McCarthy Play Will Be Given By Students

Registration Cards Will Be
Students' Admission to
"If I Were King"

LARGE STUDENT CAST

Popular Play Is Story of
French "Vagabond King,"
Francois Villon

"If I Were King", a romantic play by Justin McCarthy, will be presented by the Pyramid Players, College dramatic organization, next Sunday and Monday evenings at 8:15 o'clock in the College auditorium. The play is directed by Rev. Urban Nagle, O. P., moderator of the Pyramid Players. Student admission will be by Registration cards issued by the Office of the Registrar at the beginning of the year. Admission for non-students will be fifty cents.

The McCarthy play concerns Francois Villon, poet-vagabond of 17th century France, whose boast to save France, made in a tavern in the presence of the King, causes the King to make him ruler for a week. Villon, as King, experiences extremes of fortune but finally saves France for the King by defeating foreign invaders and wins the hand of the lovely French noblewoman, Katherine.

The leads will be played by Thomas Farrell, '41, Villon, and Louise Sullivan as Katherine. Included in the cast are: Eugene McElroy, '39; Walter F. Gibbons, '39; John J. Mahoney, '39; John Gibbons, '41; Vincent Rosendale, '38; Paul Davis, '41; John R. Bucklin, '38; Frederick Domke, '41; Raymond A. Baker, '38; Thomas McGauley, '41; John J. Andre, '39; John A. Fanning, '38; Robert Breckel, '41; Maurice Ferland, '41; Karl Kunz, '41; Bernard McKenna, '38; Robert Murphy, '38; Carl Breckel, '38; James Haran, '40 and Leonard Affleck, '39.

Guest artists include: Kay Conway, Sally Higgins, Florence Green, Florence McGauley, Mabel Sullivan, Alice Haberlin, Isabelle Donnelly, Susan Breckel, Mary Higgins, Mildred Bucklin and Ellen Perkins.

John J. Andre, '39 is general production manager for the play. John M. Tytla, '38 is stage manager and Michael Massad, '38, Joseph Walsh, '40, Irving Rosen, '39 and Charles McElroy, '39 will assist.

Jarret Named Dance Head

Aram P. Jarret of Woonsocket is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements for the Veritas dance to be sponsored by the Senior class January 14. Other members of the committee announced yesterday by George V. O'Brien, class president, are Timothy R. Crawley, Thomas E. Devine, Joseph F. Donnelly, Andrew J. McBrean, Francis J. O'Rourke, and Carl J. Breckel.

The proceeds of the affair will be used to help finance the yearbook, Veritas. Plans are as yet incomplete, but the committee is expected to present to the student body one of the most novel and enjoyable social functions in the history of the college.

The class officers, George O'Brien, T. Casey Mohr, Thomas W. Durnin, and Joseph E. Isacco, and the co-editors of the annual, Daniel J. O'Connor and John A. Graham are members ex-officio of the committee. Rev. John T. McGreggor is moderator of the class and the yearbook.

NEW ALEMBIC WILL APPEAR NEXT WEEK

The second issue of the Alembic, Providence College literary quarterly, will be distributed next Thursday and Friday, Dec. 16 and 17. Copies may be obtained by students at the Alembic-Cowl Office from Thursday morning until 1 p. m. Friday. Articles which are featured in the January issue of the magazine include "Voltaire", by Irving Wardle; "Euthanasia", by Joseph V. Cavanagh; and "Polyphonic Poetry", by William D. Geary. Also included are "Ballet-Ho", by Lionel J. Landry; and "Social Catholicism", by Thomas Sheehan.

Debaters Meet R. I. State Next Tuesday Night

Will Conclude Radio Series In
Afternoon With Vital
City Topic

Concluding its current series of radio broadcasts next Tuesday afternoon with a debate on the question "Resolved: That a System of Proportional Representation Be Adopted in the City of Providence," the Providence College Debating Union will take the negative in a discussion of the proposition "Resolved: That the Neutrality Act Be Applied in the Present Sino-Japanese Conflict" against the Rhode Island State College Wranglers at Kingston Tuesday night. Last Tuesday's radio debate, which was won by the negative, was on the subject "Resolved: That the U. S. Foster a Policy of Free Trade as a Means to Collective Security and World Peace."

In the argument on Proportional Representation for the City of Providence Robert C. Healey, '39, and Norman J. Carignan, '39, will take the affirmative against John A. Graham, '38, and Anthony Robinson, '40. Michael A. Coyne, '39, will be chairman. This debate is expected to attract an unusually large audience because of the immediate local aspect of the proposition. It will be given from Station WEAN at 3:30 p. m. Tuesday.

Frank G. McGovern, '38, and Walter F. Gibbons, '39, will represent Providence College in the Neutrality contest at Kingston. Last year a Providence College team was defeated here by the Wranglers on the Congressional Regulation of Wages and Hours in Industry.

In the debate on Free Trade last Tuesday Albert E. Paine, '38, and Frank G. McGovern, '38, upholding the negative, defeated Timothy R. Crawley, '38, and Michael A. Coyne, '39. Robert C. Healey, '39 was chairman.

La Salle Students Hear Dr. O'Neill

College Professor Discusses
"Current Literary Trends"
At La Salle

Daniel J. O'Neill, professor of English and author of "A Book about Books," addressed the student body and faculty at La Salle Academy yesterday afternoon on "Current Literary Trends."

"Art for art's sake," Dr. O'Neill said, "with reference to literature is a false dictum. And so, believing this, I am keenly alert to the doctrines that lie firmly entrenched in the pages of some beautifully and powerfully written novels of the day, doctrines which destroy the natural superstructure of morality by making man a mere mass of protoplasm and a character of chemical compulsions."

Balloting Is Heavy As Close
Vote Is Spread Over
Six Slates

Charles E. Sweeney of Edgewood was elected president of the freshman class at a meeting yesterday morning in the auditorium. William Danahy of Hopkinton, Mass., was elected vice-president, Paul Dunn of Fall River, secretary, and Robert Blake of Rumford, treasurer. Rev. John B. Reese, O.P., moderator of the class, presided at the election. The voting was scattered, six slates of candidates having been nominated from the various courses in the class.

