Plaque, Medal To Be Awarded

Trophy Honoring Mal Brown Will Be Given to Best Athlete

A move to perpetuate the memory of Malcom H. Brown, Providence College trainer, in the form of a plaque and medal to be awarded to the best athlete at the College was announced yesterday by Louis C. FitzGerald, director of the P. C. news bureau. The award, which will be given at commencement, will be a symbol of the true sportsmanship and courage of Mal Brown.

Edward P. Conaty, '33, classmate and close personal friend of Mal is the originator of the plan. Mr. Conaty is active in alumni affairs.

The plaque, on which will be engraved the name of the chosen athlete, is to be known as the Malcom H. Brown Memorial and will be kept at the College. In token of the award, a medal will be given the recipient.

A committee comprising the coaches of the various sports, two newspapermen, the faculty director of athletics, and Mr. Conaty will decide the award.

Bal Merce's Band Will Feature Dance

The music of Bal Merce and his orchestra will be featured at the Junior Harvest Dance to be held in Harkins Hall Tuesday evening, October 31, it was announced yesterday by John Gibbons, president.

Merce's orchestra is well known locally having played at many local college dances.

The decorations will lend an autumn setting to the dance. Cornstalks, a witch, and pumpkins, all illuminated by small spotlights, will form the centerpiece. Refreshments will be served in the cafeteria during the intermission.

The Junior dance, traditionally the first dance of the year, will inaugurate the 1939-40 social season at the College. Tickets, which are priced at one dollar per couple, will be on sale in the rotunda until the afternoon of the dance.

Arrangements for the dance are being completed by the committee which includes: John Gibbons, Geo. Gardner, Charles McGovern, and Edward Crouchley.

played baseball and basketball, and for the past two years he has been a consistent performer on the varsity basketball team.

The other senior elected, Edward Ledoux, is enrolled in the Philosophy division. His home is in Webster, Mass. He is a member of the Carolan Club, and in his junior year was a member of the Junior Boxing Bouts Committee.

William Danahy, who is a member of the Philosophy division, is from Hoppkinton, Mass. Danahy is a member.

Springfield Indians Invade Hendricken Field Saturday

Faculty, Students, Friends Attend Last Rites for Malcom H. Brown

Students, alumni, and athletic officials many of whom were close friends of the late Mal Brown, attended the last rites for the popular P. C. trainer and former gridiron star in St. Pius church last Saturday morning.

Mal succumbed Thursday noon to complications of typhoid fever and pneumonia. Four other members of the athletic association and the Rev. Robert G. Quinn, O.P., director of athletics, were also stricken with the fever but are recovering.

The Very Rev. John J. Dillon, O.P., president of the college, celebrated the solemn high Mass of requiem, assisted by the Rev. James L. McKeeney, O.P., deacon, and the Rev. Francis A. Howley, sub-deacon.

A procession of alumni and students went to the church, where a guard of honor was formed for the hearse. They were preceded by the faculty, headed by the Rev. Arthur H. Chandler, O.P., dean, and the Rev. Daniel M. Gallier, O.P., registrar, who followed Sophomore Lane to the church. Rev. Charles M. Mulvey, O.P., pastor of the church, was seated in the sanctuary. Members of Mal's family, the faculty, and students sent bouquets and spiritual tributes.

Floral tributes were also received from the Rhode Island State College Athletic Association, George Tebbetts, catcher on the Detroit American League baseball team, John E. Farrell, former graduate manager, Dr. Daniel J. O'Neill, secretary-treasurer of the alumni association, Hank Soar, of the New York Giants, and the Rev. Paul J. Redmond, O.P., director of the Holy Name Journal in New York. The tributes were brought from the main parlor in Harkins hall and placed near the casket.

In a special musical program, the Rev. Leo S. Cannon, O.P. played the organ and led a choir composed of priests and students.

Among the prominent alumni who attended the Mass were United States

Fighting Friars Are Favored

Shattuck and Yockers Should See Considerable Action

With every intention of showing the invading Springfield Indians the same hospitality that they have accorded their two previous guests the Providence College gridgers eagerly await the annual battle tomorrow out on Hendricken Field. The contest, set for 2:15, will find the Friars resorting to a more deceptive type of play to penetrate what is probably the strongest defence they have been called upon to crack thus far.

