SENIORS LOOK FORWARD TO COMMENCEMENT

Committees Appointed For Graduation Activities

Providence College seniors looked forward to the "white" commencement this week and began making arrangements for their graduation activities. Committees were appointed for the Cap and Gown Day dance, the Commencement Dance, the Class Gift group, and the baccalaureate day and parents reception committee.

President Matthew H. Kelly announced that those on the Cap and Gown Day dance committee were John J. Affleck, Providence, chairman; Francis A. Stadnicki, Central Falls; Israel Moses, Howard Knapp, William Griffin, and Ray Isacco, all of Providence.

Those appointed to the Commencement Ball committee are Gerald Flynn, Providence, chairman; Peter Koch, Jr., West Warwick; John Sharkey, John Brunner, and Howard Kenny, all of Providence. On the class gift committee are Charles F. Cottam, North Providence, chairman; Arthur Clark, Naugatuck, Conn.; Joseph Vaghi, Bethel, Conn.; Harold McKenna, West Warwick; and John A. Maloney, East Providence.

Committeemen for baccalaureate day and the parents' reception are William F. Leonelli, chairman; Harold Dennis, Hamden, Conn.; Dominic Coppolino, Providence; Wilfred Gallagher, Esmond, and Edward Gallogly, Providence.

The Cap and Gown dance is scheduled for November 25th. December 21st is the date for the Commencement Ball.

Fall River Club Elects Officers

The Fall River Club met yesterday and elected its officers for the coming year. Thomas H. Madden, a senior, was elected president. Other officers chosen were John Halligan, vice-president; Milton R. Silva, treasurer; and Gaston St. Denis, secretary.

A freshman reception will be held this evening. Guests will be the Rev. Charles H. McKenna, O.P.; the Rev. Frederick C. Foley, O.P., and the Rev. Charles V. Fennell, O.P.

Plans were made yesterday for a Christmas dance. Robert Sullivan was made general chairman of the committee. Assistant committeemen are Thomas Marum, Milton Silva, Albert Resnick, and Robert Golden.

Veridames Sponsor Tea For Mothers

The officers of the Veridames, Providence College woman's organization, will entertain the mothers of the Freshman class on Sunday afternoon at 3:30 p. m. in the lounge of Aquinas Hall.

The mother of every freshman, including the members of both the June and September classes, is invited. Freshmen who mothers plan to attend should leave their names at the Information Booth by this noon.

Members of the freshman class will pour at the tea. Mrs. James F. Colgan is chairman of the executive board.

P. C. Freshmen At Work In Scrap Drive

Coach Crotty's Commandos heeded the Cowl's call for jalopies last week and collected their share of the 7000 pounds of scrap given by the College to the scrap drive.

Student Volunteers Take Part In Scrap Drive

College Contributions Are Collected Sunday Morning

In answer to an urgent appeal by the Rev. Jeremiah T. Fitzgerald, O.P., Vice President of the College, and Director of the Providence College Defense Council, one hundred students registered as volunteers to help in the State-wide scrap collection last Sunday.

Addressing the students at a special "scrap rally" last Friday, Father Fitzgerald urged them all to co-operate in every way possible.

"The scrap you collect now may be the means of preserving your own lives," he said.

Dorm students attended Mass, advanced to 6:30 a. m. for the occasion, and with about 50 day students proceeded to their respective stations. They worked until 5:00 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

The College, together with nearby fields, contributed about 7000 pounds of scrap. Gathered in two piles, one near Guzman Hall, the other in the practice field, the precious junk ranged from coils of wire to the chassis of antiquated automobiles. Two Coca-Cola trucks were required to take away the pile near Guzman, while a local produce truck removed the other.

La Pleiade Prexy To Revive Club

According to statements made by Andre Mandeville, president of the French Club, La Pleiade will attempt to take its place with the active clubs of the College. The president said this week that despite utter lack of co-operation from every quarter, the club will again try to function.

Students electing Professor Landry's conversation lectures are particularly urged to attend meetings. New members, sincerely interested, will be welcome.

The plans for this trimester include social activities and informal weekly round table discussions devoted to modern currents and trends in French thought.

