PC - DePaul In NIT Opener

By BARNEY MADDEN

The National Invitation Tournament selection committee announced yesterday that Providence College will play DePaul University of Chicago on Saturday afternoon, March 18, at 4:30.

The game will be the first of the Tournament for both teams, neither of which are seeded.

Temple will play Army in the opening game of the afternoon twin-bill.

When asked last night for his views on the game, Coach Joe Mullaney told The Cowl, "Of all the teams we could have played in the tournament, we're just as well off playing DePaul. They will be very tough—they gave us one of our better games, and since they played us they've been playing much better."

"In one sense it's a good break, inasmuch as we're not going into the game blind. We know their personnel, their plays, and their style. And they'll be worried about us, too."

Seeded teams in the tournament are Dayton, Niagara, Mem-

Sophs Announce Weekend Agenda

The opening activity for this year's Sophomore Weekend (April 21, 22, 23), a semi-formal, non-floral dance, will be held at the Pocasset Country Club in Portsmouth. The dance, following a South Pacific theme, has been entitled the "Enchanted Evening."

The remainder of the weekend will follow the typical PC format. Saturday afternoon will feature a Hawaiian "Luau" at Lincoln Woods. The class will return to campus that evening for their "Bali Ball". The weekend will close Sunday with a Mass in St. Joseph's Chapel.

Favors for the weekend will be distributed at the communion breakfast following the Mass.

Budget director for the weekend Frank Mazur, has set the price of the bid at $12. Tickets for the weekend may be purchased on the $3, $4, $5, installment plan. A formal invitation to the weekend will be received when payments on the weekend are completed.

NSA To Sponsor Yale Conference March 10, 11, 12

Yale University will be the scene of the New England Regional Conference of the USNSA, Robert Oppel, James McClain, Matthew Smith, and Charles Reilly are representing PC at this conference as registered delegates. William Lyons and Richard Segura are attending the affair in the role of observers.

This will be the first regional conference that Providence College will attend since its acceptance into the USNSA. The conference will deal primarily with the American student and problems of economically merging nations.

A Saturday morning seminar program has been set up at the conference. Each seminar will concentrate on the specific economic, political, and social problems faced in each area and the unique barriers which

Congress Considers New Rules

The regular Student Congress meeting, held last Wednesday night, revolved around a legislative committee amendment to the constitution, and a motion by President Robert Oppel concerning Congress jurisdiction over campus organizations.

Charles McAree, chairman of the legislative committee, submitted the amendment to the constitution. The amendment states that each student organization that is recognized by the Student Congress shall be entitled to one passive member who shall represent that organization in the Congress.

The amendment stipulates that the member shall be appointed by the chief executive of the organization. The Congress must be notified of the appointment in writing, and Congress, by majority vote, shall approve or reject his appointment. The term of this member will commence with the first Congress meeting and terminate with the final assembly of the year.

According to McAree, the amendment would define the exact status of passive members which, at the present, is hazy. Some of the clubs, according to the present article in the constitution, which are supposedly passive members of the Congress, have ceased functioning.

This amendment, however, leaves the method of appointing a delegate up to the organization.

Fr. McCormack To Conduct PC Retreat Mar. 27, 28, 29

Providence College's annual retreat will be conducted March 27, 28, 29. The retreat will be given by the Rev. J. S. McCormack, O.P., S.T.D., head of the Theology Department. All Catholic students are obliged to attend, except those who have made one of the closed weekend retreats sponsored by the Office of the Chaplain. Non-Catholics may attend if they wish.

The Rev. Thomas McBrien, Chaplain, issued the following statement in regard to the retreat: "The days of retreat are a time for prayerful meditation, a time for self examination, and a time for spiritual refreshment. It is occasionally necessary for students to withdraw from the distractions of the daily routine of college life. It is also necessary for them to re-examine their relationship with God. The PC retreat offers such an opportunity. We sincerely hope that PC students will grasp this opportunity to intensify their love and devotion to our Lord."

Lay members of the faculty will hold a retreat at the same time in Aquinas Chapel. The retreat master for the faculty will be the Rev. Thomas R. Peterson, O.P.

Activity book numbers will be collected for each conference of the retreat. Each student must be able to present the proper slip according to the office of the Dean of Discipline. The Rev. Anthony Jurgelaitis, O.P., emphasized that any kind of fraud in regard to attendance will be treated very severely by his office. If a student should be unable to attend he must notify Father Jurgelaitis.

Schedule
Monday and Tuesday at 9:30—Mass and Conference; 10:30—Rosary and Conference; 11:30—Benediction, Conference, and Benediction.
Wednesday at 9:30—Mass, Conference, Rosary; 10:30—Conference, Pulpit Blessing, and Benediction.
Holy Communion will be distributed each morning at Mass. Confession will be heard before Mass and after Conferences.

SC To Sponsor Busses To NIT

Busses to the NIT will again be sponsored by the special Student Congress mobilization committee, according to Dave Duffy, chairman of the committee.

Greyhound busses have been chosen to make the trip to New York.

