Editors

LATEST ISSUE OUT

O'Shea and Cummings
Retain Positions

John Gerhard of Providence was yesterday appointed editor of the Alembic succeeding John Sharkey, retiring senior editor. Gerhard, a junior is president of the Antoninus Society and is chairman of the Providence College Religious Forum.

Other appointments included Francis Stadnicki and James F. Shiel as associate editors. They succeed Joseph O'Shea and John Gerhard, the new editor. O'Shea retained his status as Business manager and Paul Cummings continues as Advertising manager.

The first issue of the Alembic under the new editorship has been released. Contributors include: Riley Hughes, of the Department of English, Matthew Kelley, Joseph Kenny, Thomas Holleran, Leo Kiernan and Michael Fay.

"A Catholic College and War", the contribution of Riley Hughes, places emphasis on the role Providence College is playing in the war effort. Reality is portrayed in the passage "To the vast undergraduate body throughout America the campus is an intense and deliberate preliminary battle station. It is but a step from the campus to the deck of an aircraft carrier, the

STUDENTS WORK TO HELP PAY FOR TUITION

Almost 75 per cent of the students at Providence College contribute in some degree to the financing of their education, Rev. Frederick C. Foley, O.P., assistant dean, announced today. The period of time spent in helping to pay their way through college varies from the full-time vacation period to daily part-time work. Forty per cent of the student body work part of the time every day.

Students have jobs ranging from theatre ushers to part-time defense jobs. Mills, hotels, restaurants, haberdashery and department stores are some of the more common occupations of the students.

One student is a night watchman downtown, while several seniors are page boys in the Rhode Island Assembly. During the summer vacation period many worked at defense plants, but it is considered impossible for a student to keep up with his academic work and do a full shift in a defense plant as well.

Fr. Foley pointed out that by taking odd jobs the students are releasing others for defense work and are helping ordinary civilian life to go on without hindrance to the war effort.

Veritas Subscribers Now Total 325

It was announced today that the total circulation of the Veritas will be 325, including a subscription from each senior, and a number of underclassmen. Thirty-two seniors now in service will receive their copies as gifts from the senior class.

The yearbook will be bound in a cover of black and gold. Striking use of the college colors, black and white, has been made on the divisional pages. The montage idea has also been employed.

The entire publication, due to be released December 1, will be informal, the only group picture being that of the baseball team.

Governor J. Howard McGrath, a Providence College Alumnus of 1926, led his Party to an overwhelming victory in last Tuesday's election.

The Governor, riding the crest of the greatest plurality ever given a state or senatorial candidate in Rhode Island, was re-elected for his second term.

Governor McGrath, a graduate of La Salle Academy, Providence; received his Bachelor of Philosophy degree from Providence College in 1926. In 1941, he received an honorary degree of Doctor of Laws from Providence College and in 1942 from Manhattan College.

The Governor has a sterling career in Rhode Island. Before being elected in 1940 to the Governorship, he was U. S. Attorney for Rhode Island for a period of five years. He resigned from that position in 1940 to seek the governorship, "to serve the best interests of the people".

Besides the Governor, John E. Fogarty, an alumnus, was elected for a second term as Congressman from the Second Congressional District of Rhode Island. Congressman Fogarty has a brother, Joseph E. Fogarty, a junior at Providence College.

Walter J. Kane, a senior, was elected for the third time as State Representative from Woonsocket.

Among Providence College Alumni elected was Vincent P. Nugent, '40, State Representative from Providence.

Dean Urges Underclassmen To Join Reserve Services

Will Speak to Freshmen
This Afternoon

RESPONSIBILITY

Stresses Importance of What a Man Does

Providence College underclassmen were urged this week by the Rev. Arthur H. Chandler, O.P., Dean of Studies, to join the enlisted reserves of one of the armed forces.

Fr. Chandler spoke to the Juniors Wednesday and to the Sophomores yesterday in the auditorium of Harkins Hall at 12:30 p.m. He will speak to the Freshmen this afternoon and to all resident students last evening at 6:30 in Aquinas Hall.

