticut this past January and one of the prizes was a three-week trip to Ireland over the summer.

The contest, held at the end of January, is sponsored by the Irish Home Society and anyone 18 and over from the Hartford County area was eligible to enter. Paula was a hostess at the contest one year and when she was old enough, she was asked to join. Paula said that she is not a beauty contest, "There are no talent competitions, no swimsuit or evening gown competitions." She said contestants are judged basically on poise and personality.

The day of the contest, the contestants met for lunch in order to get to know each other. Five judges (a couple of whom included the director of the Hartford Civic Center and a supreme court judge) went from table to table, Paula said, talking to the girls about school, their interests, and their hobbies.

No controversial questions were asked, said Paula, because the idea behind the ball session was that you get to know the girls. A plus, said Paula, was to be "as relaxed as possible when talking to the judges because it made everyone uncomfortable when someone wasn't." The girls then went up on stage and talked with the emcees one by one.

A Colleen's reign is from January to January and some of her duties are: attending a coronation ball (which is a big event for those in the Irish Society) and appearing with her court in the St. Patrick's Day parade. Also, Paula was on a radio show and appeared on the Connecticut Lottery show.

All the duties were fun and interesting, said Paula, but what she liked best was the trip to Ireland. Every year the Society charters a flight to Ireland and every Colleen wins two round-trip tickets. Paula visited various corners of Ireland, such as Waterford, Cliford, and Tipperary in addition to spending five days in England.

What impressed Paula most about Ireland was the countryside which, she said, is "very green and the people, who were very friendly. Her duties as Colleen were fun, she said, but the trip was definitely the highlight of winning the Irish Colleen Contest.
Oktoberfest 1978

(Clockwise) Alumni return to mingle with students. Kathy Larkin makes her Oktoberfest '78 debut. Both sophomore and junior girls keep their eyes open for Junior Ring Weekend prospects. Off-duty RA's Tom Keegan and Mike Ventracelli get together with Friends. Marie Howe, '79 eyes the long line at the bar. The fun of the night brings a smile to the face of Nancy Prisco and friends.
FIELD HOCKEY

The 6-2-1 record of the Lady Priests has been the best season in their four-year existence. The credit for such a season can not go to one individual, but it is due to a complete team effort. In the scoring department, sophomore Linda Wage has recorded 18 goals thus far, already setting more than last year. The forward line of Sharon Ciegi, Barry Bruyette, and captain Lynn Sheedy has been very effective. The defense sparkles as does the goaltending, shared by seniors Karen Bullard and freshmen Joan Murphy and Marilyn Noble.

The squad has won their last five games, displaying strong victories over URI, University of Maine, Bridgerton College, and Boston College. The only two defeats came against Holy Cross and Bridgewater.

Evidence of how the defense has come through this season was evident when Barrington was allowed only four shots on goal. With only five more games remaining, the team will finish off the season unusually with a night game on Boston University's astroturf. When the season is completed, the squad will participate in the Northeast College Field Hockey Association Tournament. The competition is non-elimination, the purpose being to judge each player individually. The chosen players will go on to represent the Northeast in competition.

The only two defeats against BU and UConn, the run than last year. Although we have Vermont.

METHODOLOGY

Mountaineering is, as all but the chronically misinformed know, the skill, the science and the art of drinking Busch Beer. It begins by heading for the mountains (i.e., a quick jaunt to your favorite package emporium or wateringhole) and ends by downing the mountains (i.e., slow slaking swallows of the brew that is Busch).

However, between those two points lies a vast area of personal pecadillos sometimes called technique and sometimes called methodology (depending on your major). Hence, this ad.

Sipping vs. chugging.

Both have their merits, of course. But generally speaking, except for cases of extreme thirst or a leaking glass, sipping is the more prudent practice for serious, sustained mountaineering.

Next, the proper position: Some swear by sitting, others by standing. Sufice it to say that the most successful mountaineers are flexible, so you'll find both siters and standers. (Except on New Year's Eve, when it's almost impossible to find a sitter.)

