

Seniors to Hold Veritas Dance Tuesday Night

Photographs Taken at Dance Will Be Published in Year Book

The senior class will hold its annual "Veritas" dance Tuesday night, Feb. 21, the eve of Washington's Birthday. Terence J. Rielly, chairman of the committee, urged the student body, especially the underclassmen, to support the affair. "The purpose of the dance," Rielly said, "is to obtain financial support for the year-book."

"It is the only senior affair of the entire year and therefore, deserves student recognition. Proceeds from the dance will be used to help defray expenses of the 'Veritas.'"

At a meeting of the senior class yesterday the Rev. John J. McGregor, O. P., moderator of the publication, stated, "The success of this dance will be a very important factor in the determination of the selling price of this year's 'Veritas.'"

Augmented by a commercial photographer, the camera staff of "Veritas" will take extra pictures at the dance on Tuesday. It is the last dance of which photographs will be published in the yearbook.

The committee has planned an entertainment for the intermission. Bill Wooley, '39, and his partner will give an exhibition of "Jitterbug" dancing. As another feature, balloons will be released on the dancers during the course of the evening.

Music will be furnished by the Zephyrs who have just returned from an engagement at the Dartmouth Winter Carnival. The Zephyrs, an eight-piece band, have gained recognition by playing on cruises to Bermuda during this Christmas and Easter holidays.

The committee headed by Terrance J. Rielly consists of: Fred Turner, John McQueeney, George Long, Francis Crowley, John Lyons and John Cehofed, Michael A. Coyne, editor of "Veritas" is serving as ex-officio on the committee.

Tickets for the dance are priced at one dollar per couple.

MASCOT RENAMED

The Friars Club officially renamed "Jimmy Crickets," as "Friar Boy the Third" at the meeting of the Club which was held Wednesday evening. The move was taken to preserve the title "Friar Boy" as the title of the official Providence College mascot.

Sophs Defeat Frosh; 'Amby' Reynolds Stars

Junior Lightweight Defeat Seniors in 'Sudden Death'

By Harold Rich

Intramural court activities reached the halfway mark with the completion of the four encounters contested this week. Most of the tilts staged thus far have been hard-fought, closely-contested battles featured by fine ball handling and accurate shooting.

On Monday night the Sophomore heavyweights tripped the Freshman heavies, 25-19. Held to an 11-all stalemate at halftime, the Sophs, with ambling Amby Reynolds hooping the major portion of their last half scores, took command and staved off frequent bids by the first year men to gain the decision.

Shortly after the start of the contest, John Stonkus, Frosh centre, counted on a lay up shot, but the Yearlings' lead was short-lived as Jack Clifford, sharp-shooting Sophomore forward, found the hoop for two successive goals to put his team out front. Guests and Terrace augmented the Sophs' total by four points, and Ed Quegan counted for the Freshmen to make the score, 7-4, at the period.

The second period found Jack Sarris accounting for all of the Sophomores' points, with Finnegan, Quegan, and Stonkus garnering goals from the floor for the Freshmen. Two minutes remaining, and the count at 11-10 in favor of the Sophs. Scanlon, substitute guard, made good on a toss from the free throw line to knot the count.

JUNIORS ELECT PROM COMMITTEE; CHAIRMAN TO BE NAMED TODAY

'Ready Aim Friar' Starts Production; Director Selects Tentative Cast

Publicity Staff and Ticket Committee Appointed; Trials to Continue for Specialty Acts and Chorus

The cast for the annual musical comedy was provisionally chosen during the past week when departmental organization and intensive tryout rehearsals were conducted under the supervision of the director of the production together with the script committee. Character parts, specialty artists, and dance numbers were lined up along with the distribution of the script to those showing signs of talent and willingness to work.

The theme and background of the show have not been disclosed but the name "Ready Aim Friar" has been the definite choice of those who composed the comedy. More than 40 musical compositions were submitted to the music department and 10 were found to be appropriate to the plot. These scores are being arranged and are due to be sent to the arrangers in a short time.

Appointments to the publicity staff and ticket committee were completed today and work in these departments is due to get under way in the near future. The director also announced today that the student body had responded well to the appeal made to them by Rev. Urban Nagle, O. P., who urged his listeners to sign pledges signifying their intentions to support the comedy.

About half the student body assured those in charge of their support by promising to sell two or more tickets each which was an encouraging indication to the play's producers.

