Junior Class To Sponsor Original Spring Musical

The Junior Class of Providence College will sponsor a Musical Variety Show this Friday and Saturday, April 13 and 14, at Harkins Hall for the purse of $3,000. This event, which will be presented by the Junior Class, will be called "Junior Prom." The show will feature a variety of talent, including music, comedy, and dance performances. Admission will be $1.00 per person, and all proceeds will go towards the Junior Prom expenses. Eugene Daley is chairman of the show committee, and the Junior Prom committee will be responsible for all aspects of the event. The show will feature a range of performers, including the Providence College Glee Club, the Providence College Orchestra, and the Providence College Dance Team. The show will be held in the college's auditorium, and tickets will be available for purchase at the door. The show is expected to be a big hit with students and the local community, and it promises to be a memorable event for all who attend.

Catholic Church Strong in England

There is nothing more heartening and promising, for example, than the fact that not only does the Catholic Church have thousands of young men and women in their early twenties in the industrial areas, but also that there is a Catholic trend upwards in the number of adult converts in England.

Marriage Forum Titles Announced

The Providence College Forum on Marriage, which is being planned for the last ten consecutive years, will be held this Friday, March 27, at 8:15 p.m., in Alumni Hall. The forum will feature various speakers, including Dr. John Lowry, director of the National Catholic Office for Marriage, who will present the keynote address. The forum will also feature panel discussions on various topics related to marriage, including the roles of men and women in marriage, the importance of communication in marriage, and the challenges of maintaining a healthy marriage. The forum is free and open to the public, and the schedule of events will be announced soon.

Catholic Church in England: Strange things happen than in any other period since the Reformation, according to an article in the February issue of the national Catholic magazine, the Catholic Herald. An article in the February issue of the national Catholic magazine, the Catholic Herald, reports that the Catholic Church in England is experiencing a renaissance, with more people converting to Catholicism than ever before. The article notes that the Church has been gaining ground in the past few years, with more people attending Mass and participating in Church activities. The article also notes that the Church has been engaging in social service work, such as providing food and clothing to the needy, which has helped to increase its popularity. The article concludes that the Church in England is experiencing a renaissance, with more people converting to Catholicism than ever before.

P. C. To Be Host For N.F.C.C.S. Conv.

The Providence College Chapter of the National Federation of Catholic College Students will be host to the Rhode Island Federation of College Catholic Students for its annual workshop which will be held in Alumni Hall next Sunday, Feb. 22. There will be four commissions taking part in the workshop, including Catholic Action, C.C.D., Marriage and Liturgy. The workshop will be conducted in the form of a panel discussion, allowing approximately 30 minutes for each of the four topics. The delegates will attend Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament in the college chapel at 4:30 p.m., this will be followed by supper in the dining room in Harkins Hall. A social hour will be held at the completion of the workshop.

Junior Class Prom Play to Be Held in May

The Junior Class of Providence College will sponsor a Musical Variety Show this Friday and Saturday, April 13 and 14, at Harkins Hall for the purse of $3,000. This event, which will be presented by the Junior Class, will be called "Junior Prom." The show will feature a variety of talent, including music, comedy, and dance performances. Admission will be $1.00 per person, and all proceeds will go towards the Junior Prom expenses. Eugene Daley is chairman of the show committee, and the Junior Prom committee will be responsible for all aspects of the event. The show will feature a range of performers, including the Providence College Glee Club, the Providence College Orchestra, and the Providence College Dance Team. The show will be held in the college's auditorium, and tickets will be available for purchase at the door. The show is expected to be a big hit with students and the local community, and it promises to be a memorable event for all who attend.

Catholic Church in England: Strange things happen than in any other period since the Reformation, according to an article in the February issue of the national Catholic magazine, the Catholic Herald. An article in the February issue of the national Catholic magazine, the Catholic Herald, reports that the Catholic Church in England is experiencing a renaissance, with more people converting to Catholicism than ever before. The article notes that the Church has been gaining ground in the past few years, with more people attending Mass and participating in Church activities. The article also notes that the Church has been engaging in social service work, such as providing food and clothing to the needy, which has helped to increase its popularity. The article concludes that the Church in England is experiencing a renaissance, with more people converting to Catholicism than ever before.

P. C. To Be Host For N.F.C.C.S. Conv.

The Providence College Chapter of the National Federation of Catholic College Students will be host to the Rhode Island Federation of College Catholic Students for its annual workshop which will be held in Alumni Hall next Sunday, Feb. 22. There will be four commissions taking part in the workshop, including Catholic Action, C.C.D., Marriage and Liturgy. The workshop will be conducted in the form of a panel discussion, allowing approximately 30 minutes for each of the four topics. The delegates will attend Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament in the college chapel at 4:30 p.m., this will be followed by supper in the dining room in Harkins Hall. A social hour will be held at the completion of the workshop.

