Emulate Lives Of Mary, Joseph
In Modern Times, Priest Urges

Emulation of the lives of Mary and Joseph is the answer to the problem of modern youth, Fr. Pothier, declared Rev. Thomas R. Peterson, O.P., in his address at the Dorm Weekend's common breakfast last Sunday morning. His talk was entitled 'Shoppers, World, Psychology, and Satellites.'

"On the radio, on television, in newspapers and magazines, you are bombarded with advertisements trying to get you to buy this—buy that, drink this—drink that," said Father Petersen.

A great danger is inherent in this tone in advertising since it degrades man by stressing only the material side of life, condemned the Philosophy Department member. Rather than emphasize the material to the detriment of the spiritual side of our lives, we should "look in God's showcase and buy what's best," he asserted.

First 'Human Satellites' Among Us

"God put them in Mary and Joseph," he continued. "The purpose of the spiritual side of life..." Mary and Joseph were among the first "human satellites;" their whole lives were spent in a similar manner.

The tone of Father Petersen's address was light and humorous, employing paraphrases of advertising jingles to put across many of his points.

4-H can be found for Like Mary and Joseph. Take a tip from those who know. Switch to L & M Live Modern, but live like Mary and Joseph," he concluded.

The Communion breakfast immediately followed a 9:00 AM mass celebrated for the Carrabin Club members and their dates by the Rev. Thomas Mclhren, O.P., chaplain of the College. Aquinas Hall dining room was the scene of the gathering.

Barristers Have Busy Schedule For February

The Providence College debaters are enjoying their first full season of competition in over two years, since the College has participated in eighty-six tournaments this semester. The varsity was victorious in twenty-six of its forty-four contests, while the junior varsity members scored seventeen wins in their thirty-eight debates. Four were non-decision debates.

The predominant achievement in this semester's encounters was the 6-0 score compiled by the Barristers in the first major tournament of the New England area; both the affirmative and the negative teams won three decisions each, and the Barristers Defeated Harvard College in the Argus College tournament October 25-26 for the PC varsity. The team members are: William Brown, Larry Connolly, Bruce Derick, Charles Fennell, and John Hurd.

Assigned For Activity

The varsity members are being assigned for major tournament activity throughout February and March on the basis of individual scores, observed Rev. John D. Skalko, O.P. PC will be represented in the Dartmouth and Brown University on the four successive weekends.

The Barristers will again sponsor the Southeastern New England High School Debate Tournament. James Geary, Jr., '51, has been selected chairman of this year's event, which is to take place on Saturday, April 18. Invitations have all already been mailed to approximately ninety high schools and academies in the New England area. Chairman Geary said that the team would be restricted to twenty schools. College debaters from the southern New England area were expected to return as well as the Barristers. Dartmouth would again serve as judges.

PC will open its second season October 9 when it competes for the first time in the New England High School Debate Tournament. Tournament chairman FrankDOTz, and Charles Carroll were appointed co-chairmen of the event. DOTz, a Barrister, and Carroll, a political science major from the New York area, announced that committees have begun to organize for the event.

Fresh Officers Sworn In

College Takes Part In Defense Education Act Loan Program

Rev. Charles V. Fennell, O.P., Bursar of the College, has announced that Providence College is participating in the National Defense Education Act's Loans to Students in Institutions of Higher Education. A first grant of $34,000 has been awarded the state of Rhode Island by the federal government. This money will be distributed by the state among the various higher education institutions according to the amount of the grant to be allocated to Providence College.

He said, however, that "upon the advice of the College in the act, applications for student loans will be processed by the Committee on Scholarships and Grants-In-Aid.

According to the provisions of the Act, the federal government contributes ninety per cent of the money to a loan fund established by a college. An amount not more than $5,000 per year or $5,000 aggregate can be borrowed from the fund by a student.

List Requirements

To be eligible for a loan, a student must have need of keeping his college education. He must be capable of keeping a good standing in his course of studies and should be enrolled as a full-time student at Providence College. College is given to students who are in science, mathematics, or engineering.

Barile Becomes First Friar To Reach 100 Scoring Mark

By DALE FAULKNER
Sports Editor

Despite the worn-out, currently-lingering Providence College hockey team, Joe Barile is still one heck of a player. In fact, he's PC's greatest. All season he has been associated with the Friars and even received a mention berth on the All-East game. His invaluable centering ability is setting up last year's graduating star at the end of his high school days. Barile was the sketches to a 9-4 victory over the Friars. Barile was still carrying the mail for the forwards in last week's 14-1 win over Hill. He rejoined LaFontaine and Butch Ives, and Lou LaFontaine scored for Providence's fourth and final tally. That was Barile's 100th point of his career and noteworthy tally was a goal and an assist. It seems that Barile's life story is setting up for the Boston Arena's annual Homecoming Tournament the year after his second period scores and fed Providence's fourth and final point. It was another four point produc-...
Science Day...

