

Friars Shell 3 Pitchers; Win Third

Scavatto Hurls Four-Hit Ball
as P. C. Downs Bates
Nine

NINE ERRORS MADE

Maine Team Overwhelmed By
Costly Miscues, P. C.
Bats

Anthony Scavatto yielded only four hits in his Varsity debut against Bates yesterday afternoon while his teammates collected 13 hits and 16 runs off the combined pitching of Malone, Whitty and Cooke to trounce the Maine Staters 16-3 in a one-sided affair. This was the Friars' first home game of the season and their third straight victory.

None of the Bates' twirlers were able to silence the Friars' heavy artillery which blasted away at their offerings in much the same fashion as it did on the New York trip. Leo Ploski, Bill Moge and Hal Martin led the Providence attack with three out of four and two out of three respectively. Ploski collected two singles, a double, and a triple. He connected for his three bagger in the second with two on and then scored on an error by Hutchinson.

The fielding gem of the day was credited to Captain Johnny Crowley who made a spectacular running catch of Buccigross' long drive into deep left center field.

The game was called at the end of the seventh by mutual agreement.

Cap and Gown Day Program Next Monday

Mass and Tree Exercises in Morning; T. Sheehan is
Speaker

The largest graduating class in the history of Providence College will be invested for the first time with scholastic cap and gowns at the traditional Cap and Gown Day exercises to be held in Harkins Hall, Monday, May 2. The investiture of seniors by the Very Rev. John J. Dillon, O.P. president of the College, and Rev. Arthur H. Chandler, O.P. dean, will follow a Solemn High Mass to be celebrated by Rev. Brendan J. Resse, O.P., chaplain, which the entire student body will attend.

After the investiture ceremony the Class Tree will be planted on the campus west of Harkins Hall. Thomas F. Sheehan, of Brooklyn, a ranking member of the class, will deliver the Tree oration. Each of the seniors will assist in planting the tree by placing a trowelful of earth on it. At the completion of the Tree ceremony seniors will return to the auditorium to hold their last class meeting. Father Chandler will announce the list of honor graduates for the year. Classes for underclassmen will be resumed immediately following the Tree Planting although seniors are excused from classes for the remainder of the day.

Seniors will wear their academic garb to all college functions and to classes for the rest of the year. The gowns are traditionally black, and the tassels of the caps according to the respective schools: white for arts, yellow for science, and blue for philosophy.

In the evening the annual Cap and Gown Dance will be held at Harkins Hall to which the seniors will also wear their academic robes. William G. Beaudro, a ranking senior, will deliver an address explaining to the seniors and their guests the significance of the cap and gown.

I. R. U. TO HAVE PANEL DISCUSSION WITH R. I. C. E.

The International Relations Union will hold a panel discussion Monday, May 2, with Rhode Island College of Education on the topic "The Crisis in Central Europe." Daniel J. MacArthur, '40; Michael O. Jenkins, '41, and Milton Krevolin, '41, will represent Providence College.

Thomas W. Durmin, '38, past president of the New England Student Peace Federation, spoke at the National Conference of the CAIP at Washington, D. C., Easter Monday, April 18. The Rev. Peter Philip Reilly, O.P., was re-elected vice-president of the CAIP.

DISTRIBUTION TODAY

Five hundred copies of the Catholic Worker, militant New York Catholic labor organ, will be distributed by a group of students at the College today. The distribution is in connection with the observance of May 1 as May Day.

Junior Week Features Open On Wednesday

Stag Banquet, Theatre Party,
Boxing Bouts and
Prom Planned

Members of the Junior Class began making ready to inaugurate the first Junior Week program ever to be held at Providence College as chairmen of the various committees for the several functions planned for the period made final plans for cooperation at a meeting of the third-year men held in the Old Auditorium yesterday afternoon. The week starts on Wednesday, May 4, and closes on Tuesday morning, May 10.

Final plans for the period, as repeated at the meeting yesterday, provided for the staging of three major events and an athletic program, along with the Junior Prom. The Week has been designed to serve as a climax of the college man's biggest social year. A Stag Banquet will start off the festivities on next Wednesday evening. The Theatre Party and Junior Boxing Bouts will follow in that order on the succeeding nights. Saturday activities include tennis, golf and baseball matches, in (Continued on Page 4, Col. 2)

Seniors Swing At Cap, Gown Dance Monday

Beaudro to Speak at Annual Affair; Vikings Will Provide Music

Once a year, in Harkins Hall, gowns which are not worn by the fair sex swish to the soft strains of a dance orchestra. They are the gowns of the members of the Senior Class, swishing in the best fashion at the Cap and gown Dance. Continuing the tradition of former years, the Class of 1938 will dance Monday evening in celebration of their investiture with Cap and Gown.

Eugene F. Cochran, chairman of the committee in charge, announced yesterday that The Vikings, Lippitt Country Club dance orchestra, will play at the affair. There will be a grand March under the direction of Mr. Louis C. Fitzgerald. The speech of the occasion will be delivered by William Geo. Beaudro.

Decorations will be in black and white, and will feature an image of a capped and gowned student leaving the portals of the College.

Assisting Cochran on the committee are William J. Tully, John H. Fanning, Gerald G. Sherry, Richard G. Koehler, Leopold M. Trifari and Arthur S. Pike.

The personnel of the Senior Ball committee is: John J. Shea, chairman, Thomas F. Melia, Constantino F. Cinguegrana, Bernard J. McKenna, Benedict P. Polak, Walter L. Cronin, J. Victor Lynch and John F. Brown.

