

Retreat Set For Monday

Spiritual Rearmament Will Be Theme of Senior Conferences

BLESSING TO BE GIVEN

Father Quinn to Celebrate Retreat Masses In Aquinas Chapel

A three-day retreat for the seniors will be held in Aquinas Hall on next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, the Rev. Charles H. McKenna, O.P., student chaplain, announced yesterday. Father McKenna will conduct the retreat offering three conferences each day on the theme of "Spiritual Rearmament." "Just as our nation is sending its time in building up reserve strength in order to defeat the enemy, so must the college man, soon enter the armed services of his country and to face a new world, be prepared to meet boldly spiritual enemies and overwhelm them," Father McKenna stated.

Each conference will open with a Mass at 9 o'clock, to be celebrated by Rev. Robert G. Quinn, O.P., and benediction will be held at noon. The papal blessing will be given at the final exercises.

X-Ray Unit Pays Visit

Beginning this afternoon, students will have their chests X-rayed in the 2-foot trailer stationed outside Harkins Hall. These X-rays will be the first ever taken at P.C. with a portable unit. The trailer unit, the only piece of equipment of its kind in the United States, was donated by the late Senator and Mrs. Jesse H. Metcalf.

The huge, completely insulated trailer is equipped with a fluorographic, five cubicles, and a photographic dark room. Electric power and heat are applied through connections with the main college building.

Dr. Frank Merlino, examiner for the Providence Tuberculosis League, will conduct the examinations, assisted by Drs. Frederick J. Burns and Edwin B. O'Reilly of the College health service. For the past few years members of the Freshman class have been examined by a smaller unit set up in the College health center. Now, for the first time, the entire student body of over 700 will be examined.

MAISIE WARD

Miss Maisie Ward, biographer and editor, spoke last Friday night before the guild members of the Providence College Thomistic Institute in the lounge of Aquinas Hall.

Miss Ward took the place of her husband, Frank J. Sheed, who has been unreported en route from London. She spoke on "The Future of Religion."

Rev. Robert E. Brennan, O.P., director of the Thomistic Institute introduced the speaker. Father Brennan headed the committee which arranged the lecture, assisted by Rev. George Q. Friel, O.P.; Rev. William A. Hinnebusch, O.P., and Rev. Charles B. Quirk, O.P.

ENLISTED RESERVE

All students who have joined the Naval Reserve in any city whatever, should fill out the reserve record blanks available in the Assistant Dean's office. The date and place of enlistment must be given.

Remember, your college status depends on your filling out of this blank. There are many in the reserves who have failed to get the sheets from Father Foley. Members of the Enlisted Reserve Corps of the Army should do likewise.

Anniversary Mass Said for Victims

The Rev. John F. Ryan, O.P., prefect of Aquinas Hall, celebrated a first anniversary requiem Mass for the repose of the souls of Robert S. Rich of Cranston and William G. Smith of Pittsfield, Mass., Wednesday morning in the student chapel of Aquinas Hall.

Members of the May class of '42, the two lost their lives in the drowning tragedy at Echo Lake one year ago December 8.

JANUARY SESSION TO BEGIN ON 5TH

Dean Tells Students "Not To Get Stampeded"; Stay In College

The Rev. Arthur H. Chandler, O.P., Dean of Studies, announced last night that all students of all classes must report at 9:00 o'clock, January 5th, in the auditorium of Harkins Hall for the January sessions.

The Dean said that all students should plan to continue at college. He stated that it would be a very serious mistake to leave college, in order not to forfeit important opportunities.

Announcement was also made that any student who fails to report at the first assembly would be charged a late registration fee of $10.00. No excuse will be accepted for tardiness.

Students were counseled "not to get stampeded." "Remember, if you leave college, you stand alone. You have given up collegiate opportunities both in and out of the services," Fr. Chandler said.

Moderator Declares Naval Reserve Open For P. C. Enlistments

Prominent Jurist Guest Speaker

Presiding Justice Jeremiah O'Connell, of the Superior Court of Rhode Island, will be the principal speaker at the commencement exercises of the senior class to be held December 21 in Harkins Hall.

Justice O'Connell was given an honorary LL.D. by Providence College in June, 1934 at which time he also spoke to the graduating class.

The baccalaureate Mass will be celebrated at 10:30 a. m. by the Rev. Jeremiah T. Fitzgerald, O.P., vice president of the college. The Rev. Arthur H. Chandler, O.P., Dean of Studies will deliver a sermon to the graduates.