The club was founded a few years ago for students desirous of deepening their knowledge of the language, and of widening their understanding of French culture and its influence on world thought. A reorganization of the club was effected last year, but through general indifference the club was unable to operate.

Next Wednesday at 12:30 in Room 19, a short but very important meeting will be held. New members will be received, plans for the trimester discussed, and action on those plans will be taken immediately.

ALUMNI OFFICERS HOLD MEETING

Resolution of Sympathy Is Adopted

The Board of Governors of the Providence College Alumni Association in its initial meeting of the season Wednesday evening adopted a resolution of sympathy on the death of the late John E. Cassidy of the Class of 1925 and president of the association at the time of his death a few weeks ago.

The resolution was proposed by Louis C. Fitzgerald, secretary, and was formally drawn up by Dr. Daniel J. O'Neill, treasurer.

Dr. James Colgan, '24, elected vice-president at the alumni day exercises last May, was declared president of the association at last evening's meeting.

ALUMNI ROSTER

Rev. Charles H. McKenna, O.P., and Mr. Riley Hughes are compiling a list of Providence College alumni in the armed forces.

All students who know of P. C. men in the Army, Navy, or Marines, have been requested to write the names of these individuals on a sheet of paper. As much information as possible should be given on these slips which should be handed in to the News Bureau or the Chaplain's Office.

Sormanti Is Junior Prom Chairman

Bids Have Been Sent To Leading Orchestras

John W. Sormanti of Providence was elected chairman of the Junior Prom Committee at a meeting of that organization this week. Sormanti, is a prominent member of the Junior Class and an active member of the Pyramid Players.

The committee has announced that bids have already been sent to the outstanding bands of the country among whom are Harry James, Alvino Rey, and Benny Goodman.

November 23 has been set as the tentative date, however, the committee says that there are two other dates, one of which is in December and might be accepted.

The members of the prom committee voting at the election were James F. Shiel, Providence; Arthur C. McGill, Pittsfield, Mass.; Frank W. Cross, Washington, R. I.; Frank L. Larkin, Fall River, Mass.; Charles C. Goodman, Newport; John J. Gerhard, Providence; Thomas F. McGuire, Fall River, Mass.; William F. Corkery, Providence; Thomas A. McCormick, Central Falls; Carroll Gettings, Fall River, Mass.; and John P. Brady, Pawtucket.

CAROLAN CLUB

A meeting of the Carolan Club, resident student group, will be held Monday evening in Aquinas Hall.

The annual Mid-Winter Festival will be discussed and the board of directors for the coming year will be selected.

Veritas Near Top In Yearbook Competition

The 1941 Veritas, edited by Joseph M. McLaughlin of Providence, received a First Class honor rating in the Twenty-second National Yearbook Critical Service of the National Scholastic Press Association, the Rev. William R. Clark, O.P., announced this week.

Veritas amassed 1,385 points out of a total of 1,425 needed for All-American honors. Yearbooks from 826 other institutions were entered in the competition held at the University of Minnesota School of Journalism.

Of its 35 features, 19 were judged excellent, 15 very good, and one good. It received special commendation for color, senior views, and informal snapshots.

METCALF DEATH

Dr. Daniel J. O'Neill, administrative assistant to the president, and Mr. Riley Hughes of the English department, represented the college at the funeral of the late United States Senator Jesse H. Metcalf held last Wednesday in the First Congregational Church.

The Very Rev. John J. Dillon, O.P., president of the college last Sunday told for the first time how the late philanthropist in 1935 bestowed a gift of $25,000 for an addition to Providence College. Mr. Metcalf at the time requested that the donation remain anonymous.

A Grousing We Will Go!

Diana Is Not Too Propitious

By CHAUNCEY GUFFAW

"Tantivy, Tantivy, Tantivy!" Thus ran up the cry yesterday morning as Dwight, Gateley, and myself ups at dawn to usher in the 1942 waterfowling season planned by the Army, Navy, and Coast Guard.

