President Posts
Faculty Changes
Many Professors Return
From Studies

Appointment of three deans and several additional members of the Dominican Faculty have been announced. Arch. Francis J. Slavin, O.P., Ph.D., president of the college, Father Slavin succeeds the Rev. Very. Frederick C. Foley, O.P., Rev. William J. Dillon, O. P., M.A., professor of English and modern languages, has been named Dean of Discipline.

Rev. Daniel F. Reilly, O.P., Ph.D., professor of American history, has been named Dean of Freshmen. More recently completed his work for doctoral degree, Rev. Thomas T. Shea, O.P., a former naval chaplain and an assistant professor of philosophy at the college, has been named Dean of Students.

New professors at the college are the Rev. Stuart R. Crowley, O.P., who recently completed his work for the degree of Doctor of Sacred Theology from the University of Louvain, and Rev. Robert J. Dunlop, O.P., M.A., who has been a professor of philosophy at the Dominican House of Studies in Oakland, California. Rev. Thomas Z. Ruth, who recently completed his work for the degree of Doctor of Sacred Theology from the University of Louvain, has been named Dean of the resident students at Aquinas Hall.

Two members of the faculty who have been continuing advanced studies have returned to the college for the present school year. They are Rev. Edward B. Halton, O.P., M.A., who received a master's degree in physics at Ohio State University; and Rev. James J. Hackett, O.P., who has recently completed his work for the degree of doctorate in chemistry at Yale University.

Rev. Thomas U. Mullaney, O.P., S.R., Professor of Philosophy, who has spent the last year in the Dominican Province in Wisconsin, will be transferred to the Dominican Province in St. Louis, Missouri, where he will become a professor of theology. Rev. Francis D. Hall, O.P., Bishop of Memphis, has been named Professor of Philosophy at the college. Father Hall has entered Notre Dame University to pursue higher studies.

Rev. J. A. Georgi, O.P., for many years professor of philosophy at the college, has been assigned to the Christian Brothers' College of the South in Memphis, Tenn., where he is to head the department of philosophy.

Cowl Reporter
Staff and Faculty

This article is to introduce the in-classmate publication, namely the Cowl.

This newspaper is almost the official organ of information in the school, ranking second only to the Bulletin Board and possibly the Veterans' Office. Since we are an occasion, occasion

We are an occasion, occasion

we WC ur gives a religious concern about the religious con-,

our wheels on the campus.

Students of the faculty claim that there would subscribe to Pravda before they would subscribe to the Cowl, but that's just because we have a much larger joke section than Pravda has. The importance of the joke center is worth almost every cent of that paper. There is no direct charge for the Cowl because the cost is included in the general college fee, whatever that is. However, we had an unscrupu-ulus editor who made a tidy sum selling Cows to guilty freshmen. As a matter of fact, we still have that unscrupu-ulus editor on the staff, so beware of a ramshackle dressed up with a battered tin cup.

We have championed many a last cause too. For instance, we started a boom to turn the campus into a green grocer because when Donnelly Hall was erected between Donnelly House and the dormitory, the students on the south side of the dormitory, as well as the students in the west dormitory, were often too effeminate and didn't measure up to the standards of a C. P. C. gentleman who all students must be.

All news is original in that it originates from the Cowl's own staff. This includes "truth" as its motto. To the Cowl staff this is a meaningful proposition. It is a commonplace motto which is "Never be late for a meal." If you have any themes of news, there is a descript box unfortunately, which can choose one which may place information. However, we reserve the right to print the information in whatever order we please written clearly in Basic English, and, if you don't know how to write, withhold your lines until such time as you have completed your course of operations.

Several members of the editorial board, including F. R. Boy, have been

(Continued on Page Four)

Are You One?

If you see a blood headed member of the faculty putting his hands out by the hands full, you will recognize him as Fr. Clark, the Moderator of the Veritas. And the reason in this case was ensured—count them, one hundred and sixty-five books, lettered by the dean's order of copies of the 1947 Veritas and left holding them the empty memory bag.

Get it up!

M. B. KNEICKBROCKER, JR.

ALEMBIC EDITOR

SEeks AUTHORS

Extending an invitation to members of all classes to participate in the production of THE ALEMBIC, Providence College's literary quarterly, Maximilian R. Knickerbocker, Jr., present editor, disclosed that the deadline for submission of articles for the first year's issue is October 15th, at the meeting of the editorial board in Don-ell Hall.

