Alembic Gets New Staff

Literary Board Selected To Criticize Manuscripts

Appointment of James F. Shiel of Providence as the editor of the Alembic, College literary quarterly, was announced yesterday by the Rev. Robert D. Reilly, O.P., Alembic moderator. He succeeds John Gerhard of Providence who was inducted into the Army last week.

A literary board has been selected to form a critical clinic on all manuscripts submitted to the Alembic. Members of the board include John Stafford of Providence, assistant editor of the Cowl, and John Buckley of New Bedford, a member of the Carolan Club.

Also John Farley of Providence, who writes as a hobby; Albert Tet-reault of Providence, former editor of L'Echo La Sallien, and John R. Kenney of Providence, sports editor of the Cowl.

John Sormanti, Jr., of Providence, business manager of Veritas and treasurer of the senior class, will be business manager. Paul Cavanagh, editor-in-chief of Veritas and former staff artist for the Friar Mercury, will be the staff artist.

Plans are now being made for the March issue. All essays, short stories, plays, poems and sundry should be left in the Cowl office, Room 22.

Former Professor Writes From Abroad

Dr. Daniel M. Lilly, professor on leave from the Biology Department, writes that he is now with the A.E.F., stationed at a hospital "somewhere in England."

His letter treated mainly of the English countryside. He said, "Our hospital is now in operation on the outskirts of a fairly large city which provides us with such advantages as the cinema, stores, etc."

"The weather has been mild but very rainy as is usual in winter here. Spring and summer should bring more hours of daylight and, we hope, sunshine. Even in winter the countryside is beautiful with its hills and valleys and numerous well kept farms with sheep and cows grazing in still green pastures."

"In so many ways Old England reminds me of New England."

Fates Frown and Smile On Young Freshman Scientist

By ED SULLIVAN

Fate and Selective Service play queer tricks on unsuspecting young men. The latest hapless victim was Walter Loughran, a freshman in the Science department. It seems that Walt received his greetings from the President (Induction Notice to the uninitiated) last Tuesday, and Wednesday was exhibiting it to his classmates. Poor Walt. And he was only eighteen!

There were, big as life, his name, address, Order No. 11 . . . -v, and the date of induction. The day for his departure would be on the anniversary of Ireland's Patron Saint.

Walt dutifully informed the Registrar who in turn informed him that

Senior Holds Dual Offices As Fire-Eater, Corp Head

Dan Russell Workers In Esmond Nights; Motor- cycles to College

A corporation president is usually pictured as a fat formidable creature sitting in a platial office discussing dubious business over numerous phones. At the other extreme, firemen are usually thought of a men who sit around waiting and waiting with little to do.

Danny Russell, senior premed, will tell you there are exceptions to the first and the second is wrong, and he should know. He is a corporation president and fireman himself.

His corporation is no imaginary affair, but a legal entity recognized by the State. It has over a hundred members, an official handbook, and the official name of "The Smithfield Volunteers." If you go up to Smithfield on the first Monday of the month, you will see Dan fulfilling his function as corporation president. On any other night he is ready for duty as a volunteer fireman.

In his official position, Dan is putting his four year oratory course to practical use. He has to guide discussions to keep them within parliamentary and corporation procedure. This is no easy task when the debates cover disputes over appropriations, payments for fighting brush fires, new equipment and the organization of benefit bingos.

The greatest dispute, according to Russell, concerns the cleaning of snow from hydrants. It seems the town council has ignored them because concerning this duty there is a disinction. And so all the Oechames are not in the philosophy books.

Nights when the town orators are resting their lungs, Dan is ready as a volunteer fireman. There is a large siren in the center of Georgiaville that summons him and the rest of the men to duty. About three minutes after the fire has been reported, Smithfield's fire truck with its ladders, hoses, and 950 gallons of water is ready to go to the scene of the fire, or emergency. Such alarms has brought the P. C. fireman to drownings in Stillwater Pond, a chimney fire when the temperature was ten degrees below zero, forest fires, and a house fire where a man was burned to death.

The usual spring brush fires will present a particular problem next season. So many men have been drafted, the Smithfield volunteers are facing a possible man shortage. Russell, like so many other corporation presidents, has the problem of finding men and training them as fire fighters.

To be fully prepared for all emergencies, the entire company trains every Sunday morning. Russell explains this has made them one of the best volunteers groups in the State. Charles Fogarty, '43, of the Harmony volunteers is perhaps the only one on the campus who will disagree with this. Anyway Dan's efforts easily have dismissed the old idea that the volunteers do more damage than the fire.