Solemn Procession On Wednesday For Crowning of P. C. May Queen

Queen Will Be Escorted By Queens from Neighboring
R. I. Colleges

Musical comedy enthusiasts who have roared this week at the antics of the dancing chorines in the show, should roar uproariously next Wednesday afternoon when a number of students will stage a gigantic maypole procession, dance, and a climactic crowning of the May Queen. The fantastic event will be held prior to the Holy Cross baseball game on the baseball field.

One of the leading female characters in "Friar Away", has been approached to act as queen. The prospective queen is expected to be escorted in the procession by the May Queens from Pembroke and R. I. C. The two queens will be invited to assist as the queen's personal maids of honor.

The queen will be dressed in regular may-dance raiments, and will be followed by a long file of maidens chosen from her court. Train bearers will be on hand to keep the queen's train in hand. A cordon of policemen will be stationed on the field to keep the crowd off the processional route and from rushing the queen for autographs or other interests.

The group sponsoring the gay event has left nothing undone to prevent the may-time celebration from being a highly successful and enjoyable time. Arrangements have been made with all sources involved. They are now seeking a cooperation pact with the weather man, so that an untimely rain storm will not disrupt the enthusiastically awaited "crowning of the Providence College May Queen."

Students Give "Friar Away" Four Nights

Three Capacity Crowds Witness
Original Musical
Comedy

CLOSES RUN TONIGHT

Harkins Hall. Will. Be. Scene
Of Dancing, Melody
And Mirth

Acclaimed as the greatest musical comedy ever presented by the Pyramid players and students of Providence College, "Friar Away", the 1938 edition of melodrama and melody, which was played to capacity audiences for the first three nights of the four night run, will answer the curtain call tonight before what is estimated will be the largest audience ever to witness a single performance of the annual show. The book was written by Robert C. Healey, '39, and Norman J. Carrigan, '39, assisted by Walter F. Gibbons, '39, and Eugene J. McElroy, '39.

With Park O'Meters, floating elephant, dancing wraiths, and the "P. C. Cutaway" scenes, combined with clever satire, featuring the highlights of the presentation, the cast of "Friar Away" approaches a notch nearer the musical comedy perfection which was the goal of the two previous presentations, "The Student Quints" and "Soup and Fish". Sparkling humor and dippy-doodle plot keeps the audience in the realm of chucklehead.

After deviating last year from the usual setting, the scene of this year's musical farce is on the traditional campus, which is sufficient in itself to justify the merry madcap buffoonery which skips hilariously through "Friar Away". In condensed form, the story concerns the desire of an eccentric, Hiram Little, to have his scapegrace daughter, Morna, graduate from Providence College, even though that institution, since its founding, has never admitted members of the weaker sex, least of all graduate them. Hiram puts the proposition up to the staid school Board of Prudence and as an added incentive, he offers to endow the institution with a million dollars to be used for the building of new dormitories, which are badly needed. Mrs. Prudence, widow of the founder, Chauncy Azariah Prudence, is against the idea and faints, fumes, and fuses to keep the gals out.

In the midst of a session during which the boys are trying to figure out a way of frustrating the proposal, the ghost of Chauncy makes a timely appearance and suggests a plan to the lads whereby they can forestall the determined lassies. Morna and her crew are surprised in the middle of a swing session in the President's chamber, and their cause seems doomed, but Morna turns the tide with a winsome bit of coquetry.

"Haunting the House"
A little later the boys try the old gag of "haunting the house", but the astute Morna, sees through the ruse, and Moga and baggage, the girls move into the boy's dormitory. Chauncy is determined that the girls shall not graduate from his college, and as a last resort he appears on the scene with his apprentices, but in a side-splitting finale, Morna once more rides to the occasion, and woos the butler-like Chauncy into complete submission. Further than that, she also steps into the role of Cupid and brings together the aged but ardent Mrs. Prudence and the timorous but willing Hiram Little.

The story, far from being complicated, runs along smoothly and lightly and provides an excellent backdrop. (Continued on Page 4, Col. 4)

THIS COLLEGIATE WORLD

(By Associated College Press)

This column is about swing, that brand of music that is driving collegians to the Big Apple and oldsters to bad language and drink.

Our first item in this swing about swing comes from the University of Kansas. W. Otto Messner, who poses this neat question which contains much illumination about how the collegians feel about the swing vs. classics discussion: "Why do less than 2 per cent of college students interests themselves in any kind of music save swing?" He blames the whole thing upon "too much complacent stomach rubbing" on the part of those who train youngsters in music and music appreciation.

Item No. 2 comes from Rochester, N. Y., where collegians who like to attend jam sessions on Sunday afternoons have run into the long arm of the city council. The council has ordained that jam sessions may not be held on Sundays. So sponsors of the swing get-togethers have changed its name to "Swing Symphony" and are fighting the city fathers.

Item No. 3 in this swing review concerns Dick Wright, Santa Ana Junior College student who has collected a dictionary of swing slang. Here are a few that you may not hear of: "The cats" are the players in a good swing band and when they hold a "jam session" it isn't a raid on the ice box, but a get-together of swing men who play together for the fun of it. "Mugging heavy" isn't a new love term around college, but it is a musical term meaning playing soft swing music with a heavy beat. When the lads have a "setting in" they are just playing in a band of which they are not a member. Fifteen years ago it would have been known as straight jazz; today the same music is called "corny."

Other popular terms among these men are "skin-beater" drummer; "suitcase" drums; "long hair" symphony player; "gobblepuck" saxophone; "doghouse" bass violin; "moth box" piano; "iron horn," cornet; "grunt horn" tuba; and "agony pipe," clarinet.

THE COLLEGIATE REVIEW

(By Associated Collegiate Press)

Harriet Hassel, a junior at the University of Alabama, will have her first novel "Rachel's Children," published this month.

