

Rev. Francis N. Reynolds, O.P. To Conduct Annual Retreat

Dominican Preacher Well-known Throughout East as Retreatmaster

The Rev. Francis N. Reynolds, O.P., well known Dominican preacher, will be retreatmaster for the annual student retreat.

The retreat starts April 3, just before the Easter recess, and ends with a general communion on April 5. The Easter recess opens immediately and continues until Thursday, April 13.

Father Reynolds is a graduate of Seton Hall College in New Jersey where he captained the football and basketball teams. He also earned his letter in baseball.

In 1932 he was ordained to the Dominican Order. He has been a prominent member of the Eastern mission band of the Order, having given retreats and missions in all parts of the eastern coast.

During the hurricane Father Reynolds, in person a strapping athletic figure, was preaching a children's mission at Bristol. While the storm was at its height he aided many children to the safety of their homes.

It is expected that the retreat schedule will be the same as in previous years with several conferences on each day and Mass and Communion on the final day. No classes will be held during the period.

Yearbook Benefits From Senior Dance

O'Brien Reports That Annual Senior Event is Complete Financial Success

The Veritas dance, annual senior dance for the support of the year book, held last Tuesday evening, was a social and financial success, according to Frank O'Brien, '39, business manager for the annual publication.

The committee for the dance included Terrence Reilly, chairman, C. Francis Crowley, George Long, John McQueeney, John Schofield and John Lyons.

Pictures of the dancers, snapped by the photographer during the course of the evening, will appear in the '39 edition of the Veritas.

Cafeteria Nickledeon 'Gives Out' for Swing Addicts and Building Fund

Dispenser of Canned Jam Offers the Ultimate in Sweet Rhythm

"Jazz and Jive for the benefit of the Building Fund" might will be the catch phrase tagged to the nickledeon recently installed in the cafeteria for it is to swell the fund needed for dormitory construction that this gobble of the student nickels was added to the decorative devices already embellishing our cafeteria.

Think, just think of the possibilities, gentlemen! You may stomp your feet to the hot jive of the latest Benny Goodman recording or, if you prefer, sway to the soothing strains of Guy Lombardo, and still offer material aid to a deserving cause. Lo, what vistas unfold before the eyes of a wondering public. Thoughts of campaigns to "raise money for the relief of poor suffering dinosaurs" sim-

Honor Exams May Be Held

Faculty Committee Considers Plans to Change System

A system of comprehensive examinations for all candidates for honors is now under consideration by a faculty committee, it was learned yesterday.

The heads of all departments and the Rev. Arthur H. Chandler, O.P., dean, comprise a faculty group which is now discussing details of a plan which would change the present basis of graduate honors.

"I believe that a comprehensive exam plan would be a much better standard," the Very Rev. John J. Dillon, O.P., president, said yesterday afternoon when questioned about the plan.

Father Dillon said that he doubted that the plan would be worked out in time to apply to this year's graduating class. The present system will probably continue for this year.

Under the new system it is believed that one comprehensive examination would be given in the candidate's major field. At present honors are given for an 85% average or over in all subjects.

Father Dillon's statement confirms rumors current about the College for some time to the effect that comprehensives were to be instituted, replacing the present system which is based on averages for the junior and senior years.

HUNT FOR GOLD ARTICLES FOR FUND CONTINUES

The gold hunt is still on. There is still time to enter the gigantic round-up of precious metal that the Rev. Charles H. McKenna, O.P., is conducting for the chapel fund.

Already many a dated piece of jewelry has turned up in the collection. Wedding rings earrings diamond brooches, watch charms, stick pins, oral rings, pendants, and many another outmoded articles have been donated to the chapel fund. Students are asked to dig still further into family treasures for any valuables which might aid the fund.

JOHN DONNELLY LEAVES FOR ANNUAL VACATION

John Donnelly, curator of the Providence College properties, has departed with Mrs. Donnelly from the wintry atmosphere of Providence for the breezes of Florida. They expect to return in four or five weeks for the annual spring work around the college.