Which brings us to additives. Occasionally a neophyte will sprinkle salt in his Busch, others mix in tomato juice, and a few on the radical fringe will even add egg. While these manipulations can't be prohibited (this is, after all, a free country), they are frowned upon. Please be advised that purity is a virtue, and the natural refreshment of Busch is best, uncompromised.

Finally, there's the issue of containers. Common sense dictates a glass be used. But bad planning sometimes prevents that. If you find yourself forced to drink from the can, you should minimize this breach of etiquette. Be formal. Simply let your little finger stick out stiffly (see Fig. 2). Happy Mountaineering.

---

TAKING THE LSAT?

Join thousands of law school applicants nationwide in Amity's LSAT Review Seminars.
Sports night at PC

By Ken Kraezer

At a school as relatively small as Providence College, one of the advantages is that the average student can have opportunities to know members of the athletic department on a personal basis. An opportunity for this occurred recently as Athletic Director Dave Gavitt introduced his fall coaches and allowed himself to be open to questions from students in an informal "bull" session in '94 Hall.

Speakers at the program included soccer coach Bill Doyle, assistant club football coach Kevin Dorgan, volleyball coach Dick Bagge, assistant athletic director Helen Bert, field hockey coach Mary Beth Alexander, head women's trainer Kathy Cerra, and director of intramural and recreation Gerry Alaimo.

Gavitt outlined his department's allocation of scholarships which at present lists cross country two and one-half, one and one-half, baseball, three and one-quarter, basketball, five hockey, and four to the Women's sports. These scholarships given each year and can be broken up into partials.

The athletic department stated that the department runs on a budget of $428,000. This figure is arrived at through bargaining with the College administration as does any other department. He commented that usually 80 per cent of the athletic department's requests are cut each year.

On the other side of the ledger, Gavitt announced that his department generates revenue of approximately $750,000 to $800,000 per year. These proceeds result from ticket sales, television and radio contracts, and concession sales. The income is returned directly to the general treasury of the College.

Gerry Alaimo impressed everyone in attendance with his enthusiasm and ideas for his new position as director of intramurals and recreation. The former Brown basketball coach outlined plans for a physical fitness program and tournaments for racquetball and squash. Programs for intramural soccer, figure skating, and skiing were being considered.

Coach Gavitt also announced that student season tickets for basketball and hockey will be reissued, and that a formal proposal for a field house will be drawn up and submitted to the College administration this year.

Dave Gavitt

For the season ending this week, the squad looks forward to seeing field, Page 11.
You don't like the shape America's in?
O.K. change it.

America's got too many poor people, right? And there's plenty of other problems too. Take our cities. The shape of some of them is enough to make you cry. And waste and ignorance, the cycle of poverty that traps one generation after another because they're too busy just holding on to get ahead. The ravages of hunger and disease. Education that's either too little or none. Skills that are lacking, and the means to get them also. It could go on and on, and it will unless you do something. And not the you standing behind you either, but you. You believe something can be done.

O.K. now's the time for action... join VISTA: Volunteers in Service to America. If you're eighteen or eighty — great, we want you. We want you to organize in your community, or someone else's. Helping miners in Appalachia learn a new skill. Or migrant farm workers' children to read. We want you to organize a clinic in Watts. Or fight poverty around the corner. We don't care how much you make now, only how much you can give now. We're greedy in VISTA; we want all you've got.

You'll be working long and hard. And the pay is nothing to write home about either. But there's one thing we can promise you, there will be plenty to write home about. About the things you've learned while working with others. And the progress you've made. And that feeling deep inside you, knowing that you've returned the favor America gave you. O.K. you know what's wrong, right? Now go ahead, change it. In VISTA. Call VISTA toll free: 800-424-8580. Or write VISTA: Box A, Washington, D.C. 20525. VISTA is alive and well. Come alive with us.
Lady Friars in action

THE DILLON CLUB ANNUAL SPAGHETTI SUPPER

WILL BE NOVEMBER 8, 1978 IN '64 HALL FROM 5-7 p.m.