In case you do not know who Dan Russell is, wait some morning at the River avenue drive. The person who goes by you on a motorcycle is the Smithfield fire eater.

Frosh-Soph Dance Set For March 19

The Frosh-Soph St. Patrick's Dance to be held March 19 in Harkins Hall will be arranged by a joint committee which will be named sometime during the forthcoming week according to a communication received last night.

This committee will be headed by two chairmen, one each from the two classes. The Rev. Leo Schnell, O.P., moderator of the Freshmen, and the Rev. Edward R. Doyle, O.P., moderator of the Sophomores, will make all committee appointments. Class officers will have responsible parts in the promotion of the hop.

STUDENTS SKIP PHYSICAL ED

Assistant Dean Says Hours Must Be Made Up

The Rev. Frederick C. Foley, O. P., assistant dean, announced yesterday that students who have exceeded the allotted number of absences in Physical Education will lose credit for the present trimester unless the hours missed are made up.

Seniors lacking the required number of hours will not receive their degrees in August unless they take steps to fulfill the requirements immediately. The assistant dean revealed that degrees were withheld from two students last year on this account.

He said that students already sworn into the Navy VI and V7 programs have jeopardized their status if they have not put in the required number of hours. They will not receive a certificate from the college as having completed the required course in Physical Education.

The list of students deficient in hours will be published within the next few days. Students on the list will not receive any recommendation from the college for the various branches of the armed service, nor will they be graduated unless the requirements are fulfilled.

No student is excused from Physical Education classes unless they present a bona fide statement issued by the college physicians.

Commencement Planners Named By Class Prexy

JUNIORS ELECT DAVE TRACY PRESIDENT

Fay, Hoffman, and Hardy Take Other Class Offices

David M. Tracy, Business student of Uxbridge, Mass., was elected President of the Juniors; Michael A. Fay, of Providence, vice-president; Morton E. Hoffman, of Edgewood, R. I., secretary, and Francis A. Hardy, of Medford, Mass., treasurer, at the class balloting yesterday, the Rev. Jeremiah Fitzgerald, O. P., moderator said in a statement last night.

Tracy is a member of the Friar's and Carolan clubs; Fay and Hoffman of the Pyramid Players, and Hardy of the Carolan Club.

Fr. Fitzgerald also disclosed the appointments to the Executive Committee for the Junior Prom. They are the following: Joseph J. Anlauf of Providence, John Coughlin of Taunton, Francis McNamara of Brooklyn, Norman Kayer of Providence, David Carberry of Providence, George Coyne of New Bedford, Frederick Killian of Providence, William Hendricks of New Bedford, Lucian Pichette of New Bedford, Joseph Raftery of Providence, and Robert Fisher of Providence.

December Grads At Notre Dame

Six members of last December's graduating class have been selected for a special four month's course in seamanship, navigation, and ordnance at the United States Naval Reserve Midshipmen's School, located on the campus of the University of Notre Dame.

Those undergoing this intensified training, at the end of which they will be commissioned ensigns, are Joseph P. Vaghi of Bethel, Conn.; J. Rizzuto of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Bernard J. Short of Providence; Joseph W. Dority of Providence; John A. Malone of East Providence; and David Joyce of Providence.

They were all members of the college's navy reserve program while at Providence College.

Two Appointed On Cowl Staff

John J. Stafford, a senior, of Providence, and Thomas E. F. Carroll, a freshman, of Providence, have been made Assistant Editor and News Editor, respectively, of the Cowl, it was announced last night.

Stafford was the former Feature Editor of the Cowl. He is on the Alembic Literary Board and is chairman of the Senior Cap and Gown Day Committee.

Carroll has been advanced from a reporter to News Editor. He is a member of the Jayvee debating team and is manager of the Debating Union.

Seniors Ask March 8th As Traditional Free Day

Stating that he would rather "be an optimist than a pessimist," Larry Drew, president of the senior class, announced yesterday morning at the senior class meeting the appointment of chairmen and committees for the various August commencement activities.

The seniors were more than optimistic, voting to request the administration to give them March 8th as the traditional free day.

Several of the class disagreed on the grounds that St. Patrick's Day was the day to be chosen, as was the procedure in other years. It is expected, however, that St. Patrick's Day will be a holiday.

