Support 'The Memorial Grotto Maintenance Fund' Nov. 7th

Exactly one year ago tomorrow, the Veteran's Club of Providence College sponsored its initial Tag Day, in order to create "The Memorial Grotto Maintenance Fund." This project was an immediate success. The Veteran's Club hopes that this Tag Day will be received with the same co-operation and enthusiasm as last year when the project was an immediate success.

Providence College sponsored tomorrow, the Veteran's Club of the college. Examples of this approval of the administration, which has the high praise and approval of the administration. The Veteran's Club desires that all students donate generously so that this project may continue with the success of the previous year. A tag will be received by each donor labeling him a backer of the fund.

On Nov. 11th at 9 a.m. Father Dennis C. Kane, the club moderator, will celebrate a special Mass at Aquinas Chapel in memory of all former Providence College students, who gave their lives in service to their country. All students, friends of the deceased, and Veteran's Club members are invited to attend this Mass as possible.

The Veteran's Club wishes to acknowledge the support given to their effort.

Dalmatian Mascot Is Selected For Sports-Conscious Friars

By Paul

The Student Congress has decided on a definite mascot for P. C. For a time there was a difference of opinion concerning the relative merits of a Dalmatian or a penguin. The issue has been decided in favor of the Dalmatian.

A mascot is a symbol, and symbolism is based on analogy. In naming teams, colleges strive to get a mascot to which they can attribute some aspect of the college. Examples of this are: Boston College—Eagles—economics department of Providence College; Providence College—Bravehearts—Industrials; Providence—Bulldogs—Center of the Airforce; Providence—Bruins—Bullards.

P. C.'s teams have been traditionally called the Friars, because the Dominicans run the college. It is impossible to have a Friar as a mascot because of possible hurt to the Fathers or the Church. Therefore, the symbolism here at P. C. is taken from the colors of the school.

We use the colors of black and white because of the white habit and black capua of the Dominicans.

There are several animals having this color. There is the penguin, the Dalmatian, the panda bear, or even the skunk. However, a dog is closely connected with the Dominicans in several ways. Before his birth, Saint Dominic's mother had a vision of a dog with the torch of truth in his mouth. Then too, the Dominicans have been, and still are, called the Dominii Canes—the watchdogs of the Lord.

Therefore, we can see the connection between the tradition of the school and having a Dalmatian as the official mascot.

The Student Congress and the Friars' Club are negotiating to obtain a new mascot for P. C. The last one we had was in 1959, Friar Boy IV.

Father Quirk meditatively addresses the Thomistic Guild.

speech entitled "The Crisis in the American Labor Movement."

The speakers for the remaining engagements are as follows:

November 11—"Productivity: Key to the American Standard of Living." Reverend Thomas J. Shanley, O. P.

December 2—"Taxation: Major Problem of the U. S. Economy." Mister Gustave Cote.

December 9 —"Investment: The Shape of Tomorrow," Mister George Sullivan.

Grad Aid By Danforth

The Danforth Foundation, an educational foundation located in St. Louis, Missouri, invites applications for the seventh class (1958) of Danforth Graduate Fellows from college senior men and recent graduates who are preparing themselves for a career of college teaching, and also those who plan to enter graduate school in September, 1958, for their first year of graduate study. The Foundation welcomes applications from areas of natural and biological sciences, social sciences, humanities, and all fields of specialization to be found in the undergraduate college.

The Very Rev. Robert J. Slavin, O. P., has named Rev. Richard David Danziszewicz, O. P., as the Selection Officer to nominate to the Danforth Foundation two or three candidates for these 1958 fellowships.

By D. W. Olle

‘Calypso Land’ Chosen Theme For The Annual Farmers’ Festival Hoedown

Thomistic Guild Initiates Season

The Reverend Charles B. Quirk, O. P., Ph.D., head of the economics department of Providence College, and moderator of the Labor Management Guild of the Thomistic Institute of Industrial Relations opened the first of a series of lectures last Monday evening with his.

