Committee Announces 30 Seniors Nominated For '62 "Who's Who"

Providence College announced today the names of thirty seniors to be listed in the 1961-62 publication of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges."

These students recognized are selected from approximately 750 colleges and universities in

T. Reilly, Charles H. Riley, Jr., Robert C. Sauer, Marshall Tschida, Frank P. Venice.

The students nominated were chosen by a committee composed of the dean of discipline, the moderator of the senior class, the president of the Carolan Club, and the president of the Student Congress.

Fr. Quirk Denounces Ultra-Conservatives At Meeting Sunday

The Rev. Charles B. Quirk, O.P., launched a critical attack Sunday evening at the Thomistic Institute of Industrial Relations meeting against those Catholics, both clerical and lay, who subscribe to the extreme conservative economic policies advocated by Senator Barry Goldwater and the John Birch Society.

Father Quirk, the chairman of the economics department at the College, told the audience that the policies subscribed to by these groups and their followers fail to meet the requirements of Social Justice

Catholic Biblical Association Names Fr. Collins Consultor

The October issue of the "Catholic Biblical Quarterly" announced the election of Father Thomas Aquinas Collins, O.P., of the Providence College Theology faculty, as a Consultor of the Catholic Biblical Association of America.

Father Collins, a past president of the CBA, will serve for two years, along with his three fellow-consultors: the Most Reverend John F. Whealon, Auxiliary Bishop of Cleveland; the Right Reverend Monsignor Patrick W. Skeehan, of the Catholic University of America; the Right Reverend Monsignor Matthew P. Stapleton, Rector of St. John's Seminary, Brighton, Mass.

Club Plans Dance

The Blackstone Valley Club held a meeting on Monday, October 30, 1961, at the Loggia Roma Hall. Joe Keough, club president, announced plans for a dance to be held on November 22, 1961.

The dance will be called "The Turkey Trot." A raffle is being sponsored by the club and will feature along with a 20 pound turkey, dinners for two at the Loggia Roma's Capri Room. The raffle will be held the night of the dance.

Student Politicians Stymied:

Congress Cancels Sale of ID Cards

By Sullivan and Conn

The Student Identification Card Committee has stopped issuing identification cards for the present year. (See "Memo" on Page 2.)

Joseph Hall, president of the Student Congress, summed up the reason for the discontinuance of the cards: "We have no right whatsoever to collect a $2 fee for these cards which, at this point, have no use whatsoever."

Hall commented further that the reason for this action was the lack of communication between the Congress and the various departments who were toment of student fees and the be served by the cards.

The Athletic Department also needed cards; these cards were necessary for the issuing of equipment to students and athletic teams.

The need for library cards at the beginning of the year requires no explanation.

The final evaluation of the Congress' efforts to inaugurate these identification cards is stated by Hall as "a lot of work and no results."

One of the most discouraging factors of this failure is the complete loss of about $700 by the Student Congress, which represents its investment in these cards.

Hall, commenting on this aspect of the problem, remarked: "The role of student government will be seriously hampered by the fact that we now have very little working capital."

Although the plans for distribution of the cards have been permanently cancelled for this year, members of the Congress are still hopeful of renewing the project next year.

PC Conservative Club

A new student group—the Conservative Club—is being formed at Providence College for the purpose of advancing conservative thought on the PC campus.

An informal organizational meeting which thirteen students attended was held on October 31. At this meeting a temporary chairman was elected, a constitutional committee appointed, and a statement of purpose drawn up.

On November 2 a constitution was submitted to the Student Congress Legislative Committee and was approved by the Student Congress at its meeting that evening. Approval of the

Soph. Class President Announces Bids for Sophomore Hop Limited

The sophomore class has announced plans for a dance to be held Friday evening, November 17th, at the Midville Country Club.

Tickets for the "Sophomore Hop" will go on sale tomorrow in Alumni Hall at the 10:20 break and in the Raymond Hall dining room from 5:00 to 6:00 p.m. The bid of $4.00 per couple includes the buffet which will be served from 8:00 to 9:00 p.m. at the country club.

Fred Lombardi, sophomore class president, in announcing the dance, anticipated a strong turnout. "It is hoped that this dance will start the sophomore class off on the right foot socially," said Lombardi.

"Because of the crowded PC social calendar and lack of room at the Midville Country Club, the bids will be limited to the first 250 couples," added Lombardi.

Music for the "Sophomore Hop" will be provided by the Paul Martin Orchestra. Dancing begins at 9:30 p.m. and lasts until 12:30 p.m. Coffee will also be served at the dance.

The Midville Country Club is located on Wakefield Street, off Providence Street in West Warwick, R. I.

MEMO FROM THE EDITOR:

Students, worry no more! The SC has scrapped the I.D. cards for this year.

As this paper goes to press, the distribution of the cards has been halted. Students in charge of distribution have stopped pacing about the campus trying to get some department head to say that he will require students to show the cards.

As I understand the situation, the present dilemma could have been avoided if the moderator of the Student Council, the President of the Student Congress and the Chairman of the I.D. Committee had the foresight to anticipate the problems that have arisen and not have had the cards made. They must have known the project was doomed when a Bursar's card, Athletic Department card, Student Activity book, and library card appeared during the first week of school.

We praise the action of the Student Congress in cancelling further processing of the cards, yet, at the same time, are disturbed by the fact that the Student Congress stands to lose as much as 700 dollars.

It seems strange that the moderator of the Student Congress, who apparently backed the original idea, would not even use the I.D. to replace the Student Activity Book.

What the solution to the problem will be, we do not know, and hesitate to even suggest. As one senior sage remarked: "Perhaps the Dean of Discipline, who seems to have gotten the Student Congress into the present mess, could get the Congress out of the red by deeming it necessary for students to present their cards while paying disciplinary fines."

