The Research Department of Providence College recently obtained a grant from the National Cancer Institute to undertake an infra-red spectrophotometer project. The grant provides funds to purchase an instrument that will be used for biochemical and medical research. The project is led by Dr. John Hagan, Jr., who is also the president of the institute.

The instrument, which is expected to be operational by August 1959, will be housed in the institute's new facility. The institute has already received financial support from the Providence College for the project.

The spectrophotometer will be used to study the chemical composition of various substances, including proteins and carbohydrates. The instrument is capable of measuring the absorbance of light at different wavelengths, which will allow researchers to determine the concentration of specific compounds in a sample.

The Research Department of Providence College recently announced the appointment of Dr. John Hagan, Jr., as the new president of the institute. Dr. Hagan has held various positions at the college, including vice-president and provost. He is a well-known authority on biochemical research and has made significant contributions to the field.

In addition to the spectrophotometer project, the institute is also involved in the development of a new drug that could potentially treat cancer. The drug is currently in preclinical trials and has shown promising results in laboratory tests.

The institute is also working on a project to develop a new method for detecting cancer early. The method involves the use of a novel type of spectroscopy that can detect small changes in the chemical composition of cells.

In conclusion, the Research Department of Providence College has made significant progress in the development of new tools and technologies for cancer research. These efforts are expected to yield important contributions to the field of cancer biology and to help advance the fight against cancer.
A Chance To Get Rich

Something new and challenging in the field of competitive collegiate contests for students and faculty has reached the Providence College campus. However, as with others, this novel scheme fostered by "Readers Digest" has met with little or no interest from our students. As this particular contest requires just a small amount of effort, it is not out of the ordinary to assume that Providence College will be noted by a dearth rather than a wealth of applications. Yet our intention here is not to give "Readers Digest" gratis publicity, but to flicker the dormant flame of our well-known nemesis, school spirit. How may this be achieved? Well, to seek an entry blank is half the battle. Then enter, with a will to win for self and school.

For here's the gimmick, the bit of strategy that the Digest people thought would make this wits of a natural on any college campus. A dual prize is in the offering and it is tempting and more than a little attractive. The rules provide for a substantial monetary reward for the lucky winners and to the winner the same school for its scholarship fund.

We urge you to display your initiative, to show the Readers Digest that we are alive and kicking, to get the feel of that competitive school spirit and bring home a winner to Providence College.

Additional information may be obtained from the last Cowl issue or from the book store.

In Passing

By Dave Pepin

Three years ago there entered into the life of Rosary Devotions a young man who has since proven himself to be a man of great abilities. His name was Rob Duffy. Rob was what you might call an intellectual. His command of the English language was so great that in his sophomore year I could understand a word he was saying. He spoke English fluently. Although he was a foreigner, he had studied much English. He was learning another language, but later we learned that the words of his poems were in a language unknown to us. His talent turns up in the office like a cyclone and leaves live minutes later. Evidently he does something in those five minutes, because we always have the ads in place. And that, in brief, is how the COWL gets put together.

The Thinking Catholic

Union City, N.J. "You can't tell a Catholic from his neighbor by the style of his hat or the cut of his coat or the baseball team he roots for. But you should be able to distinguish him by the principles he holds and by his outlook on the world."

Dr. Day was given his own column when one of the older retired and Dr. Day became editor. The column was read over and over, and the author himself slightly and even went so far as to change the name of his column to that it could be replaced by Dr. Rob. Mr. Day had very well. Most of us have been to his house, but he has never in mind that Rob, and now we are even for ever.