From the Isle of Haiti comes something new and different to the campus of Providence College. This year's annual Farmers' Festival, sponsored by the senior class and open to all students, will have as its central theme a farm in "Calypso Land." As usual, the festival will be held in Harkins Hall. This year the dance will be held on Friday evening, November 13, from 8:15 to 11:00 o'clock. The orchestra to accompany the dancing will be a combination of student and professional musicians.

VOL. XX. No. 5—SIX PAGES PROVIDENCE COLLEGE, PROVIDENCE, R. I. NOVEMBER 11, 1957

Support The Memorial Grotto Maintenance Fund Nov. 7th

Exactly one year ago tomorrow, the Veteran's Club of Providence College sponsored its initial Tag Day, in order to create "The Memorial Grotto Maintenance Fund." This project was an immediate success. The Veteran's Club hopes that this Tag Day will be received with the same co-operation and enthusiasm as last year when the project was an immediate success.

Providence College sponsored tomorrow, the Veteran's Club of the college. Examples of this approval of the administration, which has the high praise and approval of the administration. The Veteran's Club desires that all students donate generously so that this project may continue with the success of the previous year. A tag will be received by each donor labeling him a backer of the fund.

On Nov. 11th at 9 a.m. Father Dennis C. Kane, the club moderator, will celebrate a special Mass at Aquinas Chapel in memory of all former Providence College students, who gave their lives in service to their country. All students, friends of the deceased, and Veteran's Club members are invited to attend this Mass as possible.

The Veteran's Club wishes to acknowledge the support given to their effort.

Dalmatian Mascot Is Selected For Sports-Conscious Friars

By Paul

The Student Congress has decided on a definite mascot for Providence College. For a time there was a difference of opinion concerning the relative merits of a Dalmatian or a penguin. The issue has been decided in favor of the Dalmatian.

A mascot is a symbol, and symbolism is based on analogy. In naming teams, colleges strive to get a mascot to which they can attribute some aspect of the college. Examples of this are: Boston College—Eagles—economics department of Providence College; Providence College—Bravehearts—Industrials; Providence—Bulldogs—Center of the Airforce; Providence—Bruins—Bullards.

P. C.'s teams have been traditionally called the Friars, because the Dominicans run the college. It is impossible to have a Friar as a mascot because of possible hurt to the Fathers or the Church. Therefore, the symbolism here at Providence College is taken from the colors of the school.

We use the colors of black and white because of the white habit and black capua of the Dominicans.

There are several animals having this color. There is the penguin, the Dalmatian, the panda bear, or even the skunk. However, a dog is closely connected with the Dominicans in several ways. Before his birth, Saint Dominic's mother had a vision of a dog with the torch of truth in his mouth. Then too, the Dominicans have been, and still are, called the Dominii Canes—the watchdogs of the Lord.

Therefore, we can see the connection between the tradition of the school and having a Dalmatian as the official mascot.

The Student Congress and the Friars' Club are negotiating to obtain a new mascot for Providence College. The last one we had was in 1959, Friar Boy IV.

Father Quirk meditatively addresses the Thomistic Guild.

speech entitled "The Crisis in the American Labor Movement."

The speakers for the remaining engagements are as follows:

November 11—"Productivity: Key to the American Standard of Living." Reverend Thomas J. Shanley, O. P.

December 2—"Taxation: Major Problem of the U. S. Economy." Mister Gustave Cote.

December 9 —"Investment: The Shape of Tomorrow," Mister George Sullivan.

Grad Aid By Danforth

The Danforth Foundation, an educational foundation located in St. Louis, Missouri, invites applications for the seventh class (1958) of Danforth Graduate Fellows from college senior men and recent graduates who are preparing themselves for a career of college teaching, and also those who plan to enter graduate school in September, 1958, for their first year of graduate study. The Foundation welcomes applications from areas of natural and biological sciences, social sciences, humanities, and all fields of specialization to be found in the undergraduate college.