"It is not how long you live, but what you do", Fr. Chandler told the underclassmen. He told them that they had a personal responsibility to the nation and should take advantage of their college training by offering themselves to the nation.

SHEED TO SPEAK UNDER AUSPICES OF INSTITUTE

Publisher, Now in England, Will Address Members December 4th

Frank J. Sheed, author, lecturer, and publisher, who is now in England; will speak at the College under the auspices of the Providence College Institute on Friday evening, December 4th, the Rev. Robert E. Brennan, O.P., head of the Institute, announced today.

Mr. Sheed, head of the Catholic publishing house of Sheed and Ward of London and New York City, will speak before the members of the various guilds in Harkins Hall.

The speaker is author of the book "Sidelights on the Catholic Revival" and has a translation of the "Confessions of St. Augustine" which is to be published this winter.

The admission charge for the lecture will be seventy-five cents. There will be no special prices for students, but students will have the opportunity of procuring the regular admission tickets. Prof. Lionel J. Landry will be student representative for the guild lecture.

Physicists Hear Paper Read

On Monday, November 2, the Phi Chi Club held its regular bi-weekly meeting in the Physics laboratory. Following the reading of the paper, "Nucleur Bombardment" by Henry Murphy, Joseph Dority conducted the question period.

At the business meeting plans were formulated for the annual banquet. The committee appointed to execute the affair includes Henry Murphy, John Pfersich and Arthur Hanoian. Two films, "Facts of Fabrics" and "Curves of Color" were shown following the business session.

The next meeting is scheduled for Monday, November 16, at 7:30.

THANKS

The Sophomore Hop Committee wishes to extend its thanks to all those who helped to make the Soph Hop a social and financial success.

The dance was one of the best attended dances held at the college in a long time.

Chairman.

PROM BIDS GO ON SALE MONDAY

Bids for the Junior Promenade will go on sale Monday morning, John Sormanti, prom chairman, announced yesterday. Pledges will still be taken for the prom until this afternoon. Those who have signed pledges have been asked to start fulfilling them.

All members of the Junior class who have not yet signed pledges or who have not yet taken bids are asked to report to the Pyramid Player office sometime today.

The Prom Committee is still at work attempting to get favors. Announcement was made this week that the queen would be the lady escorted by the chairman and that she would be presented a loving cup.

Recordings made by Les Brown and his orchestra will soon appear in the cafeteria.

WHERE'S MY KEY?

Jack Affleck and his belle were just one of the many couples present at the Soph Hop the other night. Like all the others they deposited a key and a compact into the cauldron.

But Jack did not mince keys about his patriotism. When it came time to deposit keys, Jack just dug into his pocket and threw in the first one he found.

It turned out Monday that Jack was minus a locker key. At first he thought it was lost! A little recollection cleared up the problem. It had gone into the boiling cauldron.

Seniors Vote At Meeting

Contrary to the wishes of the Cap and Gown Day Committee, the Senior class yesterday voted not to allow the Juniors to attend the Cap and Gown Dance to be held on November 25th, two days after the Junior Prom to which seniors are welcome to attend.

Plans were made to hold the Commencement Ball at the Narragansett Hotel with a buffet supper as part of the evening's festivities.

It has been traditional in past years for the seniors to hold a Junior Reception which was omitted last year.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The Cafeteria management announced this week that the cafeteria would close hereafter on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday evenings at 7 p.m.

THE DRAFT

Now that the election is over we can soon expect action on the bill to draft 18- and 19-year-olds. This bill will affect the status of most students now at college. It will determine whether many of us will continue our education.

According to present prospects most teen-aged college students won't be called into military service until the end of this school year. This is particularly true of competent students, especially those taking scientific and technical courses.

The best bet for any college student is to get into one of the reserves. After this year, when inroads on college teen-agers are likely to be relatively heavy, the question of who shall remain in college will be a stickler. The draft bill itself isn't likely to lay down strict stipulations on this matter. The decision will probably be left to the administrative officials.

The administration will base their decision on two major considerations: the course a student is taking and his scholastic record.