"We'll sell tickets as soon as dates are announced by the NIT committee. The cost of tickets will be between $6 and $6.50 and will be sold to everyone, even to people outside the school," said Duffy.

"Tickets will be placed on sale between 11:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. in Alumni Hall and possibly in the Rotunda in Harkins Hall," he added.

Memo from the Editor:

The controversial anti-Communist film "Operation Abolition" is once again making news.

An article in the Providence Journal stated that Oklahoma City-Tulsa Catholic diocesan newspaper declared that the picture contains "distortions so blatant and so extreme as to produce the net effect of a lie."

In Minnesota the Catholic Bulletin, official organ of the St. Paul Archdiocese, called the film "patently unjust in its frequently repeated charge that opponents of the House Committee are Communist dupes."

"Operation Abolition" depicts a student demonstration at the San Francisco hearings. It implies that church groups and other organizations which had opposed the hearing were "dupes" of the Communists.

At the University of Pennsylvania the Young Democrats became the first campus group to join what appears to be a nationwide chorus of student protest against the HUAC, reports The Daily Pennsylvanian.

Politicians are also voicing their disapproval. Governor Nelson of Wisconsin has publicly condemned the film.

As a final blow to all opposition the House of Representatives overwhelmingly voted to give the Committee on Un-American Activities $331,000 to carry on its work for another year.

These reports only support the former Cowl editor's stand in which he criticized the possible misrepresentation under the guise of unprejudiced documentary.

Perhaps those who spoke so vehemently against Mr. Goetz's stand will judge the affair with an open mind.

The convention was held Sunday evening at the Sheraton-Biltmore Hotel in Providence. The subject of Father Peterson's address was "Music and the Sound of Morality."

Among the distinguished guests were the Most Reverend Thomas F. Maloney, Auxiliary Bishop of Providence, who concluded the evening with a short address, and the Honorable John A. Nette, Jr., Governor of Rhode Island, who extended the greetings of the State of Rhode Island to the convention.

Nun Formed 1st Volunteer Youth Corps

(CIN.)—If John F. Kennedy wants a bit of good advice on setting up a Youth Corps, he'd be wise to check with a New England nun who beat him to it by more than ten years.

Sister John of Regis College in Weston, Mass., has been one of the foremost leaders in a movement which has sent hundreds of young Catholic men and women to underprivileged areas during the past decade. This year, she is responsible for 117 volunteers from the New England region and forty from other colleges in the nation.

Although usually more reserved, Sr. John's speech almost sparks with enthusiasm when she is induced to speak of her own minor version of the "Youth Corps." She became involved in the movement, she relates, as moderator of the Mission Club at Regis in 1950.

She started in 1950 by sending one volunteer to Guam. Two more joined the first volunteer during the second year and combined to staff a high school for the local children. Of the 35 in the first graduating class, thirteen won scholarships to continue their studies in the United States.

Sr. John claims that her program "isn't really organized yet," but she "just keeps sending people to fill the need."

Both men and women are involved in the lay mission work, with Boston College apparently the most active as far as male volunteers are concerned. In the past four years, BC has had 25 alumni engaged in teaching, nursing, and social work throughout the world.

The lay apostolate volunteer usually serves the year after graduation and is provided with free transportation to the mission area, as well as room, board, clothing, and incidental expenses. No salaries are paid, but Sr. John indicated that most volunteers find their work priceless in terms of human experience.

Sportcaster Picks Top Fights, Fighters

Every sports fan has his favorite fight as well as his favorite boxer, but in the opinion of famed TV Fight of the Week Sportscaster Don Dunphy, who has broadcast more fights than any other person, the 1946 mid-dleweight bout between Tony Zale and Rocky Graziano was "the most dramatic, thrill-packed fight I ever witnessed."

This is how Don describes it: "Graziano, the favorite, found himself on the canvas in the first round, but bounced back, floored Zale, and proceeded to punish him unmercifully. Zale appeared virtually out of the fight in round six when, out of nowhere, he uncorked his famous solar plexus punch. That single left hook to the midsection paralyzed Rocky. The fight was over."

The best boxer on the American scene in the past two decades was not one of the big boys. Dunphy believes that Willie Pep in his prime was probably the greatest boxing craftsman and tactician in history. A classic boxer, the little featherweight was "practically untouchable, unhittable."

Comparing Pep with Joe Louis, Dunphy says that "Louis relied merely on power and combinations, but Pep could do other things: he could box, he could hit, he could run, he could hold, he could spin his man around, he could come up behind him. He could do things no other boxer I ever saw could do."

Sugar Ray Robinson, however, at his peak was the greatest all-round fighter (as contrasted with "boxer") in Dunphy's book.

In addition to boxing skill, he had a rare capacity to absorb punishment — such as in the fight with Fritz Zivic in the early 1940's when Zivic unleashed a terrific blow, staggering Robinson, only to find himself on the floor as Robinson retaliated with a black-buster that came as a virtual reflex action.