The maroon-clad warriors come here with the none too suspicious record of one win, one tie and two defeats, but a fact that should be remembered is that only once has their goal line been pressed by their opponents. Muhlenberg accomplished the feat two weeks ago when it turned back the Gymnasts by a 7-3 score. The other scores on the record show a 0-0 tie with the strong Mass. State eleven, a 3-2 victory over Ned Hampshire, and a 3-0 setback at the hands of Clarkston Tech.

Heading the Indian brigade is Ben Hargreaves, a colored flash who was very much in the picture against the Friars last year. Aside from carrying the brunt of the running attack, Hargreaves is the best punter and passer on the Springfield squad. He has been on the injured list since the team's first game with Mass. State but his return to action this week promises to set the spark to the Gymnasts offensive.

Others who are expected the spotlight with the ever-dangerous Hargreaves are Tommy Anderson, placekicking specialist whose field goal beat New Hampshire, Dave Grinnell, triple-threat back, and "Cracker" Chase, a guard who shows up exceptionally well in the cleaning-out department.

The Fighting Friars will be nearer peak form than at any other time this season. Last week's encounter with American International College brought to light the fact that the Friars possess a great potential scoring punch and have reached the stage where their diversified and harder to figure out. It is expected that Larry Shattuck and Johnny Yockers, the latter having been out since the Long Island U. game, will see considerable action.

In all probability Coach Devore will start the same backfield that clicked so well against the Ace last Friday night which comprised Pettine at quarter, Nugent and McKinnon at the halfback posts, and Jukes at full. Clearing the way for this speedy quarter will be Leo and Sullivan at the ends; Sweeney and Avedisian at tackles; Eideonis and Carrier at guards; and the one and only "Slip" Barnin at the pivot post.

Fall River Club

The Fall River Club met last Wednesday at 12:30 in room 19 to discuss final plans for the football game to be held next Wednesday, All Saints Day, at Alumni Field, Fall River.

Edward J. Harrington, '41, was appointed to take charge of the sophomores and juniors, opposing the freshmen and seniors directed by Charles W. Woodward, '40.

RETALIATION

Schemes such as the one recently proposed by Senator Lundeen are the joke and the bane of American politics. The Senator would have the American army and navy take over French and British possessions in this hemisphere in the name of the unpaid war debts.

The farmer-laborite member from Minnesota terms his measure "just retaliation." His argument follows this direction. In civil affairs debtors who cannot pay their obligations are often times bound to give up what possessions they have. Why, then, couldn't the same formula be applied in settling similar international difficulties?

As far as the Senator goes his logic is smashing. However, we wonder that he is so selective in determining just which of our debtors will be compelled to pay off in their possessions. There is Italy, for instance, who could perhaps regain her credit status here by surrendering Ethiopia to us, by way of an installment. Then, too, there is Russia, against whom we have held a debt soaring into the billions for the American Expeditionary Force we landed in Siberia after the World War. The Senator should have put in an American bid for Poland while he was speaking on the senate floor. It could go to pay off part of the accrued interest. Then, we can always stake a sizeable land claim in the South Americas as "just retaliation" for their unneighborly refusal to liquidate the one-billion, two-hundred million dollars in bonds owed us. Of course we have in addition, the Hungarians, the Lithuanians, the Belgians, the Latvians, the Estonians, the Roumanians, etc. Naturally Senator Lundeen would not wish to be accused of giving preferential treatment to these.

It all seems perfectly logical. There are complications though. Suppose the English began suddenly to revise their long-dormant claims for debts which several of our southern states so freely contracted before the Civil War. Then, too, suppose the French upheld and demanded that we pay off for the supplies and the first class army and navy they sent here a century and a half ago.

Those gusty autumnal winds that sweep down Pennsylvania Avenue these days blow away a face-saving explanation of the Senator's action. Washington heat has been blamed for lots of things.

The Keyholder

By ED DUPRAS, '40

Time paused in its flight Thursday afternoon and a shadow of gloom spread over the campus at the news of the death of Mal Brown. No more will Mal run to the aid of some fallen gladiator clad in his familiar black derby and carrying his battered tin-case. Never again will his booming laughter echo and re-echo through the locker room. No more can husky six foot tackles storm through the doors of his room to pummel the never-complaining trainer. For the last time a conquering Friar team has celebrated a particularly pleasing victory by dumping Mal into the showers. For Malcolm Hollis Brown is with us no more. Mal may be gone but his memory will always be cherished here at Providence for to us Mal was more than a man, he was a guardian angel. His will always be the tribute accorded Friar immortals. His will be the undying gratitude of hundreds of Providence athletes, past and present. So this week we pause in silent tribute to Malcolm Hollis Brown—a real P. C. man.