I do hope, however, that this action will not permanently cancel the project for future years. Now is the time to begin work on an all-inclusive I.D. for next year.

Conservative Club . . .

The statement of purpose of the club reads as follows: "The Providence College Conservative Club is a non-partisan, educational organization dedicated to advancing among college students the conservative philosophy of individual liberty, economic freedom, private property, limited government, and the spiritual and moral values that underlie this philosophy."

In the future the club hopes to carry on discussions on such topics as foreign policy, economics, political theory, education and civil rights. Speakers, representing the conservative viewpoint on these topics will be engaged, and films, recordings, books and pamphlets will be obtained.

A public organizational meeting of the Conservative Club will be held on a date yet to be chosen following the quarterly exams. Further information concerning the club can be obtained from Raymond LaJeunesse, temporary chairman, in Room 230, Aquinas Hall.

Alumni Club Holds PC Hockey Match

The Mal Brown Club, one of PC's Alumni organizations, announced this week that it is sponsoring the PC-Rutgers hockey game, to be played at the Rhode Island Auditorium on Wednesday evening, November 29.

Special student tickets are already on sale at the Athletic Office, and are available for only $5.00. This advanced student sale will continue through next Monday, after which the tickets will also be sold to the general public.

As a further incentive, those students who purchase tickets will be enabled to attend a special basketball clinic, which will be conducted in Alumni Hall on Sunday evening, November 19.

Paul Gentile, chairman of the project, pointed out that the club has two purposes in sponsoring this game. The first is to promote a more active interest in hockey among PC students. The second is to build up the Mal Brown Scholarship Fund, which will be used in the future to aid in the education of "student athletes" in all sports.

Phi-Chi Club Hears Kennedy

"A Realist Philosophy of Mathematics" was the topic of the lecture given by Professor Hubert C. Kennedy at the meeting of the Phi Chi Club held last Monday.

Dr. Kennedy, new mathematics professor in the NIH program, is a graduate of St. Louis University and studied in Milan under the direction of two disciples of the late, noted mathematician, Giuseppe Peano.

The lecture dealt with the nature of mathematics, especially as exposed by Professor Maritain. After admitting that there were actually several types of mathematics, Dr. Kennedy explained that what is considered "Pure" mathematics is concerned with constructs created by rational men. He said that pure mathematics would best be classified as a "game" rather than as an art or a science.

The lecture was preceded by a brief business meeting. Refreshments were served following the talk.

More Club to Hear Lecture on Crime

The next meeting of the St. Thomas More Club will be held on Wednesday, November 8, in the Guild Room of Alumni Hall. The business meeting begins at 7:30 p.m. At 8 p.m., Dr. Harold Harrison, Asst. Director of the University of R. I. Laboratory Scientific Criminal Investigation, will address the club. Title of his talk: "Scientific Evidence and Its Presentation." The speaker will bring a screen and use his slides.

All students of the college are invited.

Hoi polloi (pronounced hoi poloi in English) is a Greek phrase in Latin letters. It literally means "the man" - applied to the masses, the multitude, the great majority.

Redmond Selected As Cadet Colonel By ROTC Dept.

The ROTC Department of Providence College last week announced the selection of senior Lawrence A. Redmond as Cadet Colonel of the college's brigade. The top-ranking cadet officially assumed his new duties at the brigade's weekly drill yesterday.

Redmond's appointment to the coveted position was determined on the basis of two requirements. The first is academic achievement, and in this area he has led his class for the past three years, placing high on the Dean's List each year.

The other requisite is performance at summer camp. This past summer Redmond was designated second out of the more than 1100 cadets who took part in the rigorous six-week exercise, being once named "Cadet-of-the-Week."

The new Cadet Colonel is simultaneously holding the position of Pershing Rifles Commander, to which he was elected by the members of Company K-12 last spring.

Redmond's distinctions include his selection as Distinguished Military Student, his membership in the Cadet Officers' Honor Club, and his reception of both the Superior Cadet Award and the Alumni Academic Trophy for three consecutive years. His nomination to PC's "Who's Who" was announced this week.

Redmond, who lives in Columbus, Ohio, is a History major, and was, until this year, a member of the Honors Course. He plans to enter the Army's Infantry branch immediately after graduation. Following his tour of duty he intends to do graduate work in history, preferably at Harvard.

NFCCS Conference

Held at N.Y. College

The annual Human Relations Conference of the Social Affairs Secretariat of the National Federation of Catholic College Students was held this past weekend at Manhattanville College in Purchase, New York.

The conference, which was held Friday evening and Saturday, centered upon the problems of desegregation and integration, and also touched upon the problems of migrant labor, Puerto Rican immigration and parish race relations.

Attending the conference from Providence College were Peter Praetz, newly-appointed senior delegate; Paul O'Herron, junior delegate; Francis Murphy, Tom Pyter, and Mike Sullivan.

The keynote address was given by Herbert Wright, Youth Secretary of the National Federation of Catholic College Students.

George C. Hunton, co-founder of the Catholic Interracial Council, gave a progress report on the activities of the Council. Dr. Robert Johnson, a Professor at New York University and New York Consultant on race relations, addressed the conference on the "American Youth in Action."

On Saturday, Dr. John J. O'Connor, professor at Georgetown University, spoke on "International Race Relations." John B. Sullivan, Director of Education of the New York State Commission Against Discrimination, and Ogden Reed, Commissioner of SCAD, spoke on "Social Action Techniques."

A Mass for interracial justice was celebrated by Rev. John LaFarge, S.J. Saturday afternoon, Michael Munk, Research Associate for the National Sharecroppers Fund, addressed the conference on the migrant worker problem. Roger Shaw, Youth Director for the National Conference of Christians and Jews, followed Munk and spoke on the Puerto Rican immigration situation.