While the deadline for tryouts ended yesterday the directors decided to extend the audition time until Monday when any specialty artists may exhibit their talents in the old auditorium at 2 p. m. A request to those with any stage-designing or electrical ability are asked to report also on Monday. Salvatore Guglielmo is head of the stage crew and has at present a crew of four working with him.

It is expected that the entire show will have in its cast nearly 40 students and 10 more in technician and stage-designing group. Three rehearsals are scheduled for each week and when the opening night arrives, April 19, the players promise a bigger, better, funnier show than has ever been presented at the College.

In the dancing department Larry Simonds will have complete charge, a position he has held for the last three years, and has predicted that the student body would see a novel and synchronized dance routine with his usual style and variations predominating.

Sweeney, Hagan, Carroll, Oates, Irish, Win Prom Posts.

Preparations for the annual Junior Promenade were begun yesterday when the Junior class elected the committee to plan the dance.

Elected to the committee were Davitt F. Carroll, Paul R. Oates, Fred D. Hogan, Howard L. Irish and D. Paul Sweeney. These committee members will meet tomorrow with the class officers, Bernard T. White, William D. Carter, M. Joseph Walsh and John D. Donley, who will serve ex-officio on the committee, to select a chairman. Eligible for office are Hogan Oates and Irish.

Carroll, a graduate of Hope street High School, was chairman of the Sophomore committee last year. Oates, a resident of Derby, Conn., and a graduate of the local high school is a member of the Friars Club and Vice President of the Naugatuck Valley Club. He also served on the committee for the Halloween dance conducted by the Junior class this year.

Irish, who graduated from Providence Classical High, was class secretary during his Sophomore year. Hogan, a business student, is a native of Woonsocket and graduated from Woonsocket High School. Sweeney, a three letter athlete, graduated from Pittsfield, Mass. High School. He is a member of the board of directors of the Carolan Club.

The Rev. Irving A. Georges, O. P., class moderator, in addressing the class before the election urged them to forget personal preferences and elect a committee which would serve faithfully and uphold the tradition of former Junior Proms.

"The Junior Prom has an enviable record and it involves a great deal of work. Therefore I appeal to you boys to give me men who are willing to co-operate and work with the rest of the committee. Remember that the men whom you select will be subject to the approval of the dean and if any man is nominated who is unable to fulfill the requirements it will be a great deal of trouble and embarrassment if he declines the office."

An innovation in procedure was introduced in the form of pledges affixed to the ballots by means of which the class members signified their intentions of attending the Prom. The Rev. John McGregor spoke to the class in regard to subscriptions to the Veritas.

Lenten Services To Start Feb. 22

Lenten services for boarding students will be held every Wednesday evening starting February 22. Rev. Charles H. McKenna, O.P., College Chaplain, announced yesterday. Special lenten sermons will be given during the services by members of the faculty, the first of which will be delivered by Rev. Joseph D. Donovan, O. P.

Stations of the cross will be made every Friday beginning next week. Although the time of the Friday devotions has not yet been fixed, efforts are being made to find an hour convenient for all.

Students, Faculty, Mourn Pope's Death

Entire Student Body Attends Mass of Requiem; Fr. Perrotta Gives Eulogy

The students and faculty of Providence College mourned the death of Pope Pius XI this week with Masses and prayers. The front of Haskins Hall has been draped with black, denoting death, and purple, denoting royalty. These will remain for thirty days.

A requiem Mass, attended by boarding students, was offered in the College chapel Sunday morning. On Monday morning the entire student body and members of the faculty attended a solemn high Mass of requiem in the auditorium. The Rev. Pius P. Heasley, O.P., was celebrant. The Rev. Philip C. Sweeney, O.P., was deacon, and the Rev. Peter P. Rielly, O.P., sub-deacon.

The Rev. Paul C. Perrotta, O.P., gave the eulogy, citing the work of the Holy Father in the fields of peace and missions. The priests' choir, under the direction of Rev. Leo S. Cannon, O.P., chanted the responses.

Monday afternoon the members of the Dominican community of Providence College chanted the age-old office of the dead for the "Protector of the Order". The Very Rev. John J. Dillon, O.P., as prior of the community, led the ceremony.

The Rev. Arthur H. Chandler, O.P., dean, commenting on the passing of the Pontiff issued the following statement:

"In the death of the great Father of Christendom, we have all sustained a personal loss. . . There is one of them (tributes) which I would single out, especially to young men.

