NEW GUZMAN PLANNED

Building To House 88 Priesthood Students

The Very Rev. William D. Marrin, O.P., P.G., Provincial of the Saint Joseph's Province of the Dominican Order, in conjunction with the Very Rev. Robert J. Slavin, O.P., has announced the construction of a new building to replace Guzman Hall. This building will house the 65 students for Dominican Priesthood now studying on campus. The Council of the Province approved the present plans at a meeting in New York City, on Saturday, February 4.

The three story, split-level, "L" shaped residence will be constructed on Providence College property abutting Huxley Avenue and will face the road leading back to St. Joseph's Hall. Although architecturally the building is ultra-modern, it will harmonize with other campus buildings.

Ground breaking ceremonies are expected within the next few months according to the Rev. Paul C. McKenna, O.P., present director of Guzman Hall. Actual construction is slated to begin in the spring or summer of this year.

The two upper stories of the structure will contain 30 bedrooms, housing approximately 88 students. Rooms and studies will also be provided for the four priests who will reside in Guzman Hall. A library is to be planned for the use of the pre-ecclesiastical students.

The architect's plans for the ground floor includes two classrooms, a speech therapy room, student recreation facilities, a student laundry, as well as areas for maintenance facilities and trunk storage.

The building features a chapel which will accommodate 126 persons and will occupy the entire ell of the building. Exterior walls of the chapel's nave are to be made of glass with brick pillars. Interior walls of the sanctuary will be finished with wood paneling.

According to Father McKenna the sanctuary is ample in design for carrying out of the Dominican liturgy. The plans for the interior of the entire chapel are not yet complete. Immediately behind the sanctuary

Soph Petition Asks C. Verde To Step Down

A petition in the form of a letter is being circulated in the sophomore class calling for the resignation of Charles Verde, Student Congress representative. A motion introduced at the last Congress meeting to suspend Mr. Verde for excessive absences failed to pass.

The letter asks if Mr. Verde does not feel himself responsible only to James O'Leary, Class President, rather than to the sophomore class as a whole.

The letter also mentions several irregularities at the Freshman Weekend. It contends that several unauthorized persons were in attendance at the Weekend, supposed members of a "Clique" which "has grown irresponsible in its smug confidence that it can control and dictate class affairs without eliciting response from class members."

The petition also charges

PC Athletic Department Comments On Tickets

The Providence College Athletic Department has released a statement aimed at clarifying the ticket situation on campus. The context of this statement follows:

There are exactly 3300 tickets including standing room available for Alumni Hall. Before student sale 421 are allocated to the following groups: the faculty, the athletic staff, the press, the PC band, game officials, the PC and visiting teams. There are 449 season ticket holders for whom tickets are reserved.

Of the remaining 2430 tickets, approximately 700 are reserved for Alumni, and 700 are retained for student use.

According to the statement basketball tickets are placed on sale ten working days before each game. The first three days are reserved for sale to students and alumni. "To receive a ticket a student must present his Athletic I.D. card; an alumnus, if after the student and alumni sale dates anyone may purchase the remaining tickets."

A limit of one ticket per not recognized as such, must present his Alumni Association Membership card."

The student was placed on the URI game due to the fact that it was Alumni Homecoming. 340 tickets were sent to State for this game. A limit of one ticket per student was placed on the St. Bonaventure sales since an unprecedented demand was anticipated.

For the games prior to the URI the average student attendance was only 513.

According to J. Vincent Cuddy a large number of students purchased tickets to the URI game and St. Bonaventure game with no intention of attending. "The PC Athletic Department has no control over this situation; it must sell tickets to all students presenting I.D. cards."

Students and alumni were able to circumvent the ticket sale by purchasing tickets for resale. Alumni could do this by making return trips for tickets and giving cards to students for personal use.

The Providence College Athletic Department exercised all practical means to see that tickets got into the hands of legitimate purchasers, according to Mr. Cuddy.

Athletic Department Cracks Down On Student ID Cards

According to the Rev. Aloysius B. Begley, O.P., Athletic Director, between 200 and 300 persons were turned away from the URI-PC basketball game last Saturday and 34 student identifications were "confiscated."

In a breakdown of the types of identifications taken, 20 were Bursars Cards, three were Student Congress Cards, and the remaining 11 were Athletic Department Cards. "The student whose Athletic Dept. cards were taken will not get them back nor will they be issued cards for the remainder of their time at Providence College. They lost the right to buy student tickets," said Fr. Begley.

The names of all 34 of the students have been turned over to the Student Congress. No comment was available as to just what action the Congress would take.

Juniors Sign Ralph Flanagan; Class To Vote On Boat Ride

Ralph Flanagan's orchestra has been signed to provide the music for the Junior Prom that will take place on May 5, at the King Phillip Ballroom, according to Charlie Reilly, president of the junior class.

Later in the month the juniors will be asked to vote on whether or not to include a boat ride as part of the regular Junior Weekend. If the class decides in favor of the boat ride it will be held from Saturday afternoon until late that evening.

Bids for the formal, non-floral, will be about $15 for the Prom or about $20 if the boat ride is chosen. Tickets will be sold on the installment plan. The first payment on the weekend is due at the end of this month.

A queen for the weekend will be chosen from nine finalists on the night of the Prom.

Co-ordinators for the affair are William Scanlon and William Theberge. Committee co-ordinator is Robert Sauer.