Students taking the mathematics, physics, and physical training courses recommended by the Dean will have the advantage. Students already in the reserves will likewise be in a more advantageous position.

England's policies are a key to what may happen here. Although there has been about a 25 per cent. drop in overall enrollment in Britain, scientific and technical departments of the colleges are cram full of students.

The same can be expected here. The colleges are not doomed for the war. Education will continue; those in defense courses will complete their college education; those in the reserves have the chance of being graduated.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

A friend of mine suggested recently that something be done to acquaint the fellows, especially the new freshmen, with the school songs. Ordinarily everyone would know the songs and the words too, from hearing them at the football games. We have no football team this year, but does that mean the songs, so popular in years gone by, must die out?

I agree with my friend and think that we all should know the songs of our Alma Mater. The spirit that pervaded the student body when they used to sing out "Friar Away" to cheer on the football team must be kept alive, for we'll soon be cheering on a basketball squad with just as much vigor.

Then too, they are sung at most of the dances held at Providence, a factor which should inspire some of the more social minded among us.

You can't print the tune, but you can give the words. If the students don't already know them, teach them them now!

Sincerely,
 RICHARD CAMPBELL.

Editor's Note: Here they are — a small pamphlet containing the music can be obtained in the book store.

(Music from "Finlandia")

Mother of truth, we proudly pledge to thee
 Undying love, and steadfast loyalty
 From thee we learned, the wondrous work of God

His goodness, grace, and holy power
 Clear hast thou shown, what bypaths must we trod

All fearless now, we brave life's hour.

FRIAR AWAY

Friar Away, P. C. Hurray
 Wearers of the Black and White
 We're out to win, Never give in
 So fight on with all your might FIGHT, FIGHT, FIGHT!

Friar Away, into the fray
 Onward to victory
 Fight for your Alma Mater
 Come on, fight boys, on P. C.

P. C. FIGHT SONG

Our banners bright are everywhere
 The shouts of P. C. fill the air
 In every game
 Our boys just fight for P. C.'s name
 So let us help them in the fray
 For Providence must win today
 And for our Alma Mater sing
 Let this cry of victory ring

Chorus

Oh here they come in all their splendor
 Bearers of the Black and White
 And when they've won, to them we'll render
 Songs and cheers for their glorious fight
 FIGHT! FIGHT!
 Oh Providence, fair Providence
 May your sons march with banners ever high
 On the road to victory.

COLLEGE CAPERS

Dorm Diary

By JOE ANLAUF

Just to be different this week let's take the diary to the soph-hop and see what action took place. As a whole the dance was a tremendous success. The gang from Guzman Hall was there and really turned out to be a bunch of hepsters, especially Joe Vaghi. Oates' got the call for the after meeting place and the place was literally blitzkrieged by P. C.

Ray Connolly ran into some difficulty. Hats off department goes to Danny McLaughlin and Company for the splendid work they did throughout the dance. The settings and decorations were really tops and right in the spirit of Hallowe'en. Seems as if the big black kettle was the hit of the night for it had its picture taken quite often with, of course, various surroundings. Tiny Quinn was terrific and all who attended had loads of praise for his fine arrangements, novelties, and in general T.Q.'s whole gang. The Friars Club did all right with the checking business.

Lenny Feldberg had a tough time getting to the dance in his antique Maxwell but arrived in a cloud of smoke, fumes, and dust. He and Jack Benny ought to meet one another and talk over the situation on cars. Seems like a flock of fellows had blind dates but no complaints have been registered so guess all's well. Enough about the dance.

All dormland will be out cheering Guzman Hall this week when they battle for the intramural football championship with a day-hop aggregation which ought to be some game. All the fellows working downtown at a certain spot got stabbed in the back by the union it seems.

Frank Trotta is challenging Mr. X to a football picking contest and our money's on Frank. Tod Moore and his gang went up to Worcester to see the Cross battle Colgate. All the fellows are getting ready for the Junior Prom and things looks all right. The freshmen and sophomores are playing another football game this week to try and settle those disputed matters.

