Junior Class Elections Today

Today is election day for the Class of 1964. For J. R. M. Mahon, Frank J. Darigan, and Lee W. Gersmey, today is a day of waiting. The poll, which opened at 8:30 a.m. in Alumni Hall, will close at 3:30 this afternoon. Today, one of these three students will be chosen president of the junior class.

By entering the year under the two invalid attempts, the class of 64 was forced into holding an immediate election. The posters, campaigning, and excitement which generally accompany PC class elections were suppressed this time by a severe shortage of time. The only major campaigning occurred yesterday in Albertus Magnus Hall during the 10:20 break. At this time, the three nominees outlined their platforms and their qualifications.

The Ways and Means Committee of the Student Congress, in order to offset the possibility of a third void election, has devised a system of identifying the voters. Students coming to the polls will present their Bursar's card for identification. The appointed electioneers will then cross the student's name off the list. In this way double and triple voting will be avoided.

Rules governing this hurried election are the same as in past elections. They are: (1) All candidates must have a C average with no F's and no deficiencies. (2) All candidates must have a satisfactory personal record with no D's in the previous semester. (3) A student may have only one nomination paper, only nominations secured from and signed by the Ways and Means Committee of the Student Congress are valid. (4) All candidates are limited to five posters none of which may be hung in Alumni Hall. (5) No flyers may be attached to the cars in the parking lot. (6) The total campaign costs for each nominee should not exceed $25.

PR Company Begins Fund-Raising Drive

Company K-12 of Providence College, the best Pershing Rifle company in New England, has opened its program for the academic year 1962-1963. As part of its program for the coming year, Company K-12 has undertaken a fund-raising campaign for the United Fund of Rhode Island. The PR cadets have canvassed about 300 business establishments in the Providence area. During their campaign, 1st Lt. Darigan is serving as chairman of the PR drive.

A new staff has taken over command of Company K-12 this year. Capt. Joseph DeGennaro has assumed the position of company commander with 1st Lt. James Lowe as his executive officer. The other new officers are: 1st Lt. Frank Darigan, operations; 1st Lt. Joseph Kendy, adjutant; 2nd Lt. Robert Kraus, drill team commander; 2nd Lt. Paul Baillargeon, special services; 2nd Lt. James Demma, public information officer; 2nd Lt. John French, supply and finance; and 1st Sgt. Frank Hill.

Rose Ceremony To Be Observed Sunday Evening

Rev. T. E. Hennessey, O.F., will deliver the sermon at the traditional Rosary Sunday devotions to be held Sunday in the Grotto of Our Lady of the Rosary. The devotions will begin at 8:00 p.m.

The exercises will open with the recitation of the Rosary, followed by the blessing of the roses. Before the commencement of the sermon, the blessed roses will be distributed. Following the sermon, solemn mass will be held.

Alumni Society Will Hold Mass; Seniors Invited

The annual Communion Sunday of the PC Alumni Association will be held in the newly constructed St. Pius Church at 8:00 a.m. on the evening of October 28. Dinner will be served in Raymond Hall immediately following the Mass. The Very Rev. Vincent C. Dore, O. P., President of the College, will be the celebrant.

Chief speakers at the dinner will be the Rev. Mag. Christopher Patrick Griffin, 4th, chaplain; William Stephen, '63, recording secretary; Joseph Rohling, '64, treasurer; Kevin Hynes, '64, chairman, public relations committee; and Paul Langevin, '64, chairman, program committee.

Among the twenty-two student representatives attending were eleven new members.

On Saturday evening, November 17, there will be a semi-formal, non-floral dance at the King House. The location for this event has not yet been decided. Bands, which will go on sale within the next two weeks, will be priced at $1.25.

Fr. Dore Named To Charity Post

The Very Rev. Vincent C. Dore, O. P., President of Providence College, has announced that he has been appointed Vice-Chairman of the United Fund Appeal Committee for Private School in the Providence area. The United Fund Appeal provides funds for eighty-six institutions, such as Providence College and Brown University.

Father Dore stated also that he would like to have the following four institutions on the list: Hopkins School in the Valley, Pasquettes, and twenty-two additional towns and cities in Rhode Island. Henry D. Sharpe, Jr., general campaign chairman, has announced that a goal of $23,309,678 has been set.

It will be Father Dore's job to assist the committee wherever possible in collecting funds from privately endowed institutions.

