Novel Dances
Are Created
For ComedyToreador Specialty Will Be Performed by Anthony Ricci, '41

The new dancing numbers to be featured in the forthcoming annual musical comedy "Uncle Tom's Cabana" have been completed and now need only repetition to perfect them, it was announced yesterday by dance director Larry Simonds.

In the opening feature the chorus will present a dancing number fashioned after the Rockettes of Radio City in what promises to be the most intricate number ever attempted at Providence College.

Among the novel feature numbers will be a Toreador specialty by Anthony Ricci, '41, and another innovation will be a Hat dance, performed by members of the Pyramid Players.

Thomas O'Connell, '44, will be the star of a ballet ensemble which will be crowned by his acrobatic interpretation of the ballet.

One of the large-scale dances will be performed by Simonds' male cohorts, garbed as Amazons, executing their version of the Conga line.

Simonds, now in his sixth year of directing the musical comedies, stated that the cooperation he was receiving from the student body was very satisfactory.

The songs written by the students will provide a musical background for all the dances. Among the musical numbers are: "You Cast Your Spell Over Me," "It Must Be You," "Yoo Hoo," and "My Name is Gaucho," by Ken Cayton, '42, musical director; "My Story of Love," and "Conchita" by Edward Garrity, '41; and "I Live In a Dream World," by Charles Sommers, '43. These songs are being rehearsed daily by the College thirteen-piece swing orchestra.

Students have already been selected for all the title roles, and production manager Thomas Farrell, '41, reports satisfactory progress is being made.

DEBATING

Three members of the Debating Union will leave this morning for a road trip to New Jersey, to meet St. Peter's College of Jersey City tonight. They will also take part in a radio debate over station WAAT in Jersey City with John Marshall College on Sunday afternoon at 4:30 p.m.

In both debates the Providence team will uphold the affirmative of the query: "Resolved That the United States Should Immediately Declare War on Germany and Italy."

Last Monday night, the Providence College Debating Team comprised of Matthew H. Kelly, '43, and Charles Cottam, '43, defeated the Citadel, military college of Charleston, S. C. They upheld the affirmative of the question "Resolved: That the Nations of the Western Hemisphere Should Form a Permanent Union."

Citadel debaters were Cadet Captain Charles E. Flowers and Cadet Lieutenant Horace L. Tilghman. Three members of the Citizens Safety Committee of Providence acted as judges. They were Earl F. Adams, Director; Joseph P. Knox, Secretary; and Eugene F. McLaughlin.

John H. Davitt, '44, served as time-keeper for the debate.

Peggy Mann To Be Featured
By Clinton Aggregation

Ballroom of Biltmore Hotel is Scene of Junior Prom

Featuring Peggy Mann, talented successor to Bea Wain, and Charles (Buttercup) Carroll, slapstick drummer boy, Larry Clinton and his orchestra will furnish the rhythm and entertainment in the main ballroom of the Biltmore Hotel at the Junior Prom, April 28.

The composer of such hit songs as "Dipsy Doodle", "My Reverie", "Our Love", "Deep Purple" and "True Confession", Clinton drew to the Glen Island Casino a crowd that topped all previous highs on the first night of his engagement there. At the exclusive Meadowbrook in New Jersey, he surpassed the drawing power of even Tommy Dorsey's band and established another record.

Before he began to arrange for Glen Gray and his Casa Loma Orchestra, Jimmy Dorsey and his more famous brother Tommy Dorsey, the "Dipsy Doodler" learned to play every instrument in the swing musician's repertoire. It was during his reign as solo trumpeter in Ferde Grofe's band that he discovered his ability as an arranger and promptly made orchestration his forte. In a year, he became the rage of the swing devotees and organized his own unit. His recording outsold all others and his "My Reverie" a modernized transcription of a little-known composition by Claude Debussy, became the most successful waxing of the season.