Juniors Name Paul R. Oates Prom Leader

May 8 Selected As Tentative Date; Subcommittees Named

The election of Paul R. Oates, of Derby, Conn., as the chairman of the Junior Prom committee was announced Monday by Bernard T. White, president of the Junior class, following a meeting of the Prom committee.

Acting in his new capacity, Oates announced that the night of May 8 had been selected as a tentative date for the Prom. He stated that, as usual, the Prom is expected to be held in the ballroom of the Providence Biltmore.

Sub-committees to aid in planning the affair were also announced. The committees are Orchestra, Joseph Walsh and Paul Sweeney; Bids and Programs, John Donley and Davitt Carroll; Favors, Fred Hogan and Will Carter; and Hall, Howard Irish, White and Oates will act as general supervisors of the committee activities.

In announcing these selections Oates called attention to the fact that each committee is composed of one class officer and one member of the Prom Committee. "The committees will necessarily be small," said Oates, "but we feel that there will be no dissension when there are so few men working together."

The committee is scheduled to meet again today and further developments in the plans from the Prom are expected.

College to Celebrate Feast of St. Thomas

Dominican Provincial to Celebrate Solemn High Mass, Monday, March 6

The Very Rev. Terence McDermott, O.P., provincial of the Province of St. Joseph of the Dominican Order, will celebrate a solemn high Mass Monday March 6 in Harkin's Hall, in observance of the feast of St. Thomas Aquinas.

The Mass will honor all living benefactors of the College. There will be a general communion of all students at the Mass.

Two ciboria donated by the Carolan Club to the College chapel will be used for the first time at the St. Thomas Day Mass. The ciboria form the first gift towards the altar equipment of the chapel in the new dormitory.

Besides Fr. McDermott the officers of the Mass will be Very Rev. John J. Dillon, O.P., president, deacon, and the Rev. J. T. Fitzgerald, O.P., vice-president, sub deacon. The Rev. Charles H. McKenna, O.P., chaplain, will deliver the sermon.

The Mass will be held on Monday, March 6, the day before the actual feast, which will be a free day. In past years scholastic disputations have been held in honor of the Angelic Doctor but the solemn Mass and academic observance were inaugurated several years ago.

P. C. Comedy May be Called Off Due to Lack of Cooperation

Frosh Lights Pin Defeat On Juniors

Junior Heavyweights Defeat Frosh 44-25 in Last Night's Final

By Harold Rich

The first major upset of the current campaign marked the initial contest on last night's card as the Freshmen lightweights topped the league-leading Junior lightweights 32-25. The hitherto victory-less frosh have been the only aggregation able to stop the third year's vaunted attack.

Trailing 15-10 at half time, the winners managed to knot the count in the third period and took command when play got under way in the final session. Paul Rylander was best for the winners with 11 points.

In the evening's nightcap the Junior heavies had things all their own way in defeating the Freshman heavies, 32-25. Except for the first few minutes of play when both clubs played pretty much on even terms, the Junior lead was never threatened. Jim Begley and Vin Nugent were the greatest contributors to the winner's cause. Begley collected 14 points on six goals from the floor and two foul flips, while Nugent garnered 13 points.

What appeared to possess all the earmarks of a one-sided victory for the Senior lightweights, in their encounter with the Sophomore lights, was turned into a thrilling contest by virtue of a surprising last half drive on the part of the second year men, who were finally forced to take the short end of a 26-23 decision. Twice in the final period the Sops came from behind to knot the count, but wasted by the tiring up-hill battle which they waged, they lagged in the last few minutes of play and enabled their opponents to hoop the pay-off points.

Attesting to the manner in which they snapped out of their lethargy is the fact that the Sops, after conceding 20 points to the seniors in the first half, all of which were accounted for in the final session.