Rev. Joseph P. Schuyler, S.J., professor of sociology at Fordham University, was the final speaker of the conference, and his topic was "Parish Race Relations."

He received his degree from the University of Michigan in 1941. He has been associated with M.I.T. for the past fifteen years. He has lectured at Notre Dame, Colgate, Michigan, and Adelphi in this country and at Zurich, Basle, and Berne in Switzerland.

Carlson Clarifies Cuban Concept; Pros and Cons Voiced on Castro

What has been happening in Cuba during the past few years has been largely misunderstood and misinterpreted, John Roy Carlson, a world traveler, author, and lecturer told his audience during a speech he delivered in Albertus Magnus Hall on Tuesday evening, October 31.

In giving the pro and con about Castro, Carlson declared that he (Castro) has done some good by redistributing land, but that he has replaced a right-wing dictatorship with a more insidious communistic dictatorship.

In answer to a question after his speech Carlson disclosed that he had become acquainted with a priest who had been Castro's father-confessor and one of his teachers in high school.

The priest told him, Carlson said, that Castro and his brother were illegitimate. Their mother was a servant in their

Senior Council Holds Meeting

At the initial meeting of the Senior Class Council the members were addressed by class president J. Clement Cicilline. He explained the position of the Class Council in the disposition of the class politic by saying that its members served as an advisory board to the class officers. He did however, remind them that final acceptance from this "idea pool" would be subject to the approval of the class officers and the class moderator, W. D. Kane, O.P.

"Charles Reilly, the chairman of the Council will serve as a liaison man between the Council and the class officers," Cicilline said. "The chairman will preside over future Council meetings, which will be called at the discretion of the class officers and the chairman."

Topics of discussion were: the class gift, Commencement Week program, skit night, Cap and Gown Dance, disposition of funds in the class treasury, and a forum for seniors regarding fellowships available to them.

Father Lennon To Speak on 'Teen' Problems

The Rev. Joseph L. Lennon, O.P., dean of studies at Providence College, will speak Thursday at 7:45 p.m. at an open meeting of the Providence Council of Parents and Teachers. The meeting will be held at the Esek Hopkins Junior High School on Charles Street. A question-and-answer period will follow Father Lennon's talk. The program is the third in a series on the "Art of Growing Up" presented by the council.

The recipient of the American Chemical Society Award in Pure Chemistry for 1951, he was also honored by the American Chemical Society for Creative Work in Synthetic Organic Chemistry.

McIntyre Wins Lead in Play

Dave McIntyre, a freshman, will portray Erwin Trowbridge, the meek versifier of Ozone Heights who has the uncanny ability to predict winning horses, in the Pyramid Players production of "Three Men on a Horse" to be staged December 7 and 8.

McIntyre as Erwin is driven from his happy home by his loving, but free-spending, wife Audrey, played by Nancy White, and his arrogant brother-in-law Clarence, played by Mike Sullivan.

As the story of the greeting-card poet progresses, he falls into the company of three bookies played by Angie Zuccolo, Ed Byrnes, and Mike Castelluccio.

Carolyn Frantantuono, another "My Three Angels" veteran, will play the part of Mabel, the ex-Follies star and the female companion of the three bookies.

Norm Querecto, the only other trooper in the cast, will take on the role of Mr. J. G. Carver, head of the greeting card concern for which Erwin works.

Other members of the cast, who will be appearing in their first college production, are Tom Minicucci as Harry the bartender, Mike Thimblin as Al the photographer, Nancy O'Rourke as Gloria the newspaper columnist, and Mike Barrett as Mo the elevator boy.

father's household. Because of the resultant hostility toward their father's real wife Castro and his brother were sent away to high school and kept there. They never went home, even at Christmas, and their parents never visited them.

The priest characterized Castro as being a brilliant student in high school, and as being extremely devout, almost overzealous in his religious belief at that time.

Castro was a jostling butt of his classmates' jokes the priest told Carlson. Castro also showed a violent temper. He once bought a new suit for a dance at school. When the other students ridiculed the suit, he proceeded to tear it to pieces.

Rites Are Held For Fr. Molloy

Two bishops, more than 100 priests and religious, delegations of nuns, students and alumni of Providence College and federal, state, and city officials paid final tribute to the late Rev. John J. Molloy, O.P., at his funeral last Friday.

Bishop McVinney celebrated a solemn Pontifical Mass of requiem in St. Pius Church. Father Molloy, chairman of the English department of the College and a professor here for 12 years, died last Tuesday morning in Our Lady of Fatima Hospital after several months' illness.

In his eulogy, Father Joseph D. Madden, O.P., recalled that Father Molloy had been a priest and professor for more than 23 years. "He was a priest in the true sense of the word," Father Madden added.

The Mass was sung by the Dominican Father's choir and the Providence College Glee Club.

Members of the Friars Club of the College formed a guard of honor at the church and also served as ushers.

The 108 priests present at the Mass were headed by Bishop Thomas J. Wade, S.M., D.D., of the Solomon Islands. Also in attendance were Very Rev. William D. Marrin, O.P., Provincial of St. Joseph's Province, and Very Rev. Patrick J. Conaty, O.P., Very Rev. Henry McGinley, O.P., Very Rev. Charles H. McKenna, O.P., and Very Rev. Kenneth C. Sullivan, O.P., pastor of St. Pius Church.

About 400 students lined the path of the procession from the Grotto to the Providence College Cemetery to pay their last respects to Father Molloy. Rev. Ernest A. Hogan, O.P., assisted by Very Rev. Vincent C. Dorc,

O.P., and Rev. Thomas H. McBrien, O.P., conducted the committal service.

Bearers were the Rev. Fathers C. P. Detting, W. D. Dane,

REV. JOHN J. MOLLOY, O.P.