Students With Bona Fide Applications Are Still Eligible to Join

DEADLINE MADE

December 15 Is Final Date For Students to Be Sworn In

The Rev. Vincent C. Dore, O.P., college Naval Reserve representative, made clear to the Cowl last night that there are four phases concerning enlistment in the Naval Reserve that he wished all students to understand. They are: Re. V-1, V-5, V-7.

1. Because of Saturday's presidential order, there will be no more visiting recruiting boards coming to the college.

2. Any student who has made a declaration of intention in writing to the Dean or to Fr. Dore concerning the Naval Reserve on or before December 5th has made a bona fide application.

All the students who signed cards at the assembly held by the Dean several weeks ago in the auditorium at noon time will be considered as having made bona fide applications. Remember if you signed a card and gave it to Fr. Dore or the Dean, you have made a bona fide application.

3. All students who have made bona fide applications must be sworn in before midnight on December 15th. These students should as soon as possible get a letter from the registrar's office and report to the Navy office at 49 Westminster Street.

They should bring with them a birth certificate, parents consent if under 21, and a statement of 50 words in their own handwriting of their occupational training and experience. A statement of their military or naval training, if any, should be included. Otherwise, state no military experience.

Students who have not the required documents should not delay. Go to the Navy office anyway, as December 15th is the final date.

4. Sophomores who were told to wait until they became juniors before joining the Naval Reserves, and who filled out cards declaring their intention to join the Reserves, must go through the procedure mentioned in No. 3 before December 15th. They will be permitted as sophomores to enter V-7.

CROTTY BASKETBALL QUINTET TO MEET COLBY IN MAINE

Have Home Game With American International On Tuesday Night In Harkins Hall

A grueling week looms up ahead for Coach Ed Crotty and his Fighting Friars, as they tackle first a powerful Colby quintet tonight and then return to the home floor to engage an equally dangerous American International five.

Although the first game on the Colby schedule ended in favor of the Bath Iron Works team, the Bears are not to be considered lightly. When it is realized that the Bath team was composed of a group of former professional stars, among them the well known Stutz Modzelewski, it is easy to visualize the power of Colby from the closeness of the 59-54 contest.

The following Tuesday, the American International Aces will journey to Providence in an endeavor to repeat the upset of last year which astounded everyone concerned. Coach Crotty will be well on his guard this time however and is planning a warm reception for the men who shattered his dreams of an undefeated season.

Although the Aces have only one man, Captain Jaszek, back from last year's team, the fact that they have already defeated the Westover Flyers team by the lopsided 50-16 count would go to show that the team packs a powerful punch.

The high scorer of the present aggregation is a freshman, Turtellotte, who scored 15 points in the first game. The Aces are expected to start a team composed of Jaszek, Allen, Kosior, Benjamin, and the freshman sensation Tourtellotte.

P. C. Alumnus Dies In Crash

Bombardier Cadet Joseph L. Perkins, Jr., 20, an alumnus of Providence College was killed in an airplane crash in Texas on Dec. 6.

Perkins graduated from West Warwick High School in 1940 and was a sophomore at the college at the time of his enlistment, Jan. 6 of this year. He was a member of the Pyramid Players while at the college. He was active in parish affairs serving as assistant scoutmaster of St. James' parish troop.

His untimely death during a routine flight with three other Army men occurred just one month before he would have completed his air training.

EXAM RULES

The examination books will be supplied by the various professors giving the examination. The students must use these and no other book.

No student will be allowed to work with more than one examination book at a time.

Students bringing papers into the examination rooms or observed communicating shall forfeit their examination.

All examinations are scheduled to start on the designated time. A student that is late injures himself and distracts others.

Students who were absent from the last class before the examination must bring an excuse slip to the examination room.

AVE VALEQUE

This time graduation means more than leaving the college. It means leaving in the past a life, an outlook and a habit of evaluations. It means turning to a future that is at best bloody, filled with wrenchings and tears and civilized savagery. You are being uprooted, and we know that that is painful. It is painful for us too, since we are the soil which is ripped up in the process.

When you will ride away in your trooptrains, we shall know the dull sensations you will feel at exchanging a comfortable old way of life for the terrifying uncertainties of the grim future.

And in the chaos of broken lives, broken minds, broken souls, you shall experience again the baptism of blood, shrapnel and bayonets, madness and folly. And there are the other dangers, the subtle insinuation of values which are not ours into the scheme of life which we have been taught to revere; the embittering knowledge that men trained in truth must reap the harvest of fallacies; the awful temptation to deny the Providence Which allows the maelstrom to overrun the world. The war will be fought within ourselves too. And loss of the interior struggle can be as fatal as the loss of the physical battle. Even victory will not avail us anything if in the process of becoming victors we become traitors.

