Pyramid Players Select "Stalag 17" Cast! Rehearsals Have Begun

The Pyramid Players have announced the cast for their first dramatic play this year, "Stalag 17". The play is a comedy set in a German prison camp in World War II. After a successful run on Broadway, it is being presented as a picture by Paramount. The role of Sefton, which won the Helen Hayes Award for best actor of the year, is being played by William Shatner. He is in danger of death, as Hoffman, played by Dave Dennis, wants to make him an agent for the Gestapo. If he is not killed by his own men, he will be assassinated by the Gestapo, who is trying to suppress the truth of the facts of the war.

Memorial Given For Thomas Burke

A flag of the United States has been given to Providence College in memory of Thomas Burke, who served in the United States Navy. The flag was given to the college by William A. Kryka, '56, nephew of the deceased.

Dr. Robert Buck To Address AED

Dr. Robert W. Buck, secretary of the Massachusetts Medical Society, will address the Alpha Epsilon Delta national medical student affiliate, Monday evening, November 21, at 8:00. This will be the first in a series of lectures sponsored by the chapter for the benefit of the students on campus who are interested in applying to medical or dental schools. The topic selected for the first lecture is "The Physician:"

The lecture is open to faculty, students and the public, and admission by registration is required.

Students Invited To Inaugurate \"Athletic Notice\"

Re: John Osterreicher, editor of the recently published "The Bridge", will be the guest speaker for the first meeting of the Friars Formal. The lecture is scheduled for Friday evening, November 25, at 8:00. The lecture will be open to the public and admission by registration is required.

Athletic Notice

The Athletic Office has announced that the tennis courts are complete and that they are open for the rest of the season. The cost of the tickets is $2.00, and there is no other affair at Providence that is as interesting and yet as affordable. This is Friday's Friday at Athletic Hall, and it will last from eight to twelve o'clock. The tickets will be on sale for the rest of the week. Get yours while they last.

Friars Queen Photos Judged on Nov. 28th

The Queen of the Friars Queen contest must be submitted to the officers of the Friars Club, both regional and curricular. The Queen of the Friars' Formal will be selected in the following manner:

Pictures of the candidates will be submitted to the officers of the Friars Club. They will select one which will represent that club in the contest. These pictures will be turned into the officers of the Friars Club who will submit them to a selection board consisting of the faculty and students of the Friars Club.

Morrisssey And Panneton Lead Re-Organized ROTC Drill Team

A complete revamping and reorganization of this year's R.O.T.C. Drill Team has made it far outshine all of these teams of past years. With but few exceptions to those officers of a completely organized group, they have shown as an entirely new form of spirit, character, willpower, leadership, and workmanship, which can be seen only in the best of teams, that of those being sold.

Students and faculty extend their deepest sympathy to F. Joseph Dillon, J. Edward Higgins, and Alfred Higgins, who will be remembered as the "Bridges of Peace". His works, "The Bridge", "The Academy or The Bridge-Instrument of Peace", and "First Annual Yearbook of Judaco-Society, met to induct the new members and to choose officers of the new club. The guest speaker for the meeting was Dr. Edward Murphy, head of the New England Chapter, who spoke on "The History And Aim Of DES Theme Of Dr. Murphy's Talk"

Dr. Murphy said, "Today a scholar on campus, is called, or is thought of as a scholar, a bore, a bore, and a bore; and yet people are being killed already in a region that is considered a region of education."

Dr. Murphy continued, "In no other country do we find quite as many people, and it is not the popular people, who are not doing good national literature."

Dr. Murphy ended his talk with the thought, "In the great tragedy of Catholicism in America,"

Dr. Murphy said, "I am not sure that education and not popular society should have the driving force of all phases of education, whether education is scholarship before the prince of athletics and extracurricular activities, or it will continue to be the driving force of all phases of education, whether education is scholarship before the prince of athletics and extracurricular activities, or it will continue to be on the pages of education.

Wisdom, in a broad view, is the aim of the scholar, who knows what is true and what is false, and who is not out of touch with reality.
Mr. Blades . . .

Raymond Blades, the Senior English major, is a gentleman of untired talents. His opinions should be saved for posterity, perhaps even sealed in a time capsule, to be opened hundreds of years from now. That is why I consider no time wasted when I attend his book reviews, meals, and other class things for his company.

The other day I found him, peering on a long-forgotten British journal in a稀疏的图书馆, designed to further the cause of clubs.

He paused in his reading and began to speak, slowly at first, then with a gradual increase in speed, and finally in a machine gun staccato.

"This overemphasis on clubs is rather ridiculous. "Social opportunities" is an oxymoron. In a moment before God decided Adam should have company, he made Eve, not an idiot group with common interests. The Bible speaks of the Prophet, which only means something, defined only in the club constitution.

