

Congress Headed By Lovely

Dennis Lovely was elected student body president in Student Council elections held last Wednesday in Alumni Hall, as 1023 students went to the polls.

Lovely, with a 378 count, bested his rivals Jack Sears and Joe Lyons. Lovely is the only Congress veteran among the three candidates.

Bucklin Edges Opponents

The vice-presidential contest was taken by Don Bucklin who edged out opponents Bob Liebowitz and Joe Ciancio by a close 15 vote margin. Bucklin remarked that he would try to aid in the building up of the importance of the Congress and try to see it play an even more important role in school affairs.

The race for the secretarial was predicted to be a close struggle between sophomores Roy Oppel and Dave Duffy. Both men had been returned to the Congress for the second time. Oppel pulled ahead of Duffy 533 to 482.

Healey Over Madden

The contest for the office of treasurer between Dermot Healey and Bernard Madden was taken by Healey with a majority of 580 to 390 votes.

Twelve Hundred Attend 'Girl Crazy' Production

Approximately 1200 enthusiastic theater-goers attended the Pyramid Players' production of George Gershwin's "Girl Crazy" last Friday and Saturday nights.

The play was held at RISD auditorium with over 400 persons in attendance Friday night and more than 700 present on Saturday.

Rev. Robert A. Morris, O.P., moderator of the Players and production supervisor of "Girl Crazy," stated that he was "very pleased with the efforts of the cast and the reactions of the audience. The cast received seven or eight curtain calls both nights and this seems to be to be an indication that the audiences enjoyed fine entertainment."

In regard to each night's production, Fr. Morris asserted that "although Friday night was fine, the performance on Saturday night was even better."

Director Leonard H. Gamache was also very favorable in his comments concerning the play.

Honors Committee Members Named

Dr. Paul van K. Thomson will head a recently appointed committee aimed at formulating a plan of study for the arts honors students in the third and fourth years.

Other committee members will be Rev. Royal J. Gardner, O.P., associate Registrar, and Rev. John F. Hinnebusch, O.P., of the history department.

Dr. Thomson, English instructor and author of the recently published book "Why I Am a Catholic," commented that the committee would work between now and next fall "to develop an extended program for honors students in the arts concentrations which will carry over into the third and fourth year."

Comment on the possible nature of the advanced honors program was declined by Dr. Thomson, who observed that it was for purposes of exploration that the committee was formed.

New Dorm Plans Made For '59 '60

The arrangements of dormitory accommodations for the academic year 1959-60 has been announced by Rev. James M. Murphy, O.P., Dean of Men. All students residing away from home will live on campus in the residence halls.

The seniors will be the first class to room in the newly erected Raymond Hall. The junior class will remain in Stephen Hall, and the sophomores will continue to reside in St. Joseph's.

Group Life For Fresh

According to Father Murphy, the primary reason for adopting this arrangement was to permit the freshmen resident students to live together in order to become indoctrinated into college life as a group.

"Aquinas Hall is the only residence hall large enough to accommodate the freshmen residents, who are expected to number approximately 230."

Desired 'Status Quo'

Also cited as a determining factor in the set-up was the general desire of the classes of '61 and '62 to remain in their present locations. Earlier, stu-

Commencement Ball To Highlight Weekend

Commencement Weekend, the seniors' last social affair, will take place Friday and Saturday, May 29 and 30, according to co-chairmen Len Clingham and Gerry Murphy. Rhodes-on-the-Pawtuxet will be the scene of this Commencement Ball, on Friday night. A reception and cocktail hour will begin at 7:00. Dinner, beginning at 7:30 p.m., will feature a choice of lobster or swordfish. Billy Poole's orchestra will provide dancing until 1:00 a.m.

Saturday will see the Senior Picnic, featuring plenty of refreshments, organized and unorganized recreation, and even a jazz combo to provide music for dancing. The site has not yet been selected.

Concluding the Weekend and activities of the class of '59 as a class, will be the traditional Baccalaureate Mass. Tickets, priced at $9.00, will go on sale this week in the ticket booth in Harkins Hall.

FATHER MURPHY

ents of Stephen Hall submitted a petition in which they requested to be permitted to stay in their present residence next year.

Father Murphy pointed out that it was the policy of the Administration to grant, wherever possible, student requests which promote general welfare and contentment.

Friars Club Selects Members; Walsh Chosen New President

The PC Friars Club, official student hosts of the College, held their annual election of new members and officers on Monday night, May 10, in the cafeteria annex.

Officers for the coming year are headed by Charles Walsh, pre-med student from Brooklyn, N. Y. who was chosen as president. Thomas P. Moore, Madison, N. J., math major, was elected vice-president. The secretary will be James Geary, political science major from Lowell, Mass.