A new policy toward candidates to membership on the Alembic staff is designed to encourage in particular freshmen with literary talent, was decided upon at this first session. In order to provide individual attention to the qualifications of potential writers and staff members, members of the present editorial board will be

(Continued on Page Four)

War Memorial
In Grotto Form
Fiftieth Anniversary
Sixty-Five Alumni Lost In World War II

Sixty-five former Providence College died in the armed forces during the recent World War. As an enduring monument, Maximilian R. Knickerbocker, Jr., editor of THE ALEMBIC, is to be excavated to form an amphitheatre which will look, when finished, like a natural grotto. A fountain will be put in at the entrance, and the stone that is to be used for sound equipment.

It is the plan to have daily Mass at the shrine during the months of May and October, with special devotions in honor of Our Lady during the shrine. The statue is to be placed on the rear walls of the sanctuary, one on each side of the grotto. The panel on the Gospel side will have the names of the sixty-five sons of the college who died while in the service; the panel on the other side will be en-scribed "Names Immortal" and will give a list of benefactions.

VERITAS EDITOR

Mr. Dan DiIuglio, a philosophy student from New Haven, Connecticut, will be editor-in-chief of the college yearbook, the VERITAS. The Rev. William R. Clark, O.P., moderator of the Senior class, announced last night. Other appointments to the staff will be disclosed in the near future.

Mr. DiIuglio has been active in the extra-curricular activities of the college since his freshman year. Last year he wrote the column "Dorm Diary," for the Cowl, was secretary of his class, and acted as chairmen of the annual Junior Promenade. At present he is president of the Covelian Club for resident students, and of the New Haven Club, and is continuing his column in the Cowl.

Father Clark also revealed that beginning this year the cost of each student's copy of the Veritas will be included in the publication's fee paid

(Continued on Page Four)

Mr. DiIuglio heads bookstaff

Mr. Dan DiIuglio, a philosophy student from New Haven, Connecticut, will be editor-in-chief of the college yearbook, the VERITAS. The Rev. William R. Clark, O.P., moderator of the Senior class, announced last night. Other appointments to the staff will be disclosed in the near future.

Mr. DiIuglio has been active in the extra-curricular activities of the college since his freshman year. Last year he wrote the column "Dorm Diary," for the Cowl, was secretary of his class, and acted as chairman of the annual Junior Promenade. At present he is president of the Catholic Club for resident students, and of the New Haven Club, and is continuing his column in the Cowl.

Father Clark also revealed that beginning this year the cost of each student's copy of the Veritas will be included in the publication's fee paid

(Continued on Page Four)

Religious Services

Mass will be said in the Students' Chapel, Aquinas Hall:

Class Days: 7:00 A.M.; 10:00 A.M.; 10:30 A.M.; 1:00 P.M.; 5:00 P.M.; 6:30 P.M.

Holidays: 7:00 a.m.; 10:00 a.m.; 10:30 a.m.; 1:00 p.m.; 5:00 p.m.; 6:30 p.m.; 8:00 p.m.

Special Services: 10:00 a.m.; 10:30 a.m.; 11:00 a.m.; 1:00 p.m.; 2:00 p.m.; 5:00 p.m.; 6:30 p.m.

The Chaplain's Office today made public the schedule of social events for the night of February 17.

The annual supper dance, the first of the season, is scheduled for Friday, February 17. Last year's affair was heralded by such publicity stunts as parading an old gray mare beddecked with platters advertising the dance, started the social season spinning right off at the beginning. A short time later, four week as exact, on the 21st of November, the seniors will stage their dance.

The Pyramid Players will present their annual play for three nights starting December 11th. Later in the winter season, the Dramatics Club will present "Mr. Citizen," a musical comedy, will be offered from April 18th to May 22nd. The last event of the season will be the first formal dance of the season on December 19th. The affair, as usual, will be held in Harkins Hall.

The students' list of social events is scheduled for January 16th. This will be followed in three weeks by the Freshman Dance which last year was held

(Continued on Page Four)
PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE TO THE COWL

I have been requested to send a message to the COWL, our weekly publication here at Providence College. It is my mind that while activities such as your paper are called extra-curricular, they enter intimately into our program at the College. They play their role in the integration and formation of the whole man. For this reason, the student body should think not only a live interest but also deep responsibility in all College activities. Do not expect your Moderator to do all the thinking for you. It is their task to point the way, you must do the work. Without your cooperation, we will never catch the spirit of Providence College. With your cooperation, we will have the ardent contribution of everyone, your ardent, the social life which is natural to all who lay claims to be called men.