In a short time we shall be joining you in Tunisia and on Guadalcanal; we shall have shared your experience of setting out into the unknown dimensions of war. Until then, and especially at Christmas, we shall join you in your prayers that this you sacrifice may yet be the regenerating and cleansing sacrifice which will set the world free from itself, that this offering may be the purification and the lightening of souls and minds which have grown dark with the world and heavy with its crimes.

We can only repeat the injunction of Saint Paul: Esto Vir! God writes straight in crooked lines.

COLLEGE GOSSIP

By JACK BRADY

Last Friday morning the Cowl edition was late in arriving. It seems our Cowl was delivered to the Brown Herald Office. The Herald editor, John Buchman, certainly was surprised. After many 'phone calls the Cowl was finally delivered to its own campus.

A new truck driver was told to deliver the papers to the college on the hill. He knows now that there is more than one hill in the city of Providence.

The death of Joseph Leo Perkins in an airplane crash last week was sadly received by his many friends. Leo left school this year to join the Army Air Corps.

Joe Sullivan, last year's football captain, returned to the campus this week. Joe was given an ovation at the boxing bouts Monday night. He is now a Lieutenant in the Marines.

Bill Rutledge of Rhode Island State Basketball fame was introduced by Joe Vaghi, master of Ceremonies. Bill is also in the Marine Corps.

There were many hoarse throats after last Saturday night's basketball game. The late surge by our team, which was led by Bill Martin and Ted McConnon, had most of the fellows hanging on the ropes.

Ted McConnon's appointment as basketball coach of St. Raphael's Academy was well received by the alumni. Ted graduated from St. Raphael's in 1938. He succeeds Steve Fallon, also a graduate of P. C. Steve is now in the armed service.

Tom Halloran has transferred to R.I.C.E. Out of Sight, Out of Mind, that's Tom's motto.

John Affleck bowls every Tuesday with the St. Raymond's Bowling League. John is slowly reaching the 80 mark.

"Mort" Hoffmann was a second during the boxing bout. His boxers did not win a fight. Thus the nickname.

Jim Scanlon was seen working in the Chem. Lab until after eight o'clock one night. Jim sure burns the midnight oil.

We hear that John Gilfillan, of the Freshman Business Course, will join the Tank Corps about the first of January. Best of luck, John.

The fellows who had their pictures taken at the Junior Prom are now in proud possession of the prints. Some of the boys, however, are a bit confused. The photographer did such a swell job in some cases that the Beau Brummels have a hard job recognizing themselves.

Expressions that impressed us:

The lobster like look of the boys as they finish the cross country cross on a cold, blustery December Day.

The look of determination on a boy's face as he approaches the last obstacle in the Barrier Course.

The look of amazement and worry on the faces of the students as they are told by the professors that they are responsible for everything covered in the book for the final examination.

The look of joy on the countenances of the shareholders in the Junior Prom as they receive the dividends on their investment.

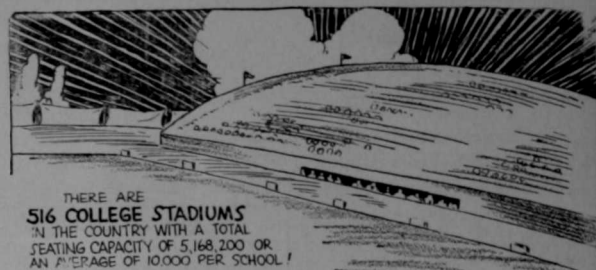

The happy look on the faces of the P.C. rooters as the Friar quintet edges a scrappy Springfield five in a thrill-packed basketball game.

The confused and hurt look on the face of a dorm boy when he is told he has been "campused."

The Senior Class is in the midst of its finals. The undergrads are laughing now, but wait until next week.

So until next (I hope), keep listening.

Dorm Diary

By JOE ANLAUF

Every year about this time the old dorm diary has the sad job of turning over a new leaf and saying good-bye to the men of the graduating class. This year more than ever before the job is a tough assignment for as we all know our country has entered the second round of this great world war.

But when the graduates leave their alma mater this year, well do we know that they will soon be in the midst of the fight, trying to send home that knockout punch, which eventually will floor the eternal triangle.

With these few words the diary will close its cover on the class of '43, but not without wishing them all the best of luck in helping them keep old glory high as a cloud.

Waiter of the Week: Vinny Vasilauskas was awarded eight cents for his personality while performing for Sam Franco and gang.

That Warwick hot spot was closed down via the big fire in the Hub and all the fellows are in deep mourning.

Dan DiIulio is currently under the tutelage of Arthur Murray while fashioning for Esquire.

Bill Martin, P. C.'s Frank Merriwell, is in the Marines.