After the big talk by officers from the various branches of Uncle Sam's services the fellows in the dorm are planning a pilgrimage to Boston to try and enter the fight in some way or other. The sinking of the U.S.S. Wasp had a special significance to many of the Fathers for its commanding officer was a close friend of many of them.

Father Begley was in New Haven to say the funeral Mass for Ed Roth's sister. A huge spiritual bouquet was

Guzman Hall Edges Chem. Club For Interclub Title

Team Play Is Major Factor in Dorm's 8-6 Win

GAME HARD-FOUGHT

Foley's Forward to Vitello Notches Winning Points

Coming from behind with only a few minutes to play in the last quarter, the Guzman Hall football team defeated the Chemistry Club 8-6 to win the championship of the Intramural league Wednesday afternoon.

The game was hard-fought all the way with the outcome in doubt right up to the final whistle. The Guzman boys picked up two points early in the first quarter when Dave Carberry nailed Franco in his own end zone as the latter was attempting to throw a pass.

The Chem Club struck back, however, and went ahead in the second quarter when on a sleeper play, a pass from Sam Franco to Jack Archer, who had been lurking unnoticed near the sidelines, was good for thirty-five yards and a first down on the Guzman fifteen.

From there Franco pitched another straight into the arms of Lu Pichette on the goal line for the score, making it 6-2 for the Chems.

As the game progressed this four point margin began to look bigger and bigger as neither side could score again in the first half nor in the third quarter.

With about seven minutes to play in the final quarter, however, the Guzman Juggernaut began to roll. An interception gave them the ball on their own forty yard line.

Four successive completed passes took them down to a first down on the Chem's ten, where, after one pass went over the end zone, Bill Foley tossed one to Vitello for the touchdown.

This meant the game and the championship for the Guzman Club, as the Chems tried valiantly but were unable to score in the few remaining minutes.

Highlights of the Game

The Guzman club, displayed precision timing and fancy shifts. Their blocking was especially effective; they hit for keeps at all times.

Nick Marcaccio was the defensive standout for the Chems. He snared three of the seven Guzman passes intercepted by his side.

Tod Moore took a Chemistry kickoff on his own ten yard line and zig-zagged for fifty yards to the Chemistry forty before being stopped.

Jake Hanoian, hard-charging tackle, was outstanding in the Chemistry line; while the Guzman line of Drew, Turbidity, Roth, Siy, Carberry, and the Scussell brothers was nothing but a massive standout.

EX-MANAGER NOW AN ENSIGN

Ensign Aaron Slom, former head student manager of athletics at P. C. visited the college during the past week. Slom, a graduate of the class of 1942, had just completed his training at Columbia University and had been commissioned an ensign in the United States Navy.

He will be assigned to active sea duty at the end of a short furlough.

LOUTHIS WINS NINTH AS PRO

Pete Louthis, P.C. Junior, scored his eighth consecutive knockout in nine professional starts last Tuesday night at New Bedford, Mass.

The undefeated Friar kayoed his heavier opponent, Joe Leonard of Tulsa, Oklahoma, in the third round of a scheduled eight-round match.

P. C. Student Is Appointed Cadet

James J. Kindelan, who attended Providence College last year, was recently appointed a Naval Aviation Cadet and was transferred to the Naval Air Station at Pensacola, Fla., according to an announcement from the public relations office of that station.

Kindelan, who was active in athletics, is the son of Mrs. S. E. Kindelan of Edgewood. He took his elimination flight training at the Naval Reserve Aviation Base in Squantum reporting at Pensacola October 15.

Upon completion of the intensive course at the "Annapolis of the Air," he will receive the designation of Naval Aviator with a commission as Ensign in the Naval Reserve or as Second Lieutenant in the Marine Corps Reserve.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

All students in doubt about their present status in the Physical Education course should consult the announcements on the Athletic Bulletin Board in Harkins Hall.

If a man's name is listed there, he should immediately report to the Athletic Office to correct this serious academic deficiency.