Intra-Mural Debate Schedule Resumed

Two Debates Held Wednesday Night; Freshman Team Meets Hope High Tonight

The intra-mural debating schedule was resumed Wednesday night, as Charles Sweeney, '41, and Charles McGovern, '41, upholding the affirmative of the question "Resolved: That the United States Government Should Cease Spending Public Funds for the Purpose of Stimulating Business," defeated a negative team composed of John O'Gara, '40, and James McGowan, '41.

A negative team composed of Henry Gray, '41, and William McGair, '40, supporting the negative of the question "Resolved: That the United States Should Establish an Alliance with Great Britain," won a decision over John Rock, '39, and Edwin Rogers, '39, defending the affirmative.

A freshman debating team composed of Russell Jalbert, John Converse and Frank Maguire will take the affirmative of the question "Resolved: That the United States Should Establish an Alliance with Great Britain," in a debate with the Hope High School team at Hope High Auditorium at eight o'clock tonight.

The Freshman Society held the first of a series of weekly intra-mural debates yesterday afternoon. Russell Jalbert, John Converse and F. J. Maguire, upholding the Affirmative of the question, "Resolved: That the United States Government should enter into an Alliance with Great Britain," defeated a negative team made up of William Reilly, T. J. McDonald and John Fondi.

Student Insurance Co. Is Invited To Open Branch Office In India

Letter From Researcher in Chuni Mundi Says It Would Be Successful There

India, Lahore, The Punjab! These are perhaps romantic names to many that stir up visions of diamond-laden Maharajas, of teeming masses of white-froked natives, of fanatic tribesmen waging war with brave, God-save-the-king toasting Britishers upon rugged mountains of aweing beauty—a land of ageless mystery and beauty. Whether any of these stirring Kiplingque features of India still remain we do not know; but that the deep wisdom of ages abounds in India we do know; for on Feb. 7 a letter arrived at Providence College from Chuni Mandi in Lahore, capital of the Northwest province of the Punjab of India. It was addressed to the manager of the Students Protective Insurance Association of Rhode Island, U.S.A. Upon the envelope were the words of some worthy local postal clerk—"Try Prov. College."

How the good Mr. or Sahib B. P. Atal, the writer of this letter, could have heard of the Students Protective Insurance Association without hearing of Providence College is another mystery of India; for Providence College is quite adept at publicity and irrevocably connecting its name with any affair which might relate to the College. Perhaps the name came to him from some phychic native oracle, perhaps he perused the Reader's Digest which had a bit about this organization in it, or perhaps he reasoned that Providence College was Rhode Island—well, he wasn't far off. Nevertheless we received the letter. In it this same estimable B. F. Atal, who tells that he is an Insurance Researcher, requests the manager of the Insurance Association to send him a copy of the "prospectus, agency terms, and other necessary things in connection with this new kind of insurance." He continues to say that a branch—no less, of the Association should be established in India as this type of Insurance is a very novel idea.

TRIBUTE

The members of the new staff of the Cowl take this opportunity to congratulate the Seniors who have recently retired from the staff on the splendid work they have done on the Cowl during the past four years. Some of the Seniors have been active members of the actively connected with the Cowl since its foundation four years ago. For four years their love of newspaper work and their interest in the Cowl have been dominant factors in the young paper's growth. Long hours spent in gathering and editing news have been crowned with success. Time and effort spent by the advertising and business staffs have given the Cowl its life's blood. Sleepless nights spent at the press have had their effect. The Cowl was established four years ago. Last year the Cowl was rated as a first class college newspaper by an impartial and disinterested intercollegiate press agency.

The present Cowl staff congratulates Bob Healey, Norm Carignan, John Mahoney, Mike Coyne, and Dan Murphy for a great deal of excellent work. The present staff hopes to continue the progress they have made.

A NEEDED COURSE

Recent letters to the editor of the Cowl to the effect that a course in music appreciation should be established at Providence College are not without foundation. At present, Providence College has no such course. Those students who are deeply interested in good music find it necessary to supplement their knowledge on their own initiative. And those students who are only subconsciously aware of the fact that other music exists, in addition to swing, work toward a diploma under the delusion that they are educating their whole selves.

