Plans Announced For Friars Formal

The officers of the Friars Club have announced that Anthony DeLamater and Tom Grady, President of the college, have been selected co-chairmen of the annual Friars Formal to be held on Feb. 8th. Owing to the tremendous success of last year's formal, it will once again be held in conjunction with Homecoming Weekend. However, his year's event will be held in Aquinas Hall and the equally attractive lounge at St. Stephen's Hall. There will be dancing at each site with the expectation that they will be attended by all the spirit followers of Providence College. Mass will be celebrated at 11:00 in the college chapel on Sunday morning, and this will terminate the annual Homecoming Weekend of '57.

Birdie Tebbets Address General Assembly Next Tuesday

By Jim Basham

The Student Congress announced yesterday that George "Birdie" Tebbets will speak at an annual meeting of the Student Congress next Tuesday. This, plus the fact of his latest achievement, prompted the Student Congress to announce the occasion to show its admiration and respect towards him.

Tebbetts won this coveted mana- gerial award in a walkaway bringing the Cincinnati Reds nipped deep in the second division in 1956, to a third place finish in 1956. Despite the third place finish, the Reds went 36 and 60, which is the reason he was selected as the National League manager of the year by the National League baseball writers.

The Student Congress will make the presentation at 2:00 p.m. Tuesday. Tebbets, alumni on behalf of the Alumni Association.

McCarthy or "Birdie" as he is better known to everyone has always been a major figure on the campus of the college. This, plus the fact of his latest achievement, prompted the Student Congress to announce the occasion to show its admiration and respect towards him.

The committee for the Friars Formal has also been selected. Tickets with the expectation that they will be attended by all the spirit followers of Providence College. Mass will be celebrated at 11:00 in the college chapel on Sunday morning, and this will terminate the annual Homecoming Weekend of '57.

Birdie Tebbets before he entered the Army in 1942. After completing his tour of duty he returned to the diamond sport and was traded to the Boston Red Sox. His stay with the Red Sox lasted five years during which time he played in more than all-star games and was valuable asset to Ted Yawkey's World Series winning team in 1948.

In 1951, before he became the manager of the Cleveland Indians and his managerial foundation is well known throughout baseball, he was a major figure of the American Pastime. His baseball career has been a long and colorful one. Upon graduating from high school in 1923, he became a major league player with the Detroit Tigers and was selected to play in the annual all-star game held in Hartford.

As a result, over five hundred people danced to some delightful music and enjoyed the regulations which were established for the event.

The second annual Homecoming Weekend will be held on February 8th. Highlights of the weekend will include: a Thursday evening fashion show, brown and tan basketball contest, the Alumni Banquet, and an informal dance at 9:00 p.m. in Aquinas Hall.

The events will commence on Friday night at 7:30 with a cocktail party in the Alumni Hall lounge. This will be followed by a buffet dinner from 8:30 to 9:30, and the evening will be joyfully climaxed by dancing to the music of Vic Capone and his orchestra in Harkins Hall. At noon Saturday, the sports luncheon will feature all living basketball hall captains of Providence College. Subsequent to this, there will be a dance starting at 5:00 and held in the Alumni Club center.

A Slice of Lemon

By BOB LAFAYE

The Pyramids have heard that what is definitely their biggest undertaking to date. The production of a musical comedy is a tremendous undertaking, whether it be produced by a professional company or an amateur group, but there is no question but that the thing that can make or break a production is that often mentioned Selling the Show. No matter how well a show was produced, if it word rambled down his throat so often and with such perseruasiveness that it has become a distasteful term. Nevertheless, the situation stands; without a show, the whole production is down the drain. And Bombay hope the Pyramids make it.

This year, or rather last year, around the holidays the air was full of rumors about the number of traffic deaths that would occur over the combined periods of Christmas and New Years. Quite characteristically, the news media threw a staple of misleading facts mopped up from the country's highways. Everybody deplored the situation, and they were right; because the number of traffic deaths during nineteen fifty-six was not quite as noble—even though he was undoubtedly trying to depict life as it really is. The central theme in each—some sexual emancipation, and some sort of race war—was coincidental with its purpose of trying to enlighten the world. Coed Caricature (ACP—Some time ago, we includ­ed a little essay entitled "What is a Boy?... which seemed to be aimed largely at the University freshman. Now, in keeping with our policy of impartiality, we offer this portrait (or caricature) of the Female Variety.

"Between the innocence of boyhood and the sophisticated mannerisms of mind, there lies a curious, carefree crea­ture called a coed.