W. J. Heath, T. R. Peterson, T. L. Fallon and F. M. Jelly.

Father Molloy was a native of New York City. He attended schools in that city and was graduated from Fordham University and the Catholic University of Washington, D. C., where he received the degree of doctor of philosophy. He was ordained to the priesthood in the Dominican Order in 1938 at Washington.

Father Molloy was a third degree member of the Knights of Columbus and was also moderator of the Alembic.

Mixer Mishmash . . .

The Junior Class showed progress in the formation of a new idea for "mixers" last Sunday afternoon. Despite the fact that less than a third of the juniors attended, the mixer was a social, if not a financial success.

The social chairman of the Student Congress might look to the juniors for a few ideas toward improving the Friday night mixers which seem to have degenerated again into mass chaos.

We suggest that Mr. McCarthy take whatever measures are necessary to raise the level of activities on Friday evenings. One suggestion is to limit the mixers solely to those who can present college identification.

Whatever the outcome, the fact remains that unless a drastic revision is made shortly, no college students will bother coming to PC. The number of girls' colleges sending representatives is now dwindling steadily week by week.

Flippant Faculty . . .

In a few instances on this campus, the students seem to possess more wisdom than the faculty. We refer here to the occasions when classrooms resound with a hearty roar as the professor makes derogatory remarks about a particular genre—be it Jesuits or Republicans.

The professors here in question only lower themselves in the estimation of their students when they give vent to childish or seemingly unnecessary biases or prejudices by poking fun or hurling vehement criticisms at particular groups of people.

And strangely enough the same people who feel free to criticize, when criticism is both unnecessary and unjust, are the first to complain when barbs are hurled personally at them through a medium such as The Cowl.

Conservative Ideals . . .

The organization of a Conservative Club at PC appears to augur well for the intellectual life of the campus. The political discussion group is the first of its kind at PC and is an excellent step toward eliminating the apathy for which our students have become notorious in the past few years.

Many will disagree with the views of this organization. Nevertheless, we hope that it will receive support from the students, so that others might be encouraged to form similar clubs. In this way, we feel that an atmosphere of healthy political debate can be created on the campus.

Poor Turnout . . .

The attendance of the student body at the funeral of Father Molloy last Friday morning was extremely poor. A conservative estimate is that less than 400 students lined the drive leading to the College Cemetery. Considerably fewer attended the Requiem Mass at St. Pius Church.

Here again is evidence of the general decline in student participation on this campus. For basketball, yes! A queue will form down the stairs and around the corner in Alumni Hall for tickets. But in showing respect for a man who has taught countless students here for over a decade, the response is somewhat less.

The attitude of the lay faculty must also be mentioned. Relatively few members of this group appeared to pay their final tribute to a fellow member of the faculty.

Pope John Tells Press To Strive For Unity

Pope John XXIII told members of the foreign press corps in Italy at a special audience in the Vatican that journalism is a profession that in telling the truth serves as a means of "working for universal brotherhood."

Speaking in French to journalists from 39 countries, including the Soviet Union, Poland and Yugoslavia, the pontiff admonished them never "to betray or falsify the truth" because lies divide men while truth brings them together.

HUSBANDS, ANYONE?

It has been alleged that coeds go to college for the sole purpose of finding husbands. This is, of course, an infamous canard, and I give fair warning that, small and spongy as I am, anybody who says such a dastardly thing when I am around had better be prepared for a sound thrashing!

Girls go to college for precisely the same reasons as men do: to broaden their horizons, to lengthen their vistas, to drink at the fount of wisdom. But, if, by pure chance, while a girl is engaged in these meritorious pursuits, a likely looking husband should pop into view, why, what's wrong with that? Eh? What's wrong with that?

The question now arises, what should a girl look for in a husband. A great deal has been written on this subject. Some say character is most important, some say background, some say appearance, some say education. All are wrong.

The most important thing—bar none—in a husband is health. Though he be handsome as Apollo and rich as Midas, what good is he if he just lays around all day accumulating bedsores?

The very first thing to do upon meeting a man is to make sure he is sound of wind and limb. Before he has a chance to sweet-talk you, slap a thermometer in his mouth, roll back his eyelids, yank out his tongue, rap his patella, palpate his thorax, ask him to straighten out a horseshoe with his teeth. If he fails these simple tests, phone for an ambulance and go on to the next prospect.

If, however, he turns out to be physically fit, proceed to the second most important requirement in a husband. I refer to a sense of humor.

A man who can't take a joke is a man to be avoided. There are several simple tests to find out whether your prospect can take a joke or not. You can, for example, slash his tires. Or burn his "Mad" comics. Or steal his switchblade. Or turn loose his pet raccoon. Or shave his head.

After each of these good-natured pranks, laugh gaily and shout "April Fool! If he replies, "But this is February nineteenth," or something equally churlish, cross him off your list and give thanks you found out in time.

But if he laughs silverly and calls you "Little Mixn'" put him to the next test. Find out whether he is kindly.

What should a girl look for in a husband?

The quickest way to ascertain his kindness is, of course, to look at the cigarette he smokes. Is it mild? Is it elegant? Is it humane? Does it minister tenderly to the psyche? Does it cuddle the synapses? Is it a good companion? Is it genial? Is it bright and friendly and filtered and full of dulcet pleasure from cockerun till the heart of darkness?

Is it, in short, Marlboro?

If Marlboro it be, then clasp the man to your bosom with hoops of steel, for you may be sure that he is kindly as a summer breeze, kindly as a mother's kiss, kindly to his very marrow.

And now, having found a man who is kindly and healthy and blessed with a sense of humor, the only thing that remains is to make sure he will always earn a handsome living. That, fortunately, is easy. Just enroll him in engineering.