The art of music is in the ascendancy in the United States. Conductors from foreign countries come here to lead our symphony orchestras. The greatest singers of the world come to take part in the operas at the Metropolitan Opera House in New York. Last week over twenty-five symphonies were broadcast over one major network alone. America is becoming conscious of good music.

It seems obvious, therefore, that before a college student can call himself "educated", he should at least know and appreciate the difference between Tchaikovsky and Tommy Dorsey.

Providence College seeks to enrich the minds, the personalities, and the experience of student by a study of the humanities. Should it not supply its students with at least a slight knowledge of a subject which is of so great importance where cultured people gather?

Providence College is a liberal arts college. It's aim is to educate the whole man, to fully develop all of his powers. Yet students here who are desirous of securing some sort of course in music find themselves disappointed. And many Providence College students are headed toward graduation without a shred of knowledge of a field of art which has an important place in our civilization.

It seems imperative that a course in music appreciation be established here at Providence College. We have the men to teach it. We have the students who are deeply interested in taking it. And, heaven knows, we have the students who need to take it.

The Secular Press

Since the death of Pius, the secular press has made a sudden about face in its attitude toward Catholics.

One stops to consider whether this change in attitude is sincere, or whether the secular press is indulging in a bit of hypocrisy. It is difficult to understand the abruptness of the change.

There are two possible explanations which may be given, first, the press mindful of circulation, has taken this opportunity to persuade Catholics to forget the past hostility which the press showed Catholics. And secondly, the press has become aware of the ultimate results of cynical philosophy and intends to present the truth in the future.

If it be the first, then we cannot be too vehement in our condemnation of the recent action of the secular press.

It is an attitude of hypocrisy designed to play upon the sympathies of gullible Catholics. If it be so, we shall continue in denouncing their partiality and their false notion of justice.

On the other hand the attitude of the press may be sincere—We hope it is. Catholics do not want partiality; they want a presentation of the truth. We hope that the attitude has really changed, that the secular press will continue to present the ideals which they are now proclaiming. They speak of justice and its need; let the secular press practice what it advocates.

The Keyholer

By ED DUPRAS, '40

Once there lived a just and intelligent man who said: He who seeketh true facts very often inviteth a punch in the nose. Who nose?

This was to have been our first contribution of the second semester to advance the learning of these mugs here at the college but our editor thought it wiser to cut this column when a big story broke. Never let it be said that we stood in the way of a big story but in the future we would appreciate advance information to save the wear and tear on the typewriter. Perhaps it would be better for all concerned if we just forgot the column in perpetuum but when you gotta write there ain't nothing you can do about it unless you hitch a hose to the gas-pipe—now there's an idea.

Alumni note—Shame on Uncle Pete for overlooking but it's an item of local interest that those studio players of station WPRO for whom alumnus Walt Hackett is scrip-writing have been dramatizing all the stories from the Sophomore short story book.

'Tis a shame the way the American college student has degenerated from the days when men were men and women were bustles but perhaps there is a faint gleam of hope left. Years ago college men used to enjoy holding their loved one close and gliding through the steps of a stately cotillion but now they hold them at arm's length and toss them around the hall to the soothing strains of the hottest and latest numbers. Yet it seems that at Providence they don't even wish to toss the fair ones around the hall but prefer to stay at home and study. (?)

The Carolan Club dance was a nice dance as dances go and even the C. C. C. Bernie White did his best to help the festivities but nary a student approached his efforts. Even the boys of the Carolan Club were conspicuous in their absence. Tsk tsk, boys is that the proper attitude. Incidentally, the orchid of the week to Carolan Club Crooner White for his neat job.

While we feel in an editorial mood with your kind indulgence (You'll have to take it whether you like it or not) a comment or two on the intra-mural basketball games. More exciting than many of the varsity games these intra-murals have as yet failed to receive the support of the student body. It may be that most of the students prefer to study but remember that all work and no play makes Jack an honor man and who wants to be an honor man.

Man of the week—Linus O'Rourke—Because he believes in the old adage that travel broadens a man and is willing to plank down sixteen bucks per peem to prove it.

Well, the feast of Cupid has come and gone and we haven't yet gotten any reply from Oswega regarding the Junior prom which is just around the well-known corner. Maybe the mail-man was so tuckered out from carrying last Tuesday's mail to the school that he couldn't lift one of Oswega's weighty manuscripts. She's a backwoods girl and uses a planned log for her letter writing. Fulfills two duties at once, writes a letter and sends us wood for the fireplace.