Rationing problems have not yet hit the gunner and there was the usual number of early birds including Capt. Jibe, dressed for the kill. (Gateley found that last year's jodhpurs were a bit too big for him this year.)

We managed to squeeze all the immigration papers including a Coast Guard identification card, a waterfowling permit, a duck stamp, and a State hunting license into a suitcase. Almanacs, to tell us when the sun sets; Coast Guard and Army guide books, to tell us where to go; and a

THREE TEAMS VICTORS IN LEAGUE PLAY

Guzman, Senior Lit, and No Name Squads Display Power

Flashing a powerful, diversified attack, the Guzman Hall Club crushed the hopes and broke the hearts of Vin Hickey and his Zombies to the tune of 58-0, in the opening round of the intracub schedule. While the helpless Zombies watched in horrified amazement, such worthies as Paglioroli, Drew, Sullivan, Foley, Michaud and Vasilauskis, behind an impregnable stone wall in the form of Ed Roth, Joe Pliska and the Scussel boys, ran up and down the field until even they could stand it no longer. The Guzman, now odds on favorites in the tournament, will next meet the No Name club on Tuesday. The latter team, having subdued the Frosh Flashes 20-0, should prove a tough nut to crack, for several of the boys, including Frenchy LeBoissiere and Bunny Rabbit, were athletes of note in the high school circles.

The third game of the week saw an outclassed Philomusian club fall before the Senior Lit. team 12-0. Although the Phils possess several of the league's best players in the persons of Fallon, O'Brien, Morriss, and Connolly, they could not just click at the right times and in the right places.

The final game was a hard fought affair between the Aquinas Club and the Chem Club, the skirmish ending in a scoreless tie. Neither team could fashion much in the form of an offense, although the Hall men outdistanced their opponents in pass completions. When the chips were down, however, the accurate kicking of Frank McNamara and the rugged line play of Turk Etherington warded off the scoring efforts of Anlauf, Parise, and Sal Sica who worked especially well from his end position.

Next Tuesday's schedule will match the Zombies and the Frosh Flashes, in addition to the previously mentioned Guzman-No Name game.

Wednesday will see the Senior Lits tangle with Aquinas Hall while the old rivals, Chem Club and Philomusians, again slug it out.

Freshman Notes

Tom Head's locker seems to be a little crowded these days with 14 or 15 new freshmen occupying it.

Joe O'Donnell likes to go out and run the obstacle course during his free periods. Silly boy!

Tom Flynn, Woonsocket's gift to P.C., entertains a strong dislike for "Moe," Friar Boy's little feline friend, who wanders between the locker room and the "caf."

Ray Murphy's doing his bit to save gas and tires. He lives at the dorm instead of traveling back and forth to Warren.

Frank Errico dazzled everyone in sight recently when he proudly presented his $2.25 trumpet.

FROSH HOP

The Sophomore Class of Providence College will hold the annual Soph-Hop with a traditional Hallowe'en background on October 30th in Harkins Hall. The purpose of the dance will be to sooth the jangled nerves of John Q. Public and give him a few hours of relaxation in the midst of his war worries and work.

This year many of the boys from P. C. have already entered the armed services of the country and still more are due in a very short time to follow suit. To those about to enter the services it will probably be the last social function they will attend in civilian dress.

This dance will probably be Tiny Quinn's last professional appearance at the College.

P.C. ATHLETES AID BOND DRIVE

Friars Cooperate in Sportsmen's Campaign

Acting in collaboration with the Sportsmen's Committee of the War Bond Sale Campaign, Coach Ed Crotty announced that among the many men and women serving as salesmen in the present drive were several Friar athletes, among them, Ted McConnon, Ed Lee, Charlie Harrington, Paul Roshka, Al Vitello, and Dave Tubridy. This group has already taken up positions in strategically arranged booths in various stores and theatres throughout the city. Many prominent coaches, managers, and athletes, under the leadership of the Committee have volunteered their services to assist in boosting the State's monthly quota over the top.