Dancers Fail to Participate in Tryouts; Twenty-five Are Needed

Unless more student cooperation for "Ready, Aim, Friar," student musical comedy, is secured in the near future, the 1939 edition of the annual show will have to be called off, it was announced yesterday afternoon by John J. Andre, '39, production manager. Andre criticized the lack of student cooperation to date, and added that those students who have signed pledges and who do not attend casting rehearsal scheduled for Monday will be referred to the office of the Assistant Dean.

In criticizing the lack of cooperation among the student body, Andre said, "This cooperation was noticeably lacking when the call for dancers was issued. Three tryouts were held at which ten students attended. When pledges were collected for participation in the show, there were sixteen contracts for dancers. Of these sixteen, six have been redeemed. Another effort will be made Monday in the large auditorium. Unless the remainder of the pledges are fulfilled they will be referred to the office of the Assistant Dean for action.

"It will be necessary also to enlist new men, and unless volunteer corps of at least twenty-five men can be raised, it will be necessary to call off the musical comedy.

The show is written, the principals are cast, the music is written. We have fulfilled our part of the contract."

Editors Still Receiving Material for Alembic

Material is still being submitted to the editors of the Alembic for the March issue, according to an announcement made yesterday by Norman J. Carignan, editor.

"The issue will be devoted almost exclusively to new writers and to students who have not yet had the opportunity to see their works in print. In its attempt to secure new writers and to prepare for the loss of writers consequent upon this year's graduation, the Alembic is doing its utmost to encourage new writers to contribute and possibly to make the staff," Carignan said.

C. Avedisian Presents Painting of Late Pope to Father Dillon

President Commends Artist On Fine Work and Initiative

A material tribute to the late Pope Pius XI, consisting of a colored portrait of His Holiness, has been paid by Charles T. Avedisian, '41, Providence College Sophomore. The painting has been presented to the Very Rev. John J. Dillon, O. P., president of the College.

Avedisian created the portrait during the mid-year vacation. Coming upon a small photograph of the late Pontiff in a pictorial magazine, Avedisian immediately determined to draw a likeness of the photograph. Not wishing to delay, he utilized the first materials that came into his hands, a square sheet of ordinary white wrapping paper and some old pieces of colored chalk. Working under these inconveniences, he finally completed the work. To stiffen the paper and preserve the drawing, he sprayed it with a mixture of alcohol and shellac.

The sophomore artist said that he decided to make the picture because the photograph he had seen seemed to capture the natural kindness and deep human understanding of the late Pontiff's character.

Avedisian brought the portrait to the College and showed it to Father Dillon who commended him for his initiative and praised the result of his labors. The portrait was framed and hung in the office of the President where it will remain as a simple and sincere remembrance of the late Vicar of Christ.

Uncle Peter Overlooks The Alumni

Hasn't it been funny weather? And isn't it strange that the weather is just the same for the alumni as it is for the undergraduates? Or is it, and don't you think your Uncle Peter is padding this paragraph? Well, what would you do if you had to turn this column out within three minutes and you had the following few items:

Danny Galasso, '35, of Greater New York, is reported contemplating a trip through New England. Danny, who was captain of the golf team while at P. C. has not been playing in many tournaments lately because of a back ailment. . . Mr. and Mrs. James McCormack of 54 Clarkson avenue, Brooklyn, have announced the engagement of their daughter Anne Ruth to Edward J. Hyman, '33, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Francis Hyman of this city. . . Eddie now works for the George L. Claffin Co., whose sales of McKesson-Robbins products have slipped considerably since the music went round and round.

A card from Ed Doherty which claims quote Florida is a green land renowned for its beauty. The Australian Pines which line this Miami Beach road must be placed high amongst its scenic sights attracting thousands of visitors unquote. Well it must be nice to be away from cold weather and columns, even if you do send out cards written in classic prose.

Out in Edgewood Tom J. Franey, Jr., is entertaining a certain Miss Y. Jaundice. Tom is a member of the committee for the class of '34 which is planning a five year reunion come June, but nothing can be done about it until Miss J. packs up the bags under Tom's eyes and leaves.