Kennedy Named Treasurer
John F. Kennedy, math major from Croton-on-the-Hudson, New York, was chosen as treasurer. Economics major James Cooney from Providence will be the sergeant-at-arms.

Among the seniors of next year that were chosen as members was Dennis Lovely, newly elected Student Congress president. Also picked were John McPoland and Phil Reilly. Sophomores chosen include David Duffy, Brian A. Mul-laney, and Robert K. Owens.

Six Fresh Picked
Six freshmen were elected members, based on their first year here at the College. Those named include Patrick D'Arcy, Brian Hennessey, James Keris, John R. Manley, William Scanlon, and Matthew Barry.

Members were elected in a descending ratio of 40% seniors, 30% Juniors, 20% sophomores and 10% freshmen.

MEMO FROM THE EDITOR:

Collegiate Potpourri

October was a big month for editorializing last year.

The favorite topic in this sheet that month was the cut (oops!) absence system. Writers here mull'd over a number of alternatives and came up with what the writer thought to be a workable proposal.

In essence the paper's editorials on the subject called for a moderate unlimited absent set-up for honors achieving students.

That suggestion may have come too late to have been installed in the current academic year, but it's probable that it will be ignored next year also.

However, what the paper put forth was intended to be only the students' solution to a problem that they thought existed. Out in Indiana last week, Valparaiso University released the results of its own survey in regard to the same subject.

University officials there polled their faculty and what those educators thought certainly struck a blow against the COWL'S tendencies.

First off, 60% of the faculty thought non-compulsory attendance would be detrimental to students.

. 70% opposed having pilot classes to test non-compulsory attendance in lower division classes.

. 5 out of 7 declined to volunteer their freshman classes for such a trial.

. 5 out of 7 favored pilot studies in upper division courses.

With that showing, it can be said that Valparaiso won't employ the unlimited cut system in the near future. And that will add fuel to the many who would oppose such a system here.

Lengthy Session Marks Final Congress Meeting

By ED FOGERTY

The Student Congress meeting held on May 4 continued for almost three hours as several major points of discussion, reports and resolutions came to the floor.

Issues on the agenda included the ring committee reports, a resolution to add the word "Providence" to the blazer, a question as to whether appointed representatives could run for a Student Congress offici, a resolution to collect dues for social activities from incoming classes, and a motion to establish an award for the outstanding PC member of the year.

Standard Ring Adopted

The ring committee report read by Ed Keegan on the ring standardization was unanimously accepted. All rings will have a standard base and left shank and seal. The other side will be left up to the discretion of the individual class in order to provide school and class distinction.

A resolution introduced by congressman Charles McCreae '61, for the addition in some simple manner of the word "Providence" on the blazer, was defeated in an extremely close contest. The blazer committee had previously reported that it would be inadvisable to make a change at this time. James Baker, the designer of the crest felt that it would destroy the symmetry of the whole device.

Sailing Introduced

McCreae also introduced a resolution recommending to the Administration that the Sailing Club be recognized as a varsity organization. This was passed immediately without discussion.

Congressman McCreae introduced a third bill sharply criticizing the candidacy for Student Congress to elect representatives who were appointed and not elected to said Congress.

In a hectic verbal debate questioning the legality of the election laws it was decided to refer the question to a constitutional amendment next year.

Congress Award Voted

Congressman David Duffy introduced a motion to establish a yearly award to the outstanding congressman of the year. He noted that the purpose of this move was to instill a greater interest in the Congress. This motion was questioned by Congressman Robert Oppel, who feared that it might turn into a political football among the members of the Congress who would do the choosing.

However, Duffy's motion was carried when it was explained that the award would be chosen after April, following the elections, and because of the spirit that it would provide among the members.

Goetz Proposes Tax

Charles Goetz, treasurer, read the financial report and proposed a bill to permit the Student Congress to officially collect a $1.00 fee from each incoming class beginning with the present freshman class.

The purpose behind this bill was to insure collection of what will be the Student Congress's only source of revenue. These social activities fee will exempt classes entering before 1958. The bill provides strict enforcement regulations. Goetz observed that this bill must be passed and heavy penalties imposed if not complied with, before.

Carolan Parents Hear Fr. Gerhard

The Carolan Club hosted the families of resident students at its annual Communion Breakfast on Sunday, May 10. Two hundred ninety-three students and guests attended the affair.

The Very Rev. Robert J. Slavin, O.P. President of the College, celebrated Mass in St. Joseph's Chapel. Fr. Slavin welcomed the guests to the campus, extending special greetings to the mothers in the group, and delivered a sermon on "The Challenge to Christian Truth in Our Day and Age."

Breakfast was served in Alumni Hall Cafeteria following the Mass. Rev. James Murphy, O.P. Dean of Men, acted as toastmaster.