MEMO FROM THE EDITOR:

Students enrolling at Providence College in 1957 paid a tuition rate per semester of $250. The tuition which they are now paying as seniors is $375. The aggregate increase in their total tuition payments for the four years is $450 higher than they actually planned to spend. This figure does not take into account the boarding fees for resident students which have also increased substantially.

If these figures are pro-rated for the next four years at approximately 50% increase (the increase percentage wise of the past four years) the present freshman class, which will graduate in 1964, will pay almost $575 per semester. This brings the total tuition for these students in their senior year to $1150. This is a far cry from the $750 being paid now.

What will happen to parents of students who have planned a budget to send their sons to Providence College? They will have to find an extra $400 to pay tuition bills in the present freshman's senior year if tuition increases at the same rate.

A four-year guaranteed cost plan by which students will be guaranteed that the fees they pay will not be increased at any time during their four years of college will be offered at St. Olaf College in Northfield, Minn. Students will know exactly what their four-year tuition for a college education will cost from the day they are accepted into college. Future tuition fee raises will affect only the incoming classes and the new fee levels in turn would be guaranteed for a four year period for the classes.

While realizing the necessity for any college to raise tuition (that is any expanding college—and what college isn't expanding these days), we do feel that there is some merit to the plan which limits increases.

We are not attempting a rank criticism of Providence College for past tuition increases. We are simply suggesting a modus operandi for future years.

Junior Class' Rings Wrong; To Be Replaced By Balfour

It has been announced that the present rings worn by members of the Class of '62 will be exchanged for new rings due to an imperfection in the manufacturing. According to junior officers, the error was brought to their attention by the L. G. Balfour Company, although the committee suspected that such imperfection was common to many rings.

Nat. Loans Processed

National Defense Student Loans are being processed now. The individual borrowers must see the Bursar in person to sign receipt for a check which in turn must be endorsed to the College, since the loan is not credited automatically to a student's account.

Applications for loans for the academic year 1961-1962 must be filed before April 1, 1961; the College will apply for appropriations based on the applications—no additional funds may be expected.

St. Thomas More Club Presents Boston Lawyer

Four Harvard Law School representatives were St. Thomas More Club guests at a meeting last Wednesday of the Providence College pre-legal organization.

Vice Dean Louis A. Toepfer, Director of Admissions at Harvard Law, gave the main address and led the question period, both of which centered upon legal profession opportunities today and the undergraduate's position relative to law study, both in general and with particular reference to Harvard Law School.

The Vice Dean indicated the great opportunities at present for qualified persons in the practice of law, noting that America's greatly increased complexity and size, especially since the '30's, has been far more matched by a proportional legal professional expansion.

Toepfer told the group that 1,800 applications for Harvard Law were expected this year and that 500 would be accepted, on a "competitive selection" basis. He emphasized the import of undergraduate grade averages and the Law School Admission Test score, which two factors the Committee on Admissions correlates in considering an applicant.

Assistant Dean William L. Bruce answered that questions

The Balfour Company discovered the mistake when two students brought the rings to the Bookstore to be checked. They pointed out to the company's representative that the stone appeared to be off center.

The repair department of the jewelry firm inspected the rings and found that the top of one the shanks was out of balance and that this had evidently resulted from the manufacturing process. Such being the case, many rings would have been affected. Determination of which rings or of how many rings would not have been possible.

Therefore, rather than try to correct individual rings, with the possibility that some might be missed, the company offered to replace all of the rings at their own expense.

In a letter to junior president, Charles Reilly, Mr. Tom Galvin, Balfour's sales manager, said, "As you can well imagine, this will be an expensive procedure for the company, but we intend to prove that the trust and confidence that was placed in the company by your committee will be rewarded."

Mr. Reilly said further that change will take place about the middle of May. The rings which are being worn now will be returned and new rings will be distributed.

Mr. Reilly said further that the action taken by the L. G. Balfour Company proves that the trust placed in the company by the Ring Committee was not misplaced. "The fact that they came to us proves their integrity. They promised us the best ring, and when they found that the rings were imperfect, they offered to replace them despite the loss of profit."

Woods Addresses PC Aquinas Society Last Thursday P.M.

"You must not evaluate the progress made by newly independent countries in terms of progress made in America," Mr. Gerard Woods, Consul General of the Consulate General of Ireland told the Aquinas Society last Thursday evening.

Mr. Woods explained that while Ireland's progress since she gained freedom has been slow by American standards, it has pleased and delighted the Irish. He said that we should aid the newly independent countries who are now facing a struggle similar to Ireland's.

The speaker said that in 1922 there were scarcely five decent factories in all of Ireland. He believes that Irish industrial progress will serve as an example to new nations just as Ireland's ideals of freedom, justice, and resistance to tyranny have served as an inspiration to these countries.

The film "Dublin's Fair City" preceded Mr. Woods' speech. After the speech another travelogue "Irish Holiday" was shown.

After the second film Mrs. Woods, who had accompanied her husband to Providence from Boston, read some Irish prose and poetry.

NFCCS To Discuss News Service Sat.

Emmanuel College of Boston will be the host of the next regional meeting of the National Federation of Catholic College Students. The meeting, to be held Saturday, February 18, will discuss, along with the regular business, the exploitation to fullest advantage of the newly formed Cruz Intercollegiate News Service.