Coeds come equipped with assorted pedal pushers and haircuts, but they all uphold the same creed; to enjoy every minute of every hour of every college day.

Travellers fluster them, mothers protect them, little sisters idolize them, and boys worship them.

They can be found in all places, lounging on, lounging against, leaning to, and trotting from. She is pride with a pony tail, nonchalance with a note book, optimism with an overscarf, and the pret­tiness of woad in mood.

A coed is a curious mixture. She has the eating habits of a canary and the energy of a mountain lizard. She has the form of a beer bottle, the looks of Marilyn. To the other coeds, she is a coed with an overcoat, and the pret­tiness of woad in mood.

To the Junior Class Ring Committee:

With the advent of the new school year, the Junior Class Officers would like to take this opportunity to offer their hearty congratulations and sin­cerity thanks to the members of the Friar's Class Ring Committee, whose efforts and energy made the class of 1955 the recipients of a ring with distinctive style of its own. We know that when we lead these men through their splendid accomplishment, we are really expressing the sentiments of the entire class, for whom their bound­less energy was exerted. Numerous afternoons were consumed with in­terviews, trips to jewelry plants, and committee meetings. Their discussions lasted well beyond dusk. As a result, to the other coeds and George Deschamps, the cochair­men of the affair, the thanks of the Friars Club extends to you for your im­partiality, we offer this portrait largely at the University freshman. We wish to thank all those who raised the heavy snow storm to attend the dance. Approximately eighty couples attended the dance. Approximately eighty couples attended the dance.

MANY VERSA WOMAN

ACP—at the University of Ore­gon, there has been talk of ending the football seating arrangement which presently segregates the male and female students. The Oregon Daily Emerald isn't too keen about the idea, suggesting that such action, instead of increasing school spirit, might serve to lower school spirit by so doing. Said the Emerald: "What's ashamed of a little red-blooded, reasonably nice-looking fellow with whom you might be sitting right next to is equally ashamed, equally red-blooded and equally nice-looking lady? He won't be yel­ling. He'll probably be making time probably setting on a definite date for right after the game. And when follower is going to yell when he do so would brand him as a gang-bang hankered in the eyes of the petite little coed sitting next to him! Con­versely, what petite little coed is going to yell when she do so would destroy the fellow's impression of her. And so, spoken deely little miss..."
Physical Fitness Is Lacking Today

By Bob Ruggeri

The term “fitness,” is frequently used among young Americans today, and yet few realize just what it means. To many, it means a certain state wherein one is able to run fast, or swim well, or play a smooth game of basketball. Each of these sports and all athletic endeavors requires fitness, but it is a specific fitness. There is still another fitness which should be the goal of every young American; namely, a general or total fitness.

Total fitness implies the ability to live as efficiently as is possible with oneself. Every one knows some other fitness which should be the specific fitness for the athlete, each has certain days of a conditioning program, and yet few realize just what it is prevalent in our country. Rest is necessary to rebuild the tissues of the body and wastes are more readily removed. Mental, physical exercises result in a more efficient functioning of the various systems of the body and improves the rate at which food and oxygen are carried to the tissues of the body and wastes are more readily removed.

Mental, physical exercise has a soothing effect on the nervous system, primarily because a feeling of fitness brings emotional satisfaction. Being fit has a certain feeling of personal pride attached to it which results in a sense of self-sufficiency. By simply including some form of physical activity in one’s daily plan, a state of fitness can be reached. There are, however, basic pre-requisites to the undertaking of physical conditioning. These are nutrition and rest. Most Americans are sufficient in quantity of food eaten, but deficient in quality of food. Obesity, brought on by increased prosperity and decreased energy output is prevalent in our country. Rest is necessary to rebuild the tissues of the body. Without rest and proper nutrition no one feels like engaging in any activity at all.

Here at Providence College, although a physical education program is lacking, there are facilities and opportunities for the improvement of anyone’s fitness program. All that is required outside of proper nutrition and rest is the desire to improve oneself. Every one knows some fundamental exercises which he can undertake to better his condition; the trouble is that most people are too enthusiastic on the first few days of a conditioning program which results in soreness, and an inability to continue. Each one should keep in mind that any conditioning program should be gradual, and that rest is a necessary evil.

Calverlymen Unbeaten

Providence College's promising freshman outfit stayed unbeaten with a 2-1 victory over Nichols Junior College last Friday in an after-after noon affair last Friday the Frunks were the victors. Providence College have a 67-72 and on Saturday day at will over Nichols Junior College to the tune of 80-67.

