P. C. Begins 23rd Year At Exercises

Father Dillon Believes 'Patriotism' Will Crush Nazi Power

"You men are performing a patriotic duty by reporting here this morning," said the Very Rev. John J. Dillon, O.P., President of Providence College as he welcomed Freshman and Sophomore Classes at matriculation exercises inaugurating the 23rd academic year of the College on Tuesday, September 23.

Discussing the virtue of patriotism, Father Dillon expressed the opinion that there shall be an urgent need for college graduates who will serve as leaders of the generation which must manage the post war world.

Matriculation Mass

A matriculation Mass was celebrated by the Rev. Charles H. McKenna, O.P., College chaplain, preceding Father Dillon's address. Acolytes were Richard O'Gorman, of New Haven, and Ferdinand T. Sarafini, of Winsted, Conn.

Following the address, the freshmen resumed their regular schedule of classes. The sophomores were welcomed by the Rev. Frederick C. Foley, O.P., assistant dean, who gave them their academic program. After registration by the Rev. Daniel M. Gallier, O.P., registrar, the second year men also resumed classes.

More than 300 freshmen registered on Freshman Day, the same enrollment as last year. Freshman Day Exercises commenced with the celebration of a Mass by Father McKenna. Handbooks, and the class academic programs were distributed.

Seniors Return

The Juniors and Seniors were welcomed back at Mass and exercises in Harkins Hall on Thursday. At the conclusion of the Mass celebrated by the chaplain, Father Dillon delivered his annual address to the upperclassmen. Exhorting them to be noble patriots, Father Dillon noted that "the virtue of patriotism will lead to the adequate defense of our shores and the same virtue in the peoples of the conquered nations will effect the final crushing of the Nazi power."

"Patriotism in the human heart never surrenders," he continued. "Mechanized forces cannot harness the patriotisms of free human nature"

Eight Instructors Added to Faculty

Eight new appointments this year to faculty positions at Providence College have been announced.

The Rev. Joseph J. Kennedy, O.P., who has been serving on the faculty of Albertus Magnus College in New Haven, has been assigned to the philosophy department.

New sociology courses will be given this year by the Rev. John V. Fitzgerald, O.P., a member of the sociology staff, who has been on a leave of absence studying at Ohio State University.

The Rev. Bruno C. Zviblis, O.P., will conduct classes in philosophy. Father Zviblis left Raseinai, Lithuania, at the outbreak of hostilities in that country.

The religion department will be augmented by the Rev. Edward F. Doyle, O.P., a native of Fall River

"Traditionalist"

DR. MORTIMER J. ADLER

Adler to Speak Here Oct. 29th

Dr. Mortimer J. Adler, author of the best seller "How to Read a Book," and at present "professor at large" at the University of Chicago will speak in the auditorium of Harkins Hall on Oct. 29, under the auspices of the Philosophy Department of the College.

Dr. Adler has long been in the thick of the current controversy among educational leaders over "progressive" methods and techniques of teaching. He himself is a "traditionalist," which he defines as one favoring a moderate position which combines both traditional and progressive teaching methods.

At the University of Chicago, Dr. Adler has been intimately associated with President Hutchins, and the two have inaugurated a new system of study termed the "honors course." Under this system a selected group of students meet, not for formal lectures nor routine use of textbooks, but rather to engage in stimulating discussions led by President Hutchins and Dr. Adler.

One of the important young men in the educational field, Dr. Adler was born in New York City in 1902, educated at Columbia University, and was a member of the editorial staff of the New York Sun before embarking upon his teaching career. It was his early ambition to become a newspaper man but he subsequently changed his mind to a study of philosophy after reading Plato's Dialogues. He was an instructor in psychology at Columbia from 1923 to 1929 and assistant director of the Peo-

FRESHMAN RULES

1. Caps must be worn at all times both in and outside of the city limits.
2. Caps must be worn at all basketball games in the gymnasium.
3. Caps must be worn at all athletic functions.
4. Caps may not be worn at dances.
5. Wearing of the caps on Sunday is optional. When visiting the campus on Sunday, however, caps must be worn.
6. Caps may not be worn at times when it would seem indecorous to wear them.