Grid Teams Pay Tribute

The varsity and freshmen teams paid their own type of tribute to Mal by winning their games last week. At the freshman game at Kingston last Thursday there was more Friar spirit than Rhody fight in the stands. Quite a bunch of the lads from "The Rock" saw fit to hie themselves to the land of the farmers to take a peek at a ball game and perhaps a peek at a few tomatoes—not the garden variety. The ball game was okay but the other wasn't too abundant nor too good to look at.

The A. I. C. game Friday night was to all intents and purposes the exact opposite. The game itself was, after the first half, a runaway for the Friar cause. Even the third team was able to push across a touchdown. As for the tomatoes they were fairly well scattered throughout the crowd. It was new to see a band which had a few wigs for members and a few of the lads seemed to go for the drum majorettes. Joe Bevalacqua investigated a rumor and ended up in the dog house.

King of the Flat-Broke Class

Hark to the tale of a lad who never knows when he's had enough. In this corner we have Edward Allan Casey at 153 the uncrowned king of the flat-broke class. Seems as how Allan, being of a carefree disposition saw fit to spend a recent evening on the prowl. As a result of his efficient prowling he now has an invite to a formal at Regis and the P. C.-Holy Cross game the following day. His only problem is the wherewithal. Here's a penny if you need it, kid.

The latest official announcement is to the effect that Bob Crosby will be at the Arcadia S'y'dy eve and Glenn Miller will hit the high spots at Rhodes Tuesday, November 7. For further information call Ga. 6771 and ask for Marie.

The Senior class will shortly be notified that their class photographer has been chosen. But before and during the course of the selection the class seemed to appreciate Purdy's photos more than those of the photographer who has been selected. Perhaps the choice of models influenced the class but those who saw the picture perched on the ledge in Room 39 during a Theodicy exam the other day could see plenty of inspiration.

Uncle Peter Overlooks The Alumni

The strains of Alma Mater have been carried off into the cool morning air. Several hundred young college students and a large number of the alumni stand with lowered heads. In many an eye the glint of a tear can be seen. Through the long lines of these his friends, the body of Mal Brown is carried by eight of his former charges. With the final services at the grave a part of Providence College is gone from this earth.

Malcom H. Brown was as definitely a part of Providence College as Harkins Hall. His was the most familiar face on the campus, his the laugh that echoed and re-echoed throughout the locker rooms, his the touch that made the athletes who wore the Black and White fit and ready. To say that his like will never come our way again seems trite. To say that his memory will always be cherished seems obvious. To see to it that the ideals for which he stood, clean, aggressive, sportsmanlike conduct on and off the field, are continued, should be the aim of every alumnus who vere knew Mal.

Everyone who ever attended Providence College has a feeling that something is missing now. The last few weeks the football games seemed to be lacking something. It was Mal, derby hat and little tin satchel running on the field to aid some fallen warrior. No longer will his ministering hands be the means of easing the pain that a hard charging lineman has earned because of a tremendous body block. The fleetfooted backs will have to seek elsewhere for the pointers necessary to bring about the fitness he could develop in broken field training. Every athlete who represented Providence since Mal became trainer owes something to him.

But not only the athletes are indebted to Mal, the student body in general will miss his deep chuckle, his sage words of advice and his good example. Brownie was as close as it is possible for any mortal to become to being the ideal to which the Dominican teachings aim. The much sought after clean mind of a sound body was personified here if it ever was. When Mal gave advice it was never "Do as I say, not as I do," because he was the living example of what he preached.

The alumni who have known him so long will miss his sorely. His fund of stories was inexhaustible. No former great could boast of his past accomplishments to the boredom of all others when Mal was around. With one small tale of an unfortunate eraser, an incomplete pass, or a foul at a crucial time he could make the boaster remember that he wasn't quite the All-American the passing years had made him believe himself to be. At the same time he was always the first to give full credit to every accomplishment and to see that due acclaim was forthcoming to him who was deserving.

Mal has left us. Along with Jack Flynn and Chuck Connors, other Friar immortals who preceded him, he is enjoying the celestial bliss that only one who has labored long and untiringly can appreciate. One can almost see Jack and Mal now, choosing sides among the angels and Mal shouting "Get in there and pitch." Perhaps his loss will give us all more strength to get in there and pitch ourselves.