The Cynic, University of Vermont student newspaper, is named after the Cynic School, founded by Antisthenes, a follower of Socrates.

Ethel Owen, Northwestern University's contribution to radio drama, has 16 different radio voices.

The school of forestry at the University of Georgia is cooperating with the Federal Surplus Commodities corporation in finding new uses for cotton.

Texas Christian University has not lost a football game on its home gridiron since 1935.

Donald Coney, University of Texas librarian, is making a collection of "sub rosa" student newspapers.

A "war and peace" library numbering approximately 1,000 volumes has been given to Iowa State College by Carrie Chapman Catt, world famous woman suffragist. Carlisle, Pa.—(ACP)—Dickinson College has made participation in extra-curricular activities a requirement for graduation.

In a report by a special committee which established this new rule for students in this liberal arts college, the faculty assumed complete regulation of all student activities.

President Fred Pierce Corson said: "The report is the result of a long and careful study in which a large number of students participated. It is based on the belief that extra-curricular activities should be a part of the student's development and should not take any time which belongs to other phases of student's development."

Cowl Editorials

A GOOD YEAR

Early in the year, The Cowl called upon the various classes to organize for an eventful, progressive social year. As the final weeks of the year go by in an almost overwhelming succession of brilliant events, the year appears as most eventful and most progressive.

The Cowl asked the students of the various classes not only to carry on the best traditions of the College, but to show some originality as well. The Junior Class must be acknowledged the leader in this latter field. The third year men conceived a novel beat-State dance which so captivated the student body with its originality as to draw one of the largest crowd of dancers ever to grace Harkins Hall. They also conceived Junior Week, an enlarged and solidified program of Junior activities, to be climaxed by the Prom. The Week's events get under way next Wednesday, and give every promise of establishing a worthy new Providence College tradition. Congratulations, Juniors.

The Seniors have not been inactive. They inaugurated the Veritas dance, and have planned and sent to press a yearbook that gives every promise of setting a standard for future classes to imitate. Congratulations, Seniors.

The Freshman Class sponsored a St. Patrick's eve dance which netted it a profit, which it donated to the Building Fund. Congratulations, Freshmen.

The Sophomores held up their end with a successful Harvest Dance and Sophomore Hop. Congratulations, Sophomores.

All classes have contributed to the rousing success of "Friar Away", student musical comedy, which tonight closes the most well received stand in the short history of Providence College musical comedy. Congratulations, Pyramid Players.

An Open Letter

The Cowl,
 Providence College,
 Providence, Rhode Island.

 New York, New York.
 Dear Sir,

We read with interest newspaper accounts of the study which you have outlined for your retirement. If the needed and desired adjustments of our present social order are to be effected, and we believe they are, reform must spring from the initiative of such men as yourself, or from rabble rousers. The latter is the way of revolution and bloodshed. It has always been the resort in countries in which men of responsibility fail in their duty to those whom they control. To those of us who feel that we can avoid this extreme in this country, instances of a recognition of these responsibilities, such as United States Steel's recognition of the unions and your personal plans as reported in the press, are encouraging.

May we suggest that you include in your study Catholic social teaching, as embodied in the encyclicals of Popes Leo XIII and Pius XI? We believe that no study of the social order is complete which does not include a thorough consideration of this magnificent contribution to Christian social ethics. In particular, we suggest for your study the plan for unions composed of both workers and employers, working in cooperation, not as embattled factions, which the present Pope proposes. Acquainted as you are with the limitations of the present arrangements, we believe that this suggestion will be of particular interest to you.

Again, congratulations on your public spiritedness.

Sincerely yours,
 Providence College Cowl.

Campus Camera

FORDHAM HAS SENT 35 BALL PLAYERS TO THE BIG LEAGUES!

Uncle Peter Overlooks The Alumni

Uncle Peter came near overlooking the alumni column this week, what with Cap and Gown day in the proximate offing. Myrna Loy being in town—the seventh time, they let me in free—and memories of a happy but hectic vacation, all piling up to keep him from the work of giving you the jottings of our very interesting graduates.

Of prime interest to you at this time should be the Communion Breakfast which will be held next Sunday, Mass at the College; breakfast at the Narragansett. Advance sales—even as those of Friar Away indicate that a large group will be in attendance. The Mass begins at 8:30, and don't forget it is advisable to be present before the first Gospel to get credit on the right side of the ledger for fulfillment of the Sunday obligation.

Switching unceremoniously, but nonetheless appurtenantly, into the news of a couple alumni clubs, it becomes feasible to say that the Torch and Triangles hold another monthly meeting on Monday next, when George "Softball" Johnson will wield the gavel and read out of the organization several who are notably behind in their dues—Uncle Peter probably included. The club is having a softball team this summer; the idea being to keep the eye on the ball and not on the highball.

Way down Kent County way, the West Warwick boys are still talking about last Monday's soiree when the Blue Moon was regaled with the laughter following one or two of Fr. Clark's stories. Dr. Quirk, whose baseball team seems to be doing a little bit of all right, was also a guest, and doubtless knows by now when the crowd uses the 1st person and when the 2nd person, in talking about a team's record. You know, Art—"I see we won another game" but—"How come you lost to so and so?"

And now for a little bit of chit-chat, with more of the former than the latter. Bob Lynch, '34 has received a promotion in the Personal Finance Co. Bob promises not to charge any P. C. man more than 42% interest on any money he might want to borrow. Dr. William P. Shields, '29 is back in town after two years of internship at the Philadelphia General and two years of residence at the same hospital in the pediatrics department.