Sweeney was elected by a margin of five votes over Raymond Gregory. Sweeney receiving forty-three and Gregory thirty-eight votes. The president, a graduate of La Salle Academy, is a student in the pre-legal course of the arts department. He is a member of the Debating Union and of the Cowl Staff.

Danahy, a member of this year's Freshman football team, edged out Alfred Marchetti by a thirty-eight to thirty-three vote. A graduate of Hopkinton High School, Mass., he is a student in the business administration course of the science department.

Dunn is a graduate of Durfee High School in Fall River. Robert Smith was his leading rival for office.

Blake was elected on the second ballot in the liveliest voting of the election. A graduate of St. Raphael's Academy, Pawtucket, he barely defeated Casimir Potera of Warren for office.

SOPHS GET HOP DATE

The date for the Sophomore Hop which was previously scheduled to be held about the middle of January has been set back until February 21. This date is subject to change, but barring conflicts with other affairs, the Hop will take place on the evening of February 21.

Father LaMore Finds Interfaith Conference Marked By Earnestness

"Sympathetic Understanding"
Features Anti-Prejudice
Movement

The Rev. Edward C. LaMore, O. P., of the Rev. George Q. Friel, O. P., attended the intercollegiate religious conference held last week at Brown University as representatives of the Catholic faith. Interviewed after the conference, Father LaMore explained the aims of the movement and gave his impression of the conference itself.

The members of the conference, he said, recognize the existence on the college campus of a certain religious prejudice, a prejudice expressed in social discrimination. The interfaith group aims to eradicate this attitude of mind, not by changing anyone's religious beliefs or asking him to water his convictions, but on a basis of civic harmony and gentlemanly conduct.

Father LaMore expressed with the atmosphere of the conference, describ-

Social Event

Beginning at two o'clock in the afternoon and continuing on until ten o'clock in the evening, the classes of '40 and '41 held a joint social and Mixer featured by entertainment, a tug of war and a free for all mud slinging contest, on Tuesday, December 7.

The purpose of the Mixer, which is an annual affair, is to more closely unite the first and second year men, enable them to form friendships, and instill in them the spirit of cooperation. The committee in charge of this year's affair was composed of Harry Speckman, '40, Richard Merezewski, '40, co-chairmen; Walter Conner, Matthew J. Malevezky, James Dunn, James Dickinson, Irving Hicks, Frank Maloney and Bernard White all of the class of '40, and Milton Krevelin, '41.

The basketball game, the first event on the program, took place in the afternoon and was won by the Sophomores by the score of 14-13. The game was a nip and tuck affair with

Rev. Ferdinand Gaston Level,
Made Chevalier In French
Legion of Honor

DIGNITARIES AT RITES

Cited for Literary Achievements
and for Services In Army
During War

By Michael A. Coyne, '39
To the sharp command of "Ouvrez le ban!" and the thunderous roll of the traditional French martial music, the Rev. Ferdinand Gaston Level, O.P., stood at attention while the golden Cross of the Legion of Honor of France was pinned upon the black cap of his Dominican habit during solemn ceremonies here on Tuesday morning. The medal was presented by M. Jacques Lepoutre, K.S.G., dressed in the powder-blue uniform of a French Lieutenant, acting as the personal representative of the President of France.

The valued award, the highest the French Government can offer, came to the 59 year old Friar in gratitude for his volunteer services in the French military forces during the World War when he resigned his office as Vicar Provincial of the Dominican Order in Cuba to become a poulu in a hospital corps on the Somme front, but more especially, in appreciation of his work since that time in the field of French literature.

"France . . . Remembered"
Lepoutre, at the close of congratulatory addresses by dignitaries of Church and State, rose and, directing his remarks to Father Level, said: "Although you have been away from France for 40 years, although you have worked in silence and humility with never a care for reward or honor, France, always in search of merit, real merit, has finally caught up with you. She has admired your work of a lifetime. She must have remembered that in her hour of distress you went back to her and fought for her like a true patriot. She acknowledges that, far away from her shores, you are propagating her good name and that you are a worthy representative of her traditions, of her civilization, of her ideals, since you have devoted your life to the teaching of truth, especially Divine truth.

"Allow me, my dear Reverend Father, to join with this beautiful assembly of friends and to congratulate you sincerely on your merits. I do it on my own part and also on the part of your own family, who, I am sure, would so much like to be here on this occasion.

"It is with the utmost pleasure that I stand here in the name of the President of the French Republic to pin this valued Cross on the chest of my dear friend and countryman, Rev. Father Level."

Unsheaths Sword
At this point Lepoutre unsheathed his sword and snapped the command "Ouvrez le ban!" while Father Level rose and faced him. He tapped the priest twice lightly on the shoulders, first the left, then the right, with the flat side of the sword, saying in French, "By the power conferred upon me by His Excellency M. Albert Lebrun I make you a Chevalier in the National Order of the Legion of Honor of France." Then he pinned the shining medal on the Dominican habit and delivered the kiss of peace.

Father Level and Lepoutre stood at attention while the Providence College Orchestra played the "Marseillaise" and "The Star Spangled Banner." As the music died away the whole assembly burst into applause.

PERE LEVEL

With pomp and pageantry characteristic of the French Republic, Pere Level, friend of hundreds of Providence College students and alumni, was decorated with the Cross of the French Legion of Honor last Tuesday. It was a signal honor, bestowed on the Friar by the French Government as a mark of esteem for his work during the World War and for his zeal in propagating French culture and education throughout the world.

Though Pere Level would wish to minimize the importance of this award for himself, we of Providence College know him, his distinguished work and present accomplishments. As a true disciple of Thomas, he has spent a busy life of service. First to him as an individual and secondly to him as an educator and scholar of the Dominican Order this honor is given, and with it goes all the long distinguished tradition of the Legion of Honor.

As Pere Level so humbly states, he represents an ideal, the ideal of the education of youth by Providence College, and this recognition by the French Government is an implied recognition of the splendid work which Pere has accomplished at the College. The heart of every Providence student was with him when that cross was pinned on his throbbing breast. This honor is one of the deepest significance. May we congratulate him and wish him the fruits of his many years of labor in the love and respect which his many students will give to him and to Providence College.