The vogue for swinging the classics may be attributed to Clinton. Following the Debussy time were others by classical composers. Von Flotow's opera "Martha" gave him the swing "Martha", Ponnhielli's Gioronda, "Danre of the Hours" and Herbert's

F. X. McCarthy
Named Coach

The appointment of Francis X. (Pete) McCarthy, recently retired sports editor of the Cowl, to succeed Dr. Arthur Quirk as head baseball coach was announced yesterday.

McCarthy, a graduate of the West Side Junior High School in the class of '34, gained renown in various Hot Dog and Ice Cream leagues during the past several seasons. Last season he gained permanent possession of the "Two O'Clock Hitter's Trophy" by popular acclaim.

Reached last night by telephone Coach McCarthy expressed noticeable surprise at the appointment but condescended to give the following statement. "I don't intend to make any drastic changes in policy but I have a few ideas that might serve to speed up the game. I have conferred with John Donnelly, Dean of Agriculture, in the interest of laying a fool-proof diamond that will eliminate infield bobbles and the erection of wind boards on the northwest and northeast corners of the field to cut down the high wind velocity on Bradley Hill.

"Only time will attest to the merits of these two moves. I expect to meet the candidates next week. Naturally I'm flabbergasted over the appointment but it only bears out an old contention of mine, 'if you can't take part in a sport, be a coach, anyway'."

DOODLER

Larry Clinton, the "Dipsy Doodler", who will bring his band to the Biltmore Hotel, April 28, for the annual Junior Prom.

"Bohemian Girl", "I Dreamt I Dwelt in Marble Halls".

In the fall of 1937, a shagging, swing crazy young America acclaimed a simple, rhythmic phrase of music called "The Dipsy Doodle". The popularity of this composition, influenced the composer to adopt it for his theme song and to try his hand at still further ventures into swing with the result that he gave his fans such tones as "Midnight in the Madhouse", "Strictly for the Persians" and "Satan Takes a Holiday".

Then, convinced that dancers were favoring more subtle forms of swing, rather than the primitive jam styles introduced by colored bands, he produced "It Took a Million Years" and similar songs.

During the past year, Clinton has been on the West Coast, playing in the ballrooms of Catalina and the dance halls of Washington and Oregon. His return to the East was unexpected but welcomed by hordes of his enthusiasts.

The appearance of Clinton's band at the Prom will mark the breaking of a precedent of other years when

New Selective Service Bill Passes
Senate After Long Night Session

By Ira T. Williams, '41

In accord with the passage of bill H. S. 1868 in the Senate early this morning by a 50-38 majority, all Providence College students between the ages of 18 and 45 must register for selective service Tuesday noon in Room 4. The new bill does not affect those who registered last October.

The bill was passed after a night long session in the Senate Chambers and was vigorously protested by the opposition. Only after the third roll call was the majority sufficient to allow the bill's passage.

Navy Officers
Show Pictures

Lieutenant-Commander D. E. Dement, M.D., Lieutenant E. S. Brewer and Pharmacist's Mate Virgil Yelton, all of the United States Navy, visited Providence College yesterday to show a motion picture of naval flight training and to interview applicants for the air service.

The picture, "Eyes of the Navy", was shown in the auditorium at noon after a brief talk on the requirements for flight training by Lt. Brewer. Interviews were conducted in the small parlor during the remainder of the afternoon, and preliminary physical examinations given in the Medical Room.

The candidates who underwent the examination are Joseph F. Ney, '41, James F. Dring, '43, John P. McKenzie, '41, Leonard S. Shea, '41, John V. Curran, '41, Edward J. McDougald, '41, Edward A. Crouchley, '41, Raymond L. Dewalle, '41, James J. Monahan, '41, Eugene A. Gaudet, '41, Leroy V. Marcotte, '42, Joseph J. Shanley, '41, Samuel H. D'Ambruso, '41, Willard C. McNally, '41, and William J. Nesbit, '41.