We ask the blessing of Almighty God on your Editorial Board and pray that He will guide and protect you in your work.

The Very Rev. Robert J. Slavin, O.P., Ph.D., President.

POLICY

With this first issue of the COWL we deem it appropriate that we let you readers know our Policy. We will attempt to report the news in an objective manner, with all in our power to support the Administration and Faculty while not overlooking the fact that we are primarily concerned with reflecting student opinion. We will also feel free to express constructive opinions on a wide variety of subjects in conformity with the Catholic way of life.

But we do want it known that we will not function as an organization of destruction, nor will we cater to any single group. Furthermore, we will continue hammer at the enthusiasm displayed for extra-curricular activities, but we feel extra-curricular activities are as important to us as are scheduled subjects.

Now when you just attend classes and glean all your learning from books, we feel that you are only partially educated.

Now we come back again to the reflection of student opinion. Ordinarily we have space dedicated for the printing of "Letters to the Editor," this week it is conspicuous by its absence. But we hope it will be the last time.

Letters to the editor must be signed and carried the student who signs the name will be held on request. Naturally we can't print all the letters every week. The ones we don't, referred to the printer for the day and say it is a fear of incurring faculty wrath is not in order. Last year there were some pretty hot letters and none of the students were burned. Some improvements this year are the result of letters that were channeled to the proper authorities. So, let's hear you. Drop your comments in the COWL box.

THINK IT OVER

This Sunday the fourth National Holy Name Convention will climax its five day meeting with a parade in Boston. It is not a parade to demonstrate physical might, nor is it one that offers gay music or splendid columns of nattily dressed men. But rather it is a mass demonstration of faith; men gathered together from all over the country to pay homage to our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ. We meet also to reaffirm our faith in the government under which we live.

It is significant to note that the eyes of the world will be upon us. No longer is Europe the curious of the faith. It is us, Americans, that the rest of the Catholic world looks to for guidance and leadership. What if we fail? We must not.

The Chaplain has asked all Providence College men to participate in Sunday's parade. It is a request for one afternoon of your time. Think it over. Can you honestly say that you haven't the time? There must be hundreds of things for which you are grateful to spend your time and money in the same week when you were marching, marching on foreign soil and for a different purpose. Next Sunday's parade is in honor of the Holy Name of God. Think it over.

DORM... Diary...

By R. M. Knickerbocker, Jr., '41

It is certainly no credit to this nation that two years after V-J Day the war has not ended. People, particularly young married people, unable to support decent homes for themselves and their families. With all our vanished industrial capacity and with all the new construction one would think we might certainly be led to believe that the condition has at least been somewhat alleviated. Yet such is not the case.

This leads us to take a sharp look back at the housing situation in America. The whole building industry and at those times businesses it is to provide housing for the public. On all sides this reveals a shocking amount of what was once called the "publicly damned" attitude. The building industry, as its greatest boom, is been upon a mad rush to construct everything that is needed, for the American people. I do not refer merely to the building also to the theatres, barrooms, stores, et., which are eating so voraciously into the critical supply of building materials.

Under the guise of doing nothing for the veteran, the building industry is busily engaged in throwing up (that about describes it nice) "cheap deals" at prices that are ridiculously high that most of these people are utterly beyond the reach of the average American. It is, just starting to make their mark in life. Those who can take these homes do, or proceed to tie a very large millstone around their necks.

Another shocker, if the picture is true, is that while thousands of young married couples are required to pay high prices, small, economical housing units to begin their family lives within their means, the only answer they get is "no." This public enterprise is a glib suggestion to look at as an honest business. Some of the homes American construction companies are providing for them.

The building industry is the almost universal black-balling of people with children. It is very well to notice that in connection with this "publicly damned" attitude, a current issue of a respectable business magazine reports that the construction industry has all business worried over its reckless disregard of building and business methods. It had been hoped that the building boom would stave off any depression building. But it is going to be the first boom to burst.

... COMMENT ...

By PAT O'NEIL

A certain freshman by the name of Chuck DiEvio is going around boasting that both his parents are S.O.B.'s.