These rules go into effect 12 noon today. Infractions for the first two times will necessitate a fine of twenty-five cents. Further infractions will incur a penalty of fifty cents.

Soph-Frosh Smoker Held

The sophomores and freshmen staged their annual smoker at Harkins Hall last night.

"Freshman", a song sung by Charles Fountain and Max Knickerbocker was the first feature of the evening's entertainment. After their racous shrills had finally ebbed, the Mad Turks, a dormitory ballet group, rendered several old favorites. Tom O'Connell drew much applause as he cavorted and somersaulted on the auditorium stage.

The Class of '35 was welcomed by Jerry Collins, president of last year's freshman class. Jerry prescribed the "orientation" code of conduct which will guide the freshmen at P. C.

The sports exhibition had "slugger" Lund arrayed against "Butch" Needham in a slap-happy three-round bout which resulted in a draw.

"Tony the Crusher" disguised as a "petite miss" challenged all comers in a wrestling match. Joseph O'Rourke proved more than an even match for this gay Amazon. Anthony Del Guidice, Oswald Cinquegrana and James Burke of New Jersey staged a fencing match in which Cinquegrana emerged the victor.

A surprise of the evening was the scavenger hunt staged by five willing freshmen. Each was told to bring in a specific thing or object. A brunette was one of the items which was required.

Music for the smoker was furnished by Jean Nagle at the piano and a five-

Books By Faculty Are Published

Two members of the Providence College faculty published books during the summer months. Daniel J. O'Neill, Ph.D., Professor of Latin, revised his college textbook "Latinity." The Rev. Robert E. Brennan, O.P., Professor of Psychology, authored a new book "Thomistic Psychology."

To make "Latinity" suitable for high school Latin classes, Dr. O'Neill has included a set of exercises based upon the Orations of Cicero and a set of exercises based upon the biographies of Latin writers. Innovations are the inclusion of a vocabulary and work sheets.

Father Brennan's book has received great acclaim in pedagogical circles. It has an introduction by Mortimer J. Adler of the University of Chicago. This is Father Brennan's second book. He previously wrote a volume entitled "General Psychology."

Wins Commission

2ND LIEUT. EDWARD DUPRAS, JR.

Ed Dupras Receives USMC Commission

Quantico, Va.—Second Lieutenant Edward P. Dupras, Jr., U. S. Marine Corps, who enlisted to win a commission in the Marine Corps Reserve and whose work was so excellent that it won him a commission in the regular Marine Corps, has completed a special three months course in the duties of a platoon commander and will be immediately assigned to a regular Marine Corps unit, it was officially announced today at the Marine Corps Base here.

Lieutenant Dupras, son of E. P. Dupras, 98 Overhill road, Providence, was commissioned a Second Lieutenant last May when he graduated from a four months course designed to qualify candidates for a commission. A graduate of Providence College, Class of June, 1940, where he majored in English and Philosophy, Dupras' aptitude for military work resulted in his being one of the few Reserve officers selected for a commission in the regular Marine Corps.

Other graduates are training for officers' posts in the other branches of the armed services. The Navy's Flight Selection Board for New England has selected to train as future flying officers, four former Providence College men. They have reported for duty at the Naval air station in Squantum, Mass., where they will receive three or four weeks of preliminary flight training, at the hands of flying officers in the Navy and Marine Corps. The four men are: William J.

By TOM GILFILLAN

Lacking the fame and national prominence of the highly-praised Holy Cross eleven, the Devore-coached team will invade Fitton field, Worcester Saturday, decidedly an underdog.

Off to an auspicious start by a brilliant triumph over a much publicized L.S.U. aggregation last weekend at Baton Rouge, La., the Crusaders are confident of an easy victory over Providence.

"T" Formation

Displaying a "T" formation that is both tricky and devastating, H. C. has Johnny Grigas, potential "All-American" as its powerful spearhead, and the speedy sophomore Dick Gibson at left halfback position.

The loss of Tom Sullivan, star of the Holy Cross-L.S.U. game, however, will greatly enhance the Providence team's chances to score an upset, but the improvement in the running and blocking of Dick Gibson and Jim Scondras may help compensate for the loss of Sullivan.