ALEMBIC

Material for the final issue of the Alembic, student magazine, must be submitted to the Staff by April 17, it was announced yesterday by Matthew P. Gallagher, '41, editor-in-chief of the publication.

Short stories, poems, and essays will receive full consideration, and special encouragement will be given to Freshmen and Sophomores, Gallagher said.

All work should be typewritten, double-spaced, and left in the Alembic office before the deadline.

Windmill On Harkins Hall
Would Be Source Of Power

"A windmill on top of Harkins Hall. Sure, that's the idea. It's the most sensational idea of the year but it's practical too. Every time I think of it I wonder why I didn't think of it before. Man, what an idea."

There could be no doubting it—the chap was out of his mind. A windmill on top of Harkins Hall. That tops everything. And yet he looks normal in every way: Trousers barely extending below his knees, revealing a pair of husky and very hairy calves, pockets just under the armpits; a flaming red shirt with yellow tie to match; a head of hair that was in dire need of a mowing; pipe jammed in his mouth as if he had been born with it there;—he was a typical collegian. Never could tell he was nuts. Then again, he might be a genius.

"Yeah, a windmill. A plain, ordinary windmill that goes round and round. Like they have in Holland only bigger. Well, we stick it up on the roof of Harkins Hall, or Aquinas Hall, it don't matter. But we got to make a movable base for it or else nail a big vane to it like they have on some chimneys so the wind will blow the smoke away instead of right back down the chimney. We fix it like this so that it will always point in the direction of the wind. Can't miss any bets. What? You ain't never seen no windmills around New England? What's the matter? Ain't you never been out on a farm. Sure, all the farms around here have them. Use them to pull water out of the well. But ours will be better than them. Why, there's no telling what we'll be able to do with ours."

"And to think that it was me thought of it. I'm going to patent the thing and then P. C. will get the royalties and we'll be building more dorms, and laboratories, and gymnasiums, and lecture halls, with the power from it. And the Cowl will have its own presses and publish a daily. Why, fellows will be coming from all over the country to Providence College. Just because of a windmill. You don't see how a windmill is going to

In a radio speech last night Senator Franklin of West Virginia, leading protagonist for the bill said, "The country is faced with a crisis which must be met and overcome. The democracy of these United States is threatened with totalitarianism and tyranny. We must one and for all crush the ruthless dictators who are causing havoc, death and destruction among men. The fate of all civilization is in the balance. We are calling upon all young men to come to the defense of their country. In such an emergency they should be more than willing to sacrifice, time, energy and even life itself that this democracy might survive over the flood of imperialism. It is a challenge," he said, "to every red blooded American. We must meet this challenge and thrust back the foes of right living and freedom among men."

The passing of the bill was made known to The Cowl just before it went to press early this morning. In order to ascertain the feelings of the students, especially the underclassmen, members of The Cowl staff stopped the presses and spent hours telephoning the various students and informing them of the sudden blackout of their educational plans.

The news brought exclamations of wonder and consternation from practically all those called and Juniors in particular were emphatic in denouncing and condemning the measure as foolhardy and unfair. One Junior exclaimed over the phone, "What's the idea taking me out of school? There are plenty of guys on relief who should go first and give the country a break. I have only one more year of school to go and I might not ever be able to finish if I get in the army."

A government official was quoted as saying, "All men who register next Tuesday will be classified and under arms by September. This new measure will not be hampered by deferments as was the first call. Flatfeet will not be sufficient to allow for deferment this time." He emphasized the fact that "no demonstrations against the measure will be tolerated. All those who are in any way openly opposed to the measure will be considered as traitors and will be dealt with accordingly."