Dunphy also pays tribute to Robinson's "hitting power, his defensive work, heart, courage and ability to take advantage of and opening."

Back in 1952, Dunphy was broadcasting at ringside when he saw "the greatest single punch" of recent boxing history.

In the 13th round at Philadelphia, Rocky Marciano threw a right-hand punch at Jersey Joe Walcott that Dunphy says has never been equaled for pure explosive force. The second blow landed; every fan at the fight knew the bout was over. Walcott crumpled like a

Sgt. Ferguson Holds Party For Senior OTS Candidates

Fifteen of the twenty PC seniors who are candidates of Air Force Officer Training School were guests at a cocktail party given by Sgt. Alexander Ferguson last Friday evening at his home on Fruit Hill Avenue.

LT. Governor Edward Gallagher who attended the party gave a speech in which he quoted President Kennedy by telling his listeners to "Ask not what your country can do for you, but what you can do for your country."

The commanding officer of recruiting detachment 108, Boston, Mass., Major C. E. Glesner said that candidates for the O.T.S. must appear before a board of acceptance preceding their induction into the program.

The twenty O.T.S. candidates from PC will spend the Easter recess at Otis Air Force base where they will be shown a first hand knowledge of military life.

Wendell To Speak

The Rev. Norbert Wendell, O.P., director of all Dominican territories on the east coast will address the territories of the Providence College Chapter of Third Order of Saint Dominic Friday evening at 7:30 p.m. Aquinas Chapel. The meeting is open to the public.

According to the Rev. John C. Rubba, O. P., the topic of Father Wendell's address will likely be the forthcoming convention of territories to be held in New York.

PC Book Sale Given National Attention By AP

Last week's sale of books by the pound at the campus bookstore received nationwide coverage. The story and picture in the Providence Bulletin was picked up by the Associated Press for national distribution.

Papers in Boston, New York, and other major cities throughout the country ran both the picture and the story. Mr. Daniel E. Sullivan, manager of the bookstore reports that he has received calls and letters from such places as Lubbock, Texas and Omaha, Nebraska congratulating him and PC in this pioneer venture. Newsweek and CBS have contacted Mr. Sullivan for a nationwide interview.

The sale, during which books were sold on a 22 cents a pound basis or five pounds for one dollar was sold out on the first day. The sale was originally scheduled to run for three days.

Mr. Sullivan placed the number of volumes sold between 1000 and 1500. Mr. Sullivan went on to say that another similar sale is planned for the future. However, no definite date can be set until a sufficient supply of books have been purchased.

Geary Sets Meeting Of Gift Committee For Tomorrow P. M.

A meeting of the senior class gift committee will take place tomorrow at 3 p.m. in room 307, Harkins Hall.

According to James Geary, chairman of the committee, the purpose of this meeting will be to discuss the various available mutual funds with the intention of arranging a second referendum and to present a proposal for a subsidiary gift. The seniors have already voted to donate their class gift in the form of a mutual fund.

Geary requested that all concentration representatives attend this meeting. All other members of the senior class are invited to attend.

tion. It does not forbid the change of the passive member by the club or impose additional obligation on passive members. Action on this amendment is now pending.

President Robert Oppel submitted a motion to have the administration determine the jurisdiction of the Congress over campus organizations which receive appropriations from the College. The motion was passed by the Congress.

Oppel then moved that the Congress should go on record as favoring control and enforcement of the rules over the other organizations on campus. The Congress also passed this motion.

Oppel then submitted a third motion to the Congress. This motion would empower the Congress to regulate all appropriations to certain campus organizations.

This third motion, however, was considered out of order. According to the rules of the legislative committee such a motion must first be considered by them.

As a result of this action, the motion was withdrawn by Oppel and submitted to the legislative committee.

Educ. Majors Seek Workers For Howard

Bob Devaney and Gene Luini, hope to influence other junior education-social studies info. joining them in doing volunteer work of a social nature at the State Hospital for the Mentally Diseased at Howard.

Devaney and Luini have been making their weekly visits to the geriatrics ward of the hospital since late in November. They play cards with patients, talk to them, organize games for them, and read to the blind patients. Their main job is to supply companionship for the patients, all old men suffering from all types of mental illnesses.

"What the volunteer does rests entirely on him," said Devaney. "You do anything you want within the policies of the hospital. The hospital supplies all materials needed to entertain the patients."

Luini added, "The work offers possibilities of learning about various injuries and supplies a practical knowledge of sociology, psychology, and education. If the volunteer shows interests in the work, he is offered interviews with the hospital's psychologists."

The work consists of spending two hours weekly during school weeks at the hospital. The worker does not sign anything until after a one-month probationary period, during which time he can decide whether or not he enjoys the work. His obligations exist only during school weeks, not during vacations or exams.

"Our only reward is personal satisfaction and the knowledge that we're helping to make these men's lives fuller," added Devaney. "We learn patience from working with the men, many of whom are very depressed, and we leave the hospital with the feeling that we've accomplished something."

