Volunteers Wanted; Inquire Fr. McKenna About Penny Sale

The Rev. Charles H. McKenna, O.P., Chaplain of the College, has announced that there will be a special meeting of all student volunteers for the mammoth Penny Sale tomorrow evening at seven-thirty in the Harkins Hall Auditorium. Although many members of the student body have offered their assistance thus far, Father McKenna said that many more will be needed in order to handle most efficiently the selling of tickets and the distribution of prizes at the sale. Profit realized by the huge raffle, scheduled for Saturday evening, Feb. 26, at the Rhode Island Auditorium, is expected to liquidate the $90,000 debt still remaining on the college's war Memorial, the Grotto of Our Lady of the Rosary.

Returns on the tickets for the three biggest awards to be offered on the night of the sale are irregular and Father McKenna asked the students both to return the stubs they may now have on hand and also to make a concerted effort to sell their remaining tickets. Up until the tabulation of Saturday noon, the Freshmen were leading with 426 books sold. The Sophomores were second with 214 returned, while the Juniors with 197 sets in led the Seniors who had sold 155.

First prize of the three will be a five-room Cape Cod Cottage valued at $9000, which will be erected within a fifty-mile radius of Providence. If the winner of the house is present at the time of the drawing, he will receive one thousand dollars bonus. A 1949 Chevrolet sedan will be awarded as second prize, while a twelve hundred dollar Stromberg-Carlson AM-FM Radio and Victrola will go to the third prize winning ticket holder.

On exhibition in the Rotunda this past week was several of the six hundred prizes to be raffled off at the sale. With no one prize valued at less

New Appointments Made to Alembic By W. B. Henry

Alembic Editor, Wales B. Henry, has announced the appointment of three new men to the Staff of the College Literary Quarterly, and the promotion of two students to Associate Editorships. Appointments to the Staff of the Alembic are made on the basis of the literary quality of the work submitted by the appointee. John J. Lynch, '49, and Clifford J. Brott, '50, will assume the positions of associate editors; George H. Cochran, '51, and William Honnen, '49, will be added to the Literary Board. Edward R. Leonard, '51, has been appointed Staff Artist.

Lynch, Senior Arts student from Lonsdale, Rhode Island, is a frequent contributor to the Alembic. His "Gross Negligence," a commentary essay on student apathy which appeared in the December issue of the Alembic, aroused much comment amongst the student body. He also conducts the Exchange Section of the school periodical.

Marriage Courses For Student Body To Start March 6

A course of lectures on Courtship and Marriage for the general student body and friends of the college will be given by the Rev. Charles H. McKenna, O.P., and the Rev. William R. Clark, O.P., Sunday evenings during Lent in the Albertus Magnus auditorium. The first lecture, March 6, will be on "Love and Marriage" and will start at 8:00 p. m.

Unlike previous years, the lectures will be conducted by only two members of the faculty. The talks will be patterned after the fashion of a "dual pulpit" technique with Fathers Clark and McKenna alternating in the role of "Devil's Advocate".

("Devil's Advocate" is the title given to one of the principles in the process of canonization of a saint; his duties are to offer every possible objection to the saint's canonization.)

Open discussions, with questions from the audience invited, will follow the formal lecture. Questions may be written or oral. Inquiries may also be deposited in the Chaplain's mailbox during the week.

It is also the plan of the lecturers to distribute an outline of the evening's talk at each meeting.

The schedule of lectures are as follows:
March 6—"Love and Marriage."
March 13—"Courtship and Chastity."
March 20—"Masculine and Feminine Differences."
March 27—"Money Matters."
April 3—"The Legal Side."

Fr. Slavin Heads Brotherhood Week

The Very Rev. Robert J. Slavin, O.P., President of the College, has been appointed Rhode Island Chairman of "Brotherhood Week" by Nelson Rockefeller, the National Chairman. "Brotherhood Week" will begin Feb. 20 and end Feb. 27.

Tertiary Group Plans Discussion of Book On Religious Life

At the next meeting of the Dominican Tertiaries on Feb. 22, 9:30 a. m., in Aquinas Lounge, the members will discuss Father Keller's You Too Can Change the World, the Rev. John C. Rubba, O.P., Tertiary moderator, said last week.

The discussion, an important feature of every Third Order meeting, will follow two ten-minute dissertations of Father Keller's book by two members of the Order.

Following the discussion Arthur Rogers, '50, will present a brief talk about Blessed Martin de Porres, Dominican Tertiary who is being considered for canonization in 1950. Following Rogers' talk, each Tertiary at the meeting will be called upon to present some phase of Blessed Martin's life.

A Latinized version of the Dominican Tertiaries' Manual will be offered for the consideration of the college chapter of the Third Order, Father Rubba said. These manuals, he said, are available in Rome and contain

Junior Veridames To Hold Annual Dance

The fourth annual "Queen of Hearts" dance, sponsored by the Junior Veridames of Providence College, will be held Friday evening in Harkins Hall, Miss Ann Sherlin, publicity director for the dance, said this week.