Brown Lauds Atlantic Convention At Recent History Club Meeting

Barry Brown of the "Providence Journal" editorial staff, addressed the first meeting of the Johannine Society Thursday, October 26, in the Guild Room of Alumni Hall.

Mr. Brown, author of the column, "The World Around Us," discussed the United Nations and NATO.

He informed the large audience of a significant current event which has as yet received very little publicity. The event he spoke of was the Atlantic Convention movement in London.

The Atlantic Convention is a unique effort to make NATO into a federal union. The participation of the United States in the movement was authorized by Congress last year.

Brown cautioned against deceiving ourselves in regard to the effectiveness of the United Nations as a supra-national entity from which to develop a world community. Rather, he suggested that regional supra-nationalism might be achieved by an organization such as the proposed Atlantic Convention.

Friars Club

The Friars Club held its first Mass and Communion breakfast on Sunday, October 29.

The Reverend Vincent C. Dore, O.P., President of the College, celebrated the mass in Aquinas Hall Chapel and addressed the club members after the breakfast in the Alumni Hall Annex.

Father Dore urged the students to prepare themselves for their role in a crisis-ridden society through a study of theology. The President indicated that Catholic graduates who have an awareness of the truths of theology are obliged to use their positions of leadership to advance these truths.

Ring Dance Planned; Noon and Austin To be Co-chairmen

James Noon and Paul Austin have been appointed co-chairmen of the Junior Ring Dance. Joseph Walsh, president of the Junior Class has announced.

The semi-formal affair will be held in late February to follow the distribution of the second shipment of class rings. Walsh stated his hope that this affair will be the beginning of an annual ring dance which will become traditional at PC dances. He said that a large turnout is expected.

James Noon, an economics major from Warwick, Rhode Island, and Paul Austin, an education major from Pittsfield, Mass., will work in conjunction with the ring committee on the plans of the dance.

Big Brothers Hold Annual Breakfast

The first annual Communion breakfast of the Providence College Youth Guidance Organization was termed a "tremendously successful affair" by Rev. Thomas H. McBrien, O.P., Chaplain of the College.

The Rev. Paul M. James, O.P., moderator of the organization, celebrated the Mass in Aquinas Hall Chapel, Sunday, November 5, for the club members and their young guests. Forty-eight children from the Dr. Patrick I. O'Rourke Children's Center attended the Mass accompanied by their "Big Brothers."

Immediately following the Mass, breakfast was served in the Alumni Hall Cafeteria.

A movie was shown of the Providence-Holy Cross game of the 1961 NIT. Jim Hadnot, PC basketball captain and a member of the club, added some humorous observations to the film.

When asked for his appraisal of the breakfast, President Dick Ferrigno observed: "For the first Communion Breakfast, it was entirely successful. Father James and all who worked on the affair are very pleased with the fine turnout, which is an indication of the spirit of this organization."

PACK OR BOX

Grand Prix CONTEST

FOR NEW ENGLAND COLLEGE STUDENTS

REGULAR OR KING

Here's the story, man. Eight, count 'em, eight of these swinging Sprites will go to eight guys or gals in New England colleges. The other 44 states strictly don't count. Get the picture, get the odds? This is one deal you've got to get in on.

First thing to do, get your hand on a Registration Envelope, which gives you the easy Contest Rules. You'll find Registration Envelopes everywhere—all around campus and in your local smoke shops. Our Liggett & Myers Campus Rep has stacks of them, too—so track him down.

Next, you take a little quiz. It's printed right on the envelope, see, it's about sports cars and you can do it in like 47 seconds. Then smoke 5 wonderful packs of Chesterfields or L&M's (or, if you're a menthol man, Oasis), tear the bottom panels off all 5 packs, tuck them in the envelope, sign your name and mail it.

8 PRIZES
NEW ENGLAND WINNERS
'62 SPRITES 8

Now comes the brain work. If you pass the quiz you'll receive a limerick in the mail with the last line missing. So finish it! Send in the best rhyme you can think of. If the judges (an independent, impartial lot) think your line is the cleverest, you're like behind the wheel of your Sprite already.

Enter incessantly! Because there are 8 Sprites up for grabs, dad! The 4 winners of the Fall Contest will be announced at the end of the Fall Semester. Then the whole jazz goes into high gear again—and toward the end of the Spring Semester the other 4 Sprites go on the block. So stay with it all year—keep smoking those wonderful Chesterfield, L&M or Oasis cigarettes—keep trying! Win, man!

Buy 5 packs and get started. There will be 8 new '62 Sprites on the campuses of little old New England by next May, and you might as well jingle the keys to one of them in your jeans... right?

ART MATTOS

There are a number of notable movies opening at local theatres this week, notably good and notably bad. On the plus side are "The Devil at Four O'Clock," "Town Without Pity," and "Two Women," while we must say thumbs down to "1 plus 1."

"The Devil at Four O'Clock" is a ziz-zagging spectacular that starts out as a Power and the Glory with Spencer Tracy, that old master of the Roman-collar roles, portraying a whiskey priest forced to give up his life's work; careens into something similar to "My Three Angelenos" in the persons of three convicts, including Frank Sinatra; then suddenly veers into something vaguely resembling that hankie-sopper "Inn of the Sixth Happiness," with the rescue of a group of children from a mountain-top leprosarium. This may sound like a soggy mixture, cliché-ridden and trite, but thanks to some memorable dialogue, Tracy's acting and some of the best character actors in the business in supporting roles, it becomes the best of all possible hokum.

"Town Without Pity" is a new tale of violence from Hollywood's realism factory which we spoke of in this year's initial column. There is a thin line between sex for sex's sake and sex for the sake of truth and art. This film deals with rape, and though it tactfully tries to handle the battle between duty and conscience of the attorney defending four GI's who do violence to an Austrian fraulein and the destruction of her reputation, it becomes heavy-handed and preachy at times, possibly because it is well aware it is not dealing with a subject proper to the movies. Well done it is, in all respects, but it still leaves the basic question of whether or not it should have been done at all.