TO MAL—AVE!

They called Mal's name in church today.
And the angels sang, yes, the angels sang.
The congregation knelt to pray;
And the church bells rang, yes, the church bells rang.

The murmur of wings as the angels came,
The faces of Heaven in the candle flame,
Are visions on earth that are hard to forget.
We loved him then and we love him yet.

CAROLAN CLUB CANCELS PLANS FOR DANCE

The Carolan Club suspended activities for the past week because of the death of Mal Brown, honorary member of the organization. The club has cancelled all events for the next ten days, which included plans for a dance, in respect for the memory of one of their departed members.

A board of directors will supervise the activities of the club in place of the usually elected officers. The board will be composed of fifteen members who will be elected in the near future.

PHILOSOPHY CLUB

The Philosophy Club met yesterday in room 32. It was decided that election of officers will be held in a subsequent meeting. The group also discussed plans for a scholastic circle to be held next month.

Hot Off The Fryer

BY F. X. MCCARTHY

It isn't very hard to explain why the Friars rolled up their largest total in four years of competition last Friday night when they buried American International College under a 27-0 score by dint of some real heads up football out at the Cranston Stadium. Those of you who saw the game kept convincing yourselves during the final thirty minutes that Coach Hugh Devore must have imbued his men with the idea that they simply had to come through that night for the sake of Mal Brown their trainer and closest confidant.

It was to be their means of proving their devotion to a man who had unselfishly put himself at the disposal of all P.C. athletes during the past eight years and Hugh personally saw to it that every able man on the squad had a share in the decisive victory. The slight memorial paid to Mal just before the start of the second half was to be sure, the spark that kindled the mournful spirits of the Fighting Friars and spurred the team on to its most impressive triumph in many games.

The A.I.C. contest also served as a means of bringing to light talent that has been hitherto hidden from general view in the Friars' previous encounters. It gave Larry Shattuck, Sam Iorio, Joe Byron, Jimmy Collins, Joe Pariseau, and Walt Scanlon their first real opportunity to display their wares before the local crowd.

Freshmen Win Opener

The Friar yearlings left little room for doubt as to their right in the state college freshman coronation when they dropped the R. I. State frosh by a 24-7 count down at Kingston last Thursday. The Friars' coach, "Gig" Pariseau, and his assistant, Ray Bedard, are to be congratulated for the excellent manner in which they prepared their charges in so short a time. The young Friars' attack gathered momentum early in the game and through the savage thrusts of "Lug" Turbert the Ramlets' forward wall was softened up to the point where forward progress was easy. Ed Sterniak, Ed Rafferty, and Frank Reale also played leading roles in the opening victory.

Springfield Powerful

The Invading Gymnasts of Springfield are not to be taken too lightly despite the fact that they have yet to score their first touchdown of the season. Don't forget they have been without the services of the ace passer, kicker, and runner, J. Hargreaves, the big and shifty center boy who caused the Friars plenty of trouble in last year's game. He will be back in the starting line up tomorrow and should inject considerable fire into the Maroon's attack.

Press Box Sprinters

Elmer Layden, Notre Dame's football coach, came up with the remark of the week the other day when he said that he was glad that he lived in a country where the take spies up in the press box and stuff them with frankfurts and coffee rather than in one where they take them outside and stuff them with bullets. . . . In view of his two successive failures this columnist approached Father Donovan of the English department and asked him if he would oblige by giving this week's predictions. After a little persuasion he not only supplies us with the winners but the scores of the leading games as well. Here they are:

- Boston College 26—St. Anselm 0
- Princeton 18—Brown 6
- Notre Dame 17—Carnegie Tech 6
- Holy Cross 14—Colgate 7
- Dartmouth 18—Harvard 7
- Pittsburgh 13—Fordham 7
- Michigan 21—Yale 6
- Providence 13—Springfield 6
- Purdue 10—Santa Clara 7
- Tulane 7—Detroit 0

FRIARS WALLOP A. I. C. 27 TO 0

Superior Reserve Power Brings Easy Victory In Last Half

Hitting their stride via a second half spurt, the Providence College football team rolled over a scrappy but tired American International College eleven last Friday night by a convincing 27-0 score at the Cranston Stadium.

