OFF AND RUNNING

Lincoln Downs is not the only place where running is the number one item of the day now that the Providence College baseball team has finally gotten underway; their first game having been rained off the schedule.

Coach Hal Martin’s boys were really running in that victory over A.I.C. last Saturday, and he didn’t have to use the whisy fireballer in fine form as he fanned 12, walked 6, and gave up just one hit in the nine-inning route.

Out one early 2-0 lead as Loskni opened with a bang single to left, swapped to third on Maloney’s two-bagger to left center, and countered with Maloney when Ted Mejezowski pasted a one-bagger to center.

Coach Harry Coates leads his trackmen from the frying pan into the fire when he invades Franklin Field in Philadelphia this Saturday. Failing to place in the Seton Hall Relays last Saturday, the Friars will be running against the best in the country this weekend in a great and best outdoor meet in the United States.

Each year the Penn Relays are the goal of every trackman in the country, but few are actually present at this two day carnival. Providence College goes into this meet with a squad much larger than a week ago, but then any squad must be considered to be large.

Coates will take a different squad to Philadelphia than he did a week ago in Seton Hall. Last meet at the college here uncovered some new material. Just what the squad make-up will be will not be decided until the last moment by Coates.

The meet at the college here uncovered -quad make-up will be won't be decided until the last moment by Coates. It will be a mixture of last week entrants in the Seton Hall Relays and new of the newest.

Just what time and against whom they will race has not been decided yet by the Relay scheduling committee at Philadelphia. The meet lasts for two days and it is possible that P.C. may be running both days. Incidentally the Penn Relays have been broadcast for four years for those who feel like a national hook-up so it is possible that we here in Providence may be able to tune in on the particular races in which P.C. is entered.

Coates will take two relay teams that will be considered as the best last Saturday. There will be one Frash team and there will be a Greek team. Both will be entered in mile relays. One of the handiest of all hurdlers was given the task that the fact that they had been born on the track and the campus was not long enough and they were fatigued before they had run the first 220-yard distance of the New Jersey event. However, Coates has taken three of the best here of the track and the distance will not be strange to the runners again.

The College Track takes another step forward in track and athletics this spring. It is noticeable that one of the fact that Providence College is represented at least in the greatest outdoor meet in the country, and all those who follow a month ago this happen please step forward.

The Friars attempt to make it three-in-a-row tomorrow when the forces of Upsala University invade Hendrick field. Fresh from their victory over American-International and M.I.T., the Maroons meet a team about which little is known. The Friars have expeditiously put together a club typical of the good baseball played in the New York area. James Fox, right-handed speed ball pitcher, will start on the mound for Providence, and his batting mate will be either Ferriter or Middionowski. The rest of the starting line-up will remain intact.

Saturday will see the teams of Rhode Island State provide the opposition for Capt. Bill Angeline and his mates. The Kingpins easily handled the Caldronets of Vernon University last week in their initial endeavor by the score of 4-1. For P.C. Tom Kiezen, winner of the A.I.C. all-star game, is the likely starter. Capt. Jack Smith, Frank Reaney's ace, pitched the Vermont game and may be called on to face the Friars. In the event that Smith doesn't get the nod - in short, Blunt, high-watering forward of the basketball team, will be the rubber. The ex-Kingpins stand compiled quite a record in the Nova Scotia baseball conference.

Weather conditions in Kingsland are practically the same as Providence, and therefore the Rams have had very little time to shape up, as is the case in the P.C. camp. However, the Rams have produced a strong defensive infield and are fleet of foot on the bases.