"A dedicated few from a group, and then a 'hustler' invades the well-guarded liberty into undoing any good work that has been done. The whole thing degenerates into a brawl and a contest of wits with the authorities. There's no need for there to be a hole-in-the-wall somewhere. Here it is. The contest continues."

"Yes, clubs do serve a purpose. May they continue."

With that Mr. Blades turned to a quest for the betterment of the club. He has been known to write, "You may be right, Mr. Blades," and left quietly.

Thanks Again . . .

One week from tomorrow, we will be sitting down to that one meal of the year at which all dishes are hastily forgotten, at which the tantalizing aroma and enchanting tastes of good food arouse even the feeblest appetite. We will eat with great enthusiasm, only to realize that war instead of toward it.

That is why I consider no time wasted when I attend his book reviews, meals, and other class things for his company.

A little bird once told me that war instead of toward it.

The contest continues.

In Passing

Nebulous Notions

Usually when the Alembics appears, there is a great deal of criticism and in the last issue, one of the authors, Mr. Charles J. Verrhot, who has written for the Brown game magazine, reserved tickets for the Brown game. The general reaction to this article was scatt...
Madden Voted Spike Shoe Pres.

Recently the Spike Shoe Club elected its officers for the incoming year. They are: President, Joe Madden, the captain of the Cross-Country team; Vice President, Eugene Amador; Secretary, James Malley, both of Indoor and Outdoor fame; and Treasurer, Al O'Brien, who is a three season stalwart. The club is planning an informal dance in Hawks Hall on December 8. Plans for other activities are in progress. The first meeting is set for the first week in December with the time, place and date to be posted on the bulletin board. Anyone who is interested in track may join the club; new members are always welcomed, encouraged Mr. Madden.

By Paul Powers
The Quiet Man

Joe Mulaney is one person who holds by the rule that " Silence is golden." With the opening game of the season just three weeks hence, and with only two practices practice behind his recitals, Joe refuses to comment. He will not answer the question of the possibilities of this year's team. With still another cut to come, due for this week, he probably thinks it wiser to withhold his opinions until he has had a real chance to get a closer look at the 15 or so boys that will remain on the squad. Jokingly, he leaves the brunt of the question to his banquet circuit partner, Paul Connolly. To his many duties here at Providence College, Mr. Connolly has added his list the job of being the answer man for Coach Mulaney. When asked how optimistic either he or the candidates were shaping up, Mr. Mulaney tried to avoid the question and steer over to Mr. Connolly. With a smile, Mr. Connolly in a moment of exaggeration answered, "That this is the greatest array of talent ever assembled under one roof." But that this statement will be brought into the limelight on that very momental evening of December 3rd, when the Friars plant their new group in playing host to Brown.

On the 29th of November, Alumni Hall will be ringing from the rafters with the enthusiasm of the student body at a pep rally, as they greet the members of the basketball and hockey teams for the first time. This could be the occasion on which Mr. Mulaney will break his period of basketball silence and will let us in on what he thinks of the chances of the club will be in the coming campaigns.

Hockey Scene

At that rally, set for the 29th, it probably will be the first time that most of us have of seeing him at the Friar pucksters' games. While on the subject of Coach Ran­ deau, let's take a look at the hockey sched­ ule. Mr. Connolly has added his list to his banquet circuit partner, Paul Connolly. To his many duties here at Providence College, Mr. Connolly has added his list the job of being the answer man for Coach Mulaney. When asked how optimistic either he or the candidates were shaping up, Mr. Mulaney tried to avoid the question and steer over to Mr. Connolly. With a smile, Mr. Connolly in a moment of exaggeration answered, "That this is the greatest array of talent ever assembled under one roof." But that this statement will be brought into the limelight on that very momental evening of December 3rd, when the Friars plant their new group in playing host to Brown.

On the 29th of November, Alumni Hall will be ringing from the rafters with the enthusiasm of the student body at a pep rally, as they greet the members of the basketball and hockey teams for the first time. This could be the occasion on which Mr. Mulaney will break his period of basketball silence and will let us in on what he thinks of the chances of the club will be in the coming campaigns.

Hockey Scene

At that rally, set for the 29th, it probably will be the first time that most of us have of seeing him at the Friar pucksters' games. While on the subject of Coach Ran­ deau, let's take a look at the hockey sched­ ule. Mr. Connolly has added his list to his banquet circuit partner, Paul Connolly. To his many duties here at Providence College, Mr. Connolly has added his list the job of being the answer man for Coach Mulaney. When asked how optimistic either he or the candidates were shaping up, Mr. Mulaney tried to avoid the question and steer over to Mr. Connolly. With a smile, Mr. Connolly in a moment of exaggeration answered, "That this is the greatest array of talent ever assembled under one roof." But that this statement will be brought into the limelight on that very momental evening of December 3rd, when the Friars plant their new group in playing host to Brown.