Any students interested in gaining more information about this work may contact Bob and Gene in Room 222, Harkins, during the 10:20 break from tomorrow up until the NIT break. Fr. Jurgelaitis granted his approval to this work.

According to Shugrue this broadcast is "a continuation of the College's radio station's policy of broadcasting sports events of campus interest." To date this year the radio station has broadcast all freshman basketball games and home hockey games.

Editor of AIC Yellow Jacket Refused OK By Student Gov't

(Special To The Cowl)

The Yellow Jacket, the official student newspaper of American International College has temporarily resolved a conflict concerning the editorship of the newspaper.

In accordance with the provisions of the Yellow Jacket constitution, the staff elected Milton Benjamin editor late in January. Benjamin, noted for his criticism of AIC's student government, was rejected as editor on the grounds that he "was not qualified for the position."

The staff again elected Benjamin and sent his nomination to the student government for confirmation. He was rejected for a second time.

A campus election was then held to select an editor for the Yellow Jacket. Miss Murina Niernack was elected editor and her nomination was approved by the student government.

The entire staff with the exception of the business manager resigned as soon as Miss Niernack received her appointment. She guided a temporary staff of the Yellow Jacket for only one week.

Benjamin then assumed the position of editor and is presently guiding a temporary staff. The student government then worked out a compromise with the newspaper staff which calls for an election of an editor by the staff and ratification of his appointment by student government.

The AIC student government still reserves the right to call for a second election if the first editor chosen does not meet the qualification stipulated by the student government bill.

Junior President Reilly Announces Bid Call For Class's Prom

Junior class president Charles Reilly announced that tickets will go on sale today for the Junior Prom Weekend. The total bid of $22 will be spread over four individual payments of $6, $6, $6 and $4. The first payment will be collected March 15.

Reilly said that because of the previous success of boat rides, two other classes at Providence College are attempting to acquire the same boat in conjunction with the Junior class, for one weekend. The Junior class will use the boat on Saturday and the remaining two classes will have the boat for Friday and Sunday. Reilly stated that hiring a boat for one weekend will be beneficial in cutting expenses.

Johannine Society

The Rev. Robert E. McNally, S.J., will speak tomorrow evening at the meeting of the Johannine Society at 8 p.m. in the Guild Room of Alumni Hall. Father McNally's subject will be "St. Patrick—Truth and Poetry."

Editorially Speaking

Why Fordham...

The Fordham Ram has recently run an interview with Mr. Mark Mere, a Nigerian exchange student. In the context of the interview Mr. Mere stated that "Dominican priests kept urging me to go to Fordham." At Fordham University Mere is studying sociology and economics—two courses of study offered at Providence College.

It seems rather ironic to us that Dominican priests would advise a student to go to Fordham, a Jesuit school, when Providence College offers similar concentrations of study.

Responsibilities...

Providence College has grown in both physical and educational stature in the last decade, but it must be remembered that a college will always be as good as, and no better, than its students.

The business of getting an education is a two way affair. Not only does the college have certain responsibilities to its students, but the students likewise have certain obligations to the college.

A college can provide teachers and facilities for research, offer cultural opportunities, and foster attitudes conducive to learning and the development of appreciation and ideas. It cannot provide education; it cannot create attitudes, it cannot produce intellectual and mature men.

Responsibility for these functions rests with the students. They must be more than receptive. They must be actively creative. They must change themselves and others. They should be willing, even eager, to participate in the exchange of ideas.

Striving to reach some goal is a part of life from its beginning. Each goal reached gives way to seeking a higher one. It is to be hoped that the earning of a college degree is not the ultimate aim of collegiate existence. The degree itself is incidental, its importance relative to the development of the whole individual.

A Poor Showing...

At a recent basketball game, the NFCCS attempted to collect donations for a Catholic university in Formosa from among 3400 students and friends of the College in attendance. They received a mere $200, or less than six cents per person. At this rate, the one dollar per student goal set by the group may never be realized on our campus.

Now is the time for the student body to show its generosity for such a worthy cause.

When you are asked to donate to help further Catholic education on Formosa, give generously in order that the Catholic colleges of America might attain their goal.

I WAS A TEEN-AGE SLIDE RULE

In a recent learned journal (Mad) the distinguished board chairman (Ralph "Hot-Lips" Sigafos) of one of our most important American corporations (the Arf Mechanical Dog Co.) wrote a trenchant article in which he pinpointed our gravest national problem: the lack of culture among science graduates.

Mr. Sigafos's article, it must be emphasized, was in no sense derogatory. He stated quite clearly that the science student, what with his grueling curriculum in physics, math, and chemistry, can hardly be expected to find time to study the arts too. What Mr. Sigafos deplores—indeed, what we all deplore—is the lopsided result of today's science courses: graduates who can build a bridge but can't compose a concerto, who know Planck's Constant but not Botticelli's Venus, who are familiar with Fraunhofer's lines but not with Schiller's.

Mr. Sigafos can find no solution to this hideous imbalance. I, however, believe there is one—and a very simple one. It is this: if students of science don't have time to come to the arts, then we must let the arts come to students of science.