Music for the occasion, which is to be semi-formal, will be furnished by the Leonard Brothers. Added attraction will be the crowning of a Valentine Queen.

Miss Eva De Tommaso is chairman of the committee in charge of planning the dance. Others on the committee include the Misses Marion Hickey, Patricia M. McNamee, Doris Morrison and Mercedes A. Di Sandro.

P. C. SEEKS FIRST WIN SINCE 1942 R. I. AUDITORIUM SCENE OF GAME

By DAVE CONNORS, JR.

Arch rivals since 1920, Providence College and Rhode Island State will meet tonight at the Rhode Island Auditorium in the first clash of their annual two game series. The Blue and White from downstate and the Black and White from Providence will be meeting for the twenty-eighth time.

Rhode Island State will enter the fray a distinct favorite to whip the Friars and continue their domination over the Dominican Institution which now has extended over the last six years. The last Providence College basketball quintet to defeat

Shanley, Sullivan Resign Editorships After Long Service

The Cowl is under new management. Last week's issue marked the departure of its former Co-Editors, Joseph V. Shanley, '49, from New Haven, Conn., and Edward T. Sullivan, '49, from Providence. Retiring as Circulation and Business Managers are Mark O. Burns and Francis X. Conlon, both Seniors and both from New Haven, Conn.

Shanley played a major role in the reorganization of the Cowl in 1946 after a war-time lapse. He became Co-Editor during his Sophomore year, serving in that capacity for the next three years.

Sullivan was connected with the paper as a Freshman before the war. He took part with Shanley in the reorganization of the Cowl in 1946. Because of the press of outside activities, he relegated himself to the role of reporter last year. As a Senior, he shouldered full responsibility of the paper with Shanley.

New Co-Editors are Francis L. McPeake, '50, from Pawtucket, R. I., and Anthony Jarzombek, '51, from Providence. The posts of Circulation and Business Managers fall to James M. Coughlin, '50, from Hartford, Conn., and Louis J. Martino, '50, from Mount Vernon, N. Y.

Various Prices For Class Ring Quoted

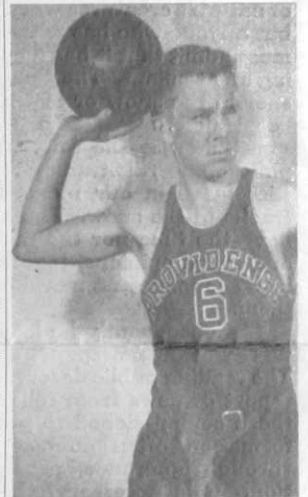

Your 1950 standard class ring will cost you either $49.00 or $41.00, the Book Store has announced. The difference lies in whether you want a ruby, sapphire or black onyx.

The standard ruby or sapphire selling for $49, weighs 16 penny weight. This ring also may be had at 14, 12 or 10 penny weight with an approximate three dollar reduction in price for each decrease in weight. The ten penny weight ruby, therefore, will cost you approximately $40. According to the Book Store, previous classes have been overwhelmingly in favor of the heaviest, 16 penny weight ring.

Your other choice, the black onyx ring with the standard 16 penny weight will cost you $41.00. For $38.00 you get the 14 penny weight, for $35.00, the 12 penny weight and for $32.00, the 10 penny weight.

In paying for the ring, you must make a minimum deposit of $5.00. You must make complete payment either through the installment plan or through one payment before receiving your ring. The Book Store roughly estimates the waiting period for the ring at three months.

Since the changing of stones is a costly procedure, the Book Store hopes that you'll make a reasonable decision before placing the order for your ring.

the Rams was the 1941-42 quintet which featured Larry Drew the present P. C. coach.

The long series between the two Colleges began in 1920 and 27 games have been played since that time. Rhode Island State is way out in front in the matter of victories having 21 to their credit, as against six for the Friars. A year ago the Rams from downstate won by the scores of 108-84 and 73-64.

T. F. NEWMAN, '49 COUNCIL LEADER

The newly organized Student Council of Providence College held its initial meeting last Thursday afternoon in the Old Auditorium of Harkins Hall with Thomas Newman, president of the senior class, acting as pro-tem president.

The Rev. Edward Schmidt, O.P., moderator of the student council and former moderator of the Friars Club, addressed the members, outlining the functions of a student government.

In the election for a student government secretary, Norm Grant, a sophomore, was victorious over Thomas Regan, a Senior. Joseph Prisco and Edward Sullivan were the two students chosen by Newman from the senior class at large to bring the membership of the student council to a total of eighteen.

The student council voted to have a meeting at 2:30 on the second Tuesday of every month. They also passed a resolution to send to the college administration a letter on the College's placement service.