On the 29th of November, Alumni Hall will be ringing from the rafters with the enthusiasm of the student body at a pep rally, as they greet the members of the basketball and hockey teams for the first time. This could be the occasion on which Mr. Mulaney will break his period of basketball silence and will let us in on what he thinks of the chances of the club will be in the coming campaigns.
Top Competition Scheduled
For Coach Rondeau's Sextet

If the varsity pucksters of Providence College should attain any honors during the forthcoming season, they will be well deserved because the Friars, according to the official 1955-56 schedule released this week, are taking on the top sextets in New England, New York, and from north of the border where hockey is slept and talked.

Among the formidable foes listed for clashes with our heroes are Princeton, Harvard, Dartmouth, R.P.I., Brown, Yale, B.U., Clarkson, St. Lawrence, and two Canadian representatives, Dalhousie University of Canada, and St. Francis Xavier from Nova Scotia.

Two years ago with freshman goaltender Phil Crawford giving a brilliant demonstration, Brown and White chewed the Tigers down in Nassau land, but last year the New Jersey sextet roared back with a decisive victory. The rubber games will be played on the nights of December 9th and 10th, with both contests scheduled for Princeton's home rink.

The Friars have a home and home schedule with Harvard, with one of the games being played on the Crimson's new rink. Harvard will be notably weakened by the absence of Bill Cleary, but the N.C.A.A.'s eastern representative will have a veteran crew supported by star goalie Chuck Flynn (28 saves vs. P.C.) and a crack freshmen team. Thus John Harvard looms as the team to beat in New England and the East.

It will be coach Eddie Jerimiah, the highly successful mentor of Dartmouth, against his very apt pupil Dick Rondeau, boss man at P.C., on the night of December 10th in the hills of Hanover, New Hampshire. It should be an interesting clash as both the Big Green and P.C. use the same basic offensive patterns.

Romeoie Polytech returns to the Friars schedule following a year's absence. The Engineers from Troy, New York, always have a power packed squad with several Canadian youths in the lineup. The game will be played on the R.P.I. ice. The Friars and their arch rival Brus east sextet have their annual intercollegiate series at the Rhode Island Auditorium, and this always provides thrills for supporters of both schools.

Brown will be noticeably hampered by the departure of their hero performer Mr. Dan Keefe, as they will have to dig up a new actor for this year's play. Shady Eddie Monahan will once again get a chance to play with his favorite Bulldog, that of Eli Yale, as the Rondoseners will try and break the two year New Haven Arena jinx.

The Friars will take that long walk in winding up the season against those Gotham giants Clarkson and St. Lawrence, in the latter's home palaces, but theانا from Providence Plantations don't scare too easily, as they witnessed Clarkson trouncing the West Point Cadets, and the very next night the Friars turned in the upset of the year, St. Lawrence an easy victor over the heavies will present a major stumbling block.

In their first major tournay, the Friars will engage Dalhousie and Tulsa, to whom they lost a high scoring heartbreaker last year, at the Lute, Massachusetts Arena, and B.U.'s Territies at the Boston Garden, all during the Christmas vacation. Well, hockey fans, here's that for a nice easy schedule?

Drill Team...

(Continued from Page 1)

Dr. J. A. Morrissey is the Director of the Drill Team for this coming season. Mr. Morrissey was already showing that he had the qualifications of being the team's future leader. Now that he holds that post, it is certain that his knowledge of fancy movements, and precision drill will be enacted.

Cadet Parenton is also well qualified. Being a veteran, he has the experience of working with and training men. Mr. Parenton has shown that he can conduct the team in an exceptional manner. His knowledge and experience are invaluable to the team.

The big highlight for the team this year, of course, will be the intercollegiate drill team competition, held sometime during May. For the last two years, P.C. has lost to the Air Force R.O.T.C. unit at Brown. Vengence will be had this year though, for the team is out to win, and it certainly has the spirit necessary for victory.

Home Coming...

(Continued from Page 1)

Each student is entitled to a ticket by virtue of his membership in the Athletic Association. If there is a desire for other tickets, the student should purchase his tickets at an early hour, preferably when he obtains his own, as the Alumni will be given an early choice at getting the tickets. Early purchasing will save later disappointments.

Sunday morning there will be Mass in Aquinas chapel at 11:15. Following Mass a dutch treat brunch at the cafeteria will be planned for those who desire it.

Edward T. Lewis, general chairman for the weekend, is pleased with the results and enthusiasm of the Alumni and undergraduates.

Patronize Our Advertisers