Arm Reservation Organized
With Personnel Recruited
From P.C. Student Body

A number of students enlisted in the United States Army Reserve last week, thus insuring the organization of a new harbor defense infantry regiment, the college and harbor defense regiment.

Soliciting of voluntary enlistments in this unit, involving absolutely no obligation to perform active federal service (except in time of war), will continue from now on, with recruiting officers, First Lieutenant Benjamin P. Hague, and his team available for consultation on duty for twelve hours every three days, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. in room 100, Herbert Hall.

In pointing out the advantages of this program, Lieutenant Hague stresses that there will be no interference with a student's studies, that no annual service obligations are required of veteran enlisting, that veterans may maintain the grade they held in the college, that during the three weeks longevity pay, and become eligible for pay thereafter.

Upon graduation, members of this reserve unit will become eligible for consideration for the Reserve Officers Reserve Corps. Students interested are invited.

New Flying Group Considers Buying Desired Airplane

The Providence College Flying Club is starting a drive this week to raise funds for the purchase of a Cessna model 145 airplane. The Rev. Walter A. McLaughlin, O.F.M., moderator of the club, announced that while donations from several interested friends have been received, the club hopes to raise the additional necessary funds by solicitation and one dollar subscriptions for a thousand dollar RAF.

The club, instituted several weeks ago, will have two classes of members: active and associate. The active club will consist of all the charter members and additional interested individuals desiring to devote their time to the club. Associate members will be those who desire to fly and join the club for educational and social benefits.

Presently, there are approximately twenty-five charter members in the club. It is planned that within the year there will be thirty-five charter members and there will be enrolled for life.

The club has already arranged to use the plane by merely paying a proportionate small service charge. Associate members desire to fly and join the club may pay a small fee per hour.

The moderator emphasized the benefits for both types of members. Commercial hourly rates are well over one thousand dollars for this type of plane. The charge to associate members would be one half of the commercial rates and the payments of the active students would be a very small proportion.

The club's goals is to raise funds with the earnings of the Groton Rotarian to be used for the advancement of the club's activities and the education of the students.

The club has, with enthusiasm, set the goal of purchasing a Cessna model 145 airplane and will begin the fund drive through the signal board and the activities of the club.

The Providence College Flying Club is a unique opportunity to learn the fundamentals of flight for students who desire a job in aeronautics. The club's activities are planned to give the students a complete education in aviation.

Although the Athletic Department has, so far, refused to vote for the club, that is the plan of the speech making committee. So far, the committee has had the opportunity only for four students to have entered ballot for the election. If, as expected, the committee will have the opportunity to vote for two students, they will have a chance to vote for two students who are interested. The committee is anxious to have the opportunity to vote for more students. They have had the opportunity to vote for two students, but no opportunities to vote for more students.

Fall River Senior Does 'Double-Duty' Married Veteran Runs Switchboard

Student by Day and Policeman by Night

By Francis L. McPike

How many hours a day? Robert Golden's twenty-four hours would have to be stretched considerably if he would do it justice in his study, his work, his home, and his health.

There is no doubt that Mr. Golden is a very busy young man.

A science senior from Fall River, Mr. Golden, a veteran not only carries a full academic course but also many other responsibilities which fall to the family of a student, three brothers, four sisters, and other family responsibilities.

After his last class of the afternoon, which he fails to return to Fall River, where at 10 p.m. he becomes Desk Officer Golden, a policeman with two and a half years service. His duties include taking charge of the signal board, record work, and an occasional tour of duty in a cruiser eeg.

By means of the signal board and its paper tape, with its performance in the direction of the various calls in the city, Golden maintains contact with the patrolmen on their beat, in order that messages may be efficiently sent and received. Record- ing reports of those incidents is the main duty of police officers. Should he be able to reserve his time, he might make this weekend even more enjoyable.

The greatest leader and builder of today is the person who builds his family and home, the person who builds his family. This is the basis of world unity. Father Slavln, a Jesuit of Saint Joseph's Provincial of Saint Joseph's Provincial, reminded family beads with this thought.

It is the plan of the speech making committee to recommend the club to the college for the election of two members. If, as expected, the committee will have the opportunity to vote for two students, they will have a chance to vote for students who are interested.

SMOKING REGULATIONS

Certain abuses make it necessary at this time to repeat the rules on smoking in the class room buildings. There are two places where smoking is allowed: the cafeteria and the locker room. Of late we have seen cigarette butts stamped on the stairs, on the linoleum and worst of all the floor of the auditorium. We, as members of the Cowl Editorial Board are not trying to take matters in our own hands nor threaten you with all sorts of punishment, but violations of the smoking privilege have reached alarming proportions.

Think of Providence College as a home away from home. When you are home you don't crush your cigarette butts on the floor, or throw them indiscriminately in the halls. Such a thing would not happen because you wouldn't dare to be so careless. Then why be so careless about your college buildings? Why not have respect for them?

Surely a Providence College gentleman should conduct himself at home and in College in the same manner. Don't leave your thoughtfulness and good manners outside the entrance to your college buildings. Resolve now to smoke in the sections of the buildings that are designated for such purpose and place your butts in the receptacles provided for them. That is not too much assistance.