THE CATHOLIC PRESS

The rabbit is a worthy foe of any predatory enemies which may assail him. It is not the most cunning of nature's creatures when confronted by an aggressor but anyone who has witnessed its tactics in the chase must admit that it has a canny instinctiveness in eluding an assailant. The maze of tracks it leaves the pursuer in the snow or brush are confusing to man and beast alike.

Likewise the tangled pattern which conflicting philosophies, contradictory doctrines and mongrel politics leave in our minds today, are like the rabbit tracks in the snow. The average individual does not have the time nor the inclination to ferret out facts and weigh opinions, together with all the social, political, economic and moral implications which surround them.

Consequently he leaves such analysis to the integrity of the newspaper editor or radio commentator. The reading public deserves an unbiased and complete report of news from reliable sources. Unfortunately those commissioned to procure and present such information often confuse and mislead the reader through ignorance, prejudice or outright equivocation. It is necessary, therefore, that the Catholic Church guarantee an adequate and orthodox presentation of world events to the Catholic reader, and to any others who desire unprejudiced opinion. The purpose of the Catholic Press is to instruct the faithful in doctrinal matters and also to cultivate a well-informed laity on all secular matters.

The reader would become utterly confused if he attempted to follow every trace of development in the national, international and local scene. The Catholic Press, which has the best means and the finest minds at its command, does the sorting, weighing and judging in its journalistic mill. The result of such processing by informed and capable minds is a complete and honest presentation of facts which Catholic laymen can accept and support.

The Catholic Press is God's Mentor in presenting Catholic opinion to the Catholic reader. Do not attempt to follow the rabbit tracks. Be a well informed Catholic citizen by reading, digesting and understanding the Catholic viewpoint in all political, economic, social, moral and religious developments at home and abroad.

CARDINAL MINDSZENTY

The world is shocked at the arrogance and brutality of the government which sent Cardinal Mindszenty into the oblivion of a jail cell. But the world soon forgets. As in the case of Archbishop Stepinac of Yugoslavia, the burning headlines in time grow cold and the world looks for fresh front-page news.

But the fact remains with its awful implications that a Prince of the Church, leader of some seven million Catholics, has been sentenced to imprisonment for life without the semblance of a trial. The power and ruthlessness of a Communist dictatorship is there exemplified most realistically. The case of Cardinal Mindszenty is an example that should not grow dim in the mind of a Catholic though the headlines seek new sensations. The Catholic should have constantly before him the picture of a Cardinal facing long years waiting for death.

The proper course of action was outlined by the New Look. Harkins Hall vestibule beginning to look like a wayside furniture and home appliance shop. The display is quite attractive. All articles will be raffled off at the mammoth Winter Carnival, February 25, in R. I. Auditorium for benefit of College War Memorial. Even super salesman Jake Powell is amazed at the quality and variety of prizes. He also concedes top business honors to the Chaplain. And when Jake concedes something, that is really news.

Parking Dilemma. Student drivers can either park their "Steamer" in the parking lot and risk losing entire car in muddy shell holes, or park them along the drive-ways leading to school and get a ticket. Last week a tractor pulled out several sunken Studebakers and Chevies. Now, when the ground re-freezes, the parking surface becomes like a washboard. Frozen waves ripple on the surface. Even the best made car springs and fenders can only stand so much. Now the question is, what to do? Oh student governing board—Yoo Hoo. . .!

Dorm Weekend. Friday night several resident Freshmen were observed in the lobby of the Sheraton-Biltmore Hotel looking over the dates of the upperclassmen. They had a word or two for all the returning dancers. But they all stopped and stared when Bernie, "Cinder Burner," Cassidy breezed by in his formal outfit.

Veritas. Ads, ads, where are all those ads? Patrons, patrons, where are all those patrons? Five bucks here, five bucks there, add up to a good-sized yearbook. By the way, this is the last week for you Senior fathers to bring in pictures of your kiddies.

Sporting Comment. Tonight we play R. I. State. Seven years is a long time to go without a victory. And try, as I sincerely am trying, I can't conjure up a victorious vision. But then again, I have been having nightmares lately. So perhaps I am still in the hangover stage. Hence vain deluding dreams!

Something stolen. February is the most mispronounced month of the year; Feb-roo-er-i comes from the Latin February, which means "to Purify." The Romans called it "Februarius" in honor of the feast of Purification held on February 15. Everyone knows it contains the birthdays of Abraham Lincoln and George Washington—and brings St. Valentine's Day. It also marks the birthdays of Thomas Edison, Charles Dickens, Henry Longfellow, Felix Mendelssohn and Buffalo Bill. Persons born between January 20 and February 19 are said to be under the sign of Aquarius. Usually, they are modest, gentle folk, but once determined, are practically invincible.

Students may be pardoned if they flunk economics, which has different rules in Washington, New York, London, Moscow and New Guinea.