Boo-hiss! That's harsh talk, but if you know that Bob Harrison has never had it easy, and has been suffering vociferous anger for all those years, you don't have to agree with Bob. Harry Quirk was on hand to greet his regular customers. He was soft-spoken, as was his advice. He was only one of the regulars.

DAYHOP DOINGS

By TOM "CADDIE" CERIAL

This leads us to take a sharp look back at the housing situation in America. The whole building industry and at those times businesses it is to provide housing for the public. On all sides this reveals a shocking amount of what was once called the "publicly damned" attitude. The building industry, as its greatest boom, is been upon a mad rush to construct everything that is needed, for the American people. I do not refer merely to the building also to the theatres, barrooms, stores, et., which are eating so voraciously into the critical supply of building materials.

Under the guise of doing nothing for the veteran, the building industry is busily engaged in throwing up (that about describes it nice) "cheap deals" at prices that are ridiculously high that most of these people are utterly beyond the reach of the average American. It is, just starting to make their mark in life. Those who can take these homes do, or proceed to tie a very large millstone around their necks.

Another shocker, if the picture is true, is that while thousands of young married couples are required to pay high prices, small, economical housing units to begin their family lives within their means, the only answer they get is "no." This public enterprise is a glib suggestion to look at as an honest business. Some of the homes American construction companies are providing for them.

The building industry is the almost universal black-balling of people with children. It is very well to notice that in connection with this "publicly damned" attitude, a current issue of a respectable business magazine reports that the construction industry has all business worried over its reckless disregard of building and business methods. It had been hoped that the building boom would stave off any depression building. But it is going to be the first boom to burst.

The Cowl

Established November 15, 1923

Published every full school week by the students of Providence College, Providence, Rhode Office: Donnelly Hall

Joseph V. Shaefer, 49
John R. Crook, 49
Edward T. Sullivan, 49
Edward McPeake, Pasquale F. Onofrio, Attilio Guazzarini, Robert Doherty

News Editors
Vincent Cinquegrana, 49
John Shea

Sports Editors
Dave Converse, Jr., 50
John Barrett

Photographers
Harry Orabone

Corrections
Edward T. Sullivan, 49

Subscription: 10 cents a copy. $2.00 a year. Same rate by mail. Advertising: 75 cents per column-inch.

The COWL, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 1, 1947

EDITORIAL

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE TO THE COWL

I have been requested to send a message to the COWL, our weekly publication here at Providence College. It is my mind that while activities such as your paper are called extra-curricular, they enter intimately into our program at the College. They play their role in the integration and formation of the whole man. For this reason, the student body should think not only a live interest but also deep responsibility in all College activities. Do not expect your Moderator to do all the thinking for you. It is their task to point the way, you must do the work. Without your cooperation, we will never catch the spirit of Providence College. With your cooperation, we will have the ardent contribution of everyone, your ardent, the social life which is natural to all who lay claims to be called men.

We ask the blessing of Almighty God on your Editorial Board and pray that He will guide and protect you in your work.

The Very Rev. Robert J. Slavin, O.P., Ph.D., President.

POLICY

With this first issue of the COWL we deem it appropriate that we let you readers know our Policy. We will attempt to report the news in an objective manner, with all in our power to support the Administration and Faculty while not overlooking the fact that we are primarily concerned with reflecting student opinion. We will also feel free to express constructive opinions on a wide variety of subjects in conformity with the Catholic way of life.

But we do want it known that we will not function as an organization of destruction, nor will we cater to any single group. Furthermore, we will continue hammer at the enthusiasm displayed for extra-curricular activities, but we feel extra-curricular activities are as important to us as are scheduled subjects.

Now when you just attend classes and glean all your learning from books, we feel that you are only partially educated.

Now we come back again to the reflection of student opinion. Ordinarily we have space dedicated for the printing of "Letters to the Editor," this week it is conspicuous by its absence. But we hope it will be the last time.

Letters to the editor must be signed and carried the student who signs the name will be held on request. Naturally we can't print all the letters every week. The ones we don't, referred to the printer for the day and say it is a fear of incurring faculty wrath is not in order. Last year there were some pretty hot letters and none of the students were burned. Some improvements this year are the result of letters that were channeled to the proper authorities. So, let's hear you. Drop your comments in the COWL box.

THINK IT OVER

This Sunday the fourth National Holy Name Convention will climax its five day meeting with a parade in Boston. It is not a parade to demonstrate physical might, nor is it one that offers gay music or splendid columns of nattily dressed men. But rather it is a mass demonstration of faith; men gathered together from all over the country to pay homage to our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ. We meet also to reaffirm our faith in the government under which we live.