"Two Women" is a thrilling Italian film that returns Sophia Loren to stature as an actress, and does much to tear down the sex symbol. It deals with a mother and daughter ravaged by war, counting a great deal on its shock value and play on the emotions for its power.

The final opening this week, "1 plus 1," is by far the worst we have had in quite a while, and certainly one of the most disgusting. Imagine attempting to put the Kinsey report on film! Out of this absurdity has come an equally absurd and completely boring self-conscious discussion of sex. It is another example of Hollywood's new school, but definitely one that falls into the category of trash.

Fr. Quirk . . .

outlined in the recent encyclical of Pope John, "Mater et Magister."

Father Quirk charged that the "fanatical" John Birch Society is aimed right at the heart of our democratic institutions. He mentioned that a substantial number of Catholics, both religious and lay, are allegedly dues paying members of this society.

The speaker emphasized that Senator Goldwater is in a different category from the John Birch Society. He charged that the Senator and his followers are "obsessed with an unrealistic return to the 'laissez faire' economies of the 19th and early 20th century."

"Mr. Goldwater is sincere, but his conservatism can hardly be equated with the demands of the socialization of Pope John XXIII," Father Quirk added.

The socialization advocated by the Pope is an outline of a mixed economy, similar to the present U. S. economy.

Father Quirk acknowledged, in response to a question from the floor, that many Catholic youth are alleged advocates of conservatism. He pointed out the movement on the part of "white collar" parents who "im-bue their children with some phase of the corporation mentality, including an anti-union bias."

"Youth has been trapped by Madison Avenue techniques proclaiming that we must throw out the shackles of government intervention. The conservatives have made 'a clarion call' to young people who don't do very much thinking, and who have known nothing but prosperity," Father Quirk continued.

The next meeting of the institute will be held this Sunday evening at 8 p.m. in the Guild Room. Associate Professor William Murphy will address members on "Trade, Aid, and Human Solidarity."

Miller Remains Aloof in Book Controversy

(From Trinity Tripod)

Henry Miller, author of "Tropic of Cancer," will stay out of the controversy incited by the banning of his book.

According to his publisher, Grove Press, Miller does not wish to comment or become involved in the controversy.

Miller's decision not to get involved is well in fitting with his character. He has never led violent demonstrations when his books have been banned.

The years from 1930-1940 he spent almost entirely in Europe. It was during these years that he wrote "Tropic of Cancer."

From its publication in France in 1934, "Tropic of Cancer" has been both denounced and praised. Although banned from the United States and England, it has been lauded by such literary figures as T. S. Eliot, Ezra Pound, Lawrence Durrell, John dos Passos, Sir Osbert Sitwell, and George Orwell.

About his own style, Miller has written: "Whatever the language employed, no matter how objectionable . . . one may be certain that there was no other idiom possible. Effects are bound up with intentions, and these in turn are governed by laws of compulsion as rigid as nature's own. That is something which non-creative individuals seldom understand."

Although Miller hasn't commented on the ruling that "Tropic" is "raw obscenity," two years ago when a ban against "Sexus" was being appealed in the Norwegian Supreme Court, Miller wrote the following to his lawyers:

"I do not implore you to suspend or withhold judgment of me or my work. Neither I nor my work is that important. (One cometh, another goeth.) What concerns me is the harm you are doing yourselves . . . When you write me off the books, so to speak, will you find your food and wine more palatable, will you sleep better, will you be a better man? These are the things that matter—what happens to you, not what you do to me."

WHITE HOUSE JINX

The man elected President last year will be defying a 20-year-old-jinx. Since 1840, the President elected every 20th year has died in office, six in all. Three of the six were assassinated.

To the Senior Class:

Selection of members for the Senior Class Council and the appointment of Mr. Charles Reilly as chairman have caused some detrimental comments. On what basis were these selections and this appointment made?

It is the prerogative of the class officers to make appointments as is necessitated and merited, according to the wisdom of the officers.

However, in order to insure an harmonious spirit for the class, the class officers offer a simple explanation. The members of this council were selected on the basis of class activities in which they have participated and an interest in the disposition of the activities of the class.

Appointment of Charles Reilly as chairman was due to his high qualities of leadership. To emulate Mr. Reilly's attributes as an administrator is hardly necessary, because he has displayed them rather well as class president for three years. However, his position as council chairman should be made clear. Mr. Reilly will serve as an emissary of the council to the class officers. He will conduct the meetings of the Council, but any decisions formed are still subject to the class officers.

The Cowl presentation of the Council in its last edition was misleading. It would appear that Mr. Reilly was boss man of the class. On this The Cowl erred. Mr. Reilly is not the boss man but an instrument in the formulation of class activities.

There may be some who feel they have been slighted because they were not included in the council, but we answer that should they be sincerely interested in doing work for the class, they will do so without being a member of the council as such. Certainly all that must be done during our last year cannot be accomplished without the cooperation of the entire class.

Cardinal Cushing

Boston, Mass. The key to eventual victory in the Cold War is more generous support for colleges and universities, Richard Cardinal Cushing, Archbishop of Boston, said.

Speaking at Boston College, Cardinal Cushing told business, civic and religious leaders, "We must not let our colleges down, for the greatest need today is more education."

"No one can control charity. Our support of higher education is a wonderful tribute to the people of the United States—those with faith and those without faith. There is always a constant giving in this country."

SPORTSDESK

By Barney Madden

THE HARRIES OF PROVIDENCE COLLEGE and their coach, Ray Hanlon, having completed the bulk of their season with an enviable 8-2 record, are looking forward optimistically to the upcoming New England and ICAAAA meets.