For example, it would be a very easy thing to teach poetry and music right along with physics. Students, instead of merely being called upon to recite in physics class, would instead be required to rhyme their answers and set them to familiar tunes—like, for instance, The Colonel Bogy March. Thus recitations would not only be chock-full of important facts but would, at the same time, expose the student to the aesthetic delights of great music. Here, try it yourself. You all know The Colonel Bogy March. Come, sing along with me:

Physics
Is what we learn in class.
Einstein
Said energy is mass.
Newton
Is highfalutin
And Pascal's a rascal. So's Boyle.
Do you see how more broadening, how much more uplifting to learn physics this way? Of course you do. What? You want another chorus? By all means:

Leyden
He made the Leyden jar.
Trolley
He made the Trolley car.
Curie
Rode in a surrey,
And Diesel's a weasel. So's Boyle.

Once the student has mastered The Colonel Bogy March, he can go on to more complicated melodies like Death and Transfiguration, the Eroica, and Love Me Tender.

And when the student, loaded with science and culture, leaves the classroom and lights his Marlboro, how much more he will enjoy that filter, that flavor, that pack or box! Because there will no longer be an unease gnawing at his soul, no longer a little voice within him repeating that he is culturally a dolt. He will know—know joyously—that he is a fulfilled man, a whole man, and he will bask and revel in the pleasure of his Marlboro as a colt rolls in new grass—content, complete, truly educated—a credit to his college, to himself, and to his tobacco-conist!

And while he is rolling, colt-wise, in the new grass, perhaps he would stop long enough to try a new cigarette from the makers of Marlboro—unfiltered, king-size Philip Morris Commander. Welcome aboard!

L H and R Top Jazz Trio Perform At Local Concert

LAMBERT, HENDRICKS and ROSS are the top vocal group on the jazz scene today, and according to Dick Ferrigno, 62, they really proved it a couple of weeks ago at a concert held at the Rhode Island School of Design. Ferrigno, who is personally acquainted with the trio, covered the set for THE COWL and reports that L H and R were swinging from start to finish. Especially outstanding were the group's versions of Count Basie's "One O'Clock Jump" and "Everyday," along with "Twisted," a song based on a Wardell Gray instrumental.

Here are three people who came to sing, and they leave you with the impression that they are having as much fun doing it as you are hearing it. And the funny part of it is, they are! However it is important to remember that this is not a group of clowns but three extremely talented people who sing the way they feel.

DAVE LAMBERT, Boston born former tree surgeon, has sung and arranged for some of the top men in jazz, including Gene Krupa, Harry James, Charley Parker and Stan Kenton. John Hendricks, a boyhood neighbor of the great Art Tatum, began his musical career in his father's church choir. Annie Ross was born in Surrey, England, and was once seen in several "Our Gang" comedy roles. Each one has at least one thing in common with the others besides the fact that they all once sang with Charley Parker. That thing is "feeling for a song" and this basically is their message to jazz. Whether it be swing or a blues bit, one gets the impression that they really mean it.

ANOTHER ASPECT THAT should be considered is their lyrics. Written to famous jazz solo's, they convey in words what the musician has previously conveyed in sounds. This is just another instance where it's the feeling that counts. And when it comes to putting feeling on the line, Lambert, Hendricks and Ross are always there, right on time!

Integrated Exchange Started

NEW YORK, (UPS)—A Student Exchange Program in co-operation with two segregated southern universities, one Negro and one white, will be initiated by Barnard College this year.

Twelve Barnard students will be selected to attend the first week of spring semester at the southern colleges; the colleges will reciprocate by sending 12 southern students to attend Barnard at the same time.

The entire Representative Assembly will take an active part in the exchange and will compile a comprehensive report summarizing and evaluating the program.

The 12 Barnard students will attend preparatory seminars conducted by members of the community and Barnard faculty. Further discussion will be held with the southern students. The complex problem of southern segregation will be thoroughly explored, as well as general

paper bag, sank to the floor—and the title went to Marciano.

The most touching moment in ring history for Dunphy was in October, 1951, when Marciano kayoed Joe Louis. Under any other circumstances, the fans would have been in bed. Seeing Louis, whose career had included so many of the ring's greatest fights, stretched on the canvass was a blow to the entire crowd, even Marciano supporters.

"It was almost like the Yankees finishing in last place," Dunphy recalls. "You might be against the Yankees, but even their opponents would be numb to see them finish last." This was the only time in Dunphy's memory that cheers failed to accompany a knockout.

Letters To The Editor

To The Editor:

The length of the Dean's List, currently being published in installments in The Cowl, makes it obvious that more stringent requirements are necessary in order to preserve the integrity of this high honor, supposedly reserved to the academically elite.