THE COWL OCTOBER 17, 1954

A SENSE OF LEMON

By ROB LAFAYE

Just a minute ago someone hit me and made me just a little bit hot under the collar. After the session in back of Aquinas Hall tonight, which, by the way, is my usual night, so to speak...office to remove the camera. As I was walking along, some animals, for want of a better word, came clawing up behind me. As soon as they saw that I was no longer a critic, time really funny comments. The fresh played it smart and minded their own business. Just as we passed Dennis Hall, Fr. Proctor, who was standing outside, asked them what they were doing on campus. They began to run, but the freshmen collapsed one after the other and soon they were all on the ground. As they walked away from Aquinas, I heard one of the freshmen say, "The last word on comments." And the like were dragged out again. The fresh played it smart and minded their own business. Just as we passed Dennis Hall, Fr. Proctor, who was standing outside, asked them what they were doing on campus. They began to run, but the freshmen collapsed one after the other and soon they were all on the ground. As they walked away from Aquinas, I heard one of the freshmen say, "The last word on comments."

In the political view point, this week, as promised we will discuss a few of the major issues which are in the forefront of the political limelight.

The Supreme Court decision was a Republican one. It appears that the statement was made, the only thing that seems to enter into the picture is that they will probably be the party of the future. You can not count one of them; you probably be put in jail, or better yet, the only thing one could probably pull a gun and shout at. If anyone, after reading this column, had been interested in those, and since Jameson, leave their tender susceptibilities at home. This kids use a type of language that would shock James Joyce.

Because I can't think of anything interesting, I think I'll describe what usually goes on around this place, this place being the COWL office. If you can't stand the heat, get out of the kitchen. Speaking of cooking, we have been keeping our kitchen employed. In fact, we have been cooking a lot these days. The weather has been very hot, and the atmosphere is very conducive to the kitchen, and even to the kitchen's personnel. A great deal of time has been spent in the kitchen, and even to the kitchen's personnel. A great deal of time has been spent in the kitchen, and even to the kitchen's personnel. A great deal of time has been spent in the kitchen, and even to the kitchen's personnel. A great deal of time has been spent in the kitchen, and even to the kitchen's personnel. A great deal of time has been spent in the kitchen, and even to the kitchen's personnel. A great deal of time has been spent in the kitchen, and even to the kitchen's personnel. A great deal of time has been spent in the kitchen, and even to the kitchen's personnel. A great deal of time has been spent in the kitchen, and even to the kitchen's personnel. A great deal of time has been spent in the kitchen, and even to the kitchen's personnel.
Campus Political Platforms

PLATFORM OF THE VERACRATIC PARTY

Within a week the members of the Sophomore Class will decide who are the instruments of their chief government as well as the class itself. They must take a stand on the issues confronting the student body. Therefore in order that everyone may know what our party stands for and against, we publish this platform:

We pledge to encourage spirit by wise and intelligent leadership in extra-curricular activities.

Free Bids

The Veracritic Party is opposed to the idea of giving free bids. It feels that rather than contributing to better class as well as the class itself, free bids have a demoralizing effect. We pledge that no such bids will be issued.

Committees

We will, if elected, appoint intelligent, hard-working members of the student body. In that capacity we should be able to maintain a substantial balance in the class treasury so that next year our Junior Prom will be the most successful ever held in the school's history.

We will do the utmost in our power to make this year the most outstanding in sophomore class history and to make the Class of '59 the greatest of the annals of Providence College.

The candidates supported by the party, all of whom will live up to this platform are John Eckert, president; Edward Lind, vice president; John Brennan, secretary; and Kevin McMahon, treasurer.

Here's How to Play

TANGLE SCHOOLS

A total of 24 puzzles will appear before the Christmas holiday. Get started now in Old Gold's exciting new game for college students only.

Here are the Official Tangle Rules! SAVE THEM!

1. PRIZE (a) P. Lofland Company, the makers of Old Gold, will give one student one college scholarship to the extent of $3,000, valued at more than $5,000 to college students in the United States as determined by the Independent Party. (See complete list of prizes.) (b) This game will consist of reproductions of menus used by the various college newspapers; these menus each wish for eight different solutions; each solution consists of legitimate words which must be entered so as to form a rectangle as outlined in rule 2. (c) Contests must use the menu selected from each of the eight colleges chosen by the Independent Party. Each menu may only be used once by any group.