Junior Class Prom Play to Be Held in May

The Junior Class of Providence College will sponsor a Musical Variety Show this Friday and Saturday, April 13 and 14, at Harkins Hall for the purse of $3,000. This event, which will be presented by the Junior Class, will be called "Junior Prom." The show will feature a variety of talent, including music, comedy, and dance performances. Admission will be $1.00 per person, and all proceeds will go towards the Junior Prom expenses. Eugene Daley is chairman of the show committee, and the Junior Prom committee will be responsible for all aspects of the event. The show will feature a range of performers, including the Providence College Glee Club, the Providence College Orchestra, and the Providence College Dance Team. The show will be held in the college's auditorium, and tickets will be available for purchase at the door. The show is expected to be a big hit with students and the local community, and it promises to be a memorable event for all who attend.

Catholic Church in England: Strange things happen than in any other period since the Reformation, according to an article in the February issue of the national Catholic magazine, the Catholic Herald. An article in the February issue of the national Catholic magazine, the Catholic Herald, reports that the Catholic Church in England is experiencing a renaissance, with more people converting to Catholicism than ever before. The article notes that the Church has been gaining ground in the past few years, with more people attending Mass and participating in Church activities. The article also notes that the Church has been engaging in social service work, such as providing food and clothing to the needy, which has helped to increase its popularity. The article concludes that the Church in England is experiencing a renaissance, with more people converting to Catholicism than ever before.

P. C. To Be Host For N.F.C.C.S. Conv.

The Providence College Chapter of the National Federation of Catholic College Students will be host to the Rhode Island Federation of College Catholic Students for its annual workshop which will be held in Alumni Hall next Sunday, Feb. 22. There will be four commissions taking part in the workshop, including Catholic Action, C.C.D., Marriage and Liturgy. The workshop will be conducted in the form of a panel discussion, allowing approximately 30 minutes for each of the four topics. The delegates will attend Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament in the college chapel at 4:30 p.m., this will be followed by supper in the dining room in Harkins Hall. A social hour will be held at the completion of the workshop.

Junior Class Prom Play to Be Held in May

The Junior Class of Providence College will sponsor a Musical Variety Show this Friday and Saturday, April 13 and 14, at Harkins Hall for the purse of $3,000. This event, which will be presented by the Junior Class, will be called "Junior Prom." The show will feature a variety of talent, including music, comedy, and dance performances. Admission will be $1.00 per person, and all proceeds will go towards the Junior Prom expenses. Eugene Daley is chairman of the show committee, and the Junior Prom committee will be responsible for all aspects of the event. The show will feature a range of performers, including the Providence College Glee Club, the Providence College Orchestra, and the Providence College Dance Team. The show will be held in the college's auditorium, and tickets will be available for purchase at the door. The show is expected to be a big hit with students and the local community, and it promises to be a memorable event for all who attend.

Catholic Church in England: Strange things happen than in any other period since the Reformation, according to an article in the February issue of the national Catholic magazine, the Catholic Herald. An article in the February issue of the national Catholic magazine, the Catholic Herald, reports that the Catholic Church in England is experiencing a renaissance, with more people converting to Catholicism than ever before. The article notes that the Church has been gaining ground in the past few years, with more people attending Mass and participating in Church activities. The article also notes that the Church has been engaging in social service work, such as providing food and clothing to the needy, which has helped to increase its popularity. The article concludes that the Church in England is experiencing a renaissance, with more people converting to Catholicism than ever before.

P. C. To Be Host For N.F.C.C.S. Conv.

The Providence College Chapter of the National Federation of Catholic College Students will be host to the Rhode Island Federation of College Catholic Students for its annual workshop which will be held in Alumni Hall next Sunday, Feb. 22. There will be four commissions taking part in the workshop, including Catholic Action, C.C.D., Marriage and Liturgy. The workshop will be conducted in the form of a panel discussion, allowing approximately 30 minutes for each of the four topics. The delegates will attend Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament in the college chapel at 4:30 p.m., this will be followed by supper in the dining room in Harkins Hall. A social hour will be held at the completion of the workshop.

Junior Class Prom Play to Be Held in May

The Junior Class of Providence College will sponsor a Musical Variety Show this Friday and Saturday, April 13 and 14, at Harkins Hall for the purse of $3,000. This event, which will be presented by the Junior Class, will be called "Junior Prom." The show will feature a variety of talent, including music, comedy, and dance performances. Admission will be $1.00 per person, and all proceeds will go towards the Junior Prom expenses. Eugene Daley is chairman of the show committee, and the Junior Prom committee will be responsible for all aspects of the event. The show will feature a range of performers, including the Providence College Glee Club, the Providence College Orchestra, and the Providence College Dance Team. The show will be held in the college's auditorium, and tickets will be available for purchase at the door. The show is expected to be a big hit with students and the local community, and it promises to be a memorable event for all who attend.