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITY

Obviously, the college student who combines his general cultural training with a specific experience in the business world before graduation is better prepared to win and hold a position in that world after graduation than the student who does not. Every student will, we are sure, agree to this proposition as a proposition. But when it comes to taking definite measures to do something about it, there are surprisingly few who have the ambition and backbone to make the necessary extra effort.

Here at Providence College there exist many opportunities for the student to include this business experience in his activities. One of the finest of these is working on the advertising staffs of the Alembic, the Cowl, and Veritas. Such work provides direct experience in the problems of salesmanship—an experience more valuable, in our opinion, than any course in the subject. It provides a contact with men in the business world—men who are prospective employers of college students. In immediate and certain benefits, this work offers an opportunity to bolster the student bankroll, which is constantly in need of bolstering. All of these publications pay a ten percent commission on all ads.

So, quite apart from the fact that they would be serving their college by promoting the growth of its publications, more students, for their own benefit, should be numbered on the advertising staffs of the Alembic, the Cowl, and Veritas.

DON'T MISS IT!

Do students here want good theater? Could the students here appreciate good theater? Sunday and Monday nights will indicate.

Under the personal direction of the Rev. Urban Nagle, O.P., the undergraduate players will present Justin C. McCarthy's "If I Were King." No more need be said to assure an enjoyable evening.

The bogey of past years, the sale of tickets, has been dispelled. Student admission is by identification card. There is no reason why the auditorium shouldn't be filled to overflowing. Anyone who fails to attend is doing himself an injustice.

FOR THE FRESHMAN

The Freshman is a strange and somewhat forlorn figure when he first enters college. He knows no one. He is alone in a strange and new world and it is sometimes months before he accomplishes the transition from high school or prep school which must be made. And in some cases that transition is marked by personal tragedies.

Providence College should inaugurate a Freshman Week starting next year. Every college attempts to make some provision for freshman orientation. We have no sort of program which will give the Freshman a better and more agreeable view of college life than appears at first sight.

Therefore, we propose that the plans be started now for a Freshman week which will take place the first week of school next September. The cooperation of the present officers of the various classes should be obtained. Committees can be appointed whose sole care would be to present a varied program during Freshman Week which will give a picture of intellectual, social and extracurricular activities at Providence College. We owe this to every Freshman Class.

Around Washington

By Marvin Cox

(Associated Collegiate Press Cor.)
Washington, D. C.—The current special session of Congress has the atmosphere of a special fraternity meeting called when the members had arrangements made to go to a big dance. The fraternity members attended grudgingly and, usually, are in no mood to take up matters of importance. Their minds are elsewhere, on pretty girls or dances or other attractions.

Congressmen are attending this session grudgingly. They aren't in a humor to do much work and, up to date, they might as well have stayed at home and gone hunting, as they planned to do. Your correspondent has heard many of them complain that they'd rather be home, that they didn't want to attend the special session, that they had other plans and wanted to carry them out.

So Congress isn't doing much good and probably won't for some weeks yet.

Courses in economics, languages, literature, statistics and similar branches of knowledge now commonly associated exclusively with colleges and universities may be made available to the general public by labor unions. At least that's what's happening in Washington.

The United Federal Workers of America, a CIO affiliate, has opened a school for its members, as well as the public, and, for a nominal tuition fee, courses may be pursued in Spanish, economics, creative writing, literature and other college subjects.

Specialists in the various fields now working in Washington will compose the faculty.

Inquiring Reporter

The question: Do you approve Freshmen rules?

Howard B. Garabedian—Freshman—Science.

"Yes! I want Freshmen rules, and I want them to be enforced. We need Frosh rules here because they will serve to raise the spirit of the students in the College and give us a little more of the college life and atmosphere."

Robert R. Reilly—Freshman—Science.

"No! I do not want Freshmen rules. I think that they represent too much the "Joe College" fiction shown in the movies. I came here to study, not to play. The main reason that I do not wish to have them is because they will be over done."

Henry L. Gray—Freshman—Philosophy.

"Yes! I think that we should have Freshmen rules. It would add to the advantages of attending Providence College. College life is just as much a part of student training as the regular studies are. It would tend to stimulate the school spirit which is so noticeably lacking in our own college, creating a spirit of competition between the Freshmen and the upper classes. After all, social education is as important as scholastic education. A student creates the ability to take it, after a year of being the underdog."

Milton Levin—Freshman—Pre-Dental.

"Many years ago a fearless young man said, 'I came, I saw, and I conquered.' Today a young but somewhat less fearless man is saying, 'I came, I saw, and I was partially conquered by finding no Freshmen rules at our college.' As a member of the Freshman class, and with a large percentage of the Frosh favoring my proposal, I think that Freshmen rules should be brought back in our midst. Although we did come to school to study, every Freshman welcomes the satisfying feeling of "Joe College."

Plain Talking

By

NORMAN J. CARIGNAN, '39

PRIEST, SOLDIER, AND SCHOLAR—PERE LEVEL

The recent Legion of Honor award given to Father Level was a glowing tribute to his numerous and unselfish deeds for France. The honor itself is a distinctive source of praise and pride to one whose humility and human charity would not let it be acknowledged as an "appreciation of what I had done as an individual."

Frankly Providence College has a perfect right to be honored in having as one of its original founders and as a present faculty member this distinguished priest who never forgot for one moment during the simple but truly impressive ceremonies that he was a Dominican and a Providence College professor. This sharing of the glory between himself as an individual, as he expressed it, and his office as Dominican is perfect example of the priest's humility and fraternal love.

Intellectually Accomplished

Yet there was something lacking in last Tuesday's ceremonies to those who know Pere Level, and that was a public appreciation of the man's intellectual powers. It is true, of course, that he was an infirmarian on the Somme front during the world war. But that is not the reason why the President of France decided to bestow this signal honor upon him. Father Level has been at most times a distant but an ever faithful servant of France. Born in France, he has never divorced himself from the language. Instead he has always been a sincere worker for the good of France and has always had her welfare at heart.