Rev. Charles H. McKenna, O.P., College Chaplain, when he conducted a Holy Hour of prayers for Cardinal Mindszenty a week ago last Sunday. Comparing the farcical trial of Christ with the recent proceedings in Budapest, he insisted that we cannot shake off responsibility as Pilate did but must do all in our power to have justice done. He urged continued prayers for Cardinal Mindszenty, Archbishop Stepinac and the Church in persecuted countries.

If the words of Father McKenna are heeded, Cardinal Mindszenty will not be forgotten. He will live in our thoughts though the world forgets him.

RESPECT FOR NO ONE!

Veterans' Corner . . .

By Anthony Jarzombek

Last week we mentioned briefly of employment prospects for college graduates within the next few years. To reiterate, we said that the outlook will expand for those in the fields of medicine, psychology, kindergarten and elementary school teaching, and certain phases of electricity; but that competition will grow keener for those in engineering, chemistry, pharmacy, law, and personal relations, according to the Occupational Outlook Service, Bureau of Labor Statistics, U. S. Department of Labor.

This is broken down by the Occupational Outlook Service as follows: It is estimated that about two-thirds of this year's 5,543 medical graduates (from schools accredited by the American Medical Association) and all of the 1,515 dental graduates will be needed to replace the physicians and dentists lost to the field annually because of death or retirement. The nation's demand for health service is outstripping the supply of newly graduated doctors and dentists.

There still is a need for well-trained person in psychology. However, the shortage of training facilities will prevent many of those with bachelors' degrees from entering graduate school.

Over the next 10 years nearly 1,000,000 teachers must be trained if the educational goals recommended by leaders in the profession are to be met. Greatest needs will be for kindergarten and elementary teachers. A moderate increase in employment in the electric utility industry over the next decade is predicted.

Despite employment opportunities in electrical engineering, engineering graduates generally will find stiffer competition for jobs. Over 35,000 engineers are expected to graduate in 1949, and close to 50,000 will receive bachelors' degrees in 1950.

The report also predicted increasing competition for jobs among chemists with only bachelors' degrees, although those with advanced degrees will have better opportunities.

Pharmacy graduates still are in strong demand this year, but larger graduating classes are in prospect for the next several years, with the number of bachelors' degrees granted in 1950 perhaps doubling the 1948 total of 1,975.

Many law graduates are having trouble getting positions in their field. The number of bachelors' degrees in law, already at a peak of 10,025 this year, is expected to rise even further because of a record enrollment of more than 50,000.

Employment prospects for newcomers in the personnel fields are not expected to be good in the near future. There is now keen competition for entry jobs, which is likely to continue for several years, although the total number of personnel workers employed will probably tend to increase slowly over the long run.

Rhode Island veterans who served overseas are in line to receive an additional $100 state bonus, according to a proposal that was introduced last week into the General Assembly.

The bonus money would come from a $975,000 balance remaining from the state's $20,000,000 bonus fund.

Summer Courses Offered by Oslo U.

The University of Oslo has announced that it will again hold special summer classes for American students from June 27 to August 6.

Official headquarters in America for the summer session has been established at St. Olaf College, Northfield, Minnesota, where catalogs and applications may be secured.

The courses which will be conducted in English, cover the sciences, the humanities, and a general survey of Norwegian culture. A maximum of six credit hours may be taken in the six weeks course and in most cases the credits are transferable.

Approximate expense for the six weeks at the University is estimated to be about $300 and transportation last year on the "S.S. Marine Juniper" came to $320 to $400 for the round trip.

This is the third year that such a course for Americans has been offered. An American Dean of Students, Norman Norstrand of St. Olaf College, Northfield, Minn., has accompanied the students each year. The rest of the administration is Norwegian. President of the Summer School is Dr. Otto L. Mohr, Rector of the University of Oslo. The directors are Dr. Harald U. Sverdrup, Director of the Polar Institute in Oslo; and Dr. Philip Boardman, Consultant, Norway-American Association, Oslo.

Requirements for admission are dependent on a good academic record.

Air Force Major Lists Opportunities In Flight Training

The Air Force aviation cadet training program is seeking suitable candidates among the various colleges and universities of the country for enrollment as Officer-Trainees with the prospect of obtaining a Reserve Second Lieutenant's commission after successfully completing a year of flight training in modern aircraft, plus concurrent academic instruction in administrative matters.

The purpose and benefits of the training program was outlined for the student body at last week's assemblies by Major Edward A. Crouchley, a graduate of the Class of 1941, who distinguished himself in the past war as a Liberator pilot in the Middle East Theater of operation. Major Crouchley emphasized the fact that the new autonomous Air Force seeks young men who are mentally alert and in top physical condition to serve as officers in the corps. While the general policy of the command is to accept men who have completed their formal education and can qualify in other respects, the minimum requirements of two years of collegiate study, provide an opportunity for undergraduates who desire a career in the Air Force.