2. (a) Each puzzle containing all of the rules and solving the highest number of puzzles normally will be declared the winner of the first prize of a $500 college scholarship to the University of the State of New York, or another college which shall be announced in the Independent Party. (b) Each group who wishes to use this puzzle must first present, at the start of the game, an intelligent and accurate program of their designs, showing on which sections of the board each puzzle will be entered. Each puzzle will be entered in such a manner that only one puzzle will be entered on each serving plate. (c) Each puzzle must be entered as described in the puzzle-solving rules, and each puzzle must be entered in such a manner that only one puzzle will be entered on each serving plate. (d) Each puzzle must be entered in such a manner that only one puzzle will be entered on each serving plate. (e) Each puzzle must be entered in such a manner that only one puzzle will be entered on each serving plate. (f) Each puzzle must be entered in such a manner that only one puzzle will be entered on each serving plate.

3. (a) When puzzles have been completed solutions to the complete set of 25 initial puzzles, which are to be solved in one set, all eight puzzles per week in this series. (b) Only those who complete solutions to the complete set of 25 initial puzzles, which are to be solved in one set, all eight puzzles per week in this series. (c) Only those who complete solutions to the complete set of 25 initial puzzles, which are to be solved in one set, all eight puzzles per week in this series. (d) Only those who complete solutions to the complete set of 25 initial puzzles, which are to be solved in one set, all eight puzzles per week in this series. (e) Only those who complete solutions to the complete set of 25 initial puzzles, which are to be solved in one set, all eight puzzles per week in this series. (f) Only those who complete solutions to the complete set of 25 initial puzzles, which are to be solved in one set, all eight puzzles per week in this series.

4. (a) When puzzles have been completed solutions to the complete set of 25 initial puzzles, which are to be solved in one set, all eight puzzles per week in this series. (b) Only those who complete solutions to the complete set of 25 initial puzzles, which are to be solved in one set, all eight puzzles per week in this series. (c) Only those who complete solutions to the complete set of 25 initial puzzles, which are to be solved in one set, all eight puzzles per week in this series. (d) Only those who complete solutions to the complete set of 25 initial puzzles, which are to be solved in one set, all eight puzzles per week in this series. (e) Only those who complete solutions to the complete set of 25 initial puzzles, which are to be solved in one set, all eight puzzles per week in this series. (f) Only those who complete solutions to the complete set of 25 initial puzzles, which are to be solved in one set, all eight puzzles per week in this series.

5. (a) The student who completes solutions to all puzzles before the end of the college's senior class will receive a college scholarship to the University of the State of New York, or another college which shall be announced in the Independent Party. (b) Each puzzle must be entered in such a manner that only one puzzle will be entered on each serving plate. (c) Each puzzle must be entered in such a manner that only one puzzle will be entered on each serving plate. (d) Each puzzle must be entered in such a manner that only one puzzle will be entered on each serving plate. (e) Each puzzle must be entered in such a manner that only one puzzle will be entered on each serving plate. (f) Each puzzle must be entered in such a manner that only one puzzle will be entered on each serving plate.
Letter To The Editor

I would like to take this opportunity to solicit the entire Junior class for giving me the great honor of representing you in your class functions. Our class has shown time and time again that we are capable of working hard in an effort to promote the best interests of the class as a whole. I believe that the class will show once again the great spirit of their forefathers. Now do the books tell of the remarkable and sometimes spectacular grab of antics Dave Lavelle, Mac Specie and lately Pete Browner. Nor do the book tell of the all-time destruction of the Cleveland front wall all the way through the year. This was the cause of the cancellation of Graham's retirement, but as the season wore on, not to deny Graham, he did his best to keep the element of surprise in Graham's favor.

To explain last year's performance is not easy. Cleveland began its slide downhill in the year. This was the cause of the cancellation of Graham's retirement, but as the season wore on, not to deny Graham, he did his best to keep the element of surprise in Graham's favor.

Catholic . . .

(Student Congress Report)

On October 12, at 10:20 the Student Court held its first session of the semester. Appearing before the Court were 15 freshmen who had failed to comply with the Beanie regulations in one way or another. Chief Prosecutor, Daniel Del Vecchio explained that the offenders had willfully or otherwise been guilty of an infraction of the regulations concerning the wearing of beanies and recommended that they should each bear the full penalty for their violations. The defendants were all asked to sign a statement that the defendants had each signed his own violation ticket thereby eliminating any question of their authentication.