The Very Rev. Robert J. Slavin, O. P., has named Rev. Richard David Danziszewicz, O. P., as the Selection Officer to nominate to the Danforth Foundation two or three candidates for these 1958 fellowships.
For The Common Good

If those responsible for the media of motion pictures, radio, and television presentations are more concerned with the commercial and sensational aspects of their occupation than with true prudence and wisdom, then the subsequent effect would truly contribute to the mental and spiritual enlightenment of the people involved. But, conversely, if men obey the dictates of a solely-material existence, and disregard the ultimate end of life, then innumerable persons will not be enlightened, tragic errors will be committed, and above all, the common good of all society will suffer.

But now, the question may arise as to who shall be the judge of what is fitting for widespread publicity. This question can be readily and tersely answered—the Church. In so far as the Church is entrusted with the salvation of souls, and as in so far, the territory was divinely delegated to Her, this right and its entail obligations are the inviolable and inexorable property of the Church.

Lest some people become radically opposed to this concept of Church rule, it must be clarified by stating that the Church would hand work in hand with the State, and those engaged in these media, and they, united in common effort, would strive for a three-fold cooperation and secretion which would guarantee the continual support and help of the Church.

Again, lest the individual say "All well and good, but what's that got to do with me?" and then feign indifference, the paradox of this topic must be resolved. As always, it is the single unit multiplied many times which is the cause of the size, influence, power and prestige of the resulting mass. It is here that our duty as individuals is made clear. Motion pictures, radio and television presentations are only created because a demand for them exists. This demand is simply the combined current of the activities of the body is satisfied increased only if the spirit can be increased by a more information commending school newspaper as the COWL is now, it carries the students students are reading the restrictions students and a n campus organizations. Where there are so many restrictions there has to be restricted spirit.

Dick Kiley, ’58: "I think that some of the rules laws that the administrators are child and well with the students interested in working. No persons other than P.C. students allowed in the cafeteria in the evening."

Francis Best, ’59: "I do not have the opinion, school spirit can be increased by a more information commending school newspaper as the COWL is now, it carries the students students are reading the restrictions students and a n campus organizations. Where there are so many restrictions there has to be restricted spirit."

Tom Quinn, ’59: "School spirit can be increased only if the student student and the social students and the social school. Most students are not satisfied with the social laws."

Two Hard-Heads

Dear Editor,

From your editorials I gather that:

1. You’re in favor of coercive volunteering.
2. You’re against the draft.
3. You’re against parking meters.
4. You’re against campus policies.
5. You’re against closing the ole golf course to spouters.
6. What a complete hard-head you are.

Reply given to above:

Dear Editor,

From your letter I gather that:

1. You’re against compulsory ROTC.
2. You’re against the draft.
3. You’re against parking meters.
4. You’re against campus policies.
5. You’re against love.
6. You’re a hard-head.

For The Common Good

Zhukov Purged . . .

The removal and subsequent purge of Marshal Zhukov as Soviet Defense Minister came as a great surprise to the world in light of the past relationship he had with the Communist Praesidium and its members. Only last summer he had aided Khrushchev in disposing of Malenkov, Mal'tsev, Kaganovich and Shepilov. He was in control of the Russian armed forces and was extremely popular with them.

It is apparent now however, that this power was related to his appointed political position and not to himself. Just as the purge in June eliminated the chief opposition to Khrushchev, so too, the removal of Zhukov has a parallel effect. This action is characteristic of the Soviet system in which decisions concerning the supposed welfare of Russia are made by a small controlling group without the consent of the Soviet people. In a democracy, such as ours, this could not happen, since it is the will of the people that determines who will carry out the duties in our government.