When only 25 years old he was appointed president of the College of Bartolome de las Casas in Cienfuegos, Cuba, and was later made Vicar General of the Dominican order there. He remained in Cuba for twelve years until 1915 when he joined the French forces in the war. In 1919 he was assigned to Providence College as a professor of French and Spanish and has remained here with the exception of three years when he was President of Aquinas College in Columbus, Ohio.

Linguist and Astronomer

Pere Level speaks English, French, Spanish, and Italian fluently. He has a reading knowledge of Oriental languages and commands a profound knowledge of astronomy. His favorite avocation is photography. (Newspaper photographers who took a pose of him will deny that it is an avocation.)

But all this knowledge he directed into one channel, that of influencing humanity. He has been a true guide to youth and a healthy and sane counsellor. During later years, Pere Level has translated many books of the Dominican Master General. At present he is engaged in translating "Let Us Go Back to Common Sense."

Worthwhile Recognition

It is for these reasons, a true and worthwhile recognition of his intellectual powers and accomplishments which in part have been directed to the benefit of France, that this honor has been given. President Albert Lebrun of France has viewed these accomplishments of one of her favorite sons and in due appreciation has bestowed on him the highest honor that he could confer, the Cross of the French Legion of Honor.

Pere Level's career, both as a Dominican and as an individual, has been a glorious and praiseworthy one that has been filled with accomplishments and deeds which demand imitation. We are more than pleased to see that "France has finally caught up with you."

Dominican Professor Honored By French Government

In a short extemporaneous address Father Level expressed his gratitude for the honor, but said as an individual he could take no credit for what he has done. "If I have done any good for American youth, it may be due to the system of education. But I think it is more due to the nice spirit of brotherhood I find in my American comrades. I represent an ideal—the education of youth by Providence College. Therefore I express my thanks for this honor not as an individual but as a representative of Providence College as a whole."

French Tricolor Carried

The program opened with the procession of dignitaries, led by two students bearing the American flag and the French Tricolor, to the stage of the main auditorium in Harkins Hall. The Very Rev. John J. Dillon, O.P., president of the College, presided at the exercises. Introducing the speakers, he said "If you take nothing else away with you today but Father Level's dictum, 'Adorn your hearts with charity and your intellect with truth,' you will have accomplished much."

J. Howard McGrath, United States District Attorney, as the official representative of the federal government, delivered the principal address of the day. "I want to acknowledge the benefactions of Father Level on our own government," he said. "Our country, I am sure, with all its heart appreciates the work of this soldier of France who returned to this country to help reestablish moral and religious principles by which alone the world could return to normalcy. Father Level came almost directly from the battlefields of France to the comparatively new college at Providence, and here he has planted in the minds of all who have come under his influence the Christian doctrine of the faculty of war."

"Therefore, Pere Level, on behalf of our country, The United States, the alumni and faculty, and all those present and absent who appreciate your life's work, I say to you that the honor of this hour is ours fully as much as it is yours, and for a long and continuous life of service we wish you God's blessing."

Governor Robert E. Quinn, speaking for the State of Rhode Island, declared, "Every one of us knows Father Level has devoted his entire life to humanity and the common good. Every one in this State knows he is a grand old man."

Dunne Represents City

The City of Providence was represented by Mayor James E. Dunne, who congratulated Father Level officially and personally.

Joseph H. Lyons, president of the Providence College Alumni Association, congratulated Father Level on behalf of the College Alumni, many of whom were present at the exercises. Felicitations of Yvon Delbos, French Secretary of Foreign Affairs, were sent through Francois Briere, French Consul at Boston.

The procession, headed by Daniel F. Murphy, '39, president of the Junior class, and Albert A. Ahearn, vice president, bearing the American flag and the French tricolor, marched into the hall at 11 o'clock. The body comprised Father Dillon, Governor Quinn, Lepoutre, Mayor Dunne, McGrath, Lyons, Eugene L. Jalbert of Woonsocket and William V. Wallace of Providence, vice president of the Alliance Francaise, both holders of the Legion Cross, and Brigadier General Herbert R. Dean, the Adjutant General of Rhode Island.

Building Decorated

The rotunda of Harkins Hall was decorated with the flags of the two countries, while American flags were placed about the campus. At the conclusion of the ceremonies a private dinner was tendered Father Level in the dining hall.

Professors of the College faculty who arranged the program were William B. S. Smith, the Rev. Irving A. Georges, O.P., the Rev. Joseph

G. Precourt, O.P., and the Rev. Edward C. LaMore, O.P.

Members of the reception committee included State Treasurer Henri Roberge, Dr. Daniel J. O'Neill, head of the College Latin Department, Aram P. Jarret, Woonsocket, and Joseph Breen, assistant to the secretary of the State Labor Department. Student ushers were Francis J. King, Providence; Francis D. O'Brien, Dorchester; Joseph P. Martelloni, Newport; John P. Grady, Pittsfield; Arthur McMahon, Providence, and Eugene J. McElroy, Jr., Providence, all members of the Junior class.

Here Since 1919

Father Level has been a professor of Romance Languages at the college since its foundation in 1919, except for a two year term as president of Aquinas College in Columbus, Ohio, from 1923 to 1925. He is now in charge of Guzman Hall and is engaged in making an English translation of the works of the Most Rev. Martin S. Gillet, O.P., Master General of the Dominican Order.

After studying at the university of his native town, Boulogne-sur-Mer, Father Level continued his education at St. Stephen's Biblical School in Jerusalem, where he was ordained in 1902. In 1903 he was assigned to Cienfuegos, Cuba, to the College of Bartolome de Las Casas of which he was later made president. Raised in 1913 to the office of Vicar Provincial of the Dominican Order in Cuba, he ended his own tenure four years later to return to war-torn France. Beginning with the rank of private, he later became infirmarian in the hospital corps and held that post until after the armistice.

Made Many Translations

He has fully translated three volumes of the Master General's works, "Education of the Heart," "Education of the Mind," and "Christian Manhood," and is now preparing an English edition of "Let Us Go Back to Common Sense."

Father Level's appointment to the Legion came after his name had been proposed by Paul Claudel, former French ambassador to this country, and by Claudel's successor, Andrew de Laboulaye.

The outcome in doubt until the final whistle had blown. With less than a half minute to play, the Frosh led by a 13-12 score but a long tum by Harry Speckman in the fading moments brought victory to the class of '40. George Sullivan also turned in a fine performance for the Sophs.