Catholic Church in England: Strange things happen than in any other period since the Reformation, according to an article in the February issue of the national Catholic magazine, the Catholic Herald. An article in the February issue of the national Catholic magazine, the Catholic Herald, reports that the Catholic Church in England is experiencing a renaissance, with more people converting to Catholicism than ever before. The article notes that the Church has been gaining ground in the past few years, with more people attending Mass and participating in Church activities. The article also notes that the Church has been engaging in social service work, such as providing food and clothing to the needy, which has helped to increase its popularity. The article concludes that the Church in England is experiencing a renaissance, with more people converting to Catholicism than ever before.
In Passing

The other day while perusing some old issues of the Cowl, I came across an article titled "They Called Him Judge," he was always on the bench." It was about a small sprite of a boy who had been on the basketball team for three years without ever having played a varsity game. The story intrigued me and I set about to find the basis for the story. A member of the public who seems to have the same interest in the subject. He is using the "true" story of Judge and his symbolic role in the history of Providence College.

It seems that Judge, or Victor Ledge as he was sometimes called by his friends, was just an average young man with a love for sports. Every day after school, he would join the other boys on the basketball court, and the stories of his athletic prowess would be reborn by the basketball and baseball squads and the faculty and students of Providence College.

Judge was kept on the basketball team because he had the talent and determination necessary to keep him in his athletic forte. Judge worked as hard as anybody on the team, but in those days the Friars played iron man basketball. This first love for the game was his ultimate goal.

In early March a meeting was called to discuss the possibility of Judge remaining as the team captain. Judge was there. The questions of whether Judge would be the team captain for the season were discussed.

From his perspective, Judge believed that his presence on the team was necessary to maintain the morale of the players. "I believe that the team needs me," he stated. "I am the only one who can lead the team to victory." And so it was decided that Judge would remain as the team captain for the season.

The Friars began the season with high expectations. However, as the season progressed, the team faced many challenges. Despite these obstacles, Judge remained steadfast in his commitment to the team. He continued to lead by example, working hard to overcome any adversity.

In conclusion, Judge's story is a testament to the power of perseverance and dedication. He proved that with hard work and determination, even the most unlikely of circumstances can be overcome.

Whither Goest

Where have they gone? Who or what is responsible for the practice of extended borrowing and even outright theft of books from the reference shelves? In recent years, the number of students who run up against this perplexing problem especially if they have a particular assignment, with reference work a necessity. However, it seems that most of the staffs that bring their books to the library for their initial researches are never found. Yet, there are those who have taken measures to prevent this problem. The circulation desk is always open, and a member of the staff is always available to assist anyone who needs help. However, the problem persists, and it is up to every individual to take responsibility for their actions and contribute to a safe and respectful library environment.

The bills that were left behind by forgotten students at Providence College have certainly been noticed by the legions of the College. May I here give a brief description of our former friend.

To take all the attributes of the R.O.T.C. staff, add to them a sense of humor comparable to our assistant Dean of Discipline, plus a continuously burning gun, and you have John Kamaras, Captain U.S.A. He was always barking but very seldom bit. He possessed a group of understanding and of seemingly innate know-how that made him a much respected leader and a man everyone would do well to learn from what he said. When he spoke a command, it was as if all the fury in hell were bowed upon you. This was Capt. Kamaras.

The particular problem that came in the class of 1956 was the college's freshman class. It was the second drill period, early in October, and we were assembled where Alumni Hall now stands. "For training purposes only" our only platforms would be placed to ease our initial problem, constituting a leg of the "U." What, company, and squad we were in I don't recall, but this has no bearing on the story. We were practicing facing movements when the event took place.

Standing next to me was a friend who is in the Physics course. To protect his ears from the noise, he was wearing a hat turned "at ease" when suddenly up behind Rickey came Capt. Kamaras. In his usual rasping tone he asked Bellow what he was smiling at. My friend answered that he was a happy sort of fellow and he had no idea why he was laughing. However, he would not let off that easily and ambushed Rick for about twenty minutes. Just as he was saying something utterly ridiculous, the mighty terror turned to the색 선한 토끼 's "SHAPE UP!" Bellow, thinking that he had said, "Shave up," answered, "I didn't sir, this afternoon." Every time I think back to what happened after that, I recall to Capt. Johnny's face at such apparent insobriety, to the petrified look on Rickey's face, if I don't laugh out loud I don't know what will happen. I am brought to this state of reminiscence every time I see my old friend. Good night, Nancy, wherever you are.

Letters To The Editor

With your kind permission, I wish to register a complaint against a certain Roduntas. Roduntas who disturb the solemnity of the informal dances held in Harkins Hall. The following incident occurred: A student (usually resident students) invade the rear part and balcony after a dance and bring their clothing in clothed in khaki pants, checked shirts and army caps to the balcony, clutter up the entrance to the dance floor, attempt to engage in conversation with the guests, and on the whole present a spectacle of lustful impropriety and boorish rudeness.

Such department is unjust to the members of the dance committee who have worked hard to make these affairs a success; it is embarrassing to the other students who uphold proper decorum in dance and dress; it does little to enhance the image of Providence College. Is there a gentleman always?