Human Beings Are Things in Russia

In a statement issued by Khrushchev after the dismissal of Zhukov, it was implied that this action was similar to that of Secretary of Defense Wilson's resigning. This analogy, of course, is completely ridiculous and the comparison like that of day and night. In the Soviet Union it has been demonstrated time and again that human beings are not considered "personal" or "things."

It is significant to note that no matter what position is held in Russia, there is always the danger of being purged. At the present time it is the peasant-born Khrushchev who has triumphed, but how long his power will last is not certain. One thing is sure—as long as diplomatic communism exists it will remain the greatest threat to peace and security in the world.

Mutnik . . .

On the heels of the Zhukov dismissal, Soviет Russia launched a second earth satellite. This time, it not only contains a radio transmitter, but also a dog. In the eyes of the whole world, this is viewed as a great scientific achievement, even more so than the first, since life is being maintained for the first time in outer space.

In all due respect to the SPCA, it does seem ridiculous for them to think of this feat as a cruel act, for although they may not realize it, their methods and raving only adds insult to injury to the intelligence of the United States. Again, we hear the threat of more Congression in investigations into the reasons for our not having a satellite in space. At the same time the government, in attempting to justify its position, reassures us that there is nothing to get alarmed about. Although I agree that we should not favor hysteria and throw our hands up in despair, it is quite apparent that unless the United States makes rapid strides in this field, we will be literally left in the dust.

Should Take Immediate Action

Our policy has always been that of keeping such matters under cover until the occasion was right. But what of this unsav ing (i.e. the atom bomb was not really talked about until its first dropping, although it had been developed some time before). However, if actions speak (Continued on Page 6)
Maryknoll Priest-Author Relates Experience Here

The Reverend Robert H. Greene, M.M., a Maryknoll missionary in China since 1937, appeared on the Providence College campus yesterday as a guest speaker at the Student Congress' first general assembly of the year.

Father Greene, who was raised in Jasper, Indiana, and attended the Maryknoll novitiate at Bedford, Massachusetts, is one of many Catholic priests who suffered persecution under the regime of Mao Tse-tung in China. Father Greene's personal ordeal began in 1950 when the Communist government of China placed him under house arrest. During the Holy Week of 1951 the Communists began subjecting him to physical torture. One year later, on Easter Monday, Father Greene was released.

In 1953, after he had returned to the United States, Father Greene's personal account of his experiences was published, in a book entitled Calvary in China.

By Jim Sheahan

In an interview with Dr. Edwin K. Gora, professor of theoretical physics at Providence College, this reporter asked the following questions concerning Sputnik II and the satellite program.

Q. What do you think of Russia's most recent launching of a satellite?
A. "It is a great scientific achievement and should not be taken toolightly in the United States. These satellites are being used for propaganda purposes although this is definitely not their primary purpose. If the United States had satellites they would also make use of the propaganda issue."

Q. What do you think of the possibility that Russia has a new type fuel?
A. "Anything said on this subject is purely speculative. However, it is not very likely that atom powered rockets are being used. They may be using some other type of new fuel. Just what this might be is not known."

Q. Do the Russian satellites look so impressive when it is realized that the United States has sent up rockets to the much greater height of about 5000 miles?
A. "Yes, if the power needed to bring Sputnik's I and II into orbit had been used to shoot them up straight, they would have reached a height of about 5000 or 6000 miles."

Q. Do you think that Russia is able to send a rocket to the moon now?
A. "On the basis of what they have done already, they can definitely send a rocket to the moon. The moon rocket would probably carry some type of explosive that would show up on the moon's surface when it made contact."