On Monday night at 8:00 p.m. at a concert given by the Rhode Island Summer Philharmonic Orchestra at Rhodes-on-the-Pawtuxet.
MEMO FROM THE EDITOR:

In light of the recent bloodshed and violence in Oxford, Mississippi, one begins to wonder what type of man is Governor Ross Barnett.

From the beginning of his effort to keep James Meredith from registering at the University of Mississippi, Barnett was leading a lost cause and, at the same time, was giving the United States a black eye made of Mississippi mud, political style.

Perhaps the people of Mississippi will treat Barnett as a martyr who upheld their concept that the Negro is an inferior, and not an equal, and as a champion of the states' battle against federal "oppressive power."

However, the people of the rest of the United States know that the governor was not upholding law, but rather flouting it, and that President Kennedy had no other choice but to support the law, if the supremacy of the Federal Government is to be maintained.

Martyr is not the word to use in describing Gov. Barnett, especially since the toll of death and violence in his state is a result of his folly and reckless politicking designed to promote his political prestige.

Time will remember him as a political opportunist who shamed his state and his country by promoting himself as the new leader of the southern segregationists' dream.

Barnett's place has now been shown to him. For the sake of all concerned, he would do well if he stayed in it.

PC Students Attend Summer Conference

Two PC students, Stephen Kone and Alfred Macomber attended the Rhode Island Conference of Social Work during July and August of this past summer.

Thirty Rhode Island college students took part in the program. The only college junior to participate in the conference, described it as "a group with a purpose." Various public and private organizations were represented in the state contributed to the conference, which was inaugurated to advance social work in the state and to make it less difficult for member agencies to secure social workers.

Students with no previous experience in social work were referred to professional social workers and were referred to agencies where they operated as social workers.

Students Lock Real Awareness Claims Murphy

"The average PC student cares about nothing but himself. The aim of NPFCS on our campus is to weaken the PC students from their social lethargy."

In this way, Francis X. Murphy, the senior delegate from PC to the National Federation of Catholic College Students, described the purpose of NPFCS on this campus.

Murphy, a junior physics major from White Plains, New York, and Raymond Lajommesse, the junior delegate to NPFCS, also disclosed plans to attend the NPFCS regional conference at St. Joseph's College, Windham, Maine, on October 20 and 21.

Initiating a visiting workshop, this conference cornerstone, which has been taken on by the NPFCS at PC. This workshop would be open to all students and a group leader.

These groups would attempt to explain to the PC students in regard to the leading social problems.

All members of the class of '63 are cordially invited to attend Mass Sunday. Tickets may be purchased for $2.50 each from Frank Manzo, the class agent. All reservations must be made by October 26.

In accordance with policy maintained in past years, a one-year membership in the Providence College Alumni Association will be extended to all the members of the class of '63.

PROVIDENCE CLUB

On Monday, Oct. 8, 1962 at 7:30 p.m. the Providence Club will meet at the Roger Williams Post American Legion, on College Street.

The Club will be making its final plans for the 5th Change Dance which will be held at the Villanova Gardens on Thursday, Oct. 11, from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m. Membership in the club has been extended to eighty members.

MEMORIAL PLAQUE DONATED BY ART CLUB

This past week, the Art Club presented a plaque to the College in memory of the late Rev. Joseph J. Sullivan, O.F. (1877-1965). Although he spent most of his life in parish work, Father Sullivan still managed to devote some time to painting. Designed by Paul Cavanaugh, a member of the senior class, the plaque was presented to the Art Club by President of the Art Club, and is now being executed by John F. Cavanaugh, Jr., of the class of 1963.

The plaque commemorates Father Sullivan's paintings of the Four Evangelists to be found in the rotunda of Harkins Hall.

PC Enrolls 696 Freshmen

Providence College began its fortieth year by enrolling a freshman class of 696 students.

These students were selected from over 2500 applicants considered by the Committee on Admissions. This freshman class was composed of 76 high schools in 23 states, Canada, and Bolivia. Approximately 50 percent of the class are resident students.

Rhode Island high schools with the largest representation were: Barrington, Cranston, Cranston West, Cranston East, Central, and Cranston High.

Out of state high schools with the largest representation were: Monsignor Coyle High School, St. Raphael Academy, St. Raphael's Academy, Bishop Hendricken High, and Classical High.

Of the eleven students from Providence Catholic High School, seven were in the top ten percent of their graduating class and all were in the top third of their class.