The decision of the tug of war, the next event of the day, was not so definite as both sides claimed a victory, but it suffices to say that both sides were a sorry looking mess after they had been dragged through the mud several times. The climax came when members of both teams abandoned the rope and took to slinging mud. In the general melee that followed friend smote friend foe alike and when the mud supply was exhausted Sophs and Froshs looked the same.

The social part of the program took place in the evening at 7:45. After the opening selection by the orchestra, James Haran, president of the Sophomore Class, welcomed the Freshmen in a short speech, after which he introduced Rev. Charles McKenna, O.P., moderator of the Sophomore Class, who extended his greetings to the first-year men. Rev. Brendan Reese, O.P., Freshman Class moderator also commended both classes on their splendid spirit.

Song selections were given by George Terrace, Donald Albro, Howard Garabedian, Bernard White, John Vittore, John Racine, Aloysius Quinn and Ralph Paparella, Lionel Lanary, Joseph McGroarty and Francis Lehner played the piano and Edward Kennedy and John Egan gave several violin solos.

Uncle Peter (we must be getting egocentric, starting off a column with our own name) believes that congratulations are due the Torch and Triangle Club on the selection of its new headquarters. An exceptionally large game room and two smaller meeting rooms in the Stevens Building at 433 Westminster St. should prove to be a strong influence in enticing new men to join this splendid organization.

And speaking of new quarters it would not be amiss (as Eddie Cantor would like to say) to mention in passing that the Fall River Club has acquired permanent rooms and has already paid a month's rent. That's the kind of spirit we like to see—payment of bills when due. And with just a faint suggestion of a chip on our shoulders, we hasten to query Dick Condon, publicity man of the Massachusetts aggregation, why details of the great migration of the Fall River unit were not relayed to the Cowl. Maybe Dick never had to fill a column and doesn't know how little bits of news help now and then.

And of little bits of news U. Pete will tell you of the hither and yons of our graduates picked up in a local heather and yarn factory: Dr. Ed. Heffernan, '31 is to be congratulated because he is the first resident physician ever to be stationed in the Truistdale Hospital who was not a graduate of Harvard Medical School of course. Georgetown Med. has reason to be proud of him too, but P. C. saw him first. In case any of you speeders are interested, Adolph Jansile, '35, is trooping for the Massachusetts State Police. We must admit that blue is certainly becoming to him, but he warns that if you drive on the wrong side of the road the blues will be coming to you and I due mean blue.

The new jobs department bids up to report that Bill Callahan, '36 of Woonsocket is now employed by his local utility octopus and Dr. Thomas J. Dolan, '32, was appointed not so long ago as State immunologist. You'll find it under the eyes in Webster's and Ollie Roberge, who caught for the Friars until graduation sneaked up on him in 1934 is working for Jordan-Marsh in Boston.

The crowds are getting larger at Joe Lyons beefsteaks, with a good time being had by all and sundry including Hank Soar who left his Gigante (very poor pun, even Mr. P. will have to admit) job to come and have a glass of beefsteak with the boys and Ed Quinn, who spent most of the night looking for Cliff O'Reilly, but got detained in conversation every time he turned around—which is one of the pleasures of turning around at those affairs. We'll not go into details regarding the other pleasures.

Political persiflage comes to the fore with notice that Francis J. Tunmon of Taunton is a candidate for election to the municipal council as representative from Ward 7. That's one minus our Ward, but Uncle Pete does extend him best wishes for his election and in the same city, Francis X. Reilly, who didn't go to Suffolk Law, as did the other Francis, is busy trying to convince the voters that he should be a member of the school board. If he is as convincing as he was in a certain Dominican College that we know quite well, he should be elected with all flags flying.

HALLIBURTON TO SPEAK BEFORE CATHOLIC CLUB

Richard Halliburton, world famous globe-trotter, adventurer, lecturer, and author, will be the guest speaker of the Catholic Girls' Club at the Plantations Club Auditorium on Thursday evening, Dec. 16, at 8:30 p. m.

Aside from his other accomplishments, Mr. Halliburton is a very popular correspondent, with a roving commission. He has written, "The Royal Road to Romance," "The Glorious Adventure," "The Flying Carpet," "Seven League Boots," and "New Worlds to Conquer." Tickets may be obtained at The Cowl office.

Campus Club Social On Wednesday Nite

Resident Organization Planning "Stag" Christmas Party for Members

Final arrangements for the Campus Club stag social to be held Wednesday night, Dec. 15 were completed yesterday afternoon according to an announcement by the Rev. Leo M. Carolan, O.P., moderator. At the same time the names of the January social committees were made public.

The Rev. Leo M. Carolan, O.P., moderator of the unit, stated that the Harkins Hall gymnasium has been obtained for regular Tuesday night basketball practice.

The refreshment committee for Wednesday night includes, Leon Thibodeau, James Tully and John Stratton all of the class of '39, Frank D. O'Brien, '39, Fred Smore, '40, and Bernard White, '40 have been appointed to the January Dance committee, while Walter Conner, '40, John Lyons, '39, and Daniel MacArthur, '40, will be in charge of the social.

At a meeting of the Camera Club last Thursday, a small but enthusiastic group turned out. Until the next meeting, sometime in February, individual work will be done. Illustrative lectures will be given on the use of the miniature camera.

Moved to new and loftier peaks by two great events of the week, namely, the blanket of downy down with which "Old Mother Nature blanketed Old Mother Earth" and something which happened which never happened before (that's what she claims anyway) and which definitely will never happen again (also claimed), the Scowler smugly submits sensational stories, suggested, stolen, seen, snatched surreptitiously from super-sensitive students.

Letter of thanks to Santa:

Thanks for coming early and bringing what I asked you to bring to the person I asked you to bring it to in my open letter of a few weeks back. It sure was needed!

Motto of inspiration: "When duty whispers low, 'thou must', the youth replies, 'I CAN.'"

The Arbor Vitae of the week to the that Freshman with the keen sense of humor, who during the Soph-Frosh tug of war picked up a fistful of ooze and with a bland "Here's mud in your eye" let leave.