Roy J. Leonson, O.P.
Moderator, Sophomore Class

Last Friday night the Sophomore class of Providence College sponsored an informal dance. Although a large crowd was present, the atmosphere seemed as though a great number of students were not present due to the representation of the members of the Sophomore class. In fact, there were no invitations sent to nearby twenty girls' colleges and nursing homes. All of the girls present at the dance were students of Providence College. This lack of invitations was a record for Providence College, in that never before had any homecoming dance been held.

In conclusion, the dance was a great success. The students enjoyed themselves, and the atmosphere was lively and festive. The dance was a testament to the spirit and camaraderie of Providence College.
Lowering Of Voting Age Asked By School Principal

One of the most potent questions before the American people today is the question of voting age. The question of voting age is not a new one. It has been debated over and over again, and much progress has been made in reaching a decision on this important question. Of all the states in the union only one has been able to think enough to pass appropriate legislation to try it out. The reason for this is not that other states did not think that it would be wise to lower the voting age. It is because it is naturally difficult to break away from anything that has been traditional. There are also those who do not believe that it would not work. I shall endeavor to point out their fears are groundless. From all reports it seems that the voting system in Georgia, which is the state that has lowered the voting age, has worked out very well. Let us at the outset ask ourselves what real difference there is between young people of eighteen years old and those twenty-one. I am fully aware of the fact that when we get down to the real facts of this question we find that the great difference in experience and wisdom, if any, is slight. There are many arguments why the voting age should be lowered to eighteen. I think one argument that has come up a great deal in the past and one that I am sure will come up in a great deal more in the future is the argument about servicemen under twenty-one not having the right to vote. If they are old enough to fight and die on the battlegrounds of war then they are old enough to have a say in who is going to make the grave mistake where we say that we want young people of eighteen are not old enough to hold the responsibility of exercising the sacred franchise guaranteed by the constitution of these United States. Have you ever heard people say that today's young generation is keener than the previous ones, that their reasoning is much better than that of young people yes! All the things that surround our present day seem to be so influential in making our young people of today more able to handle the tasks once entrusted only to adults. Another argument for lowering the voting age is that from the interest shown by young people in their government they should be allowed to take an active part in it.

We seldom realize the many achievements of the young people of our nation. One of the fine examples of these achievements is our Rhode Island Model Legislature. This is only one of the very model legislatures throughout the country. I had the happy privilege of attending that legislature and I was very happy with what I saw and heard. Young people of every race, creed, and color doing the marvelous job of taking the place of our elected lawmakers. These were true citizens, raising excellent arguments, fighting for causes they believed to be just and fair. And all of them were far under twenty-one, young Americans bursting with the energy and vigor that is so characteristic of the nation of their birth, working to gather to demonstrate how they could participate in their government, and do it well. The question of voting age is far from being settled. While I was at the Model Legislature I heard several prominent citizens add their "yes" that the voting age should be lowered. To quote Mayor Joseph Mills of Warwick, "From what I have seen here today it is my belief that by your actions the voting age in Rhode Island will soon be lowered to eighteen.'"

Doris M. Wheelock, prominent woman superintendent of schools in Whitman, Nebraska made a very true statement some time ago, "With the social studies and school discussions what they are today, many an eighteen year old is better qualified to vote than are his parents." Mr. Harold Wood, the principal of Hope High School, said that while all eighteen year olds were not responsible enough to vote, the vast majority of them are, "As a high school principal I am in a position to know this," he stated. America is the land of opportunity. It should afford to our young people of eighteen the opportunity to become "real" citizens of the United States, entrusted with a part of the job of keeping America the greatest nation on earth. America is a land of progress, of forward thinking and acting people. We must not, as so often we have heard, lower this important adjustment fail to be made. In the words of the great jurist and statesman, Oliver Wendell Holmes, "I find the great thing in this world is not so much where we stand, as in what direction we are moving."
Bates, B. U., Notre Dame
Confront The Friar Five
Tomorrow Saturday Tuesday

The old fullback, Ed Monahan, was never any more proficient in his homecoming game than he was last Tuesday night at Alumni Hall. It was his second straight win over Boston University Terriers of Harry Cleverly in a wild and wooly, stone Valley honors last year, at Central. Last night the Friars scheduled Holy Cross at Worcester. The Crusaders were led by ex-football star, Mel Massuco. Last night the Friars compiled 19 goals against the Crusaders. The final score was 19-17. Ed Monahan was the leading scorer with 14 goals. The Friars then faced Army. Saturday, the Rondeau men face St. Francis from Nova Scotia at the Lynn Arena, and Tuesday return home to meet Northeast's improve Huskies.

Don't forget—if you want to win you'll get the breaks, but if you are looking for the breaks you'll never win.

In the New York A. C. contest, the players were relaxed, cool and conscious of what was happening. It's still early to become too enthusiastic over them, but they have been playing very well. Every little lift means so much when you're fighting for victory. I don't think it would be asking too much if we could pack the gym for a change. The new building has had only one full house so far, and that was at the opening game. Saturday's crowd was disappointing in comparison to the weekday gallery against U.R.I. As long as the team continues to hustle and give it all they have, the place should be jammed.