Louthis Wins Seventh As Pro

Big Pete Louthis, Providence College junior, battled his way to a seventh straight win at the Bristol Arena in New Bedford Tuesday night. Undeclared since his entrance into the professional circle, the Cumberland strong man stands out as one of the most promising prospects in the East. Displaying complete mastery of the situation, Louthis pummeled Jimmy Gordon of New York into submission in the fourth round of a scheduled eight round encounter. In addition to acting as coach for the participants in the yearly boxing bouts at the college, Pete played center for the football team, and participated in intramural basketball as well.

PHI CHI

On Monday evening at 7:30 p. m. the Phi Chi Club will hold a meeting in the Physics laboratory. Joseph D. Dority, a senior from Providence, will read a paper. After the meeting the members of the club will watch moving pictures on "The Life of Thomas Edison." All members of the club are urged to attend.

Fundamental Education

AUSTIN, TEXAS (ACP)—Lack of fundamental education in mathematics presents a major obstacle in selection and training of midshipmen for commissioning as ensigns in the navy. Dr. H. T. Ettlinger, University of Texas mathematics professor, points out, quoting a letter of Adm. Chester W. Nimitz.

"Of 8000 applicants—all college students—some 3000 had to be rejected because they had had no mathematics or insufficient mathematics at college nor had they ever taken plane trigonometry," Nimitz wrote.

He added that "75 per cent of the failures in the study of navigation must be attributed to the lack of adequate knowledge of mathematics. A candidate for training for a commission in the naval reserve cannot be regarded as good material unless he has taken sufficient mathematics."

Temple University has appointed Dr. Gerald D. Timmons, executive secretary of the American Dental association, to be dean of its school of dentistry.

All-Star Bouts Slated For Dec. 7

Monogram Club Sponsors Second Annual Fight Show

The Second Annual All-Star Boxing Show has been scheduled for Monday night December 7. This was the date decided upon at a meeting of the Monogram Club, sponsors of the event, held yesterday noon.

The first fistic show which was staged last Spring enjoyed huge success when upwards to five hundred enthusiastic fight fans filled Harkins Hall to witness the championship bouts. Every indication would seem to point to even greater success for the coming bouts due to increasing interest in athletics of this type.

Ed Roth, chairman of the bouts committee, has announced that all entrants should report to the Athletic Office or to a member of the committee as soon as possible in order to facilitate training arrangements. All winners of titles in the various weights in last Spring's bouts are especially invited to return to defend their titles.

A large training room will be prepared at Guzman Hall complete with full-size ring and all forms of training apparatus to enable the contenders to round into top shape for the finals.

As the program is now planned there will be eight championship bouts, one comedy bout and possibly an exhibition between Pete Louthis, P. C.'s representative in the pro fight ranks, and a suitable opponent.

Louthis and Paul Roshka, both former Golden Gloves champs, will aid in the instructing of the entrants in the finer points of the fistic art.

All proceeds from Dec. 7's show will go to the Monogram Club's fund for the purchase of sweaters for Senior lettermen.

Members of the committee arranging the matches in addition to Chairman Roth include, Edward Lee, Ted McConnon, Bob Reilly, Nick Cariglia, and Charley Harrington.

SOPHS FORCE FROSH INTO PUBLICITY ACT

Little Joe Objects; Der Tag Is Eagerly Awaited

By DICK CAMPBELL

"Little Joe" Freshman stood looking blankly at the Bulletin Board, his face nearly as baggy as his pants. There in big bold letters was a sign saying, "Attention Freshmen—Monday morning each Freshman will wear a sandwich sign advertising the Soph Hop. This ancient tradition must be upheld by one and all.

The Frosh with the best sign will receive a bid for the Hop. The Frosh without signs will receive something else. These signs must be worn to all morning classes. At 12:30 they will be left, with the owner's name at the Soph Hop ticket booth."

"The noive of 'em," piped little Joe. "They can't do this t' me. I came here to get a edchukashun."

Trudging glumly away, Joe began to worry about making his little sign for the following Monday. "Now, let me see," he blubbered, as suddenly his eyes lit on one of those beautiful orange signs, gaily painted and decorated, advertising the Hop. He glanced across the hall. "Ah---another one! What a wonderful sandwich sign they would make," thought our little chum, "and I could snitch a little string from the Cowl office. If I dood it, I get a whippin'—I dood it.