Rector Addresses Group

Rev. John P. Gerhard, O.P., rector of Stephen Hall, was the principal speaker. He discussed the social aspects of living in a Catholic college dormitory, stressing the Catholic educator's interest in the non-academic life of the student.

Applying a quote from Pope John XXIII, Fr. Gerhard stated that the rector's role requires one "to see all, to correct little and to overlook much."

When demonstrating that dorm life is above all a happy life, he recalled several student adventures (or perhaps misadventures) which evoked laughter from his audience.

HISTORY CLUB ELECTS

Elections for the coming school year were held at the final meeting of the History Club on Tuesday, May 5. Elected president for 1959-1960 school year was Joseph G. The vice-president picked was Peter F. Wall, business management major from Medford. John R. Green, accounting major from Brookline, was chosen as secretary. Freshman Edwin Kimball, letters major from Medford, was elected as treasurer.

PERSHING RIFLE PICNIC

The Pershing Rifles will finish up this year's activities with a picnic to be held at the Lincoln Woods next Tuesday afternoon, May 19. Elections were held last Tuesday, May 5, and Lt. David Ellis, a junior from New Haven, Conn., was chosen as Company Commander.

The Spiked Shoe Club will hold its annual Communion Breakfast on May 17, according to Bill Horridge, chairman for the event. Mass will be celebrated at 9:00 a.m. in St. Joseph's Chapel. The breakfast will be held at 10:30 a.m. at Rex's Tavern, 1113 Charles St., North Providence.

PHI CHI OFFICERS

Donald Brown was elected president of the Phi Chi Club last Thursday, May 7, at the Club's annual banquet.

Other officers elected were John Babac, vice-president, and Robert Emma, secretary-treasurer. Elected as officers of the affiliated organization, The American Chemical Association, were Roland Bouffard, chairman; William Cummings, vice-chairman; John Sousa, secretary; and Albert Smith, treasurer.

AQUINAS SOCIETY

The final meeting of the Aquinas Society will be held this evening at 7:30 p.m. in the Guild Room of Alumni Hall. Guest speaker at the meeting will be Mr. Zygmunt J. Friedemann of the political science department, who will lead a discussion on "Nietzsche and His Teachings." Rev. John P. Reid, O.P., moderator of the group, wishes to draw attention to the switch in location.

THINGS GROW TALL OUT IN CALIFORNIA

But Jim Hadnot Likes P C Air

By JOHN J. HURLEY

Jim Hadnot is one person that I look up to. And that's the truth in more ways than one.

The '69' freshman welcomed this interviewer into J-201. After admiring his matchcover collection, I started at an unusual place, his beginning.

James Weldon Hadnot was born in Houston, Texas, on January 15, 1940. At the age of three, Jim moved to Oakland, California, where he has lived with his family ever since. Along with three sisters, there is also one seven year old brother, now only 3'11", who may be on the class of '76 roster.

Greatest Thrill

Though All-California and All-America in his senior year at McClaymonds High, Jimmy's greatest thrill came when he was picked to his first All-Tournament Team in Reading, Calif. He was also MVP. (Naturally!)

Now, influenced by a high school teacher and close friend, Miss Dorothy Hindmarsh, to attain a college degree, Jim looked about for a likely establishment. In his search he was aided by a close friend of the family, Bill Russell, and his teammate Bob Cousy. Bill said that he "would look for a good school."

Bill and Bob concluded that the Friars, with Coach Joe Mullane, and the College as a whole were among the tops, if not the top, in the East. They made a good decision according to the Big Man.

SCHULTZ IS A MANY SPLENDORED THING

Beppo Schultz, boulevardier, raconteur, connoisseur, sportsman, bon vivant, hail fellow well met—in short, typical American college man—smokes today's new Marlboros.

"Why do you smoke today's new Marlboros, hey?" a friend recently asked Beppo Schultz.

"I smoke today's new Marlboros," replied Beppo, looking up from his 2.9 litre L-head Hotchkiss drive double overhead camshaft British sports car, "because they are new."

"New?" said the friend. "What do you mean—new?"

"I mean the flavor's great, the filter's improved, the cigarette is designed for today's easier, breezier living," said Beppo.

"Like this 2.9 litre L-head Hotchkiss drive double overhead camshaft British sports car?" asked the friend.

"Exactly," said Beppo.

"She's a beauty," said the friend, looking admiringly at the car. "How long have you had her?"

"It's a male," said Beppo.

"Sorry," said the friend. "How long have you had him?"

"About a year," said Beppo.

"Have you done a lot of work on him?" asked the friend.

"Oh, have I not?" cried Beppo. "I have replaced the pushrods with a Rootz type supercharger. I have replaced the torque with a synchronesh. I have replaced the tachometer with a double side draft carburetor."

