Central Roy P. Mass PMSKT To Retire From Active Service Col. Barnett To Be Successor

Colonel Roy P. Mass, Professor of Military Science and Tactics here at Providence College, has announced his retirement. Colonel Mass, due to retire from active military service on January 31, 1958, was honored with a formal military ceremony as the college guest of honor. Following the reviewing party consisting of the Very Reverend Robert J. Morris, President of the college, Colonel Russell, Chief, of the Rhode Island Military District and Colonel Norquist P. Barnett, Colonel Mass' successor, the reviewing party moved to the Quad, where, under the guidance of the Reserve Officer Training Corps, the large basketball powers as Dan T. D. T, who served as President of the college, and William McCue, formed the best team of the East, and placed the leading scorer in the East, and was named to the All-East College, and received 1st honors on national, sectional and/or combination on the Atlantic Coast. Made up this squad that defeated the state of Rhode Island, the Dominican Province of Saint Joseph, New York State, Colonel Barnett enrolled in the college in April 1951 with an enrollment of 531 cadets. At present, the cadet enrollment numbers 822, the largest in Rhode Island. Prior to his post here at Providence College, Colonel Mass had served in Africa and Italy during World War II and in Korea during the "Police Action." In 1948, he served as Commanding Officer of the 90TH summer camp at Fort Easton, Virginia. The Colonel's personal interest in training young men aspiring to become commissioned officers and his cooperation with the staff and faculty here at the college have been instrumental in developing widespread interest and enthusiasm for the Reserve Officer Training Corps activities in the student body. To show its appreciation, Providence College, under the leadership of the Colonel, an Honorary Degree of Master of Science, to Colonel Mass. These were given for his "untiring efforts, forewordness, keenness of mind, administrative experience" and "devotion of heart." Colonel Norquist P. Barnett will assume command upon the departure of Colonel Mass. Col. Barnett graduated from Western Maryland College in 1932, where he was commissioned as a Second Lieutenant. After a brief tour of CCC duty in Northern New York State, Colonel Barnett entered extended active duty in December 1945. He has been stationed serv. (Continued on Page 10)

Law School Exam Given Next Feb.
The Law School Admission Test to be held at Providence College this year has been scheduled for February 18, 1959. Students interested in taking the exam are now required to be admitted to Providence College, and are welcomed by most of the remaining. Pre-law students have been urged to take this exam. Students should find out from each law school in which they are interested whether or not this test is required for admission. Those taking exams must obtain Examination Bulletin and application from the Office of the Dean before January 28. Requirements, instructions for filling out application, and (Continued on Page 9)

Very Rev. William D. Marrin, O.P. Is Elected And Confirmed As Dominican Prior Provincial

The provincial headquarters of the Dominican Province of Saint Joseph has announced the election and confirmation of Very Rev. William D. Marrin, O.P., P.G., as prior provincial, succeeding Father Dermott T. Toomey, O.P., P.G., who served as provincial from 1940 until the present. The new provincial will have jurisdiction over 13 priories: the Dominican house, Aquinas College-High School, Columbus, Ohio; Providence College, the home mission activities, and the province's foreign mission project. Father Marrin was elected on November 6th at the Dominican House of Studies, Washington, D. C. His confirmation has just been received from the Ordinary of the Congregation of Santa Bakhita, on the Avenue in Rome. Father Marrin was born in Minneapolis, Minnesota. He attended Cretin High School, and Saint John's University in Collegeville, Minnesota. Entering the Dominican Order in 1927, he was ordained by Saint Joseph's Priory, Somerset, Ohio. He has served at Saint Mary's Priory, Washington, D. C. He was ordained at Saint Dominick's Dominican Church, Washington, D. C., on June 21, 1949, by Mother Thomas J. Aschan, rector of Catholic University. Father Marrin was assigned to teach at Aquinas College-High School, Columbus, Ohio, from 1923 to 1924. He was at Saint Pius Church, Chicago, from 1924 to 1925. He was at Saint Joseph's Priory, Illinois, from 1925 to 1929. He was at Saint Francis Priory, New Haven, Connecticut, from 1941 to 1945. Since 1945 he has been at Saint Vincent Ferrer's Church, New York, N. Y., serving as prior and pastor in order to prepare physically for the United States. During part of this year he has also served as vicar provincial while Father Dermott was in Rome serving as vicar general of the entire Order. The students of Providence College wish their very best to the new spiritual and temporal head of all the Dominican Fathers in Saint Joseph's Province.