In the evening's last action, the Friars overcame a 4-0 deficit to the Indians to win by a handsome score of 31 points South Bend's total at 77. The Friars had to score 16 as a tie-a fair example of playing at a high level. Providence College continued to improve its standing as it is the team. For the team's 24-24, the lights were turned on the field with the scores and converted a pair of free throws. It was too much for the players to contend with. Two free-throwers in a battle for this assignment. Junior Lou Lafontaine has accumulated 19 points against Chippewas Joe Barile's total at 77. Barile had one goal and 16 assists-a fair example of play making. ...turkey Calverlymen have broken and rebounded well with the scores of twenty-five and Wally DeMattei with twenty-six points. Calverlymen's head coach Ken McEnroe employed a full court press which overpowered the Providence Ithaca. Iowa turned over the ball and broke passes and converted them into baskets. The press was ac- effective on the Friars in the last minutes of the game and White overtook Uri late in the fourth quarter, as Johnny Woods and DeMattei put Melbourne (continued on Page 6)

Enough entries have been checked to show that many players have correctly solved all 24 puzzles, thereby creating a tie for all prizes.

Please note Rule 2 as published in the official Tangled Tickets rules at the beginning of the puzzle section.

Rule 2: In case more than one person solves correctly the same number of puzzles, the prize tied for and as many subsequent prizes as there are persons tied, will be reserved, and it will be necessary to select out of the tied for puzzles, to determine the order in which the reserved prizes will be awarded.

Flavoring and Rebounding Ace P.C. Win Over Rams

By ED LOMBARDI

After ironing down to Kennedy Gym last Friday night to witness the basketball game, I came away with the conclusion that the favored team from Urban was nothing more than a quartet of Rudy soldiers.

After being exposed to an amazing show of courage and determination by our freshmen squad in the opener, the varsity of the Blue and White seemed to have lost their best players in the dressing rooms.

I, and a few others not of URI went down to Kingston to see the two top scorers in Rhode Island col- league basketball, Bill Von-Weyhe and Ron Marzen. Going into the game Van-Weyhe had a 36.5 point average, while the slender Von-Weyhe, third amongst the nation's top shooters, had nothing to his credit but nothing to his credit for a 32 point average. These two men had to be stopped in order to gain a P.C. victory. They were not only stopped but Marzen seemed to be 'quick frozen.' I myself can't figure if Von-Weyhe was shooting for the same basket his mates were shoot- ing at. A box score will show that "Billucky" took one field goal in nine attempts during the first half, and went two for six in the finale.

I actually couldn't believe my eyes. If he was able to shoot in one game when I saw him miss two in a row from the foot line. On the other hand the "Unforgettable" Ronnie was staphen- staphen; he flashed that sensational scor- ing format, which set him 30 points against St. John's, with a slick one hander with 44 seconds to go in the contest. That was his one and only pointer. He was completely shot out in the first half. It is unfair to say that the Rams had no bright spot. Jimmy Adams proved to be a very good handler and was their sparkplug for the evening. Von-Weyhe also showed some clever defensive work particularly in the second half.

That is, the side of the story, our side was definitely a ray of sunshine. (Continued on Page 6)
Cardinal's Carried Hand
Pucksters Double Defeat

By Jerry Murphy
The Providence College hockey team faltered slightly this past week—"as they have done several times during the season," said the powerful Clarkson and St. Lawrence University.

The Friars opened their two game road trip Friday in Potsdam, N.Y., where Clarkson cut them back by a 1-0 score.

The lead stood up until 15:07 of the second period when with the score tied 1-1, Pat O'Connor, Carl Mason and James Coughlin.
P.C.'s final goal came at 19:14 of the second period when with the score 4-1, Captain Bernie Mcdonald

Cardinal's were many but in singling out one man, Van Lamont, could get the sod as he accounted for three of his team's goals.

The Friars played well enough in both games to receive a total of 23 saves.

Saturday, traveling to Canton, N.Y., coach Tom Elmslie's boys found out just as tough where they were bombed by the shutout past St. Lawrence.

The Leopards scored four quick goals in the opening period and just about everything when they met American International College of Springfield at the Rhode Island Auditorium.

Entries for a table tennis tournament are being accepted by the Intramurals Office.

Squash entries will be accepted by the Intramural Office and, at that time there are not enough entrants, the tournament will be dropped.