At Alumni Hall last Saturday evening, the Friar five showed signs that they were ready to play basketball—ready to play the type of ball which was expected of them, and that they should be playing since their initial victory. For once, the club began to click—clean ball handling, good shots, some fine rebounding and for the first time, a few plays. They worked very well as a unit, but still a few will find out that it's better to have the ball than the brown. The framework is standing straight and we hope the finish will be soon applied. As long as the players are aware of the fact that they're not on the only way one gets his name in the paper, they should do all right. Bob Conly isn't considered Mr. Basketball just because he's among the leaders in points scored, but that he's a playmaker—leads the league in assists in year and year out.

First three games should tell the story. Tomorrow night it's Bates College, on Saturday night, a tall Boston University club, headed by 6'3" Kevin Thomas will attempt to cool off the Friars. Then next Tuesday, it's the big one—Smythe, Aubrey, Devine, Wieman and Fannon will come roaring in to see us what the Fighting Irish of Notre Dame have to offer.

Due to difficulties beyond control, the hockey team has practiced but eight times since their first game—that's in a span of two months. It might be a good idea if a little planning was done now, in order to avoid a recurrence of this bad situation. If the boys don't practice enough, they can't be in tip-top shape. Should a goaltender be used like a relief pitcher? How many hockey teams substitute their goalies during periods because they have permitted the opposition to score? Those who are so inclined in his absence, in the players' absence? That he has a playmaker—leads one's name in the paper, they should do all right. Bob Conly isn't considered Mr. Basketball just because he's among the leaders in points scored, but that he's a playmaker—leads the league in assists in year and year out.

First three games should tell the story. Tomorrow night it's Bates College, on Saturday night, a tall Boston University club, headed by 6'3" Kevin Thomas will attempt to cool off the Friars. Then next Tuesday, it's the big one—Smythe, Aubrey, Devine, Wieman and Fannon will come roaring in to see us what the Fighting Irish of Notre Dame have to offer.

Due to difficulties beyond control, the hockey team has practiced but eight times since their first game—that's in a span of two months. It might be a good idea if a little planning was done now, in order to avoid a recurrence of this bad situation. If the boys don't practice enough, they can't be in tip-top shape. Should a goaltender be used like a relief pitcher? How many hockey teams substitute their goalies during periods because they have permitted the opposition to score? Those who are so inclined in his absence, in the players' absence? That he has a playmaker—leads one's name in the paper, they should do all right. Bob Conly isn't considered Mr. Basketball just because he's among the leaders in points scored, but that he's a playmaker—leads the league in assists in year and year out.

Hat's off to Ed Monahan, picked the following day by a Rhode Island radio station as Rhode Islander of the day. The scoring, outstanding stunts and the Friar five's heads are in the upturn, the equalizer came at 19:32, to send the contest into overtime.

1800 The Friars placed the first two goals in the first half. Ed Monahan scored it in 1:42 and oh yes, Ed Monahan scored it assisted by Reall and Gorman. They were up 2-0 with a 14 and 1 overall record. (Coast Guard was the culprit).

1380 The Friars were up 2-0 in the first period. The winners' time was 3:30.9 as far as score goes, but they managed to rekindle the scoring. Saturday night, 6'8" Kevin Thomas will attempt to cool off the Friars. Then next Tuesday, it's the big one—Smythe, Aubrey, Devine, Wieman and Fannon will come roaring in to see us what the Fighting Irish of Notre Dame have to offer.

Due to difficulties beyond control, the hockey team has practiced but eight times since their first game—that's in a span of two months. It might be a good idea if a little planning was done now, in order to avoid a recurrence of this bad situation. If the boys don't practice enough, they can't be in tip-top shape. Should a goaltender be used like a relief pitcher? How many hockey teams substitute their goalies during periods because they have permitted the opposition to score? Those who are so inclined in his absence, in the players' absence? That he has a playmaker—leads one's name in the paper, they should do all right. Bob Conly isn't considered Mr. Basketball just because he's among the leaders in points scored, but that he's a playmaker—leads the league in assists in year and year out.

First three games should tell the story. Tomorrow night it's Bates College, on Saturday night, a tall Boston University club, headed by 6'3" Kevin Thomas will attempt to cool off the Friars. Then next Tuesday, it's the big one—Smythe, Aubrey, Devine, Wieman and Fannon will come roaring in to see us what the Fighting Irish of Notre Dame have to offer.

Due to difficulties beyond control, the hockey team has practiced but eight times since their first game—that's in a span of two months. It might be a good idea if a little planning was done now, in order to avoid a recurrence of this bad situation. If the boys don't practice enough, they can't be in tip-top shape. Should a goaltender be used like a relief pitcher? How many hockey teams substitute their goalies during periods because they have permitted the opposition to score? Those who are so inclined in his absence, in the players' absence? That he has a playmaker—leads one's name in the paper, they should do all right. Bob Conly isn't considered Mr. Basketball just because he's among the leaders in points scored, but that he's a playmaker—leads the league in assists in year and year out.
Intramural Notices

By Jim Shannon

In the very active 12-40 league, Freshmen exhibition with five victories, Junior Business with four, and Sophomore Political Science with three appear to be the strongest teams in the league.