Men accepted for aviation cadet training may be either married or single; must be within the 20-26½ year age limit; must be in good physical condition, and must meet the educational requirements. Successful applicants receive flight training in Texas, Arizona and Louisiana, and upon graduation receive 2nd Lieutenant commissions in the Air Force Reserve. Classes begin every six weeks beginning April 6th, and the top graduates of each class are given direct commissions in the regular Air Force.

All graduates are asked to agree to serve a minimum of three years on active duty, and during this period all have the opportunity to qualify for a regular commission. Those who are washed out during the training period are returned to their former civilian status. Earnings after only 12 months of training are approximately $4000 per annum, with numerous other benefits.

Two officer-pilots will establish headquarters in the Parlor, off the Rotunda, on Monday, February 21st, to explain the career advantages available to college men and to administer equivalency examinations to interested applicants. Any student who is interested in taking these tests or in making further inquiries is invited to contact these personnel officers on the above date.

Major Crouchley, who was one of the charter members of the first Flying Club here at the college, is at present a Procurement Officer attached to the First Air Force (New York). During the war he participated in missions over such strategic targets as the Ploesti Oil Fields, Naples and Palermo, and was decorated on several occasions. He served subsequent periods of post-war duty at bases in Boise, Idaho, and Kansas City, Mo. "The New Air Force is a splendid career with fine opportunities for qualified candidates of good physical condition and mental alertness," states the Major.

P. C.'s NEW BOARD TRACK NOW COMPLETE

RUNNERS WILL TEST THIS WEEK; FROSH RELAY TEAM COMING FAST

By BOB FLANAGAN

With the new track already completed, the spike and shoe men are ready to take their laps on the new boards. Much experience will be gained by the Coatesmen for competition on the indoor track season the remainder of the winter. Not only is the track team practicing daily, but the entire student body is invited to give it a try. Coach Harry Coates declared that the new track is open for use to everyone. Especially so, to the case of the baseball candidates. Much poundage must be run off before April and the board track affords an opportunity to all who desire to deflate their waistlines.

It was announced also by the track department that weekly novice races will be scheduled in the near future. They will consist of all types of races for those interested in the exciting sport of track. Those who wish to display their wares are advised to get going and do some running. Now that the track is open and usable all day, there is no reason why any hopeful candidates cannot find time to do some serious running. The excuse of laboratories and classes cannot interfere with practice sessions. Coates advises that everyone give the sport a chance to show its advantages.

With the spring outdoor season but a few short weeks away, those aspirants who wish to try out for the sport should start their training program soon. Not too much time remains before practice meets with Brown University, Rhode Island State, and La Salle Academy will take place.

Providence College was well represented in the recent B.A.A. Games. The Freshmen relay team placed second in their mile event, and the Varsity team placed third in their respective event.

The Frosh of Boston University took first place from the Friars by the mere advantage of four feet.

Northeastern University was third. At the race began, Stan Walsh lost a couple of yards on his laps over the pines. However, Bill Keenan picked up the lost yardage. Diminutive Jim Cassidy shot into the lead and passed the baton to Adrich, who got a bad start and lost by the slim margin of four feet.

In the varsity run, the Friars were able to garner third place behind the speedsters of Boston College and Rensselaer. John Shanley led off for the Coatesmen and lost a few yards. Bill Sherry took the baton and held ground. Frank Diluglio, who ran in third spot, ran a great race and picked up enough ground to come into striking distance of second place. Our anchor man, Jerry McGurkin ran a creditable race but was matched against Rensselaer's ace Bundshuh, who is capable of a 47.5 quarter-mile. He holds all dash records in R.P.I. It was a case of too much competition. Coates declared that McGurkin couldn't have caught him on a motorcycle. Boston College's great relay team pushed far out into the lead and won by a distinctive advantage. Wesleyan University placed fourth.

Coach Coates revealed that he was very pleased with the performances of both teams. At the Seton Hall relay last Spring, the Varsity crew ran a 4:04 mile, and in Boston recently they racked off a very much improved 3:35. With the combination of the two teams next season, Coach Harry Coates expects to have a relay team to top the best.

ROUGH GOING . . .

Tonight at about nine o'clock a group of young men with Providence College written across their warm-up jackets will come trotting out on the floor at the Rhode Island Auditorium to meet a heavily favored Rhode Island State ball club. And when that bunch appears on the floor those who are there will see one of the gamest gang of guys to ever put on a basketball uniform.

They have been defeated time and time again this season, they have, none of them, ever been on a team that has defeated State in Varsity basketball, they have been defeated badly, they have lost a few heartbreakers, and they have in practically every game been the underdogs. Only a few times this year have they known the taste of victory. But they have never quit.

Everyone these days wants to know—What's the matter with the basketball team? And just as many have the answer. They can't do this, they can't do that, they should do this, they shouldn't do that. Brother let me tell you its tough to be a loser. Everyone's at your throat.