The Cowl called the Administration of the college and asked if the passage of the new bill would have any effect upon the status of the college at the present time. An officer of the administration in an official statement said, "This is an unexpected blow to the forces of higher education. Our student body will be severely depleted. But it is not expected to have any immediate bearing upon the present scholastic year. Classes will be conducted until the close of the

THE SPORTS DIAL

By HAROLD RICH

FRESHMAN PETER LOUTHIS IS CAPABLE BOXER

To most of the Providence College sports family, he is known only as a candidate for a berth on Coach Hugh Devore's varsity grid squad; but to followers of New England amateur boxing, bespectacled, studious-looking Peter Louthis, a freshman at the College, is recognized as a capable heavyweight—the winner of 28 fights in 35 starts in three years of leather tossing.

You got your first look at Pete in the summer of 1938, when he was breaking into the fight game in bouts staged at Crescent Park by the now defunct Crescent A. C. Since that time, young Louthis—he is 19 years old now—has carved a substantial niche for himself in amateur circles, winning verdicts over some of the best simon pures in this sector of the country.

STARTED TOSSING LEATHER EARLY IN LIFE

"I had gloves since the time that I was in knickers," Louthis said, when asked at what time in his life he became interested in the prize ring. And it was well that he did learn early, for Pete was reared in one of the toughest neighborhoods in Cumberland Hill. He got his early training from his father, Louis, who, in his younger days, campaigned as a wrestler in Pawtucket, Worcester and Taunton. At present he is being handled by Bob De Celles, the man who started former Featherweight Champion Joey Archibald on the road to fame.

GOLDEN GLOVES CHAMP

In his first year in the prize ring, Louthis won seven consecutive bouts before tasting defeat. Incidentally, the setback was the only one received that year—an impressive feat for a beginner in the fight game. Because he had to devote much time to his scholastic studies in his senior year at Cumberland high, where he prepared for Providence College, Pete did not do much campaigning in 1939. Last year he annexed the Golden Gloves light-heavyweight crown at Salem, Mass., and defeated such good performers as Jimmy Griffin, New England 160-pound titleholder, and Boston's Dave Harblitt, New England All-America champ.

"FIGHT GAME GETS IN YOUR BLOOD"

Thus far in 1941, Pete, campaigning as a heavyweight, has emerged victorious 13 times in 14 bouts. Among his latest victims have been Chuck Prendible, present New England titleholder, and Al Reid, Eastern All-America king and runner-up in the national All-America tournament.

The Minnesota Daily devoted a recent special edition to the theme: "Your University—Servant of the State." Particularly timely, for the legislature was about to enter debate on the university's appropriation.

When The 'New Order' Comes, Expect Some Changes!

By F. J. McGuire

The new order has arrived at Providence College. The German Nazi occupation took place last night when 500 parachutists (direct from Berlin) stormed Harkins Hall and lay siege to the Dorm. Both were taken by midnight. A new Nazi administration was announced. Inquiries about the old faculty will not be answered. However, let it be known that they have been sufficiently "concentrated." Your new faculty is in full agreement with the Reich. They will instruct you properly. This move is in line with the LEADERS policy to control all centers of learning. People were learning too much under the archaic, democratic regime.

Classes will be held at the usual time. However, certain regulations must be observed by all students:

(1) The Herr professor is here to hear no comments. His duty is to duly instruct the students as to the destiny of German supremacy and world domination. Each class will begin and end with a pledge to these ideals.

(2) No discussion or questions will be allowed. Herr professor is to be considered, in class, as our great LEADER in the nation—unerring, indisputable, and impeccable. (However, any prof. who seems to be losing his Nazi convictions must be reported to the authorities. Informants will be rewarded.)

(3) All must be on the lookout for subversive individuals and ideas. Report them. A Gestapo is the best way to weed out undesirables.

You as students of this new enlightened order must give good example to others. Use of autos is forbidden. Gasoline is most vital to the fatherland. Likewise coal must be conserved. One one of coal equals the day's labor of 1,000 men. Citizens should gladly die to win such power and wealth for the LEADER.