The reason that everything fiscal is dandy in New Haven is because Jim Scully, '31 is an accountant in the Elm City. Lots of alumni seen in New York during the past week, but not Ed Hincey, '33 of New Britain, who is reported to be wintering in Gotham. Somebody will have to think up a new nickname for Jeep McAndrew after the Tribune hangs out the crepe tomorrow.

Too bad that Joe McLaughlin, '35 of East Providence, couldn't play golf with classmate Dave Powers last Saturday afternoon, but Democrat that he is; Joe had to work. Local newspapers please copy. Coco-Cola is gradually adding a new man in its public relations department in the person of Charles Warren, '35, who went showing movies for the company a few peans ago. And in order to shuffer up this column, that is, if you'll lens me, I tell you about John Lacroix's, of the '33 Lacroixs, camera which had a private showing of its work down in Central High School. Sorry, but Uncle Peter must leave now. He has to go on the road trip with a picture called "Test Pilot".... Contact! Myrna.

Quotable Quotes

(By Associated Collegiate Press)
 "We adapt ourselves to the mediocre. We spoil many fine bricklayers and plumbers by subjecting them to a college education." The Rev. Raphael C. McCarthy, president of Marquette University, believes there should be fewer college students.

"Yep, we ought to have more tests—if we had more of them the monotony of the instructor's lectures would be broken because with the tests to give you your grade, you don't have to pay such close attention in class!" Wayne Wild, South Dakota State College student, has a new slant on the ever-present examination debate.

"I assume that vocational and professional training, weighed in and rightly proportioned with other phases of education and daily living, is worth doing. But I do quarrel with overstressing such training to the exclusion of all other life values." University of Minnesota's Dean Malcolm MacLean okes vocational education—with reservations.

Minneapolis, Minn.—(ACP)—Three presidents elected in one year and still no president in office is the unique record of the University of Minnesota's Ranger Club. Elections have been held each quarter since last spring, and each time the new president failed to return to classes for the quarter that he was supposed to head the organization.

Catholic Scientists To Gather Here

Nearly 150 Delegates From 25 Colleges Will Attend Round Table

Approximately 150 delegates representing 25 colleges will attend a one day conference of the Sixth annual district meeting of the Catholic Round Table of Sciences, to be held here at Providence College on April 30.

Following a welcome address by the Rev. John J. Dillon, O.P., President of Providence College at a luncheon, a general assembly will be held. Scientific papers will be read by the Rev. Jeremiah T. Fitzgerald, O.P., of the College Chemistry department, and by Miss Hazel Gillespie of the Biology department of Albertus Magnus College.

The Rev. John A. Tobin, S.J., head of the department of Physics at Boston College will then conduct a general meeting of the delegates, following which the delegates will be conducted on a tour of the College laboratories.

CLUB TO HOLD DANCE

Plans for the first annual dance of the Kent County Providence College Club were discussed at a supper meeting held Monday night, April 25, at the Blue Moon Diner. The dance will be held Thursday evening, May 5, at Greenwich Inn, East Greenwich, R. I.

Francis J. O'Rourke, '38, was appointed to handle ticket sales to Providence College students who are not Club members. The Rev. William E. Clark, O.P., and Doctor Arthur L. Quirk, of the College faculty, were guests at the meeting.

PUZZLE FAN

Merle Oberon is a cross word puzzle fan. Being a young woman of considerable culture, she takes even the most difficult puzzles in her stride and could generally be found working one between scenes of "The Divorce of Lady X", Alexander Korda's technicolor comedy now at Albee Theatre.

Speakers Discuss Unemployment Law

Rhode Island Officials Outline Compensation Board's Achievements

Clemens J. France, head of the Rhode Island Unemployment Compensation Board, and Charles Burke, head of the Board's Compensation Division, discussed the Rhode Island Unemployment Compensation Law and the achievements of that legislation before a group of thirty business students Wednesday afternoon in the small auditorium. Mr. France outlined the record of the law administration and explained the difficulties that confronted the Compensation Board when it began the issuance of checks to the unemployed on January 3 of this year. Burke, following France, invited questions from the floor.

France invited John W. Moroney, of the Business division, and his class to visit the Board's offices at 130 West Exchange St. to see the machinery of Unemployment Compensation in action.

Frank G. McGovern, '38, introduced the speakers.

Dean Explains June Program

Baccalaureate Mass on June 5; Speakers for Graduation Are Announced

At a senior class meeting held yesterday the Rev. Arthur H. Chandler, O.P., dean of studies, explained plans for the graduation exercises which will begin on Baccalaureate Sunday, June 5, with a Solemn High Mass in Harkins Hall. There will be an alumni Mass on Tuesday, June 7, and graduation exercises will be completed with the presentation of diplomas to the seniors on Thursday, June 9. Other alumni and social plans have not yet been completed.

It was also announced from the office of the dean that the following ranking seniors will speak at graduation exercises: Robert B. Sullivan, Caldwell, N. J., class Oration; Thomas F. Sheehan, Brooklyn, N.Y., Cap and Gown Day Tree Oration; John H. Fanning, Baltic Conn., Parent's Night; Joseph F. Caulfield, Jersey City, N. J., Class History; John A. Graham, Attleboro Falls, Mass., Class Ode; Joseph V. Cavanagh, Providence, Class Prophecy; Aram Jarrrett, Woonsocket, Junior Reception; William J. McQuade, Woonsocket, Class Testament and William G. Beau-dre, Providence, Cap and Gown Dance.

Harvard University scientists have placed the mind-reading odds at one to 10,000.

The Student Workers Federation has been refused a meeting place on the University of California campus.