"Gather ye lip rouge while ye may" seems to be the motto of several of our shapely chorines who attended a matinee at a local playhouse. The M. C. asked for volunteers to join the chorus and with great elation a herd of "our own" felt the urge to go Shakespearian. After the curtain had been lowered, the boys wended their way back to their seats and were their faces carmined!!

"Coolie" Breckel, who was seen padding around the corridors this week, has such a thirst for education that he arrived at class only to find that he had left the house in his bedroom slippers. Did that bother him? Nay, not he. His only remark was "Shucks, why didn't I bring my robe and then I could have a good sleep."

John Stratton has the solution of how to keep up with his reading. He merely takes himself to the corner soft drink parlor, buys a package of gum, and reads the latest magazines. He reads each one from cover to cover and follows serials in every one. So far he hasn't missed an issue. When the clerk hints that John should leave he outs with, "I'm sorry but I haven't finished eating my confection yet."

Dental Note: Pete Goodwin has been reading so many of these, "A beauty until she smiles" adds that now he carries a toothbrush around in his coat pocket. After each class he gets a little sand soap and massages his molars. It's a question of which will give first, the toothbrush or the ivory.

The corn flake fad has taken root among the intellectuals of the "col-litch". The other a. m. very, very much a. m., a prominent Junior who is secretary of his class, a M. C. at many gatherings, and who writes? was seen with a heavy scarf around his neck munching the crunchy flakes. The purpose of the scarf was to slip it over his face so no one would recognize him, but he couldn't find the plate when his eyes were covered.

Hoax of the year: Now that the paper is all cluttered up with columns, it is only fair that the identity of Uncle Pete should be learned. The other three space fillers have the crust to put their names on their drive so why not Uncle Pete? The answer is there is no such person as U. P. Just to be a party to a grand expose I will give out one hint as to I have suspicion is that certain person. The hint: He is the possessor of one very moth eaten tuxedo. (Note to all P. C. men—Now don't get self-conscious). Uncle Pete's initials are the same as the

Joe McKenna Is Principal Speaker at Annual Banquet

The Providence College varsity and Freshmen football squads were the guests of the Providence College Athletic Association last night at the annual football dinner held at the Crown Hotel. Joe McKenna, former Boston College football coach and at present assistant athletic director of Boston High Schools was the principal speaker of the evening.

Twenty-six players were awarded varsity insignia last night. Vincent Ahern, student manager, was also honored. Capt. Polak, Banahan, Vitullo, Eichner, Ryan, Mignicucci, Moge, Ploski, Snyder and Spinnler, Seniors, were included in this group of lettermen. Twenty-seven Freshmen numerals were also awarded by the athletic association.

The awards were:

Officers Selected By La Pleiade

New French Club Also Adopts Constitution at First Group Meeting

The first official meeting of "La Pleiade", newly formed French Club at Providence College, was held Dec. 2 at 2:30 p. m. in room 22. About twenty members reported at this first formal meeting. The constitution of the club, drawn up by Aram Jarret, '38, was read and adopted. Members assisting him were Gerald Sherry, '38 and Lionel J. Landry, '40.

Meetings are to be held every second Thursday in the month. The next is set for Dec. 16. Election of officers took place following the plan set forth in the Constitution. The administrative unit of the club is a council of seven, headed by Aram Jarret, '38. Other officers elected were: president, Lionel J. Landry, '40; secretary and treasurer, Alfred Saute, '39, and a committee head yet to be elected. Other members of the council are: Matthew J. Scullion, '38, Earle O. Ferland, '40, and Gerald Sherry, '38.

The aim of the Club is to enrich the members in French culture and civilization, and to foster a more profound appreciation of the cultural value of Providence College. French is to be the only language spoken at meetings.

STAFF MEMBERS ATTEND N. Y. ALUMNI MEETING

The Rev. Leo M. Carolan, O.P., the Rev. Peter Philip Reilly, O.P., and Louis G. Fitzgerald, director of the college news bureau attended last night the organization meeting of an alumni club now being formed in New York City by graduates of that dis-college from which he graduated—summa cum diffidit.

Story of the week: R. Aloisius Creegan disappointed with the Pere Level ceremony. He expected to see a company of horsemen on the stage and at least three cannon. That's what comes of eating too many tulip sundays.

URGES FUND SUPPORT

Next In Beefsteak Banquet Series to Be Held In January

Providence College alumni assembled for the second informal beefsteak supper sponsored by the alumni association at the college last Wednesday night pledged complete support to the building fund after a speech by the Very Rev. John J. Dillon, O.P., president of the College, outlining plans for the campaign. Nearly 150 alumni returned to the college for the supper.

"The policy of Providence College had to be one of expansion," Father Dillon said. "Our policy is still one of expansion. We have added courses for our regular student body and have augmented our extension classes. We are offering a greater number and more thorough courses than we ever did before."

"But we have reached the saturation point. There are 52 Dominicans now on the college faculty and living conditions are overcrowded. Accommodations for the students are also overcrowded. We cannot give the student the proper college life unless we have a student resident hall. That will be the first building constructed from the proceeds of the building fund campaign as was announced last month."

"From the members of the alumni association," he concluded, "there are being selected additional members of the building fund committee. This committee, working in conjunction with the president of the alumni, will endeavor to reach every member of every class and we look to you graduates for your support and help."

Joseph H. Lyons, president of the alumni association, who presided at the affair, announced that another beefsteak supper would be held early in January.

FORMAL EVENING CLUB PLANS NEW YEAR EVENT

Announcement was made today by the Formal Evening Club of the New Year's Eve celebration to be held in the Crown Hotel.

The celebration will take place in the Empire, French and Colonial Rooms of the Hotel. On the committee are Francis D. O'Brien and Albert A. Ahern, both of the Junior Class. Providence College men are invited.

Notable Notes—John Condon has secured the Campus Club orchestra to provide the mealtime music for you eaters of dinners. It seems to provide all the would-be musicians with a chance to air their opinions of the greats of the music world. Imagine how Tommy Dorsey would feel if he thought that Tom Farrell prefers Shep Fields. And by the by that sign on the band leader's rostrum is on the up and up. The nickles you watch somebody else play go to the building fund. So why not help the buildings get up by making the music go round. (Ed. note, $1.85 is our cut this week).