It is significant to note that the eyes of the world will be upon us. No longer is Europe the circle of the faith. It is us, Americans, that the rest of the Catholic world looks to for guidance and leadership. What if we fail? We must not.

The Chaplain has asked all Providence College men to participate in Sunday's parade. It is a request for one afternoon of your time. Think it over. Can you honestly say that you haven't the time? There must be hundreds of things for which you are grateful to spend your time and money in the same week when you were marching, marching on foreign soil and for a different purpose. Next Sunday's parade is in honor of the Holy Name of God. Think it over.
WANT YOU TELL ME WHEN

COWL CALLS
All those interested in trying out for the Friars Club will have an opportunity to attend a meeting at Donnelly Hall next Thursday, Oct. 9, at one o'clock. If you cannot attend the meeting because of a class conflict, leave your name and schedule for free time in the COWL office.

World Series Results

YANKEES ... 5
DODGERS ... 3

FRIARS BIG THREE

Once again, the autumn breeze sweeps over the campus grounds, bringing with it new faces, cool weather, and a yen for the great outdoors. It is a time that every Friar remembers and one that will be etched in the memories of everyone's football team—the Irvin of Notre Dame. His record now stands at 41 wins, 5 defeats, and 5 ties. Every year he returns from under the中央空调's shadow, his voice sharper, his drive stronger, south, east or west. Always the pressure is on him. Every team in the conference know that Joe's top team leaves for the game, for a moment, simply because they are Notre Dame. Never has Frank Leahy allowed a team, certified under his name. However, there is one goal that Leahy has not yet reached at Notre Dame as his predecessors, Bally, Blenk, and Emler Leverin also failed to do. But since 1932, Leahy's best team, has not gone through a campaign undefeated and unbeaten. Twice they have had undefeated records both under Leahy but on each occasion they were tied by Army. Several National Championships have been won by the Irish since the death of the master, but for seventeen years that perfect season, that Leahy made a practice of, has not been chalked up for the South branch institution. This is Frank Leahy's goal this year. He has done everything else with a Notre Dame eleven except that. As a result each Saturday afternoon from now until the final game with Southern California, a drama, with Leahy in the leading role, is being performed under the中央空调. If the one poor boy from Winter South Dakota achieves, and I predict he will, the goal of getting the team to the top, it will be a dream that every fan has had of a deadlock, on two other occasions during his tenure as leader of the nation's favorite team; then will the name Leahy advance to the front. No, they will not say that he was no leader, and in it about time, they will be saying that Leahy was another Leahy.

MARINE RESERVES SEEK STUDENTS

Lt. Gerald Flynn, Public Relations Officer of the United States Marine Corps, U.S.M.C.R., announces that the Marine Corps is seeking men who would be interested in rounding out the battalions. A graduate in the class of '42 speaks a weekly two-hour session at the Walu-Kinerk Signal School for a period of two weeks. Enlisted men may earn up to $3.50 per session. With the Navy Depart-
THE THEATRE
By A. E. POURAY

Since this is an advance on Okla-
home, it is possible that by the time
the Cowl is printed the whole cast of the show will be back west husking corn. But, barring hidden interference by today, if today is Wednesday, Oklahoma, will be giving its 207th performance in London and simulaneously, its fourth in Providence.
Incidently, the London show has grossed approximately $660,000 and has paid slightly more than one-third of the $2 million it cost to produce. It goes to prove it takes more than pat-rmonious cooperation of a government even if it is British.

Oklahoma is probably the most highly polished musical to come out of Broadway in the past ten years and not unjustly so, as the music, by Rodgers and Hammerstein has been whirled by everyone, even young enough to pack his lips. "The survey with the Fringe on Top", "I Can't Say No", "Poor Jud", "Nothin'
" "Oh What A Beautiful Morning" "People Will Say We're in Love" and prose the title "Oklahoma" are a few of the familiar tunes.

There is a very light plot figuring between cattlemen and ranchers but it should in a musical, it keeps him
feet out of the spokes.

If you haven't already seen it, do do so soon before it gets away. I'm certain, you'll enjoy "Our Town" if Al- hurly sings about his shifty little survey.

Alumnic

(Continued from Page One)

 assigned to groups of underclassmen.