Graduate Record Exams This Friday

Friday, December 16th and 17th have been chosen as the date for the Graduate Record Exam. This test is necessary for degree attainment and is compulsory for all. Although it is difficult to prepare for, the graduate student will be prepared. It is a test of general scholastic ability and consists of verbal reasoning, reasoning questions, reading comprehension and mathematical methods, such as questions on arithmetic reasoning, on algebra problems and on interpretation of graphs, diagrams and descriptive data. A good night's sleep is recommended in preparation for the test. The "importance of this examination cannot be over-emphasized." (Continued on Page 5)

Fast Before The Feast

The altar was bare of flowers. The priest was already in vestments. On the pulpit the season of Advent had begun. It was the beginning of the fast before the feast.

But in the Sunday newspapers the advertisements proclaimed the beginning of the holiday season. It was not a time for the Church to indicate its facilities for handling Christmas parties. Various companies sponsored advertisements for their wares in the local newspapers. Each department store had its special tie-ups for handling Christmas parties. Various advertisements proclaimed the beginning of the First Friday in the Advent season. We should not be preoccupied with an urbane sense of happiness.

Our fast is a memorial to the First Friday. It is a time to remember and to reflect on the wonderful promises attached to making the First Friday a memorable one by starting it with Almighty God!

The First Friday this coming Friday, December 2nd, is the First Friday of the month of December. All Providence College students are invited to the main desk in the Library and will receive an authentic copy of the First Fridays. Here at the College these are things that are of great importance to us and will be beneficial to us in the years to come. Let’s all make this coming First Friday a memorable one by starting it with Almighty God!

Salve, Guzmanite!

The Dominican pre-postulants of Guzman Hall, Providence College, were awarded the trophy for excellence in Latin awarded by the Association for the Promotion of the Study of Latin. All the students of Providence College have a right to be proud of our Dominican students. Although we do not have the winning students, they have always been most prominent in the intellectual and athletic life of the College. Their diligence and effort is clearly evidenced by their extraordinary showing in an A.P. Latin exam, given by the organization that bestowed the trophy for exceptional achievement in the Latin language.

The COWL extends its sincere congratulations to the students and to their professor, the Reverend Father John F. Young, S.J., who is in charge of the Latin program at Guzman Hall and who, we feel sure, will be the cause of much happiness for the success of his students. Carry on, Guzmanites, and hold high the name of our College and the sacred Order of Providence.

"I’m Sorry, Sir!"

A librarian, not the dumpy and dowdy recluse found in popular literary fiction, is a well-dressed woman with an urban sense of humor. Approaches the main desk with a dusty look, takes a look at the pages, she asks quietly, "Are you a student?"

"Yes" is the reply, a mixture of pride and the assumption. "I’m sorry, sir. You can’t have the book."

This is a scene, often re-enacted in our library. To be the victim of this situation is heartbreaking.

But this situation can be frustrating. The student is someone eager for knowledge, and the librarian must squelch that eagerness.

For the sake of the student we will list them. For the sake of the student we will list them.

For the sake of the student we will list them.

BOOK REVIEW

During its desperate hours of the spring of 1864, the winning Confederate hastily erected in the burning heat of Central Georgia a war prison for holding the prisoners of war. It was a twenty acre stockade, with practically no provisions or sanitary arrangements. A maximum of 2000 men were guarded by the refusal of a military state and commanded by an incompetent named Henri Wirz. In its history, this jail drank the blood of more Yankee soldiers than the battle of Bull Run, Gettysburg, Chickamauga, Chattanooga, and Knoxville combined. This infamous prison named Andersonville. This infamous prison was outlived by its usefulness. For the Church the prisoner-student, and then removed from the监, was superseded by a more recent or more scholarly work. But it may still be of value for this assumption is diplomatic as well as rhetorical.

The COWL will gladly surrender the work into the hands of someone who does not look intellectual enough to read the journal. Although simple-minded people are preferred, other adults will do.

Reading could be made ineffective if enough people used the methods, listed above. If the library could be made to recapitulate this fact, it might be possible for them to reassess the value of the books, now underutilized, and increase the number of available books.

As it stands, the rule is kin to the many antiquated and ridiculous laws, which have outlived their usefulness.