Yesterday's Annual High School Science Day marks the seventh consecutive year that the Phi-Chi Club, Theta Chapter, Alpha Epsilon Delta and the Albertus Magnus Club helped the exchange student planning and work which must precede the Science Day are to be congratulated and appreciated as much as the success of the event itself.

Each year, several hundred students from throughout the State are extended the invitation to visit the College and inspect the scientific facilities available on campus, as well as to meet students and professors in the sciences to discuss pertinent matter concerning the sciences and the courses of study available at the College in Physics, Biology and Chemistry.

In arranging the affair, the above-named clubs not only perform a great service to the high school students as potential scientists, doctors, physicists, etc., but to the College and to science. It is our hope that this worthy project will be continued by these organizations in the future, and that various concentrations in the Arts may someday follow suit.

Big Brothers....

Probably no campus organization rivals the Youth Guidance Council in service. The members of this organization give selflessly and unselfishly to behalf of some of Rhode Island's less fortunate youth. Officially, each member of the group spends one hour a week with his "little brother" at the New Britain Children's Center; actually, most of the P.C. men spend much more time there.

The contributions of the group in adding to the good reputation of the College in public relations should not go unnoticed.

Thanks to the careful screening of Youth Guidance members, the unfortunate child is given a chance to develop under the wing of a reliable college student who, in many instances, becomes a lifelong friend. "Big brother" and charge can talk things over; they form a mutual bond of friendship; and many times, the college man learns a considerable amount from his charge.

The fine work done by the Youth Guidance group has gone largely unheralded. We move to recognize the Council as the outstanding outside service club of the campus.

A constitution has been submitted to the Student Congress by the Council. Its adoption, however, has not been delayed because, due to a plan to merge the YGC with another organization, some of its members have left the University. Fortunately, it has been delayed due to a plan to merge the YGC with another organization. Moreover, it is not unusual for the students to engage in combat with the faculty, for the faculty to disagree among themselves, for students and students to skirmish with the administration. But in a kangaroo court, the students should not be so loud as to drown out the voice of affection.

These battles, moreover, are a sign that faculty and students are involved in a project that is dear to their hearts. No one is going to be the last to admit that he does not care.

The Student Council firmly supports the constitution of the Youth Guidance Council as submitted to the Congress; we urge the administration to conform to the wishes of the Council, without further delay.

10:20 Mass...

It is encouraging to note the increasing large number of students who make the daily sacrifice of attending 10:20 Mass in Markins Hall. Surely it is a sign of maturity as well as devotion when so large a group decides to dispense with the hot coffee, mail-reading or twenty-minute gab session for so noble a "substitution."

While we commend the many who already make good use of this privilege each day, we heartily urge the remainder of the student body to follow the example which has been set. Attendance at this daily Mass entails certain small sacrifices, of course, but it is immeasurably rewarded.

Sincerely, Repentance

The Confessions

By John J. Hurley

The topic of discussion by the Aquinas Society this evening is "Affection," which is truly one of the foundation stones of the Catholic Religion. The "Confessions" of Aurelius Augustinus, better known to the modern reader as St. Augustine, Father of the Church, has been on the Church's reading list since it was first written about the year 400.

To the modern reader, this fact might not seem so extraordinary, accustomed as he is to sensational tabloid confessions, both in magazines and in many of the so-called "true stories," more immoral and obscene than the life, the better the books seems to sell. But, it should be kept in mind, all these publications deal with confessions of transgressions.

The Confessions of St. Augustine were written not only encouraged but they are required as a simple entity and who wish to be examined by the Church. The editor has been submitted to the Congress; it is rather a much younger age that the Phi-Chi Club. Several New York Philharmonic Rendels 'Les Preludes'

By Donald Preacucini

Liszt: Les Preludes

Liszt was a fabulous personage, in more than one respect. First of all, his house was the center of musical Europe; to his floor came the finest of musicians and composers of all kinds. With remarkable insight and the most extraordinary perception, Liszt conceived and executed a scheme for what he called the ‘National Clubs’, which provided a means of bringing together the best available talents from all over the world. When Liszt died in 1886, the ‘National Clubs’ had been in existence for over twenty years, and the benefit performances in his honor had raised over half a million dollars. The clubs of the nineteenth century had the same purpose as the present-day musical organizations, and the same benefit performances of ‘Les Preludes’ were held in many cities. The clubs are still flourishing, and their activities include the performance of ‘Les Preludes’ on a regular basis.