"Gorgeous!" exclaimed the friend.

"I have replaced the hood with a bonnet," said Beppo.

"Land of Goshen!" exclaimed the friend.

"And I have put gloves in the glove compartment," said Beppo.

"My, you have been the busy one," said the friend. "You must be exhausted."

"Maybe a trifle," said Beppo, with a brave little smile.

"Know what I do when I'm tired?" said the friend.

"Light a Marlboro?" ventured Beppo.

"Oh, phaww, you guessed!" said the friend, pouting.

"But it was easy," said Beppo, chuckling kindly. "When the eyelids droop and the musculature sags and the psyche is depleted, what is more natural than to perk up with today's new Marlboro?"

"A great new smoke with better 'makin's and a great new filter!" proclaimed the friend, his young eyes glistening.

"Changed to keep pace with today's changing world!" declared Beppo, whirling his arms in concentric circles. "A cigarette for a sunnier age, an age of greater leisure and more beckoning horizons!"

Now, tired but happy, Beppo and his friend lit Marlboros and smoked for a time in deep, silent contentment. At length the friend spoke. "He certainly is a beauty," he said.

"You mean my 2.9 litre L-head Hotchkiss drive double overhead camshaft British sports car?" asked Beppo.

"Yes," said the friend. "How fast will he go?"

"Well, I don't rightly know," said Beppo. "I can't find the starter."

If you're sticking with the good old non-filter cigarette, you can't do better than Philip Morris—a mild, rich, tasty smoke, made by the people who make Marlboros.

Jazz Work Premier Slated For Newport

The first authentic jazz ballet will be premiered at the Newport Jazz Festival this July. With book by Willy Sandberg, premier dancer of the Royal Stockholm Opera Company and choreography by Sandberg and the two famed jazz dancers, Al Minns and Leon James, the ballet will feature all three plus a female dancer to be selected.

The jazz ballet will be done to the music of the Modern Jazz Quartet's "Fon-tessa," a suite inspired by the Renaissance Commedia dell'arte. The music tells the story of Pierrot, Plantation, Harlequin, and Columbine. In the jazz staging, however, the story becomes that of four hitchhikers waiting by the side of the road for a car.

About nine hundred Fulbright scholarships for graduate study or pre-doctoral research in 27 different countries will be available for the 1960-61 academic year.

In addition to the Fulbright awards, scholarships for study in Latin America under the Inter-American Cultural Convention are also offered for 1960-61. Applications for both the Fulbright and IACC awards will be available on May 1, the Institute of International Education announced today. IIE administrators both of these study programs for the U. S. Awards for study in Ireland are also available under an arrangement similar to the Fulbright program.

General Requirements

General eligibility requirements for both categories of awards are: (1) U. S. citizenship at time of application, (2) a bachelor's degree or its equivalent, (3) knowledge of the language of the host country sufficient to carry out the proposed study project and to communicate with the people of the country, and (4) good health. A good academic record and demonstrated capacity for independent study are also necessary.

Glee Club Names Valky President

Joseph Valky was elected Glee Club President by a sizeable majority as the club selected their officers for the 1959-60 season last Monday evening.

Other officers elected were Joseph Pezullo, vice-president; Gerard Noel, secretary; and John Herrmann, treasurer. Angelo Mendillo was appointed by the executive board as the business manager for the next season.

Applicants will be required to submit a plan of proposed study that can be carried out profitably within the year abroad. Those who plan to take dependents may be asked to submit a statement of their financial ability to provide for their round-trip transportation and maintenance.

Those interested who are now enrolled students at PC should consult the Rev. Royal Gardner, O.P., campus Fulbright adviser.

Breakfast Ends Frosh Weekend

Freshman Weekend terminated May 3 with a Mass in Aquinas Chapel followed by a Communion breakfast in Alumni Hall at which Rev. Frederick M. Jelly, O.P., spoke on "The Real Meaning of True Love."

One hundred sixty-eight couples participated in the activities which commenced on Friday evening with an informal dance in Roger Williams Park Casino. Vice Stephens' eight man band played for the freshmen and their dates.

Queen Crowned

Among the highlights of the festivities was the crowning of the queen of Freshman Weekend at a semi-formal dance in Harkins auditorium. Miss Jan Fleming of Saint Croix, Virgin Islands was selected from five finalists by Arthur G. Boucher, Student Congress President. Karol Zielinski escorted Miss Fleming.

The orchestra of Art Tancredi received enthusiastic praise from many of the weekenders for his performance at the dance.

Equally lauded were the decorations in the auditorium which provided an Oriental setting in keeping with the theme of Freshman Weekend, "Cherry Blossom Time." Mr. Boucher commented that the decorations were the most elaborate of any he could recall seeing in Harkins Hall.