Now that slippery days have gone, for good we hope, now is the appropriate time to remind you of a few obvious rules which you reckless drivers should put into practice next year.

1. Don't stop slowly and carefully, it is much more spectacular to come to a skidding stop. It often leads to a sliding conclusion.

2. Never respect the rights of the other drivers, they wouldn't know what was going on; they might think you were slap-happy and call in a psychiatrist.

3. Always honk your horn continually, you'll be much happier in the end.

4. Scare the life out of any and all pedestrians, it's peachy fun. C'est tout for this week but we'll be back again as then won't you be mad.

Uncle Peter Overlooks The Alumni

The Alumni Ball came, saw, and was conquered. A large crowd turned out for the highlight of the social season, and the many who journeyed from far and near enjoyed the music, the dinner and the dancing. Chairman Jack Coffey and his sub-committee deserves the commendation of all the graduates.

Unfortunately, of course, that a gala social should coincide with an occurrence that has put the whole of the world in sincere mourning. Events happen with such startling suddenness that it is not always possible to obviate undue and unjust criticism. In cases like these, it is well to recall the scholastic philosophy which taught us that the general good came before the individual good. Events turned out as could be expected, and more important, as would be wanted by those whom we honor.

Allan Braeken, 34—known as 'Dick' Braeken among the halls of Harkins—heads the list of Port Chester New York men eligible under the Civil Service Commission's regulations for appointment in that city. Dick, who was a cum laude graduate in addition to being an All-American basketball player for the Friars, was one of 700 applicants taking the exam. When results were published he stood first with an average of 94.3%.

Heather and yarn . . . Sorry to hear about Bill Reily, '35, teacher at La Salle Academy being sick at home for a couple of fortnights. . . . Bobbie Dion of Nashua is reported to be staying in Providence for about 15 weeks working on a project in connection with his graduate school work. . . . Mal Brown's set as well as Bob Schiffman's other pals, are glad to learn that said Robert will make himself a bridegroom come April.

Alumni's Ball . . . Gorge McGuire, '37, and his boss Jim Bostick, '35, held the long distance record for attendance at the dance both having come up from New Jersey. . . . Seemed good to see Ed Lyons, '33, and Joe Carey, '37, around the halls again the day after the affair. . . . If anybody had cried 'Is there a doctor in the house?' your uncle thinks someone would have been killed in the results held stampeo, for Drs. Young, Corrigan, Cunningham, and O'Reilly were among those noticed in well fitting tuxedos. . . . Latest word from the Billmore is that Dave Powers was the last man to get to the dance and Charlie Verde was the last man to leave. . . . 'Twas ever thus, and 'tsoo had there won't be another until next year.

What Do You Think?

Are you in favor of instituting a course in music in Providence College?

Ted Miller, Sophomore, Social Science.
Yes, we should, because music develops the mind and teaches one how to appreciate the better things of life. P. C. is a college of liberal arts, and the students here should certainly be given the opportunity to develop musical talent which has remained latent because of a lack of facilities.

John Brenden Barnini, Junior, Education.
Yes, I am in favor of it. Not only should we have a background of knowledge in the classical composers and their great works to round out our education, but an opportunity to study semi-classical and modern modes of music.

I think a good jazz band on the football field would add color to the team, and do much to make the school widely known.

Morris J. Ferland, Sophomore, Education.

It's a good idea. Students should be given the optional choice of either classical or swing studies. The orchestra and band would probably soon develop with an influx of new players.

Alvin Wally, Junior, Education.
Certainly. Music, more than ever, is an integral factor in culture and education, and the public interest of late has inspired a fervent desire to know and appreciate it.

Music brings forth the hidden faculties of the mind, develops concentration and perception, and stimulates our thoughts to higher things.
John P. Grady, Senior, Pre-Medical.
Yes and No. I do not think that it would be practical to compel anyone to attend the courses, because many of us are well occupied with our own work, and could not find the necessary time. But music is certainly one of the preferred polishes of culture, and many professional men find it a source for enjoyment and relaxation.

HOT OFF THE FRYER

By F. X. McCARTHY
Time to Talk Football Again

We have Coach Hugh Devore back with us again and that means football and plenty of it. The popular Friar mentor extends an invitation to all students of the college who have any football ability whatever plus the willingness to take matters seriously, to attend the daily lectures which began Wednesday. But he insists that they be serious otherwise they will only impede his progress and the entire squad will suffer.