Ten of the thirteen resident students traveling some distance to come to Providence College are: Fernando Soria, a music major from St. John's College High in West Hartford, Connecticut; Durfee High in Fall River, Massachusetts; Horace Catholic High in Oswego, New Jersey; Archbishop Williams High in Braintree, Massachusetts; and Fenwick High in Oak Park, Illinois.

R.I. Men Added To ROTC Staff

Two Rhode Islanders were among the 36 new members of the military Science Department in the current year, which were announced by Father J. Norton, a member of the staff. These new members are: Henry Fiske, a native of Cranston, has been assigned as executive officer of the department following a tour in Vietnam. Fiske graduated from Notre Dame High in Trenton, New Jersey. Others who led their graduating classes were: John W. Kirby from Fenwick High, Richard A. Johnstone from Sacred Heart Academy in Central Falls; Charles P. Mui from Trinity Holy Trinity in Westfield; Michael A. Condon of Winter Hill, New York; Kenneth E. Catrone of North Providence High; David P. Fredrickson from St. John's College High in Washington, D.C.; Joseph J. Kuff of Central Falls; Alexander G. Bartlett of Burrillville High; Paul H. Laflatie of St. Mary's Academy, and Frank W. Catalano from Cardinal Newman High in New Rochelle, South America.

Many outstanding students have entered Providence with the class of '66. Thomas A. Jones was graduated first in a class of 255 students at Notre Dame High in Trenton, New Jersey. Others who led their graduating classes were: John W. Kirby from Fenwick High, Richard A. Johnstone from Sacred Heart Academy in Central Falls; Charles P. Mui from Trinity Holy Trinity in Westfield; Michael A. Condon of Winter Hill, New York; Kenneth E. Catrone of North Providence High; David P. Fredrickson from St. John's College High in Washington, D.C.; Joseph J. Kuff of Central Falls; Alexander G. Bartlett of Burrillville High; Paul H. Laflatie of St. Mary's Academy, and Frank W. Catalano from Cardinal Newman High in Colomba, South America.

Jonathan D. Flinn was student body president, and Paul McInnis, vice-president; and seniors Harry Breit and Richard Poli, secretary and treasurer respectively.

The first scheduled tournament announced by Father Skalko will be held on October 21 against Black College and on November 18 at the University, the theme of which will be, "Resolved, that the non-communist nations of the world should establish an anti-communist front." The meeting will also be the resounding theme throughout the entire year.

Following this debate the club will move to the campus of Southern Connecticut College early November to debate with the Forensic Union in a public exhibition debate.

Debating Club Welcomes Freshmen

Tonight, the Larcadere Debate Society will hold a meeting from 7 to 8 p.m. in Akinas Hall Lounge. This meeting will be open to all those freshmen who are interested in the society and have an A average (or B average in high school English). The meeting will be held primarily directed at induction of potential members to the team.

Ressentiment of a depression era soup-line, PC students kept a weary vigil outside the Dean of Studies office from the mid-1950's to the mid-1962. The motif behind all this gallows humor was the multi-grade turnover of the old building.

These conflicts are probably inevitable in a school the size of PC, and they had come and gone before, and will come and go again, but we criticized our administration for not finally solving. However, rather than settling back and giving thanks that the mayhem is over until next September, THE COWL wonders if another system for the solution of these conflicts could not be devised, one which would save both students and administrative members the annual aggravation of the past two years.

Our proposal is suggested in the Book of Exodus, "And the next day all the people that were in the camp arose early and came unto Moses, and said, This is not good . . . the business which thou dost is not good . . . the people wait from morning till night . . . and the thing which they say is this . . . the business is above thy strength . . . thou alone canst not handle it."

What Now . . .

Well, it's done. The outdoor basketball courts previously situated between the Business Administration Building (BAR) and the Memorial Grotto were relocated—to the chagrin of those students who, in past years, found themselves trapped on the hillside on either side of the "Valley of Noise." What now? Are we to endure the scene of a blacktopped "non-man's land" beyond the two buildings? Or, will something be done about this?

The North: A Glass House . . .

There is no doubt that the incidents in Mississippi during the past week have been the cause of much discussion on the Providence College campus. According to History, it seemed that the actions taken by that state's governor and populace were looked down upon by most of us from a position of detachment. Our attention on the South, we criticized, was not good . . . the business which thou dost is not good . . . the people are situated between a "Valley of Noise." What now? Are we to endure the scene of a blacktopped "non-man's land" beyond the two buildings? Or, will something be done about this?