THE COWL Editorials

Piloting the Plots . . .

The Cowl is more than glad to hear that Dr. Paul Thomson is to head a committee which will study the expansion of the Honors Group Program into the junior and senior years. The task of arranging a program for students in various concentrations is hardly an easy one; but we expect that the committee will propose a suitable solution.

The capabilities of Dr. Thomson and the members of the committee he heads are so widely recognized as to defy comment on our part.

The honor students, or "Pilots," as they are popularly called, have more than justified the position of those who believed in the advisability of the Honors Group here at Providence College. The program has been widely successful, and a good deal of the credit for its success must go to those faculty members under whose watchful eyes the program was administered. Once again Providence College has put itself in the educational forefront in inaugurating and supporting a relatively new program, which is now getting more and more support on the college level.

We look forward to the expansion of the honors program, and are convinced that it will be more and more fruitful in years to come. And as it does, the College will take another step forward.

Setting Sail . . .

The Sailing Club of Providence College has just completed a most unique season. It is unique, because for the second year in succession, the club has carried the colors of the Alma Mater with no little success, while at the same time NOT enjoying recognition as a varsity sport.

This lack of recognition has hurt the organization considerably. It has limited the activities of the club, since registration fees are high, and no varsity status means no school money. And perhaps even worse, the club now finds itself in debt for a relatively large sum, even after the club members have been paying their own way all season.

A request for recognition, which can only be given by the Athletic Department, has been tabled for discussion at a later meeting. We urge the members of the department to afford recognition to the sailors, since they have demonstrated that their organization is here to stay. Moreover, they have been highly successful.

Kilmer's Lament . . .

In the middle of the walk which extends along the east side of Harkins Hall, there is a tree as beautiful as it is tall. The cement sidewalk divides at the base of the tree, allowing passage on either side. Obviously, the men who built Harkins and those who constructed the walk took great pains to preserve for us a tree which put them to considerable inconvenience.

Another view of the campus presents a rather unfortunate contrast. We say "unfortunate," because the view is unpleasant, even though perhaps inevitable. The scene, of course, is Raymond Hall. If one drops up there soon, he may see a young maple standing alone, surrounded by gnarled and broken stumps and branches. The construction company has destroyed trees which stood so far from the dorm that it is hardly conceivable how they could possibly be in the way.

Modern builders, it seems, have a passion for destroying trees. And as a token of atonement, it seems, they replace the awesome creations with blacktop, or tiny shrubs and gnarled saplings.

Of course, the world will roll on pretty much the same without the trees in front of the new dorm. But it seems a shame to note that the care of workmen of forty years ago is a lost art. And as Lincoln once said, "I'm too old to cry, but it hurts too much to laugh."

Squeeze Play . . .

We cannot understand why the Student Congress voted down the proposal to hold freshman class elections last. The fact that the frosh CAN have successful elections regardless of the time is beside the point. We should be willing to give them as much help as possible.

It seems that the Congress was swayed by emotional rather than reasonable arguments. Such statements as "Everybody else can do it without help," and "We don't coddle anyone around here," are hardly becoming of Congressmen.

We are disappointed.

WHAT'S PLAYING?

Albee: "Imitation of Life." The excellent presentation of Fannie Hurst's novel continues to be a top-seller for the handkerchief industry. There isn't a dry eye in the place when the curtain falls on Juanita Moore's excellent performance. Tim Hovey continues his captivating sell in co-feature "Money, Women and Guns."

Avon: "Three Strange Loves." Once again Ingmar Bergman has given a new approach to the film industry. Though the plot may be weak, the excellent photography and directional devices were made up for it. The co-feature "A Novel Affair" is a delightful spoof on fiction writers, as only the British know how.

Loew's: "The Journey." Yul Brynner dons a Russian uniform of the new order in contrast with his earlier effort in "The Brothers Karamazov." His portrayal as usual is excellent, though the story seems to suffer from Deborah Kerr. Also playing is "Senior Prom," in honor of the class of '59.

Majestic: "The Black Orchid." Anthony Quinn returns from directing to give a good, chilling performance. He doesn't have to show Sophia Loren anything, however. That old Alfred Hitchcock favorite "To Catch A Chief" is the co-feature. Everybody's sweetheart Grace Kelly is much more attractive to Cary Grant than any old jewels.

Strand: "Alias Jesse James." Jesse James did laughing from watching Bob Hope perform, but apparently most of the movie-viewers are still around. Poor Robert does have his problems, although Rhonda Fleming tries her best to lighten them. "Tokyo After Dark" is the suspenseful co-thriller.