Accordingly, I submit two possible measures which may help to prevent future repetition of this apparent misjudgment. Either the minimum average demand for this recognition should be raised from the present 3.0 to 3.3, or two separate "lists" should be published—the first retaining the 3.0 grade as the standard, the second recognizing only those students who achieve 3.5 and over. The Cowl has, in the past, stated that the solution to this problem lies ultimately in an overall advance in the scholastic standards of Providence College; therefore, it should be emphasized that the above suggestions are only meant to be temporary, until such time as the attainment of a grade of 3.0 becomes difficult enough to sort out those unworthy of the honor.

To The Editor:

The administration has been subjected to considerable criticism by the Cowl and individuals for supposedly setting low standards of academic excellence. With so many students intelligent enough to make the Dean's List this semester, such disparagement is unfair. We should hope for the time when everyone will attain this distinctive honor.

1500 hundred student tickets will be sold at the Alumni Hall box offices. The rest of the tickets will be sold in the Athletic office. Non-student ticket prices will be $6.00, $5.00, and $3.50. Ticket sales will not be limited.

Ecclestonmen Finish Season; Win In Tourney Highlight

The Friar sextet romped over the hapless Brown team 9-0 despite the efforts of Rod McGarry, Brown's outstanding goalie, last Wednesday night at the Arena in the season's final for both teams.

Co-capt. Joe Keough, Jack McGeough, Co-capt. Jim Wandmacher, and Dick Ernst spearheaded the Friar offense. McGeough scored three times while Wandmacher and Ernst rammed home two each. McGeough enjoyed what was probably the finest game in his career. He started off the scoring with a screen shot from 55 feet out and shortly after skated the length of the rink, split the Bruin defense, and fired home a short shot from the left corner.

Then Joey Albert banged home a 50 footer on an assist from Keough. McGeough again scored with a powerful slap shot from 55 feet out. Wandmacher took a pass from Jim Giegar and chalked up another goal, making it 5-0.

Keough shortly after tallied his 15th goal of the season on another pass from Giegar. Dick Ernst fired two consecutive goals early in the third period. Wandmacher finished the scoring on a pass from Keough late in the period.

The Friar hockey team had suffered its ninth defeat at the hands of a stubborn Boston University sextet, 5-4, Tuesday evening at Boston Arena.

The Terriers rocketed to a 4-0 lead in the second period, and it looked like a walkaway as BU turned out a fine, aggressive performance.

The Friars finally started to roll in the third period when Joey Albert fired a rebound past the Terrier goalie into the righthand corner of the net. Co-capt. Joe Keough, with assists from Co-capt. Jim Wandmacher and Jim Giegar, fired a twelve footer past Barry Urbanski, the Terrier's All NCAA goalie.

The BU icemen gathered their forces and swiftly netted another score, boosting their lead to 5-2. Retaliating, Marsh Tschida slapped one in for Providence that carried the length of the rink from Jack McGeough to Lou Lamedliello to Tschida.

Then the Friars displayed their determination in attacking the BU net with full force. Shortly after, Keough slammed home his second shot past the prone Urbanski.

Keough Eclipses Former Mark; Top Scorer In PC Ice Annals

Records are made to be broken and that certainly is the status of the position of the leading scorer in Providence College hockey history.

Co-capt. Joe Keough, in his final collegiate hockey game against Brown University, exploded for five points on a goal and four assists to move into first place among the leading hockey scorers in Friar hockey annals.

The former record of 115 points, held by Joe Barile, was eclipsed at 8:13 of the second period of the Brown game when Keough assisted on Jack McGeough's booming 55 foot slap shot. Keough then added three more points to his total, closing out his career with 120 points—38 of them in his senior year. Keough slipped the disk into the net 15 times this season while adding 23 assists for his total.

Originally, it had been thought that Keough needed three points against Brown, however, a re-check of the records showed that the former Massachusetts All-Stater had not been given credit for two goals in his sophomore season and was actually only one point away from tying Barile's record entering the Bruin contest.

Although Keough is now the leading scorer in PC history, his mark may not stand for even a full year. Marsh Tschida, a classy center from St. Paul, Minnesota, has piled Tschida collected 50 points this season, 26 of them goals. Added to the 36 points (22 goals, 14 assists) he garnered in his sophomore year, he now stands only 35 points away from assuming Keough's position as the most prolific scorer in Friar history. If his achievements of the first two seasons are any indication, Tschida stands as an odds-on favorite to succeed Keough.

JOE KEOUGH

SPORTSDESK

JIM STONE, the freshman "mystery man" from Cleveland, will make his debut tonight as the senior and junior members of this year's varsity basketball team take on their sophomore teammates and representatives of the frosh squad. They will play an intrasquad game for the benefit of the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame at Springfield College.

STONE, a transfer student who had to sit out a year because of ineligibility and who has been recuperating from a serious knee injury suffered last year, has been the subject of much conjecture among the students this year.

Apparently he can score consistently from anywhere within range of the basket, he can dribble, rebound, and play defense. At 6-1 he can outreach teammates three inches taller than he, and he has been seen giving 6-11 John Thompson a bit of trouble in the pivot.

What can he do under pressure? We'll find that out tonight.