Milton F. Wolferseder of Providence was made chairman of the Commencement Ball Committee. He will be assisted by John J. Grady of Pittsfield, Mass.; Matthew F. McCarthy of Pawtucket; Thomas F. McGuire of Fall River, Mass.; and Wilfred A. Michaud of Nashua, N. H.

James F. Shiel of Providence was named chairman of the Baccalaureate Day and Parents Reception Committee. Other committeemen are James F. Burke of Jersey City, N. J.; Charles J. Fogarty of Harmony; John A. Stevens of Danbury, Conn.; and Frank W. Cross of Washington, R. I.

John K. Najarian of Providence will be chairman of the Class Gift Committee. Committeemen are Paul A. Cavanagh of Providence; Joseph A. Bagaglia of North Providence; Paul J. Roshka of Danbury, Conn.; and Adolph Motta of Providence.

John J. Stafford of Providence was appointed chairman of the Cap and Gown Day Committee. On the committee are Donald Antaya of Attleboro, Mass.; David J. Turbridy of New York, N. Y.; and John T. Harrington and Vincent J. Damiani, both of Providence.

Murphy Gets Naval Supply Position

Joseph D. Murphy, M.A., former food consultant, personnel director and professor of history at the college, has been granted a leave of absence for the duration of the war in order to accept a commission in the Navy, the Very Rev. John J. Dillon, O.P., college president, announced last night.

Mr. Murphy is now a Lieutenant (jg) in the Navy's Division of Supply, located in Boston. He is a graduate of Holy Cross College and did graduate work at Boston College from which he secured his M.A. degree.

FR. HINNEBUSCH

The Rev. William A. Hinnebusch, O. P., professor of history at the college, is in good spirits and on the way to recovery from his recent attack of pneumonia.

It is believed that he will be a week or so more at St. Joseph's Hospital before returning to the college. Fr. Hinnebusch is a prominent historian of the Dominican Order and has written several articles in religious and historical publications.

OUR FELLOW AMERICANS

Last Friday the college authorities were informed that Providence College was one of several Eastern colleges to which American born Japanese youths of proven loyalty to this country may be assigned as students. Student opinions on this announcement were voiced both in and out of the classroom during the past week. Strange to say, there was some student opposition to the plan.

At the beginning of the war we all pledged ourselves to the extirpation of those civil and military leaders who have made the Japanese, the Italians, and the Germans our ephemeral opponents in war. A sense of justice prompted us to resolve to do all possible to secure a peace.

But how can we ever hope to obtain justice if we disregard charity? To what good is the hate now being stirred up against our enemies in war by un-Christian, un-patriotic, and irrational Americans? How can we talk of peace when we think only in terms of hate?

We know racial and color differences are accidental to human society. God made man a rational animal. He gave the Japanese, the American, and the African Bushman the same gift of an immortal and spiritual soul. He told man that the soul was to be saved.

Pius XII in his encyclical Summi Pontificatus reiterates that there is a human solidarity and charity which is dictated and imposed by our common origin and by the equality of rational nature in all men, to whatever people they belong; dictated also by the suffering of the Lord-Redeemer on the cross.

The missionary activity of the Catholic Church has been undertaken in order to facilitate a deeper appreciative insight into the most varied civilizations and to put their spiritual values to account for a living and vital preaching of the gospel of Christ.

Squarely facing the facts, we fail to see how a Catholic college student who should be thinking of plans for a world peace, can be of any use to his government if he preaches and clings to the pernicious errors of the past. Dislike of a countryman because of his color certainly does not bid fair for the peace that will have to be made with a whole race after the war.

Wake up Providence College students! Let us be rational instead of emotional. Charity and justice are the only true foundations for any conviction. Let us think before we speak, always remembering there will be Japanese, Negroes, and Fiji Islanders on a par or even above us in Heaven.

Grasp the spirit of the Apostle of the Gentiles which is the spirit of the Teaching Church: "putting on the new, (man) him who is renewed unto knowledge, according to the image of Him that created him. Where there is neither Gentile nor Jew, circumcision nor uncircumcision, barbarian nor Scythian, bond nor free. But Christ is all and in all." (Colossians iii.10,11).

Though we are sometimes apt to forget it amid the activity of bombings and attacks, this war is not so much a military battle as an ideological or political battle. We are fighting fundamentally to determine whether totalitarianism or democracy shall rule. We took up arms to guarantee democracy, government based on the dignity of man. That is our political battle.