To the Editor:

The Senior class is to be congratulated for its excellent good taste in choosing an iron-work arch for the main entrance to the College.

We agree with the Editor that the "entrance is quite impressive as it stands." We take sharp issue, however, with his statement that "an arch would have entered its best days." The Editor realized the folly of these words, because in the very next sentence he stated, "Even if it would help make the campus a little more attractive . . ." Thus, he realized himself that it would. The fact of the matter is that the gate as it stands now is unfinished.

In conclusion, we again praise the Senior class. They chose well. We hope that the damage which the Editor sought to inflict, might be lessened by the beauty of the arch, and that each succeeding class will donate a link in the chain to bring to conclusion the fine work of the foresighted Class of '59. We cannot, but lament the poor taste of the Editor.

Belial's Bridge 'Power' Ended; Iron And Steel Did The Trick

Next time you drive under an over-the-highway bridge . . . or pause to admire a huge water-spanner . . . or read about a new bridge soon to go up . . . give a thought to the days—only 500 years ago—when most people thought a bridge could be built only with the help of the Devil!

It was believed that the Devil was lord of all the world's waters and his blood boiled every time they were crossed by God's creatures. The saying went that the Devil would destroy any bridge not paid for with a human soul. Whenever Irish peasants crossed a bridge, they used to pray for the soul of the builder because "Sure, and the poor fellow must be roasting in hell!"

Nursery Rhyme Inspiration

"London Bridge is falling down, falling down" was once close to the truth. It never actually collapsed, but it did sag dangerously because too many houses and stores were built on it. The famous bridge, begun in 1176, took 33 years to build and was the center of London social life for 600 years.

Bridges through the ages were thus thought dangerous things at best, and it wasn't until 1779 when the first iron bridge went up in Coalbrookdale, England, that people began to believe the Devil's powers over bridges and their builders might be ended. Iron, they thought, certainly seemed suited to beat the Devil!

A century passed, and iron bridges began to span rivers and canyons all over the world. But then, in the mid-nineteenth century, when the railroad came, the 1870's the increasingly heavy railroad equipment was causing iron bridges to fall apart at the rate of 25 a year. It seemed to be the Devil's counterattack.

By this time engineering knowledge was making rapid advances, and about the same time a new and more economical building material—structural steel—had appeared on the scene. Mr. Satan was to receive a lasting licking!

"Devil's Era" Ends

In 1874 the world's first steel arch bridge, the Eads Bridge, soared across the Mississippi at St. Louis. The "Devil's Era" had ended. Steel had arrived, and the long-span bridge was a challenge of the hour.

"GIRL CRAZY"

Players Stage Slick Production Of Sparkling Gershwin Music

By DONALD PROCACCINI

On May 8 and 9 the Pyramid Players presented George Gershwin's "Girl Crazy" at the RISD Auditorium.

GERSHWIN's musical comedy, almost thirty years old, has lost none of its sparkle and effervescence. Though its story is almost negligible, its dialogue cliché ridden, its music is of such high caliber that it is still an enormous favorite.

The Pyramid Players' production directed by Leonard Gamache and Rev. Robert Morris, O.P., was slick, fast paced and a visual delight. The scenery was colorful and the western costume was appropriately raucy.

However, the lighting, especially of the solo scenes, was rather shoddy. At times the faces of the principals were hardly visible.

ALL THINGS considered, this production merited neither excessive praise or serious paning. The production was superlative, but the performances by some of the actors were not of highest caliber.

The two principals, Robert Aubuchon and Elaine Cairo, both possessing fine stage presence, brought genuine sincerity to their roles, but played them on an unnecessarily small scale. They hardly projected their lines and songs, "Embraceable You," their duet, did not seem indicative of their best work.

As so often happens, some of the "minor" roles totally eclipsed the major ones for brilliance. Liz August, combining remarkable physical attributes, hollowing voice, and an exciting stage presence, reeled her way through the role of "Frisco Kate." Unfortunately, what promised to be her show stopper, "I Got Rhythm," failed to catch fire.

This again was due to lack of projection and some singularly uninspired chorus work.

Arthur Boucher and Bernard Kelly were absolutely hilarious in the comedy roles. Both are quite adept at creating a warm, friendly atmosphere to enhance their considerable flair for humor. They were perfectly cast.

BETTY ARUDA, "Patsy West," deserves highest praise. Her engaging stage presence, her crystalline projection of both the dialogue and the music stamps her as an actress of accomplishment.

Fred Thibodeau was properly menacing as "Lank Saunders" and Angelo Zucolo deftly played his lesser role. Bob Grathwohl was effective and articulate as "Sam Mason" though he tended to be rather heavy handed. A surprise hit of the evening was Al Gellene as the proprietor, who played his bit part with bawdy tongue in cheek.