Nebulous Notions

By Dave Popin

This coming Thursday, the Providence College will join the long list of colleges that celebrate an annual Homecoming Weekend. It will be the first Homecoming since 1950. The Homecoming would be quite different from the first homecoming which was celebrated at Rhode Island College in 1954. The President of Providence College, Paul Varland, the head of the alumni association, was quite pleased with the event.

It was in the year 1897 when Paul first conceived the idea to sponsor a Homecoming. It was the first time in many years, exactly one hundred twenty years, that the College had a Homecoming.

After conferring with the president of the college, a校友, they decided that the homecoming would be held on the campus of the college, instead of the block party at the College of the Holy Cross.

Five Candidates Vying For First Homecoming Queen

Five Finalists Seek Her Majesty Title

The only remaining problem confronting the committees of the Friars Formal is the selection of the Queen, the complexity of which will be solved in the following manner. The five finalists' pictures will be on display at the dance. Each couple attending will receive two ballots at the door which they will cast for one of the finalists. Shortly before intermission the ballots will be tallied and the queen will be presented at intermission. Finalists for the position of queen are Miss Ann Wall, who will be representing the Providence Club and escorted by Ronnie Sullivan; Miss Doris Cluley, who will be representing Alpha Epsilon Delta and escorted by Art Hagen; Miss Jean Riley will represent the Blackstone Valley Club and be escorted by Jim Rinaldi; Miss Marilyn Roth representing the Metropolitan Club will be escorted by Jack Biedy. The queen of the Friars Formal will also be queen of Homecoming Weekend at which "Her Majesty" will be presented to the Alumni Association at their dinner dance to be held the same night at Harkins Hall. Saturday evening she will preside over the various activities presented by the Alumni Association. Students are reminded that tickets for the luncheon on Saturday and evening dance are on sale at the Alumni office.

Nebulous Motion...

(Continued from Page 2) It is very near future, changes will be made as to the method of feeding the students... It would be very nice if the Alma Mater were sung at all the basketball games. (Of course everyone knows the world). .

Major Items Covered At Congress Meeting

At the November meeting of the Student Congress several lively debates arose. One of the most heated concerned a bill introduced by Rep. Bill Sweeney, '57, which was designed to restrict invitations to Friars Formal. This was opposed by others who felt that it would be embarrassing to girls to have to prove their age at the door. Several representatives who opposed the plan indicated that they would be willing to support it if higher school girls were admitted. This was opposed by others who felt that it would give the way for the younger ones and eventually defeat the purpose of the bill.

A test vote in the Congress showed that the sentiment of the majority was evenly divided pro and con. Most of the Congressmen recognized the existence of the problem and realized that something should be done to eliminate the situation, but were disagreed as to the best mean of accomplishing this. The bill has been referred to the Legislative Committee for study. Committee Chairman Dan Harrington has announced that he will hold hearings on the measure and urge interested to come and express their views.

The Congress also passed a bill prohibiting the inclusion of "affectionate clubs" in the Veritas. The act was passed with only two dissenting votes and was signed into law by President Walsh.

Among the major campus terminations affected by WDOM, the college radio station. Although the station has functioned infrequently in the past few years, this has not always been the fault of the station itself, since it has experienced transmission difficulties and still is in need of an adequate room. Nevertheless, several Congressmen felt that it should not be included in the yearbook unless it is functioning in the very near future. One spokesman pointed out that, "it would be foolish to include the COWL if it is not put on the air. The Pyramid Playmakers if they never put on a production, and everyone would certainly be up in arms if the Congress were included and never held a meeting or performed any of its governmental functions."

It was announced this week, by President Walsh that Club Presidents will be held responsible for any and all violations of rules regarding campus social functions. The Presidents are liable to prosecution in the Student Court for failure to enforce them.

A PRIVILEGE

It is a privilege for the student body of this institution to be admitted to some practice sessions. Keep this in mind lest you will find the doors locked some day!
Presenting

By John Hannon

Through thick and thin, without special gifts and endowments, Providence College has made its way to a peak that was not dreamed of only a short 20 years ago. It was the year 1915 when the Right Reverend Matthew Harkins, D.D., Bishop of Providence, issued an invitation to the Dominican Fathers of the Province of St. Joseph to found and staff a college in Rhode Island. The following year, 1916, saw Bishop Harkins' cherished hope, to provide a school of higher education for Catholic men, begin to bear fruit. It was in this year that preliminary organization was begun by the Very Reverend Raymond Meagher, O.P. The year 1917 was a banner year; it saw the acquisition of the necessary charter from the Rhode Island General Assembly. In the spring of 1917, the construction of Harkins Hall was officially begun, and it was dedicated with due ceremony on Sunday, May 25, the year of the golden anniversary of Bishop Harkins.