Just the same the Devoremen have by no means conceded victory to their celebrated foes. For the last two days they have been drilled intensively in counter-moves against the plays of the Purple, and especially against those that have any connection with Johnny Grigas.

With an end squad composed of Joe Sullivan, '42, Capt., Red Rafferty, '43, Larry Drew, '44, and Jim Larkin, '43, the eleven is well fortified in this department.

Di Logio Center

The center position which caused Devore and his aides so much worry up until recently seems well taken care of by the return to form of Dom Di Luglio, '42, who has won the starting assignment in Saturday's game.

Sophomore Sam Franco, a recent find, will assume the duties of right halfback, and although as he is yet untested on the varsity field, nevertheless from pre-game forecasts he will be the man to watch. At left half will be senior Ed Haponik, a hard

ALEMBIC OFFICERS

Joseph A. Conway, '43, newly appointed Editor-in-Chief of the Alembic, announced today that the first issue of the magazine will be published October 28.

Appointment of editorial assistants has been postponed until next week. Joseph O'Shea, '43, will remain as Business Manager and will be assisted by Paul Cummings, '43, and James F. Shiel, '44. Joseph McLaughlin, '42, will again head the Circulation staff.

Literary contributions from the student body, especially the Freshman class, are solicited and should be turned in at the Alembic office before October 14th.

Friars Club to Sponsor Pre-Game Rally Tonight

Tonight, on the eve of the first pigskin encounter of the 1941 season, the students of Providence College will gather on the campus to give their gridiron eleven a royal send-off calculated to put the team in a high spirit of confidence for their Saturday encounter with the Big Purple of Holy Cross at Fitton Field in Worcester.

Under the leadership of the Friars Club, College hospitality organization, the freshmen will gather wood for a gigantic bonfire, billed as the climax of the evening.

Pep Talks

Representing the faculty, the Rev. Irving A. Georges, O.P., will give a short pep talk at the rally. Head Coach Hugh Devore will also speak, giving the students attending an idea of what can be expected from the 1941 aggregation. Captain Joe Sullivan, '42, left end, will also speak for the team itself. The list of speakers and the rally itself are planned to show this year's team that the whole College is backing it to the hilt.

The lighting of the bonfire will be the signal for a snake dance around the campus with everyone taking part. After the rally a different kind of dancing will be held in Harkins Hall where anybody can dance to the music of his or her favorite orchestra. The Friars Club, which is directing the dance as well as the rally, is furnishing the music via Victor records.

Ross Muenzen, '42, President of the club, has extended an appeal to the whole student body to attend the affair and show in an active way that it is solidly behind its football team. He urged Freshmen especially to attend the rally.

A Better Understanding!

The first days of freshman life are difficult, and in many of the larger colleges, perilous ones. The freshman is subjected to every variety of hazing in the chamber of collegiate horrors, and this practise is ostensibly to inculcate in him a fear and respect for his upperclassmen. That neither is long-lived as a result of this reign of terrorism is an apparent conclusion to all concerned.

Some form of freshman initiation is beneficial in that it welds the incoming class into a common purpose and mutual interest. But flagrant violations of all decorous and decent behavior has brought the American college into the public memory as a rampageous and ludicrous institution, with accompanying over-emphasis on sports and publicity stunts.

Providence College is not addicted to this common malady. It tends to offer a helping hand to the newcomers, and to assist them along the few uncertain months in which they become adjusted to the college scene.

Certainly this promotes a feeling of gratefulness on the part of the first-year-men for their predecessors, and there is good reason to suspect that this feeling will enlarge in time into mutual respect and cooperation between classes to the greater good of the institution.

Almost the only visible sign of freshman initiation here will be the obligatory wearing of the traditional skull caps, which designates the wearer as a member of the Class of 1945. The rulings on freshman caps will go into effect today and if the results last year are any criterion, will be received almost with enthusiasm by the Freshman Class.

And so the freshman starts out upon the new road with a spirit of fun and good will, a spirit which was furthered greatly by the Frosh-Soph Mixer which took place last night.