It's funny but after the Boston College game a few weeks ago, these same guys were the apple of everyone's eye. The coach was lauded for the wonderful way in which

Brown 59-51 Victor Over P. C. Saturday

By FRANCIS KANE

In the twenty-sixth renewal of their intricacy series, a fighting Providence College basketball team saw a seeming victory slip away to Brown University in the final five minutes of play at the Marvel Gymnasium last Saturday evening.

Playing before a capacity crowd, including a large group of those participating in the Carolan Club Weekend festivities, the Friars played well at times but were guilty of several lapses into periods of poorly executed passing and inaccurate shooting which eventually resulted in their downfall.

The game opened and immediately assumed the wide open offensive pattern that was to prevail throughout the entire contest. Brown jumped to a 10-5 lead at the five minute mark through the sharp-shooting of Fred Kozak and the alert pass intercepting of Frank Mahoney. During this period, and for several minutes thereafter, Frank Pelligrino was the only Providence player able to find the hoop.

The contest continued with Brown having much the better of it until mid-way in the period when Ray Garcia, Larry DePalma and Pelligrino commenced the uphill fight that brought the Friars within a basket of the lead at half-time. This drive saw Garcia assume control of the backboards and DePalma and Pelligrino doing some very fine shooting.

Soon after the opening of the second half, a foul shot by Pelligrino brought P. C. to even terms with the Bears for the first time. At this point the Providence cause began to look healthier as it also saw the departure, via five fouls, of the very capable Brown star, Frank Mahoney. Immediately thereafter the indomitable Pelligrino pushed P. C. ahead, 38-37, for the first time.

But Brown proved to be far from finished and proceeded to play some of their finest ball of the evening during the next few minutes. Paced by Kovachick and Kozak, and gaining complete control of the backboards, they again led 47-39 at the halfway mark in the period.

Once again the "big three" combination of Garcia, Pelligrino and the ever present DePalma caught fire, and with the aid of three timely foul shots by Art Weinstock, P. C. was back in the lead at 48-47 with five minutes to go.

However this lead was short-lived as Brown once again refused to stay

St. Anselm's Tickets

The Rev. Aloysius B. Begley, O.P., Athletic Director of Providence College, announced today that applications for tickets to the Providence College vs. St. Anselm's game in the Boston Garden, March 2nd, will be accepted at the Athletic Office now.

All students who plan to attend this game and want tickets at the reduced rate should let it be known as soon as possible.

P. C. students will be able to get a $2.75 ticket for $1.25 or a $2.00 ticket for $1.00.

Each student will be permitted to buy only one ticket.

Holy Cross and Brown are the other two teams on the double bill March 2nd.

State Game . . .

Tonight will see the first meeting between Larry Drew and Robert "Red" Haire, the new basketball mentor at Rhode Island State. Drew hopes to make it a losing one for the Ram headman but the odds seem heavily stacked against the young P.C. coach.

State after getting off to a very slow start this year has come along ways provides plenty of fireworks and this year's contest will probably be no different.

No man on the Friar squad has ever tasted a basketball victory over State and as a result the players have the added incentive of collecting that first win. Captain Charlie Bresnahan, Larry DePalma, and Sam Nissel will open the State game on the front line for the Friars while Walt Lozowski and Art Weinstock will be at the guard posts. Ray Garcia and Alex Becker will be ready for plenty of action also.

Rhode Island State will start Leo Golembiewski and Bruce Blount at forwards, Ken Goodwin at center, Sal Scalfani and John Mitchell will be at the guard positions.

he manipulated the players in victory. Today from some of the comments I hear its a wonder they don't both (the team and the coach) get an apple in the eye. It's the same old thing in sports, when you're winning you're great, nothing too good for you, when you're losing, brother get out of my way.

Well this coach and his gang have taken that. But they are still in there and that's all you can ask. They'll be in there tonight again also. There has been lots of better clubs here at Providence, there will be better ones in the future, but I doubt if ever you will see a gamer bunch. These are the type of fellows you like to go all the way with.

Looking at tonight's clash, it appears almost an impossibility that the Friars can come out on top. However, many times in the past the underdog has been the victor. If the Friars can get hot right at the beginning there is no telling what might happen. One thing is certain, the game will be close. Looking back over the records its hard to find when a game played in the Auditorium between these two clubs wasn't close. Whether it is the atmosphere or what, many spine tinglers have taken place at the North Main street arena.