From the erection of this first structure Providence College has progressed to the point where it is now composed of ten buildings, a prestigious number, considering the short length of time and finances with which the College has had to build.

Turning into the main drive of the college, one is overwhelmed by the beauty of the well kept and expertly landscaped grounds. The view straight ahead shows Harkins Hall to have lost none of the beauty of its Gothic architecture. Walking up the tree-lined sidewalk past the two beautiful gate posts on which is inscribed the seal and motto of the College, one comes, to the new modern and beautifully designed Albertus Magnus Hall, home of the science student. A further glimpse around the beautiful campus shows us the dormitories, Aquinas Hall, the first to be built, and the two recently acquired buildings, St. Joseph Hall and Stephen Hall. Going further we see Donnelly Hall, St. Thomas House, Antonines Hall, Guzman Hall, the very beautiful War Memorial Grotto, and finally we come to the awe inspiring edifice Alumni Hall, the recently constructed two and one half million structure, the hope and culmination of a hope born long before in the hearts of many. One of the most beautiful and best constructed buildings to be found anywhere in the U. S., Alumni Hall serves as a multi-purpose building which includes: a classroom building with seating capacity for 3,500; a student health center providing medical facilities for examination and treatment; and general exercise rooms; a new modern dining hall with seating capacity for 3,500; a student health center providing medical facilities for examination and treatment; and general exercise rooms; a new modern dining hall for day students, with tables for 450 at each sitting; a guest home for visiting teams, and an alumni meeting center with conference room for the board of governors. It is a structure that defies word description and must be seen to be believed.

fully appreciated. Alumni Hall is not only a building of which the College itself is proud, but it stands as a great monument to architectural beauty of which the whole community can be proud.

To the average student Alumni Hall has fulfilled part of a dream, a dream which perhaps began when plans were first announced for its construction or perhaps when the first glimpse was had of its skeletal framework shortly after the commencement of actual construction. It signifies the center of campus activities and the satisfying of the student's out of class needs. It is quite a staggering thought to think of the opportunities which this building affords. A student may without setting foot outside its doors, attend a lecture or an assembly, watch a basketball game, have dinner, play ping pong, relax in a lounge indoors, or in warmer weather, relax on one of the sun decks, practice golf, take a shower or steam bath, play squash, handball, badminton, volleyball and shuffleboard. In case of the necessity of medical attention a student may visit the college doctors. Therefore, it is with great pride that we look forward to the weekend of December 2 when Alumni Hall will launch itself into a new and exciting era in its athletic history. Playing a heavy schedule of twenty-three games the Friar hoopsters will take on such powers as St. Francis College, St. John's University, Georgetown University, Notre Dame University, and Holy Cross College, to mention but a few. It is therefore fitting that this weekend will go down in history; it is P.C.'s first formal homecoming weekend and also the inauguration of Alumni Hall. It is the general consensus of the faculty and student body that this affair will be an overwhelming success. Eager and enthusiastic alumni and undergraduates are working hand in hand to insure the favorable outcome of this great occasion.

On Friday evening, Dec. 2, the annual and ever popular Friars' Formal will be held in Aquinas Lounge. On Saturday, Dec. 3 there will be a varsity luncheon in honor of the great basketball team of 1928-29, of which three members were All-American choices. Later in the day from three to five-thirty there will be a tea dance held in Harkins Hall to which all undergraduates are invited. At five-thirty, an informal supper with the faculty in the cafeteria of Alumni Hall is scheduled. At seven that night the festivities and excitement will reach their peak as the freshman team tangles with the young "Cubs" from across the city. Then at eight-thirty the varsity contest will begin with our traditional rivals from Brown. On Sunday morning Mass will be held in Aquinas Chapel at eleven-thirty with a Dutch treat brunch to follow for those who desire it. Therefore, it is felt that the seven thousand alumni, the faculty and the undergraduate student body can be justifiably proud of this new era which is about to begin in the history of Providence College.
By Paul Powers
Coach Joe Mullaney

This is Joe's first year here at P. C. and he is faced with quite a task in the Friars heavy schedule. Mullaney comes to the P. C. campus fresh from a very successful season at the helm of the varsity team at Norwich. He has compiled a record of 17-3. Mullaney is not new to the game of basketball by any means, having been a member of the championship Holy Cross teams and then a member of the pro Boston Celtics.