Dear Editor:

My name is William Lee, and I am writing to express my views on the recent debate regarding the use of social media in the workplace. I believe that while social media can be a useful tool for communication and collaboration, it is important to maintain a professional demeanor in all aspects of one's work.

The recent article in the workplace newsletter highlighted some of the benefits of using social media, such as increased visibility and networking opportunities. However, there are also significant risks associated with its misuse, such as the potential for personal information to be泄露ed, and the negative impact on productivity that can result from excessive use.

In my opinion, it is essential for employees to be aware of these risks and to take steps to ensure that they maintain a professional image online. This could involve setting clear guidelines for social media use, providing training on digital communication, and enforcing policies that prohibit the use of social media during work hours.

I hope that this letter will help to raise awareness of the importance of maintaining a professional presence online, and that it will encourage others to take similar steps to ensure the effectiveness of social media in the workplace.

Sincerely,

William Lee

Work Of Augustine

Aquinas Society Topic

Rev. Joseph S. McCormack, O.P., head of the Theology Department, will be the featured speaker at the meeting of the Aquinas Society this evening at 7:30 in Aquinas Lounge.

The topics for this evening's discussion will be the first ten books of the Confessions of St. Augustine. Rev. John F. Reid, O.P., moderator of the Society, emphasized the importance of this evening's meeting, "as it covers an area and personality which receive relatively little attention at Providence College."

Juniors To Participate In Contest; Ring Fittings Set

The Junior class will participate in the Marlboro Box Contest, the officers of the class of '60 have announced. Robert Lovett of Room 203, Aquinas Hall, has been appointed chairman. All junior class members are urged to save their Marlboro, Parliament, and Philip Morris boxes and to give them to Bob Lovett or any of the class officers.

"If the same spirit is shown this year as was last year when the class won a movie camera, we are sure that we will win the bid," commented Walter Savage, class secretary.

The second and last fitting for class rings will be in the bookstore on Thursday, January 22, from 10:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m.

Urges Exams In May For Aspirant Medical Students

Rev. Charles V. Reichart, O.P., head of the Biology Department, has strongly urged candidates for admission to medical school as early as 1959 to take the Medical College Admission Test in May.

These tests, required of applicants by almost every medical college throughout the country, will be given twice during the current calendar year. Candidates taking the May test, however, will be able to furnish scores to institutions in early fall, when many medical colleges begin the selection of their next entering class.

Candidates may apply to the MCAT on Saturday, May 2, 1959, or on Tuesday, October 31, 1958, at administrations to be held at more than 300 local centers in all parts of the country. The Association of American Medical Colleges recommends that candidates for admission to classes starting in the fall of 1959 take the May test.

The MCAT consists of tests of general scholastic ability, a knowledge of and understanding of modern society, and an achievement test in science. According to the Educational Testing Services, no special preparation other than a review of science subjects is necessary. All questions are of the objective type.

Copies of the Bulletin of Information (with application form bound in), which gives details of registration and administration, as well as sample questions, can be obtained for $1.00 from the Educational Testing Service, 20 Nassau Street, Princeton, New Jersey. Completed applications must reach the ETS office by April 18 and October 17, respectively for the May 2 and October 31 administrations.

College Convention Votes On Loan Alleviation Oath

The requirement of loyalty oaths for students receiving loan assistance was discussed at the meeting of the American Association of Colleges, attended by the Very Rev. Robert J. Slavin, O.P., President of Providence College, on January 7, 8. The convention was held in Kansas City, Missouri.

Held in connection with this conference was the meeting of the American Conference of Deans, attended by Rev. Joseph L. Lennon, O.P., of the College. The theme of these meetings was "The Pursuit of Excellence."

At the meeting of the American Association of Colleges the main point of discussion was a section of the National Defense Education Act of 1958. This section of the Federal law required students receiving loan assistance to sign a Communist-declarer affidavit and to take an oath of allegiance. The 75 members of the Association are taking a mail-ballot, to be completed by February 1 on whether or not to urge Congress to repeal the section. The reason for the mail-ballot was the fact that one-third of the members were present.

Doctor Ross Speaker

Dr. George Ross of the Johns Hopkins University was the major address at a recent meeting of the American Association of Colleges.

Among the other discussions at the A.C.D. were speeches given on the subjects: Obervation of Soviet Higher Education; Preparations for First Class Teachers; and College in the Dimension of Reality.

Dr. George D. Humphrey, president of the University of Wyoming, replaced William W. Whitehouse, head of Albion College, as the main speaker at the convention.