Q. Do you believe that the United States is behind Russia in this field?
A. "This question may be answered in many ways. First, the United States did not consider this project to be quite as important as Russia did, and this was a mistake. The attempt to economize led, for instance, to the prohibition of overtime work on some of our missile projects, and also to the refusal of various appropriations for research projects in Russia, money does not appear to be a major problem to scientists. If they need more materials in their work there is no long drawn out process involved. Secondly, the United States lacks the qualified manpower necessary to keep up with Russia. It is a known fact that the percentage of scientists interested in working for the United States government is

\[\text{(Continued on Page 6)}\]
Mullaney: Crowd Will Enjoy Them

“Our team will be one which will give the spectators their money’s worth.” These were the words of coach Joe Mul­­laney as he began his pre-season talk. During the course of the season, there is no doubt that the coach will have to be flexible and will have to try to show, in an ev­­ident fashion and enthusiasm to welcome the 25-30 slate of action.

Bolstered by the addition of last year’s freshman team to a solid core of seniors, the coach has every reason to be­­lieve that this year’s club will at least be as successful as his first two years of coaching at P.C.

“As for the schedule, it is about as same last year’s

INTRAMURALS

The flu and conflicts in schedules have caused varsity basketball practice to be intermittent. With the season opener twenty-five days distant, Coach Joe Mullaney can schedule five sessions and work on the twelve players who have presented, sustained and lengthy

This weekend Mullaney and his team will help alleviate the early tranquility.

In other sports, Providence is comparatively small. There are currently fourteen men on the squad. Four seniors — Captain Eddie Donohue, Roger Canestrari, Nelson Criscuolo, Phil Caliendo, John Roney, and Dick Panagrossi. The Juniors are Anders, Chuckie Shoolery, John

The Friars have been classified by the United States Basket­­ball Writers Association as playing a major college schedule in 1957-58.

Bobbie Rabito has been de­­clared ineligible to play varsity football this year. In 1953 the rugged defenseman skated at

The Friars have been eliminated from all varsity competition by the loss of

It is evident that a clear solution to avoid such confusion in the future will have to be on the minds of

Frankie Williams, ’57, whose summertime softball seasons have

It’s obvious that we goofed in

For the Providence baseball nine

It is evident that a clear solution to avoid such confusion in the future will have to be on the minds of

For the Providence baseball nine

Here’s this week’s Intramural

The Carolan Club’s dorm league will commence within a week.

The Friars will be a home-and-home series, with the winner retaining

In last week’s competition the New Haven Club downed the Waterbury club 25-0. The Providence “B” Club triumphed twin.

In some fashion, the intramural sports are a part of the gar­­den sports world. It was learned here last week that Williams will coach the Milford, Conn.

It is evident that a clear solution to avoid such confusion in the future will have to be on the minds of

The Friars and Hamden have another game this weekend

Here’s this week’s Intramural

With the touch football competition well underway, the council will in­­tro­duce plans for the basketball program. It is hoped that the

The Friars and Hamden have another game this weekend

In Intramural action, the触摸 football competition well underway, the council will in­­tro­duce plans for the basketball program. It is hoped that the

In Intramural action, the触摸 football competition well underway, the council will in­­tro­duce plans for the basketball program. It is hoped that the

In Intramural action, the触摸 football competition well underway, the council will in­­tro­duce plans for the basketball program. It is hoped that the
Ducharme Cites Prospects In Frosh Hockey Tryouts

George Ducharme, former Burrillville High School and Providence College star, was named assistant hockey coach here at the college last week. Ducharme is no stranger to P.C. nor to Tom Eccleston the varsity coach whom he will be assisting this season.

His first encounter with Eccleston was on a player-coach basis in the year 1944 when Ducharme, a freshmen, turned out for football at Burrillville, this however was not the extent of his ability as he also played hockey and baseball.

The greatest thrill of his playing career came in 1944, then he scored the winning goal against Pawtucket East in his third and final game of the I. schoolboy baseball play-f.