If only a political event had made us as conscious of the political battle as we are now conscious of the military battle. We should have a much better prospect of securing democracy and freedom when the enemy is defeated. For now we have the power to deliver a military defeat to our enemy. What we are lacking is the idea and the ideals to use that victory for the creating of a new era of liberty.

If we had the power of these ideals, we could have, as people of a democracy doubled the political pressure on the situation in Africa, and in addition influenced the events in India, Spain, England, Australia, and everywhere questions concerning liberty arise. Yet measured by its importance, this aspect of our campaign has been the most ignored, the most stagnant, and the most delayed. This indifference seems to indicate indolence, ignorance, or at best fatuous blindness.

The best brains of Germany and the bulk of the educational institutions are dedicated to the political battle. As a result Germany has a very large and continually growing number of indoctrinated youth. The Nazi youths have their ideas, methods, purposes, and rationalizations, and these have grown in strength to become an integrated part of their person.

We, on the other hand, have treated the political warfare, as the old teacher treats the towns political quarrels—as something unimportant, as a passing thing and not what it is in fact—as the end, the purpose, the motive of the German assault. This political battle—the fight for the supremacy of totalitarianism—has invaded every sphere of German action.

By reason of our geographical situation, we have managed since the beginning of the war to remain almost untouched by the political battle. This means that the people of the United States have never been put to the test the democratic people of France, Denmark and Norway had to face. And for many months we will not have to face this test. But there is a great possibility that peace, the responsibility and sacrifices of peace may resolve into a question as to whether we want democracy or not.

There must be no unpreparedness in the minds of the people of the United States when this question arises. A Pearl Harbor in the field of ideals and ideas cannot be corrected by three years of battle, but may take a century to redeem. To prevent such a disaster, we students must study democracy.

The reasons for adhering to democracy cannot be based on personal experience but must have as a foundation objective study. If we depend on personal experience, the result is apt to be the death of democracy. Most men favor democracy because they have found it runs well—like a new car. But in America before the war, if a new car began to run less smoothly and efficiently it merely was turned in for another make. After this war, this attitude can easily be extended to political ideas by most Americans. If a man found democracy was not running so smoothly and efficiently, he might easily turn to support totalitarianism. When the great difficulties of the future arise, perhaps only an intelligent and well balanced outlook will give us reason to support democracy. Such an outlook can be the result only of a thorough knowledge of democracy.

The remedy for our backwardness in this critical aspect of twentieth century warfare is to do something to bring the students' minds to bear on the subject. We should realize that for a nation to want democracy there must be intelligent citizens who know what it is, and how to work within it. We have made college students military officers by giving science courses a high place in the curriculum and requiring students to take them.

We should approach the political problem in the same way—placing in every concentration a required course in democracy, taught by a spirited professor having a wide knowledge of history and philosophy and maintaining this high purpose—to fulfill the trust placed in us by those who fight while we study.

. . . AD REM . . .

By JOHN H. DAVITT

The Navy's announcement of last week that Walter Winchell, Gotham's topnotch snooper, has been returned to the inactive list was greeted by all thinking Americans and Navy men alike, proud of their service's tradition, as a triumph over this decade's most outstanding parasite.

Making his living through the reporting of news which no other reputable columnist would handle, Winchell has incurred the hatred of all who believe that fair-play is not dormant in America. The heretofore inviolate sanctity of the home has been made a subject of open public discussion by this unscrupulous individual.

It was indeed distasteful to all in pre-war days to meet Walter in his nightly round of New York entertainment spots in search of a bit of sexy gossip; but the unimaginable spectacle of a Broadway columnist parading about these places in a naval officers uniform nauseated the most stolid of navy men.

Statistics belie Winchell's oft-heard claim of infallibility. It is incredible that one man could so often be wrong and still maintain a position in a business that demands at least a small percentage of veracity. His politics succeeded only in destroying the small amount of faith the American people had in him.

The best that can be said of Winchell in this regard is that as an international news commentator he still is a poor gossip. In a scathing repudiation by a fellow columnist, Westbrook Pegler quipped that "he had no intention of starting a feud with Winchell unless a broom is said to have a feud with dirt."

We applaud the Secretary of the Navy for his good sense in ridding the Navy of its most outstanding "black sheep" and vindicating the American people's faith in the Command of to-date's outstanding branch of the Armed Forces.