An otherwise pleasant presentation was almost spoiled by the chorus who garbled and bumbled their way through songs with which they were evidently unfamiliar. Their singing of "Bronco Busters" was almost entirely unintelligible.

The orchestra under the direction of Joseph Conte did a credible job with a murderingly difficult score.

cause the grant from the administration will soon be withdrawn. An individual who does not pay may be prohibited from attending social functions, from holding office, or from joining campus organizations.

This bill was unanimously passed by the congress. The final bill of the night was authored by Charles McAree, who asked for the formation of a committee to discuss the possibility of an A-J-College-Week-end in the fall under the auspices of the SC. "The fall season is conspicuous for its lack of dances, for day students particularly," McAree observed.

Matt Barry, acting freshman representative, introduced a resolution calling for freshman elections in the spring to be held after the other elections to instill spirit and set an example to the freshmen in the future. He felt that this would show them the way, prevent the dangers and pitfalls which plagued this year's freshman class. The bill was defeated on the grounds that it could be called coddling the freshman, and that by then they would already have one election behind them.

Hitting honors were well distributed among the freshmen with Wally Minot the only one to collect two safeties. An eight run rally in the seventh inning clinched the verdict for Providence who led by 2-1 going into that frame.

The day before, Holy Cross College reversed an earlier defeat and snapped a seven game winning streak as they defeated Providence 4-1 behind the four hit pitching of Carl Sezigis.

Jim Hodgkins failed to go the distance for the second time in a row as the Crusader freshmen slammed him for four runs and seven hits in four and two-thirds innings. Mitt Bell took over for the slim left-hander in the fifth inning and limited the Cross to one hit the rest of the game. It was the second consecutive game that Bell had taken over for Hodgkins and shut out the opposition. Nanan, Izi and Joe Murray were the only Friars to hit safely off Sezigis, with Nanan collecting two hits in as many official trips.

CARROLL'S COMMENTS

By JIM CARROLL

After dropping their eleventh consecutive ballgame, Providence College's something to look forward three more games remaining

Last Saturday, Coach Bob Murray's club staved off every attempt by the University of Rhode Island to hand them the ball game and managed to keep their losing streak alive, but only after a strenuous thirteen inning struggle.

It seems that the Friars are having an extremely difficult time combining effective pitching and satisfactory hitting in the same ballgame. When the hitters hit and the pitchers don't pitch and eleventh consecutive ballgame, Providence College's something to look forward to anyway. There are only on the schedule.

when the pitchers pitch, the hitters fail to hit. Hendricksen Field was the sight of several fine pitching performances during the last two weeks. A week ago, Providence's Jim Brennan hooked up with Bob Defino of Holy Cross in a pitching duel that attracted the largest crowd of the year to Hendricksen.

Brennan was the losing hurler in the 4-1 decision but nevertheless contributed nine innings of stout pitching. The sophomore righthander was bested by the Crusader's Defino who limited PC to only four hits. Despite the loss, the game was one of the best team efforts of the long and dismal season.

Earlier in the week, freshman Mike Trodden unfurled a masterful handuffing of the Quonset Fliers as he set the servicemen down for nine innings without a single hit. Trodden spiced his no-hit effort by injecting fifteen strikeouts and giving up only one base on balls.

Trodden, who last year starred for Tolman High while winning All-State honors, allowed only two men to reach base in the game. The feat was even more worthwhile when one considers that for all nine innings Trodden was working without any runs to back him up. The Providence Frosh won the game 1-0 by scoring in the bottom of the ninth.

As of late, there has been quite a bit of murmuring going on here at PC concerning the possible beginning of a soccer team. However, nothing constructive has been done to hasten the appearance of this sport on the athletic agenda. Without this first definite step, nothing can develop toward the attainment of such a goal.

The baseball season of Providence College comes to a weary end this week as the Friars face three opponents at home at Hendricksen Field.

PC Succumbs As Usual, Extends Streak To Eleven

An exciting baseball game turned into a comedy of errors as the Rams of the University of Rhode Island emerged with a thirteen inning 4-3 win over the hapless varsity baseball forces of Coach Bob Murray at Meade Field in Kingston last Saturday.

In their previous four outings, the diamondmen had been shaded 8-7 by Northeastern, edged 5-4 by Boston College, defeated 4-1 by Holy Cross, and trounced 16-2 by Boston University. With two out in the last of the 12th, only one runner on base, ahead by a score of 3-1, it appeared that victory was imminent and the PC losing streak would end at ten.

URI Ties Score

The URI batter, a fellow by the name of Bob Peltier, lashed a long drive to right center. The runner scored, but Peltier who was into third safely, didn't stop. He should have been deader than the proverbial doornail at the plate, but the throw from third to the plate was a few feet too high. The game was under way and the comedy was underway.