The Aces matched everything the Friars had to offer in the first two cantos and even gave them a few anxious moments with a pass attack that split the Friar defenses time and again. Their forward wall, however, withered under the constant pounding of Providence's third quarter, they fell apart completely and the Devoremen romped throughout the remainder of the contest.

Joe O'Grady, who manifested a masterful demonstration in the art of long-range punting, and Pat Murphy, whose aerial shots were too much for the Providence backs to fathom, were the spearheads in the Aces' early attack. It was the latter's well-directed passes which enabled the Aminococs to penetrate deep into Friar territory where Russ Butova, place-kicking specialist, attempted a field goal. Butova's best from the 17-yard stripe was none too good, and thus the first and ultimately the strongest Internet scoring bid went aglimmering.

For the remainder of the half the Fighting Friars ground out plenty of yardage, but the combination of vicious Aminococ tacking when their citadel was threatened and O'Grady's magnificent booting nullified all the efforts of Vin Nugent and Joe Juges.

Whether or not the silent testimonial paid to Mal Brown just before the resumption of play had anything to do with it, the Friars exhibited a much better co-ordinated brand of football in the third and fourth periods which slowly but surely wore down the gallant Springfield collegians.

Vin Nugent set up the first Providence score when he angled a punt out on the enemy seven. O'Grady made a fine kick back to the 43, but the Friars were now on the move and with Nugent and Juges knifing the tackles and a Carter to Sullivan pass good for 15 yards the Devoremen were soon over for their first touchdown, Juges slashing over from the two.

Immediately after the opening of the last session, Cas Potera recovered an erring pass from center on the Aces' one from which point Dan McKinnon easily rammed across. On the ensuing kickoff Capt. Stan Eiselonis settled on a fumble at the visitors' 12. In two tries Juges registered touchdown No. 3. At this point Friar reserves took over and under the clever generalship of sophomore Jimmy Coyle, who marshalled his forces with all the nonchalance of a seasoned veteran, they soon ran through the battered Aces. Joe Byron, Sam Iorio, and Larry Shattuck featured this advance with the latter getting credit for the score by virtue of a brilliant off-tackle slant from the ten.

This was the first game in which Head Coach Hugh Devore has been able to experiment widely with his reserves, and all came through with flying colors. Iorio, Coyle, Byron, and Shattuck in particular showed a great deal of class.

A capable Providence College freshman eleven will attempt to stop the young Crusaders of Holy Cross when the Jesuit representatives invade the Dominican stronghold at Hendriken Field this afternoon. Highly confident of emerging victorious, the Friarlets are accorded an excellent chance of turning back their Worcester rivals.

The Crusaders have started only once in the present campaign, the lone effort being a 23-20 loss suffered at the hands of one of the strongest frosh teams ever to represent Dartmouth. The Purple yearlings were enjoying a 20-0 advantage in the third chapter of that encounter but a powerful aerial and ground offensive on the part of their opponents spelled defeat for the Worcesterites.

Two former Rhode Island schoolboy stars, Steve Conroy and Frank Kleniewski, both of St. Raphael Academy, will be seen in action. The former, who is seeing a great deal of service in the Crusaders' line, won a place on the All-Rhode Island Class B team; Kleniewski, leading schoolboy scorer last year and the all-state selection for fullback, is sharing the bucking back duties with Don McKone.

Changes Contemplated

The spirit and keen competition for starting berths in the Friar Camp is attested to by the fact that changes are certain to be made in the eleven that will take the field for the opening whistle. Leo Murphy of Taunton, who saw no service in the Friarlets' last contest, against State, will most likely start at one of the guard posts; and there is a great possibility that Henry O'Connell of North Dighton will replace Edack at the signal-calling position. Another change will find Ronald Fowler of Columbus, O., at left halfback in place of Frank Reale who will be sidelined for the greater part of the game due to a hand injury.

FROM THE DORM

Here we go, fellows, with a few jabs and jabs in an effort to give you the high-lights on the news at "the rock". This is our first (and maybe our final) appearance in The Cowl but in either case we hope you like us. Grchids (if we may borrow from Winchell) to those members of the Student Council who took care of the boys in the infirmary. Nice job, fellows!

"Have you ever noticed that Camels burn longer and give you more smoking?"

Above, "VAN" waiting in the duck blinds for the "zero hour." Explorer, sportsman, scientist, conservationist, author of the authoritative, new "A Book on Duck Shooting," Heilner knows the waterfront flyways from California to Maine, Alaska to Mexico, and those of Europe too. "VAN" has been a Camel smoker for 18 years.