So at nine tonight they will be there. Bresnahan, Lozowski, DePalma, Nissel, Weinstock, Pelligrino, Blaia, McGurkin, Becker and all the rest. When they trot on the floor, get off your seats and give them the biggest ovation they ever got. I know they'll appreciate it. They're that kind of a bunch.

fast in recent weeks and now looms as one of the most formidable clubs in New England as well as the East. On the other hand, the Friars have been having their troubles ever since the third week of the season. They have been very erratic, having played great ball at some stages and very poorly at others. All of which points to a Rhode Island State victory. However, nothing is taken for granted in this series and especially the Auditorium game. The Auditorium game played between these two rivals al-

Friars And Rams Have Given Fans Many Thrills Through The Years

The Black and White of Providence College will assume the title of "Jack the Giant Killer" tonight when they tackle the Rams of Rhode Island State. Currently rated in the first five in New England, the Rams are favored to top the Friars. In the recent meetings of the two clubs, the Friars have usually entered the contest with a better than average seasonal record. This season, however, the Drawmen claim only a mediocre record to date and really must raise themselves to the occasion of topping the fast-moving Rams of Kingston.

Rivalry began between the two institutions 27 years ago after the establishment of Providence College. The Rams won the first contest in 1921 by the lopsided score of 85-39. In 1922 they duplicated the feat with a low-scoring, 35-19, encounter.

In 1936 the Friars turned the table on their fellow Rhode Islanders twice by substantial scores. Rhody was led that year by the sensational John Martin, while P. C. boasted such standouts as Leo Davin, Ed Babinska, and Ben Smith. The following year, however, the Rams got back to winning ways by gaining a victory over the Friars by the score of 63-54. Later that season, Providence took revenge and whipped State, 42-38, before the largest crowd to witness a basketball game in Rhode Island to that time. In scoring this return victory, P. C. prevented Rhode Island State from winning the New England Intercollegiate Basketball crown. As was the case in the previous season, Davin and Babinska were the main factors in the Providence victory. The following year, the 1937-1938 season, the Rams proved the superiority as they gained two victories over the Friars by the scores of 52-41 and 85-59.

The next two seasons were very profitable for the Rams, as they swept the four scheduled games. In these contests the boys from Dominican Heights played a good brand of basketball, but the Rams were practically unbeatable. In the 1939-40 season, Rhody topped the Black and White by the scores of 49-30 and 75-62. The following season the Rams presented one of the strongest teams in their history. They reached new heights by subduing Providence 70-42 and 98-71. Chet Jaworski led the Ram attack in these two contests and went on to become one of the leading scorers in the nation.

The 1941-42 season brought a temporary halt to Rhode Island State supremacy as one of the greatest quintets to represent Providence College scored a close 60-54 victory over the beck, Marone, and Ferd Sowa, captain of last year's club, were stars on that Providence squad. The game, extremely hard fought and close to the very end, was played before 5,000 thrilled fans in the Rhode Island Auditorium. This P. C. club was the most publicized squad in Providence College page history. They finished the season as the second highest scoring group in the nation. Rhode Island copped the second game, 68-54, in an equally close and thrilling contest.

Rhody again began to exert their superiority in the 1942-43 season. In the first game P. C. bowed 85-68 in a high-scoring contest. The ever-sensational Ernie Calverly led the Rams' onslaught with 29 points. Later in the season State again downed the Friars, 64-56, with Cal-verly again topping the point-getters.

One game was scheduled for the following year. The Rams made things look habit-forming by slaughtering the Friars, 60-42, in a free-scoring affair. Dick Hole and Ernie Calverly paced the winners' attack by netting 28 and 27 points, respectively. La Bossierre, P. C. captain, paced the losers with 12 points.

In the 1945-46 season Larry Drew returned from service and added his much-needed talents to the Friar cause. But his presence was not enough to upset the high-riding Rams. Larry Drew, present P. C. mentor, Ted McConnon, head coach of basketball at St. Anselm's College, Za-

Rams. At the end of the first half, Rhody led by the mere margin of 18-12. But in the second period their fast-breaking methods were faultless. They ran up the score to 82-60. In the second meeting of the two clubs that year the incomparable Calverly led the Rams to a 78-55 victory. Rhody went on to the National Invitation Tourney to be knocked off by the Kentucky Wildcats in the final round. Ernie Calverly was selected the outstanding competitor of the tournament. The 1945-46 season marked the final year in the regime of P. C.'s coach, Ed Crotty.

Under the first-year coaching of Larry Drew, the Friars were defeated twice by the Keaneysmen in the 1946-47 season. The affair at Rodman Hall, home court of the Rams, was a one-sided victory for the boys from Kingston. But the contest at the Auditorium was a thrilling and exciting spectacle. In the closing minutes P. C.'s leader, Walt Lozowski, fouled out and Rhode Island pulled ahead to cop the coveted win.

The Keaneysmen made it number nine and ten in a row last year by decisively defeating the Friars twice. The first game, at the Auditorium, was a thrilling game at half time as P. C. led 40-39. In the second period

Louthis Preparing Monogram Boxers

By JACK SHEA

The locker room of Harkins Hall is the scene of bustling activity these days, as a number of promising young ringmen are daily working out under the guiding eye of Pete Louthis in preparation for the rapidly approaching St. Patrick's Day bouts. Louthis, a veteran of many professional heavyweight encounters, is well qualified to handle the young hopefuls. The experience gained in his own fistic campaigns is a valuable aid in getting the boys in top condition by fight time.