Commenting on the eastern hockey picture, Ducharme said that he thought that R.P.I., Cornell, while Southern California remained unscathed in the PCC tourna-
m. and Harvard, which only last two men while going on years, Oregon remained unscathed in the PCC,

When asked about what the prospects were for the varsity this year, he answered that the team would be better than last years squad, but he also pointed out that the competition would also be much stiffer. Ducharme added that he considered LeuLaFontaine one of the top scorers in the East, and that Joe Barile was one of the most effective play-makers. Some of the other players who impressed Ducharme were: Bert Lajoie a defenceman, and two sophomore forwards, Pete Bergen and John Turner, both of whom were former stars at Malden Catholic High School.

The freshman team, which Ducharme will handle, is, in his opinion, one of the best around this area. He said he had five excellent prospects in Larry McKabon, Jim Wandmacker, Charles Carroll, Joe Keough, and Bob Deyette. Ducharme is looking forward to a good year and Bob Deyette. Ducharme is looking forward to a good year and Bob Deyette.

The greatest thrill of his playing career came in 1944, when he scored the winning goal against Pawtucket East in his third and final game of the I. schoolboy baseball play-

The greatest thrill of his playing career came in 1944, when he scored the winning goal against Pawtucket East in his third and final game of the I. schoolboy baseball play-

The greatest thrill of his playing career came in 1944, when he scored the winning goal against Pawtucket East in his third and final game of the I. schoolboy baseball play-

P.C. nor to Tom Eccleston the varsity coach whom he will be assisting this season.

His first encounter with Eccleston was in the year 1944 when Ducharme, a freshmen, turned out for football at Burrillville, this however was not the extent of his ability as he also played hockey and baseball.

The greatest thrill of his playing career came in 1944, when he scored the winning goal against Pawtucket East in his third and final game of the I. schoolboy baseball play-

Commenting on the eastern hockey picture, Ducharme said that he thought that R.P.I., Cornell, while Southern California remained unscathed in the PCC tourna-
m. and Harvard, which only last two men while going on years, Oregon remained unscathed in the PCC,

When asked about what the prospects were for the varsity this year, he answered that the team would be better than last years squad, but he also pointed out that the competition would also be much stiffer. Ducharme added that he considered LeuLaFontaine one of the top scorers in the East, and that Joe Barile was one of the most effective play-makers. Some of the other players who impressed Ducharme were: Bert Lajoie a defenceman, and two sophomore forwards, Pete Bergen and John Turner, both of whom were former stars at Malden Catholic High School.

The freshman team, which Ducharme will handle, is, in his opinion, one of the best around this area. He said he had five excellent prospects in Larry McKabon, Jim Wandmacker, Charles Carroll, Joe Keough, and Bob Deyette. Ducharme is looking forward to a good year and Bob Deyette. Ducharme is looking forward to a good year and Bob Deyette.
The Record . . .

(Continued from Page 3)
very low (i.e. according to a recent survey only 1.6%). In particular there is a shortage of theoretical scientists, most of whom are working at universities or colleges. Another large percent is connected with industry, and the remaining few, not necessarily the best, are working for the government.

Q. Why are so few interested in government work?

A. "Primarily because the government is not willing to pay them as well as industry, although the type of work is the same."

Q. Do you think the choice of the Navy to handle our satellite program was made properly?

A. "This has been discussed a great deal. It is true that the Army had been considered the best choice by many, but a committee of nine was given the job of selecting the one to carry on the project. Two voted for the Army, four voted for the Navy and three were undecided. Whether the committee members believe such a choice is not known, but the Navy was given the job.

Washington—(OP)—General K. C. Dennis sent his 5th Bomber Division deep into the heart of Germany yesterday. Due to the lack of friendly fighter-cover, the losses were the heaviest for any single mission of the war—forty-four bombers were destroyed.

The problem confronting General Dennis is whether or not, in the face of official opposition, he should send his 5th Division on a similar costly raid tomorrow afternoon. This is the dramatic background for the action of "Command Decision," by William Winter Haines, the Pyramid Players' first offering of the season. It will be presented on Dec. 8-9-10, in Harkins Hall Auditorium.