In preparation for the meeting the local branch of NFCCS has been discussing the possibilities of increasing the spiritual life of the Providence College students. Discussion of the desirability of changing the time for night prayers was a topic of debate.

The Religious Affairs Committee also brought out the fact that some of the Catholic students at the College frequently miss Sunday Mass. "We shall have to do something to get the many to church who don't quite make the trip on Sunday," The Chairman uttered. "Any ideas men who might sprout up would be appreciated," he added.

Lenten Rules Released By Chaplain's Office

STUDENTS OVER 21 YEARS OF AGE

Unless dispensed students over 21 years of age are bound to observe the laws of fast. Such students who feel that they cannot keep the fast should seek a dispensation. Any priest on campus can dispense from the laws of fast even outside of confession.

1. The days of fast are the weekdays of Lent.

2. ON DAYS OF FAST ONLY ONE FULL MEAL IS ALLOWED. THE OTHER MEATLESS MEALS, SUFFICIENT TO MAINTAIN STRENGTH, MAY BE TAKEN; BUT TOGETHER THEY SHOULD NOT EQUAL ANOTHER FULL MEAL.

3. Meat may be taken at the principal meal on days of fast except Ash Wednesday and the Fridays of Lent.

4. EATING BETWEEN MEALS IS NOT PERMITTED; BUT LIQUIDS, INCLUDING MILK AND FRUIT JUICES, ARE ALLOWED.

5. Students who are dispensed from the fast are obliged to the law of abstinence (as below).

STUDENTS UNDER 21 YEARS OF AGE

Students who have not reached their 21st birthday are not obliged to the laws of fast. They are obligated to the laws of abstinence.

1. Complete abstinence is to be observed on Ash Wednesday and Fridays. On days of complete abstinence meat may not be taken at any meal.

2. Partial abstinence is to be observed on Feb. 25 (Ember Saturday). On this day meat may be taken only once a day at the principal meal.

N.B. BY REASON OF DISPENSATION FROM THE MOST REVEREND BISHOP, FEB. 22 (WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY) AND March 17 (ST. PATRICK'S DAY), ARE NEITHER DAYS OF FAST NOR ABSTINENCE.

Congress Blood Bank Instituted; Serves Students, Family, Faculty

The Student Congress asked the Cowl to remind the students and faculty members that a blood bank has been established on campus for their benefit and for the benefit of their immediate families.

Any student, member of the faculty, or employee of the college needing blood for himself or for any member of his immediate family should notify the Student Congress either by informing any representative to the Congress or by leaving a message at the Congress office in Donnelly Hall.

If a message is left, it should contain the name of the person requesting the blood, the name of the person for whom the blood is being requested, the doctor's name, the hospital in which the person is a patient, and the number of pints required.

Snow Costs

Mr. Cres Pagliuca, superintendent of maintenance said that the department will spend between $2,500 to $3,000 in removing snow from the campus because of the recent blizzard. PC has already spent $900 to $1,100 on the previous storm.

Mr. Pagliuca added that the high cost of snow removal was due to breakdowns of equipment, hiring of extra equipment, cost of overtime for maintenance employees, and stalled and paralyzed cars obstructing the removal of snow.

Barristers Face Heavy Schedule

A flurry of activity is on tap for the Providence College Barristers in the coming month. They plan to debate Southern Connecticut State this Friday, then will play host to the University of Rhode Island and Southern Connecticut State here the following week.

The Barristers will also roar into March like Lions as they take on Stonehill College on March 2 and are scheduled to make a trip to New York on March 3-4, for the Hofstra Tournament.

After the Hofstra Tournament the debating society will attend the Georgetown University Tournament on March 9-11. A trip to Newton on March 15 will close the winter session for the debaters.

The Barristers open the Spring season on April 15 as they will sponsor the Fourth Annual Invitational Tournament at the College.

Forty-five schools from the New York and New England areas have applied for admission to the tournament. Only twenty-five of these can be selected however, for the tournament.

Edward Blankstein, a member of the Barristers will preside as General Chairman of the affair.

Yale Program Recruits Teachers For Colleges

New Haven, Conn.—(I.P.)—How do you persuade an outstanding college senior who is undecided about his future career that he ought to go into teaching? One answer, as practiced at Yale, is to give the bright young man an actual taste of college teaching. The program, known as the Carnegie Teaching Fellowships, has nine Yale seniors from the Class of 1960 enrolled.

So successful has been the teacher recruitment experiment, now in its third year, that Yale has earmarked $1,000,000 out of its $69,500,000 capital fund drive for permanent endowment in support of the program when the Carnegie grant runs out in another year.

Chief difference of Yale's program in comparison with the various other teacher training programs in operation here and other universities is that this program sets out to recruit the bright college graduate for teaching. The other programs award fellowships to men and women who have already made that decision. Past experience has shown that the senior, undecided about his career, rarely chooses teaching but invariably drifts into a higher paying job in business and industry.

"The most unique aspect of the Carnegie program is its power to reach a segment of students which seldom considers teaching as a career," Associate Dean Richard C. Carroll, who is in charge of the program, said. "I describe this segment as the bright young man who has also displayed an active leadership outside the classroom, men prominent in debating, the publications and athletics."

A Carnegie Fellow is enrolled

Marriage Forum Starts At P.C. Sunday Evening

By Bernard L. Madden, Jr.