Southern Minister Praised By 'Sign'

Union City, N. J. — The sign, national Catholic magazine published here, says in its January issue that the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, one of the Negro leaders of the Montgomery, Alabama, bus boycott, deserved "high praise" for his part in Negro civil rights. "All along we have sought to carry out the protest on high moral standards," he wrote. "Those who go back with undue arrogance. If you lose your struggle you will be lost all over the South. Go back with humility and meekness."

The sign quoted the Tennessee-Bred Cardinal as saying in an interview with the magazine that "We must work on a basis of full integration. It cannot be accomplished overnight, but it must come."

In Defense of This Thing Called Jazz
BY JOHN ENCEL

V. INSTRUMENTS AND MODERN JAZZ

Now jazz has been brought into very much a modern form is unfurled. We are right in the midst of the new jazz, and the musicians are the ones who hold today's jazz. In many cases there is a rift between "modern" and "progressive" jazz, it was noted that "modern" groups are usually smaller in size. There are exceptions to the "size" rule and I only make a distinction here to better treat the subject at hand. The reason for treating instruments separately is that due to the different instrumentation, there is a great number of musicians in the "modern" movement. This is due to the fact that they give an adequate summary of their accomplishments under one rubric. One was broken down into classes—instruments, vocal, and piano.

"Modern," at first, appeared around the Los Angeles area in the early 1940's. The band was started by Gerry Mulligan and Chet Baker. Mulligan, a great clarinetist of the modern period, rocketed the small combo to fame. Gerry Mulligan and Chet Baker have been responsible for the small combo's growth and success. In the years that followed, Mulligan and Baker emerged as two of the most important figures in the "modern" jazz movement. Mulligan was responsible for the small combo's growth and success. In the years that followed, Mulligan and Baker emerged as two of the most important figures in the "modern" jazz movement. Mulligan was a great clarinetist, while Baker was a great tenor saxophonist. Together, they helped to establish the small combo as a popular and influential form in the jazz world.

"Modern" jazz is a form of jazz that emerged in the 1940s and 1950s, characterized by its more complex and harmonically advanced sound. It was developed in response to the so-called "progressive" or "bebop" style of jazz, which had dominated the music world in the 1940s. "Modern" jazz musicians sought to create a more accessible and melodic form of jazz, while still maintaining the improvisational nature of the music.

In this period, the clarinet has become a favorite among the woodwinds, with many musicians believing that Charlie Parker, known as the "King of the Cool," was the most responsible for the "modern" sound. He was a master of the clarinet, and his playing helped to establish the instrument as a key component of the "modern" jazz sound.

The trumpet is also a prominent instrument in "modern" jazz, with many musicians using it to create a more complex and harmonically advanced sound. Some of the most notable trumpet players in this period include Chet Baker, Shorty Rogers, Dizzy Gillespie, Miles Davis, and others. These musicians were able to create a new kind of "modern" sound that captured the imagination of both critics and listeners.

The rhythm section of "modern" jazz groups is always the most important aspect of the group. The rhythm section players are responsible for creating the foundation for the rest of the group to build on. This is why the rhythm section is often referred to as the "heart" of the "modern" sound.

Assumption College Five
Highly Rated This Year

They're beginning to tout Andy Laska's Assumption College basketball team as the outstanding small college team in New England. A little more than a month ago the Greyhounds opened the season with a 93-82 win over Providence College. Their season had been flying, included in their 13-15 record was a 92-84 win in the NAIA Holiday New England tournament.

Laska's squad, which upsets University of St. Thomas, is making attention throughout New England. The former Holy Cross star coaches his players, and he believes the idea was so good, and made the move to Utah.

In his fifth year at the Assumption helm and first as Athletic Director, Laska is proud of his team. Last year's outfit posted a 15-5 mark, including a 60-57 upset over Providence. Appearing in the NAIA spring elimination, the Greyhounds dropped a pair of finals, each to one of the American International and New Haven Teachers. The Rams' Jimmy Adams lit the scoreboard first, 2-0, and that was it. With four minutes to go in the game the final score was 57-56. Playmaking...

Once again Joe Mulaney exhibited a stroke of genius with his strategy to turn the tide. The Rams were trying to stay in the game, but it was too late. Forced to play without one of his scoring axes, Frank Tirolo, he went to his bench and selected Roy Casamastri to start his first game. The Rams' heavy hitter, Roy Casamastri started the game as a re­ ward for the fine showing in the Fordham encounter. The three men most responsible for the victory were Roy Casamastri, Charlie Rich, "Brooklyn Mike" piled up twelve points in the first half and was instrumental in giving us as a team we never lost. "Long John" in addi­ tion to his scoring, was the only man on the team who was able to carry the load at both ends of the court.