The top 1-40 league has been rather quiet due to a number of postponements.

1-28 League Results

Frosh Education 2, Junior Economics 1.
Soph. Political Science 22, Kent County 2.
Fall River Club 38, Providence Club 27.
Junior Business 57, Providence Club 23.
Frosh Education 26, Junior Biology 26.
Junior Business 52, Kent County 21.
1-36 League Results

Brick City Club 34, Senior Economics 24.
Senior Business 50, Bristol County Club 19.

Intramural Handball

The Intramural Handball Men's Tournament was held on the second floor of Guzman Hall.

The 2:14 league was the last to be held of the season. All games were played in intramural handball and by defeating Roger Achille in three on the ladder in the first handball game.

The second round was played in the first handball game. The only reason the A's stayed in the ball game during the early part.

After the intake were the Friars' superan- cing and shooting begins to take its toll and the contest became a rout. At one time during the second half the Friars had 15 points respectively. This pair has paced the Friars to their last two victories. The incompleteness of their scoring are, Bob Doherty really happy with the game. If one time during the second half the Friar rooters, swore it would be a different story next time. Let me tell you that after the Georgieme, many of us became very doubtful. We, well, we had our fears relieved in a most delightful manner. Providence College, led by a rejui- vated Mike Pascale, returned with a 62-80 victory over the Rams.

If every team could make a complete reversal of form, it was doubtly Wednesday. The Friar five played each other for a ball forty minutes. Along with Pascale, Frank Tirico is to be commended for a fine performance. (21 pts. in 1st half). The latter tallied 27 points, while the former was played off the field goal and one foul shot. The Gothamites also seemed to lack the con- tinuation in play with the Friars, as they tired badly in the latter stages of the game.

The other members of the starting five, John Ritch, Lionel Jenkins, and Ed Danis, had just as much to say as the two seniors. After the game Pat Grady combined to make up a fine reserve unit. The fine overall performance of the Friars in this game coupled with their victory over U.R.I, seems to indicate that they are beginning to play the brand of ball which they are capable. P.C. fans can expect to see the continuation of such fine play.

The Friars Upset The Rams In A Thriller

By Ed Lombardi

Ah! revenge is sweet. It was on December 6th, that Jack Guy's crew took us by camp into a nine point margin. This report, as well as numerous Friar gurus, proved it would be a different story next time. Let me tell you that after the Georgieme, many of us became very doubtful. We, well, we had our fears relieved in a most delightful manner. Providence College, led by a rejui- vated Mike Pascale, returned with a 62-80 victory over the Rams.

If every team could make a complete reversal of form, it was doubtly Wednesday. The Friar five played each other for a ball forty minutes. Along with Pascale, Frank Tirico is to be commended for a fine performance. (21 pts. in 1st half). The latter tallied 27 points, while the former was played off the field goal and one foul shot. The Gothamites also seemed to lack the con- tinuation in play with the Friars, as they tired badly in the latter stages of the game.

The other members of the starting five, John Ritch, Lionel Jenkins, and Ed Danis, had just as much to say as the two seniors. After the game Pat Grady combined to make up a fine reserve unit. The fine overall performance of the Friars in this game coupled with their victory over U.R.I, seems to indicate that they are beginning to play the brand of ball which they are capable. P.C. fans can expect to see the continuation of such fine play.

2000 Strong Watch The Friars

J. Paul Sheedy* Had A Hangdog Look Till Wildroot Cream-Oil Gave Him Confidence

*Pair all names Sheedy was bounded by a lack of confedence! Every girl he got his hands on he wanted on. Now, maybe he was going to bring a man to his home. She looked very sad to be sitting in the side room, but was buoyed up when Emma entered. She knew that she was going to have to deal with her husband's infidelities. She got up and went into the bedroom where her husband was trying to use the remaining cream. She asked him what he was doing and he replied, "I'm going to comb the curly hair and give him a good time." Then he got up and went to the bathroom where he tried to take care of himself. Now he has confidence in any situation because he knows how to look healthy and handsome, his wife will be happy. Nature intended . . . not just grossness. Consists of the direct line, such as a new part of Nature's hair care and scalp conditioner. Get yourself a bottle or tube of Wildroot Cream-Oil big enough.
New Machine Aid In Spec. Heart Surgery

More than 500 successful non-human heart surgery operations have been performed with the aid of a simple pump developed at the VA Hospital in Nashville, Tennessee with the result that its use on humans now is considered imminent.

Dr. Frank Gollan of the Nashville staff, who with associates developed the pump described as "no bigger than a Tennessee jigger," offered the scientifically cautious admission that it may be used for human surgery in the near future.