Extra Curricula

Soon the freshman feels himself a part of his new Alma-Mater, and he asks his upperclassmen friends: What can I do to become a full-fledged member of my student community? And the answer is plain—Enter extra-curricula activity! For it is only with extra-curricula activity that the newcomer can find himself a valuable and honored member of the new society.

The importance of joining one or several of these groups should not be underestimated. Experience gained thereby often constitutes a valuable asset in later pursuits.

There are numerous organizations at Providence College, almost all of which are open for the active participation by freshmen as well as upper-classmen. Students with leanings toward creative writing, acting, scientific pursuits, or just good-fellowship will find groups with which they can exercise their desire for further activity and closer comradeship. All of these groups are important and all are contributing to the higher intellectual and social standing of the College.

Day-Hops and Boarders

It is to be noted with satisfaction that this year an effort is being made for closer understanding between day-hops and dormitory students. This is not only commendable but significant. It may make an era of closer comradeship between all student factors, in which trivial differences will dissolve into a wave of true school spirit. The kind of school spirit that is evidenced when students will trek a good way out of town to give their team rousing support for their first game of the season.

Tonight the Friars Club is sponsoring a bonfire and rally in the rear of Harkins Hall in preparation for the encounter with Holy Cross, the first on the football schedule. Let's all be there to cheer our team and demonstrate our new-found school spirit!

COLLEGIATE REVIEW

ATLANTA, GA. (ACP)—Georgia selective service headquarters has recommended that college students be deferred from military training as long as they "maintain a standard of academic work which is satisfactory to the college and to the local board."

Major Charles J. Brockman, state occupational deferment director, said the new deferment recommendation will include all college students not yet placed in classification 1-A.

Local boards already had been authorized to defer students taking "essential courses" such as medicine, dentistry, chemistry, engineering, biology, geology, physics and mining, but the state headquarters wants the grades looked into first.

EVANSTON, ILL. (ACP)—A co-operative arrangement between the school of education and Medill school of journalism at Northwestern University, first of its kind in American educational circles, goes into effect this fall, providing a joint-degree program enabling students to receive their bachelor's degree in education at the end of the fourth year and their master's degree in journalism at the end of the fifth.

The new plan supplements a teacher's sequence offered by Medill in which students may receive the master's degree by coming up through the college of liberal arts. The new joint-degree program permits a stronger background in education.

Students in the new program remain in the school of education for their first three years. They transfer to journalism for their fourth and fifth years but receive their bachelor's degree from the school of education at the end of the fourth.

ST. PAUL, MINN. (ACP)—Freshmen at the College of St. Thomas are offered this year a reading course based on the "100 best books" idea.

Men placing in the highest quarter of the class in aptitude tests are allowed to enroll in a discussion class for study of works by Homer, Aeschylus, Plato, Aristotle and St. Augustine in their English translations.

COLLEGIATE WORLD

(By Associated Collegiate Press)

Maybe there is something to thank Adolf H. and his playmates for, after all. This fall, for the first time since John W. (Bet a Million) Gates founded the school in 1909, Port Arthur (Texas) College is permitting co-eds to attend classes bare-legged.

Incidentally, co-eds in the "Shed Silk for Uncle Sam" club at the University of Minnesota, believe theirs was the first of its kind to be organized. Purpose of the club is to convince campus women that the army needs parachutes worse than girls need silk stockings.

The SUSC's nine "charter martyrs" have pledged themselves to "get along with bare legs and, if necessary, go barefooted in the interests of defense."

Because of government-confiscated silk supplies, college authorities decided to rescind the traditional ruling that campus legs must be covered.

QUOTABLE QUOTES

"No attention at all has been paid to requests that instructors be deferred (from military service), and it is almost impossible to recruit teachers of engineering. As a result, while we are asked to train more engineers, we have fewer teachers to conduct the classes." —Harrison C. Dale, president of the University of Idaho urges that college instructors of draft age be deferred from selective service.