The musical-comedy is indigenous to the American theatre. It enjoyed its zenith from the early 19th century to the 1870's. As Bernard Shaw said: "It conveys the idea that there is no such thing as a human being. The whole thing is summed up beautifully in a roasting pan: 'The American People, Great Country,' with the tail." If this is flag-waving, Can you think of a better flag to wave?

Music and lyrics for the show are by the dean of American popular music, Irving Berlin. Of the nineteen smash hits which during its Boston run, at least eight seemed destined to become standards, are "White Christmas," "The Best Thing I Ever Had," "I Wish I Were in New York," "The Old Man In The World," which could be ranked among the best songs Berlin has ever written. No less praiseworthy is the cast. Robert Ryan and Nanette Fabray as Pres. and Mrs. Eisenhower; Burt Lancaster and Ingrid Bergman as the President; and Lina Lamont, perfect, Ryman performs a flawless impersonation of John F. Kennedy. With the combination of a first-rate executive, and Miss Fabray stops the show with a hilarious number that explains her success as First Lady to one of the intercontinental world tours set to open in Paris. She is equally as good a First Lady to this New York audience as the one who convincingly, movingly convinces us that the man is the only man in the world for Deanna Durbin, in a supporting role as the President's daughter, stands out with a clever novelty number called "The Secret Service." (Makes Mr. Hitchcock jealous)

All these assets somehow add up to a production that is hard to criticize. PRESENCE is not a great musical in the conventional sense. Its plot is whimsical and whimsical standards that have been devised, but it is one of the most enjoyable musicals I have seen. Regardless of its faults, the New York critics on October 1, with a secret service and a fascinating public is certain to take this mythical first family of the land to their hearts.

Devotion . . .

Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament will be held. Minis-

Beginning at the Church under the direction of Rev. L. S. Cannon, O.P.

During the month of October, special devotion is given to the Blessed Virgin through praying the Rosary. The Rosary is at 8 p.m., and for the special aim of the Confraria of the Most Holy Rosary.

Membership in the Confraria is open to students and faculty members at the College. To enjoy the benefits of the group, one must say Mass with devotion, three Rosaries each week.

Interested in joining the Confraria? Please see the Chaplain of the College.

Thompson, Bell Discuss Segregation

Last Thursday evening, approximately 150 members of the Spectrum Club, in its first formal meeting of the year, heard John Thompson of the College and Mr. Andrew Bell of the Urban League of Providence speak on “The Effects of Segregation on the Negro.”

Thompson’s general theme was that the people of America are hiding from the problem of segregation. “When,” he asked, “will the people’s practice live up to their theory?” He cited some of his experiences in Washington and explained that if he had chosen to go to Holy Cross instead of Providence College, he would have become another Jackie Robinson.

Mr. Bell called segregation the largest, unsolved problem in democracy and underlined its importance in international relations. As to the acceptance of Negroes in the north, he said that many people accept them academically, but not emotionally. Because of this segregation, he said, the Negro “doesn’t know what he wants to be, or who he wants to be.” Mr. Bell said, however, that there is a gleam of hope for the future, because the present generation will fight for equality. The past generations did not, he said, because of the presence of hostility among the White people.

President Bernard Satkowski, AED Promises To Help Frosh

Tuesday evening AED had its Let’s Get Acquainted Evening for the freshmen biology majors. Approximately 75% of the freshmen biology majors turned out for the informal fair.

A movie, “Unseen Enemies, of interest to biology students, was shown in Albertus Magnus auditorium and then the group, composed of AED members, faculty of the biology department, and freshmen, adjourned for refreshments.

The president of AED, Kenneth Talan, explained to the freshmen, AED and its activities. He also explained the big-brother system whereby several freshmen are assigned to members of AED, who will assist them with problems or questions concerning their studies.

Officers for the year are: Kenneth Talan, president; Mike Ryan, vice-president; Bruce Wilbur, secretary; Gerald Marsocci, treasurer; and Alan Noonan, historian.

Fr. Lennon on TV

Rev. Joseph L. NOTES FROM THE SPORTSDESK

By FRANK MAZZEO

THE INTERNATIONAL OLYMPIC COMMITTEE's recent mandate which prevents subsidized athletes from participating in Olympic competition raises some perplexing problems.

AVERY BRUNDAIGE, I.O.C. president, claims that when propaganda victories are scored in the sports field, we can be assured that the Soviet theory was very little what international sport circles think of their mode of conduct. While not advocating an unethical Olympic policy for Uncle Sam, I feel that our system that spares with our sense of right should be followed. The value of victory in the cold war, as sad as it may be, is too high to forfeit because some people dislike our methods.