But why be so careless about your college buildings. Why don't you to abide by these common sense rules, maybe so don't complicate matters further by pausing in the middle of a staircase to light up or to offer your buddy a smoke. If your desire to be a gentleman does not impel you to abide by these common sense rules, maybe a fine by the Dean of discipline will help. It has been brought to our attention that such action will be forthcoming if the smoking rules are not observed. So think before you light up.
FRIARS SET TO END R. I. STATE DOMINATION

By DAVE CONNORS, JR.

Seven years ago a Providence College quintet faced one at the great Frank Keeney coached edition at the Providence Auditorium, and led by a youngster named Larry Drew, defeated the R. I. State before the largest New England basketball assembly ever gathered under one roof, up until that time.

Tonight, seven years later, the name of the Friars' opponent bears a resemblance of the old Friars. Charlton Bresnahan, Bill Littlefield, Cy' Killian, Ray St. George and others are on the way to the big time. Their old opponents taught them and hopes will bring that great Rams from State.

The Friars are entering tonight's game with a 10-4 record. On the surface this appears to be quite respectable. However just who have the Friars beaten? A good question. Let me see now. I believe that I read somewhere that the Friars had a lucky night at the Auditorium last year, while the Rams didn't get their attack functioning smoothly until late in the game. However, as P. C. men aren't afraid of the Rams, we might finally manage to smash the Friars attempts, and go on to win with a 10-4 record. If that isn't convincing enough, let us recall what happened when Providence journeyed to Kingston for the second meeting between the two clubs. The Rams didn't toy with the Friars that evening as they rallied in a 10-3 victory.

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (AP) — Gillis Price scored 23 points and Bill Littlefield added 18, as the State College basketball team defeated Bucknell University, 73-67, in the annual Christmas Day basketball game at the Huntington Memorial Gymnasium.

Price, a senior guard, made 8 of 11 shots from the floor, including 4 of 5 shots on three pointers. Littlefield, also a senior, made 7 of 14 shots, including 3 of 5 shots on three pointers.

Also scoring for State College were Walt Lozoski with 17 points, Ken McConnon with 14 points, and Richard Bell with 10 points.

For Bucknell, Bill Kelly scored 19 points, Dick McPhail added 18, and Bob Parks contributed 17.

State College is now 7-2, while Bucknell is 5-5. The game was played in front of a capacity crowd of 3,000.

P.C. Versus State Through the Years

BY BOB FLANAGAN

When the Fighting Friars of Providence College enter the Pitt Athletics Center tonight to meet the Rams of the Rhode Island State College, it will be the first time the two teams have met. Providence College was a college of only 10 students when Rhode Island State College was founded in 1894.

In 1922 P. C. was again conquered by the Friars when they defeated the Rams, 35-19.

The series dates back to 1921 when Rhode Island State defeated Providence, 53-47. In 1922 Providence won the return engagement, 65-42.

Providence was a college of only 10 students when Rhode Island State College was founded in 1894.

The Friars have been seven years without a victory over State. Tonight they will join with eleven tonight when Providence College take the floor against Rhode Island State.

P. C. Versus State
VETERAN'S CORNER

By TONY JARZOMIA

The following bit of information is correct and without any strings. It applies to many veterans at this time, but by the end of this year many vets will have used their allotted entitlement, which leads us today to say something about the VA policy governing a veteran completing his time under the G.I. Bill. Before he completes his training, it is possible for him to take a leave of absence and not fulfill all his obligations. The veteran is required to notify the VA of the reason so that the VA will keep up to date. It should be mentioned here that if you interrupt your training for any other reason receive subsistence checks you are not entitled to, get in touch with the VA before taking them. The money might not be legally yours.

At any rate, a veteran can ask for leave of absence at the advisable time to complete his training. In the event that the veteran feels that he is entering in a course that is not suited to his particular aptitude and talents, he can ask for a period of vocational examinations. He will script aptitude tests which, after completion, will show a veteran in which direction his aptitudes lie: thereupon the veteran will be recommended for change of course. And if a veteran has the intention of leaving school entirely, he is uncertain as to which field of endeavor to enter, the Admission and Guidance section of the VA will be of the utmost value in helping you make your choice of a career.

Iona grabbed an early lead as big... Difficulties started the scoring with a tap in shot. The Huskies from New Rochelle stretched their advantage, but the Friars did not seem to start... Working the ball smoothly, and aided by some phantasmagoric shooting by Littlefield, Provence raced into a 25-16 lead. Here the attack slowed temporarily, but Charlie Brennan entered the game and provided the necessary spark as Providence went on to a 36-22 half-time lead.

In the second half P. C. continued its stinging performance, and rolled on to a 64-41 lead. Killian and Littlefield did sensational work on the boards, and St. George, Loniski, and Sowa continually broke into the clear to score. With P. C. leading by twenty-one points, Coach Larry Drew saw fit to substitute for his hard working starters. This was the signal for the Iona rally. Led by O'Shea, Murphy, and Bizzarro, the New Yorkers cut the lead in nine points in an amazingly short time. The first team was put back... but by employing close guarding tactics the Iona men managed...