INCIDENTALLY, the game, actually a glorified practice session, has been sold out for three weeks. At halftime the Rev. Aloysius B. Begley, O.P., Athletic Director, will present a check in excess of $2000 to Mr. Edward J. Hickox, executive secretary of the Hall of Fame.

Mr. Hickox, long-time basketball coach at Springfield, is one of the three original members of the Hall of Fame.

THE GAME will provide at least three individual battles, "naturals" which have made the contest the sellout that it is. Jumbo Jim Hadnot and Long John Thompson, two high-scoring giants, will square off in one. Capt. John Egan will oppose his backcourt partner Vinny Ernst in another. The third one will be Stone vs. the world.

Since there are only seven juniors and seniors on the team, the huge frosh-soph squad has been pared to an equal number. The upperclassmen will be Egan, Hadnot, Tim Moynahan, Rich Holzheimer, Denny Guimares, Dick Leonard, and Tom Follard. They will be opposed by Ernst, Thompson, Stone, Ray Flynn, Carl Spencer, George Zalucki, and Bob Simoni.

WE THINK that Hadnot will outplay Thompson (we'd pick Jimmy over most anyone) and that the junior-senior squad will defeat the frosh and soph, mainly because of Hadnot and Experience.

Hadnot, incidentally, scored 491 points for a 19.64 average this year. Nine more points and he would have averaged 20 ppg. He should eclipse Egan's single-season scoring record in the first NIT game, as he needs only 12 points to pass Johnny's 502 mark.

THE BATTERYMEN of the varsity baseball squad have been working out in the exercise room under the direction of Coach Alex Nahigian for three weeks now. The coach expects to have his full squad outdoors on Hendrickson Field the last week in March.

Nahigian expects to have a good season this year. The schedule definitely favors the Friars because of the large number of home games. The team will be led by senior centerfielder Denny Guimares, who batted .388 last year, but it will be built around a junior core.

RETURNING VETERANS from the Class of '62 include pitchers Mike Trodden, Jim Hodgkins, and Milt Bell, and infielders Al Izz, Nick Mezzanotte, Barry Nicholas, and Joey Evans. The only member of last year's starting infield not returning is Don Mezzanotte, last year's shortstop and captain, who was graduated.

Don's .477 batting average last year was the second highest collegiate bat in the country according to the NCAA yearbook. He recently signed with the San Francisco Giants organization after spending six months in the Army.

Friars End Campaign; Nipped By Crusaders

Despite a fine regular season final record of 20-5, the Providence College Friars cannot lay claim to the New England crown. PC closed the campaign with a fairly impressive 81-59 thumping of the Fairfield Stags and then dropped the big one to Holy Cross's Crusaders 77-72.

Holy Cross, realizing that a victory over New England's number one ranking team was essential for its much desired NIT bid, held off an inspired PC rally in the waning minutes of action to post its five point victory.

Playing without the advantage of a properly functioning scoreboard and clock, both teams put on an extremely ragged display in the first half.

The Friars, a five point underdog according to Dunkel's ratings, held the upper hand in the action throughout a greater portion of the first half and even enjoyed as much as a 7 point lead at one time.

A late spurt by the Crusaders, led by reserve Dave Slattery, sliced the seven point lead to just one at the half 33-32.

Holy Cross wasted no time in the second half in gaining the lead. Ken McClorey, another Cross reserve, and Spencer Thompson netted 5 quickies for a 37-33 H.C. advantage, a lead which was not to be relinquished.

After Hadnot hit a jumper, a key play of the game took place. Flynn picked up his fifth personal foul and in the ensuing protest on the call, a technical foul was called.

Jack Foley swished the three free throws and the home forces still held possession. Slattery made good on a charity toss with 17:35 remaining and H.C. led 41-35.

PC proceeded to feed Hadnot, and Big Jim responded with the Friars' next eleven points, while matching Foley and Pete Connors. Connors and Foley were left free in the corner so Hadnot would be close to the boards and the two Crusaders started firing accurate jump shots.

With the score 72-64, Egan hit on a drive, Ernest made a steal and converted on a layup. Hadnot picked off an in-bounds pass, and after several attempts, finally banked the round-ball in the hoop. At this point, the Crusaders held a slim 72-70 lead.

After an H.C. time-out, the Crusaders' Tim Shea hit on a pair of foul-shots, giving the Cross a 74-70 bulge. Egan then hit on a drive. However, Dave Slattery scored a pair of free-throws, giving the Cross a 76-72 lead with only 24 seconds remaining. Jack Foley closed out the scoring with a free toss, icing Crusaders' claims to the New England Championship and an N.I.T. bid.

On Thursday evening, while Fairfield was containing PC's Jim Hadnot in the early doings, George Zalucki played the finest game of his young varsity team's scoring honors with 18 points.

Showing a lot of hustle, George not only took the scoring honors but also dominated the boards by pulling down 17 rebounds. He inflicted the greatest amount of damage on the Small College N.C.A.A. tourney-bound Stags when he netted 15 points in the first half.