Your day is over, Walter, and in spite of your big head the hole from whence you came is still not too small to crawl back into.

Book Review

By EDWARD A. CORMIER

PACK RAT: A METAPHORIC PHANTASY, Written by Reverend Francis C. Kelly, D.D., Bishop of Oklahoma City.

Pack Rat, or to give the sub-title, A Metaphoric Phantasy which is more indicative of its content, is a cleverly written allegorical and satirical ghost story against the present day evils. The author of the book is one of the most energetic American prelates, the Most Reverend Francis C. Kelly, D.D., Bishop of Oklahoma City.

Bishop Kelly, having written eighteen other books, is a well known and experienced writer. It is not so much the pleasure derived from writing as his zeal for the conquest of souls which inspires this saintly man in the writing of books.

The book is divided into ten episodes and a final chapter. The size of the book is very deceiving. It consists of only one hundred forty-six pages but contains more thoughts than a book twice its size.

The whole story is centered about a fictitious character who relates the events of a "serial" dream. In the book a pack rat takes the form of a human being and takes his place in a world torn apart by the international and petty politics of dictators.

The rat travels from one continent to another, and although he is ignorant of Christ and religion the rat soon finds out that it is Christ and religion which are the chief obstacles of the money mad politicians. Finally, the rat, sickened by the troubles of the world, once again assumes the form of a rat and at the end of the story the "casus belli" is lying by the side of the dead rat. It was a five cent piece.

Bishop Kelly resorts to metaphor, allegory, and story telling because he is of the opinion that a story not an essay pleases the heart of a family. And it is his sincere wish that the book be read in the home. However, Bishop Kelly overlooks one point.

The bishop has tightly concentrated his reflection on philosophy, theology, and science into a frame work of fiction. The result ceases to be fiction and becomes a brilliant, unsurpassed monologue in which one character speaks many parts.

Most people will want to remember PACK RAT not as an allegorical, thrilling ghost story but as a sermon given by one of the most spiritual

College Gossip

By Jack Brady

Harry O'Rourke, Art McGill, Jim Burke, and John McBride are planning to attend the game at State Saturday nite. Also present when P. C. takes revenge will be a group of Frosh, Ed Casey, Tom Carroll, and John McBurney. Johnny Lopes will witness the game and then go to a dance at one of the fraternity houses. John plans to make a weekend of it.

Tickets are at a premium. Most of the fellows will travel by train Saturday morning, and buy their tickets before the rush. The last train until next week will leave Kingston early Sunday morning. This is going to be somewhat of an obstacle to the boys, who wouldn't think of ever cutting a class.

Last Friday's "Trolley Hop" was a terrific success socially and, most important to Veritas funds, financially. Plenty of active support was given by all the classes to the dance, and the success has convinced the moderators of the advisability of holding more social events more often. Next dance will be the St. Patrick's Dance to be sponsored by the Freshman and Sophomore Classes on March 19.

Laughs aplenty were furnished by the inimitable—who would want to?—"Corny Corkery Choristers" who with the assistance of Father Clark carried on in their usual fashion. They deserved the pennies which Jack Sormanti threw to them and something else besides.

The Freshman politicians also put on quite a show much to the amusement of the Harkins Trolley passengers. Jackie Gilflan, who left for Fort Devens Saturday acted as chairman while Bill McKenna, Tom Carroll, and Cosmo Franchetti handed out cigars to grasping Frosh. A certain senior (we mean you Jack) posed as a small fry, got a cigar, smoked it, and regretted it.

One of the esteemed Professors, starting out for a class, was heard to remark, "Well, eight o'clock—time to stump experts."

prelates in America. His evaluation of the human soul, his pithy satire against dictators and his explanation of the Catholic religion all of which occur in the Pack Rat will leave a lasting impression in the minds and hearts of every one.

GYMNASTS WIN DESPITE LATE FRIAR SURGE

Last Second Foul Try Fails And P. C. Bows By 50-49 Margin

A desperate last period scoring rally failing by the slimmest of margins, the ever-battling forces of Coach Ed Crotty were edged by a powerful Springfield five last Monday night by 50-49 count.

With a second left to play and the Gymnasts leading 50-49, Ben Pagliaroli tossed in what would have been the winning basket for the visitors. However a foul had been called on Capt. Burgess of the Maroons before Ben had thrown up his shot and the score was nullified.