The Rev. Joseph S. McCormack, O.P., S.T.D., Head of the Theology Department of the college, will present the opening lecture, "Marriage and Godliness," of the 15th Annual Providence College Marriage Forum Sunday evening at 7:30.

The Forum is sponsored jointly by the Department of Sociology and the Office of the Chaplain. The Rev. Thomas H. McBrien, O.P., Chaplain, is chairman of the Forum, which is open to all students and friends of Providence College and is free of charge.

Registration for the five-week Forum, which will continue through March 19, will take place before the lecture on Sunday. All of the lectures will start at 7:30 and will be followed by question periods.

The Forum was started during the Lent of 1947 in answer to insistent requests from the students of Providence College and from outsiders who desired information on courtship and marriage. The lectures were delivered at St. Pius Church by five members of the faculty over the five-week Lenten period and were attended by an average of 175 persons.

In the following years the Forum outgrew St. Pius' and was moved into the auditorium of Albertus Magnus Science Hall. As the numbers attending grew, the lectures were moved to their present location, Harkins Hall auditorium.

The conferences continue to grow. The number of persons attending this year is expected to surpass last year's all-time high of over 800 persons. These conferences do not take the place of the pre-marital instruction period required by the Church, but complement it. Attendance at all lectures is not obligatory.

Rev. J. S. McCormack, O.P.

Other lectures in the series will be: Feb. 26—"Marriage and Courtship," by the Rev. James M. Murphy, O.P., Ph.D., Head of the Sociology Department; March 5—"Marriage and Medicine," by Thomas F. Head, M.D., Providence Obstetrician and Gynecologist; March 12—"Marriage and the Home," by Mr. and Mrs. John W. McIntyre, parents of eight; March 19—"Marriage and the Church," by the Very Rev. William J. Carey, Rector, Cathedral of SS. Peter and Paul.

AF Voluntary ROTC Proposal Awaits OK of Defense Dept.

WASHINGTON, D. C. (U.P.S.)

—A two-year voluntary Air Force program has been approved by the Air Staff, and is currently awaiting Defense Department approval, the Air Force announced recently.

The proposal, which would leave the Army as the only service with a compulsory ROTC program on the college campus, was approved by the Air Force's ROTC advisory panel late last year. If Defense Department approval were forthcoming, the new program would go into effect with the opening of the 1961-62 school year at many institutions.

Under the new proposal, college students would enter AF

ROTC training in their junior year. Subjects now taught in the basic course would be taken up in two summer camps—the first between the sophomore and junior years and the second between the junior and senior years.

As part of the revamped program, the Air Force would grant two-year "merit scholarships" of $1,100 per year to every participant in the program. With the elimination of the basic AFROTC program as a prerequisite for advanced training, transfer students would be eligible for admission to the plan, and junior colleges would be able to offer it to their students.

Editorially Speaking

Guzman Hall...

With the announcement of the plans for a new Guzman Hall and a new science building, Providence College stands to improve substantially the general appearance of the campus. There is no doubt that these new edifices will be a source of pride for the PC family as were Albertus Magnus, Alumni, and Raymond Halls.

Yet, this pride can be quickly dampened when one takes even the quickest look at Donnelly Hall and the basketball courts that are located between Stephen and Aquinas Halls.

These campus eyesores appear to pose one question in the mind of the administration—"What can we do about them."

From all appearances, nothing will be done — as usual — and these two eyesores will continue to be eyesores for years to come.

Two Suggestions...

Earlier in the year the Cowl put forth a proposal to make the area between Aquinas Hall and Stephen Hall attractive for both visitors and the members of the PC family. The plan called for the removal of the basketball courts to the field behind Raymond and for some tasteful landscaping in its place.

Apparently the buck is still being passed around by the administration, and the area will probably remain a slum unless some creative thinking and positive action is taken by the administration.

Certainly, the new Guzman Hall should prompt this action. Even the addition of this new edifice will not take away from the poor appearance of the court area. Rather, the poor appearance between the buildings will detract from the gracious appearance of the new hall.

As far as Donnelly Hall goes (which isn't too far) the most practical idea would be to apply at least a new coat of paint when spring arrives.

Before any new buildings are constructed on the campus, let's take care of the detracting eyesores that exist now.

Our Editorials...

It has been learned from a confidential informant that plans are under way to introduce legislature at a future Student Congress meeting which will require all editorials in The Cowl to be signed.

The Cowl will refuse to sign its editorials despite pressure brought to bear by the SC. Editorials reflect the opinion of the majority of editorial board members; "Memo From the Editor" is the personal opinion of the editor (and is signed).

Catholic Press Month...

The Cowl will spare neither space nor expense to oppose the persons who introduce such a measure which denies the traditional journalistic right to anonymity exercised by Cowl editorial board members.

February is Catholic Press Month. While The Cowl is not a Catholic paper in the same sense as the Providence Visitor (it does not exude religious fervor and piety in every column), it is Catholic in the sense that it is the official organ of a Catholic College.

A liberal, well-rounded education requires reading both secular and Catholic literature. Catholic books and magazines are available in the PC Bookstore as well as the library. Need more be said?

Last year the campus was roaring with approval of the highly touted Friar Basketball team receiving its second bid to the National Invitational Tournament despite a last second loss to Saint Bonaventure 90-89 in three overtimes. Socially, the Freshmen announced the plans for their annual weekend.