If you bump into Aram Jarret, '38, of Woonsocket, get him to tell you the incident that happened to him on the train to Philadelphia the other day. . . it will leave you splitting your sides. . . Frank Sutton, '31, transferred to the Pawtucket Office in the State Employment Service; Frank, by the way, having become a father all over again, last month.

Basketball season pretty nearly over, and with a couple more spring like days the alumni will start asking, "What's the prospect for the baseball club?" . . . and Uncle Peter hereby wishes to jump the gun, poise prettily, and say that they are swell. Barring injuries (even as in football) and with a decent break in the other departments the Friar ball club should come through with colors a-flying. And now your uncle is through, with his colors at half-mast.

STATIONS OF THE CROSS WILL BE MADE TODAY

The Stations of the Cross will be made this afternoon at 5:15 p. m. in the college chapel as a regular part of the Lenten services which started Wednesday. Thus far, attendance at the services has been "very gratifying," according to the Chaplain.

The preacher at the services Wednesday night will be the Rev. Louis Kelly, O.P. Students may also attend Masses which are said at convenient hours in the Chapel during the morning as part of their Lenten observance.

New York Theatre

The theatre has been shocked out of its usual mid-season doldrums by the continued sellouts of the most unethical show to hit Broadway in many moons. With the advent of every new theatre season, old timers take their acts out of moth balls, and attempt a revival of their skits, gags, and black-outs.

This year, the revival has taken the shape of a revue, "Hellzapoppin." Backed by Olsen and Johnson, the revue includes such unfamiliar and forgotten figures as a unicyclist, a soft shoe dancer of ancient but uncertain age, and Harden the brother of the famed Houdini. Combined with other acts of forgotten days, "Hellzapoppin" lives up to its name, and there really is the semblance of Hades in the atmosphere.

The show is perhaps the most unorthodox production ever to hit the Great White Way. With a frantic Lena wandering up and down the aisles in search of her Oscar, with a Madame Godiva in a box; with the chant of the tobacco auctioneer, who sold to Phillip Morris; with endorsements by President Roosevelt, Benito Mussolini, and Adolf Hitler, with its million eccentricities and novel, yet ancient gags, the show provides a hilarious evening.

No act is definitely better than another. Each act lends itself perfectly to the show and the cast and audience respond nobly to the task at hand.

Air Corps Agent Will Interview Senior Aviation Enthusiasts This Morning

Quotable Quotes

(By Associated Collegiate Press)

"More complete service, more expert observation, clearer and more interesting reports are the ways that the newspaper strives to improve itself. Let the educator realize the value of this service and utilize it to the advantage of his students. He will have made an important contribution to our civilization if he can teach his students how to read a newspaper." New York University's Prof. H. B. Rathbone believes that we should be taught how to use "the greatest educational force in society."

"Our young men may come out all right—probably they will; but at college age they are still soft. For each new generation infancy is being prolonged a little more. The law of the survival of the fittest is more and more being suspended, both by government and by indulgent parents. The consequences are a little frightening." Pres. Tyler Dennet of Williams College gives us a new slant on the growth of education.

"In the harmony of letters and the cooperation of the mind, it would be almost impossible to raise a war of hysteria. Hope for peace lies in the colleges, in the development of the things of the mind." Pres. William Mather Lewis, Lafayette College, believes educators should be affiliated with embassies and legations throughout the world.

Films Portraying Life At Flight Training Quarters Will Be Shown

A representative of the United States Naval Reserve Air Corps will interview all graduating seniors interested in a government aviation career this morning in the large parlor between 8:30 and noon, according to a communication received this week from the United States Naval Reserve Air Corps base at Squantum, Mass.

In keeping with the Navy's aviation cadet procurement program, special efforts are being made to recruit aviators from college graduates interested in flying careers. A program consisting in round table discussions and the exhibition of a film depicting life at the training camps will be held. Private interviews may be arranged for any convenient time during the forenoon.