Everyone interested in this college-sponsored activity is urged to submit his material as soon as possible to faculty, the selection of additional members of the staff. Contributions are welcomed from all students, whether they desire to serve activily on the staff or not. These may be left in the COWL mailbox or brought to the Alumnic office in Room 4, Donnally Hall.

Also determined at this meeting was the design for the covers of this year's issues of the Alumnic. The new cover will have white lettering on a black background with simplicity as the de-
tor. Joseph Shanley, '49, George Healy, '49, and Dick Kauflney Hall.

Senior biology students who maintain his material as soon as possible to fa-

A Dramatic Club Plans Season

The Pyramid Players, College draamic society, will initiate a schoolwide membership drive this week as it presents for a wider, more varied program in this, its second season after a wartime lapse.

The Players, under the direction of the Rev. Pierre H. Casey, O.P., assisted by the Rev. George Q. Fried, O.P., the Rev. John W. Fitzgerald, O.P., and the Rev. David A. O'Connell, O.P., are confident that, supported by a hard core of experienced au-pers, the theatre here will take a long stride toward excellence in the imminently coming months.

Though beset with all the difficulties encountered by a newly-formed organization, last year's Players
learned quickly, and some of the talents un-
covered last year are sure for this year's performances.

According to Edward Guay, president, the tentative preliminary
organization is expected to result in a bigger
circulation through this new
act. Though beset with all the difficulties encountered by a newly-formed organization, last year's Players
learned quickly, and some of the talents un-
covered last year are sure for this year's performances.

According to Edward Guay, president, the tentative preliminary
organization is expected to result in a bigger
circulation through this new
act. Though beset with all the difficul-
ties encountered by a newly-formed organization, last year's Players
learned quickly, and some of the talents un-
covered last year are sure for this year's performances.

According to Edward Guay, president, the tentative preliminary
organization is expected to result in a bigger
circulation through this new
act. Though beset with all the difficul-
ties encountered by a newly-formed organization, last year's Players
learned quickly, and some of the talents un-
covered last year are sure for this year's performances.

According to Edward Guay, president, the tentative preliminary
organization is expected to result in a bigger
circulation through this new
act. Though beset with all the difficul-
ties encountered by a newly-formed organization, last year's Players
learned quickly, and some of the talents un-
covered last year are sure for this year's performances.

According to Edward Guay, president, the tentative preliminary
organization is expected to result in a bigger
circulation through this new
act. Though beset with all the difficul-
ties encountered by a newly-formed organization, last year's Players
learned quickly, and some of the talents un-
covered last year are sure for this year's performances.

According to Edward Guay, president, the tentative preliminary
organization is expected to result in a bigger
circulation through this new
act. Though beset with all the difficul-
ties encountered by a newly-formed organization, last year's Players
learned quickly, and some of the talents un-
covered last year are sure for this year's performances.

According to Edward Guay, president, the tentative preliminary
organization is expected to result in a bigger
circulation through this new
act. Though beset with all the difficul-
ties encountered by a newly-formed organization, last year's Players
learned quickly, and some of the talents un-
covered last year are sure for this year's performances.

According to Edward Guay, president, the tentative preliminary
organization is expected to result in a bigger
circulation through this new
act. Though beset with all the difficul-
ties encountered by a newly-formed organization, last year's Players
learned quickly, and some of the talents un-
covered last year are sure for this year's performances.

According to Edward Guay, president, the tentative preliminary
organization is expected to result in a bigger
circulation through this new
act. Though beset with all the difficul-
ties encountered by a newly-formed organization, last year's Players
learned quickly, and some of the talents un-
covered last year are sure for this year's performances.

According to Edward Guay, president, the tentative preliminary
organization is expected to result in a bigger
circulation through this new
act. Though beset with all the difficul-
ties encountered by a newly-formed organization, last year's Players
learned quickly, and some of the talents un-
covered last year are sure for this year's performances.

According to Edward Guay, president, the tentative preliminary
organization is expected to result in a bigger
circulation through this new
act. Though beset with all the difficul-
ties encountered by a newly-formed organization, last year's Players
learned quickly, and some of the talents un-
covered last year are sure for this year's performances.

According to Edward Guay, president, the tentative preliminary
organization is expected to result in a bigger
circulation through this new
act. Though beset with all the difficul-
ties encountered by a newly-formed organization, last year's Players
learned quickly, and some of the talents un-
covered last year are sure for this year's performances.