MENU: SPAGHETTI & MEATBALLS
ITALIAN BREAD & BUTTER
SALAD
DESSERT
WINE AND SODA WILL BE AVAILABLE AT AN ADDITIONAL COST
DONATION $2.00
ALL PROCEEDS WILL BE DONATED TO THE SHRINERS HOSPITAL FOR CRIPPLED CHILDREN

Cocktail Service • Telewagers • Closed Circuit TV • Pari Mutuel Wagering

EXPERIENCE THE MERRY FESTIVAL AT newport Jai alai

The Spanish word Jai Alai means MERRY FESTIVAL and that’s just what we offer you here at Newport Jai Alai

Monday Matinees: All senior citizens admitted FREE.
Monday Evenings: Bar, Restaurant, Hotel/Motel Night — Employees bring your pay stub or any ID showing your place of employment and receive FREE admission and a FREE reserved seat.
Tuesdays: LADIES NIGHT All ladies FREE admission and a FREE reserved seat.
Wednesdays: BEER NIGHT 16 oz. Bud or Busch draught beer for only 25 cents.
Thursdays: QUINIELA NIGHT Receive a FREE quiniela ticket with the purchase of a reserved seat and WIN on us!
Saturday: MATINEES: All senior citizens admitted FREE.

PLANNING AN EVENING OUT FOR YOUR GROUP?
Contact our public relations department and find out about our fabulous group plans for both your seating and dining pleasure

SOME KEY NUMBERS
For Reservations Call 849-5000 Out-of-State Call Toll Free 1-800-556-6900 For Jai Alai Results 24 Hours A Day Dial 847-

EVENINGS MONDAY THROUGH SATURDAY DOORS OPEN AT 6:30 P.M.
MATINEES AS SCHEDULED 12:00 NOON
ADMISSIONS FROM $1.00 — SURRY NO ONE UNDER 18

FOLLOW THE SIGNS TO THE NEWPORT BRIDGE
150 ADMIRAL KALBFUS ROAD
NEWPORT, RHODE ISLAND

Bar Blinds • Ladies Night • Jai Alai Gift Boutique • Cocktail Service • Telewagers • Closed Circuit TV

Grand Opening Of

CLUB GEISTERS - "DISCO"
Dancing
770 Admiral St.
Providence, R.I.
831-9326
Every Fri. and Sat. 9-2
Starting Oct. 20, 1978
Come and see: Tribute to Elvis
with Tom Walsh & T.N.T.'s
Thursday Oct. 19, 1978 9-1
Proper dress required
Tickets $4.00 per person

We'll always Love you, Carl
Continued from Page 5
The crack of his bat hit a foul ball
And the pinstripes were all relieved
The whole place fell right on his shoulders
"Come on Cap just do it once more"
"Please only a little single"
Would right now tie the score"
The wild crowd seemed quite quiet
In fact you could hear a fly drop
The green light was on like a street lamp
And the time just stood to stop
The pitch was finally delivered
We hoped Carl would hit one again
But when I saw it soar straight up
I knew it was the end
It was popped up to the third baseman
The game was done right there
It was so hard to imagine
Just what had happened here
Those bastards from New York had beaten us
They only got lucky on a snarl
But no matter whatever happens
We'll always love you, Carl
Now all of the pressure is off us
Too bad it's not us drinking the cheer
But one thing stuck in my mind
SEE YOU ALL NEXT YEAR