The interviewer will be accompanied by a Base Medical Officer. Medical examinations will be given to all who might prefer to submit to them this morning instead of taking a trip to the base at Squantum at a later date.

Two graduates of last year's class, Maurice V. Lussier, and Paul V. Farley, both of Woonsocket, are at present at the Naval Reserve Air Corps training quarters at Pensacola, Fla.

Once again here it is Friday and time to get to work again. Don't quite understand why we have to work when there's the WPA but anyhow, there's a time and place for everything and the WPA usually follows college so too to you. Lucid, ain't it?

Respectfully to Geo. Wash.—Summa cum laude.
To George—you super magnificent man,
Accomplishing what no other man can.

A day free from classes.
Rejoice, oh ye masses
That George was a wonderful man.

Occasionally we are permitted to record the unusual and sometime interesting antics of the boys. (Notice the serious vein here for a change.) This week we have watched with interest the window post office and it gives us great pleasure to note that Mike Coyne, Secretary of the New England Student Peace Federation is doing a swell job of corresponding. Three days in a row, no less. Anyway, these French are noted for their letter writing proclivities—there's a double entendre there if you can get it.

Of Passing Interest. We wonder just who those two lads were who were greatly puzzled one day last week when they hid themselves out to their car to snab their lunches. The only trouble was that their car was parked in front of the garage doors and when one of the faculty came out to take one of the college cars he experienced a little difficulty. To get even with the little rascals he took their coats, lunches et al. and took (grammatically incorrect, who cares) them to the office of the Asst. Dean. It's a moot question as to whether they have been yet reclaimed.

Man of the Week—Paul Dunne—because we feel it is only fitting and proper that we recognize the work that he has done for the athletic department in some substantial way and this is the only way we can see.

The camera-mad boys have really been going to town this week what with all the pictures for the Veritas and the Veritas dance thrown in for good measure. The floaters have drifted with consummate ease from the Newport Club to the New Haven Club just to have their mugs snapped. But the prize of the week goes to Joe Baldwin who when invited to sit in with the Newport Club refused to do it unless he was given a seat in the front row.

Snapshots of the Veritas dance—enough photo bulbs were popped to take a picture of the whole world—the Zephyrs are just little breezes now—Moose Tully dragged to the dance, must be the millennium—Herb Kenny out of work early to get up with his cutie—Jim Gallogly all over the place as per usual—Gerry FitzGerald of the East Providence Fizes knocking the boys over with surprise at his attendance—Oving Hicks, the business man, worrying over his business—John McQueeny absorbed in thoughts of his decorations—Terry Rieley out after a dance from every one in the hall—the dance a general success despite the weather.

Jack Cronin and Joe McCarthy experienced a little difficulty once last week when they sought to get a couple of dates. Seems as how Jack went after his girl and she was extremely busy and when they went over after Joe's girl she was courting Morpheus (that means she was in bed sleeping, Leo). Tough luck boys, it happens to the best of us. Even to the King of England and he's a big shot.

Senior (at graduation): "I am indebted to you for all I know."

Professor: "Pray, don't mention such a trifle."

He: "And so it is."

SPORTS ADVISORY BOARD HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the Athletic Advisory Board was held last night with the Very Rev. John J. Dillon, O. P., chairman, presiding. A report concerning the past year's activities and future plans was delivered by Rev. Robert E. Quinn, O. P., secretary.

Other members of the Board are the Rev. Arthur H. Chandler, O. P., dean, the Rev. Frederick C. Foley, O. P., assistant dean, the Rev. Edwin I. Masterson, O. P., the Rev. Edward C. Meehan, O. P., and Charles Reynolds, who is the alumni representative.

Debating Team To Make Tour

Gibbons, McElroy, Healey, Sweeney to Debate Four Colleges

Four members of the debating union, accompanied by the Union moderator, will leave Monday morning on the annual debating trip which will take them into three New England States for four debates during next week.