The gun had sounded but the Friars still had a chance to knot the count by a successful foul conversion. Dick Kirby, the clever freshman forward, tried the flip but his shot rolled around the rim and finally dropped off.

With ten minutes to play the Maroons had an 11-point advantage. It was at this point that the Dominicans began to roll, scoring 10 markers while holding Springfield scoreless.

R. I. and P. C. Top Scorers

Friars Average of 62.1 Points Per Game Is 2nd In Nation

R. I. State's Rams and P.C.'s Friars, who meet Saturday night at Kingston, are the two top scoring quintets in college basketball.

According to statistics released this week by the National Collegiate Bureau, the Keaneymen top the nation's scorers with an average of 81.3 points per game while the Friars place second, having an average total of 62.1 markers per contest.

The Friars have won 12 out of 16 and the Rams, 15 out of 17. The figures revealed that not one major team in the country has an unblemished slate.

Detroit tops the defensive fives with an opponents' scoring average of 27.6 points for 15 engagements. As an indication of the trend of Eastern basketball, there was not one quintet from this section listed among the leading defensive clubs.

Playoffs This Week

Monday

Joe's Boys were handed their first defeat by the Nags Club Monday night, 26-20. By this victory the Nags climbed into a three-way tie for second place in the league standing. Scott and Loughran were standouts for the victors while Cauchou and Devine shone for the losers.

Tuesday

The Aquinas Rockets, personally led by Don Murphy, stampeded the No Names, 50-18. Murphy garnered an evening's total of 24 points. Joe Bruno and Joe Aulau were the defensive stars for the Rockets. Bob Reinhardt led the losers with eight points. The Rockets led 19-8 at half time and then unleashed a savage third period passing attack which netted them 31 points for the final periods.

The league is now operating with 10 teams as the Philimusians and the La Salle Club have dropped out.

The semi-finals of the Intramural League will be played during the coming week. The four teams entering this select circle are the Nags Club, Aquinas Rockets, Merc's Boys and the undefeated Blackstone A. C.

Monday night will find the two Dorm teams, Aquinas Rockets and Merc's Boys battling each other. Both of these teams have been defeated once and the winner will face the victor of the Nags-Blackstone fray which will take place Tuesday night. The finals will take place Thursday morning during the 4th period. The games on Monday and Tuesday will start at 7 o'clock sharp.

Wednesday

In a game packed with thrills the Blackstone A. C. eked out a 45-43 overtime victory over Merc's Boys. The Valley lads now lead the league with an unblemished record of five conquests. The defeat sends Merc's Boys into a three-way tie for second place with the Rockets and the Nags.

The best player on the floor was Johnny Sheils whose uncanny eye netted him 19 points. Bobby Uyaliaski played a great game as did Frank Smyth and Charlie Aubin. Briggs led the Valley lads with 18 points and it was his overtime basket that won the game. Merc's led 11-9 at the end of the first quarter and at half time the score was knotted at 20 all. Merc's led again at the close of the third stanza 35-31.

At the end of the regulation game the score stood at 43 even. A three minute overtime was played and with one half minute to play Briggs stole the ball from Mike Halloran and dribbled the length of the floor to score the winning tally.

In Wednesday night's second game the Bay Staters trampled the Fighting Five 58-21. "Rooster" Carroll and "Dutch" Duchesneau led the winners with 22 and 15 points respectively. Johnny Crooks broke into the scoring circle by annexing five points. Tom Morriss starred defensively for the winners while Jack Powell stood out for the losers.

SCANNING THE SCORE SHEETS

By AUSTIN MATTHEWS

The New Bedfords chalked up their second shutout, and moved into first place in the league standing, by beating the Aquino Ramblers, who were previously undefeated, 4-0. The New Bedfords are the only team to have nine points after three weeks of competition, but several clubs have seven or eight points.

The individual stars cooled off somewhat last week, with Al Samd-peril's 328 the high for the night, after 340 and 378 in the two previous weeks.

Since it has been definitely decided that the league will consist of 12 teams, it will be necessary to draw up a new one, to include 12 teams, in accordance with the matches of the past three weeks. I expect to have this task completed by Monday, so if all the bowlers will come to that meeting in the Old Auditorium at 12:45 Monday, definite plans will be made for the continuation of the league, and schedule adjustments will be announced.

