The "Dorm" Weekend, the three-day period of festivity and social activity which marks the high-point of the recreational function carried on by the Carolan Club, will begin this Friday even, Feb. 11 at Aquinas Hall. The activities will be under the direction of Jack Connolly, "50, President of the "C" Club and W. New Science Hall Blessed by Bishop

Climaxing well over a year and a half of planning and work, the College's newest addition in its expansion program, the Albertus Magnus Science Hall, was formally dedicated by the Most Rev. Russell J. McVinney, D.D., Bishop of Providence, on Thursday, January 27, the first day of a three-

Researchers Speak At Phi-Chi Meeting

Need of a sound philosophy and principles in addition to a knowledge of sciences was declared essential to the defense and security of the United States, Mr. Thomas F. Rogers, attached to the governmental research laboratory of the Air Force's Air Material Command in Cambridge, Mass., said in a lecture before thirty-five members at the monthly meeting of the Pi-Chi Club last Thursday evening in the Albertus Magnus demonstration laboratory. Mr. Rogers, an honor graduate of Providence College, in the class of 1945, told the members of the club, all either physics or chemistry majors, that discoveries and decisions made in laboratories would affect thousands of lives, millions of dollars, and the nation. He said, princes must be exercised in revealing scien-

The picture on the front page of this week's Cowl may well be worth a thousand words. It shows Bishop McVinney hanging the Crucifix on the wall of the Auditorium in Albertus Magnus Hall.

The picture deserves more than a passing glance. It is a remarkable symbol of the religious freedom that we in the United States enjoy. More than that, the symbolism can be carried further to a comparison with the tragic situation in other, less fortunate countries. While Bishop McVinney is hanging the Crucifix on the wall of a college auditorium, the Crucifix in those countries dominated by Marxist Communism is being taken down from its lofty and rightful place. Witness Yugoslavia where Archbishop Stepinac has been taken down from its lofty and rightful place.

Close inspection of the photo of Bishop McVinney and the Crucifix should bring some realization, at least, of the value of religious freedom. Our duty, of course, in these days of danger, should be to make the Auditorium in Albertus Magnus Hall.

The long stretch. Not too many days off this semester. Washington's birthday, Feb. 22 and Feast of St. Thomas Aquinas, March 7, are the only scheduled ones aside from Easter recess which begins Wednesday, March 13 and ends Thursday, 21. It was learned from a reliable source, however, that any one who received six A's, one of which must be in Theology, will be allowed an extra holiday. The Feast of the Ascension falls on the 26 of May, the middle of exam week.

Just for the record. Bill Crofton, '72, won the basketball contest conducted by Paul's Shoe Store several weeks ago. The usual total of the St. John's-Holy Cross contest. His guess was 75-34. For his expert divining he gets a pair of Bostonian shoes.

Attention air-minded. Advanced technical students at F. C. inc. notified by California Institute of Technology to apply for new award Hughes Fellowships in Aeronautics. The purpose is to train engineers whose special training in physical science and mathematical tools will be adequate to deal with problems in advanced theoretical aeronautics. The fellowships are worth $1,500. Three of them will be awarded. Further information can be obtained by writing the California Institute of Technology.

Attention Chemistry majors. Zinzer of the Personnel Service of Chicago will select a limited number of students with B.S. in chemistry for positions in the Production bureau is soliciting men for service with firms who have base locations in these areas. The training pay is $280 a month. Increases in salary are given after six months of service. Further information can be had by writing the Zinzer Personnel Service, The West Monroe Street, Chicago 3.

Student Assembly. Next Tuesday, Father Bernhardt, S.J., will give an illustrated lecture on the Madonna in Art, at 8:30 and 11:30 assemblies. He is an instructor of Greek and Art at Westminster College, Weston, Massachusetts.

War Memorial. Student ticket returns for Cape Cod House and other big prizes February 25 is R. I. Auditorium are coming in at a pretty good clip. Chaplain reports. However, if total debt of Groto is to be paid off, each student must hustle around and sell his two books plus a little bit more. There is just about two more weeks of good selling time left.

Yearbook News. Veritas editors, especially Jack Feely and Valentine Cruz, would like to have pictures of children of senior fathers before fifteenth of this month. So far, only twenty-one approximately have been submitted. We know, however, there are twice that many children who have P.C. seniors as fathers, the editors say.

Every summer hundreds of ambitious American students eagerly go forth to foreign countries in search of further education and culture. After a two or three months' whirlwind of study and activity, they return to native shores much wiser, in most cases, in knowledge and experience. It is the wishful yearning of many to appreciate this broadening aspect of the educational process. Unfortunately, the cost is tremendous and, consequently, few, other than sons of wealthy sires or recipients of generous scholarships, can afford going abroad to school.