Joe Bruno couldn't stand it any longer and has entered the fold once more—wish he'd make up our minds.

All the resident quintets did quite well for themselves in the intramural tournament.

Dave Carberry's young brother was our guest over the weekend.

The porter on the second floor has been voted a place on the all-American eleven by virtue of his passing ability.

Seems as if the fellows expected this reserve cancellation for many of them are sporting crew cuts.

The government is going to take over the dorm as a packing house for freezing meat as soon as the stiffs have vacated homeward.

With that I had better pack up and tuck the diary away in the mothballs for another year but to whom it may concern may the diary and I say—"Merry Christmas and Happy New Year."

Capitol to Campus

FOR TEEN AGERS

Washington—(ACP)—Right now the lid is down tight on information concerning the army's plan for sending drafted 'teen age men back to college. Officials and educators here say it soon will be spelled out in detail.

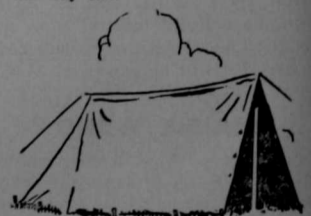

However, it is a virtual certainty that all 18 and 19 year olds who are drafted—whether or not they're college men—will be eligible to take tests to determine whether they shall be assigned to colleges and universities for technical and scientific training.

They probably will be selected on the basis of education, as well as for "qualities of leadership, military ability and aptitude for more education."

The back-to-college plan, or whatever it may be called, is likely to hit small arts colleges hard. The army and navy will probably take over the physical facilities of many of them to train men in technical subjects.

What You Buy With WAR STAMPS

An essential part of the equipment of the Army and the Marine Corps is the shelter, or "pup" tent. These small and easy-to-handle tents are used in training, on field maneuvers and on short marches. Our ever-increasing army needs thousands of them and only $10 of your money in War Savings Stamps will buy one.

The help of Young America in financing the war effort is being encouraged by the Treasury Department in its sponsorship of the Schools At War Program. As a symbol of this program the Treasury will present each state with a 206-year-old brick from Independence Hall, obtained during extensive repair work on that shrine of our nation's freedom. These Liberty Bricks, as they are called, will furnish a permanent exhibit in each state after they return from a tour of the schools. Each school will also receive a certificate of service from the Treasury.

FRIARS EDGE OUT SPRINGFIELD IN CLOSE CONTEST

McConnon, Drew, Martin Stand Out In Last Minute Spurt

Coming back with a rush which could not be denied, the Fighting Friars came from behind in the closing seconds of play to edge out the Springfield Gymnasts, 65-58.

Although they started with a tremendous rush which left their opponents trailing 11 points in the first few minutes, the Friars' passing attack was not up to par and consequently the Gymnasts soon overhauled them and took command at half time.

The great work of Larry Drew under the back boards soon began to tell and half way through the final stanza the "fast break" began to click. The insertion of freshman Bill Martin seemed to give the team new life and they started to hit the mark time after time.

Ted McConnon tallied many crucial points during this period in addition to turning in an excellent all around performance. It is only fair to mention that the other freshman, Palmieri,

"Since you're saving tires—I just love roller-skating!"

Drawn for Office of War Information

9-281-12/8

also turned in a creditable job for it was his outstanding work under both boards which went far in turning defeat into victory. Although they made many mistakes which might have cost the game, the all around play of the entire team was good considering that this was the first game of the season.

LOU SIY WINS MONOGRAM CLUB ALL-COLLEGE BOXING CROWN

Battle Royal Is Feature Of Well Planned Program

By AUSTIN MATTHEWS

The annual All-Star Boxing Bouts, under the sponsorship of the Monogram Club, were held in the Auditorium of Harkins Hall on Monday. Equalling all expectations as to attendance and interest, the affair was considered successful by all concerned. Seven individual contests and one battle royal were included in the program, with the feature bout between light-heavyweights Lou Siy and Cosmo Frenchetti.

Lou Grossi Over Pat Lucarelli

Starting off slowly, with both boys sparring around in the first round, this bout developed into a slugfest in the second and third cantos. In the third Grossi exploded with lefts to the head, and had his opponent staggering by the end of the found.

Mickey Marra Over Ray Walsh

This was a battle all the way; Walsh took the initiative in the first round and looked like the probable winner, but Marra came back hard in the last two rounds to take a close decision.

Ace Regis Over Marty Guatieri

Another slugfest; but with Regis in command all the way. His method of attack was the same throughout the three rounds; slinking around the ring like a stalking tiger, waiting for Guatieri to come within reach of his lightning-like lefts.