The hill and dalers have outmost of their position this year, losing only to Army, an eastern powerhouse, and Brown, both at the opponents' course.

Brown will be entered in the New England at Boston's Franklin Park next Monday and will be favored to finish ahead of the Friars, but Coach Hanlon feels that if any of the Bruins should falter, then the PC team, which runs in a bunch most of the time, could beat out the cross-town rivals.

Of course there will be a number of other good teams in the meet, some of them possibly better than Brown and Providence. But there will be others whom the Friars have already beaten, Boston College and Boston University, Holy Cross, URI, and Northeastern.

THE FRESHMAN TEAM is also flying high with a 8-2 record, having lost only to Northeastern and Brown, both at Brown last Friday. However, in a dual meet, where the scoring would have been slightly different, the Friarlets would have beaten the Huskie Pups.

Look for both Friar teams to finish among the leaders next Monday.

THE VARSITY HOCKEY TEAM had a sort of a "wait-and-see" attitude about this year's frosh sextet, which many people had been touting as being potentially one of the best in the college's history. But the frosh, after having played together for only a couple of weeks, nearly outskated their varsity "Big Brothers" in a recent scrimmage.

Now the varsity players are predicting an undefeated season for the frosh.

Incidentally, the varsity defense corps, weakened by the loss of Red O'Can and Larry McMahon, through graduation, and Ray Zifec who used up his three years eligibility, has been strengthened by the addition of the grittiest — but smallest — man on the team, Jim Gegear.

UNDER THE HEADING "Class Will Tell" the 1961 Converse Basketball Yearbook tells the story of a little fellow, who used to be called "Howdy Doody," who wanted to excel in a tall man's game—basketball.

Later they called him "Mr. Biddy Basketball" as his team won the 1954 world Biddy Basketball championship. Last

Applications Now Being Accepted For Federal Service Examination

Applications are now being accepted for the 1962 Federal Service Entrance Examination the United States Civil Service Commission has announced.

This examination, open to college juniors, seniors, and graduate students regardless of major study, as well as to persons who have had equivalent experience, offers the opportunity to begin a career in the Federal Service in one of some 60 different occupational fields. A written test is required.

The positions to be filled from the FSEE are in various Federal agencies and are located in Washington, D. C., and throughout the United States. Depending on the qualifications of the candidate, starting salaries of $4,345 or $5,355 a year.

Management Internships with starting salaries of $5,355 or $6,455 a year, will also be filled from this examination.

Six tests have been scheduled during the year. The dates are November 18, January 13, February 10, March 17, April 14, and May 12.

Details concerning the requirements, further information about position to be filled, and instructions on how to apply are given in civil service announcement No. 265, available from the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C.

TAX IS NOW HALF OF GASOLINE COST

Direct taxes on gasoline now equal nearly one-half the cost of the fuel itself, according to American Petroleum Institute figures.

Gas taxes rose 51 per cent during the '50s to an all-state average of 10.2 cent a gallon at the close of 1959. The average retail cost of a gallon of gas at the end of last year was 21.18 cents—plus tax.

This Saturday November 11, the Friars will fire two postal matches against Northwestern State College of Natchitoches, Louisiana, and against Alfred University of Alfred, New York.

On the following Saturday, the nimrods will journey to New London, Connecticut to compete in a tri-match with the Coast Guard Academy and Holy Cross. On the 25th of this month they face St. Bonaventure of Olean, New York in a postal firing.

The nimrods are at the present time in the midst of firing the XIII Corps Army Postal. The competition consists of firing from four positions—standing, kneeling, prone, and sitting. Last year's nimrods finished fourth in this competition out of 37 teams which competed.

Bruins Down PC Harriers As Blejwas Finishes Fifth; Frosh Place in Third Spot

By Jerry Crowley

The Providence College varsity cross country team, on November 3, competed in a meet with Brown, Holy Cross, Boston College, and Northeastern at Brown. Stan Blejwas led the Friars by finishing in the fifth position with Tom Zimmerman, ninth. Dan Shanahan, John Hamilton, and Jim Harlow finished fifteenth, sixteenth, and twentieth respectively, rounding out the PC scoring.

The PC freshmen were out-run by both Brown and Northeastern. They finished with a score of 69. John Douglas finished eighth, Bill Smith, thirteenth, Tom Deric, fourteenth, Pete Jonsson, sixteenth, and Pete Kettelar, twenty-second.

On October 27, the varsity chalked up a victory by downing the strong Boston College squad, 26-29. Stan Blejwas continued to pace the team by placing second with a time of 21:45, 31 seconds behind the Boston College winner. Dan Shanahan crossed the line in third place with John Hamilton, fifth, and Tom Zimmerman, sixth.

The remaining Friar finishers were: Jim Harlow, tenth;

On the second lap of the cross-country meet held at Brown last Friday, Stan Blejwas of Providence College runs neck and neck with the Brown winner. John Hamilton of PC (second from the right) is closing in. PC placed second to Brown with a score of 65 points.

Judo Club Commences Activities for Season

The Judo Club at Providence College is beginning its second year of activity. The club was formed for boys interested in learning about and enjoying the sport of judo. The members take instructions from Steve Herald. The club limits itself to about fifteen members for maximum efficiency.

Dell Picks . . .

The Providence College basketball team has been rated first in New England and fourth in the country by the Dell Magazine poll.

Two PC squad men, Jim Hadnot and Vin Ernst, were selected to the Dell "All-East" team.

George Knettel, eleventh; Vin Iacono, twelfth; Tom Souza, thirteenth; Mario Mazzarella, fourteenth; and Bill Lavigne, fifteenth.