You can tell a lot about a cigarette by whether it burns fast or slowly. Camel cigarettes are noted for their long burning. In fact, they burned longer, slower than any other brand tested, in recent scientific studies. Van Campen Heilner, the famous American authority on wild game, points out an interesting angle to this. "Camels give more smoking because those choice tobaccos burn so slowly," he says. "And I think the way they burn is a good way to judge the quality of cigarettes too. I can smoke them steadily and they still taste smooth and cool, and my mouth feels fresh—and there's no throat irritation. Camels are mild, flavory. They give more pleasure per puff—and more puffs per pack." Get extra smoking per pack—topped off with the delicate taste of choice tobaccos. Smoke Camels!

MORE PLEASURE PER PUFF...MORE PUFFS PER PACK!

Whatever price you pay per pack, it's important to remember this fact: By burning 25% slower than the average of the 15 other of the largest-selling brands tested—slower than any of them—CAMELS give a smoking plus equal to 5 EXTRA SMOKES PER PACK!

Cigarettes were compared recently... sixteen of the largest-selling brands... under the searching tests of impartial laboratory scientists. Findings were announced as follows:

- 1 CAMELS were found to contain more tobacco by weight than the average for the 15 other of the largest-selling brands.
- 2 Camels burned slower than any other brand tested—25% slower than the average time of the 15 other of the largest-selling brands! By burning 25% slower, on the average, Camels give smokers the equivalent of 5 extra smokes per pack!
- 3 In the same tests, Camels held their ash for longer than the average time for all the other brands.

Flying Courses Sponsored By C. A. A. Have Civic and Military Purposes

While demanding that the U. S. stay out of war that is not fought on our own soil, the college press nevertheless believes in preparedness so far as the air is concerned. It is thumping hard for the college and university flying courses sponsored by the federal government through the Civil Aeronautics Authority.

"Air travel is becoming increasingly important in many industries, including geology, oil scouting, and production. Many companies, both large and small, own their ships and use them constantly. The ability to operate a plane would be an asset to many workers in industry. The type of flying instructions to be given here is for light ships and is intended to make the student at home in the air." With this as a basis, students, if interested, could continue study in that field and have a good foundation." The University of Tulsa Collegian points out the local advantages of the training course, as did most college editorials on the subject.

The Campus Collegian of the University of Toledo had this to say in favor of the course: "Students who will take the university's flying instruction course this year will receive valuable training in theory and in actual flying that they could not get elsewhere for ten times the cost. So far as safety in the training program is concerned, it is significant that out of several hundred students who were trained last year when the program was in its experimental stages, not one serious accident occurred."

Tobacco...opens Doors to Fields where People Live, Work & Achieve

Today there are about 1,000,000 cigar stores, drug stores, country and grocery stores where you can buy cigarettes in the United States. These retailers, and the jobbers who serve them, have built up a service of courtesy and convenience unmatched by any other industry catering to the American public's pleasure.

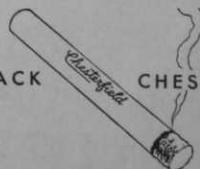

THERE ARE ANOTHER MILLION people who are engaged directly or indirectly in the transportation of cigarettes to every town, hamlet and crossroads.

IT IS ESTIMATED that there are 1,602,000 tobacco farmers raising tobacco in 20 out of the 48 states. Good tobacco is one of the hardest crops to raise and bring to market, requiring great skill and patience from seed-bed planting to harvesting and curing. The modern tobacco farmer has done well the job of constantly improving the quality of his product.

THE AVERAGE LENGTH of service of the 13,230 people working in the Chesterfield factories, storage houses, leaf-handling and redrying plants is over 10 years. This means that every step in the making of Chesterfields, regardless of how small, is handled by people who have had 10 years of experience and ability in knowing their jobs.

TRULY TOBACCO OPENS DOORS to fields where people live, work and achieve, and Chesterfield takes pride in its ever increasing part in this great industry that is devoted entirely to the pleasure of the American public.

TO SMOKERS, Chesterfield Cigarettes have always said, and now repeat, that in no other cigarette made can you find the same degree of real mildness and good taste, or the same high quality of properly cured and aged tobaccos. Chesterfield Cigarettes are made with one purpose only...to give smokers everywhere the Milder, Better-Tasting Smoking Pleasure they want. You can't buy a better cigarette.