Smitty Smith Over Red Needham

From the very start, the next fight, the fastest of the pre-lim contests, had the earmarks of a tough fracas. Smitty went right to work in the first round, hung a few on Needham's nose and started it bleeding, which hampered him considerably for the remainder of the fight. In the second round Smitty had little difficulty, with Red's nose bleeding badly. Needham made a game try in the last round, however, and was pounding his opponent hard as the bout ended, but Smitty had won a close decision in the first two rounds.

Battle Royal

The next brawl can better be imagined than described. It brought together three warriors named Pee Wee, Grizzly Bear, and The Bull, who looked strangely similar to—Wilf Michaud, and Tiny Quinn, with Geronimo, alias Ben Pagliori, as the referee. The winner was not decided by the judges but left to the spectators the problem of choosing the victor according to personal opinion. One fact was certain, that the referee was the loser, for he was mobbed by all

FR. PASTORELLI IS GROVE FIRE HERO

Dominican Risks Life to Administer Conditional Absolution to Dying

Rev. Joseph L. Pastorelli, O.P., former pastor of Saint Raymond's Church, Providence, was revealed as the unknown priest who was first on the scene at the Coconut Grove disaster.

Father Pastorelli administered conditional absolution immediately and, after sending a hurry call for medical aid and additional priests, took an active part in many of the rescues.

He was himself burned and overcome by gas fumes and has been confined since in the Cardinal O'Connell House of St. Elizabeth's Hospital.

The former Providence pastor was just recovering from an extended illness when he performed his heroic feat. Asked by his physician where he got the strength, in view of his weak condition, to perform the tasks, Father Pastorelli replied, "I did only what any priest would have done under the circumstances. There is only one answer as to where I got the strength—from God and from Him alone."

Coast Guard Academy History to Be Told by Riley Hughes

Prof. Riley Hughes received word today that his forthcoming book relative to the history of the United States Coast Guard Academy has been officially approved by Admiral James C. Pine, U.S.C.G., superintendent of the academy.

Prof. Hughes commenced work on this book when he was state supervisor of the Connecticut Writers' Project, and has worked on it since becoming director of public relations for Providence College. At present he has written a third of his book, and plans to complete the remainder during the college Christmas vacation. He will entitle his work, "The United States Coast Guard Academy, A History and a Guide." It will be one of the service academy series published by the Devin-Adair Co. of New York City.

What You Buy With WAR STAMPS

Destroyers are the "Greyhounds of the Sea." Unarmored, these sleek, deadly ships depend upon their speed to protect them from enemy fire. Besides their guns, they carry torpedoes and depth charges. Modern destroyers burn oil and 50 cents, the price of two 25-cent War Stamps, will pay for enough fuel to drive a destroyer one mile.

Maybe you can't be aboard a destroyer when it bears down on a U-boat, but you can have the satisfaction of knowing that the money you loan Uncle Sam through the purchase of War Stamps may be providing the fuel that is turning the ship's propellers. ### Gene Leco Over Jack Farley

Although Jack Farley fought gamely in the first round he was never able to stand up to his huskier opponent, and after he had absorbed severe punishment in the second round, Referee Pete Louthis was forced to stop the fight and give the decision to Leco on a technical knockout.

Joe Montecalvo Over Angy Carbone

This looked like a Montecalvo walk-away in the first round and in the early part of the second. But in the last half of the second and throughout the third round scrappy Carbone came to life and really made a fight out of it. He made his bid too late however, for Montecalvo got the judges' nod in a close decision.

blood from Frenchetti's nose in the first round, which weakened Cosmo for the rest of the fight. He kept punching, however, and the two boys maintained a furious pace. Although Cosmo landed some good punches in the closing seconds, the fight, and the championship went to Lou Siy on a split decision.

Pete Louthis, P.C.'s professional boxer, did a fine job of refereeing the bouts. Barney Madden and Joe Dulkie were the other judges. Ed Roth acted as timer, while the booming voice of Joe Vaghi made the announcements. Seconds were Manny Augliere, Mort Hoffman, Sam Franco, and Wilf Michaud, with Bill Goulding the trainer.

During the intermission, Joe Sullivan, captain of last year's football team, now a second lieutenant in the Marine Corps, was introduced to the crowd, and made a brief speech. He then introduced his Marine Corps colleague, Second Lieutenant Bill Rutledge, former star of Rhode Island State's basketball team.

"Yes siree... That Extra Something!"

"Ice-cold Coca-Cola is more than thirst-quenching. Yes siree. It's refreshing. There's an art in its making. There's know-how in its production. The only thing like Coca-Cola is Coca-Cola itself. Nobody else can duplicate it."