ALUMNI COMMUNION BREAKFAST MAY 1

Members of the Providence College Alumni will return to their Alma Mater this Sunday to participate in the activities of the annual Alumni Day Communion Breakfast. Mass will be celebrated at the College chapel at 8:00 a. m. by the Rev. Daniel M. Galliher, O. P., Alumni Moderator, and College Registrar. After the Mass the alumni will motor to the Narragansett Hotel downtown for breakfast.

Dr. James L. Hanley, Superintendent of Providence schools, will be the principal speaker at the breakfast. Edward P. Conaty, of the Class of '33 is chairman of the thirty-member committee arranging the affair.

Ferris Institute has just established the first Michigan branch of the American Pharmaceutical Association.

Etiquette and advanced etiquette are Cleveland College courses. Pacific coast athletic authorities are planning a 150-pound football league.

Literally lying flat on his back and biting grass stems, the Scowler was rudely snapped out of his lethargy by the din and clamor which accompanied the initial opening of "Friar Away", and though the comedy closely resembled a combination Mardi Gras, fiesta, and three ring circus, the Scowler was frankly disappointed, in fact dismayed, because there were no elephants; and if there were no elephants, there was nothing to carry water to, and if there was nothing to carry water to, there were no free tickets, and if there were no free tickets, he had to pay admission to get in, which he did. And if you think he was going to try to crawl under the clapboards of Harkin's Hall, or between the legs of the ushers, you underestimate your man—he borrowed a gingham tablecloth and came in through the stage door with the kick chorus.

which many students are expected to take part. The Week will terminate on the following Tuesday morning at approximately 2 A. M. when Artie Shaw and his boys will be holding forth on the last musical number of the 1939 Prom.

The committees for the various events of the period include John F. McQueeney, Harold Martin, Thomas Flynn, John Schofield, Leo Flynn, Frank McInnis, Charles McElroy, Paul Morin, John Tully, Arthur St. Germaine, Noel Doyle, William Scanlon, and Jeremiah McDonald.

The officers of the class, who suggested the program, originally, are members of a board of general supervision. They are President, Daniel F. Murphy; Vice-President, Albert A. Ahern; Secretary, Robert C. Healey; and Treasurer, Eugene J. McElroy.

Waiting for the Jackpot: The debating team from Bates College was in town this week, and due to the hospitality of the Providence team, the Maine boys were ensconced comfortably in a downtown hotel. About 10 p.m. one of our lads went down to see how they were doing and found them all out except one. ## DENTISTRY as a Career

Dentistry offers an opportunity in the field of health service for men of ability and determination. Advanced standards have cut down dental school attendance by 44% in recent years. The number of practicing dentists has decreased 10% in the last 10 years.

Marquette University annually receives the highest rating—from the Dental Educational Council of America. The diploma is recognized in all states.

The close relationship of the Dental and Medical Schools at Marquette University is an advantage to students.

Entrance requirements: Two years in a recognized College of Liberal Arts with satisfactory credits in biology, chemistry, and physics.

Shaw's Music For Jr. Prom To Go On Air

Half Hour Broadcast May Feature Hits From "Friar Away"

Highlighting the program for the annual Junior Prom in the Biltmore Hotel ball room on Monday evening, May 9, will be a thirty minute broadcast of the music for the affair by Artie Shaw and his orchestra. The time for the broadcast has been tentatively set at 11:30 p. m. and the final arrangements will be made early next week.

During the thirty minute period some of the songs from the musical comedy sensation "Friar Away" will probably be played. Swinging it out over the air lanes will be nothing new for the "King of the Clarinet" and his lads inasmuch as they already have their own programs over a coast-to-coast hook-up every Tuesday and Saturday evening.

Prom tickets have been placed on sale in the rotunda of Harkins Hall. Those in charge of sales include James J. Gallogly, chairman of the committee for the dance, his assistants, Edward Burke, Joseph Baldwin, Joseph Martellino, and Larry Hall; and the officers of the class. Payments by installment are still acceptable to this group.

The favor selected for the dance was shown to the class at a meeting held in the Old Auditorium yesterday. The souvenir which has been chosen is an "attractive heart-shaped locket of yellow gold." It is finished in the new satin, or dulled, style. All the preliminary arrangements for the Prom have now been completed, Gallogly said yesterday, and the success of the dance is entirely dependent on the financial support of the students of Providence College.

ground for by far the best dance routines, and song hits that have been produced at the college. "I Was Walking With a Dream", "Friar Away", "Growing Gold", "Love on a Campus Bench", "How Empty It Seems", and "The Ghost's Night Out" are original melodies that deserve a place on any hit parade. "The P. C. Cutaway", an original dance by Larry Simonds, dance director, bode well to make its public appearance at future College dances.

Leads Good

John Gibbons as President Belchley of the school Board nearly steals the show with his excellent portrayal of the stern, unswerving patriarch who casts discretion to the winds when he Big Apples to swing music. Frederick Domke as Mrs. Prudence and William Cunningham as Morna Little provide the comedy interest, and Domke further adds to the hilarity with his expert tumbling and fainting acts. His love scene where he practically overpowers Eugene McElroy to gain his love is one of the funniest features of the show.

Paul Farley as the leading man is teased and tormented by Morna (William Cunningham), but despite his troubles he turns in fine performance, especially in the vocal numbers in which he and Cunningham divide honors. Eugene J. McElroy as the philanthropic papa is well cast as he provides a splendid complement to Mrs. Prudence's dominating pursuit.

Gerald O'Brien, Stanley Loparto, and Thomas Farrell as Vice-Presidents of the Board maintain the slap-happy tone of the show. Outstanding in the chorus were Benedetto Cerilli as the man, and George Solish as the lady. So realistic was Solish's stance, make up, and gracefulness that he even had the audience fooled. William Wooley and Anthony Ricci provide an enjoyable interlude of sanity with their specialty dance. James Durkin as Chauncey proved to anything but sepulchral as he belted and bullied, but nevertheless, he was very convincing.