The Frosh elected the slate from nowhere that may control their destinies during the coming years if and when they get by the Mid-years the prides of the Fall Rivers aren't disturbed at all. They have three more years to get in. They are running their annual brawl and crawl after Christmas. Sorry Dan, can't make it.

This Athletic Situation The sophs claim that they won the t-o-war last holiday. The score was Sophs 1, Frosh 3. The advantage of a college education is that you learn to add correctly in your own favor. The freshmen might have won the football game with Guzman, if the clock hadn't stopped running until the boys across the road scored the winning points and then the lunch bell rang. Of course they couldn't go on playing. The stars of the game weren't seen it was very cloudy and looked like rain. At the mixer it was rumored that Ted Kennedy had another act that he thought couldn't get past the censors. So he tucked a violin under his second chin and squeaked on with the show.

It is Rumored That The Formal Evening Club will be the host to the Crown Hotel on New Year's night in one of the biggest and best affairs that these precincts have yet known. Al Ahern and O'Bie have rented everything but the radio studios for the night.

Sometime back, before you Freshmen were, one T. Casey Moher the then scribbler of "Seen and Heard" pointedly asked the whereabouts of the Formal Evening Club and bewailed its premature death because he had at last found a more fortunate collegian who would loan him the necessary raiments. Well, T. Casey, the Formal Evening Club is having a rebirth come next New Year's Eve at the Crown Hotel and it is inviting Moher and more of his friends. We are also inviting the entire student body gratis (but of course there will be a slight sales tax of five dollars—$5.00).

Many have wondered at the wonderful display of spirit manifested by the students at Notre Dame. In a conversation with a recent alumnus of that institution he charged it to an attitude of open friendliness among the entire student body. The campus Club is inaugurating a Hello Week in order to create a spirit of friendliness among the students and is extending an invitation to all who desire to co-operate. Badges will be issued which will bear a Hello greeting and the student's name beneath it.

Around and About Steve Fallon on leave from basketball practice to listen to Glen Gray. Steve claims that Glen is second choice. He prefers Casa Loma. Jack Gibbons practicing fencing for the show. He's not bad, but Farrell can kill him in the play. Baker, worried over tickets for the play. Davis pushing himself along with his arms. Ed McCaffrey discussing philosophy in U.S. Asst. Dean's office. Joe Byron limping around. Our Soph reporter didn't know a story when it hit him.

OPEN SEASON

Next Tuesday night at Storrs, Conn., the 1937-38 edition of the Providence College basketball team will make its bow against the strong Nutmeggers of Conn. State, and on next Thursday evening the Friars will make their first home appearance of the season as the hosts of the Assumption five at Harkins Hall. On paper, the locals shape up as a fast and strong team.

Coach Al "Gen" McClellan has only two outstanding veterans, Captain Ed Bobinski and Leo Ploski, left from last year, which means he will have to depend to a great extent on a group of promising Sophomores. And you can never expect too much from players lacking varsity experience. Several of the men Coach McClellan was counting upon to play an important part in the coming campaign are handicapped by football injuries. This has caused the mentor to make several changes in his plans. And it will probably be a few more weeks before these lads are in satisfactory physical condition.

Providence will have a strong first team, but, in comparison to the opposition, it will be hampered by the lack of capable reserves. These facts plus the lack of proper playing facilities comprise a group of difficult obstacles for the "Gen" and his boys to overcome.

Despite these obstacles the outlook for the coming season appears fairly bright. This year's squad possesses an abundance speed and stamina and with the new rule changes these two factors are essential requisites for any successful quintet. Barring injuries during the course of the playing season, the Friars should compile a record comparable to those established by some of the former Friar court teams.

We're selecting Capt. Ed Bobinski and his cohorts to get off on the right side of the ledger by scoring a pair of triumphs before the Christmas holidays.

AROUND THE CIRCUIT

Ed Banahan, Dom Minicucci, and Paul Ryan were awarded positions on Joe Fay's All-Rhode Island college eleven. Fay is a well known sports commentator and is considered to be quite an authority on sports. Several college court mentors believe the elimination of center tap will result in high scoring games. They say 100-point games will become common. We fail to see this for the simple reason that teams will now become defence conscious. More stress will be laid upon defences to prevent fast-breaking fives from getting the jump on their opponents when on the offence. Looking over the results of last weekend's games we fail to notice any difference in the scores between this year and last year, with the exception of the R. I. State-Alumni game. And the Rams always did go in exceptionally high scores. No, we do not believe that the new rule change will have much effect on the scores, and do not believe the Rams will garner 100-points against high class opposition that is well versed in both offensive and defensive play. The elimination of the center tap has, however, greatly speeded up the game. There will be plenty of thrills and spills this year, and with the game played at a fast and furious pace basketball will undoubtedly gain many new fans. We are inclined to believe that the rule changes were made primarily for the benefit of John Public. A very smart move by the officials and coaches.

Friars Open Basketball Season at Connecticut State Tuesday

Locals Will Receive Real Test
At Hands Of Veteran
Nutmegger Five

Providence College inaugurates its 1937-38 basketball campaign against Connecticut State at Storrs next Tuesday. On Thursday, the Friars will make their first home appearance at Harkins Hall with Assumption College of Worcester furnishing the opposition.

Coach "Gen" McClellan has been drilling his players for the past month in preparation for the arduous schedule which the Friars will play. Nine members of last year's squad were lost through graduation, necessitating a complete revision of this year's lineup. Capt. Ed Bobinski, Leo Ploski, Bill Spinner, Eli Deuse, and John Crowley are the only holdovers from last year's team.

Sophomores Promising
Twelve promising sophomores are expected to make serious bids for starting positions. Last year's yearling five lost only one game. Of this group Barnini, Sweeney, Leo, Kwasiwaki, and Paparella have excelled in the pre-season drills.

The definite lineup for the Conn. State game will not be determined until Monday's practice. However, on the basis of the past week's drills, the probable lineup will have Captain

Friar Football Men Name "All" Team

Holy Cross and St. Anselm's dominated the All-Opponent football team selected by the Providence College varsity eleven this week. The team is based on the consensus of opinion of the Friar players. The players comprising this team were chosen on the basis of their performances against Providence and not upon the basis of their entire season's play.