Continued from Page 5
The crack of his bat hit a foul ball
And the pinstripes were all relieved
The whole place fell right on his shoulders
"Come on Cap just do it once more"
"Please only a little single"
Would right now tie the score"
The wild crowd seemed quite quiet
In fact you could hear a fly drop
The green light was on like a street lamp
And the time just stood to stop
The pitch was finally delivered
We hoped Carl would hit one again
But when I saw it soar straight up
I knew it was the end
It was popped up to the third baseman
The game was done right there
It was so hard to imagine
Just what had happened here
Those bastards from New York had beaten us
They only got lucky on a snarl
But no matter whatever happens
We'll always love you, Carl
Now all of the pressure is off us
Too bad it's not us drinking the cheer
But one thing stuck in my mind
SEE YOU ALL NEXT YEAR
Harriers prevail

PC outruns Brown, URI

By David Ball

With an absence of two weeks from competition, the PC cross country team returned with two impressive wins last Saturday.

In what might be classified as the unofficial state championship, PC took on URI and Brown University at URI. The opponent was never in the same class as the Friars as they filled six of the top eight places.

Ray Treacy and Dan Dillon were the two that broke away early in the race. They were being chased - and finally caught - by a very much in shape Larry Reed. Reed was suffering recent illness from severe stomach trouble that reduced his training to a minimum. However, over the last 10 days, Reed has returned to fall training, and he has shown that he is capable of finishing in the top 10 in the upcoming New England Championships.

After URI senior Mike Gallage broke the Friar strangle hold with a fourth-place finish, Dave Ball swept up the number five position and co-captain Ed Harrett, who seemed hampered by the muddy conditions, garnered the sixth spot. Moe Rafferty finished eighth.

With the New England’s approaching, Coach Bob Amato wisely decided to rest freshman Brendan Quinn from Saturday’s meet. However, he will race against Holy Cross next week in what will be PC’s final dual meet of the season.

The other outstanding freshman of the season, Ray Treacey, will not compete again until the New England’s. Treacey is confident and capable of winning the championship, a prestigious race indeed, one in which his brother John could only win once in his four years at PC.

Next week in New York’s marathon, Joe Berit will compete in the elite New York Marathon. Berit ran 2:39:30 in last year’s Boston Marathon, and he hopes to improve on this time.

THE BOARD OF GOVERNORS

SOCIAL COMMITTEE

PRESENTS

A NIGHTCLUB NIGHT

WITH JOHN ROARKE

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 21

SHOW TIME - 8 p.m.

ADMISSION — $2.00

PROPER DRESS REQUIRED

---

ATTENTION SENIORS

The following Panel Discussions will be held on Wednesday, October 25, from 1:30 p.m. to 5:00 p.m., in '64 Hall in Slavin Center.

1:30 p.m. - 3:00 p.m.

- Graduate School Panel
  - Applying & Financial Aid
  - Chairperson: Dr. James McGovern

Issues to be discussed:

1. Should I go to Graduate School - Dr. C. O'Kelly
2. Business and Professional Schools - Dr. Leslie Pomeroy
3. Graduate Level Financial Assistance - Herbert D'Arcy

A Panel Discussion: "Special Problems of Women in the Work Force"

3:30 p.m. - 5:00 p.m.

- Speakers will be:
  - Gloria Lincourt, Vice-President of People's Bank
  - Lynette Labinger, Attorney with Abdon, Stanzler, Biener, Sokolnik, and Lipsy
  - Patrice Carbonneau, a 1978 Providence College graduate, who works in the Accounting Department at Roger Williams' General Hospital
  - Nancy Rabine, Financial Analyst with Polaroid Corporation

All Seniors are welcome:

- Refreshments will be served.

---

THESE PROGRAMS ARE SPONSORED BY THE COUNSELING & CAREER PLANNING CENTER.

Chairperson: Mrs. Elizabeth F. Sydney, Counselor
Rabadan's heros fail; booters fall to Brandeis

By Mike David

The Providence College soccer squad, battling the elements as well as a rash of injuries to important personnel, nevertheless bowed by Holy Cross and Bryant before dropping a decision to Brandeis last Saturday. Saturday was a day in which Friar captain Jim Rabadan became the top scorer in PC soccer history.