In the cast are: John R. Bucklin, Paul Davis, Donald Albro, Paul Farley, William Cunningham, Francis Mullen, Arthur Pike, John Gibbons, Gerald O'Brien, Stanley Loparto, Thomas Farrell, Eugene J. McElroy, Frederick Domke, James Durkin, Daniel Marwooly, Philip Brien, Daniel MacDonald and James Brady.

It was directed by John Andree with Larry Simonds as dancing director and Raymond A. Baker as business manager. John Tytla was stage manager, assisted by Michael Massad, Joseph Walsh, John Cavanaugh, Albert Martocchio, Salvatore Guglielmo, John O'Reilly, Irving Rosen, Charles McElroy, and James O'Halloran. The costumes were designed by the Misses Della Di Santo and Eileen Earnshaw, aided by the Misses Beatrice Flemming and Loretta Conlon. Carl Breckel was manager of the costume designing, assisted by Eugene Cochrane.

Gentlemen of the dance chorus: James Brady, Philip Brien, Daniel MacDonald, John Schofield, William Wooley, John Couchon, Benedetto Cerilli.

Ladies of the dance chorus: James Duffy, George Gardner, Henry Gray, Thomas McGauley, Anthony Ricci, Orlando D'Acchioli, and George Solish. Specialty dances were by William Wooley and Anthony Ricci and the Four Ghosts.

ANOTHER ONE FOR THE FRIARS

"I am to put baseball on the same footing it maintained when the immortal Jack Flynn was head coach at Providence College."

That was the statement issued by Arthur Quirk upon his appointment as Friar diamond mentor. Although it is a little early in the season and a great many things may happen between now and June, at present it appears that Captain Johnny Crowley and his cohorts will enable Coach Quirk to realize his objective.

As we see it, about the only thing that would terminate the marauding tactics of the Friars would be a combined collapse of the twirling corps and a batting slump. And we don't think you'll witness any such occurrence, at least not this year.

Captain Crowley and his mates are a hustlin' and fightin' bunch of ball players. Once they get out on the field they mean business; they don't believe in phenaguing around. And as long as they maintain this attitude, it'll take a mighty good nine to outplay and outscore the Smith Hillers.

Tomorrow afternoon the second intrastate game of the season will take place at Kingston where the staggering Rams will play host to the hard hitting, fast stepping Providence aggregation. At present the Rams are leading the Rhode Island intercollegiate baseball race by virtue of their unimpressive win over Brown a few weeks ago.

With the exception of George Hines, State twirling ace, the Rams haven't measured up to standards of past years. In games played thus far, they haven't looked like much and their fielding and batting has been rather spotty. Which, of course, doesn't sound any too encouraging for the Rams' cause.

On the other hand, Providence has been playing impressive ball, performing in mid-season fashion. The lads have been pounding the old ball all over the lot, have been fielding well, and the pitching has been more than satisfactory. Which all points to the Friars having a decided edge over their arch rivals.

However, you can expect Keaney's charges to hit their stride for their encounter with the locals with the result that a close and interesting game can be anticipated. But we don't think they'll improve sufficiently to upset the locals. We're picking the Smith Hillers to continue their winning ways at the expense of the Rhode Island State nine.

GRID SCRIMMAGE

The lid will be clamped on the first spring football practice session under the direction of Coach Hugh Devore this afternoon when an intra-squad scrimmage between the Blacks and Whites will take place. It will be the final workout until practice is resumed next fall and it will provide the coaches with an excellent opportunity of finding out exactly how much football knowledge the boys have assimilated during the spring drills.

One thing is certain. Providence will be represented next year by a tough, fast, flashy, hard-hitting and hard-charging eleven that will win its share of games. They'll still be handicapped by the lack of reserves, but the above mentioned elements plus a fighting spirit and a powerful offense will make up for this efficiency. You can rest assured that the Friar grid men will perform in approved style. And they'll be a very tough team to lick.

Unbeaten Nine Meets State And Purple

Kwasniewski Versus Hines at Kingston Tomorrow; Cross Wed.

The fast stepping Friars of Providence College, boasting three victories in as many starts, will travel to Kingston tomorrow to encounter a strong Rhode Island College nine in the first game of the annual intrastate series. The Friars, manifesting an offensive attack which bodes well to keep them on the black ink side of the ledgers are conceded a good chance to add the Rams to the list of foes who have felt the sting of their swishing bats.

The Smith Hillers proved their capabilities when they garnered 17 hits against a veteran-studded St. John's Club in their initial start of the year. In their next start they blasted the offerings of the City College of New York twirlers for a total of 19 bingles, 14 for extra bases.

To date the Rams are showing the way in the race for the collegiate championship of Little Rhode by virtue of a 6-0 win over Brown. In four tilts played thus far State has split even. Besides the Brown victory, the Rams hold a verdict over Northeastern. The two setbacks chalked up against them were registered by Boston College Eagles.

Kwasniewski Opposes Hines

Coach Quirk will, in all probability send Joe Kwasniewski, who was the pitching star of last year's Freshman nine, turning in a highly-creditable all-around performance in his first varsity chucking role by blanking St. John's, 8-0. The rest of the Providence lineup will be the same as the one which started the previous games.

George Hines, rated as one of New England's finest pitchers, will be Coach Keaney's choice to face the undefeated Friars. The veteran Ram hurler started in all of State's games this campaign. Last year Hines faced the Black and White diamond forces twice, winning the first, 2-0, dropping the second by a 9-1 count.