However, judging from the schedule as outlined by him which appears elsewhere on this page, Coach Devore seems to have left little time or fooling. The squad will certainly have its work cut out for it between now and May 1st when the drills are due to terminate. The only break in the routine comes during the Easter vacation when all players will be given a week's leave.

When the lectures are completed and the squad is ready to move outdoors the coaching staff will find itself relieved of the two big problems which confronted it a year ago. First of all it has more than double the amount of men to work with as no less than 58 candidates are available for varsity competition. There are 24 varsity men returning along with 34 members of last year's Freshman club. This is the largest squad yet ever greeted a Friar coach in the history of P. C. athletics.

The other tremendous task that faced Coach Devore last year was the introduction of the new system to players who were totally unfamiliar with it. This year's squad, however, should be well grounded in the fundamentals of the Notre Dame system considering the knowledge that it acquired last season together with that which it will assimilate during the forthcoming lecture period.

This is the first time in a good many years that the prospects for a successful season have looked so promising. However, in view of this we do not intend to put the coaching staff on the so-called spot. We are all fully aware of the stiff schedule that the team will be called upon to face next fall and consequently are not expecting Hugh Devore to work miracles. Nevertheless we feel confident that he will be able to offer local gridiron followers as fine a display of football strategy as has been their pleasure to witness in quite some time if he is given the necessary co-operation of his players and the whole-hearted support of the entire student body. So let's get 100 per cent behind Hughie and his 1939 edition of The Fighting Friars.

Hats off to the unselfish attitude of Paul Sweeney's Sophomore heavy-weight club which is now riding on top of the larger circuit with three wins in as many starts. You won't find any one player on this team with an individual scoring record to his credit simply because all its members are carried away by the real team spirit. Therein lies the reason for their present unblemished record. George "Birdie" Tebetta, former ace Friar backstopper, has already signed his 1939 contract and at a reported boost in salary.

Undefeated Sophs Win Over Fresh

The second half was characterized by close guarding, and the score remained close until the final minutes of play, at which time the Sophs increased their lead and managed to keep their opponents pretty well in check.

In the evening's curtain raiser Coach Sacks' Sophomore lights administered a 23-16 setback to Paul Rylander and his Freshman light-weight cohorts. Rylander, who displayed a fine exhibition of shooting from short and long range, tallied 13 of his team's points.

Jack Keenan, Soph guard, continued to manifest the impressive play that he has shown in all the games in which he has appeared. Keenan collected nine points on four goals and a foul toss to lead the second year men's scoring.

Bill Riley's goal in "sudden death" enabled the Junior lightweights to shade the Senior lights, 24-22, in the opening contest on Tuesday night's bill. The deciding score, which was hooped from outside the foul line, was registered about 30 seconds after the start of the extra time.

The victors overcame a first period deficit to move into a 15-12 lead at half-time. In the third quarter the Sophs succeeded in collecting six points, while the Juniors gathered five markers to make the score, 15-17, at the end of the first 24 minutes of play.

Joe Martellino sparked the Seniors' attack in the final quarters. Martellino enabled the last year men to draw up on even terms with their opponents by virtue of a fine one-handed shot from the side of the court. Following this the Juniors took a three-point advantage, but the Seniors, not to be outdone, tied matters up again.

At this point Edmunds put the third-year men in command, and the score remained at 22-20 until 30 seconds before the final whistle sounded, when Martellino earned a 22-22 deadlock for the Seniors on another one of his brilliant one-hand tosses to necessitate the contesting of the extra session.

The Junior heavies encountered little difficulty in humbling the Senior heavyweights, 46-26, in the second game of the evening. Slow at the start, the Senior offensive picked up speed and registered goals almost at will. Whalley, Bagley and Farrell were prominent in the scoring for the winners, with Vin Nugent showing to good advantage defensively.

Attendance at college football games in 1938 rose 11 per cent over the 1937 total.

FRIAR FRESHMEN SUFFER SECOND LOSS TO BRYANT

Showing marked improvement over their early season performances, the Providence College freshmen basketball team dropped a 31 to 25 decision to the Bryant College five last Friday night at the Bryant Gymnasium.

The game was closely fought all the way with the Bryant team putting on a last period spurt that brought them victory. The young Friars held the upper hand throughout most of the first two periods with Bryant tying it up at half-time 14 all.