The Black and White successfully ran their season mark to 4-3 as they whitewashed the Holy Cross Crusaders. 4-0 at Gilray Field on October 9. Leading the way were Rabadan, who registered two markers, and forwards Alan Doyle and Peter Crowe that added one.

Despite a strong play of goalie Dave Kreinsen and Steve Crowe that kept the Crusaders off the scoreboard, the Friars notched their fifth win in registering an easy 4-1 decision, over interstate rival Bryant. After another rocky start, the Black and White rode the two-goal performance of Friar Park to victory.

Overall, the superiority of Providence was evident all afternoon. The Friars also received goals from Peter Roman and Rabadan before Bryant denied the scoreboard late in the affair. "We played a consistent game, and our talent allowed us to dominate the opposition for the majority of the game," admitted Doyle.

The Black and White then ran into a roadblock last Saturday afternoon. Playing on a field that experienced deep in the second half, the Friars dropped a convincing 5-1 verdict to perennial Division 3 power Brandeis.

"We went out and moved the ball in the first 15 minutes but missed two brilliant scoring opportunities. Unfortunately, we got our first goal, and more importantly, the momentum, reflected Coach Doyle.

After the early game pressure, the contest was fairly even until the 20-minute mark when Brandeis assumed a 2-0 advantage on a short rebound. As the goalie wore on the field was reduced to little more than a quagmire as Brandeis upped their margin to 5-0 before Rabadan averted the shutdown while his record-breaking goal.

"Although we were beaten by a good club, they were not four goals better than us," stated Doyle. "The condition of the field and our loss of Alan and Murphy momentary personnel, respectively, are factors to the loss. Their shots seemed to find the mark while ours were at somebody.

The one bright spot on an otherwise gloomy day was the record-breaking performance of Friar captain Jim Rabadan. His 25th goal makes him the top scorer in PC soccer history.

"Jim has always been a very good opportunistic goal scorer," enthused Coach Doyle. "All without his career Jim has more than a way of putting the ball in the net. Playing at outside left forward position, Jim has shown up with a tremendous amount of responsibility every year and still manages his scoring production."

Key upcoming contests for the Friars include UMass (mass seven in the country) and Boston College on Saturday, both at Gilray Field.

ECAC Tourney

Golf team takes 10th place

By Steve Latimer

Even the great teams have bad days once in a while. Everybody knows that. After all, the players are only human and they are bound to fail on occasion.

Unfortunately, for the Providence College golf squad, that bad day couldn't have come at a more inappropriate time. This team, which has played steady all season long, came down in the final round of the prestigious ECAC tournament before it had even commenced its first truly bad round.

"The kids just fizzled in the final round," stated Coach Joe Pruce. "It was just one of those days when everybody went bad at the same time.

"We had gone into the final round with high hopes. The team was in fourth place, which is pretty good, and with the normal steady performance, I felt we could finish up pretty good."

Unfortunately, Alan got off to a bad start in the final round. He was five over par after the first five holes and just never recovered.

White Ryder, who had been through his round, his teammates were doing nothing to pick up the slack. The Enraf-Onyx Championship was held in Manchester, Massachusetts, and the tournament was being held, played, and, at the end of the day, it was a little more than a quagmire as Brandeis upped their margin to 5-0 before Rabadan averted the shutdown while his record-breaking goal.

"Although we were beaten by a good club, they were not four goals better than us," stated Doyle. "The condition of the field and our loss of Alan and Murphy momentary personnel, respectively, are factors to the loss. Their shots seemed to find the mark while ours were at somebody.

The one bright spot on an otherwise gloomy day was the record-breaking performance of Friar captain Jim Rabadan. His 25th goal makes him the top scorer in PC soccer history.

"Jim has always been a very good opportunistic goal scorer," enthused Coach Doyle. "All without his career Jim has more than a way of putting the ball in the net. Playing at outside left forward position, Jim has shown up with a tremendous amount of responsibility every year and still manages his scoring production."