For a month now Joe has been running his squad of 17 through preliminary drills, offenses, and defenses for the coming season. Joe has found quite a job to pick five boys who will be able to work together as a starting unit, come the opening whistle Saturday.

Captain Don Moran

This will be Don's third year as a member of the varsity unit and he will be out to make this his best. Don stands about six feet four and has a good set shot and can drive well. He is also one of the better defensive players on the squad.

Larkey Collamore

This will also be Larrey's third year as a varsity member. He is one of Mullaney's big men who can move fairly well around the bucket, and he is also a good rebounder. Although he has not seen much action in the last couple of seasons he is expected to be in there quite often.

Ralph Tedesco

Ralph is the third senior on the ball club this year. He is a good set shot and hits pretty regularly with his jump shot. Two years ago as a sophomore he averaged over 100 in assists against URI. He has seen considerable action in the last two years and should be in there a lot this year.

Ed Donahue

Donahue returns to the basketball wars after a year's layoff because of sickness. Donahue can do anything, from playing point-guard as a ball handler or underneath as a rebounder. Although slowed by his sickness, Ed has been coming along and will be playing quite readily.

Skip Karam

Karam did not play frosh ball last season and so he could also be called a newcomer to P. C. He is small, has a good one hand shot and is a good ball hawk.

John Ritch

John is one of Mullaney's "big men" standing 6'6". He finished second to Pascale last year as the team's leading scorer. Ritch is a one hander, who is good on defense and is a good rebounder. He is also a fine rebounder.

Al. Cahill

Cahill is one of the new players here at P. C. He is also a big man, but has been hampered by a knee injury all month long. He is an aggressive ball player, who can really get up under the boards for those offensive rebounds. He is good on defense and is a good long shot.

Frankie Williams

Here is the original hustler. Standing only a mere 5'8". Frankie is all over the court. For the size of him he gives the big boys quite a rough time. Not much of a shot, he makes up for it with his play making and hustle.

Bob Ferriter

Bob is another newcomer to P. C. He is a steady ball player with a good one hand set and jump shot as his chief offensive weapon. He is also a good defensive player.

Mike Pascale

There's not much that can be said about Mike, only that he is probably the best shot on the team. This he showed last year, long two point jump shot when he was the Friars leading scorer. He uses his jump shot to good advantage. He is also a fine rebounder.

ball was also planned for Saturday night.

The alumni started arriving Friday night and, as was the custom, they decided to get together at the local tavern. Many was the king of ale that was rolled out and many was the Hale grad who was likewise rolled out. At four in the morning when the local gendarmes broke up the party it was unanimously decided to make this part of every homecoming (except at P. C.).

The rugby match the following day was well attended, but no fate would have it, Hale was trounced by Richmond. The men of Hale seemed to be playing in a fog and their star players were in their beds suffering from acute cases of post-Bacchannal misery (a hangover). The loss of the game did little to dampen the spirits at the ball that night however. The ladies in their long flowing gowns, and the men in their silk shirts and satin knickers looked the pinnacle of fashion. As the ball progressed many old acquaintances were renewed and many new ones were made. At twelve, as the orchestra finished a minuet, a toast was proposed to the proud name of Hale. This was followed by a toast to the student body, then to the Alumni, then to the rugby team, each man individually, and so on through the night till at last, with only a few couples left standing, someone proposed a toast to Richmond.

Homecoming has come down through the years to this grand old tradition. It has become a time for meeting again with old friends. We hope that it will become a tradition at P. C. that every one of you will come back for Homecoming weekend, which will be the first, will not be the last.
By Paul Powers

First Homecoming Weekend

Friday evening will be the beginning of the first Homecoming Week, and in the history of P. C. This will be quite a huge weekend for most of P. C., with the alumni returning to get the opening of the athletic plant named in their honor. The Alumni Hall is on tap for Friday evening also.

On the sports front, the Friar hockey team will get things under way when they take on the Eastern representatives of the U. S. Olympic hockey team over at the R. L. Auditorium. This will be the Friars second year in varsity competition, and a win over the Olympic representatives would certainly get their 1956-57 season off with a bang.