Ed O'Mella, senior end of Holy Cross, was the only unanimous selection. He was appointed captain of the team.

The team is as follows:

Taylor, St. Anselm's	End
Radotovich, W. Maryland	Tackle
Carr, Holy Cross	Guard
Tosi, Niagara	Center
Albano, Niagara	Guard
Howe, Xavier	Tackle
O'Mella (C), Holy Cross	End
Butchka, St. Anselm's	Quarterback
Commins, Xavier	Halfback
McLean, St. Anselm's	Halfback
Renz, Holy Cross	Fullback

BASKETBALL ADMISSION

The Providence College A. A. today announced that student admission for the Providence College - Assumption basketball game at Harkins Hall next Thursday will be twenty-five cents. General admission will be fifty cents. The Providence Freshmen-Newport Naval contest will start at 7:30 o'clock with the varsity encounter scheduled to start at 9 o'clock. Tuesday night, the Conn. State-Providence set-to at Storrs, Conn., will get under way at 8 o'clock with the Friarlets-Conn. State yearling fray starting at 6:30 o'clock.

Graduate Manager Attending
Several Conferences
During Week

John E. Farrell, graduate manager of athletics, will represent Providence College at the thirtieth annual meeting of the Association of New England Colleges for Conference on Athletics to be held Monday, Dec. 13, at the University Club in Boston. Farrell is chairman of the Baseball Committee which has been standardizing baseball officiating. He will make a report of the progress made during the past year. Dr. Daniel Marsh, president of Boston University, will address the conference. The Friar representative will also attend the meeting of the Connecticut Valley Football Officials Association of which Providence is a member.

Last Saturday, John E. Farrell was one of the guest speakers at the annual dinner of the Eastern Association of Intercollegiate Football Officials held at Boston. Other speakers were Pat Hanley, Boston University football coach, Dick Harlow, Harvard football coach, and Joe McKenny, former Boston College football coach and at present assistant athletic director of Boston High Schools.

P. C. MEN ON "ALL" TEAM

Paul Ryan, tackle, and Bill Mose, fullback. Seniors, received honorable mention yesterday on the Associated Press small college All-American eleven. Cliff Pace, outstanding center from R. I. State was the only other local selection. The team was compiled by the A.P. sports staff after a close scrutiny of the leading small college teams.

Football Team Schedules Same Games for 1938

No Variation Except Arrangement of Dates; Western Moved to Oct. 15

The Providence College varsity football squad will play the same opponents in 1938 that they met during the past season, according to graduate manager John E. Farrell who released the 1938 grid schedule at the annual football dinner last night. The Friars will play their usual eight game list, with four games at home and four away. St. Anselm's, Western Maryland, City College of New York, and Rhode Island State will be met here.

The only variation in the 1938 list from the past season is in the assignment of dates. Western Maryland, met on Thanksgiving day, is moved forward to October 15, with the possibility that the game may be played the night preceding if arrangements can be completed for such a shift. Holy Cross, which annually opens the season has moved the game at Worcester on September 24, the probable opener for both teams.

Rhode Island State is retained in the mid-November spot, although the time of the game may be changed later from Armistice night, Friday, November 11, to a mid-afternoon game, or a night game on Thursday, November 10. Details for such a shift will be worked out by the two colleges within the next two months. This game will close the Providence schedule, unless plans for a late November game away from home are furthered.

Xavier, defeated here, 7 to 6, in a floodlight game, will be host to the Friars at Cincinnati on Oct. 29, in one of the standout games of the schedule. The other long trip for the Dominicans will be the return engagement with Niagara listed for the Falls City on October 9.

The complete schedule follows: Saturday, Sept. 24—Holy Cross at Worcester, Mass.; Saturday, Oct. 1—St. Anselm's College at Hendrickson Field; Sunday, Oct. 9—Niagara University at Niagara Falls; Saturday, October 15—Western Maryland at Hendrickson Field; Saturday, Oct. 22—Springfield at Springfield, Mass.; Saturday, Oct. 29—Xavier University at Cincinnati, Ohio; Saturday, Nov. 5—City College of New York at Hendrickson Field; Friday, Nov. 11—Rhode Island State at Cranston Stadium.

Yearlings Open Season Tuesday

Meet Conn. State Frosh at Storrs; Newport Naval Five Thursday at Harkins Hall

With high hopes for a successful season, one of the fastest freshman quintets in recent years to wear the black and white colors of Providence College will start its 1937 campaign next Thursday when it meets the Connecticut State frosh at Storrs in a preliminary to the varsity game. The yearlings' speed is expected to fit in well with the faster type of play necessitated by the elimination of the center tap.

This contest will mark the first Harkins Hall in a preliminary to the Friar-Assumption contest. The Sallors will be seeking revenge for last year's defeat and a close game is anticipated by both teams.

Steve "Lefty" Fallon, the key man in the Friarlets' attack, and Jack Levey will probably be Coach McClellan's selections for the back court posts. George Sarris at center, and Sam Kunitsz and Sabatini Terrace at the forwards round out the tentative starting team.

KENNEDY ELECTED HEAD OF NEW SCIENCE CLUB

Thomas F. Kennedy, '38, was elected president of the Science Club at a meeting of that group last week. Leo Trifari, '38, Joseph Donnelly, '38, and Joseph Palumbo, '38, were elected vice-president, secretary, and treasurer respectively.

Although the club is limited to upperclassmen only, freshmen who are enrolled in the science courses, are invited to attend the meetings. The newcomers are chosen on scholastic and social merits. It was also decided, at the last meeting, that the organization will meet on the second and fourth Wednesday evenings of the month.

Fall River Club Dance On Dec. 27

The Stone Bridge Inn in Tiverton, R. I. has been tentatively selected as the scene of the fifteenth annual dinner dance of the Fall River Club of Providence College, J. Joseph Shea, '38, announced yesterday. The dance will take place on Monday evening, Dec. 27.

A committee for the affair will be elected tonight when the club will meet for the first time in its new quarters on the third floor of the Sullivan Building in Fall River.