"Greece is starving but firm in her loyalty to the principles for which she fought. The question is how long this passive resistance can continue among a people hungry to the point of death." —Dr. Minnie B. "I will not leave Japan even if worse comes to worst in Japanese-American relations. In time I have hopes of seeing America understand Japan's intentions. Even if my Japanese friends should abandon me I will not return to America but will commit hara-Kiri and die on Japanese soil." —Paul Rusch of Louisville, Ky., instructor at Tokyo's Rikyo (Episcopalian) university for the last 15 years and the man who introduced American football to Japan, takes his stand in advance of possible Japanese-American hostilities.

"I thought the Army would have you by now" threatens seriously to replace that other banality, "Is it hot enough for you?" . . . ROCK AND WRY

By ROSS E. MUENZEN, '42

In response to no request whatever, this column once more buds forth upon the pages of the Cowl in the hope that it may serve as a negative of the happenings here at the Dorm which, for the benefit of the Frosh, has been given the dubious title of the "Rock". This year the staff of the Cowl has been augmented by a new division of writers so that from now on there will be a regular Dorm Staff.

WARM WELCOME

The education of this year's crop of "Blessed Events" has already begun and the distinction between a "hot foot" and a fire extremity has already been pointed out by a few upperclassmen here at the Rock. In a serious vein, however, let it be said that the upperclassmen welcome the new arrivals and hope that their stay here will be of four year's duration.

CHIPS OFF THE ROCK

Last year we were known as the "Rockmen"—this year as the Cinderella boys . . . Bill Smith claims that a certain member of the Dorm has been sick so much he should room with Fred Snite—we wonder . . . Congrats to Bill Doyle and Denny McLaughlin for showing some real stuff . . . Already Les Condon has found out that the campus has forty-six acres . . . Comes the revolution! . . . Confusion reigned supreme when Jim Vallely, '45, attempted to attend a tea dance at the Good Shepherd house . . . Bicycling has taken the Rock by the seat of the pants. Could it be that the boys, by strengthening leg muscles, are preparing for the numerous occasions when strong foundations are a great asset!

BATTERY

Rumor hath it that two Rock luminaries, in the persons of Amby Reynolds and Joe Moore will again be a battery—this time pitching hand grenades for Uncle Sam! We also hear that Lee Leddy is attempting to put a "drape" in his new uniform—sorry you couldn't be with us this year, Lee, but we'll see you next year!

NEWPORT CLUB

Matthew McLeer, '42, was elected president of the Newport Club at the first meeting of the organization held yesterday. Other officers elected were: Vice-President, James Dring, '43; Secretary, Fred Shea, '44; Treasurer, Aaron Slom, '42.

The club plans to conduct a raffle of tickets to the State game, and also to hold a dance about Thanksgiving time. On the committee for the raffle are Goodman, chairman; Gibson, McGovern, Flynn, and Faerber.

Selective Service Head Says "No" to Deferment

Minnesota Colleges Issue Joint Statement Expressing Views

The cause of the draft-eligible college student is the subject of a public announcement by the presidents of Macalester and St. Thomas Colleges, and Hamline University, all in St. Paul.

Addressing the general public and local draft boards, Dr. Charles J. Turck of Macalester, the Rev. James Moynihan of St. Thomas, and Dr. Charles Nelson Pace of Hamline ask that college students be given every deferment consideration by selective service boards.

Their joint statement follows in part:

"The national committee of education and defense secured from the national headquarters of the selective service system an amendment, with the full effect of law, providing for the postponement of induction for any person for whom in the judgment of the local board immediate induction would create an unusual individual hardship.

"While this amendment is stated in general terms, it provides the basis for preventing the interruption of a student's education during a semester or college year.

"It has been officially interpreted to include as a cause of such hardship . . . 'to complete a course of training or instruction.'

"President Roosevelt recently said: 'America will always need men and women with college training. Government and industry alike need skilled technicians today . . .'

"We hope selective service boards will be willing to grant students the opportunity of completing the semester's work or the year's work on which they have embarked.

"These students are not claiming exemption from selective service but merely a postponement of a few months.

"In calling this matter to the attention of the public and local boards, we believe we are acting for the best interests of the country and in pursuance of a request addressed to us by Dr. Francis J. Brown of the subcommittee on military affairs of the national committee on education and defense."

The joint statement elicited a prompt "no" answer from Brig. Gen. J. E. Nelson, Minnesota selective service director, who said that blanket deferment of college students is not possible under the selective service law.