Before signing off, the boys of Carey's A. C. wished attention called to the fact that Steve Walsh finally beat the dummy, with an average of 84 1/3. This on a night when the general average was lower than usual, too.

Riddled Crottymen Face Busy Night In Meeting Rams At Kingston

By BOB BIRGE

Still smarting from the heart-breaking one-point defeat at the hands of Springfield, the service riddled Friar squad will clash with the high scoring Rhode Island State Rams at Kingston Saturday night. The game is the second of a two-game series with the Keaneymen.

The Friars will be out to avenge their precious loss to the Rams who handed them their first defeat of the season, 56-54, in that now historic game at the Auditorium.

However, Uncle Sam has stepped in since the last meeting and the Friars will be operating without Chet Zabeck, Bob Reilly, Ted McConnon and Henri Ethier, all who played important parts in the brilliant battle put up by the Crottymen.

The Rams, on the other hand, have been more fortunate, and only Earl Shannon will be missing from their roster as they take the floor Saturday night.

Nevertheless, this war-torn Friar quintet has come through in surprising fashion. They have given a fine account of themselves in recent games, and Coach Crotty is expected to start the same team that was edged by Springfield last Monday night.

Ben Pagliaroli and Bill Martin will be at the forward posts. Al Palmieri has been coming through in fine style at centre, and is a sure starter at that position.

Larry Drew, having his greatest year, is slated for one guard post. Fred Sowa or Jim Lee will be his mate in the back court.

State is expected to counter with Harry Donabedian and Ernie Calverley at forward, Hank Sperling at centre and George Mearns and Armand Cure in the back court.

Calverley will definitely be the man for the Friars to keep their eyes on. The Kingston "Whiz Kid" has been averaging about 20 points a game, and the Crottymen will have to hold him in check to come out on top.

The Rams have won 15 out of 17 this season, dropping verdicts to Fordham and Connecticut, both away from home. They haven't been near defeat on their home court as yet.

The Friars, with a 12 out of 16 record, have compiled the second highest scoring average in the country, their Saturday night rivals leading the field in this respect. Tomorrow night's clash should be quite a scoring spree.

"That actually happened. And things like that are happening everyday. Ever notice in your newspaper how often Coke is mentioned? Boys write home about it, too. They like the taste that sets Coca-Cola apart. They welcome that feel of refreshment. Coca-Cola must remind them of home a lot. It reminds you to refresh yourself."

Well, another week has rolled around with 'Awful' reporting again although some 'technicalities' have arisen in the meantime. . . Wonder what Miss B. will have to say about Monteleone's splurge in red . . . Jim Kerrigan has left for Uncle Sam's Army: we all wish him the best of luck. Mr. Big is again looking for a roommate although his talents frighten all newcomers. . . Charley Fal-lowell is getting a happy birthday every day from the boys . . . His roommate, Ed Doherty, has a priority on paper and is now in the station-ery business . . .

Dan Di Iulio, Steve Marcucci, and some other boys are earning their daily bread at the terminal down-town . . . Things are moving right along for the Carolan Club dance

. . . Mike Halloran is now a member of Don Murphy's squadron X. Now that spring has seemingly arrived, the annual after-dinner sessions will be- gin functioning much to the enjoy- ment of all. Ed Foley's foot is cast- free and he will be walking soon . . . Dave Tracey, Bob Doyle and Joe Galotti really make a terrific trio when they get together to serenade the boys with the trumpet, drums, and saxophone . . . Guzman Hall has been having some trouble with the water man lately . . . "Doc" O'Neill has the use of both hands again now that his arm is out of the sling and his shoulder is all healed . . . That's all the news for the week of February 22, but we will see you in March with more news and views from the "Rock."

GYMNASTS WIN DESPITE LATE FRIAR SURGE

Thompson then boosted the home forces total to 50 with a short flip.

With time running out Larry Drew folled the Gymnasts "freezing" tactics and sunk a one-hander from far out to make the score 50-49. Then came the exciting final second.

Bill Martin paced the Friars with 14 points, three more than the individual totals of Al Palmieri and Ben Paglia- rolli.

SEPTEMBER FROSH!!

⊗ When I was asked to run for Vice-President, I accepted. I campaigned as well as I could. I did spend some money for ads, but there is no foundation for false rumors being circulated. All I ask is that you consider my qualifications before casting your ballots. If I am elected I shall not disappoint you. I think ours is a Great Class, and I shall do my best to keep it that way.

May the best men win!

Thank You.