The Providence College freshmen were very impressive in downing the Boston College frosh, 20-43. The PC team took nine of the first ten places. Bill Smith who finished second behind the Boston College winner was followed by John Douglas, Tom Durie, Pete Jonsson, Terry Leary, John Dooley, Hal White, Pete Kettelar, and Terry Mahoney.

The varsity record now stands at 8-2, one of the best in years, while the frosh are running with six wins and two losses.

The Providence runners are competing in the New England Championship meet on November 13, at Franklin Field, Boston at 2:15.

Friars in Top Shape; Ecclestonmen Hopeful

The Providence College hockey team is quietly but seriously going about the business of getting into shape for its first game with Rutgers on November 29.

Friar coach Tom Eccleston is pressing his skaters through grueling sessions, but he feels that they are responding well. Barring injuries the team will be in good shape to better last year's 11-9 record. It has been noted that the team effort has been much greater than in previous years.

It is still too early to pick a definite starting unit. But even now it is noticeable that the top two lines are almost set. Marsh Tschida, Lou Lamoriello, and Howard LaPorte have been working together on the first line. Joey Albert and Jack Donahue will probably skate with either Bob O'Connor, John Cannon, or Tom Murphy on the second line. These set-ups may not persist since Eccleston has been doing some platooning, giving different men various assignments.

Jack McGeough and Larry Kish seem to be the leaders on defense. They are backed up by Paul De Carlo and Jim

MARSHALL TSCHIDA

Gegar. Gegar spent last year on offense, but he has been shifted to defense this year.

Dan Hornstein, after a year of varsity experience, is back as goalie. Hornstein sparks the team with his great desire and hustling play.

Several rookies are fighting for a position on the team. Among these are: Ray Mooney, Bruce Norwell, Dick Morry, John McPhillips, Jack Ryan, Bob Regan, and John Di Cataldo.

Last Saturday the varsity was matched in a scrimmage with the freshman team under Coach George DuCharme. Eccleston reported that the team as a whole looked good in the practice. He is pleased that the freshman team presents a durable competitive unit for practice with the varsity.

Nimrods Finish Second Behind Yale with 1407

The Providence College Rifle team opened its inter-collegiate season by losing to Yale University by a score of 1408-1407 at New Haven, Connecticut on Saturday, October 27.

The meet was a tri-match and Providence finished second by soundly whipping the University of Connecticut by a score of 1407-1398.

High scorers for the nimrods were Captain Ed Harvey and sophomore Roy Kudrzycki who tied for top honors with a score of 285. They were followed by seniors Terry Sullivan, 284, John MacDonald 277, and Ed Libucha with 276.

M/Sgt. Ronald Orchard said that, although losing to Yale, the Friars gave an extremely (Continued on Page 9)

PC Alumni Association to Hold Beefsteak Pie Sports Night

On November 19 the Providence College Alumni Association will hold its annual Beefsteak Pie Sports Night in Raymond Hall. Dr. Ralph Pike '46 is general chairman of the affair and will serve as toastmaster. Special guests will include the head coaches and captains of the basketball, hockey, and track teams.

The festivities will commence at 6:30 p.m. and a sports speaking program will follow the dinner. Last year the affair was addressed by Coach Tom Eccleston of the hockey team, former captain John Egan of the basketball team and the Rev. A. B. Beley, Athletic Director of the College.

Highlights of the evening's entertainment will be a preview of the basketball season in Alumni Hall where Coach Joe Mullaney will put the team through a scrimmage.

The Mal Brown Club will host the basketball scrimmage and will arrange the distribution of tickets to the first varsity hockey home game of the season, the PC-Rutgers game to be played November 29 at the Rhode Island Auditorium.

For the first time this year the affair will be open to wives of the Alumni. No tickets will be sold at the door since the College must know beforehand how many places are to be set.

The tickets, priced at $2.50 per person, also will be needed for the scrimmage.

Intramural Football Loop in High Gear; Unbeaten Senior Education Squad Wins

By John Coffey

Intramural football continued this week with nine games. Senior Education remained undefeated and continued to lead the league with a 6-0 record. On Thursday, they squeezed out a 19-12 victory over the ROTC Flankers and on Friday they smothered an outclassed Math Education eleven, 50-7.

The Guzman Tigers broke into the win column as they subdued the ROTC Marchons, 20-6, and shut out the arch rival Guzman Panthers, 20-0. Before losing to the Tigers, the Panthers had won for forfeit over the Boston Club.

The Met Club remained undefeated by handing Senior Business their first defeat, 29-2. Snapping back from their defeat, Senior Business rolled over the ROTC Bombers, 21-0.

Frosh Biology continued their non-winning ways by losing a squeaker to the ROTC Bombers, 8-0. On Thursday, Math Education lost a hard fought battle to the New Haven Club, 21-9.

Next week two of the undefeated teams will clash. On Thursday, November 9 the New Haven Club, 3-0, will meet the Met Club, also 3-0. The next day, Senior Education will risk its unblemished record when they meet Senior Business, 5-1.

The Athletic Association announced Monday the rules governing the intramural basketball league.

All interested teams must be organized on a class and concentration basis, (i.e., Freshman Science, Junior Economics, etc.). Charter Clubs of Providence College are also invited to enter teams.

Teams will forfeit contests in which ineligible players are used. Ineligible players will be suspended from further play during the basketball competition.

Spike Shoe Club Sponsors Race Between Classes

The annual Freshman-Sophomore Cross Country Meet sponsored by the Spike Shoe Club is scheduled for tomorrow November 9, at 3:00 p.m. The race will follow the course laid out last year, starting and ending at Hendricks Field.

Medals will be awarded to the first five finishers. All who have not participated in varsity or freshman cross country or track at PC are eligible.

The inter-class competition was inaugurated last year by Charlie Goetz, former president of the Spike Shoe Club. That race proved to be an exciting contest, with the Frosh emerging triumphant.