Jim Hadnot, PC's high scorer for the season, managed 17 tallies as he and Ray Flynn worked the dummy play to great advantage.

John Egan hit for 19 points and combined with Flynn and Vin Ernst to put on a display of fine ball handling. The latter winged three passes that had the court enthusiasts buzzing.

Fairfield's Bob Hutter, who made third team All New England selection, copped his team's scoring honors with 18 points.

Friar Sextet Rips Bruins; Keough, McGeough Star

By William Riccitelli

For the Providence College hockey team, this season has seen, in the words of its coach, Tom Eccleston, "a good year." Facing perhaps its most difficult schedule ever in PC hockey history, the Friars posted a respectable 11-9 record in the major league of collegiate hockey.

The team's outstanding achievement came during the Christmas vacation when PC turned in two straight upsets over Army and Dalhousie in the Boston Arena Holiday Tournament. In the finale the skaters showed off their awesome offense capabilities in beating Northeastern 10-3 for the tournament championship.

Co-capt. Joe Keough, all-time record holder from Malden Catholic High, continued his high calibre of play in establishing a new record for total points scored in varsity play for the Friars.

Then too, PC kept its record alive in never losing an opening home game as it defeated Brown 5-1, and then showed the Bruins more of the same in the season finale in a 9-0 victory.

Spotlighting the highlights of the season, PC suffered a serious setback when the formidable John Donahue was injured early in the season against Merrimack, a team which PC defeated twice. PC posted a fine upset victory against Colby and a come-from-behind victory over Yale.

After a fast start, a mid-season slump hurt the Friar's as they dropped games with eastern power-houses, RPI, St. Lawrence, Boston College (twice), and Clarkson. Then the Friars once again picked up steam and closed with a home-stretch drive in earning victories over Army, New Hampshire, Merrimack, and Brown.

The five seniors on the squad, Keough, Co-capt. Jim Wandmacher, Red O'Carin, Dick Ernest, and Larry McMahon played the brand of hockey needed to give PC an 11-9 record. Junior Jack McGeough edged out mate Marsh Tschida for the Most Valuable Player at the Boston Tournament. Tschida may place in the top ten for total points scored in the East.

As for the rest of the juniors, Jim Gegeur was a key skater as he served as a penalty killer, played on the first and second lines, and also helped out on the power play. Joey Albert and Bob O'Connor also played well.

Lou Lamoriello was the leading soph scorer as he came on in the latter part of the season. In the goalie's cage, soph Danny Hornstein gained valuable experience and confidence throughout the season and posted a shutout during his last game against Brown.

Nimrods Win In Section Playoffs

By Paul Martin

The Providence College varsity rifle team won its biggest match of the season Saturday when it finished first in the Southern Division playoffs of the New England College Rifle League at the U. S. Coast Guard Academy at New London. This was a splendid victory for the Friars as they led the field of five teams with a score of 1409. Connecticut finished second with 1402 and was followed by the University of Rhode Island with 1385, Boston University 1376, and Worcester Poly Tech 1367.

The individual team high scorers for the Nimrods were Ed Libucha 284, Bill Lucey 284, Ed Bailly 282, Dick Palazzini 280 and Dick Zigas 279.

The victory assured the team, under the leadership of coach M/Sgt. Ronald W. Orchard, a place in the N.E.C.R.L. championship matches, which are to be held at Boston University next Sunday.

At Boston the Orchardmen will face Northeastern and the Coast Guard from their own Southern Division and Maine, Norwich and MIT from the Northern Division. Last year

On Saturday night the freshman hockey team took on a strong LaSalle Academy six in an exhibition game at the Rhode Island Auditorium. The Friars, who proved to be too much for the Maroon sextet to handle, skated to a decisive 6-1 victory.

Bruce Norwell got his first of two goals for the evening at 2:45 of the opening period on a lightning fast break-away. Bruce got his second goal at the 8:04 mark when he took a nifty pass from Ray F. Mooney and fired the puck by a bewildered LaSalle net-minder. Bernie Pinard tal-

Thompson Dunks 52 In Romp; End Season With 20-2 Slate

With Lng John Thompson scoring an all-time Providence College high total of 52 points, the freshman basketball team defeated the Quonset-Newport Navy All-Stars, 81-71, at the Ladd School in Exeter Monday night.

Thompson hit for 72 per cent in leading the Friars to their 20th victory in 22 games this season. Bill Stein and Bob Simoni were runners up to John in the PC scoring with nine and eight points respectively.

The game was the season finale for the frosh, but Thompson and Simoni, along with Jim Stone, will represent the frosh in tonight's intrasquad game.

The Providence College freshmen basketball team chalked up its 19th victory of the season as they defeated the Holy Cross frosh at the Worcester Memorial Auditorium Saturday evening.

The Friar frosh, who were again lead by John Thompson (27) and Bob Simoni (20), jumped to a early lead and after accumulating a 38-28 heading at intermission won easily. Bill Stein and Jeff Shea collected 10 points apiece for the victims.

Bill Kelly was high man for the HC freshmen with 19 points.