Forty-five Candidates Begin Work for '42-'43 Season

FRESHMEN ELIGIBLE

Service Teams May Be Added to Friar Slate

With practice sessions already in full swing, the basketball schedule for the coming season was released by the Athletic Office last night.

In addition to such old rivals as R. I. State, Brown, Seton Hall, and St. Anselm's, the Friars will engage several new adversaries. The Harvard Naval Unit, boasting many former college hoop stars will be met at Harkins' Hall, February 11.

Vermont, Quonset, and Norwich, other new comers to the Friar schedule, will also be engaged on the home court. Besides the games listed, several other contests with nearby service teams are in a tentative stage.

The December 5 opening date gives Coach Ed Crotty just a month to whip his charges into shape. The forty-five candidates have now been working out for a week and already many of the men are showing marked ability.

Although the team lost only three men by graduation, Coach Crotty has high hopes that several of the freshmen will make the grade in varsity positions.

In place of the freshman unit which has operated in the past, a Junior Varsity team will play a full schedule.

A complete list of candidates reporting to Coach Crotty is as follows: Drew, Donnelly, Ferland, E. Lee, Michaud, McConnon, Reilly, and Zabek, players with varsity experience; Aubin, Barchi, Carberry, Clifford, Crowley, Ethier, J. Lee, Murphy, Pagliaroli, Sowa, Vasilauskus, Sullivan, and Vitello, former freshman hoopers; and Burke, Briggs, Brickley, Donahue, Farley, Gallo, Guadano, Harrington, Johnston, La Boissiere, Mara, Malinkowski, Martin, Mazzacone, Mezezewski, McGrath, Nocera, O'Halloran, Parsons, Palmieri, Rabbitt, Rogers, and Sinatro.

V1 AND V7 CLASS CANDIDATES MAY REGISTER AT P.C.

Procurement Board Will Visit College in the Near Future

A candidate for classes V-1 and V-7, U. S. Naval Reserve may apply to the Joint College Procurement Board when it visits Providence College in the near future. No candidate will be accepted until he submits the proper documents listed below in complete and acceptable form.

Birth certificate—properly executed with signature and seal of the custodian of the record, showing name, date and place of birth, and parents names; or, other acceptable evidence of citizenship and age if foreign-born or birth not recorded.

Statement from proper authority of the institution attended certifying that the candidate is a regular enrolled student in good standing, stating his college class, or has been accepted for admission in the next convening term, and that he is enrolled or has agreed to enroll in the minimum required courses. For Class V-7 the statement must certify that upon graduation at a date specified the candidate will have the required educational qualifications, with a description of the mathematics courses that will have been completed.

For Class V-7 only, a certified transcript of candidate's college record to date. Three (3) letters of recommendation from responsible citizens who know the applicant, written on business or professional letterhead stationery. One letter should be from the Dean or other appropriate representative of the institution attended, if possible.

A resume of not less than fifty words in applicant's own handwriting covering all occupational and military service or training. If applicant is under 21, the consent of his parents or guardians to enlist in the Naval Reserve must be obtained on Form Nav. 400.

Two photographs (head and shoulders only), one full face and one profile, size 2½" by 2½". Applicants who have had previous military or naval service must submit satisfactory evidence of their discharge.

I'm Charley's Aunt From Brazil

Pass the Coffee

By GEORGE DONNELLY

One fine morning in October the following news item appeared in our one and only paper: "Coffee Rationing Planned". Immediately the classmen of P.C. were rushing about madly wondering if the day would come when coffee and doughnuts would vanish.

The coffee cup had become a tradition at P.C. After all was it not here that World War II was being fought? If I remember correctly, wasn't it over the proverbial coffee cup that freshman and senior alike received their hot tips for the sixth race at Narragansett? Come to think of it the boys at P.C. originated the novel idea of sinking, not dunking, their doughnuts in java. The coffee cup, like the hot dog, has become an honorary member of our school. True, he is just a funny looking guy with a white mug and a delicious aroma but nevertheless he holds the destiny of P.C. in his handle.

Should this coffee plan go into effect the war effort would be seriously impaired. Suppose the "cafeteria generals" could no longer stimulate their ideas with a cup of java, what would become of the foreign situation?