"Deferments can be granted only for students in those fields in which there is a recognized shortage, such as medicine.

"However, individual draft boards will give every consideration for a stay of induction to permit individual students to complete a quarter or a semester of school work."

PYRAMID PLAYERS

The Pyramid Players, Providence College dramatic society, will present three one-act plays as their first offering of the season in the early part of November. It has been the Players' policy to have freshmen filling in the majority of the roles.

The annual Musical Comedy, which will be given in April, will be written by Francis Stadnicki '43.

QUOTABLE QUOTES

"Public opinion polls on the attitude of American citizens toward the war represent one of the privileges of a free country. In view of the opportunity and privilege inherent in a public opinion poll, it is extremely important to maintain the spontaneity, representativeness, and truth of these polls. The polls conducted by Gallup and Fortune Magazine are regarded by competent experts as polls conducted with great integrity and with scientific procedures. Congressman Stephen A. Day recently sent to me, among others, the following ballot: 'The United States should enter the war _____; Stay out of the war _____.' This post card request for an opinion on the war situation is of the same category as the following: 'Have you stopped beating your wife? Answer yes or no.' In other words, the way the question was worded loaded the dice of reply. Either the question was phrased as printed because of ignorance of the principle that answers can be predetermined by the way the question is formulated or the question was phrased in order to get the kind of reply desired. This amateurish effort to collect evidences of public opinion illustrates the danger of attempts to conduct a poll by inexperienced people. As stated the question will get only a reply, 'Stay out of the war,' because that is the only answer a reasonable person could make to the question as phrased. The returns from the type of ballot sent out will be completely unreliable and unrepresentative of opinion." — F. Stuart Chapin, chairman of the University of Minnesota department of sociology, warns against snap judgments based on so-called opinion polls.

Hawaii Asks Admission Into Union As 49th State

A recent survey of the American Institute of Public Opinion was concerned with the possibility of statehood for Hawaii. Response indicated that of those persons polled, something like a majority of two-to-one favored the passage of an act of Congress admitting the island possession of this nation into the union as a full-fledged state.

Interesting enough, Hawaii has asked for admission into the union as the forty-ninth state, with a vote of two-to-one for admission.

The question of statehood for Hawaii is one of whether or not this nation should admit as a state a territory which is physically not a part of this continent. Hawaii lays some 2100 miles away from Los Angeles, in mid-Pacific. The nearest land is 2000 miles away.

Hawaii has come to consider herself "a state without statehood." So closely is she allied with the government of the United States, so completely is she American in progress that students at the University of Hawaii, for example, speak of this nation as though it were perhaps 20, not 2000 miles away.

Americans should be proud of that fact. We should appreciate, as a symbol of something infinitely worthwhile in a world at war, this feeling and expression of faith in America, this admiration of her as a nation, this desire to be a governmental part of her.

The fact transcends the fact that she lies 2100 miles away from our western boundaries.

We should like to see Hawaii admitted as the forty-ninth "United State," to see the American governmental philosophy extended westward, to see a state which has expressed a desire to become affiliated with this nation become actually a governmental unit of this country.

Perhaps this "annexation" will come about in the course of time.

Lend me
a Minute and I'll give you back 15 seconds

Says PAUL DOUGLAS,
well-known radio announcer

Somebody whistles a few bars of a catchy tune.
Others pick it up.

Soon the whole country's whistling it.
It's a hit.

Somebody lights up a cigarette.
Likes it. Passes the word along.
Soon the whole country's smoking it.
It's a hit. IT'S CHESTERFIELD.

The big thing that's pushing Chesterfield ahead
Is the approval of smokers like yourself.
*Chesterfields are definitely Milder,
Cooler-Smoking and Better-Tasting.
They're made of the world's best cigarette tobaccos
Blended just right to give you more smoking pleasure.*

But even these facts wouldn't count
If smokers didn't just naturally like them.
Once a smoker finds out from Chesterfield
What real smoking pleasure is, nothing else will do.
*Yes, fellow smokers, IT'S YOUR APPROVAL
THAT'S PUSHING CHESTERFIELD AHEAD.*