All class rings, keys, and pins—containing gold and jewels—shall be collected. Our warriors are to be rewarded. Herr Gorings "chest" must be amply decorated; so also the graves of our heroes. The devastators of London, Sussex, and Coventry shall be honored. The LEADER is proud to report that a gold-iron swatika cross bedecked every one of the 750 military caskets in the last mass funeral for our warriors.

Bundles for Germany will be gratefully accepted. Also voluntary contributions for the maintenance of "orphan" homes, which house our future soldiers, are awaited. Those failing to give will be reported and dealt with.

Extra-curricular activities will be curtailed. Clubs, representing different localities, are to be disbanded. They disrupt unity and foment rivalry. Likewise, drills and mass exercise will supersede team sports. Nothing must stand in the way of unity. All those who opposed the Nazi minority before occupation will be ferreted out. Minorities can not be tolerated now.

Before the New Order, the reports of our advance agents say, "the P. C. cafeteria is most disorderly and anti-Nazi. The students group around tables and talk about everything. They speak freely and utter verbal castigations against our LEADER. 'Hamburgers' are avidly consumed. Idlers gape and

YOU don't need a high I.Q. to figure out that the qualities you enjoy in your cigarette are in the smoke itself—the smoke's the thing!

It's quite likely, too, that if you are not already a Camel "fan" you smoke one of the other four brands tested. That's why the scientific findings of the smoke test are of real importance to you.

Science has already pointed out that Camels—by burning slower—give you extra mildness, extra coolness, and extra flavor. Now science confirms another important advantage of slower burning—of Camel's costlier tobaccos—extra freedom from nicotine in the smoke! And the smoke's the thing!

Your dealer is featuring Camels at an attractive carton price. For convenience, for economy—buy by the carton.

play at gambling machines. Their juke boxes emit noisy music written mostly by Semetics. Food is passed out in great quantities. No one is restricted in their use of salt, pepper and sugar."

All this must stop. Speech in the cafeteria must be confined to extolling our LEADERS progress against the world. Students may wear their overcoats in the cafe, for hereafter the oil will be used to fuel our war machine. Lights are to be used sparsely. "Conservation" is the watchword. Sugar and spices will not be supplied. Ration cards are to be handed out today. They limit each man to one cup of black coffee. Three slices of bread (no butter), a slab of cheese, and two ounces of applesauce per day. The word "hamburg" will be dropped. How dare the great German city be so burlesqued. Russian music will be used unless future political circumstances prevents it.

With the arrival of the new order every P. C. man is expected to do his duty willingly. Otherwise he will be forced to it. The information hereabove given is to be read carefully and instructions carried out. NO insubordination or argument is permitted, for all the above is in agreement with the wishes of the LEADER. They may seem a little unusual and perhaps unreasonable. But always remember: reason under the new order does not count; it is the will of our LEADER do all this? Gee, you don't catch on very quick do you? I'm trying to explain and you keep interrupting me. Quiet! So we put the windmill up on the roof. Well sir, you know how the wind blows, up around here. Swishing and wailing and sobbing and whistling all day long. Windiest spot in Rhode Island. So what happens? Our windmill shoots around so fast you couldn't tell there was any propeller on it unless you knew. Just like an airplane's propeller. Simple, hey? The wind blows and our windmill goes round. Nothing to it. It hums pretty as you please and there's no manual labor attached to it; that's the beauty of the whole idea. Round and round she goes and we just sit back and smile. Well, when we got our windmill set up and humming, then we come in with the dynamo. We hitch the dynamo to the windmill and sit back and wait for the electricity. We got our own electricity free for nothing. We're all set; we're in; we're on easy street.

No. War never determines who is right only who is to survive. We cannot bring permanent peace to Europe by our participation in the present war. We can preserve peace in this part of the world by refraining from such participation.

No. We have tried once to bring peace and justice to Europe by aiding England and we failed. There is very little hope that by once again aiding England we shall be any more successful. Let us remain interested in our own hemisphere.