After much consideration and thought on my part, I have devised an efficient hoarding system. Suppose that every student purchased one pound of coffee—with 789 students in the school the net profit in coffee would run into approximately 800 pounds of java. (We obtained eleven pounds from the faculty) Since the cafeteria uses twenty-five pounds of Coffee per week, we could partake of the heavenly beverage for eight months. However, at the end of eight months the school would be as bad off as it is now. Wow—if we should take 400 pounds of the 800 we have on hand and plant it in the Biology Laboratory, we could grow about 700 pounds of coffee every seven months. The other 400 pounds would serve for the first four months. Complicated, isn't it? To tell you the truth, I have become so entangled in my scheme that I'm afraid I've lost my Compass and cannot find my way out again. Well, it was an idea.

Seriously though, I sincerely hope that the Providence College men of the future will not have to look at a row of grim empty mugs and remark gloomily "Give me a spot of tea, Sam, and a bit of doughnut."

RADIO NEWS

Orson Welles' "Hello Americans"

The amazing talents of Orson Welles span two great continents in a new radio series using music and dialogue to dramatize the colorful legends, history, customs and geography of Latin America. The new program called "Hello Americans" makes its debut over Columbia network Sunday, November 15 at 8:00 p.m., E.W.T.

"Introduction to Brazil" is the opening drama on the new series and is based on Welles' recent trip to our South American ally.

Welles made the trip to Brazil to shoot scenes for his new RKO movie, "It's All True". Before he left he spent many hours studying Portuguese and learned enough of the language in three weeks. When he arrived in Brazil the youthful producer conversed with hundreds of natives and engaged a Brazilian group of writers to help him prepare his movie script and advise him on native music.

It is from this background of personal contact and intensive research not only in Brazil, but throughout Latin America, that Welles is to draw much of his material for "Hello Americans".

Other broadcasts are to deal with Simon Bolivar and Sam Martin who brought freedom to South American countries. There are also to be programs presenting the culture of Argentina and Mexico.

Audition Fluffs Are Recalled

The tremendous strain of an audition has caused many an aspiring radio announcer to comit fluffs, which could supply an evening's entertainment says Professor Cabell Greet, CBS pronunciation expert, who has witnessed and supervised hundreds of such auditions.

In one case, recalled Greet, a young announcer trying out for a spot with the New York Philharmonic-Symphony gave a perfect reading for the material given him, handling difficult foreign names with consummate ease—that is until he reached the last sentence. Then he fluffed, saying, "Join us again next Sunday for another broadcast of the Philharmonica (cq) Orchestra."

Then there was another instance wherein the embryo announcer possibly a trifle draft-minded urged the audience to eat a certain product because it contained Vitamin 1 B.

But the fluff that takes top billing on Professor Greet's list of funny fluffs is the one wherein the announcer signed off his audition with, "You have just heard a piano solo by the Victor Concert Orchestra."

A Hit Parader from Carnegie

The newest addition to the CBS "Your Hit Parade" roster is Ethel Smith, youthful samba siren from Pittsburgh. An organist, Ethel studied at Carnegie Tech under Dr. Caspar Koch, and has been heard in concerts at New York's Carnegie Hall. She's also played the piano in pit bands for many musical shows and later toured South America where she picked up those expert samba rhythms she features on her Saturday night contribution to "Your Hit Parade".

The boys are having quite a time making up those Physical Ed. periods. Jack Farley insists on doing his bit.

WAR EFFORT AIDED BY MAJOR LEAGUES

Contrary to the belief of some individuals, baseball, the major leagues in particular, did its part in the nation's war effort during the 1942 campaign.

All of the clubs either sponsored or took part in games where the proceeds were turned over to war relief.

"Facts about wartime"

"I never saw a fighting man who didn't cherish the very thought of a pause with Coca-Cola. That goes for workers in factories, too. Ice-cold Coke is something more than the drink that answers thirst. It adds the feel of refreshment."

"In war, Uncle Sam restricts the supply. But there's still enough for many refreshing pauses."