In 1959, Dr. Paul van K. Thomson announced the publication of his new book, Why I Am a Catholic. The Mullaneymen defeated the nationally ranked Saint Bonaventure five 53-50 in a spintangling contest. The hockey team was preparing to meet a strong Brown University sextet.

Back another year to 1958, the hoopsters were expecting triple trouble as they were scheduled to face three of their toughest opponents in the same week; Boston College, St. John's, and Holy Cross. The Hockey team was belted by tournament hopeful Harvard 9-3.

SOUTHERN RESERVE UNIVERSITY

Dr. Willard Hale Sigafos, head of the department of anthropology at Southern Reserve University, and internationally known as an authority on primitive peoples, returned yesterday from a four-year scientific expedition to the headwaters of the Amazon River. Among the many interesting mementos of his journey is his own head, shrunk to the size of a kumquat. He refused to reveal how his head shrinking was accomplished. "That's for me to know and you to find out," he said with a tyn, but saucy grin.

NORTHERN RESERVE UNIVERSITY

Dr. Mandrill Gibbon, head of the department of zoology at Northern Reserve University, and known to young and old for his work on primates, announced yesterday that he had received a grant of $80,000,000 for a twelve-year study to determine precisely how much fun there is in a barrel of monkeys.

Whatever the results of Dr. Gibbon's researches, this much is already known: What's more fun than a barrel of monkeys is

EASTERN RESERVE UNIVERSITY

The annual meeting of the American Philological Institute, held last week at Eastern Reserve University, was enlivened by the reading of two divergent monographs concerning the origins of early Gothic "runes," as letters of primitive alphabets are called.

Dr. Tristram Lathrop Spleen, famed far and wide as the discoverer of the High German Consonant Shift, read a paper in which he traced the origins of the Old Wendish rune "pt" (pronounced "krahts") to the middle Lettic rune "gr" (pronounced "albert"). On the other hand, Dr. Richard Cumberbund Twonkey, who, as the whole world knows, translated "The Pajama Game" into Middle High Baetrian, contended in his paper that the Old Wendish rune "pt" derives from the Low Erse rune "mf" (pronounced "gr").

Well, sir the discussion grew so heated that Dr. Twonkey finally asked Dr. Spleen if he would like to step into the gymnasium and put on the gloves. Dr. Spleen accepted the challenge promptly, but the contest was never held because there were no gloves in the gymnasium that would fit Dr. Twonkey.

(The reader is doubtless finding this hard to believe as Eastern Reserve University is celebrated the length and breadth of the land for the size of its glove collection. However, the reader is asked to remember that Dr. Twonkey has extraordinarily small hands and arms. In fact, he spent the last year working in a small-arms plant, where he received two Navy "E" Awards and was widely hailed as a "manly little chap.")

ART MATTOS

IN NEW YORK, in London, and in Moscow it has been hailed as the greatest musical of the century. Now everyone in this area has the chance to see and acclaim "My Fair Lady."

This amazing Lerner and Lowe musical based on George Bernard Shaw's "Pygmalion" is currently enjoying an extended run at Boston's Shubert Theatre, where it is still the joyous experience, brimming with melody and laughter, sending its audiences into riotous applause as it has on Broadway since March 1956.

FEATURED IN THE BOSTON run are Caroline Dixon as Eliza and Michael Evans as Professor Higgins. Miss Dixon makes her first American stage appearance in the Julie Andrews role, and her performance equals that of any of Broadway's substitutes for Miss Andrews.

Mr. Evans is likewise quite at home in the role of the professor. In short, the entire Boston production is highly polished and worthy of presentation on Broadway, something that cannot be said of all touring company productions that have been sent this way of late.

THE PLAY ITSELF is exceptional. It continually moves from high spot to high spot, from the discovery of Eliza outside of Convent Gardens to the excitement of her first proper pronunciation of "The Rain in Spain," climaxing in her triumph at the ball.

It never fails for one second to keep the audience enraptured and eager for more. The usual reaction of the audience is that they hate to see the final curtain fall. After seeing it, one can easily understand the wish for it to continue all night, just as Eliza wished she could have danced all night.

THE SCORE, of course, needs no introduction to anyone who enjoys good music. "On The Street Where You Live," "With A Little Bit of Luck," "Get Me To The Church On Time," "I've Grown Accustomed to Her Face," and the others already mentioned have practically become standards since their first presentation five years ago. Every number in this extravaganza, as well, is presented in a manner that will delight both the eye and ear.

"MY FAIR LADY" is being presented at the Shubert night except Sunday, with matinees on Wednesday and Saturday. Certainly, this presents an opportunity for all those who have long desired to see this perennial favorite of Broadway theatre-goers, but could not make the trip to New York or obtain tickets.

To the Editor:

The recent censure of Charles Verde, Sophomore Class representative to the Student Congress, should bring home vividly to the members of the class of '63 that its affairs are being handled by a small clique that has grown irresponsible to its smug confidence that it can control and dictate class affairs without eliciting a response from class members.

Representative Verde either does not care or is ignorant of his responsibilities to the Sophomore Class. Perhaps he feels himself accountable only to Class President James O'Leary, rather than to the class itself. Mr. Verde declares his work obligations prevent his being present at Congress Meetings. Has it ever occurred to Mr. Verde that he should resign his position to someone who is capable of filling it?