But, above all, everyone is waiting for Saturday night and the official opening of Alumni Hall. For a month now coach Joe Mullane has been running his squad through drills preparing for the big night. He will be standing room only when the Friars take the floor for their initial start in their new gym.

Friday evening will be a cry from the days when the Friars had to be content in using the playing surface in Harkins Hall for their home floor. This will be the first time since the playing days in Harkins Hall that the Friars can really call a playing floor home. City Gym and the Mt. Pleasant High School floors have been home to the Friars in recent years.

1939 Squad To Be Honored

This is the day when high scoring games are the prevalent thing in the game of basketball. Gone are the days when you would pick up your newspaper and read of a college game being played to 30-29 score or maybe as high as 50-45. These days are in the past and the scores usually are soaring into the hundreds, with scores like 110-108, or 115-112.

This weekend will also be a time in which the onlookers will hearken back the names you will be hearing when the Friars take the floor come 1950 when it was snapped by the Pennsylvania product, Schlimm. But, above all, everyone is waiting for Saturday night and the official opening of Alumni Hall.

The probable starting lineup for the Olympic team will include George Wineapple, a former La Salle High School star, who was voted the top man in the schoolboy hockey tourney here last year. Wineapple was the first of the great basketball players to be produced from Providence College. This is the day when high scoring games are the prevalent thing in the game of basketball. Why do more college men and women smoke Viceroy's than any other filter cigarette?

Because only Viceroy gives you 20,000 filter traps in every filter tip, made from a pure natural substance found in delicious fruits and other edibles!

1. Yes, only Viceroy has this filter composed of 20,000 tiny filter traps. You cannot obtain the same filtering action in any other cigarette.

2. The Viceroy filter wasn't just whipped up and rushed to market to meet the new and skyrocketing demand for filtered cigarettes. Viceroy pioneered. Started research more than 37 years ago to create the pure and perfect filter.

3. Smokers en masse report that filtered Viceroy's have a flavor even finer than cigarettes without filters. Rich, satisfying, yet pleasantly mild.

4. Viceroy draws so easily that you wouldn't know, without looking, that it even had a filter tip. . . and Viceroy's cost only a penny or two more than cigarettes without filters!

That's why more college men and women smoke Viceroy's than any other filter cigarette. . . that's why Viceroy is the largest-selling filter cigarette in the world!

Tickets On Sale For "Stalag 17"

With eight rehearsals remaining, the Pyramid Players' production of "Stalag 17" is progressing steadily. The first "no script" rehearsal was held yesterday and proved satisfactory.

After working with principals for over a week the entire cast was assembled and put through their paces Monday. Director Dick McCarthy was pleased with the progress shown and feels confident that a polished performance will be given.

This play is the first non-musical produced by the club in several years. It is hoped that with a successful production, interest in the organization will be aroused sufficiently to produce another one before the spring musical.

Script changes have been small, mostly of a technical nature. The narrowing of the stage made it necessary. The productionesta the all that made it such a spectacular Broadway hit.

Tickets will go on sale shortly for the Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday performances, December 11th, 12th, and 13th. Students will be allowed free admission either by showing the button on their card, or naming over a ticket from the back of the activity book.

Farmers' Festival Flavor: Country-Style Barn Dance

On Friday night, November 18th, the Farmers' Festival was held at Harrison Hall. Approximately two hundred couples attended the annual dance. Music was provided by Eddie Zeck's orchestra and a competent "caller" kept the pace during the square dances. It being the case that P.C. students are, at best, duds, this proved to be a very amusing part of the evening.

The ball, which was superbly decorated by co-chairmen Don Fandetti and Frank Mastrolla, conveyed adequately the atmosphere of a "fair real" country-style barn dance. The little white ball that was pointed in front of the stage, probably thought it was being judged for a "mammy-top-this" award for all the attention it received. For the chickens in the Rotunda, if they ever do lay eggs again, their offspring will probably range from three-legged wingless hens to none-eyed bald igles.

The lounge, cider and donuts were served to the couples. For some reason, however, the pie for the pie-eating contest couldn't be found and thereby deprived this year's Festival of the traditional pies. There is some rumor, though, that a certain segment of those concerned with P. C. and blueberry pie for dinner. Perhaps if we hired Captain Queeg to investigate.