NEVERTHELESS, THE MOST UNREALISTIC THING said by Brundage, was that it would be impossible for his organization to investigate every athlete, so his group would have to allow self-selected committees and international federations to police the various sports. Although it may be impossible for the I.O.C. to police every athlete, does Mr. Brundage think that a national committee of the Soviet Union will enforce a ruling that will do tremendous damage to its future Olympic teams, and thus destroy the potent propaganda weapon?

PERHAPS THE INTEREST of the American people can exert enough power to make the present international events of every nature make this seem doubtful.

ANOTHER YEAR, ANOTHER DOLLAR

With today's entry I begin my ninth year of writing columns in your school newspaper for the makers of Marlboro Cigarettes. Nine years, I believe you will agree, is a long time. In fact, it took only a little longer than nine years to dig the Suez Canal, and you know what a gigantic undertaking that was! To be sure, the work would have gone more rapidly had the shovels been invested at that time, but, as we all know, the shovel was not invented until 1946 by Walter R. Shovel of Cleveland, Ohio. Before Mr. Shovel's discovery in 1946, all digging was done with the primitive, hand-operated spade, a most time-consuming procedure. But there were, naturally, many efforts made to speed up digging before Mr. Shovel's breakthrough—totally an attempt in 1912 by the immortal Thomas Alva Edison to dig with the phonograph, but the only thing that happened was that he got his horn full of sand. This so depressed Mr. Edison that he fell into a fit of melancholy and said, "because they lack the warmth, love and affection of a responsible parent."

Some American personal would have wrong judgments and lay that fifty per cent of the U.S. professionals would occupy the former, ... ON THE SURFACE, this new statue seems to be ideal. No criticism of Olympic policy for Uncle Sam. I feel that our system that spares with our sense of right should be followed. Hadnot Seeks To Gain Place On Hub Squad

Jim Hadnot, captain and nationally recognized center of last year's basketball team and member of nearly every individual scoring record at PC, is making a determined bid to win a berth with the Boston Celtics, defending champions of the National Basketball Association.

Hadnot was the third choice of the Celtics in the N.B.A. draft last spring. For the first time since 1967, it appears that more than one rookie will make the Boston squad. Jim hopes to become the backup man behind Bill Russell. Last season this spot was filled by Tom Senese.

Rookies John Havlicek and Dan Swartz are nearly assured of a place on the squad and lead all scorers. Most of his rebounds came on shots from around the key.

Teams Relocated

It was announced Monday by the Providence College Athletic Association that the Providence College Athletic Association will inaugurate its first annual Harry Coates Memorial Country Race for Catholic high schools. The race will be over a 2.4 mile course on the PC campus and will commence at one o'clock.

The race, named in honor of Providence College's late Hall of Fame coach, Harry Coates, will be directed by Harry's successor at PC, Ray Hanlon. Mr. Hadnot, who conceived the idea for the race, has formerly held rates off the farm while coaching in the New York City area. Presently he is the only meet of his kind for Catholic high schools in the country, and, in years to come. Mr. Hanlon hopes it will make a national name.

Early entries include schools from five states. High schools in Pittsfield, Pennsylvania, and New Haven, Connecticut, have expressed interest in participating in the event and it is hoped that they will participate next year if they can't make the initial meet.

Nearby 120 runners will start on Sunday from schools which belong to the metropolitan area. They will be on the course by 10:30 A.M. The race will finish at 1:30 P.M.

In Coming Thinday Season

Leading PC's cross-country team this fall is a group of three able juniors. Captain Don Shanahan, Shanahan, in his second season with the harriers, leads a strong, young group of runners who hope to improve their record of 6-2 in dual meets last year and their sixth place finish in the New England Finals.

Referring to the coming season, Don says, "The team definitely should be stronger this year than last. We do face a tougher schedule, but I think we will show improvement."

Don, a sociology major, hails from Waterbury, Connecticut, where he attended Sacred Heart High School and participated in cross-country.

In his freshman year, he finished seventh in the New England Finals. Since then he has been a steadily improving member of the varsity.

A typical practice for Don consists in running at least an hour a day. The running is supplemented by calisthenics. In preparing for this Saturday meet, a trend in this part of the country for poor support of most cross country teams, so we are used to running before small audiences. However, when asked whether he and other members of the team would be heartened by a larger showing of PC fans at the meets, he replied with a quick and firm "Definitely."