In the social events staged by the class there have been several irregularities. It is well known that at last year's Freshman Weekend certain unaffiliated persons were in attendance as guests of several committee members who happen to belong to the above mentioned clique.

Homecoming Weekend Attracts 750 Alumni

Homecoming Weekend, for the third consecutive year, attracted over 700 alumni, the number attending being placed at approximately 750. Governor John A. Notte, a member of the class of 1931, addressed a capacity crowd at the annual Homecoming Dinner on Saturday. He praised the school for its balanced academic and athletic program. "The knowledge of the type of men who are graduated from PC, their training and experience, enable them to summon an attitude of optimism for the future," he said.

ROTC AWARD is received by Walter Werner at the Military Ball held last Friday night.

Immediately following the dinner, the alumni witnessed the basketball team's third defeat of the season, coming at the hands of an inspired University of Rhode Island quintet. The annual alumni reunion in the cafeteria concluded Saturday evening's festivities.

The weekend was brought to a close on Sunday morning with an 11:15 Mass in Aquinas Chapel, followed by brunch in the cafeteria.

Also during the dinner, the Very Rev. Robert J. Slavin, O.P., President of the College, presented awards in memory of the late Rev. Anselm Kreiger of Providence College to the nine varsity captains: John Bean, basketball; Joseph Cafarella, baseball; Joseph Keough and James Wandamacher, hockey; Robert Bamberger, cross country; Pete Wallack, track; John Siddell, golf; John McNiff, rifle team; and John Deveraux, tennis.

Formonsan Univ. Drive Kicks-off; Fund Benefits University Library; Kai Fang Chosen Area Chairman

(CIN)—Miss Kai Fang of Kaohsiung, Formosa, has been named regional chairman of the Formonsan University drive in which this college is participating. Formal kick-off for the Formonsan Project will take place at the New England NFCCS regional meeting slated for Emmanuel College on Feb. 18.

The project is designed to raise funds for the library of a new Catholic University on the besieged island of Formosa. Boston's Cardinal Cushing is directing the effort in the United States.

Herself a native of Formosa, the newly appointed drive director indicated that "it is very hard to establish a Catholic College on Formosa because private colleges do not receive financial support from the government as do the state-run institutions."

"This new Catholic University on Formosa will replace the one which previously existed on the mainland, in Pe-King," Miss Fang added.

Kai Fang has only been in this country since September, when she enrolled as a junior at Boston's Cardinal Cushing College. She has already received an associate degree from Providence College on Formosa. Miss Fang will return to her homeland after completing studies in business administration here in the U. S.

Plans for the drive on this campus will be formulated after Miss Fang confers with the NFCCS senior delegates at the Winter Council. Most area colleges will sponsor dances, concerts, or lectures to supplement student donations.

Letters . . .

We suggest that The Brothers Four fiasco which bankrupted the class treasury was due to the failure of class officers to obtain an accurate sample of the opinions of class members. That they failed to obtain this sampling is evidenced by the poor attendance at the affair.

We wonder where the fault lies. Is it due to disinterest on the part of class members which causes the administration of class affairs to fall by default into the hands of a clique which is not representative of the class itself? Or is it due to this group's failure to make an effort to gain advice and counsel from other members of the class?

Sen. McCarthy Subs As S.S.C. Speaker

Because of bereavement at the loss of his mother, the Hon. Paul M. Butler was unable to appear at Harkins Hall last evening to speak as originally scheduled.

In his stead, Senator Eugene J. McCarthy, Minnesota, addressed the large attendance on "The New Frontier—Youth in Politics." This lecture, the first in a projected series by the Student Speakers Committee, was termed an excellent turnout by the committee's financial agent, Joseph Walsh.

Thompson Leads PC Frosh In Intartate Title Sweep

The off-and-running Providence College Freshman basketball team swept the Frosh interstate-title by driving the University of Rhode Island Frosh 82-75 in the confines of Alumni Hall.

The frosh were led by Johnny Thompson who hit 14 from the floor and 7 from the foul line in maintaining his 30 average with 35 points, high man for the night.

Johnny easily moved around the key and post for his 14 floor shots with hooks, jumpers, and lay-ups.

For the Rams, Denny Dillon, former Smith Hiller at La Salle Academy, walked off the court with 23 impressive points as well as Pete Broderick (17) and Dan Nilsson (12).

But for the go-go Friars, Billy Stein continues to impress the fans since coming off the bench at mid-year with his ball-handling, shooting, and play-making. Jump-shooting Bob Simoni (14) was all-over the court on defense while using his line-drive jump shot to good use against the Rams.

John Sheridan (10), Jeff Shea (4), Don De Jesu (4), and Jimmy Carroll (2) helped out the high men with set shots from the corner.

The game, close all the way, was marked by fast, quick plays by both URI and PC as both teams played aggressive ball.

PC's Band Lacks $$$ For NY Trip

Providence College's band, under the direction of the Rev. Raymond St. George, O.P., has no word as yet as to whether or not it will play at the National Invitation Tournament in New York City next month.

At the present time the band is without sufficient funds and must wait for the Administration's permission to confirm a trip to New York.

If the PC band attends the NIT it will mark the third year in a row that they have done so. Last year the band also received an invitation to march in the Saint Patrick's Day parade in New York but declined the offer because of the bad position that would have been assigned to them. This year it is felt that a better position will be awaiting the Friar musicians," said Fr. George.