Key upcoming contests for the Friars include UMass (mass seven in the country) and Boston College on Saturday, both at Gilray Field.

ECAC Tourney

Golf team takes 10th place

By Steve Latimer

Even the great teams have bad days once in a while. Everybody knows that. After all, the players are only human and they are bound to fail on occasion. Unfortunately, for the Providence College golf squad, that bad day couldn't have come at a more inappropriate time. This team, which has played steady all season long, came down in the final round of the prestigious ECAC tournament before it had even commenced its first truly bad round.

"The kids just fizzled in the final round," stated Coach Joe Pruce. "It was just one of those days when everybody went bad at the same time.

"We had gone into the final round with high hopes. The team was in fourth place, which is pretty good, and with the normal steady performance, I felt we could finish up pretty good."

Unfortunately, Alan got off to a bad start in the final round. He was five over par after the first five holes and just never recovered.

White Ryder, who had been through his round, his teammates were doing nothing to pick up the slack. The Enraf-Onyx Championship was held in Manchester, Massachusetts, and the tournament was being held, played, and, at the end of the day, it was a little more than a quagmire as Brandeis upped their margin to 5-0 before Rabadan averted the shutdown while his record-breaking goal.

"Although we were beaten by a good club, they were not four goals better than us," stated Doyle. "The condition of the field and our loss of Alan and Murphy momentary personnel, respectively, are factors to the loss. Their shots seemed to find the mark while ours were at somebody.

The one bright spot on an otherwise gloomy day was the record-breaking performance of Friar captain Jim Rabadan. His 25th goal makes him the top scorer in PC soccer history.

"Jim has always been a very good opportunistic goal scorer," enthused Coach Doyle. "All without his career Jim has more than a way of putting the ball in the net. Playing at outside left forward position, Jim has shown up with a tremendous amount of responsibility every year and still manages his scoring production."

Key upcoming contests for the Friars include UMass (mass seven in the country) and Boston College on Saturday, both at Gilray Field.

ECAC Tourney

Golf team takes 10th place

By Steve Latimer

Even the great teams have bad days once in a while. Everybody knows that. After all, the players are only human and they are bound to fail on occasion. Unfortunately, for the Providence College golf squad, that bad day couldn't have come at a more inappropriate time. This team, which has played steady all season long, came down in the final round of the prestigious ECAC tournament before it had even commenced its first truly bad round.

"The kids just fizzled in the final round," stated Coach Joe Pruce. "It was just one of those days when everybody went bad at the same time.

"We had gone into the final round with high hopes. The team was in fourth place, which is pretty good, and with the normal steady performance, I felt we could finish up pretty good."

Unfortunately, Alan got off to a bad start in the final round. He was five over par after the first five holes and just never recovered.

White Ryder, who had been through his round, his teammates were doing nothing to pick up the slack. The Enraf-Onyx Championship was held in Manchester, Massachusetts, and the tournament was being held, played, and, at the end of the day, it was a little more than a quagmire as Brandeis upped their margin to 5-0 before Rabadan averted the shutdown while his record-breaking goal.

"Although we were beaten by a good club, they were not four goals better than us," stated Doyle. "The condition of the field and our loss of Alan and Murphy momentary personnel, respectively, are factors to the loss. Their shots seemed to find the mark while ours were at somebody.

The one bright spot on an otherwise gloomy day was the record-breaking performance of Friar captain Jim Rabadan. His 25th goal makes him the top scorer in PC soccer history.

"Jim has always been a very good opportunistic goal scorer," enthused Coach Doyle. "All without his career Jim has more than a way of putting the ball in the net. Playing at outside left forward position, Jim has shown up with a tremendous amount of responsibility every year and still manages his scoring production."

Key upcoming contests for the Friars include UMass (mass seven in the country) and Boston College on Saturday, both at Gilray Field.