Those making the trip are Walter F. Gibbons, debating president, Eugene J. McElroy, Jr., '39, debating manager, Robert E. Healey, '39, and Charles E. Sweeney, '41, Rev. A. P. Regan, O. P., is moderator.

The schools which the team will meet are Boston University, University of New Hampshire, Colby, and the University of Maine. Two questions are used.

On Monday afternoon McElroy and Healey will meet Boston University in the Liberal Arts College, defending the affirmative of "Resolved, that the Federal Government should Cease Spending Government funds for the Purpose of Stimulating Business."

Tuesday afternoon there will be a radio debate with the University of New Hampshire at Durham over Station WHEB at Portsmouth. Providence College, represented by Gibbons, Sweeney and McElroy will defend the affirmative of "Resolved, That the United States Should Establish an Alliance with Great Britain."

Sweeney and Healey will argue the affirmative of the pump-priming question Wednesday night against Colby and on Friday afternoon Gibbons and McElroy will defend the same side against the University of Maine.

SANDWICHES TO PROVIDE BUILDING FOUNDATION

Evanson, Ill.—(ACP)—The first building in the world to be erected on a foundation of sandwiches will shortly rise on the campus of Northwestern University.

The building is Scott hall, the new student social center and community auditorium to be erected at a cost of $750,000 as a tribute to Pres. Walter Dill Scott, who will retire next fall. In a very real sense it will be built on a foundation of sandwiches, for a $200,000 Woman's Building fund, which was begun with sandwich sales in 1911, has been turned over to the Scott hall fund by the Woman's Building association.

Determined coeds chose November 29, 1911, as the first of a series of "Sandwich Days" on the campus. On these occasions defenseless male students and faculty members were persuaded by feminine tactics to eat sandwiches for the benefit of a social center for women.

NO ALIEN IS FOUND ON COLLEGE N.Y.A. ROLLS

According to affidavits filled out this week by all NYA students, there is no alien on the NYA rolls of Providence College. On instruction from Washington all recipients of student aid were required to file reports in an attempt to discover the number of aliens receiving aid.

Tomorrow night the Friar cagers journey to Worcester where they will meet the Assumption College five in a return engagement. The Providence hoopers will be seeking their fourth victory of the season after having lost to Springfield on Saturday night.

Providence captured the first contest back in December on the local floor by a 36-26 margin. The Friars pre-game favorites are expected to annex the decision with little opposition.

Thus far Providence has defeated Assumption, Becker, Springfield while losing to Dartmouth, State, Worcester Tech, and Springfield.

Bill Murphy, stellar guard, who was injured in the Springfield encounter is expected to be sufficiently recovered by Saturday to resume his regular position. Steve Fallon now fully recovered from injuries received earlier in the season is expected to aid the attack greatly.

From the Lab

The Pre-meds had an interesting afternoon last Friday preparing slides for their embryology lab. Their time was spent in sectioning and mounting chick embryos for study under the microscope. John Flynn Kearney, and Ferraro proved themselves to be good technicians, while this would-be lab worker did everything but growl at his sections in an effort to mount them on the slides.

"Cash For Books," the sign read. Yet imagine the feelings of the fellow who presented a book on histology, costing him seven-fifty four months ago, being offered a mere dollar and sixty cents.

Found! A college man who can blush. We refer to Frank Pollard's reaction on being called handsome in lab last week. One thing to his credit, however, is that he thought the professor was speaking to Gorman.

Those two inseparables, Cronin and McCarthy, spend long hours in the room next to the chapel puzzling over their problems in Dynamics. They're the only ones who are taking the course. These periods of studies are interrupted by frequent tirades over the worth of many an answer which one or the other has figured out. Yet through it all they remain friends.

International Catholic Organization To Hold World Congress In N. Y.

With the "little red school boys" running wild over America, holding international congresses at Vassar and national congresses in New York, it is high time that the Catholic students put themselves on the map. And so they are. Pax Romana, the international Catholic student organization will hold a world congress in New York from September 2nd to 9th. The congress proper will be preceded by a study session at the Catholic University in Washington.