State's infield will consist of Bill Butler at first; Chet Jaworski, of basketball fame, at the keystone sack; Travis Zachadny, at third base; and Irey Fay, at short. In the outfield will probably be LaCostro in left; Don Graham, converted third sacker, in center; and Albanese, in right. Pace or Duranleau will do the receiving for the Kingstonians.

Play Holy Cross Wednesday

On next Wednesday the Friars will make their second home appearance of the year, playing host to Holy Cross. The Crusaders invariably fields one of the strongest nines in Eastern College ranks, and their calibre of play points them out as one of the best to ever represent the Worcester institution.

The Crusaders opened their season by topping the Boston Red Sox of the American League in an exhibition tilt. Other outstanding wins were scored over Dartmouth and Fordham. The Worcesterites have been defeated once, that setback being administered by Brown.

Rhode Islanders will be given a chance to see two former local schoolboy stars in action. "Lefty" Lefebvre, who used to serve them up for Pawtucket High, and "Red" Durand, ex-LaSalle Academy ace, will be in the starting lineup when the Crusaders take the field against the Friars. Both are regarded as potential big leaguers.

Providence has always been a thorn in the side of Holy Cross baseball teams. Usually the Friars are the only team capable of making the Purple finish on the short end of the score

Netmen Open Year With Bruin Team

The Varsity tennis team will open their season on Saturday afternoon at the Thayer Street courts with the Brown University netmen as their opponents in six singles and 3 double matches. The Friars will be out to avenge an 8 to 1 setback suffered at the hands of the Bruins last year.

John McQueney will be in the number one slot, and will also combine with Bill Scanlon as the Friars top doubles combination. Spinnler and Holdridge will also play both singles and doubles matches.

The lineups at Thayer Street Courts:

Providence College: (singles)—1—McQueney, 2—Holdridge, 3—Scanlon, 4—Tully, 5—Crawford, 6—Spinnler; (doubles)—McQueney and Scanlon; Sullivan and Tierney; Spinnler and Holdridge.

Football Squad Game Today

Footballers Will Demonstrate Notre Dame System Taught By Hugh Devore

Providence College Varsity football candidates will bring their spring session to a close today with an intra-squad game. The team will be divided into two clubs, the Blacks and the Whites. The game will be held at 2:30 and all students are invited to attend. Head Coach Hugh Devore said in inviting all to come, "I would appreciate the cooperation of the students by their presence at the game."

In a recent interview concerning the results of the daily practices Coach Devore said, "I appreciate the cooperation the players have given. They have shown an aggressive spirit and have been very receptive to the new system and coaches. The other coaches and myself have a good idea as to the abilities of the players but as yet no set lineup has been picked. As to the future, conditions are dubious and only time will tell the true results of the spring practice."

Two lineups have been selected to start the game tomorrow. With the exception of a few players who will be unable to play these will be the men who will represent the Friars on the gridiron next fall. Stan Eiselonis, Larry Stattuck, and "Slip" Barnini will be among the missing.

The real find of the spring session will show his wares at right half for the Whites. He is 158 pounds of dynamite, sophomore Bill Carter. Time and time again in scrimmage he has shown amazing ability. He runs hard and fast and has a change of pace in the open field that baffles the defense.

Another candidate whose play will win him a regular berth is Cas Potera, former La Salle Academy athlete. Potera was only a sub and on last year's freshmen club but throughout the practices he has caught Coach Devore's eye by his aggressive play. Capt. Anthony Pariseau, Fred Domke, Charlie Avedisian, and Paul "Kelly" Whelan have shown outstanding ability that should go far to help the Friars have a successful season next fall.

Rockne System Uses No Fixed Defense Plan

Vary Defensive Formation to Suit Opponents' Type Of Game

(This is the last in a series of articles on the Notre Dame System of Football as given to The Cowl by Hugh J. Devore, former All-American end at Notre Dame and at present head football coach at Providence College.—Ed. Note.)

By Albert E. Paine, '38

"Possession is nine-tenths of the law." This axiom might well be applied to the team on the gridiron, for no eleven can expect to win games unless they have possession of the ball throughout the greater part of the sixty minutes of play. Touchdowns are made from the offensive, except in such cases as pass interceptions, blocked punts, or fumbles over the goal line. But the great majority of scoring is the result of a good offensive attack, and that is the reason why full attention is given to offensive play in spring practice sessions.

Coaches who adhere to the Rockne system believe that any aggressive blocker is qualified to become a good defensive player. The difficulty in defensive play lies in the mental strain experienced in the attempt to diagnose the opponent's attack, as we have mentioned in a previous article. The mental reaction to offensive play is not nearly so exacting.

There is no set defense employed by a team using the Notre Dame system. Rather the defense varies from week to week in accord with the type of offense used by the opposition. A certain type of defense might prove very effective against one system of attack whereas it might be a complete failure against a club employing a different offense. Even during the course of the game a team may be forced to vary its defense to cope with the opponent's style of play.

On the offensive, a hard running attack with good blocking is preferred under the Rockne system. Capable pass threats are essential to open up the opponent's defense, but the greatest yardage is gained on ground play. However, the usual amount of laterals and trick plays are used to baffle the opposition.

The importance of offensive work in spring drills has asserted itself here on Smith Hill under Coach Hugh Devore. To date the players have been given about 75 plays. Each coach employing the Notre Dame system adds his own plays to the fundamentals of the system to provide a well diversified attack.

This afternoon at 2:30 o'clock the students and followers of Providence College will be treated to a regular game played between two picked elevens from the gridmen who have been engaged in spring drills since February. This game will terminate spring training and will give the students their first chance to watch Providence College perform under the famed Notre Dame system as taught by Coach Devore.