The second Rhode Island out of the 13th set the stage for Act II. A 375 foot home run could have ended the game nicely, but it didn't. Tony Rao, who incidentally pitched 13 innings of fine baseball for the Rams en route to victory, was hit by a pitched ball. Then a pop-up to the infield could have sent the game into the 14th inning, but fourth and seventh innings of a game played at BU field. In the other six innings in which the Friars came to the plate they managed to score 1, 3, 5, 2, 1, and 4 runs to amass a total which would have done credit to the Bostonians' grid forces last fall.

Weak Hitting

Meanwhile, in the Providence half of the innings, runners seemed to have difficulties getting beyond first base. PC scored their only two runs of the game in the ninth inning. Don Mezzanotte and Red Maloney opened the inning with back-to-back singles and an error allowed Joe Cafarella to reach first, loading the bases.

instead it put runners in first and second. Here, a base hit could have ended the game nicely, but it didn't. It took two wild pitches to bring down the final curtain on the 11th loss of the baseball season. In a row, too.

Jim Riordan and Denny Guimares had combined to give the Friars the lead in the top of the 12th. Riordan led off with a triple and, after Warren Howe drew a base on balls, Guimares brought Riordan across the plate with a well executed squeeze play. A wind-blown triple by Bob Plante resulted in another run, giving Providence a 3-1 lead.

A day earlier, the Friars shut out Boston University in the failure to produce runs resulted in a loss for pitcher Jim Brennan who pitched an outstanding game. The only three runs which the Cross scored were the result of one bad pitch to Leonard.

Sailors Protest Defeat As Brown Takes Verdict

Sailing in championship competition, Providence College's sailing team was defeated by Brown University in a protested race held at the R. I. Yacht Club Sunday.

Commodore Gene Healey said Monday night that a protest, entered by Providence skipper Ben Healey, had been thrown out by the race committee on a decision reached Sunday evening. The protest was based on the claim that Brown had hit the starting marker in one of the races.

Brown won the championship by edging Providence 33 to 29. Other scores of participating schools were Rhode Island School of Design's 27 point total and the 23 points scored by the University of Rhode Island. In the event of a reversal of the protest decision by the NFISA, Providence will retain its championship, won last fall, by the count of 30 to 29.

Skippering the two PC dinghies were Ben Healey and Paul Hackett. Tom Sheridan manned Healey's boat while John Dunn filled out Hackett's crew.

Meeting Scheduled

Commodore Healey announced that a meeting of all interested in the sailing club and its activities would be held on May 20 in Harkins Hall, Room 304, at 7:00 p.m. Healey stated that he felt a "large turnout at this meeting could be a decisive factor" in the club's determined drive toward varsity recognition and financial backing on the part of college officials. Healey added that the public was cordially invited to this meeting.

Grenier succeeds Jim Flanagan, who captained the team to their successful season this year.

While announcing the results of the election, Orchard also released the information that the Rifle team's annual outing will be held this Saturday. The outing will be held in the afternoon on the picnic grounds in Lincoln Woods.

In connection with the Woonsocket annual Grad celebration, a New England AAU championship road race will be held on Sunday, May 17.

Running for PC in this road event will be Bob Bamberger, speedster from Portsmouth, New Hampshire. He will finish, along with the rest of the entries, with two and one-half laps on the thirteen-sixteenths of a mile Lincoln track.

In a previous appearance last Saturday, May 9, Bamberger finished a strong fourth in the second annual Chitopee Falls 12 1/2 mile road race. FROSH SHOW 9-2 RECORD

Trodden Leads Pitching Stars

Nichols Junior College handed the Providence College freshman baseball team its second loss of the season Monday as they trounced the Frosh 14-4 in a Hendriksen Field encounter.

Nichols found Milt Bell, previously undefeated right-hander, an easy touch and scored six runs in the first inning. Bell was relieved without retiring a batter and all six runs were charged to him.

Bell's relievers, George Frese and Tom Fay, also proved to be no problem for the Nichols batsmen as they pounded out seventeen hits and collected eight walks.

Evans Big Hitter

For Providence, Joe Evans did most of the hitting as he belted out a double, triple and a single in five trips and also batted in the first PC run. Al Izzu, slick fielding first baseman, had two hits and knocked in two runs. Izzu reached base every time he went to bat on two hits, a walk and an error.

Last Saturday, Izzu belted a game winning, three run homer in the eighth inning to give the Frosh a 6-3 victory over the University of Rhode Island and enabled Mike Trodden to pick up his third victory of the year. Izzu collected two hits and contributed an unassisted double play as well as an assist on two other double plays in the well played encounter. He scored the first PC run in the fifth inning, coming across on Al Nani's single.