Pax Romana is not a peace organization. Its name was inspired by the motto of the Catholic Church which was also the motto of the late Holy Father,--Pax Christi in Dogno Christi. Its aim, therefore, is to spread the peace of Christ in the kingdom of Christ by serving in all possible ways all the Catholic students of the world. Pax Romana now serves 45

Catholic university federations which represent 32 different nationalities of Europe, Asia, North and South and Central America. It acts as a link joining together the student federations of different countries, as a clearing house receiving and distributing information, as a central organ to which all may appeal in time of need but to which none are subservient.

Pax Romana is a confederation. That is to say, individual students may not join it, nor can individual colleges. Only student and alumni federations can join it. For example, in this country the National Federation of Catholic College Students, the Catholic Student Peace Federation, the National Catholic Alumni Federation, the Theta Kappa Phi Fraternity and the Ukrainian Catholic Youth League are affiliated to the mother confederation.

Collegiate Opinions Voiced in Polls

Various Topics Watched With Interest as Students Vote

Always interesting are the results of various polls conducted on college and university campuses. Those seeking to gain further insight into the way the wind of collegiate opinion is blowing will examine with interest the results presented here:

College of the City of New York, school of business: President Roosevelt was selected in a senior poll as the "most outstanding man alive," and 85 per cent voted they would not fight in a war abroad.

University of Michigan: 85 per cent of the students favor the lifting of the embargo against loyalist Spain. At Harvard, 1300 students signed a petition asking the same thing.

At Haverford College: 60 per cent of the student body favors the National Labor Relations Board, and '98 per cent opposed going to war to maintain the "open door" in China.

CHIMES FROM BELGIUM

New York—A carillon of 35 bronze bells, the largest weighing 1,300 pounds, the smallest 15 pounds, are now being cast in Tournai, in Belgium, for the 150-foot tower of the Belgian Exhibit Building at the New York World's Fair 1939. They are to be played during the Exposition.

To emphasize the place of Christianity in the modern world, the University of Pennsylvania is planning a four-day "Christian Embassy."

FRESH from the FROSH

The few frosh that attended the Vertius dance admit they had "Fucks of Fun".

Leddy and Bree took two blind daters that would blind anyone. Phil Foley was in a desperate plight the afternoon a'fore the dance. A shave was needed in a bad way. "Pete" McGiurl suggested a barber school where a shave cost ten cents. After watching the barbers awhile he decided to keep shaving himself at home.

Ken Marr stressing the point that he wants to be called "Mo". "Rusty" Rustigan missed the last trolley from the city last P. M. So he walked all the way home not thinking of talking a cab.

Joe Sullivan of Providence stayed in Hartford last weekend and thinks it is just too beautiful. Wonder what her name can be.

A few of the frosh namely, Jennings, O'Connell and Goulet were seen washing dishes in a certain cafe the other A. M. (not paying the bill).

Tony Leone, wondering how he can get an introduction to a certain M. Plesanter.

COLLEGIATE WORLD

Cambridge, Mass.—(ACP)—Pointing the way to what may become a new system of U. S. education, Harvard University authorities have declared successful the experimental plan of training high school graduates raised and stamped ruthlessly on.

Designed to aid high school graduates by "undergraduate faculties," nation's oldest university has created classes that are taught by students. Under the new system, 50 Boston high school alumni have followed college courses under the volunteer tutelage of 100 Harvard undergraduates, most of them honor men.

Classes in the unique course meet at night in the dormitory rooms of "faculty members." There they have relayed on to them the material that the "teachers" have learned in their college courses.

The "pickaback scholar" plan is being continued this semester, and has interested National Youth Administration officials, who are considering offering this work to college students who now receive government aid.

Besides learning in evening classes, the "pickaback scholars" watch experiments in the university's laboratories and have full use of the university's libraries.