With this article we conclude our series of writings on the Notre Dame system. We have aimed to present the general workings and fundamentals of the system so that the students may have a more intelligent understanding of future games. Additional articles would necessitate the explanation of particulars or else the revealing of certain parts of Coach Devore's own attack, both of which we deem unwise.

FORMER STUDENT WINS IN CYO BOUTS HERE

Eddie Foley, former Providence College student, left this week for New York where he will compete in the National CYO boxing tournament finals. Foley gained top honors in the 135 pound division in the State CYO finals completed last week.

While attending the college last year, Foley competed in the Junior boxing bouts and won his bout handily. Since leaving college he has performed impressively in several amateur boxing tournaments conducted throughout the State.

Jr. Bouts Set For Friday

Attractive Card Announced By McElroy, Chairman Of Event

An attractive card consisting of five boxing bouts and three wrestling matches has been arranged by Charles McElroy, chairman of the committee, for the Junior Boxing Tournament to be held at Harkins Hall on Friday night, May 6.

The boxing card is headed by a bout between Fred Gabriele and Pete Iaccarino, fast and sharp hitting lightweights, who are expected to furnish the fans with a clever exhibition of boxing. Joe Cavanaugh will hook up with Ray Bedard in one of the other fights. Both are veterans, having participated in previous tournaments. This one shapes up as a slugging match with Cavanaugh having a slight advantage due to a good left jab.

Another evenly matched fight will have Jimmy Lopes of New Bedford

Freshmen Win 1st Game of Season

Defeat Naval Training Station on Hendricken Field By 11-0 Score

The Freshman nine lifted the curtain of its 1938 campaign with an impressive 11-0 win over the U. S. Naval Training Station team of Newport last Wednesday on Hendricken Field. "Ambie" Reynolds, Coach Quirk's choice for the opening pitching assignment, was deprived of a no-hit, no-run game when Murphy's Texas League single, coming in the second inning, marred an otherwise perfect performance. He struck out 14 batters and issued only one base on balls.

Co-starring with Reynolds was shortstop Jack Keenan who paced the 11-hit barrage against three U. S. Naval Training Station hurriers by collecting three singles, a triple and a home run. In addition he scored three runs and stole two bases. Steve Fallon and "Terry" Terrace, both members of the '37 Freshman basketball team, also contributed heavily to the scoring with two hits apiece.

Tomorrow the young Friars will meet Harvard Freshmen on Hendricken Field. Next week they will play three games, facing the Boston College yearling team at Boston on Monday, R. I. State Freshmen at Kingston on Thursday, and St. John's Prep at Hendricken Field on Saturday morning.

Early Publication Seen for Veritas

Leather Cover, 400 Pictures, 224 Pages Feature 1938 Annual

The Veritas, Providence College yearbook, will make its appearance on the campus within the next few days, according to announcement by the board of editors. All copy is now in the hands of the printer and will soon be forwarded to the bindery for the final processes.

Several members of the staff recently paid a visit to the printing shop and were most enthusiastic in their praises for the appearance of the finished pages. The book will contain 224 pages bound in a distinguished leather cover. More than 400 different pictures of life at Providence College are so arranged throughout the pages that each page will be distinctive and interesting.

A sufficient number of copies have been ordered so that no underclassman should be without a yearbook. The Seniors this week completed their payments and the business staff will soon begin a solicitation of members of the other classes so that there will be no delay in delivering the book to those underclassmen who desire a copy.

Foisy Addresses P. C. La Pleiade

La Pleiade, Providence College French Society, held its regular bi-weekly meeting on Wednesday, April 27, at 4 o'clock in the large parlor. J. Albert Foisy, of Woonsocket, formerly connected with prominent French papers in Canada and the United States, and now French news commentator on Station WPRO, spoke on the development of the Franco-American press. He stressed the importance of French as a safeguard of the French language and culture in America. M. Foisy delivered the first of a series of lectures to be given by prominent Franco-American laymen at French Club meetings.

The Rev. Arthur H. Chandler, O.P., dean of studies, formerly indorsed the new program as being materially of great benefit to members of the club.

opposing Sal Guglielmo. There is very little to choose between this pair and a close contest is in the offing. The remaining two bouts will bring together John Ferland and Irving Jacobson, lightweights, and Rus Varnum and Ernest Pike, welterweights.

The feature attraction of the evening will be a battle royal with "Gig" Pariseau, Ben Polak, and Les Burdge participating. These lads will give their version of the professional tortoise and groaning. With the exception of the stranglehold, nothing will be barred. Either Izzy Siperstein or Charles McElroy will act as the referee.

Sharing honors with the battle royal will be a return match between Dick Mezejewski, leading New England amateur wrestler, and John "Slip" Barnini. Last year they staged a thrilling and exciting match that had the spectators standing in the aisles and

BASEBALL DOUBLEHEADER

The first Varsity-Freshman baseball doubleheader ever played on Hendricken Field will be staged on Memorial Day, Monday, May 30th, when the Friarlets and Varsity clubs will clash with the Rhode Island State nines. The Freshman game was originally scheduled for May 20.

The yearling contest will get under way at 12:30 o'clock and the Varsity tilt will commence immediately after the conclusion of the opener. All students will be admitted free upon presentation of their class admission cards at the Student-Press gate.

the return tussle is expected to surpass it. The other wrestling match will have Tom Curran and John Cerra as the principals.

McElroy today announced that Charles Reynolds, chief of the Rhode Island Commission of Athletics and former Providence College pitcher, will be the timer. Judges will probably be Coach Hugh Devore and Coach Arthur Quirk.