All in all, the dance was a happy affair and served to further enhance its present standing as an annual social function.

Doyle, McDonough
Swim Club Officers

At the last club meeting, Tony Doyle, '57, was elected vice president and Jack McDonough, '58, was elected to the office of treasurer, thus completing the slate of officers for this year's Swim Club.

The club meets at the Wanskuck Boys' Club every Monday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday from 5:30 to 8:00 p.m. At this date there are forty-six members. Anyone who signed up for the swimming team should get in touch with one of the officers so as to go to the Wanskuck Boys' Club on Branch Avenue. For those members who do not have transportation and from the pool, we ask that you meet in front of the cafe- teria at 3:30, and you will be taken care of.

All of the members who have signed up for the swimming team, should try to practice every day so that our coach, Bill Crusati, can look over the material.

The purpose of the swimming Club is to offer relaxation to those members who have only a little time for physical exercise which is much needed. However, the club wishes to organize a team which Providence College has been unable to form in the past few years. Therefore, we are looking for experienced men or willing beginners.

Lounge. A Tea Dance will be held later that afternoon from 3:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. for the enjoyment of Undergraduates and Alumni. At 5:30 p.m. the Alumni will be host at a supper with the faculty.

Then at 7:00 p.m. the Freshmen will face off against Brown Freshmen, and the varsity game will start at 8:15 p.m. This promises to be one of the real exciting games of the year, since in past years the games with Brown, our arch-rivals from College Hill, have never been decided until the last few seconds. The team has always been "up" for a game against Brown and with the dedication of the new gym the game will be even more intensely fought.

There will be a post-game gash fest and coffee hour after the game in the student lounge of Alumni Hall. On Sunday morning, Mass will be celebrated in Aquinas Hall Chapel at 11:15 a.m. and there will be a Dutch treat brunch in the school cafeteria at twelve noon.

Chairman John E. Farrell, '26, of the Varsity Club Luncheon committee, reports great success in lining up the members of the 1928-29 basketball team for the luncheon in their honor on Saturday. It is expected that the whole team will be there, including the three All-Americans of that year. These three men are the Rev. Alonzo Krieger, Eddie Wineapple, and Bill McCune.

The Undergraduates and the Alumni are looking forward to what may very well be the biggest and most successful weekend in Friar history. And with this coming weekend, history will be written.

the snow, N. Y. McCue is employed in industry in Paterson, N. J. Wheeler of Newport, R. I., the team captain, tallied 100 points, following up a brilliant high school career. At Rogers High School, he was twice selected on the all-New England squad when that team captured the title two years in succession. He was an exceptional ballhandler and a good dribbler. He is employed by the Department of Employment Security in Providence.

Segula of Ware, Mass., was the center and one of the best rebounders on the East coast and a consistent scoring threat. He is now principal of Ware High School.

William Gainer of Troy, N. Y., the "sixth man," is now a restaurant owner in that city.

The coach of this consort of colonials stars was Art McCollum. He was single out for honors for his excellent team management.

Entering the initial game of the 1928-29 campaign, basketball at Providence College was only three years old and the school was practically unknown among the major hoop powers of the East, namely, Yale, Dartmouth, St. John, and Holy Cross.

The Priests opened their season in a thunderclap of glory, sweeping the favored clubs from the scene with a six-day blaze of lightning. On Dec. 12, Dartmouth fell, 24-31, thanks to a last minute basket by Wineapple; on Dec. 15, Yale bowed, 28-27, and on Dec. 18, Winning's touch was again evident as St. John's succumbed, 22-30. When this week passed, Providence College found itself ranked third in the national poll, surpassed only by Fordham and St. Johns. At this time it was clear that the Providence quintet was one of the best in this section.

Revenge was sweet for the Priests when they traveled to Worcester and subdued Holy Cross, an amount which had existed between the two schools since the previous baseball season, when Holy Cross had refused to cross bat with Providence. The Crusaders had won the Massachusetts championship, and P. C. had gained the Rhode Island title. Many fans wished to see the inter-state title.

The Black and White won the city rivalry by outscoring Brown, 49-23, at the losers' court. Not since the late 'Twenties had such a fabulous array of stars congregated on a P. C. court, but with the opening of Alumni Hall it is hoped that this school will become a Mecca for outstanding high school hoop players.

At any rate, this team, along with hundreds of other alumni, will flock to the campus this weekend with this aspiration highest in their minds.