The following defendants appeared before the court:

Kovacs, W.
Netley, J.
Velez, A.
Finnegan, P.
Kolan, J.
Cusick, J.
Brown, D.
Cusick, F.
Wins, W.
Foley, D.
Harris, W.
Munro, J.
Sweeney, C.

The defendant may be made to wear on his person, a sign which shall proclaim him to be a violator.

1. The sign may be worn either on his head or chest. It shall not be allowed to pass your vote for me simply because I would be more likely to capture my classmate. All I can rightfully ask of you is that you think seriously—before you vote—what you would like to be your leader. All I can ask is that you have a thorough knowledge of my plans and platform, I ask that you think seriously—before you vote—what you would like to be your leader. All I can ask is that you have a thorough knowledge of my plans and platform.

Sincerely,

Paul H. Walsh
Candidate for Secretary

Student Congress Report

On October 12, at 10:20 the Student Court held its first session of the semester. Appearing before the Court were 15 freshmen who had failed to comply with the Beanie regulations in one way or another. Chief Prosecutor, Daniel Del Vecchio explained that the offenders had willfully or otherwise been guilty of an infraction of the regulations concerning the wearing of beanies and recommended that they should each bear the full penalty for their violations. The defendants were all asked to sign a statement that the defendants had each signed his own violation ticket thereby eliminating any question of their authentication.

The following defendants appeared before the court:

Kovacs, W.
Netley, J.
Velez, A.
Finnegan, P.
Kolan, J.
Cusick, J.
Brown, D.
Cusick, F.
Wins, W.
Foley, D.
Harris, W.
Munro, J.
Sweeney, C.

The defendant may be made to wear on his person, a sign which shall proclaim him to be a violator.

1. The sign may be worn either on his head or chest. It shall not be

2. It shall be made by the student and approved by the court.

3. The duration of the penalty shall be at the discretion of the court.

4. The time of day that the defendant shall be at his post will be decided by the court and the duration of the punishment shall be decided by the court.

None of the above penalties shall be imposed for longer than a week.

Defendants who show insubordination or contempt of court may also have their right to participate in the social functions of the school removed for a period of three weeks. Dorm students may be corrected.

After a short consultation with the Enforcement Committee Chief Justice De Leo and Associate Justice Powers found the 11 defendants guilty and all were directed to write speeches in compliance with the penal code regulations.

Congress Business

Student meeting held on Monday morning the Congress approved the Carillon Club Constitution which had been submitted for consideration.

In the afternoon another meeting was held at which all the regional clubs presented their report. This meeting was unique in that it was the first of its kind ever held.

The Congress offered several suggestions to the club representatives as to how tutoring him may be conducted at the club's functions. A new organization, Tug-O-War, sponsored by the Student Congress, is scheduled for 3:30 tomorrow afternoon at Hendrick Field. It will be a contest of the freshmen and sophomores in which the fresher, victorious, will be allowed to discard their beanies immediately. However, if the sopherom's team wins the beanies will have to be worn until the night of their Liberation Dance.

All interested freshmen and sophomores are urged to register in the Student Congress office today or tomorrow morning.

IT'S FOR REAL!
by Chester Field

GABRIEL DOOM

Once every month Gabriel Doom.
Locked himself up in a sound-proof room.
Then he laughed out loud and rocked with glee.
At a life that was fun as life is.
He laughed at the weather, sunny on Monday.

Once every month Gabriel Doom.

He laughed at the news so loaded with grief
That an ax murder came as a pleasant relief.
He cherished the thought of warning the little girl
You couldn't ask for a furriner life!

MORAL. In this fast-moving world it's good to sit back, relax and enjoy the results of a real man.

Chesterfield. More real flavor, more

The end of the wet season ever, thanks to Acay-Roy.

Take your pleasure big!

Smoke for real . . . smoke Chesterfield!