Bryant took advantage of a momentary letdown by Providence early in the fourth quarter and took over the lead which they never relinquished.

P. C. To Engage Gymnasts Here Saturday Night

Fallon May Be Out of Line-up; Friars Will Be Seeking Third Victory

The Providence College varsity basketball team will return to action tomorrow night after a three-weeks layoff when they meet the Gymnasts of Springfield College at Harkins Hall. In Springfield the Friars are meeting stiff opposition and will have to travel at top speed to emerge with a victory.

After a slow start the Gymnasts have come along rapidly and have won six out of their last eight games. The Friars, playing an unusually short schedule, have dropped three out of their five games. However, all three of Providence's defeats have been to three of New England's ranking teams, R. I. State, Dartmouth, and Worcester Tech.

The Friars may be minus the services of Steve Fallon, high-scoring forward, who is out with an infected foot. Coach Crotty has been concentrating on Jimmy Leo, to take Fallon's place. Joe Kwasienski will line up with Leo at the other forward post. Big Ed Deuse will be at center with Bill Murphy and Johnny "Slip" Barnini, hard-working defensive stars, at the guard positions.

Coach Devore Starts Spring Grid Drills

Fundamentals Are Explained. Plays Given; Outdoor Sessions Start Next Month

With the commencement of lectures last Wednesday, Head Coach Hugh Devore launched the Spring football program in preparation for the 1939 season. The lectures will continue to be held daily in the Auditorium until the early part of next month when, weather permitting, the squad will move outside.

After explaining the fundamentals of the Notre Dame system Coach Devore will devote at least one lecture to the playing of each position. Then in a series of blackboard drills he plans to give the squad about 10 plays which will be used in the practice sessions.

The candidates will be divided into two squads, A and B.

Faithful Vicar of Christ, Pius XI was the true 'light of the world' shining in darkness and the clear voice in the wilderness declaring the ways of God. He alone among the major leaders of the world spoke the fearless truth so that all might comprehend it. No spirit of opportunism, self-interest, or ulterior intent breathed in his utterances, for in his pure love for God he sought only the welfare of mankind. . . . Thus as I vision him in his latter days, shrunk in form and pierced with pain, yet firmly, calmly carrying on, I feel impelled to point to him and say: 'Behold the man'— Young men, behold the man to whom you owe most—the man who has withstood the impending chaos of a world so that you might enjoy the blessings of a truly human life. For the Father of Christendom is indeed your Father."

A Columbia University cloakroom attendant who had been employed by the university for 28 years left that institution $500 in her will.

POSTPONEMENT
Due to the occurrence of the Veritas dance on Tuesday night, the Junior-Freshman basketball games scheduled for that evening have been postponed until Thursday, Feb. 23.

AQUINO CLUB INDUCTS SEVEN NEW MEMBERS

The Aquino Club initiated seven new members last Monday evening in the Old Auditorium. Those inducted were: John Lombardi, '40, George Gardner, '41, Donald Tramonti, '41, Frank Merciel, '41, Pasco Rotondi, '39, Frank Gragniani, '40. Ten more members will be pledged next week.

Plans were discussed for a social with neighboring colleges in the Spring.

The Cowl in the name of the student body and faculty of Providence College expresses its deepest sympathy to James McNamee on the death of his mother.

FRESH from the FROSH

The Reilly's are at it again! It seems that Jack Reilly, who hails from Woonsocket, introduced his gal friend to Bill Reilly, the delegate from Gotham. But at a recent dance, the Manhattan lad showed up with Jack's girl. What is this, can't she tel' them apart?

It's getting to be a habit for Paul Carberry, Bill McCormick, and "Shorty" McArdie to pile into Mart Boiteau's ignoble Ford every Wednesday noon. They like meat balls and spaghetti for dinner.

Frank Hanley did a good Samaritan last week when he took Jack Sullivan down to the bus terminal to meet a femme from New Bedford but Sully fooled him and while Hanley waited in the car, Jack disappeared with the gal.

This week's guest should be Don DiLuglio. He could probably write a good book review of "Sue Barton, Student Nurse." (She's a fictitious character, boys) . . . Frank Dwyer does well. He had a blind date for last Friday's dance, and he sure was surprised.

If all the college freshman were laid down end to end—they'd sleep