All men who intend to take part in the fights, but who haven't as yet reported to Louthis, are urged to contact him at the Athletic office or equipment room as soon as possible. Mr. Louthis will serve as matchmaker, so all candidates must work out with him in order to be eligible for the bouts.

As yet, no pairings have been released. Last year there were six bouts, ranging from featherweights to heavyweights. It is hoped to have even more than that this year. As soon as any pairings are released they will be made public in the Cowl, and the ring background of the participants will be given.

Candidates are urged that no previous fighting experience is necessary. Mr. Louthis is available to give instruction to anyone who is the least bit anxious to try his skill with the gloves.

The Monogram Club, sponsors of the program, are aiming at a high goal when they attempt to match the show put on by the Sopomore Class last year. The St. Patrick's Day bouts of 1948 were the most successful event on the calendar of campus activities. With the same spirit that was exhibited last season, this year's edition will be equally well received by the student body.

the lack of reserve strength of the Friars showed itself and the Rams built up an advantage steadily with their familiar fast-breaking tactics. Rhody's home game with the Drawmen was more like a marathon. The Rams, practically unbeatable on their home court, hit the century mark to top the Friars by 30 points.

Science Association Appoints Fr. Serror

The Rev. Nicholas H. Serror, O.P., Associate Professor of Biology, was appointed Vice-President of the National Association of Basic Science Boards at the National Conference in Chicago last week. Father Serror was representing the Rhode Island Basic Science Board and also local medical societies at the Conference. He has been identified with scientific and medical research and teaching for many years.

P. C. Students Will Feature in Comedy

Three Providence College students, after school dramatists, will have important roles in the zany comedy, "George and Margaret," which will run Wednesday and Thursday of this week at the Hope High School Auditorium in Providence. They are Juniors Henry J. Keenan, Jr., and William Gregory from New Haven and Providence, respectively, and Edward L. Gny, a Sophomore from Central Falls, R. I.

All three have been active in dramatics at the College. They appeared in last year's Pyramid Players' success, "Derryowen". In 1947, they were prominent in the second semester musical, "Sing, Mr. Citizen".

As members of the New England Repertory Company, they were in the cast of "Lady of Fatima," a recent play which received the applause of the critics. Their present offering, "George and Margaret," is a down-to-earth portrayal of the life of a typical English family.

Freshmen Quintets Battle In Opener

In the preliminary game tonight the P. C. Frosh will attempt to make it three straight over the R. I. State Freshmen.

Last year the Friar yearlings won both games.

The Martinnen have been coming along fast of late and boast a good record to date, having lost only to the Holy Cross and Boston College Freshmen.

Martin will probably start Jim Schlimm at center with Ray Korbusieski and Jerry Lembo at the forward positions. Ronald Gagnon and Tom Bauer will probably open at the guards.

The Frosh quintets of both colleges always point for this game as do their Varsity brethren, so it will probably be a good preliminary game tonight.

down. Patrick, Thurrot and Kovachiek contributed baskets from the floor, coupled with several foul tosses, and with time fast running out the Friars were unable to make a comeback.

The wide open style of play that prevailed throughout the contest made it an interesting game for the spectator to watch, but it worked against the efforts of both teams in the fouls resulting from the rough play. In all, 61 fouls were called with Sam Nissel, Joe Blain and Walt Lososki being ejected from the Friar ranks, while Mahoney, Creswell, Corcoran, and Whelan were forced from the Bruin side.

In the preliminary the Providence College Yearlings, paced by Bauer, Korbusieski and Lembo, had an easy time downing the Brown Frosh, 78-39.

Intramurals

Clifford Brott, author of "Reunion," "Reverie," "On the Birth of a Son" and "On College Spirit," is a Junior and Arts major from Providence. He is also on the Dean's List.

George Hunter Cochran, Sophomore pre-ecclesiastical honor-student, has had a great deal of verse printed in the Alembic. He is also a short-story writer. His latest article was entitled "Day Coach."

The work of William Honnen, Senior Arts from Newport, appears frequently in the Alembic where he gives expression in essay style. "Rue de Bom Jesus," an impression of the Azores, was his last title. In the next issue of the Alembic Mr. Honnen will offer a story in free-verse.

Ed Leonard has produced a series of illustrative headings for the next issue of the Alembic. Although well known in the College as a cartoonist, Ed has shown exceptional talent in reproducing illustrations of a more serious nature. Thus far, he has designed cuts for the Editorial page, the Exchange and the Criticism sections.

The deadline for the next issue of the Alembic will be April 1st.