However, the VA stands ready to lighten the financial burden of a veteran desiring summer training at a college or university in Europe or in any other country, for that matter, approved by the VA.

A veteran in training anticipating such a move this summer should delay no longer in making necessary arrangements, the Education and Training Division of the VA in Providence advises us. In brief, one's procedure should go like this: Firstly, you must obtain acceptance by the school of your choice. This should be done at once since delays and snags encountered in long range correspondence might delay issuance of approval by the VA beyond sailing date. Secondly, after acceptance by the college or university, you make application for a supplementary certificate of eligibility to the VA.

If all is in order, you will get your subsistence and tuition in accordance with the stipulations entitled in P. L. 18 and 346. Of course there's a lot more to it—transportation, accommodations, and so on—but at least the (Continued on Page 3)

Chaplain Seeks 500 Helpers for Sale

The Rev. Charles McKenna, O.P., Chaplain of the College, issued yester­day a call for five hundred volun­teers to work at the gigantic penny sale to be held at the R. J. Auditorium on February 23. Reporting that approximately one-third of the ticket books issued to students have been sold and returned, he urged that re­turns for the others be made as soon as possible.

This week in the rotunda some of the 493 prizes to be given away have been but on display. The displays are changed daily to give the students some idea of the vast assortment of prizes that will be awarded at the penny sale. Articles on display range from refrigerators to jewelry sets and include television sets, tires, washing machines and numerous other prizes.

A seventy-page booklet, containing a history of the Grotto also lists each prize and the name of the donor. Approximately 13,000 of these are now being printed and will be distributed on the 20th of the month.

Honor Roll...

Unfortunately, Fr. Dore said, because of an unexpected shortage of clerical help toward the end of this past semester, it was impossible to have the certificates inscribed and in the mail along with the semester report cards.

However, he added, they will be made available as soon as possible. The certificates, in all probability, will be mailed out in a later assembly.

Also, according to the history and constitution of Delta Epsilon Sigma, national scholastic honor society for students of Catholic colleges and universit­ies, some students on the Dean’s List are in the position of becoming accepted into the Theta Chapter of the society at Providence College.

As stated in part in the constitution of Delta Epsilon Sigma, “Selection of members will be determined on the basis of effective scholarship, be­speaking at once a superior rating by the teaching staff through the medium of grades attained and indications of a capability to make learning effective by bringing the principles of Cath­olic philosophy to bear upon the problems of a modern free society.

Members are chosen from the mem­bers of the undergraduate and gradu­ate divisions of the college, devoted to work in the liberal arts. The con­stitution lists the following qualifica­tions: Students chosen shall be within one year of graduation; they shall have maintained a scholastic rating of at least “B” or its honor equivalent. They shall also be possessed of such character traits as to make member­ship in Delta Epsilon Sigma benefi­cial to all concerned.

Students eligible for membership may be nominated in their junior year, but they shall not be inducted into the society prior to the beginning of their senior year. The total number elected in any one year, however, shall not exceed ten per cent of the total potential in the school.

Before forming his own orchestra, he was featured vocalist with the old Glen Miller band. Eberle’s latest en­gagement was at the Hotel New York­er in New York City, where his style was described by Broadway critics as being “soft, easy, and completely danceable”. His sensational run there attracted the prom crowd as well as the oldsters.

In addition, his voice and his or­chestra have been heard from coast to coast on all major networks. Some of Eberle’s latest recordings include “Berenice in Blue” and “We Just Couldn’t Say Goodbye.”

opportunity is brought within the range of the more meager purse. Although not pertaining to the above, the Occupational Outlook Service, Bureau of Labor Statistics, U.S. Department of Labor has fur­nished some interesting sidelights to the VA regarding employment pros­pects in the near future.

The outlook will expand within the next few years for college graduates in the fields of medicine, psychology, kindergartens and elementary school teaching and certain phases of elec­tricity. While in the fields of engineer­ing, chemistry, pharmacy, law and personnel relations, competition will grow keener.

had been solemnly dedicated in honor of Albertus Magnus.

Following the dedication, a recep­tion was held and dinner was served in Aquinas Hall for the guests of the college.

On Friday, faculty members of New England colleges and prominent edu­cators of the country met at a recep­tion and dinner in Aquinas Hall.

After an inspection tour of the science hall, they heard a lecture by Profes­sor Karl F. Hertzfeld, Ph.D. So. D., Professor of Physics at the Catholic University of America, Washington, D.C. "If Nature’s Laws Were Different..."

Hundreds of high school science students in the Providence vicinity and their teachers toured the build­ing on Saturday morning. In the af­ternoon, alumni and the general pub­lic inspected it.