SPORTSDESK

Last Monday night, 3300 fans in Alumni Hall and a vast television audience were treated to a rare display of top-flight collegiate basketball. The performers were Coach Eddie Donovan's power-packed Bonnies from Olean, N. Y., and this year there was no home court advantage that gave them an edge.

The nation's second-ranked team showed just why they are rated that high as they demolished a capable Providence team by a margin which was in no way indicative of the difference between the two teams. If a Providence roster could ever enjoy watching the Friars lose a ballgame, then this game would be the time, for it was a pleasure to see the polished, efficient and well-drilled St. Bonaventure team perform.

From the first eight minutes of the contest, in which the Bonnies raced off to a 31-15 lead, to the final gun, the outcome was never in doubt. Only twice, both times in the latter stages of the first half, did Providence threaten. And each time, the upstate New Yorkers simply turned on their speed and finesse, fast-breaking and shooting their way to a comfortable margin.

AS THE GAME wore on to its inevitable conclusion, the disillusioned fans released their pent-up emotions in various ways. The two officials received the brunt of the attack, although none of their decisions weighed especially heavy in deciding the final score. Coach Joe Mullaney drew some unfavorable comment, while merely attempting to wring the last possible drop of effort from his bench after his starters had obviously run out of gas.

A few fans boldly screamed at Jim Hadnot to get off his feet. This rather humorous reaction was obviously out of place, as the junior center played his usual stellar ball game, this time against two fellows who were capable of causing even the great Jerry Lucas of Ohio State some degree of difficulty.

IT WAS A FRUSTRATING evening for the fans, but it could have been even more frustrating had it not been for the kindness of the Bonnie mentor. After watching his team effortlessly build a 22 point lead, Donovan removed his starters with approximately five minutes remaining.

But for the basketball fan who enjoys seeing the best in college basketball, it was a satisfying evening. When St. Bonaventure left the confines of Alumni Hall, there were few who were not convinced that this was a club of top-flight calibre.

In one respect, the Bonnie game marked the end of the current hoop campaign. It is highly improbable that in the remainder of its schedule or in its NIT appearance in March, Providence will meet a team of the Bonnies' strength. With the defeats inflicted by Rhode Island and Bonaventure, coupled with the upset-laden remainder of the schedule, there is little possibility of the Friars ending this season nationally ranked.

FOR THIS SEASON, it seems as though the pre-season hoop experts were right in their prognostications. But then, there is always next year, and to use a rather hackneyed expression, it's almost tomorrow for the Friars of Providence College.

PC Trowned By Eagles 7-2

The Providence College sextet met a stiff Eagle foe Saturday night in Boston. The fast skating B.C. ice men outscored the "Friars" who encountered their second defeat at the hands of Boston College this year, 7-2.

Hornstein Impressive

Providence College's sophomore goalie, however, played in a manner that has been indicative of his determined efforts throughout the season. Hornstein, kept busy the whole game due to the Eagles' strong offense, turned away 35 shots from the Friars' nets compared to 19 for Jim Logue of B.C.

Red Martin, John Callahan, Bill Daley, and George Grant tallied for the victors, Grant and Daley netting two apiece.

Marsh Tschida copped the first goal for the Friars. Taking the puck on a pass from Jim Wandmacher, Tschida faked out the BC netminder and drove the shot home.

Jack McGeough tallied the second and last time for the Black and White on a powerful shot from the blueline.

Keough Injured

Co-captain Joe Keough of the Friars was hit in the mouth with the puck near the end of the second period. A physician was called and Keough had to receive stitches since he lost a tooth which prohibited him from playing the final period.

BC now boasts a 13-3-1 record while the Friars have dropped below the .500 level with a 7-8 record, losing six of their last seven starts since the Boston Arena Christmas tournament.

Old Point Mark Broken By Egan

By Frank Mazzeo

Convinced!!!

Convinced that St. Bonaventure University deserves to be ranked second in the nation! Convinced that the Bonnies will give many a foe in the NCAA tourney a difficult night! These were a few of the notions Friar basketball fans carried away from Alumni Hall after the Bonnies routed Providence College 95-79.

The Bonnies easily jumped into the lead in the early moments of the game, as the Friars appeared tight and were unable to unfold any type of an offense.

This tightness, which the Friars displayed throughout the game, hurt greatly any hope that the Friars had for victory.

Bonaventure's defense capitalized on every mistake PC made and surged into a 33-20 lead at the midway point of the first half.

Spirited play led by John Egan and Vinnie Ernst pushed the Friars closer, but PC was unable to control the backboards, as the Bonnies put out this limited outbreak.

Bob McCully, 6-9 Bonnie center, did a fine job in controlling the rebound department. McCully, who was expected to be the Bonnie's weak point, proved anything but as he pulled down important rebounds when the Friars appeared within striking distance.

Down 39-50 at the half, Providence was able to score the first basket of the second session, but the Indian express picked up steam while Tom Stitt and company supplied the fuel.

PC coach Joe Mullaney summed up his team's plight by saying "you don't make mistakes against a team like St. Bonaventure or they'll kill you—and we made too many mistakes."

John Egan's 22-point output made him the all-time Providence College high scorer with 1255 points. The previous high total was 1251, set by Bob Moran.