Then Little Joe's guardian angel hovered overhead, calling him down to the caf, and out of danger. "Nope, I won't go!" firmly stated Joey.

Crash, bang, crack, plop-----"Now who do you suppose kicked me down those stairs?" mused the brain child, as he unwound his arm and screwed his head back on. "That angel's gettin' fresh with me," he concluded.

Climbing the stairs, he stood glaring at the big sign, and slowly started to walk toward it. --To see the results of Little Joe's predicament, be around Monday morning.

Book Review

vergencies are all elements in an interesting but not popularized history of the modern Catholic social doctrine.

Only remotely connected with this development is the Union problem of the Russian Orthodox Church. The inclusion of a chapter on the problem results in disunity. However, the discussion is worthwhile because it enlightens the pressing problem of our relations with Russia. One thing is regrettable. Only two and a half pages are devoted to the Jocists, and one line to the Jecists. It is only in the last few pages that they are justly treated. Then, discussing the situation after the defeat of France, the authoress states with conviction that of all the organizations the Jocists proved to be the best trained and the most efficient. It can be added that they have dynamically actualized personalism.

Perhaps some day a writer by the use of concrete matter may present to their spirit to the world. Helen Iswolsky may be that writer. But their spirit is so great, the task would require the Garantuan gusto of a Thomas Wolfe. Until then this competent journalistic report can provide college students with interesting reading. It might easily lead them from their puerile useless debating to sterner but more satisfying realities.

All of which was subject to change, if, having arrived at the above places in the unnavigable waters of Rhode Island, we found a power plant, a ship-yard, or a similar installation within a half-mile's distance.

All in all, there were fewer waterfowlers this year than last. Capt. Jibe told us that the "Waterfowl Annual for 1942" had announced before the beginning of the season that a moving picture named "Bambi" had caused many sportsmen to turn their rifles over to the government and form a gin rummy club to while away the usual gunning time.

But the birds were plenteous. Dwight bagged a bluebill, scaup, and a penguin in one, two, three succession. It was three hours after sunrise before Diana favored me with a goose. The limit for all geese, except blue, has been reduced to two per day.

Hard luck struck us in the middle of the day when we lost our suitcase library. Dwight was setting a decoy with his right hand, while reading the government directions with his left. Gateley stood up in the boat to take a measurement with his sextant and the canoe tipped over. Several of the comrades were quick to the rescue, but still we stand the loss of Dwight's and my bag and the suitcase.

After drying off on Sol Town's rowboat, we had to content ourselves with being spectators for the rest of the day. Sol cursed every now and then about his trouble with the decoys in the morning. It gripes him to have to spend a whole hour after sunrise setting up those traps while he is ready an hour before dawn, but has

Aeronautical Engineer

YOUNGSTOWN, OHIO (ACP) — Robert J. Woods, whose college professors told him he never would be an aeronautical engineer, is the Youngstown-born designer of the Bell Airacuda and the Bell Airacobra.

Woods was orphaned at 17 and worked to send himself through high school and night school.

When his family's estate was settled, he received $1200 and with this money attended the University of Michigan.

One day one of his professors detained him long enough to advise:

"Woods, you'd better give up your aeronautical engineering and specialize in something else. You're just not cut out for it. You'll never make an aeronautical engineer. It's not in you."

After a series of positions with the Towle Aircraft Co., the Detroit Aviation Corp., Lockheed and Consolidated, Woods went with Bell as a chief engineer, when he was 30.

to stand on the shore until the sun officially rises. "Damn waste of time," he predicated.

On our return, Dwight and I resolved to supply the tools instead of using them. Dwight suggested we open up a wildfowling wardrobe shop, selling compasses, the Encyclopaedia Britannica, and electric decoy setters. (The latter yet to be invented).

Our advice to those who wish to waste the 69 more days that are left of the season (ten more than last year) is that you go to the La Salle Academy duck pond. But, brother, beware.

We did not mention Gateley in connection with the wildfowling haberdashery because he drowned when the canoe tipped over.