What this little, inexpensive machine actually does is to by-pass the heart and lungs, and yet maintain circulation of the blood after removing carbon dioxide and supplying new oxygen while heart and lungs are at rest.

That leaves the heart available for surgery. And with the lungs collapsed there is plenty of room for the surgeon to work.

He may work for an hour repairing otherwise fatal damage, while the heart lies still and bloodless; yet life's essential fluid continues surging through the arteries, fully oxygenated and normal in carbon dioxide, just as nature intended.

Many machines have been devised over the last twenty-five years to do the same job, but they are large and require complicated electronic devices costing thousands of dollars, and they have to be operated by large teams.

VA's machine can be operated by only one individual while the surgeon operates on the heart. It is small enough to be transported by automobile. And it is of the simplest mechanical form.

The machine is called a pump-oxygenator. Dr. Gollan first experimented with the idea while he was engaged in research with Dr. Leiland C. Clark and Dr. Frederick Hosen of Antioch College. He built and perfected the machine at the Nashville VA Hospital during the last three years.

In the use of the machine for surgery, the body temperature is lowered by a refrigerator coil in the pump system, and thus a state of hypothermia is produced. When the heart temperature drops to 55 degrees F, it stops beating, permitting easier surgery than is possible with a beating heart.

The only moving parts of the machine are a motor driven pump. Dr. Gollan's motor was salvaged from a castoff household utensil, but the pump was developed by industry for specialized jobs requiring pulsation. Dr. Gollan estimates the machine may be manufactured for less than $250 — cheap enough to permit wider usage when it is ready for human heart surgery.

The entire operation of the machine is accomplished in a completely enclosed form while it keeps the blood in constant circulation through the arteries — just as nature does in the body.

From the beginning of anesthesia to the conclusion of surgery, approximately one hour elapses. During most of that period, the bloodless heart has stopped beating and the lungs have remained in collapse. This makes heart surgery easier and less risky.

When surgery is completed and the blood rewarmed, the heart starts beating. Breathing is normal and recovery is effective, according to Dr. Gollan.

INTERVIEWS . . . with visiting engineering representatives of Pratt & Whitney Aircraft
Friday, February 17

MINIMUM REQUIREMENTS
• Any B.A. or B.S. degree.
• Mathematics through differential and integral calculus.
• One year of college physics (additional courses in chemistry or related sciences desirable).
• A good scholastic standing in undergraduate work, particularly in math and science courses.
• Desire to pursue a career in engineering.

PRATT & WHITNEY AIRCRAFT, one of America's greatest engineering organizations, is offering a comprehensive engineering course to qualified B.A. or B.S. graduates. Throughout the training period, those enrolled in this program will be paid a liberal salary — with increases as scholastic progress is shown.

The educational program itself will be conducted, at our expense, by one of the nation's foremost engineering colleges. Graduates of this 30-week course will be assigned to our engineering department. Here, they will be given the opportunity to do creative engineering work on the world's finest aircraft engines.

Such an unusual opportunity should be fully investigated by B.A. or B.S. graduates with engineering interest. Further information and literature can be obtained from the College Placement Office — appointments for interviews can also be made.
College Undergraduates Eligible To Fly in M. C.

Washington, D. C., Jan 31, 1956—A new flying program for college undergraduates was announced today by the Marine Corps.

To be known as the Platoon Leaders Class (Aviation), its major features will be that members belong to it at the same time they attend college and are guaranteed flight training as officers immediately upon graduation from college. No Marine Corps training takes place during the college year, however.

College training will consist of six-week instruction sessions during two summer vacations from school. These will be held at the site of most Marine officer training, the Marine Corps School, Quantico, Virginia.

Upon completion of the training and coincident with graduation from college, members will be commissioned as second lieutenants in the Marine Corps Reserve. At this time they will be designated student aviators and immediately begin the 15-to-18-month Flight School at the Naval Air Station, Pensacola, Florida.

This will be the first major change in the Platoon Leaders Class since its inception in 1934. The Platoon Leaders Class has been the largest source of Marine officers since that time. About 80 percent of the officers commissioned from colleges each year are graduates of the program.

The new course will incorporate the methods of the ground Platoon Leaders Class. Members of both programs will attend the same preliminary training at Quantico where they will receive basic Marine Corps training. During the second Quantico session, reservation candidates will undergo destination flights and receive the aviation mental and physical examinations.

Although graduates of the ground Platoon Leaders Class are required to attend the Officers' Basic Course upon graduation from college, this requirement will be waived for aviation graduates. They will go directly to flight training.

Upon completion of flight training assignment will be as a pilot in one of the three Marine aircraft wings or six other aviation units, flying jets, helicopters, or other type planes. All training and assignments will be for flying. No non-flying applications will be accepted for this program.

Unlimited quotas have been set. Applications must be college undergraduates who are currently enrolled in an institution, and all applicants must have completed at least their sophomore year. They must be between the ages of 17 and 23 and be single. They must have completed two years of college by July 1 of the year in which they apply. There are no restrictions on marriage.