Bowling League In Full Swing

After two week's of action, the lead of the Carolan Club's Bowling League is held by four teams, all with identical 6-2 marks.

The Agent Intellectuals, the Fifths, the JJC's, and the Strikeouts are all deadlocked for first spot in the 18 team loop.

Gene Fusaro has the top average, 173, while Dick Healy is a close second with a 172. Healy and Fusaro reverse their positions in the High Series standings. Healy has rolled a fine 546 while Fusaro has a 535 on the books. George Mahl

Pucksters To Face Tough Schedule In Last Period Of Hockey Season

The Providence College hockey team plays four games in the next two weeks. The Friars swing over to North Andover, Mass., for a return engagement with Merrimack College on Feb. 18. Then PC takes on New Hampshire University on Feb. 22 and Army on Feb. 28 here at Providence; and finally returns to Boston to re-engage Boston University.

Saturday, Feb. 18, the PC pucksters play a return engagement against Merrimack College. Earlier in the season, PC rolled to an easy 13-3 victory in a game marked by rough, bruising encounters in which two players were ejected from the game after having employed an unsportsman-like attitude.

New Hampshire has a number of experienced hands back plus some fine sophomores available for action against Providence. N.H.U.'s lead by All-East Small College goalie, Bob Blackburn. Their top line will consist of Ken McKinnon, Sam Nichols, and Ted Solzenzki teaming up with Ed Mullen and Barry Crawford.

Sophomores Dick Samontagne, a real speed merchant, and Tom Canavan, a good playmaker, head the list of sophs.

Then on Saturday, Feb. 25, the United States Military Academy comes to town for a rematch with Providence after being upset in the Boston Area Christmas Holiday Tournament by a score of 3-2.

Coached by Jack Riley who brought home a gold medal for the USA in the 1960 Winter Olympics in hockey, the Black and Yellow Knights will be headed by goalie Ron Chisolm and center John Dewar plus seven other returning lettermen and eight ex-plebes.

Gerry Stonehouse, who tallied against PC in the Boston Tournament, Herman Hyman, Jack Shepard, and Bill Kingston will see service for Army.

Later in the week, the Friars will play the other half of the home and away encounter against Boston University on Tuesday, February 25 at Boston.

Boston University, last year's Eastern Champion, will try to take the measure of Providence again after having eked out a 7-6 victory while coming from two goals behind, at the season's start.

Courtmen Slated To Meet DePaul, LeMoyné and B.C.

Following their "big one" with the Bonnies, coach Joe Mullaney sends his charges against the Blue Demons of DePaul tomorrow night in a contest which must be termed as anti-climatic.

The Demons, also slated to play in the N.I.T., are a well-balanced, fast-breaking outfit which has beaten some of the top clubs in the nation. They started off the season like a house on fire, winning their first eleven games. However, since then, they have leveled off and will enter the PC contest with a 14-4 slate.

All-American Howie Carl, a dynamic, flashy ball-player, is a fine ball-handler and even better shooter. While he is DePaul's top offensive threat, he receives help from 6'0" senior Bill Haig and 6'6" senior Jim Flemming.

Following the DePaul encounter, the Black and White get a week off before playing LeMoyné College in Alumni Hall in the last home game of the campaign.

LeMoyné has four starters returning and, along with a fine soph, figure to make things a mite tougher than the Mullaneymen may have figured.

On Sat., Feb. 25, the Friars travel to Boston to take on BC, a club the Mullaneymen have already hung one loss on, 75-65.

The Eagles, stunned by the loss of high-scoring Jim Hooley, have been surprising in that they have played some fine ball since the loss of Hooley. The Friars must be careful.

ney to New London, Connecticut, to participate in the Coast Guard Academy's Invitational Tournament.

On Monday, the Friars were informed that they had finished third in the Eastern ROTC sector.

PC will receive the William Randolph Hearst National Trophy for their third place finish.

This is the third award the Friar rifle team has won.

Rifle Team Downed By Huskies; Take 3rd In Hearst National

The Providence College varsity rifle team, coached by M/Sgt. Ronald Orchard, lost to the Huskies of Northeastern University 1406-1400 at Alumni Hall on Saturday, February 11.

This was the final league match for the Orchardmen and was disappointing for them to lose.

Also, the defeat resulted in the Nimrods finishing third in the southern group of the N.E. C. R. I. behind the Coast Guard Academy and Northeastern respectively. PC's league record for the season was 6-3 while their overall was 13-4.

Bill Lucey's 285 was high in Providence's losing cause. Others were Guido Palazzini 282, Ed Libuch 279, John MacDonald 278, and Ed Harvey 276.

For the Huskies E. Draper and Bill Campbell were tied for the top spot with scores of 287. Joe Kowalski was 280, W. Galerani 279, and Pete Mahoney 275.

In a postal match, however, the Friars walloped Alliance College of Pennsylvania 1400-1273.

This coming Saturday, February 18, the Orchardmen jour-

MARSH TSCHIDA

Although Merrimack has remained relatively obscure in eastern hockey circles, they still will pose a threat to the on and off PC skaters. With nine lettermen back this year, Coach Jim Reynolds pins his chief hope on center George Pollock, an honorable mention New England All-Star and All-East selection.

New Hampshire University, coached by Pepper Martin, will take on the Ecclesstonmen in another spirited affair here at Providence.