Applications are being accepted by the Marine Officer's Reserve Corps in the following 21 cities: Atlanta, Georgia (at Fort Benning); Boston; Buffalo and New York City; Chicago, Illinois; Cleveland; Dallas and Fort Worth, Texas; Denver; Detroit, Michigan; Kansas City, Missouri; Los Angeles and San Francisco, California; Minneapolis, Minnesota; Omaha, Nebraska; Oklahoma City, Oklahoma; Philadelphia and Pittsburg, Pennsylvania; Seattle, Washington; St. Louis, Missouri; and Washington, D. C.

Students accepted will be required to live in the residence provided by the University of Maryland or by a residence recommended by the University. The college must provide foster parents, who will be required to keep in touch with the young people who have struck me as the most friendly in the world.
Mile Relay...
(Continued from Page 4)
and ours was 3:31. CCNY, Adelphi and Iona took the remaining positions in the event.

While the relay team was in New York the rest of the squad went up to Cambridge to encourage a strong Harvard team in a dual meet. Even though the track team bowed to Harvard in this informal meet there were some good individual performances. Eddie Aron captured the shot put and John Gagnon took the hammer throw. In the broad jump Don Fahey and Jim Baker cleared twenty feet but they had to be satisfied with second and third places, respectively, when Harvard won the event by only an inch. The two mile relay team did not participate because they were scheduled to run in the Mile races that evening in New York.

Out Of The Past
By Bob Justice
Five years ago—February 12, 1952

Sports was the big news in this as the Friars clashed with the B. I. Rams. This was the only time that the COWL published two issues in one week, the first, that of February 15, being a snappage issue devoted completely to the history of the rivalry. Another thing of interest was the formation of the student affiliate of the American Chemical Society. The dorm observed annual weekend festivities with a winter carnival theme. A COWL reporter gave a lesson in dating as he boxed P. C. men "social flops." A look at the October 20, 1954 issue of the COWL revealed the same opinion. The ALEMBIC featured short stories. A member of the faculty, the Rev. Thomas McGlynn, nationally known sculptor flew to Lisbon to study the aspirations of Fatima preparatory to making a full-size statue of the Blessed Virgin as she appeared to the children. On the sports side, the Friars defeated Mass. State in basketball.

Twenty years ago—February 7, 1936

The COWL initiates rented for best motto. The COWL editor mourning the lack of school spirit.

Early Exam In May
Princeton, N. J, January 26—Candidates for admission to medical school in the fall of 1957 are advised to take the Medical College Admission Test in May, it was announced today by the Educational Testing Service, which prepares and administers the tests for the Association of American Medical Colleges. Candidates are required by almost every medical college throughout the country, will be given twice during the current examination period—May 5 and October 30 administrations. Completed applications must reach the ETS office by April 21 and N. J. Completed applications must be held to more than 200 local centers in all parts of the country. The Association of American Medical Colleges recommends that candidates for admission to classes starting in the fall of 1957 take the May test.

The MCAT consists of tests of general scholarship ability, a test on understanding of modern society, and an achievement test in science. According to ETS, no special preparation other than a review of science subjects is necessary. All questions are of the objective type.

Applications forms and a Bulletin of Information, which gives details of registration and administration, as well as sample questions, are available from pre-medical advisers or directly from Educational Testing Service, 29 Nassau Street, Princeton, N. J. Completed applications must reach the ETS office by April 21 and October 16, respectively, for the May and October 20 administrations.

Catholic . . .
(Continued from Page 1)

However, he also cites some shortcomings. "As in most countries," says Quinlan, "the problem of fallen-away Catholics in England is appalling. A generally agreed estimate shows the Church losing half the boys and girls soon after they leave the Catholic schools. It is known that many come back in later life, but no one claims it is a majority."

Finally, asserts Quinlan, "No one knows even to the nearest million how many Catholics there are in England today. Some people reasonably estimate that if all baptized Catholics kept their Faith, there could hardly be fewer than ten million. The official figure, admittedly only a rough estimate, is three million. If, however, you count all those who will call a priest when they are dying, the number is closer to five million."

Frosh . . .
(Continued from Page 4)

terror, Wayne Lawrence, the Heavy 67" center, scored four consecutive hoops and Jack Arnold added another field goal while the home team was held to a single point. With the Friars' lead out to 17-5, Clements broke the ice with a jump shot from outside and Rossi followed with two quick baskets. Lawrence then dropped in three more two pointers from underneath giving him 22 for the first half and making the score 40-38 at intermission.

Wide Open Second Half
Shortly after second half got underway Clements made it 50-40. At this point the Friars were really on the roll, Clements starting throwing full court passes and with the Friars consistently intercepting P.C. rolled up a 50-43 lead with 11 minutes remaining. Renette then made good on two driving layups and Slim McLaughlin spoiled any hopes the Bears may have had of upsetting the Black and White by scoring three quick hoops, one a twenty-footer foot shot.